Demand Rehab When Available

Dr. Lamb

DEAR DR. LAMB — My father had a stroke with nearly total paralysis on the left side. Being a professional person and having worked with older adults, I wanted rehabilitation for him. His doctor would have placed him in a nursing home from the hospital since my mother could not possibly care for him. The hospital wasted a month with their rehabilitation program which was merely a range of motion exercises. Why, in a city with two stroke rehabilitation units, do doctors not send patients to rehabilitation centers unless the family requests it. Most people don't know the possibilities open to their loved ones.

We spend billions on rehabilitation and who deserves it more than our older citizens who are all too soon thrown aside? Please ask relatives and friends of stroke victims to demand rehabilitation as soon as possible.

DEAR READER — I hope everyone who reads this column takes good note of your justifiable complaint. Not every community has the good fortune to have stroke rehabilitation centers but when available they can do a great deal to return a stroke victim to a functional, enjoyable and meaningful life. Not everyone can be totally rehabilitated but many can be helped enormously.

The key message in your letter is early effort and more than just passive movement.

Patients who are left with a speech problem should be started on speech therapy as soon as the victim's condition has stabilized, and that usually means within the first week. Working the muscles and even electrical stimulation of paralyzed muscles is often helpful.

I have discussed in more detail what can be done for rehabilitation after a stroke in The Health Letter number 16-6, What You Need to Know about Strokes, which I am sending you. Others who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019. This issue stresses early rehabilitation for the best results.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I am 61 years old. I have arthritis in my back, knees and some in my shoulders. I have not used any milk for a couple of years because I heard it was bad for arthritis. Now I hear one should drink a lot of milk because it is good for bones and could prevent arthritis. I don't know whether I should drink milk. Could you advise me what is best for arthritis?

DEAR READER — Your question embraces several mistaken ideas. First, many people call osteoporosis, which is dissolving or porous bones, arthritis. It is not. An adequate calcium intake does decrease a person's chances of developing this condition or may help to minimize it. Milk is good for this purpose.

Second, many people believe real arthritis, osteoarthritis, which occurs in most people if they live long enough, is made worse by calcium. This form of arthritis does cause bony spurs but that is from regrowth of bone tissue and has nothing to do with calcium intake.

Calcium, and hence milk, will not cause or aggravate osteoarthritis.

Since you are a woman of 61, I would strongly advise you to obtain at least a gram of calcium a day, about the amount in one quart of milk.

three spade tricks and there is no way to stop him. All expert declarers will make seven because they will play the spades by leading toward dummy and finessing the 10. The 10 will hold. They will cash the king, come to their hand to lead the ace and have a fourth spade trick when the queen drops.

This is a well-known percentage play. If declarer leads the 10 after cashing dummy's king he will have no play for four spade tricks because if East holds the queen he will cover and someone's fourth spade will eventually be a winner. Of course, the queen might fall singleton, but that chance is far less than the chance that West will hold Q x x x.

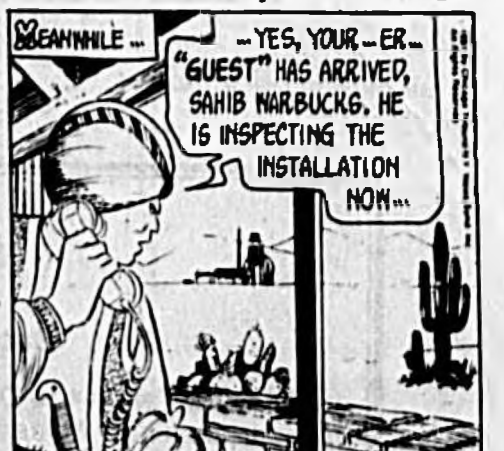

The hand is interesting as a bidding problem also. Although South has a balanced 16 high-card points, he should really open one club. The bidding will still develop easily for him and after that club opening there is a good chance to reach seven clubs which is easy to make.

All declarer has to do in clubs is to ruff two diamonds in his hand or two spades in dummy to wind up with six trumps, two spades, three hearts and two diamonds. All declarer needs is to get

Street Warfare Preparations Grow In Northern Ireland

By DONAL O'HIGGINS

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (UPI) — Pope John Paul II's personal envoy talked with IRA activist Bobby Sands for an hour but failed to persuade him to give up a 60-day hunger strike that has left him near death, the government said today.

The condition of Sands, placed on a waterbed early today to ease his pain, worsened and he again refused food.

As both Roman Catholic and Protestant communities prepared for open warfare on the streets, papal envoy Rev. John Magee requested a meeting with the British minister for Northern Ireland, Humphrey Atkins.

A government spokesman said Atkins had agreed to the request "on the clear understanding that there can be no change in government policy in relation to the hunger strikers."

Sands, serving a 14-year sentence for firearms possession and who was elected to the British Parliament on April 10, was twice given the last rites of the Roman Catholic Church and barely kept a grip on consciousness. He briefly lost his sight, hearing and speech at one point and has been placed on a water bed to alleviate discomfort.

Rev. Magee, an Ulsterman himself, made no statement after going to Sands' bedside in the Maze prison Tuesday night. Sands has repeatedly said he will only end his fast to death if IRA prisoners are given the status of political prisoners by the British government.

A Northern Ireland office spokesman reported "no dramatic result" from the meeting and the condition of Sands, 27, continued to deteriorate.

A police spokesman blamed the build-up of siege preparations in both Roman Catholic and Protestant communities on para-military groups "attempting to provoke a confrontation for their own cynical purposes."

He said the police had detailed plans to counter any bid by extremists to provoke such a confrontation. He said a special command control room with sophisticated computer technology had been set up at police headquarters to monitor the situation.

The hoarding of vital food supplies such as bread and milk, already rampant in the ghetto areas, Wednesday spread to the inner city itself.

"Powdered milk and tinned foods are in big demand and our bread supply has been sold out," a supermarket manager said. Paramilitary leaders have told families to stock up on food and other supplies in the event of possible prolonged violence should Sands die.

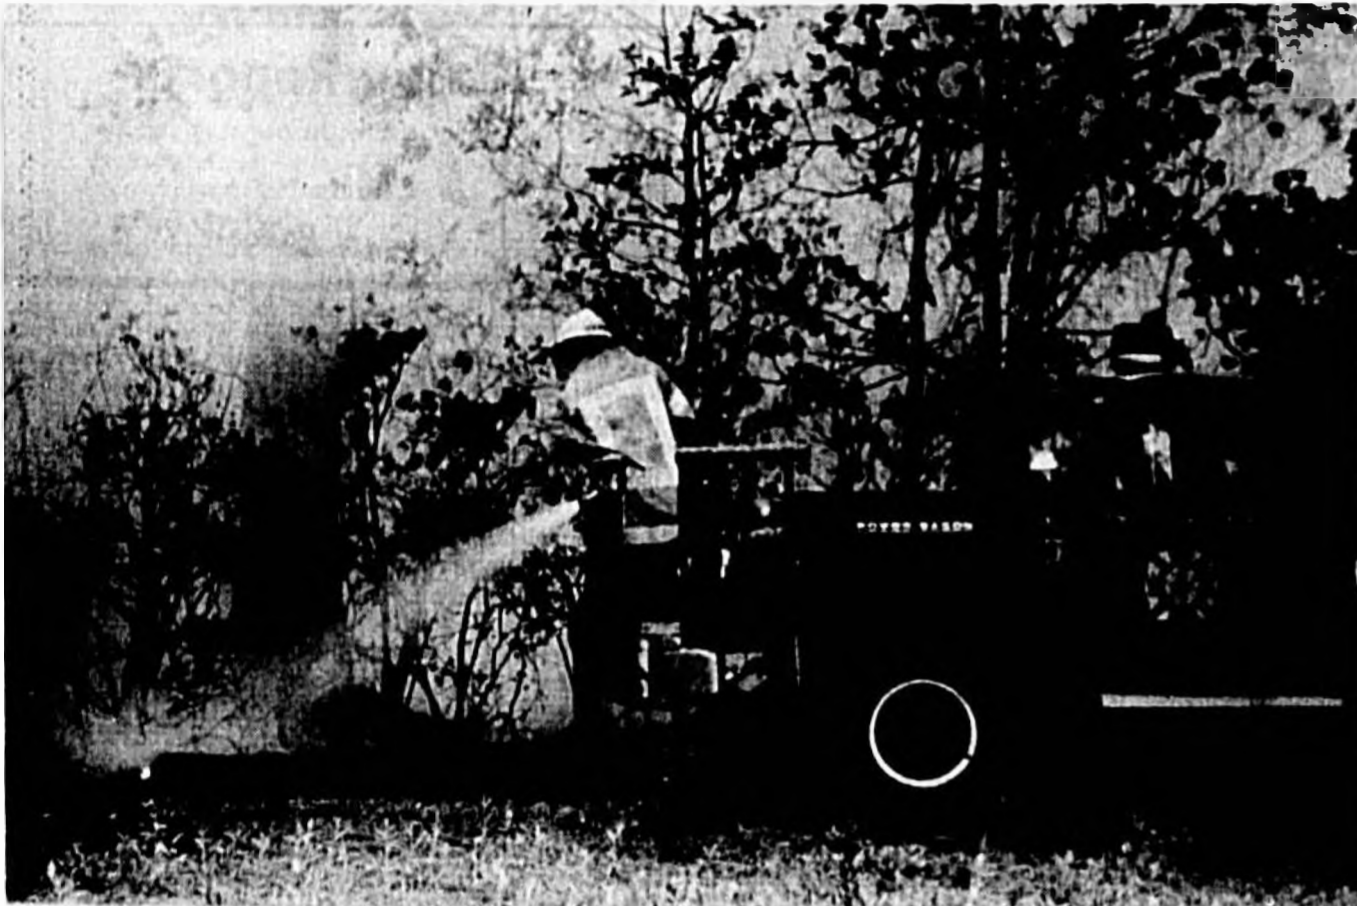

"War is no doubt going to be unleashed upon us," if Sands dies, said Protestant leader Rev. Ian Paisley, expressing fear of all-out fighting in the British-ruled area, where more than 2,000 people have been killed in bombing and violence since 1970.

"If Mr. Sands persisted in his wish to commit suicide, that was his choice," Atkins said Tuesday.

But in California, Cardinal Timothy Manning, the Irish-born archbishop of Los Angeles, appealed to Britain "in the name of all concerned with human rights" to compromise on Sands' other two demands — to allow IRA prisoners to wear civilian clothing and do no prison work.

The New York Times said in an editorial today Mrs. Thatcher "is right in refusing to yield political status to Bobby Sands," but "there are other areas where the British could honorably yield. On the petty question of prison clothing, for example: Why shouldn't protesters be allowed civilian clothes provided by their families instead of by prison officials?"

Firefighters from the Goldenrod-Dommerich Fire Department, with assistance from three other agencies, continued today fighting a 100-acre forest fire near the University of Central Florida. Smoke from the fire and 30 other muck-like fires in Central Florida blanketed Seminole County this morning and is expected to appear here in the early morning and early evening hours for at least two more days.

Wild Fires Rampant

Smoke Blankets Seminole County

By DONNA ESTES
Herald Staff Writer

Smoky conditions can be expected to continue during the early morning and early evening hours in Seminole County for at least two more days.

Gill Artman, Florida Forest Ranger supervisor, said the smoke which blanketed the county early this morning came from forest and muck-like fires from as far as 35-to-100 miles away.

The only hope for putting out the fires is a steady, long-lasting drenching rain, Artman said. And there is no prediction of such rain in the near future.

The Weather Service predicts a slight chance of rain Thursday night and Friday morning.

Thirty separate muck-like fires are burning currently in the Orange-Osceola-Brevard counties area. The forest fire closest to Seminole was discovered Tuesday afternoon south of Oviedo, in the area of Orange County bounded by University Boulevard to the south, Dean Road to the west, Econlockhatchee Trail to the east and the old sports stadium to the north.

Artman said this fire and the 30 muck-like fires are expected to smoulder for at least two days longer.

No forest or muck-like fires are burning in Seminole County at this time, he said.

The smoke, rather than rising from these fires and drifting off, is falling into the Orlando-Seminole County area, Artman said.

Artman said the fire near the University of Central Florida went through a swamp.

"The water table is so low, the fire going through the swamp acted like a muck fire," Artman said.

"When swamps are up to their proper water level, we steer fires toward them," he said. "Now, however, the fires are running right through the swamps and giving off smoke. The smoke from the dry swamps is not as long-lasting as a true muck fire," he said.

Artman said the water table currently is down in excess of 22 inches.

"It would be nice to get that level returned. It would take a heck of a lot of rainfall," he said. If rain does come and is too heavy too fast, he added it will do little or no good at all.

"If we get four-to-six inches of rainfall in 24 hours the water table would come up only one-half to three-quarters of an inch," he said. "We need some nice light-type rain over a period of time."

Artman said he is surprised sinkholes haven't been seen in Seminole because of the low water table.

"We are going to hear about a lot of wells going bad and caving in," he predicted.

"The unfortunate thing about these forest fires is that the trees are giving off new growth and sap is flowing freely weakening the trees. Any forest fires now are totally devastating," he said.

Artman said major landowners, "who have a lot of wood burning savvy and who have practiced a policy for years of burning off pasturelands, have been losing control of burning.

"Two landowners have told me that in their 30 years experience of burning woods, they have never seen conditions like this. They are ready to hang up their drip torches," Artman said.

The purpose of burning pastureland and small woods areas is to enrich the soil with the carbon and to reduce the accumulation of forest floor fuels to lessen the danger of wild fires.

Those controlled burning situations have worked in the past, but the landowners now are seeing these fires burning with more intensity and getting out of control, he said.

Artman advised motorists to practice the normal fire safety measures while travelling through woodlands, reminding that burning cigarettes should not be thrown out of car windows.

Artman said 90 percent of Seminole County is classified as wildland, grassland or forest land. In the four county Florida Forest Service district, including Seminole, Osceola, Orange and Brevard, 1.8 million acres are designated wildland, forest land or grass land and could easily burn.

Capt. John Kent of the Dommerich-Goldenrod Fire District said the division of Forestry, Union Park and Lake Barton fire departments are assisting his department in battling the blaze near UCF.

"It's under control," Kent said. "We have fire breaks all around the fire and through it," he said.

The cause of the fire has not been determined, Kent said.

Another fire in Orange County Tuesday burned more than 400 acres in northwest portion of that county. The fire burned over the Orange-Seminole county line into less than an acre in Seminole, southeast of Chulucota.

The below normal rainfall this year has caused the water level in lakes to drop, underground water supplies to dwindle and homeowners to use more water on lawns and gardens.

Mack Lazenby, utilities director for the city of Sanford, said the city's 8,000 water customers are using water as never before.

"Yesterday (Tuesday) between 6 and 9 p.m. they were using water at the rate of 9.3 million gallons a day reducing pressure," he said.

Lazenby blames the increase use not only on lack of rainfall, but also Daylight Savings Time, which gives residents more time to work in their yards after they get home from work.

"They see their neighbor out watering his yard so they turn on their sprinklers, too. It's contagious," he added.

Although the city of Casselberry, because of its critical water shortage, is the only municipality in the county to have actually banned outdoor water use during certain hours, Altamonte Springs has been having a problem with its well in the San Sebastian area in the afternoons because of heavy use.

'Stay Inside' If Smoke Gets To You

"In case of smoke, don't breathe."

That was the message given this morning by health officials when a thick bank of smoke from a series of Orange County fires rolled into Seminole County about 8 a.m.

While smoke hung heavy over the county for more than an hour this morning, Dr. Betty Vaughn, assistant director of the Orange County Health Department, said the situation was "not serious enough to pose any real health hazards."

"For the average healthy individual, this smoke will probably cause nothing more severe than maybe some coughing, burning eyes, and overall discomfort," Vaughn said.

"This is mostly to affect only people, especially elderly people, who have existing respiratory problems such as emphysema, asthma, and allergies," she said.

"But it would take a massive inversion holding the smoke in an area for several hours before even they would be seriously affected."

Should that happen, Vaughn advised "persons with respiratory problems, those who already have diminished lung capacity," to "get out of the area during periods of high smoke concentrations." If that's not possible, the next best thing is to "stay indoors in an air-conditioned environment where most of the irritating smoke is filtered out."

Of course, "you could stop breathing," Vaughn joked. "That's very effective. The only trouble is you can't do it for long." — BRITT SMITH

Reagan Urges Americans: Try New Thing — His Recovery Plan

WASHINGTON (UPI) — With his budget assured of approval by half the Congress, a raspy-voiced President Reagan dismissed a Democratic substitute as "an echo of the past" and urged Americans to try something new — his plan for economic recovery.

The president's Republican teammates said his latest pep talk would rouse the nation. Democrats grumbled it was misleading and some of his figures inaccurate.

In his first public appearance since being shot less than a month ago, Reagan addressed Congress and the nation Tuesday night both to win over the two dozen or so House Democrats needed to put through his budget reductions and, perhaps more important, to demonstrate he is, indeed, running the government.

Although fellow Republicans said they were happily surprised at his appearance, the usual blush was gone from Reagan's cheeks and his voice was strained — the result of a bullet wound to the lung.

He was unable to gesture as loosely as before, but the 70-year-old president never faltered and was pumping hands vigorously as he walked up the main aisle of the House of Representatives after the speech.

As he mounted the rostrum earlier, the joint session gave him a sustained 2-minute, 45-second ovation punctuated by rhythmic cheers from the Republican side. After his introduction by House Speaker Thomas O'Neill, Reagan received another 45 seconds of tribute.

It was his third appearance before Congress on behalf of the economic program he says he was elected to carry out, and it came on the eve of his 100th day in office, the mythical milestone for judging a new president's political progress.

It was a chance for Reagan to gather momentum for what could be a difficult fight in the House, which must choose by next week between his budget of roughly $690 billion or the Democrat-controlled House Budget Committee's $715 billion alternative, which restores some funds for social programs he wants reduced.

The Senate is expected to give Reagan what he wants next week. Then the House must start work on the more controversial part of his package — a three-year, 30 percent across-the-board tax cut.

"It may appear that we have two alternatives," Reagan said. "In reality, however, there are no more alternatives left. The (Budget) committee measure quite simply falls far too short of the essential actions that we must take."

He said the Democrats' proposal "reflects an echo of the past rather than a benchmark for the future."

"Tonight I renew my call for us to work as a team," he said. "... Isn't it time we tried something new? ... The time for action is now."

But O'Neill, the highest-ranking Democrat in Washington, immediately took issue with Reagan's claim the opposition plan would increase taxes by more than a third and cut more than $14 billion in important military spending.

"The president's assertion the Democratic budget cuts essential defense spending is unfair and misleading," said O'Neill.

"The latest version of the Republican budget begins the abandonment of the government's responsibility in the fields of health and education.

Economic Indicators Inch Upward

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Higher oil prices helped push up the government's index of leading economic indicators in March, ending a three-month string of downturns, the Commerce Department reported today.

The composite index of leading indicators increased 1.4 percent in March, reversing declines in December, January and February. The last increase was in November.

Six of the 10 available indicators climbed — average work week, vendor performance, sensitive crude materials prices, contracts and orders for plant and equipment, stock prices and money supply.

The March improvement ended fears that the leading indicators index, in its continuing slope down, was reflecting something that other economic indicators were missing. The gross national product, for example, surprised experts by increasing by an especially strong 6.5 percent for the first quarter of this year.

The Commerce Department said if the index had not been adjusted to reflect higher oil prices, the March figures would have shown a smaller increase, of only 0.2 percent. One of the most important indicators — sensitive crude materials — showed a large change in March.

Top Democrats Unusually Harsh On Reagan Remarks

By MATTHEW C. QUINN
WASHINGTON (UPI) — The speech President Reagan hoped to use to revitalize momentum for his economic program brought predictable cheers from his fellow Republicans, but unusually harsh criticism from top congressional Democrats.

The two top Democrats in the House, where Reagan's tax and budget cuts face their sternest test, came down hard on the president. Elsewhere, there were no indications his overture changed any minds.

House Democratic Leader Jim Wright accused Reagan's advisers of using inaccurate figures that led to false criticisms a Democratic alternative budget would mean higher taxes and a bigger deficit.

"It is unfortunate in the extreme that some of those who provided statistical information for his data did President Reagan a grave disservice by describing the House Budget Committee's resolution in factually inaccurate ways," Wright said.

Wright said Reagan was incorrect in stating the Democrats' proposal would boost spending by $141 billion above his own budget, reduce the defense budget and increase tax payments by over one-third.

House Speaker Thomas P. O'Neill, eschewing the political caution that often prevails in the aftermath of a presidential address, said, "The president's assertion the Democratic budget cuts essential defense spending is unfair and misleading."

"The latest version of the Republican budget begins the abandonment of the government's responsibility in the fields of health and education. That is the major reason I cannot support the latest version of the president's budget and why I will work for the Democratic proposal," O'Neill said.

Among Republicans, who have seen Reagan's economic package battered during his convalescence, the reaction to the president's appearance on Capitol Hill was warm, and in some instances effusive.

"President Reagan was forthright, courageous and to the point," said Sen. Richard Lugar, R-Ind.

Senate Republican Leader Howard Baker said, "I think it's the best speech he's ever given."

And Sen. William Roth, R-Del., co-author of the tax-cut proposal Reagan has adopted, called the speech "one of the most dramatic events I have ever witnessed in my 14 years in the Congress. The Gipper gave us a lock er-room speech that would make Knute Rockne proud." There was at least one dissenting voice among the GOP cheers.

Maverick Sen. Lowell Weicker, R-Conn., blasted his fellow Republicans, charging the nation had enough "weak-kneed vacillating leadership" under the Carter administration. "Unfortunately, we no sooner booted the weak knees from the White House than they suddenly seemed to show up all over Capitol Hill."

But Reagan's speech drew laurels from leaders of the Conservative Democratic Forum — a group of 44 Southern Democrats who comprise a key bloc of swing votes in the House.

Truck Driver Admits He's 'Yorkshire Ripper' Who Murdered 13

LONDON (UPI) — In a dramatic guilty plea in a courtroom a half mile from where Jack the Ripper murdered prostitutes in the 1880s, truckdriver Peter Sutcliffe admitted today he is the "Yorkshire Ripper" who killed 13 women.

Sutcliffe, 35, standing in a glass-enclosed, wooden prison dock and wearing a light grey suit, entered the guilty plea of manslaughter rather than murder about an hour after the long-awaited trial began in the historic Old Bailey courtroom.

"Not guilty of murder, but guilty of manslaughter on grounds of diminished responsibility," the bearded Sutcliffe, who was the object of the largest manhunt in British criminal history, said in a subdued voice in the historic oak-paneled courtroom.

If found guilty of manslaughter with diminished responsibility, Sutcliffe will be sent to a hospital for the criminally insane and not prison.

Sutcliffe, for whom 1,000 police hunted five years in a dragnet costing $8.8 million, also pleaded guilty to seven charges of attempted murder.

His brother, wife, Sonya, and her mother sat six feet away from the prisoner's dock as Sutcliffe admitted he was the perpetrator of the grisly killings that terrorized dreary industrial towns in northeast England.

As his wife stared, Sutcliffe softly answered each of the 13 charges of murder with: "Not guilty, guilty of manslaughter with diminished responsibility."

To the seven charges of attempted murder made by Attorney General Sir

Michael Havers — making a rare appearance in a criminal trial at the Old Bailey Court, Sutcliffe responded: "Guilty."

Sutcliffe was spirited this week from the heavy security Armley jail in Leeds to a London prison to await the start of the murder trial in the famed No. 1 court at Old Bailey.

The court, scene of Britain's most sensational trials, stands less than half a mile from the Whitechapel area in east London where Jack the Ripper preyed on prostitutes in the late 19th century. The legendary Jack was never apprehended.

Sir Michael was called in to personally take charge of the prosecution in the case of the murder and mutilation of 13 women in Yorkshire, 200 miles to the north.

The Yorkshire Ripper trial was switched from Yorkshire to London because of fears that public fury over the killings would prevent Sutcliffe from having a fair trial in Yorkshire.

At Sutcliffe's first court appearance in Yorkshire Jan. 5, a mob of men and women besieged the courthouse, screaming "hang the bastard!"

The outburst capped a wave of hysteria that spread through northern England as the number of murders rose to 13 from October 1975 to November 1980.

The Yorkshire killer's first victims were prostitutes and "goodtime girls" picked up in the bars and alleys, but soon included women apparently selected at random. Police said all the women were killed and mutilated in the same way, but declined to disclose details.

WORLD IN BRIEF

Radioactive Waste Leaked 4 Years Into Town Sewer

TSURUGA, Japan (UPI) — The company that ran the accident-plagued Tsuruga nuclear plant confirmed today the power station leaked radioactive waste into the town sewer for four years.

The Japan Nuclear Power Co. Tuesday apologized to the nation for hushing up two leaks at the plant, which exposed 85 workers to high-level radiation and contaminated coastal waters.

"There is no room for excuse," Shunichi Suzuki, the firm's president, told the Parliament's lower house committee for Science and Technology, which is investigating the plant's operation in the town 200 miles west of Tokyo.

Company officials told the committee that one of the sewer manholes beneath the plant building was linked by a 2-foot-long pipe to the plant's nuclear waste storage room floor.

Since the installation of the pipe in 1977, water containing small amounts of radioactivity was flushed through the pipe to the manhole and flowed into Tsuruga Bay by way of the town sewer, company officials said.

Israelis Escalate War

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI) — Israeli jets screamed into open battle against Syrian forces for the first time since the 1973 Middle East War, threatening to turn war-battered Lebanon into an open battleground for its neighbors.

Israeli Phantom warplanes Tuesday shot down two Syrian helicopters and attacked Syrian troops in coming to the aid of Christian Phalangists in the battle for the strategic 8,500-foot-high Mount Sannine, Syria's gateway to Lebanon.

It was the first planned attack by Israel on Syrians in a month of battles inside Lebanon, and the most open confrontation against Syria since the 1973 Middle East War in which Egypt and Syria fought the Jewish state.

Israeli Prime Minister Menachem Begin warned of "further counter-measures" and said it was "reasonable" to believe Israel will not "make do" with Tuesday's action if the Syrian pressure on the Christian forces did not cease.

Election For Whites Only

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (UPI) — South Africa held a whites-only general election today the ruling National Party feared would show a low turnout in disapproval of race reforms and the economy.

Political analysts said the result of balloting by the 2.2 million white voters was a foregone conclusion, with Prime Minister Pieter Botha's National Party expecting an overwhelming victory. The nation's 18 million blacks were not allowed to vote.

Analysts said the key to the election would be the number of people not voting. They said if more than 70 percent of the white voters turned up, Botha's reform policies would be vindicated.

A turnout of less than 60 percent would indicate rejection of the policies, the analysts said, and that there was general dissatisfaction with the state of the country's economy and social services.

Biggs, Ex-Wife Reunited

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil (UPI) — "Great Train Robber" Ronald Biggs was reunited with his former wife, complaining the terms that allow him to remain in Brazil also prevent him from remarrying.

Biggs and his former spouse, Charmian Brent, who lives in Australia, had not seen each other in seven years. They were reunited Tuesday in his beachfront Rio apartment.

A beaming Biggs, who last week returned to his home in exile after a successful legal fight in Barbados to avoid extradition to Britain, poured champagne to celebrate his meeting with Miss Brent and their son Fawley, 14.

A Brazilian court gave Biggs permission to stay in Brazil and avoid the 28 years remaining of the 30-year sentence he received in Britain for the 1963 $7.2-million mail train robbery.

Testimony Continues In Sanford Murder Trial

By BRITT SMITH
Herald Staff Writer

It was a dramatic courtroom scene: the bereaved father, confronted with the deathbed photographs of his young stepdaughter, breaking down on the witness stand and having to be escorted in tears from the courtroom.

Such was the first day of testimony in the trial of 22-year-old Sanford resident Bernard James Beaton who is charged with second degree murder in connection with the January death of two-year-old Tiffany Benthall. Beaton, also charged with aggravated child abuse, faces life in prison if convicted.

The emotional moment came near the end of Tuesday's testimony when Tiffany's stepfather, Willie Realford of Altamonte Springs, was given four photos of the child taken at Seminole Memorial Hospital where she died about 9:35 p.m. on Jan. 14.

At first, Realford seemed merely to be studying the pictures. His mood quickly changed, however, and he looked away, burying his head in his hands, apparently trying to hold back the tears. He failed. When he began to sob uncontrollably, Circuit Judge Joseph Davis Jr. declared a recess to allow Realford to regain his composure.

Back on the witness stand, Realford identified the girl in the photos as Tiffany Benthall, but broke down again as he was leaving the courtroom.

Public Defender Bob Fisher objected to Realford's teary testimony, claiming it served no purpose except to inflame the jury.

The most damaging testimony Tuesday came from Seminole County Medical Examiner Dr. G. V. Garay who said Tiffany died as the result of a lacerated liver as well as severe bleeding from her kidney and small intestinal tract. The significance of Garay's testimony was that it contradicted the story Beaton originally told the child's mother — Rosalind Realford — namely, that Tiffany had been injured when she fell on some railroad tracks.

When asked by Assistant State Attorney Don Marblestone if such injuries could be sustained in a fall, Garay answered, "no way." More likely, he said, the child was struck hard in the abdomen with a blunt instrument, possibly a flat.

Rosalind Realford — with whom Beaton was living in Sanford's Higgins Terrace housing project at the time of the incident — followed Garay on the witness stand and said Beaton had taken Tiffany for a walk about 5 p.m. and returned an hour later carrying the child in his arms.

Mrs. Realford said her daughter was woozy and urinating blood. Less than four hours later, the child died.

Frank Brooks testified he had shared a quart of beer with Beaton an hour or two before Tiffany was allegedly murdered, and claimed that Beaton "looked high. He had a buzz on."

Testimony was scheduled to resume today at 1 p.m. In other court action Tuesday, a six-woman jury found 20-year-old Miller Adolphus Brown guilty of robbery while in possession of a firearm. Brown, of 1003 Cypress Ave., Sanford, was jailed pending completion of an investigation into his background. He could receive up to life imprisonment.

Brown was accused of stealing 47-year-old Geneva resident Adeline Velen's purse while she was pumping gas at the Handy Way convenience store at Celery and Elliott avenues. An unknown second man was allegedly involved in the Jan. 9 incident, but he has not been arrested.

Velen testified that one of the men stuck a chrome-plated pistol in her stomach and grabbed her purse while the other rummaged through her car. The purse contained about $40 and some personal papers, she said.

TAX EVADER SENTENCED

Robert M. Schwartz, former board chairman of the now-defunct Visual Dynamics Inc. of Altamonte Springs, has been sentenced in U.S. District Court, Jacksonville, to nine months in prison for failure to file his individual income tax returns for 1973 and 1974.

The 62-year-old Schwartz, now living in Atlanta, was sentenced Friday by Judge Susan H. Black. He immediately filed a notice of appeal.

During Schwartz's February trial, it was revealed that he received more than $142,000 in 1973, and $39,000 in 1974 as salary, consultant fees, and diverted corporate funds from Visual Dynamics. The company went bankrupt in 1975.

Chase Manhattan Hikes Prime Rate To 18 Percent

NEW YORK (UPI) — Chase Manhattan Bank today hiked its prime rate to 18 percent from 17 1/2 percent, effective immediately. It was the first time a major bank has posted a prime this high since March 10.

The action by the nation's third largest bank came in response to a sharply higher cost of funds in the past two weeks.

Some analysts have noted that the upward pressure on the fed funds, however, came about because of technical factors. Banks posted a record deficiency of reserves last week and were bidding aggressively for funds in order to show a surplus Wednesday, the end of the banking week.

But technical or not, banks have been quick to respond to any upturn in interest rates, for fear of being caught in a profits squeeze as they were late last year when rates shot up to record highs.

KRIDER FUNERAL

The Rev. Virgil L. Bryant (left) stands by as pallbearers carry casket from the church following funeral services Tuesday afternoon for the late John S. Krider Sr., who died Friday at the age of 73. Family and friends filled the church sanctuary to pay their last respects to the former Seminole County Commissioner, Sanford City Commissioner, and prominent business and civic leader.

Longwood Hires Recreation Director

The City of Longwood has hired Reginald "Reggie" Sigmon, 31, of Sanford, as its new recreation director to replace Tina Anderson, who resigned.

A 1980 Lyman High School graduate, Sigmon earned his associate degree at Seminole Community College majoring in physical education.

A major league baseball umpire, he graduated from umpire school in 1979. His previous experience included working for the City of Altamonte Springs Recreation Department and coordinating programs and activities while serving in the U.

S. Navy. He is a member of the American Softball Association Umpires, American Bowling Congress and the Orange Baseball Officials Association.

WEATHER

NATIONAL REPORT: Heavy rain swelled Pennsylvania streams to flood stage today and thunderstorms that swept across the Ohio Valley into Texas spun tornadoes across five states. A twister in Ohio was blamed for at least three injuries. The National Weather Service said tornadoes also were sighted in southern Michigan, western Pennsylvania, southeast Texas and southern Oklahoma. Pennsylvania officials said rain today threatened low-lying areas with flooding. A cold front continued to spread showers and thunderstorms in the Midwest — drenching Michigan, Illinois, Indiana and parts of Minnesota. Widely scattered thunderstorms fell in Arizona and the eastern Dakotas. Fair skies and mild temperatures prevailed over the remaining portion of the nation from the eastern Gulf Coast to the Carolinas.

City Breaks Record For Speed

The Longwood City Commission made history Monday night by adjourning its regular meeting only 17 minutes after it was called to order.

The former mayor, Commissioner June Lormann, tried in vain to stall the proceedings to maintain the previous record of a 32 minute meeting accomplished when she presided.

During the brief session the Commission voted to amend the current budget.

The changes approved after a mid-term budget review were line item adjustments within departmental budgets. The majority of changes were caused by adjustment to FICA (Federal Insurance Contributions Act) and to health insurance premiums, according to City Administrator David Chacey.

Changes to the Federal Revenue Sharing portion of the budget were required, Chacey said, due to additional expenses for two police vehicles and the expenses for installing a bicycle path on Range Line Road.

Budgeted income for the city for the year was $1,081,496 and expected income is now $1,079,496. The carryover for 1980 was $352,502. Budgeted expenses were $1,483,971 and expected expenses are $1,303,171 leaving an anticipated carryover of $180,000.

Income in the Utility Fund was budgeted at $346,900, but is expected to total $365,196. The carryover from the previous year was $310,232. With expected expenses of $377,700, a year's deficit of $12,504 is expected.

In the Federal Revenue Sharing income was $65,056 with estimated income of $67,431 and expected expenses of $67,256.

The commission authorized Chacey to sign a Florida Department of Transportation form requesting temporary closing of state roads so the city can close an approach to State Road 434 while work is being done. — JANE CASSELBERRY

Casselberry Residents Praised For Water Conservation Efforts

By SYBIL MITCHELL GANDY
Herald Staff Writer

Casselberry Mayor Owen Sheppard had words of praise for city residents who have been banned from the outside use of water during peak hours. No violations have been reported to police, he said.

"Casselberry citizens have cooperated completely with us as far as not watering lawns or washing cars during this crucial period," said Sheppard.

"But we may have a few more weeks to go. I can't say when the restriction will be lifted because our utilities division is still experiencing some problems," he said.

"The dry climate we've been experiencing for weeks now hasn't changed. We're in pretty much the same situation we were in a week ago when I issued the moratorium," said Sheppard.

"One alternative we are being forced to look at is drawing resources from our lakes. But they are drying up fast enough...we may not have much of a choice if rain doesn't come soon," Sheppard added.

According to Casselberry Director of Utilities, Ed Keuling, the moratorium, which bans the outside use of water between the hours of 4-6 p.m. Monday through Friday and 24 hours on Saturday and Sunday, wasn't ordered because of a water shortage.

But two of the city's storage tanks are down because of needed repairs. And during those peak hours of outside water usage, these units cannot be used to their full capacity, he explained.

And is that isn't enough, the underground water pumps are going dry, not to mention area lakes and wells, he noted.

"The water supply isn't being replenished fast enough," said Ken Ehlers, the city engineer. "And those repair stores $50,000 gallons of water each when they're up to full capacity. It may be the end of June before both are in full operation," Ehlers projected.

Mayor Sheppard, who officially enacted the moratorium at the regular city council meeting on April 20, was notified by Keuling that on Sunday, April 19, the city had pumped 8.7 million gallons of water, dangerously close to using the 9-million gallon per day limit.

Fearing that some fire emergency in the coming weeks might be left with a diminished water supply, Sheppard imposed the indefinite ban.

Repair work on the worn tanks is scheduled to begin some time this week. According to Ehlers, one of the storage tanks will always be in operation during the next 90 days of repair.

Located at Melody Lane and the Howell Park Treatment Plant, these storage units will be welded, Sand-blasted, and painted back into condition.

Reagan Announces Four Nominations

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Reagan, trying to complete appointments to his administration, has picked representatives from the auto, real estate and banking industries — as well as an FBI agent — for four jobs.

The latest round of nominations, announced Tuesday, included: — Robert W. Karpe, 50, chairman of the board of Karpe Real Estate Center in Bakerfield, Calif., as president of the Government National Mortgage Association; — Toni Ford, 39, production supervisor for General Motors Corp. in Detroit, as assistant administrator of the Agency for International Development for the Near East; — Danford Sawyer, director of Presidential Savings and Loan in Sarasota, Fla., as public printer. Sawyer, 41, was president of Sawyer & Associates Advertising Inc. from 1964 to 1980; — Illinois FBI agent Richard Kusserow, 40, as inspector general of the Department of Health and Human Services.

Judge: Keep Schools Open

BOSTON (UPI) — A judge says Boston schools must stay open until summer vacation begins June 19 to give students their constitutionally required full year of education, even though city officials say the 64,000-student system is bankrupt.

Suffolk Superior Court Judge Thomas Morse Jr., in ruling Tuesday, suggested the city use $5.5 million in property tax refunds to run the schools for the rest of this week while officials try to raise the rest of the estimated $30 million deficit.

The city, calling the ruling "disastrous," immediately appealed to the state Supreme Court for a stay. Justice Ruth Abrams scheduled a hearing on the request today.

Lederer Resigns

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Rep. Raymond F. Lederer, D-Pa., the only member snared in the FBI's Abscam investigation who won re-election, will resign effective May 5, his attorney announced today — one day after a House committee recommended he be expelled.

The House Ethics Committee, voting 10-2, Tuesday recommended expulsion of Lederer, who was convicted on a federal bribery charge Jan. 9, shortly after beginning his third term.

Columbia Returns For Fall Test Flight

CAPE CANAVERAL, (UPI) — Technicians prepared the space shuttle Columbia for a snail's pace tow today to the Orbiter Processing Facility, where it will be refurbished for a second test flight in the fall.

Columbia, America's new reusable rocket ship, arrived at Kennedy Space Center Tuesday, concluding a two-day, 2,248-mile piggyback ride from California atop a modified 747 jet transport.

Workers guided the aircraft into a steel-framed demating tower, and began preparations for removing the ship for today's 90-minute tow to the orbiter building two miles away where it will remain about three months.

Girls Sexually Attacked

JACKSONVILLE, (UPI) — Sexual attacks against three school girls at different schools in Jacksonville over the past three weeks has prompted a tightening of security at Duval County public and parochial schools.

The latest attack came Tuesday when a 12-year-old girl was raped in the girls' rest room of a downtown parochial school. The other attacks, both involving 15-year-old girls, occurred at two public schools.

Police and school security officers are looking for a young man, probably in his late teens, who they believe sneaked into the schools during class hours and hid in the girls' rest rooms.

She'd Rather Be Jailed

PANAMA CITY, (UPI) — Angela Long says she'll go to jail rather than pay a $28 fine for publicly causing a politician.

Mrs. Long, 52, of the tiny community of Callaway, was found guilty by a county court jury Tuesday of breach of the peace. She admitted screaming and cursing at James A. Reints, who was recalled from the Callaway City Commission last year in a petition drive Mrs. Long helped organize.

Judge Bill Cooper sentenced Mrs. Long to 30 days in jail or a $28 fine and six months' probation. "I won't pay it," she snapped. "I told you I needed to lose weight and I'm going to jail." She was given several days grace to pay the fine or go to jail.

In Dade, Broward Counties

Survey: Residents Worried About Crime

MIAMI (UPI) — A survey finds Dade and Broward County residents are overwhelmingly worried about crime, with many avoiding certain areas by day and staying home at night in houses protected by burglar alarms or barred windows — and handguns.

A survey of Dade and Broward County residents found that 86 percent of those responding felt crime is the area's No. 1 problem.

In the copyright survey, taken for a Miami television station (WPLG-TV) by Behavioral Science Research of Coral Gables, 86 percent of those responding felt crime was the area's worst problem and 95.4 percent believed it has gotten worse in two years.

The survey, copyrighted by Post-Newsweek Stations, Fla. Inc., questioned 737 South Floridians 25 years or older, ethnically balanced to reflect the community and selected at random from telephone directories.

Majorities said yes when asked if they stayed home at night because of crime, avoided certain areas, have added locks, burglar alarms or bars to their homes or own a handgun.

Fifty-four percent of the respondents said that in the past two years they have begun staying home after dark. That included 74 percent of the elderly, 70 percent of the women and 37 percent of the men. Fifty-four percent also said they now avoid some areas of the two counties because of the crime threat. Sixty percent of the anglos answer yes to that question, 48 percent of the Latins and 54 percent of the blacks — with 41 percent of the blacks saying they avoid the predominantly black Liberty City ghetto because of its reputation for crime.

Auto Industry Reports Record First-Quarter Loss

DETROIT (UPI) — U.S. automakers lost a record $600 million in the first quarter of 1981 but auto executives insist the battered industry is stumbling toward financial recovery.

Ford Motor Co. Tuesday posted a January-March deficit of $439 million, its biggest loss ever for the period, but said its financial results before taxes were better than last year. Ford lost $164 million in the first quarter of 1980.

Chrysler Corp. reported losses of $298 million in the quarter, down from $449 million in the similar period last year. It said improving sales brought it close to the break-even point in March.

Both companies said they expect more dramatic improvements in the second quarter, based on expectations of small sales gains and the need to replenish dealer inventories depleted last month by rebate campaigns.

American Motors Corp.'s previously announced $52.7 million deficit for the period and the $190 million profit reported by General Motors Corp. resulted in a net loss of $600 million — the industry's biggest ever for a January-March quarter, surpassing the $457 million posted in the same period last year.

Automakers lost $4.2 billion last year, including $1.7 billion in the July-September quarter.

"While the first-quarter loss is substantial, we are encouraged by the progress the company achieved," said Chrysler Chairman Lee A. Iacocca.

"A substantial improvement in Ford's operating results is expected in the second quarter of 1981 based on continued, but slow, recovery in car and truck industry sales in the United States and an increase in dealer inventories, mainly in North America," said Ford Chairman Philip Caldwell.

Tuesday brought other important developments for the industry and its workers.

The United Auto Workers union said its rank-and-file constitutional delegates authorized a reaffiliation with the AFL-CIO by a 7,785 to 4,527 vote, setting the stage for an end to their 13-year rift.

Reaffiliation talks will begin next month, officials said.

General Motors Corp., taking a lead from recent government signals, said it is halting its airbag development programs and will recommend an upcoming rule requiring passive restraints — air bags or automatic seat belts — be dropped.

Now Brezhnev Wants To Talk

A year ago, when the Soviets were testing killer satellites and setting new manned space flight records and the American shuttle was a question mark, Moscow couldn't have been less interested in negotiating new limits on space weaponry.

And no wonder. By even the Pentagon's admission, the Soviets were years ahead in the development of killer satellites capable of destroying U.S. satellites that provide indispensable military communications and photo reconnaissance.

Moreover, the Soviet space budget was more than triple that of the United States, and Moscow's spending on space programs with direct military application exceeded the comparable U.S. effort by a margin of 5-1.

But now that the shuttle — a revolutionary vehicle with enormous military potential — has proved a brilliant success, Soviet President Leonid Brezhnev suddenly wants to talk.

The timing of Brezhnev's initiative is, of course, hardly coincidental. The technological breakthrough that the shuttle represents has obviously sobered Soviet officials and heightened their concern over the military potential of what has been aptly described as a "railroad into space."

The 1967 United Nations treaty banning the deployment of "weapons of mass destruction" in space prohibits both the Soviet Union and the United States from placing nuclear warheads or missiles in orbit. The treaty doesn't, however, prohibit either nation from developing an antiballistic missile system utilizing space stations that would fire lasers or charged particle energy beams to destroy nuclear missiles in flight.

Likewise, the 1972, Soviet-American antiballistic missile treaty, which severely limits the deployment of earth-bound ABM systems, is silent on the question of basing such defenses in space.

The success of the shuttle puts the United States ahead, perhaps far ahead, in development of a logistical technology that would permit the construction of orbiting space stations, including ones armed with lasers or charged particle beam weapons.

Inasmuch as a space-based ABM system might ultimately neutralize the Soviet Union's growing superiority in offensive nuclear missiles, Moscow is clearly intent on precluding any possibility that the American shuttle could be employed in such work.

Conversely, the Reagan administration should want to preserve the ABM-in-space system option, whether or not Brezhnev's invitation for new negotiations is accepted.

Above all, the Reagan administration should keep in mind that a decade of Soviet-American arms negotiations has demonstrated time and again that Moscow is far more interested in stopping promising U.S. defense programs than in anything remotely resembling mutual disarmament.

Arms In Lebanon

Lebanon's crisis became more cause for concern recently when Israeli military sources confirmed that Israel is supplying weapons to Christian militia throughout Lebanon.

Previously, it had been known that Israel was supplying the Christian militia men of Maj. Saad Haddad in southern Lebanon, next to the Israeli border, where Haddad's forces are separated from the rest of Lebanon by a United Nations-patrolled buffer zone.

But now Israel acknowledges that its weapons are going beyond the buffer zone into central Lebanon, where the weapons are being used by the private army of the Falangist Party to fight Syrian forces in Beirut and Zahlah.

Syrian troops moved into Lebanon during the 1975-76 Lebanese civil war on a peacemaking mission but now pose a threat to Israel, the Israeli military sources said. They said the Israeli government is determined to prevent Syria from taking effective control of all of Lebanon.

The United States, as the principal supplier of military aid to Israel, must be concerned when Israel ships its own weapons or U.S. arms into a third nation.

BERRY'S WORLD

Around

The Clock

By SYBIL MITCHELL GANDY

Students at the University of South Florida take the matter of foreign affairs education into their own hands when they host their 2nd Annual state-wide Model United Nations for Florida high school students, beginning Friday, May 1 through Tuesday, May 5.

The Florida High School Model United Nations (FHSMUN) is their way of "transmitting information about the world". Billed as a forum of debate and information exchange, the FHSMUN is conveniently located for Seminole County area high school students and advisors this year at the High Q Hotel on International Drive in Orlando.

The four-day conference, modeled after the New York United Nations Assembly, will include meetings of the Security Council, General Assembly, Economic and Social Council, and two working groups. Students, having studied a chosen country's foreign policy, will represent that country at the conference.

Much preparatory work goes into these five days. Not only must a student understand the chosen country's policy, but they, as delegates, must also be prepared to debate with other nations' representatives on policies that concern them.

In addition to continued debate, speakers from the State Department and United Nations will attend the conference, lending their experience and viewpoints to the delegates as needed.

The University of South Florida's method is one that students have claimed "encourages growth while helping high school students become aware of their surroundings."

The FHSMUN staff has the support of such educational leaders as Ralph Turlington, Commissioner of Education, and officials in the state division of the United Nations Association-USA.

The Times Hustle

The New York Times has been enjoying itself at the expense of the rival Washington Post over the phony Pulitzer prize heroin story.

But the Times itself is not above some hanky-panky with the facts as I pointed out in a recent column; and I have now received some fascinating confirmatory evidence from witnesses who were present at the scene of the crime.

In my earlier column, I called attention to a piece on the Times' OpEd page datelined Plainfield, New Hampshire. It described how the town meeting there had voted 67-17 for a freeze on all nuclear arms, and also how other rural New Hampshire and Vermont towns had voted similarly, or voted against aid to El Salvador, etc.

The Times piece insistently compared these rural protest votes with the 18th century New England protest against the British, associating the town meeting format with the Revolutionary era, etc. The Times found all this worthy of mass circulation.

In my original column, I pointed out that Northern New England is no longer the land of embattled farmers, that the resort industry is its major enterprise, and that a lot of the barns in the town mentioned have been converted into artists' studios or antique emporia.

There really are two cultures in the region: the native new Englanders and the pseudo-rural granola eaters.

Confirmation of my general intuitions about all this arrived rapidly. A lady wrote from Plainfield, N.H., scene of the vote reported on the Times OpEd page:

"The Plainfield Town Meeting lasted over five hours this year. There were approximately 160 people voting when it started. By 6:30 p.m., when the article in question (No. 17) was voted on, half of them had gone home. Also, the population of Plainfield is around 1,700, with over 900 registered voters, so the 67 people who voted for the nuclear arms freeze were hardly representative of the town of Plainfield. It's ridiculous that this incident was printed in the New York Times, and unfortunate that a vote of this type should be considered indicative of how the majority of residents in this town or any other town really feel. But as you say, 'the Hive buzzes on.'"

Another local resident writes in similar terms: "It might interest you to know that the vote for a freeze on all nuclear arms was taken about 7:30 p.m. Saturday night at the Plainfield Town Meeting, a time when nearly all of the farmers and real inhabitants had to leave the meeting — certainly the family people too, we agree with you 100 percent. Plainfield as well as East Theford and many rural areas are full of these '20th-century dropouts.'"

The Times' OpEd piece was signed by a Mary Ellen Donovan, described as "a writer active in the women's and disarmament movements."

Heh heh heh. Just another sturdy embattled farmer.

Is it possible that the editorial staff at the Times does not know all this? Is it possible that the Times people really believe the claims of those 18th-century rural Americans?

I very much doubt it. The people at the Times are very intelligent, and in my judgment they knew exactly what was going on. They wanted to give the impression that "Real democracy" in the form of these town meetings was against building nuclear weapons, was against aid to El Salvador, etc.

Bureaucracy Kills Money-Saving Deal

WASHINGTON — Inspectors general are supposed to ferret out waste and corruption in that great fuddle factory known as the federal bureaucracy. But here's the frustrating account of an inspector general's office that was responsible for the end of a sensible, informal arrangement between two government facilities that was actually saving the taxpayers money.

About three years ago, the Great Lakes Naval Hospital and its neighbor, the Veterans Administration Medical center in North Chicago, entered into a mutually satisfying marriage of convenience, solemnized by nothing more complicated than a "memorandum of understanding."

Under the terms of the agreement, the naval hospital dipped into its ample supply of blood and gave it to the VA hospital, which needed it badly; in return, the VA hospital gave the Navy the services of a cardiologist it didn't need, but which the Navy did. It was a simple, direct arrangement that pleased both staffs.

Did Devil Make Him Do It?

DANBURY, Conn (NEA) — A murder trial certain to draw national and even international attention will begin in this small city near the New York border sometime this summer.

The defense will not deny the charge that Arne C. Johnson, the 20-year-old defendant, killed Alan Bono. Rather, it will say that the devil made Johnson do it — in other words, not guilty by reason of demonic possession.

The story is complex and bizarre. It all began about a year ago when 11-year-old David Glatzel, a local boy from a devoutly Roman Catholic family, began acting very strangely. At night, he would scream, curse in the most vile language imaginable and threaten to kill his family. The Glatzels eventually sought help from their parish priest.

The Bridgeport diocese — which includes Danbury and neighboring Brookfield, where the Glatzels live — will not discuss the case. But it appears that on several occasions, perhaps as many as four, priests attempted the rite of exorcism on the boy.

The Glatzels had taken to sleeping with David and holding him down during his "seizures." Family members recall that Johnson, who was dating and planning to marry 27-year-old Deborah Glatzel, often stayed with David and "taunted" the devil by saying: "Control me instead of this boy. Take me on, I'll fight you."

The defense plans to contend that the devil did exactly that.

In February, Johnson and Miss Glatzel moved into an apartment above a garage at a kennel that was managed by Bono and owned by his sister. Miss Glatzel worked at the kennel.

Johnson reportedly spent the afternoon of Feb. 16 trying to fix a radio owned by Bono. Shortly after dark, the two men apparently got into an argument, and Bono was stabbed repeatedly. Several hours later, Johnson was found wandering dazedly and was arrested for the murder.

Walter Flannigan, the local prosecutor, will not discuss the case. However, police sources close to the investigation say that the state will attempt to prove that Johnson and Bono argued over Miss Glatzel and that Bono already had or was attempting to establish a relationship with her. The motive for the killing, they assert, was simple jealousy.

The defense, led by lawyer Martin Minnella, says that it will prove that Johnson was possessed at the time of the killing and that it was actually the devil who killed Bono.

All of this might be given little credence were it not for the role of the church and of Ed and Lorraine Warren, a Catholic couple who live in Connecticut and who are highly regarded experts in psychic phenomena and demonic possession.

The Warrens were contacted early about David and are said to have been greatly responsible for convincing diocesan officials to attempt the exorcisms. The Warrens plan to testify at the trial that their belief that David was possessed and that the possession was transferred to Johnson.

Local police point out that the Warrens make their living lecturing on possession and that this case has caused their speaking fees to skyrocket. "They have a vested interest in the case to say the least," notes one police official.

Defense lawyers say that they will offer expert evidence at the trial that the devil does exist and that possession does occur. They plan to present photographs and tape recordings of David during his "possession" and to call to the stand the priests who attempted the exorcisms. However, they do not intend to call David himself.

The defense says that to its knowledge a bona fide defense of possession has never been attempted in this country, but it is studying English cases in which that defense was successfully raised earlier in this century. They believe that a jury will acquit Johnson.

They also know that the trial will become a media spectacular. As defense attorney Minnella has remarked more than once recently, "This is going to be bigger than Jean Harris' trial."

Celibacy Rears Its Ugly Head

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The mood of euphoria created by the brilliant success of the space shuttle Columbia has been somewhat shattered by the dismal failure of the panda Chia-Chia.

Brought here all the way from London for the sole purpose of mating with Ling-Ling, the National Zoo's female giant panda, Chia-Chia proved a colossal washout as a lover.

That brief annual period, usually seven days in May, when Ling-Ling takes an interest in boy pandas elapsed this year during five uneventful days in April. Thus slipped away a golden chance for the United States to forge ahead of Russia in panda production.

Who is to blame? National Zoo officials have tried to be diplomatic about it. Publically, at least, they point to extenuating circumstances and write off Chia-Chia's floperoo and just one of those things. But facts are facts.

Although the Columbia will be ready to fly again next fall, the opportunity for breeding the fair Ling-Ling has been lost for a full year.

Ling-Ling's fans insist she was everything a maiden panda should be, if not more. Chia-Chia, on the other hand, was pictured as both truculent and insouciant during those vital few days when fate hung in the balance. Even worse, he let his attention wander.

Nevertheless, Chia-Chia's apologists insist their panda did as well as could be expected under the circumstances. Implicit in these rationales is the insinuation that Ling-Ling lacks sex appeal and, more to the point, did not exhibit what a British panda would consider proper form for a courtship.

The gossip is that Ling-Ling practically threw herself at Chia-Chia, a breach of decorum no self-respecting British panda could tolerate.

Another handy excuse is that Ling-Ling's interest in amour arrived sooner than expected, throwing Chia-Chia off stride.

"He's better off out of it!" is the consensus around Picaresque Circus.

In any event, the noble experiment in international cooperation has been scrubbed, and it is difficult to say what the ramifications will be. Certainly Chia-Chia's ignominious return to London next month will cast a pall over Anglo-American relations at a time when President Reagan and Prime Minister Thatcher are striving to make things ticky-booby again.

That short-lived time when a female panda is in the mood for love is all too rare and precious to fritter away on dalliance of the sort Chia-Chia displayed.

Next time, if there is a next time, zoo officials here should predetermine that any male panda invited into Ling-Ling's boudoir is capable of keeping his mind on what he is supposed to be doing.

Meanwhile, keep a stiff upper lip, everybody!

PEOPLE IN BRIEF

Patty Duke Astin's Movie Nonjudgmental, She Says

By United Press International

"I did have a child out of wedlock because I opted not to have an abortion," Patty Duke Astin said last week in connection with her latest movie for television, "Girl on the Edge of Town."

Miss Satin plays the mother of a pregnant high school girl — a mother who entered a marriage of pain and poverty because she found herself in the same condition at her daughter's age.

The movie depicts the daughter's rejection of abortion. She opts instead to have the baby and put it up for adoption. But, Miss Astin said, the movie takes a nonjudgmental stance.

And in Miss Astin's view, that nonjudgmental stance should extend to the Moral Majority which is actively seeking a federal law banning abortion.

"I find that a horror," she said. "These are the same people who will not vote for gun control and who will vote for capital punishment. The very same people who say you may not kill fetuses say you may kill someone 25 years old by shooting ... electricity through their bodies."

Prince Just Horsing Around

Prince Charles has laughed away concern from his bride-to-be and Queen Elizabeth about his increasing habit of falling off polo horses.

And he reportedly won't change his plans to play in a scheduled game three days before his July wedding.

Charles took his latest spill Sunday while playing at Warwick Farm near Sydney, and witnesses said he appeared slightly shaken. It was his third fall in two months.

But the 32-year-old heir to the British throne was able to continue the game, which his team lost, 7-3.

London's Sunday Mirror reported in a front-page story that Charles' bride-to-be Lady Diana Spencer, 19, is "in a fair tizz" about the prince's planned game July 26. The paper quoted a friend of the royal family as saying she had not expected him to play again before the July 29 wedding. Queen Elizabeth also was said to be extremely worried.

Reagan Rhetoric Rates 'A-'

President Ronald Reagan's grades improved dramatically on his latest report card from a University of Pittsburgh expert in presidential rhetoric and speeches.

Dr. Theodore Windt, professor of speech and communications, upgraded Reagan Sunday from a "C" to an "A—" after evaluating the almost 100 days of his presidency.

Calling Reagan's speeches "refreshingly attractive after the dull days of Gerald Ford and Jimmy Carter," Windt said he had changed his mind about the president's verbal effectiveness.

"He acted swiftly, putting together a rhetorical package of three major speeches, each intended to function as a coherent program easily understood by the public," Windt said.

Woody Allen Is Versatile

Woody Allen's new play, "The Floating Light Bulb," opened on Broadway Monday, marking his return to the live theater after more than a decade. The play is the third production of the Lincoln Center Theater Company in its first year in residence at the Vivian Beaumont Theater, and there's a lot riding on it.

The company's first two plays — "The Philadelphia Story" and "Macbeth" — were roasted by the critics. Allen wants to become a stage magician. The title is that of a famous illusion. The stars are Bea Arthur and Jack Weston.

Princesses In Town

Princess Grace of Monaco and daughter Caroline were principal guests Sunday night at a gala fund-raising theater performance and supper in New York. The aim was to raise money for actor Sam Wanamaker's plan to build a replica of Shakespeare's Globe Theater in London.

The New York General Post Office handles 20 million pieces of mail every day.

'Kiss Mommie Goodbye'

Child Snatching Topic Of Thriller

It's a new and cruel crime — child snatching. In a typical case, a couple gets divorced, the wife gets custody of the children and the husband gets visitation rights.

On Saturday morning Dad arrives to take the kids for the weekend. Take them he does, fleeing the state. The police, realizing he could be anywhere in the country, even in the world, ignore the crime. The frantic wife hires a private investigator but does most of the grueling and relentlessly fruitless legwork herself. Months, often years, later she's still searching.

Joy Fielding uses precisely such a scenario in her riveting novel "Kiss Mommy Goodbye" (Doubleday, 308 pages, $11.95). Victor and Donna Cressy's marriage has disintegrated into endless squabbles.

From the start, Victor, a crack insurance salesman, has been unable to curb his passion for picking on Donna. "Why do you pick at your cuticles?" he asks her on their first date. Overwhelmed by the Dom Perignon he pours and the haiku poetry he recites, she overlooks what turns into a vicious habit.

Soon he is criticizing everything about her — from the way she holds the steering wheel to the way she combs her hair. At the wedding ceremony she is such a nervous wreck — "she wanted to kick off her shoes, tear off her dress, destroy her veil, burn her bouquet and run like hell."

She doesn't, and as her marriage disintegrates, so does her self-confidence. Soon Victor is running her life and running her ragged. Six miserable years and two beautiful children later she recalled their wedding reception. Sensing that their marriage would never work, she asked Victor what would happen if it didn't. "I'd obliterate you," he said. And he meant it.

When Donna asks Victor for a divorce, he replies: "Let me tell you one thing, little lady, so you better listen. No one — not you, not some fancy lawyer, not the courts, no one — is ever going to take my children away from me. I'll fight you till there's nothing left of you."

And so the custody battle begins. Donna wins, or so she thinks, until one Sunday when Victor doesn't return with the children. Donna recalls Victor's threat, "I promise you that even if you win, you'll lose."

The police say they can't help, claiming that Victor's action is "legal kidnapping." There's no ransom, the lieutenant explains. The object isn't to hurt the child.

"There's no law against it," he says. "We'll help you as much as we can but I don't think it'll do you a lot of good. Look, Patty Hearst disappeared for how many years? And we had the whole country out looking for her. You're talking about a man and two kids nobody cares about except the two of you..."

The weakness in this novel is Victor, a one-dimensional evil character. After he runs with the children, he turns downright mean, calling Donna to taunt her, to tell her that he has told the children that their mommy doesn't want them anymore, that she has found a family she likes better.

The second half of the novel focuses on Donna's search — the false leads, the utter frustration, the fruitless checking with airlines, real-estate agents, distant relatives. Soon Donna is on the verge of a breakdown, contemplating suicide, stalking every baby carriage she sees, spending afternoons watching other people's children in playgrounds. She cries, she mopes, she stared at the phone.

The final scene, when Donna apparently is hot on the trail of her children, is a hair-raiser, guaranteed to keep the reader up way past his or her bedtime.

Joy Fielding's riveting novel, "Kiss Mommy Goodbye," deals with the comparatively modern crime of parental child snatching.

Stewardess Fired For Posing Nude Sues To Regain Job

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (UPI) — A former Delta Air Lines flight attendant who says she was fired after posing for Playboy magazine is suing to get her job back.

In her complaint filed in U.S. District Court in Jacksonville, Linda Jo Lehner, 27, of Orange Park, claims she is the victim of sex discrimination.

At the time of her dismissal by Delta last June, Miss Lehner said she was told by the airline that her appearance in the men's magazine reflected unfavorably on Delta "because of its possible sexual connotations."

"On past occasions, however, the defendant (Delta) has been specifically aware of conduct on the part of other of its employees, all of whom were male and some of whom were flight attendants, all of which constituted outrageous sexually related conduct which was viewed by members of the general public, such as airline passengers," the complaint said.

"The defendant took no steps to severely discipline such male employees, however, through such actions as terminating their employment."

The suit gives no details of this alleged misconduct. Miss Lehner appeared in the April 1980 issue of Playboy. In one picture, she wore her Delta uniform; in another she was bottomless.

Her suit seeks reinstatement as a flight attendant and back pay.

High Court Ruling Seen As Environmentalists' Defeat

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Despite arguments that dumping of raw sewage burning Lake Michigan into a cesspool, the Supreme Court ruled 6-3 Tuesday that courts may not impose tougher sewage treatment standards than those set by Congress.

The justices threw out a lower court order requiring the city of Milwaukee to stop discharging untreated sewage into Lake Michigan.

The decision was a defeat for environmentalists and the states of Illinois and Michigan, which filed suit 10 years ago to halt the recurring pollution of Lake Michigan. The discharge into the lake occurs when Milwaukee's sewage system overflows during rainy periods.

The case attracted interest of cities nationwide, who feared tougher court-set standards could cost them billions of dollars.

In another opinion likely to be criticized by environmentalists, the court unanimously ruled private citizens may not sue to enforce one of the nation's most important conservation laws.

That ruling came in a California case concerning construction of a system to carry water from the northern part of the state to central and southern areas.

The high court reversed lower federal courts which said individuals trying to block the California Water Project could sue under the 1899 Rivers and Harbors Appropriation Act. The act says approval by the Army Corps of Engineers is needed before there can be building in or diversion of navigable water.

In the sewage case, Illinois claimed Milwaukee was using Lake Michigan — an "invaluable natural treasure" — as a cesspool by dumping untreated sewage into it.

But Milwaukee countered that meeting the tougher sewage standards set by lower courts would cost the city too much — about $300 million.

Justice William Rehnquist, writing for the court majority, said, "The problem of effluent limitations has been thoroughly addressed through the administrative scheme established by Congress, as contemplated by Congress."

In dissent, Justice Harry Blackmun protested, "The trial court determined that these untreated fecal wastes, bacteria and viruses are periodically transported by prevailing currents into the Illinois waters of Lake Michigan."

Illinois originally brought the action, charging, "Milwaukee has used Lake Michigan as a cesspool" by dumping disease-causing raw sewage into the lake when its sewer system overflowed following heavy rains.

No fewer than 10 organizations and local and state governments, as well as the federal government, formally entered it on one side or the other.

Senate reappointment that followed the 1970 census.

Childers May Chair Reapportionment Committee

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (UPI) — Senate President W.D. Childers said Tuesday he is "thinking seriously" about personally chairing the reapportionment and redistricting committee that will begin work after the 1981 session.

The announcement was a shock to some senators who had believed Rules Chairman Dempsey Barron would chair the panel that will draw new Senate district boundaries based on changes on population as reflected by the 1980 census and possibly reapportion some lawmakers out of their seats.

These senators questioned whether it is a further sign that Childers of Pensacola and Barron of Panama City, close friends and political allies in the past, are having severe personal problems.

"I am thinking seriously, very seriously, of the possibility I will chair that committee," Childers told the Senate at the beginning of Tuesday's business. "I will not hesitate to appoint myself to chair that committee."

He also said he will make no appointments to the committee until after the session because he doesn't want the delicate and highly political task of drawing district boundaries to interfere with the Legislature's current business.

Childers said he made the announcement because he wanted to lay to rest all "speculation and rumors" about who would be on the reapportionment panel and how it might redraw legislative and congressional districts.

Barron was a major force in the negotiate pension matters. The constitutional amendment, which would go on the 1982 Florida ballot for public ratification if the Senate approves it, would let the Legislature exclude various topics from collective bargaining agreements.

While the House debated the speaker's proposal (HJR 1032), the Senate voted to crack down on prostitution and outlaw switchblade knives as concealed weapons. The Senate approved a bill by Sen. Van

Senate Votes To Crack Down On Prostitution, Switchblades

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (UPI) — The Senate passed two more crime measures Tuesday and the House easily approved Speaker Ralph Habens plan to let Florida lawmakers decide what issues are subject to union bargaining for public employees.

After an hour of debate, the House voted 91-26 for the constitutional amendment Habens pushed — with 88 cosponsors — in response to a Leon County Circuit Court ruling that public employee unions could negotiate pension matters. The constitutional amendment, which would go on the 1982 Florida ballot for public ratification if the Senate approves it, would let the Legislature exclude various topics from collective bargaining agreements.

While the House debated the speaker's proposal (HJR 1032), the Senate voted to crack down on prostitution and outlaw switchblade knives as concealed weapons. The Senate approved a bill by Sen. Van

B. Poole, R-Fort Lauderdale, to make prostitution a third-degree felony on third and subsequent offenses.

Poole's bill would also make pimping a felony on first offense. He said police needed the bill (SB 152) to go after operators of "escort services" and others living off the illicit earnings of prostitutes.

The Senate dropped a mandatory sentencing provision from the switchblade knives bill before sending it to the House.

No Political Asylum

Judge's Order: Deport Cubans

MIAMI (UPI) — A federal judge Tuesday ordered 39 Cubans deported from Miami to Spain where lawyers for the group say the people will face persecution.

The 39 entered the U.S. illegally by walking off a Spain-to-Mexico flight during a stopover in Miami last month.

U.S. Immigration Judge Henry Scroope turned down the group's bid for political asylum and ordered them returned to Spain.

Attorneys for the 39 plan to appeal the decision. If they are unsuccessful, the refugees will be among the first group of Cubans refused admittance to the U.S. through a third country since refugees first started fleeing the island 22 years ago.

Jesus Perez Bahamonde, one of 13 Mariel boatlift refugees expelled from Cuba last week after returning to their homeland, testified for the "stopover refugees." He said if they aren't sent to Spain, they shouldn't be set to Cuba either because he was arrested when he arrived there.

Perez said he was thrown in prison for six months and denied visits from his family before being set adrift.

Scroope's ruled the same way on earlier petitions by the five refugees in the same case. His decision reflected State Department policy that Cubans entering the U.S. from third countries without visas be denied asylum.

The Cubans had attempted to change Scroope's mind by claiming they faced political persecution if they were returned to Spain or Cuba.

The judge was not swayed saying, "No such evidence has been shown."

The Cubans' case rested on two witnesses. Miguel Canet Hernandez, 34, who spent nearly a year in Spain with his wife and children were in the U.S. He said Communist sympathizers there threatened him every day, threw rocks at him and forced him from his home.

Scroope said the persecution in Spain didn't come from the government. He said many countries, including the U.S., give prison terms for illegal entry.

In other developments relating to the Mariel refugees who returned to Cuba, were jailed and then expelled by being set adrift in the Florida Straits, the U.S. Immigration and Naturalization Service said Tuesday it has determined 27 of the 55 refugees believed in boats had landed in the U.S.

Of those 27, 21 are in INS custody.

The State Department has said if it finds the Cubans violated U.S. immigration laws they will be prosecuted.

"That's not a strong statement, but an asinine one. The refugees are innocent victims of a lousy, improvised policy that the State Department has had throughout the years," said Miami attorney Jose Villalobos.

Msgr. Bryan Walsh, director of the Miami Catholic Services Bureau, said it is "tragic that people become ping pong balls tossed around by the two governments."

Police Charge Suspect In Fire That Killed 26

WHITE PLAINS, N.Y. (UPI) — A Guatemalan described as a "disgruntled" former employee of Stouffer's Inn was arrested today and charged with setting the fire at the hotel that killed 26 corporate executives last December.

Luis Marin, alias "Pedro Davila," 25, of Port Chester, N.Y., was arraigned on charges of arson and 26 counts of second degree murder in Westchester County Court and ordered held without bail.

He pleaded innocent to the charges.

Westchester County District Attorney Carl Vergari described Marin as a "disgruntled employee" of the hotel who had been notified shortly before the blaze that he was to be fired.

Vergari said Marin originally entered the U.S. illegally under the assumed name Pedro Davila. He said the suspect later married a woman who was an American citizen, but added "there is some question" as to Marin's current immigration status.

In news reports of the tragedy, Vergari said Marin appeared in several television interviews claiming to have aided in the rescue of the employees of General Foods who were trapped in a conference room but who managed to escape by breaking a window and jumping to safety.

Panel Votes To Repeal Motorcycle Helmet Law

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (UPI) — The Senate Transportation Committee voted today to repeal Florida's mandatory helmet law for motorcycle riders over age 21.

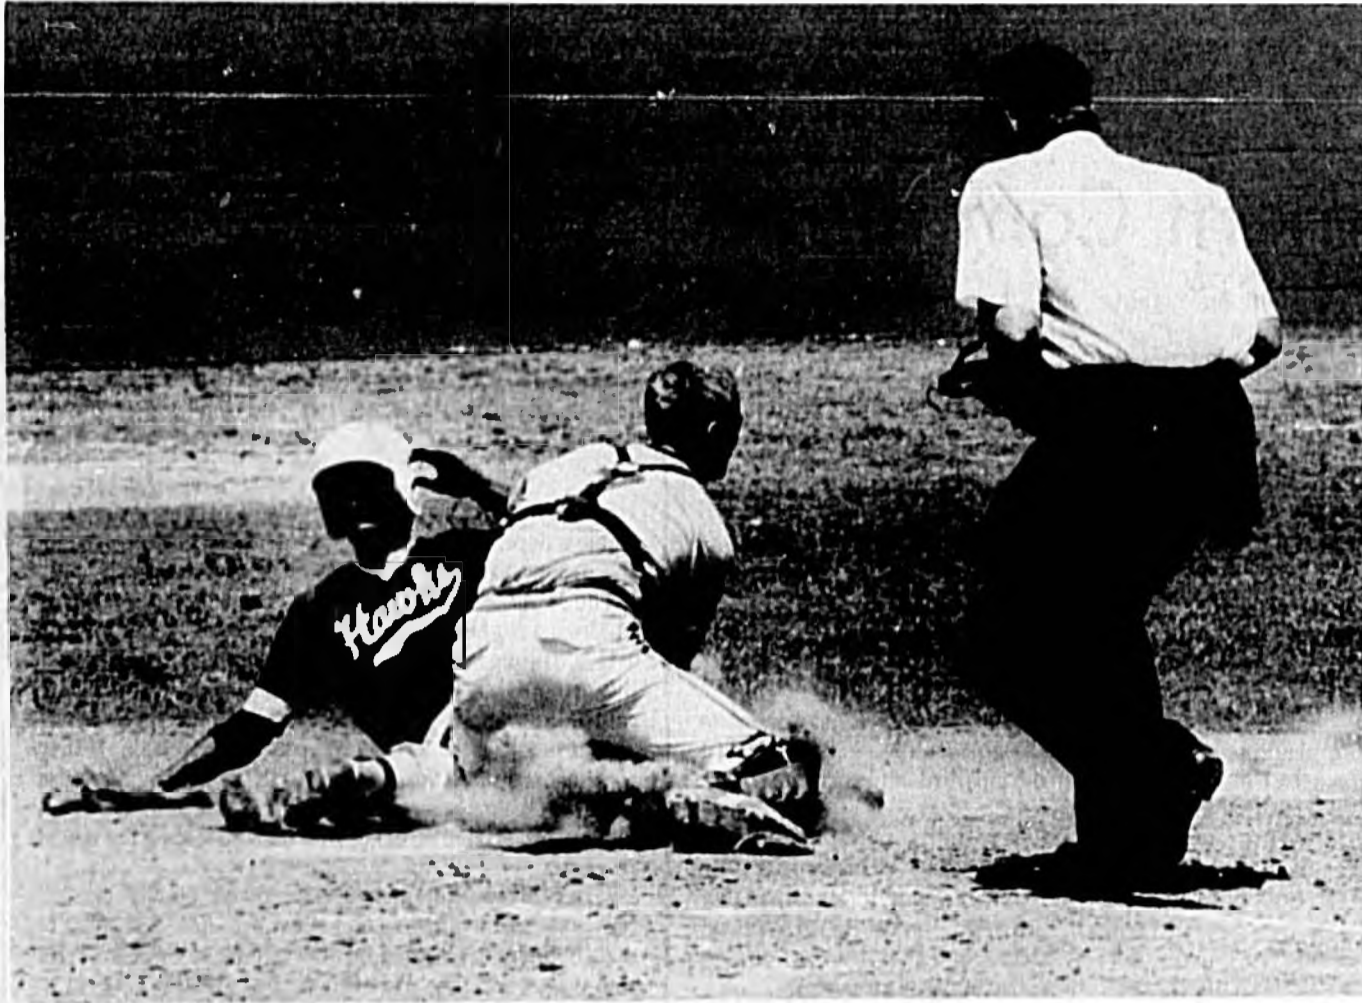

The bill (SB 674) by Sen. Tom Lewis, R-North Palm Beach, sailed through the committee in a 5-2 vote after Sen. Paul Steinberg, D-Miami Beach, amended it so motorcyclists 16 to 21 years old would still have to wear helmets. Steinberg said young drivers just starting out on bikes should have to wear protective headgear until they gain experience.

John G. Burke, representing the Governor's Highway Safety Commission, warned the committee that motorcycle-related deaths and crippling injuries have gone up in the 28 states that have repealed helmet laws. He cited statistics indicating a motorcyclist in an accident is three times more likely to be killed than a car driver involved in a similar crash.

"Any individual risk accepted by a motorcyclist will eventually be spread to all motorists, in the form of higher insurance costs," said Burke.

Seniors Salvage Victory

By BENTON WOOD
Herald Sports Writer

Seniors Sam Griffith and Bill Terwilliger sparked a three-run, sixth inning rally to back the combined three-hit pitching of Greg Hill and Tracy Walker as Seminole advanced to the semifinals of the 4A-9 tournament with a 6-4 win over Apopka at Sanford Stadium Tuesday night.

"We got something that we haven't really had all year, our seniors came through for us," smiled winning coach Bobby Lundquist. "That makes the win a little sweeter."

Centerfielder Alton Davis led off the bottom of the sixth with a single off losing pitcher Lemar Chandler. Chip Saunders dropped a hit into short right field when Mike Frett slipped and left fielder Eugene DeAlba loaded the bases with a bunt single.

Terwilliger finished Lemar Chandler one out later when he stroked a 2-1 fastball into center field tying the game at 4-4.

Griffith greeted reliever Doug Chandler with a single to left for two more Seminole runs. Walker, who came in for Hill with two out in the sixth, struck out the side in the seventh to pick up the win.

"It started as a typical district opener," Lundquist said. "We were tight and throwing the ball around. But then they came right back and gave us our runs."

In the first, the Blue Darters notched three runs on six hits and three Sanford errors.

With Apopka leading 3-1 in the bottom of the third, second baseman Freddie Howard led off with a single by short. After stealing second, Brett Von Herbulis reached with a bunt by the mound.

However, Howard scored when the third baseman's late throw sailed by first base and Von Herbulis circled the bases to tie the game when the throw to third got by the bag.

The Blue Darters regained the lead with two out in their half of the sixth when designated hitter Rick Murray doubled off the chalk in left field and shortstop Russell Wambles blooped a single into left field just out of the reach of a hard charging DeAlba.

Davis and DeAlba had two hits each for 10-18 Sanford, while Wambles owned two of Apopka's three hits.

Daytona Beach Mainland clobbered second-seeded DeLand 5-2 to advance into the semifinals against Lake Brantley.

Third baseman Alan Hand scored the winning run in the Bucs two-run fourth inning. He added a solo homer in the sixth as junior Rich Preis knocked off the Bulldogs for the second time in a row on a four hitter.

Matador Martinez, Drivas, Chiodini Pound 'Hounds

By SAM COOK
Herald Sports Editor

Lyman effectively lassoed the "Bull" Tuesday at Sanford Memorial Stadium, but Lake Howell's "Matador" clipped the Greyhounds for three singles and three runs scored en route to a 13-7 victory.

The "Matador" alias Howell's talented left fielder David Martinez received sufficient help from senior Jay Drivas (four hits) and center fielder Doug Chiodini (three runs batted in).

Carl "Bull" Carlson, meanwhile, was having his problems with Greyhound pitching as he whiffed three times before legging out an infield single in the ninth inning.

The top-seeded Silver Hawks jumped to a 2-0 lead in this first round game of the District 4A-9 Tournament which they won two years ago and finished second last year to DeLand.

All-Conference Shortstop Charlie Miller ripped the first of his three singles to open the game. Chiodini then slapped a ball into left field which eluded Lyman's Todd Marriott allowing Miller to score and Chiodini to reach third base.

Hounds' starter Mike Dreibelbis, however, appeared to be on the verge of getting out of the jam as he fanned Carlson and induced senior Gary Smith to pop to first base.

Drivas, though, slapped a single up the middle to drive in Chiodini. For the big lefty, it was his 28th run batted in of the year, the best in Seminole County.

Martinez, who plays the game with a bullfighter's grace, slashed a single to right field sending Summers to second.

On a hit-and-run play, Miller stroked a ground ball to the recently vacated shortstop's hole to score Summers and send the swift Martinez to third. Chiodini promptly singled home Martinez for a 4-0 advantage.

Lake Howell piled on six runs in the seventh inning by sending 10 batters to the plate. Smith and Jerry Winterhalter had singles while Drivas and Tony Dimauro sent crisp doubles to left center. Both doubles scored runs. Carlson's infield single plated two with Miller again and Chiodini turning in the daring base running.

With the bulge at 13-3, Smith tired in the bottom of the ninth as Brock rocked a triple to deep center and scored on a wild pitch. Wood, Perkins and pinch hitter Rusty Huff had singles. Huff's scored the last two Lyman runs.

"We'd get a lead, then relax," said Benjamin about Lake Howell's 14th straight victory which improved its season record to 25-5.

Williams 4-Hitter Fuels Petroleum Past Flagship

Behind the pitching and hitting of Patrick Williams, Seminole Petroleum defeated Flagship Bank 8-3 Tuesday to pull to within a half-game of Idle Atlantic Bank in the chase for the Sanford Little American League pennant.

The victory boosted Seminole Petroleum to 6-2. Atlantic Bank is 6-1.

In other games Tuesday, Triple I.I. Trucking defeated Jack Prosser Ford 8-1 and Butch's Chevron edged Krayola Kollege 10-5.

In today's action in the Sanford Little National League, first place First Federal takes on the Railroaders at 5 p.m. at Fort Mellon Park. In the other 5 p.m. game, Sunland Corporation plays Clem Leonard Shell at Westside Field. Poppa Jay's plays Cardinal Industries at 7 p.m. at Fort Mellon Park.

In Sanford Junior League action today, unbeaten Knights of Columbus plays Rotary at 5 p.m. at Chase Park, while Elks plays Masters Cove Apartments at 7 p.m.

Flagship Bank used singles by Jack Jackson and Darris Littles and an error to tie the score in the top of the second, but Seminole Petroleum regained the lead with a single run in the bottom of the second, scoring on a two-out solo home run by Williams.

Flagship Bank again knotted the score with a single tally in the top of the third, scoring without a hit.

After that, Williams got stingy and blanked Flagship the rest of the way. Seminole Petroleum scored two in the third, two in the fourth and one in the fifth for an easy win.

Williams, who allowed just four hits, struck out 13.

At the plate, Williams was three for three.

Darris Littles had two of Flagship

Bank's four hits.

Trailing 3-1, Butch's Chevron scored four runs in the top of the fourth and went on to beat Krayola Kollege by a five-run margin.

Tony Hayes and Paul Harkness each had a pair of hits for Butch's Chevron and Steve Warren belted a home run.

Chris Smith homered and doubled for Krayola Kollege, while teammates Ronald Cox and Jason Heffington rapped two singles each.

Mike Edwards blasted a two-run homer in the top of the first inning and Triple I.I. Trucking never trailed against Jack Prosser Ford.

Edwards allowed just three hits and struck out 10 as he went the distance on the mound for the winners.

Reginald Bellamy paced the Truckers at the plate with a double and home run.

Rhoden Blanks New York; Seaver Scatters Padres 8-2

By United Press International

Right-hander Rick Rhoden who missed most of last season with a shoulder injury, pitched his first shutout since Sept. 19, 1978 Tuesday night, stopping the New York Mets, 8-0, on nine hits in leading the Pittsburgh Pirates to victory.

The triumph raised Rhoden's career record for the month of April to 13-0 and brought cries of protest from Mets' Manager Joe Torre.

"He throws a lot of breaking pitches and he might throw a splitter or two or three," said Torre. "He scuffs the ball up pretty good, 19.00 gough (National League President) Chub Feeney doesn't think so. We sent a couple of balls over to him and he just laughed."

Whatever Rhoden had on the ball it resulted in 16 groundouts with the Pirates turning four double plays.

The Pirates supported Rhoden with 14 hits and broke the game open with a five-run third inning which featured a two-run homer by Bill Madlock. Mike Easler drove in three runs for the Pirates who tagged Mike Scott, 0-2, with the loss.

Elsewhere in the National League, San Francisco blanked Los Angeles, 6-0, Houston nipped Atlanta, 2-1, Montreal downed Philadelphia, 6-3, and Cincinnati routed San Diego, 11-2. St. Louis at Chicago was rained out.

By United Press International

Left-hander Tom Seaver scattered eight hits and stoled two more bases to give him the major league lead with 16 thefts. He is batting .379.

Reds 8, Padres 2

Tom Seaver scattered eight hits and the Reds scored eight runs in the fifth inning to defeat the Padres. The Reds sent 13 batters to the plate and collected five of their 12 hits in the fifth inning.

Randolph Blast Pins Tigers With 9th Straight Loss

By United Press International

Willie Randolph hit a three-run homer with two out in the fifth inning and Tommy John made it stand up with a six-hitter Tuesday night to help New York defeat Detroit, 4-1, and hand the Tigers their ninth straight defeat and fifth in a row by the Yankees.

John said Detroit's slump didn't change the way he pitched them.

He said, "There's nothing you do differently at all. Remember, this club was 7-1 and playing great ball. They're just going through the same cycle we all go through. Now if this were September and you were four or five games out, then it might be time."

Randolph, who was hitting .173 at game time, stroked a 2-1 pitch off loser Dan Schatzeder, 1-1, for his second homer after walks to Graig Nettles and Bucky Dent in the fifth inning.

"That time was the first time I really felt aggressive," said Randolph. "I've been swinging decently but the ball hasn't been falling in"

John Wockenfuss reached John, 3-1, for a solo home run leading off the second, but newly acquired catcher Barry Foote tied the score, 1-1, in the third with a solo homer, his first hit of the season. Foote, playing his first game since being acquired from the Chicago Cubs, was 0-for-22 with Chicago.

John allowed only three hits thereafter and struck out one without walking a batter.

Twins 4, Mariners 1

John Castino cracked a pair of triples to pace a 12-hit attack and Pete Redfern fired a five-hitter to lift the Twins. Redfern, 2-1, recorded his first complete game this season.

Blue Jays 6, Brewers 2

Ken Macha, making his first start since being purchased from Montreal in January, drilled a two-run double to highlight a four-run rally in the sixth inning that sparked the Blue Jays.

Rangers 9, Red Sox 0

Pat Putnam's three-run homer highlighted a four-run fourth inning and three pitchers combined on a five-hitter to boost the Rangers — their second straight shutout.

White Sox 8, Orioles 6

The Chicago White Sox pounded 1980 American League Cy Young Award-winner Steve Stone for six straight hits in the second inning to score six runs, then went on to triumph.

Angels 3, A's 1

Three California pitchers combined on a six-hitter and Bobby Grich hit a solo homer to lead the Angels over the A's, who suffered only their third loss of the season.

Florida Universities Bright, Brighter, Dim

United Press International

For the Miami Dolphins, the Tampa Bay Bucs and the crop of seniors from Florida universities, the NFL draft so far has been bright, brighter — and rather dim.

In the first six rounds of the draft Tuesday, the Dolphins' prizes included a big running back — though not the one they had hoped for — and the Bucs landed a lauded linebacker they didn't expect to get.

But for Florida's crop of senior gridders, the draft hasn't been a shining moment.

Only one, Florida State cornerback Bobby Butler, went in the first round, and two hot FSU prospects cooled by their off-season arrests in connection with a department store theft ring, waited until the fifth and sixth rounds.

The Dolphins, who have needed a big fullback since Larry Csonka's departure, had their eye on Pittsburgh's Randy McMillan. Eleven players were selected in front of him. Unfortunately for the Dolphins, their first pick was 13, and McMillan was snatched away by Baltimore.

Miami settled for David Overstreet of Oklahoma as its first-round pick. Considered a top prospect, he played his college ball in the shadows of Billy Sims and Elvis Peacock.

The Bucs got a surprise when their first-round choice came around. Pittsburgh linebacker Hugh Green, expected to be snapped up in the first choices, was still available. The Bucs grabbed the UPI College Player of the Year in 1980.

The choice delighted Bucs Coach John McKay, who compared Green to the Bucs' first-ever draft choice, defensive end Leroy Selmon.

"He's the most productive linebacker I've ever seen in college," said McKay. "He dominates the game. He's the kind of guy that can make things happen for you. He's got speed, agility, strength — everything you'd need. He has all the achievements and acclaims in his position that Leroy Selmon had at his in college."

Asked if Green had any flaws, McKay quipped: "Yes, he's not twins."

Green, who had 17 quarterback sacks and caused another 10, and recovered four fumbles while causing seven last year, said he was happy to go with the Bucs.

"I wanted to be on a team that has potential and players that can complement me," Green said by a telephone hookup from Pittsburgh.

Cris Collinsworth, Florida's flanker back who was expected to go in the first round, had to wait until the second to be chosen by the Cincinnati Bengals. He was the 37th player chosen.

Two outstanding FSU outstanding linemen, offensive tackle Ken Lanier and noseguard ron Simmons, both of whom had been expected to go in early rounds, didn't. Both were charged by Tallahassee authorities last month in a department store theft ring allegedly run by a former Seminole.

Lanier, a 6-4, 260-pounder, was picked by Denver in the fifth round. Simmons went in the sixth round to Cleveland.

Also going in the sixth round was 6-foot-2 defensive tackle Dock Luckie of Florida, picked by Kansas City.

Patriots Pounce On Creek Hawks

"The gifts from Heaven" praised Lake Brantley Coach Sam Momary after his team remarkably came back to beat Spruce Creek, 3-2, in eight innings.

The gifts were plenty as were errors (a total of 10 miscues) in the third game of the District 4A-9 Tournament Thursday.

Brantley used solid baseball to take the lead in the eighth. Billy Powers started the action with a single to center field. Mike Dunlap pinch ran for Powers and promptly stole second. Ron Coleman followed with a single to right scoring Dunlap with the go-ahead run.

Billy Green relieved starter Tommy Novak after Novak walked the Hawks lead-off batter. Green shut down Spruce Creek, striking out the last two batters.

Novak gave up only one hit (to the first batter of the game) after the regulation seven innings and one hit in the eighth. Novak had pitching problems early off. After giving up a lead off single, Novak walked Allen Green and Ralph Destefano to load the bases.

Novak buckled down to strike out All-Conference batting champ Dan Swartzfuger, but again had trouble throwing strikes walking Scott Darduff forcing Spruce Creek first run across the plate. Pete Langlois grounded out to second allowing Green to score.

Then the gifts started coming. Kirk Menendez got his second hit of the day with single off the shin of the second baseman. (Playable?) Gift one.

Menendez got the steal signal on the first pitch. But Spruce Creek had a pitch out called and had a sure out except that the ball slipped out of the catcher's hand as he released it. Gift two.

Menendez with a big lead at second was surely picked off but no one was covering second so he lofted the ball to the second baseman. Menendez wisely choose to break for third and easily made it. Gift three.

Senior Dave Jeffries singled down the right field line to cut the Hawks lead.

Luck came back to Brantley in the seventh. Jeffries led-off with a one out single off the pitchers glove. Jeffries stole second and took third when the ball rolled into center.

Cory Carter got the suicide squeeze signal with two strikes. He missed the ball for strike three and Jeffries desperately ran back to third. The ball beat him to the bag, the game looked over, but Jeffries made a great slide around the tag to keep the Pats hopes alive. Big gift count two, four and five.

The first pitch to Joe Mincey was low and outside the catcher blocked it but it rolled away to his right.

Jeffries was indecisive because the ball was only about 20 feet from the catcher but made a dash for home.

The catcher got to the ball in plenty of time to throw him out but had trouble picking up the ball then threw it over the pitcher's head. Gift six.—SCOTT SMITH

Cook Of The Week

Orange Fare Fit For The Gods

By JANE AKERS
Herald Correspondent

"We use a lot of fresh vegetables and eat in-season fruits," says Dick Currey of Longwood.

"I do cook at home but the majority of our meals are prepared by my bride," smiles Dick. "And she fixes things that are nutritious and dishes that I like."

Dick and his bride, as he refers to Linda, his wife of eight years, have a 7-year-old daughter Cynthia.

Dick's hobbies are fishing and home gardening. Dick and Linda also collect antiques. Their home is filled with many products of yesteryear. They have collected unusual items from auctions in this area and from the north. As they acquire a new piece it is refinished and restored by their own hands.

"Our prize possession is our living room set," says Linda. "It is paper-wrapped wicker that dates back to 1910."

Dick and Linda Currey were transferred to this area six years ago with Citrus Central Inc. As regional sales manager for Citrus Central, Dick covers the southeastern part of the United States.

"In working with and representing Citrus Central, I have found there are many people who only use frozen or fresh products as they always have," admits Dick. "The old-fashion way is not always the best. You should try new ideas and experiment around."

If there is one thing that Dick knows about it is orange juice concentrate. According to legend, it was Hercules who stole oranges from the gods and brought them into the mortal realm. Oranges quickly become a symbol of temptation and romance, a favorite ingredient of haute cuisine.

Americans today consume most of their oranges in the form of Florida concentrated orange juice. "Concentrate is not only a healthful, refreshing beverage for any time, it is also a versatile food," says Dick.

"In our home Linda and I like a high-pulp concentrate and our daughter likes a low-pulp. I personally recommend Natural Sun orange juice. It gives you a choice of high or low pulp. In preparing meals and in personal taste it makes a difference."

All of the recipes that follow contain OJ concentrate. They are fast simple ways to savor the fruit of the gods. "Once you experiment with using concentrates you will discover new ideas of your own," says Dick.

RISE AND SHINE SHAKE

1 8 oz. container vanilla yogurt
2 tablespoons concentrated OJ
1 small banana
1/2 cup milk
1 egg
1 teaspoon honey
Combine all ingredients in a blender and blend till smooth.
Serves 2.

SUNSHINE PIE

1 6 oz. can concentrated OJ
1 3oz. package apricot or orange gelatin
2 cups ice cubes
1 container (8 oz.) non-dairy whipped topping, thawed
1 can mandarin oranges
1 ready made graham cracker crust
Bring OJ to a boil in a small saucepan and pour into a mixing bowl. Dissolve the gelatin completely in the OJ concentrate, stirring about 3-4 minutes. Add the two cups of ice cubes to the gelatin mixture and stir until thickened. Remove any unmelted ice. With a wire whisk, blend in the whipped topping till smooth. Fold in the mandarin oranges. Chill, if necessary, until the mixture mounds. Spoon into the prepared crust and chill at least two hours. Garnish with additional whipped topping and fresh orange slices.

ORANGENUT PANCAKES

Using a complete pancake mix, use the following proportions to make these delicious and nutty breakfast treats.

Amount	Mix	Water	OJ Concentrate
7-8	1 cup	1/2 cup	1/4 cup

14-16	2 cups	1 cup	1/2 cup
21-24	3 cups	1 1/2 cups	3/4 cup

waffles	2 cups	1 cup

1/2 cup plus 1 tablespoon oil
1/4 cup chopped pecans per cup of mix.
Top these pancakes and waffles with fresh orange butter and orange marmalade.

FRESH ORANGE BUTTER

TIPS WITH OJ CONCENTRATE

1. Marinate fresh sliced strawberries in a mixture of OJ concentrate, brandy, and a little sugar. Serve over ice cream or pound cake.
2. Mix high-pulp OJ concentrate in with seltzer water to make your own refreshing orange soda.
3. Use OJ concentrate and a little honey to glaze ribs.
4. Glaze your corned beef with a combination of OJ concentrate mixed with prepared yellow mustard and a little brown sugar.
5. Make a tropical chicken salad using shredded coconut and crushed pineapple. The dressing is mayonaised mixed with OJ concentrate.
6. A yam-bake made with OJ concentrate, honey, cinnamon, nutmeg and a little brown sugar is a real taste treat. Dot with butter and top with tiny marshmallows before baking.
7. Create your own "secret" marinade for ribs, chicken or pork using different proportions of OJ concentrate, soy sauce, honey and powdered ginger.
8. Mix high-pulp OJ concentrate with cream cheese and honey and spread on toast.
9. Try an orange meringue pie using high-pulp OJ concentrate instead of lemon juice.
10. Simmer together a 6 oz. can of OJ concentrate and a small jar of currant jelly and brush on a pork roast while baking.
11. Add OJ concentrate to chicken gravy. Grate in orange rind and serve over baked chicken.
12. Brush broiled fish with OJ concentrate and melted butter.
13. Add OJ concentrate to meringue recipe and spoon onto sectioned grapefruit halves and broil till lightly browned.
14. Add OJ concentrate to buttered breadcrumbs. Season to taste and stuff steamed artichokes. Bake 30 minutes.
15. Plump raisins in OJ concentrate mix with brown sugar and bake in a pie crust for an orange-raisin pie.

Search Is On For Outstanding Mom

With Mother's Day fast approaching, The Herald is embarking on a search for that outstanding Mom.

So, we're turning to our readers for some help. If you know of a woman who, in your opinion, is deserving of mention as an outstanding mother, let us know.

We'll accept until noon, Thursday, April 30, letters submitted by readers, about one to one and a-half pages of standard size sheets, telling briefly why a particular woman in our area is deserving of such recognition. We'll take it from there.

Readers should mail their selection to: OURSELVES Editor, Doris Dietrich, The Evening Herald, 300 French Ave., Sanford, Fla. 32771.

Dear Abby

Youngsters Need Rules, Guidelines

DEAR ABBY: I have a very pretty and bright 11-year-old daughter who for the past several months has been asking for permission to "go with" boys. Many of Debby's friends (her age) are forming such attachments, however temporary and innocent, and Debby wants to follow suit.

I told her I thought she was much too young to be going with boys, and she was very disappointed and resentful. Abby, if you agree with me, please tell me how to handle this without alienating my daughter. It is so important that Debby and I be good friends during this very important time in her life.

DEBBY'S MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: I'm not sure I know what "going with" means in this case, but don't panic. To some youngsters, a telephone conversation once a week means you're "going with" someone.

I agree, an 11-year-old girl is much too young to date boys, but as soon as children indicate that they want to socialize with the opposite sex, they should be allowed to do so in order to build healthy boy-girl relationships. Encourage well-chaperoned get-togethers, and make all Debby's friends welcome in your home. You will not alienate your daughter by refusing to let her go out with boys at her age. All youngsters need guidelines and rules. They feel more loved and secure when they know their limits.

DEAR ABBY: I am a widow, middle-aged, still fit and attractive. I have many friends, divorced or widowed — all women. In seeking male companionship we have tried the singles clubs and find them abhorrent. We don't want to go to singles bars. Everyone says, "Engage in activities that interest you and you will meet men who are interested in similar things."

OK, I'm doing that, but, Abby, how do you know who is single and who isn't in big, general gatherings?

I'm considering starting a trend of having single people wear a button — maybe with an "S" or "Single" — so we can identify each other on trains, planes, walking on the beach, at an art gallery, whatever.

Is this a sound idea, or would such a button look like a come-on, or worse yet, solicitation? I'm desperate, but not that desperate.

M.
DEAR M: It wouldn't work. Married folks who want to pass as singles would wear the button.

DEAR ABBY: In CONFIDENTIAL TO THINKING IT OVER IN SALEM, N.J., you wisely pointed out that "money isn't everything."

That caused me to recall the words of B. C. Forbes, the founder of Forbes magazine: "The money or place of fame that our endeavors may bring when crowned with so-called success will not yield all the joy we anticipated; such things may charm, may tickle our vanity, may effervesce a hectic sort of happiness for a little while; but we soon find our teeth grating at the core. The consciousness of the worthwhileness of the achievement itself can alone produce in us a state of happiness. Riches are mental, not material!"

ARTHUR H. PRINCE

Birth

Mr. and Mrs. Richard P. Galloway Jr., (the former Chris Shedden of Sanford) announce the birth of a son, Robert Martin, on April 26 at Palm Beach Gardens Hospital, West Palm Beach.

Young Robert joins a brother, Richard P. Galloway III, 1 1/2-years-old.

Maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Robert Shedden, and paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Richard P. Galloway, all of Sanford.

Singles Asked To Picnic

The Singles Of Sanford will meet for a picnic Sunday at the home of Lou Baker on Airport Boulevard. Those who are planning to attend are asked to bring a covered dish or picnic fare.

According to Mrs. Baker, the group will meet at the First United Methodist Church, Sanford, around 4:15 p.m. and depart in a group from there to her home.

Interested singles over 18 are invited to attend the picnic and become members of the club, Mrs. Baker said.

Artisans of the Ming Dynasty of China were reported to have made "eggshell" porcelain wine cups weighing less than 1/48 of an ounce.

The heaviest of all invertebrate animals is the Atlantic giant squid. The largest specimen ever recorded was one measuring 55 feet overall, captured on November 2, 1978, after it had run aground in Tickle Bay, Newfoundland. Its eyes were 9 inches in diameter.

The larger brown seaweed or kelp that flourishes in the waters along the Pacific Coast grows 1 inch an hour or 2 feet a day, and eventually reaches lengths of 200 feet.

RED AND ROSIE

Big Macs Vs. Mansions

NEWPORT, R.I. (UPI) — America's Gilded Age is clashing with McDonald's golden arches on Bellevue Avenue, a mansion-lined boulevard drenched in wealth and history.

It's a battle that pits old money against new money, the burger-and-fries crowd vs. the tea and crumpet set, and preservationists against free enterprise.

So far, it's a draw. The giant fast-food chain wants to build a burger emporium right smack-dab on the edge of this resort seaport's mansion row, and at the edge of its historic district.

Customers would be able to sit in the 108-seat restaurant, munch on a burger and fries under Ronald McDonald posters, and gaze out across the street at Kingscote, a gothic revival mansion built in 1839.

Its neighbors would include two summer palaces of railroad tycoon Cornelius Vanderbilt — The Breakers and the sumptuous Marble House — and other private palaces designed by some of America's most important architects.

Former singer Jane Pickens Langley Hoving, who summers in a mansion adjacent to where the McDonald's would rise, is leading the opposition.

Mrs. Hoving, the wife of former Tiffany's board chairman Walter Hoving, isn't pleased with the prospects of Big Macs amongst the mansions.

"I think it's a perfectly dreadful idea," she said. "It's a very special place — it's a very special place for America."

As a concession to neighbors, McDonald's officials said the restaurant would not include the famed golden arches.

McDonald's began excavating the site after getting a building permit, but construction was halted when anti-fast-food forces appealed the permit. A hearing is scheduled on the appeal in May.

In the past six years, the United States has witnessed a dramatic 32 percent decline in deaths due to stroke. This happy statistic, says Dr. Robert I. Levy, director of the National Heart, Lung and Blood Institute, is the direct result of better control of blood pressure. However, stroke, which claims approximately 180,000 victims each year, is still the third most common cause of death in the U.S., with another two million Americans disabled by stroke. A decline in smoking among adults of middle age or older is also thought to contribute to fewer strokes plus a lower intake of saturated fats and cholesterol. Improvements in medical care and a greater awareness of health are believed to have been a major factor in improved statistics.

King's Troop Will Put Panache In Royal Wedding

LONDON (UPI) — In one of London's hidden corners an odd British army unit is ready to make the wedding of Prince Charles and Lady Diana Spencer a properly explosive affair.

"We'll be firing the salute, of course," said Maj. Gen. H.D.A. Langley. "We always do on these occasions."

The 41-gun salute will roar from the old-fashioned cannons of the King's Troop, Royal Horse Artillery. It is one of the strangest outfits in any modern army.

Even in this atomic age its core is the horse. Its gold-heavy uniforms haven't changed since the Charge of the Light Brigade. In an age when defense budgets are ruthlessly pruned, it is maintained purely for ceremony.

Its job is to fire salutes — for visiting heads of state, for Queen Elizabeth's birthday, for special events like the July 29 royal wedding — and to give tourists and countrymen a thrill.

Mud-spattered and unglamorous, the King's Troop returned from a salute rehearsal the other day and lined up on its parade ground for inspection by London's lord mayor.

"The setting was an uppercrust residential district in north-central London. The feeling was of a cavalry encampment deep in the country."

Troopers in gold-laced blue jackets strode with a clank of swords into the most surprising building in London — a great mirror-hung barn built 147 years ago as the troop's riding school.

"Not one Londoner in a hundred knows it is even here," said troop commander Maj. Bob Symonds in the magnificently timbered riding school, whose tankard arena is 184 feet, 6 inches, long.

More than 70 of the troop's horses, its six gleaming cannon and its brilliantly bedecked troopers will be drawn up in parade order to fire the royal wedding salute in London's Hyde Park.

But the best place to see them is at the annual slambang display of military prowess called the Royal Tournament.

Prince Charles is due to watch it on July 23, only six days before his wedding. Queen Elizabeth and other royal family members go every year.

"The Royal Tournament is London's great military tattoo," said Lord Mayor Col. Sir Ronald Gardner-Thorpe after inspecting the troop.

"There are rather poor copies of it in other countries, but none of them match ours in color, excitement and pure panache."

Those qualities are the hallmarks of the King's Troop's famous "musical drive" — a pell-mell dash at full gallop around the arena, its half-dozen six-horse teams criss-crossing with their 2-ton field guns at breakneck speed as if the whole unit were bent on suicide.

"The key is practice," Symonds said.

HOROSCOPE

By BERNICE BEDE OSOL

For Thursday, April 30, 1981

April 29, 1981
This coming year you could meet someone who is very progressive and inventive. This individual may come up with some profitable ideas in which you can participate by helping to get them to the marketplace.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20)
You are enterprising and imaginative today, but there is a possibility you won't capitalize on your opportunities. Focus on the substance, not the form.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20)
Persons associated with you today will not be impressed by what you promise, only by how you perform. Be a doer. Let your accomplishments speak for themselves.

CANCER (June 21-July 22)
It's important to try to bring a little diversification into your work today. You could become too quickly bored when performing routine tasks.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22)
Family financial matters should not be discussed today in the presence of gossipy types. What you say will be distorted if it's repeated later.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22)
It's not likely you'll forget to fulfill promises made to friends today, but you could do just that where your mate is concerned. Tie a string around your finger.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23)
You work well today on things with a profit motive, but you may not be so eager in matters where there is nothing in it for you.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22)
You are enterprising and imaginative today, but there is a possibility you won't capitalize on your opportunities. Focus on the substance, not the form.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21)
You're capable of handling responsibilities today, but your first inclination may be to duck them because you could lack faith in your abilities.

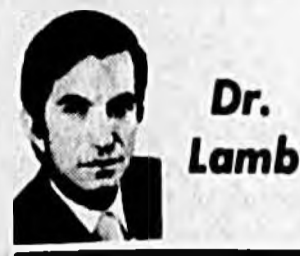

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19)
Rather than discussing with others any grievances you may have with a friend, take it directly to the offending party. He or she is the only one who can ease your displeasure.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18)
Finances may be mixed bag for you today. A situation you're counting on might be delayed, while a windfall could come from an unexpected source.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20)
Your possibilities for success are good today, provided you plan wisely. Situations where you act first and think later will fall flat.

ARIES (March 21-April 19)
Important matters should not be evaluated today on cursory information. A failure to probe deeper may later cause you regrets.

Exercise Is Good But Don't Overdo

DEAR DR. LAMB — I am 20 years old, 5 feet 10 inches and weigh 130 pounds. I am trying to do body building by lifting weights and taking yeast and vitamins. I am including my routine which I do every night. I take 12 yeast tablets daily, two vitamin B-60, two vitamin E, 200 units. Am I on a good program or should I add or take away from this routine? I have not started my leg work. Would a milk yeast and egg crash weight gain product help me?

DEAR READER — Your schedule of exercise is entirely too much. It is so long I couldn't include it in the column. The rule is "train, don't strain." The more exercise you do the more energy you will use and the less likely you will be able to mobilize your energy resources to enable your body to build muscle. That may surprise you, but you can slow down muscle growth by doing too much, just as you can kill a plant by giving it too much water or too much fertilizer.

The key to body building is to have enough calories so your body will have the necessary extra calories required to build muscle tissue. The building itself takes energy just as other forms of growth do. The next requirement is to have enough protein and if you are gaining two pounds of muscle a week that means over 200 grams of protein more a week than you usually need for daily requirements. This means that you need about 100 grams of good quality protein a day as you find in lean meats and milk to support your protein requirements.

Of course you need a balanced diet. If your calorie intake is sufficient for your level of exercise and a little more for growth, and your protein intake is in that ball park, the rest of it is dependent upon the type of exercise program you are doing. I am sending you The Health Letter number 54,

Weight Training for Energy and Weight Control, to explain these points in more detail for you. Others who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to me in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019. Now additional foods, vitamins and protein supplements won't make that much difference. Fat foods, such as half and half cream as some have advocated, are completely wrong. They will merely make you fat and won't build muscles. The key is the type of exercise program you use.

DEAR DR. LAMB — Is it normal for a healthy 18-year-old girl to skip her period for two or three months? I weigh 122 pounds and am 5 feet 2 inches tall. My gynecologist said not to worry and that I would become regular as I got older. I have a discharge all the time and it is usually heavier around the time I am supposed to have a period and I don't have one.

DEAR READER — It is very common at the beginning of the reproductive years, and again at the end, for a woman to have irregularity. You may be irregular all your life; some women are. But there is a good chance that you will be far more regular as your cycle stabilizes with maturity.

A certain amount of discharge is quite normal. Many young girls are frightened when they first see discharge, thinking it means a disease. It doesn't. However, for the benefit of others I must add that some infections do produce a discharge also.

Opening lead: ♠Q

If this hand appeared in a duplicate game, North would surely be declarer at some notrump level and would only make six if East opened a heart. Ron has South play in six diamonds and let West hold the first trick with his queen of hearts. West shifts to the five of spades and South rises with dummy's ace, draws trumps, goes after clubs and is down one when the suit breaks 5-1.

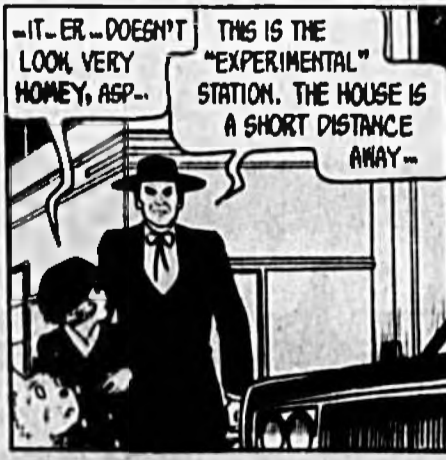

Ron points out that South should rise with dummy's king of hearts at trick one. East can do no better than take his ace and lead a second heart. South will then find out about the bad club break and will have to fall back on the 24 percent chance that West will hold both the queen and jack of spades. Not much of an extra chance, but one worth taking after that disgusting club break.

As mentioned earlier, this is a contrived hand. Not that there is any reason not to play dummy's king of hearts at trick one, but because if South does let that queen hold the first heart trick the chance that any West in real life would fall to lead a second heart is infinitesimal.

Today's hand is based on one shown by Ron Klingler in "Winning Bridge — Trick by Trick."

HOT DOG!

Fun, Fast, Economical, Nutritious

Go ahead. Relish a hot dog...and here's to your health.

Today's homemakers are serious about the foods they feed their families, and that is as it should be.

Sound nutrition is the path to good health. Still, there's many a mom who worries endlessly about the family diet. So it's nice to know that noted nutritionists still advise that the best way — in fact, the only way — to eat healthfully is by eating a variety of foods chosen for a balanced diet from the same old basic food groups learned about in grammar school.

— Don't fret if your family balks at soy beans and wheat germ.

— Don't feel guilty if they won't eat granola.

— Don't worry if they won't touch tofu or they're leery of liver.

There's more than one way to physical fitness and the easiest (and most effective) is to base menus on the foods the family loves.

Take the popular hot dog, for instance: it's fun, it's fast, it's economical. Probably no one would refer to hot dogs as a "health food." Yet hot dogs, like all foods, can contribute to one's health.

Hot dogs are a sensible source of complete animal protein which means the protein in a hot dog is of the exact same quality as that of the finest steak. Both contain all eight essential amino acids, as well as good contributions of B vitamins — thiamin, riboflavin, niacin, B-6 and B-12 — iron and zinc, all of which are fundamental for one's health. (Good news for calorie counters: hot dogs contain only about 150 calories.)

The key is the combination. For each meal, you should select foods from each of the following groups: the meat-meat alternative group; the bread-cereal group; the dairy group; and the fruit-vegetable group. Each group makes its own special contribution to a balanced diet.

With hot dogs on buns, you can serve Broccoli-Cheese Picnic Salad, or a hot potato salad with herbed tomatoes and carrot sticks. Milk might be the drink, or iced tea or lemonade. You could offer fresh fruit as the dessert, a fruit pie with ice cream, or any family favorite.

Curried egg salad can be combined with hot dogs and served on French rolls with a bowl of gazpacho on the side. Corn chips might provide crunch as an additional offering from the bread-cereal group, and a yogurt-sauced dish of peaches or strawberries would bring in extras from both the dairy product group and the fruit-vegetable group.

The Fast Draw Skillet Supper effectively and deliciously combines items from the meat group and the fruit-vegetable group. Add some slaw to the menu, some crusty French bread, a drink featuring dairy products and perhaps cantaloupe wedges for dessert.

Popeye Pitas with Hot Dogs are an exciting way to introduce new foods without alienating the family. The bean sprouts and pinenuts aren't strictly necessary, but they are fun, and healthful, too. As go-withs, you might offer a fruit salad, corn on the cob, oatmeal cookies and a dairy drink.

And with good old grilled hot dogs, you can serve Salad-on-a-Stick, as shown, for the fruit-vegetable group contribution. What else? Grilled buns, deviled eggs, perhaps, an angel food cake and a frosty milk punch.

CURRIED EGG SALAD AND HOT DOG COMBO

- 1/4 cup low-calorie mayonnaise
- 1 teaspoon prepared mustard
- 1/2 teaspoon dehydrated minced onion
- 1/2 teaspoon curry powder
- 6 hard-cooked eggs, chopped
- 4 large hot dogs, heated
- 4 French rolls, split and heated

Combine mayonnaise, mustard, onion, curry powder and eggs. Mix gently and chill until serving.

To serve: Spoon 1/4 cup egg salad mixture into each roll. Top each with a heated hot dog. 4 servings.

FAST DRAW SKILLET SUPPER

- 1/2 cup each: chopped onion, chopped green pepper
- Butter or margarine
- 2 cans (15 1/4 ounces each) kidney beans, drained
- 1 can (16 ounces) stewed tomatoes
- 1 can (8 ounces) wax beans, drained
- 1 can (17 ounces) kernel corn, drained
- 1 can (6 ounces) tomato paste
- 2 tablespoons diced canned chilies
- Parmesan Cheese
- 8 grilled hot dogs

Saute onion and green peppers in a little butter or margarine until just tender. Add kidney beans, tomatoes, wax beans, corn, tomato paste, and chilies. Mix gently and simmer covered for 1/2 hour or until heated through. Sprinkle with Parmesan cheese. Top and serve with grilled hot dogs. 8 servings.

POPEYE PITAS WITH HOT DOGS

- 4 slices bacon, cut in 1/2-inch pieces
- 1/4 cup wine vinegar
- 1 teaspoon sugar
- 1/2 teaspoon dry mustard
- 1 bunch spinach, broken into bite-sized pieces
- 1 cup thinly sliced red onions
- 1 cup bean sprouts
- 1/2 cup pinenuts
- 4 pita breads, whole wheat or white, cut in half
- 8 hot dogs, grilled or heated

Cook bacon until crisp, stirring occasionally. Remove bacon from pan. In a small sauce pan, combine 3 tablespoons bacon drippings, vinegar, sugar and dry mustard. Just before serving, add bacon and heat. Combine spinach, red onion, sprouts and pinenuts. Top with hot bacon dressing and toss to mix well. Split pita bread halves open and fill each with spinach mixture. Cut hot dogs in half lengthwise and crosswise. Arrange one hot dog, rounded edges up, in a filled pita. Makes 8 sandwiches.

BROCCOLI-CHEESE PICNIC SALAD

- 1 1/2 pounds broccoli
- Boiling water
- 1 cup sliced water chestnuts
- 1/4 pound mushrooms, sliced
- 1/2 pound low-calorie American cheese, cubed
- 1 cup plain yogurt
- 1/4 cup finely chopped green onion
- 2 teaspoons lemon juice
- 2 teaspoons dry mustard
- Coarsely ground black pepper

Clean broccoli and arrange in a steamer over boiling water. Steam until just barely crisp-tender. Remove and cut into bite-sized pieces. Combine with water chestnuts, mushrooms and cheese. Combine yogurt, green onion, lemon juice, dry mustard and black pepper. Pour over broccoli and toss gently to mix. Chill well. Serve with hot dogs. 8 servings.

FISH IS THE DISH...

To Stretch The Budget, Tantalize Palate

There's always room for innovation when it comes to losing weight and cutting expenses. And these days, dining on fish and seafood helps in both areas. Fish is versatile, economical and lower in calories (most of it, that is) than beef or even chicken.

Whether you're an advanced gourmet or a novice in aquatic cuisine, you might try two delectable dishes that stretch the budget while tantalizing the palate.

You can take advantage of frozen, lean fish fillets at your supermarket and create the Fabulous Fish Loaf. Watch a few fillets grow into an entire meal when bolstered by vegetables, eggs and bread crumbs. As a main course, the all-inclusive loaf carried continental overtones of white wine or fish broth.

Garnish the loaf with colorful rings of green pepper and wedges of lemon; add nutritious snips of parsley on the side.

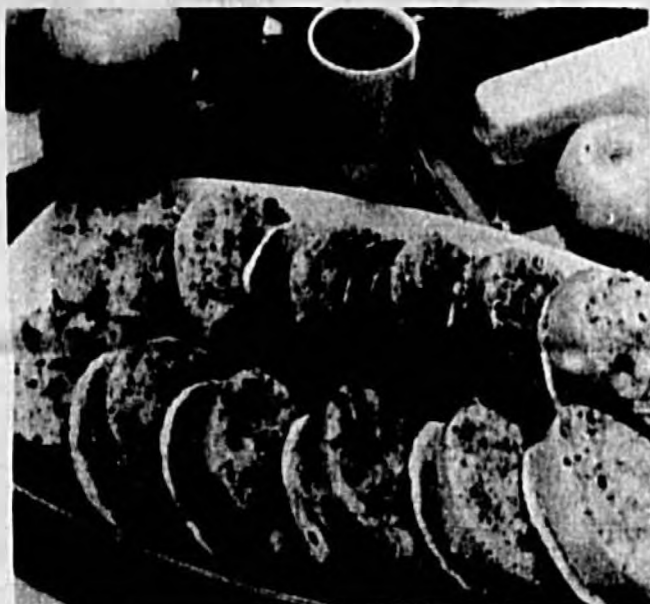

If it hasn't been said 1,000 times before, there is always elegance in simplicity. And the Seafood Supreme entree is classic, with singular flavors of seafood luxuriating in cream. This time-saving dish utilizes small portions of crab, scallops and shrimp, and goes a long way when served over pasta or rice. Hints of scallion and tarragon convince diners there's a French chef lurking in the kitchen. You might add a few zprigs of parsley on top as well.

Serve Fabulous Fish Loaf one week and Seafood Supreme the next; you'll net a growing school of fish lovers.

FABULOUS FISH LOAF

- 1/4 cup dry white wine or fish broth
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 2 pounds white fish fillets
- 2 tablespoons butter or margarine
- 1-3 cup chopped onion
- 1 clove garlic, minced
- 3/4 cup red pepper, slivered
- 1/2 cup chopped celery
- 3 eggs, lightly beaten
- 2-3 cup packaged dry bread crumbs
- 1/2 to 3/4 teaspoon Tabasco pepper sauce
- Lemon wedges
- Fresh parsley

In medium skillet combine wine and salt; bring to boiling. Add fish, cover pan and steam until fish flakes easily with a fork. Remove fish and liquid to a large bowl, cool. In same skillet, melt butter; saute onion and garlic 5 minutes; add red pepper and celery, cook 5 minutes longer. Add sauteed vegetables to fish and mix well, breaking up fish into large pieces. Add eggs, bread crumbs and Tabasco sauce, mix well. Press mixture into a greased 9 x 5 x 3-inch loaf pan. Bake in a 350 degree F. oven 45 minutes or until center is firm. Cool 10 minutes. Loosen edges of loaf with a spatula; turn onto serving platter. Garnish with lemon wedges and parsley. If Bake or saute fresh tomatoes for taste appeal.

Tomatoes Make Ideal Side Dish

Most of us are familiar with the firm, field-grown tomatoes that are so plentiful in the supermarkets and in fruit and vegetable markets.

These tomatoes are picked "mature green" so they will travel well over long distances, from a major growing state to consumers in other states. When you buy tomatoes, allow them to ripen at room temperature until they are a rich red. You'll get a fuller flavor if you don't refrigerate these tomatoes before using them in salads or in cooked dishes.

The firm, ripe texture makes fresh tomatoes ideal for sauteeing, baking or broiling. If you haven't tried tomatoes in this way, you're in for a treat.

Herbed sauteed tomatoes or Cheddar-baked tomatoes go well with fish or meat, and are excellent as an added attraction for a meatless meal, such as a chickpea vegetable casserole or with all egg dishes.

Serve as a special treat with your weekend breakfast of scrambled eggs or omelet and Canadian bacon.

HERBED SAUTEED TOMATOES

- 4 medium-sized Florida tomatoes
- 3 tablespoons butter or margarine
- 1/2 cup chopped onion
- 1 garlic clove, minced
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1 teaspoon basil leaves, crushed
- 1/2 teaspoon oregano leaves, crushed
- 1/2 teaspoon ground black pepper

Use tomatoes held at room temperature until fully ripe. Remove stem end from each tomato; cut into 6 wedges; set aside. In large skillet, melt butter. Add onion and garlic; saute for 2 minutes. Stir in salt, basil, oregano and black pepper; stir well. Add reserved tomatoes; stir lightly over moderate heat just until tomatoes are hot, 2 to 3 minutes. This kitchen-tested recipe makes 6 portions.

CHEDDAR-BAKED TOMATOES

- 6 medium-sized Florida tomatoes
- 1 teaspoon salt, divided
- 1 cup grated Cheddar cheese
- 1 cup fresh bread crumbs
- 1/2 cup butter or margarine, melted
- 1 1/2 teaspoons oregano leaves, crushed
- Dash ground red pepper

Use tomatoes held at room temperature until fully ripe. Preheat oven to 350-degrees. Core tomatoes. Cut each tomato in half crosswise. Place tomatoes, cut side up, in a greased shallow baking pan. Sprinkle with 1/2 teaspoon of the salt. Set aside. In a small bowl, combine cheese, bread crumbs, butter, oregano, red pepper and remaining 1/2 teaspoon salt. Spoon about 1 tablespoon cheese mixture on top of each tomato. Bake until hot, 10 to 12 minutes. This kitchen-tested recipe makes 12 halves or 6 portions.

 - 1 package (8 ounces) frozen crab meat, thawed
 - 1/2 pound medium shrimp, shelled and deveined
 - 1/2 pound sea scallops
 - 1/2 teaspoon dried leaf tarragon
 - 1 1/2 cups heavy cream
 - 1/2 teaspoon Tabasco pepper sauce
- Melt butter in skillet; saute scallions several minutes until tender. Add crab, shrimp and scallops; saute 5 minutes. Sprinkle tarragon over seafood, saute 1 minute longer; remove from skillet and set aside. Add heavy cream to skillet; bring to boiling. Boil until cream thickens slightly. Add Tabasco sauce. Bananas: A New Twist For Salad

How often we cheat ourselves of eating pleasures by holding onto preconceived ideas of what foods go with each other, or that foods are prepared in only a certain way. Most of those hang-ups come from childhood experiences.

A classic one may be that of the banana. A banana goes on a fruit salad. Right? Yes and no. Bananas blend well with such salad ingredients as cucumbers, cherry tomatoes, escarole and watercress. Toss these with a vinaigrette dressing for your next buffet or barbecue. If you're cooking for one or two, this makes an excellent nutrition-packed main course. Serve with a light soup and, for dessert, a pound cake.

Another happy combination of flavors is banana with cabbage in a slaw. Add carrots and peanuts for extra crunch. These are side dishes your family and guests won't forget.

BANANA VINAIGRETTE SALAD

- 6 tablespoons salad oil
- 2 tablespoons cider vinegar
- 1 teaspoon minced garlic
- ¼ teaspoon dried dill weed
- ½ teaspoon pepper
- 3 cups torn escarole
- 1 large cucumber, sliced
- 1½ cups halved cherry tomatoes
- 1 cup watercress leaves
- 3 bananas, peeled and cut into chunks

In a small bowl, mix oil, vinegar, salt, garlic, dill and pepper. Let stand 1 hour. In a salad bowl, combine escarole, cucumber, tomatoes, watercress and bananas. Add dressing, toss lightly and serve immediately. This kitchen-tested recipe makes 6 to 8 servings.

BANANA SLAW

- 1 cup mayonnaise
- 2 tablespoons vinegar
- 1 tablespoon milk
- 2 teaspoons sugar
- 1 teaspoon celery salt
- ¼ teaspoon white pepper
- 8 cups finely shredded cabbage (1 medium cabbage)
- ¼ cup chopped carrots
- 1-3 cup peanuts
- 1½ cups sliced bananas (3 medium)

Mix mayonnaise, vinegar, milk, sugar, celery salt and pepper in a large bowl. Add cabbage, carrots and peanuts. Mix well; chill 2 hours or overnight. Add bananas just before serving. This kitchen-tested recipe makes 6 to 8 servings.

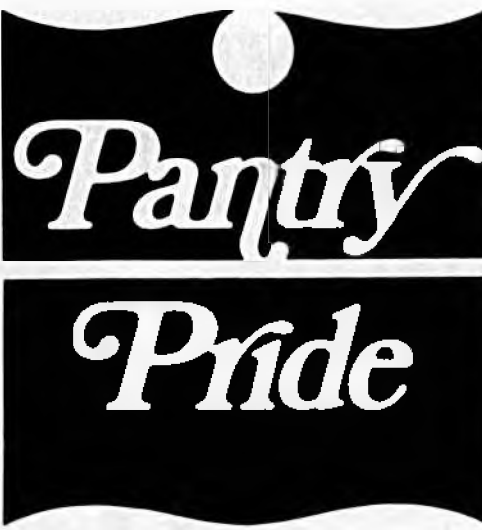

New Salad Shape: To give decorative flair to salads, make fluted banana slices by running the prongs of a fork lengthwise down a peeled banana. Slice crosswise for scallop-edged rounds, a graceful garnish.

Bananas happy in varied combinations.

Asparagus: Harbinger Of Springtime

For springtime dining enhancement, asparagus is the most beautiful and decorative of all vegetables. These tall tender tempters will be available from Washington growers and shippers in satisfying volume in the last half of April with movement increasing to full volume in May and June. This year's crop promises to delight the palates of asparagus lovers and tantalize the uninitiated.

Asparagus is a perennial plant — the harbinger of springtime and exotic edible member of the lily family. It has been enjoyed for its delicacy of flavor and nutritive value from ancient times.

WASHINGTON PICKLED ASPARAGUS

- 2 cups asparagus spears or pieces
- ½ cup boiling water
- 2-3rd tsp. sugar
- ½ tsp. salt
- ½ tsp. pepper
- ½ cup vinegar
- 1 clove garlic
- ¼ tsp. dill (if desired)

Combine boiling water, sugar, salt and pepper; stir to dissolve. Add vinegar, chill. Wash asparagus, remove bottom scales. Break at tender part of stalk cut into 1½ inch lengths, if desired. Blanch in boiling water for two minutes (3 minutes for stalks), immerse in ice water and cool thoroughly.

Pack into pint jars; add garlic clove and dill. Cover with cold pickling solution to within 1-inch of top of jar and process in boiling water bath 15 minutes for pints or quarts. Start processing time when the water returns to a boil.

WASHINGTON WALDORF SALAD

- 1 apple, peeled or not, cut in small cubes
- 2-3rd cup Asparagus Butts, diced small. Prepare by peeling butt end of asparagus
- A few chopped walnuts
- 5 tbsp. mayonnaise
- Dash of lemon juice
- Pineapple (optional)
- Mix well, serve on lettuce

Any peeled asparagus butts left over may be served as finger food — just as you would serve white radishes.

PEAS AND ASPARAGUS SUPPER DISH

- 2 cups shelled fresh peas, cooked
- 2 lbs. fresh asparagus slices, cooked
- 1 10¼-oz. can cream of mushroom soup
- ¼ cup dairy sour cream
- ¼ cup real mayonnaise
- 1 tsp. Worcestershire sauce
- 4 eggs, hard-cooked and quartered
- 4 oz. sharp Cheddar cheese, grated

Heat oven to 375 degrees, drain vegetables well. Mix together soup, sour cream, mayonnaise, and Worcestershire sauce. In a greased 8 in. square baking dish, pour a thin layer of soup mixture; layer ½ asparagus, ½ peas, followed by ½ eggs. Cover with ½ remaining soup mixture. Repeat layers ending with soup. Sprinkle with grated cheese and bake 20 to 30 min.

MICROWAVE COOKING:

Place 1 lb. fresh Washington Asparagus in a shallow non-metallic baking dish or serving dish and add ½ cup water. Cover dish tightly with plastic wrap. Cook on high 8 min. & test with fork for tenderness. Continue method of cooking if necessary. When done, remove plastic wrap, salt to taste & top with butter, favorite sauce, or use in casseroles, etc.

Microwave oven recipe — SCALLOPED ASPARAGUS

- ¼ cup butter or margarine
- ¼ cup all-purpose flour
- 1½ cups grated sharp cheddar cheese
- ½ cup toasted slivered almonds
- 2 lbs. fresh Washington asparagus cooked & drained
- Paprika
- 1 tsp. salt
- 2 cups milk

HAM & ASPARAGUS ROLL UPS

- 2 lbs. asparagus cooked & drained well
- ¼ cup butter or margarine
- ¼ cup all-purpose flour
- 2 cups whole milk
- 2 cups grated sharp cheddar cheese
- ½ tsp. salt & ¼ tsp. white pepper
- Paprika
- 12 thin slices boiled ham or sandwich ham

Melt butter in saucepan over medium heat; stir in flour gradually, add milk stirring constantly. Add salt & pepper. When sauce is thickened, stir in cheese & blend well. Set aside. Roll four spears of asparagus up in each slice of ham with seam side down. Place rolls close together in oblong baking dish. Pour cheese sauce over all and sprinkle with paprika. Bake at 350 degrees for 30 min. or until sauce is lightly browned. Serves 6.

Dipping Sauces

Herald Parties

To paraphrase, if the voice of the turtle is heard in our land, then spring parties and dipping sauces are not far behind. These dipping sauces are made with an eye toward calorie and cholesterol watchers. Tuna in vegetable oil, mushrooms and low-fat yogurt make up most of the "meaty" ingredients. One version does contain sour cream.

Use as party appetizers with thinly sliced French bread or toast, or use the dipping sauces to spread on single slices of bread for a luncheon snack.

The stuffed mushroom caps are bite-sized appetizers with crunchy water chestnuts. These also may be served as a vegetable course with a chicken or fish entree.

YOGURT AND TUNA MUSHROOM DIPPING SAUCE

1 can (6 1/2 or 7 ounces) tuna in vegetable oil
1/4 cup chopped onion
1 can (6 or 8 ounces) chopped mushrooms, drained
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
2 tablespoons flour
1 container (8 ounces) plain yogurt, divided
2 tablespoons water
Drain excess oil from tuna into saucepan. Add onion and cook until tender. Add mushrooms, salt and pepper; cook 1 minute. Blend in flour and cook 2 minutes. Stir in 1/2 cup yogurt. Spoon this mixture into container of electric blender; add tuna and water. Cover and process at high speed until smooth. Turn into saucepan and stir in remaining 1/2 cup yogurt; heat. The dip may also be chilled and served cold. Serve with thin slices of French bread. This kitchen-tested recipe makes 1 1/2 cups dip. (This may be frozen and reheated.)

TUNA MUSHROOM DIPPING SAUCE

1 can (6 1/2 or 7 ounces) tuna in vegetable oil
1/4 cup chopped onion
2 tablespoons lemon juice
1 can (6 or 8 ounces) chopped mushrooms, drained
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
1 cup sour cream
Drain excess oil from tuna into saucepan. Add onion, cook until onion is tender. Add lemon juice, mushrooms, salt and pepper; cook 2 minutes. Spoon mixture into electric blender container; add tuna and sour cream. Cover and process at high speed until smooth. Turn into saucepan and heat or chill. Serve with thin slices of French bread. This kitchen-tested recipe makes 1 1/2 cups. This may be frozen and reheated.

TUNA STUFFED MUSHROOMS

1 pound fresh mushrooms
1 can (6 1/2 or 7 ounces) tuna in vegetable oil
2 teaspoon soy sauce
1/4 cup chopped water chestnuts
1/2 teaspoon ginger
Wash mushrooms and remove stems. Place top side down on lightly greased baking sheet. In small bowl, mix remaining ingredients. Spoon into mushroom caps. Bake uncovered in a 350-degree oven 5 to 7 minutes, until hot. Serve. This kitchen-tested recipe makes 8 servings.

ZESTY COTTAGE CHEESE SALAD

3 tablespoons chopped green pepper
1 1/2 teaspoons prepared mustard
1 teaspoon chopped chives
1/4 teaspoon seasoned salt
Lettuce
Combine cottage cheese, green pepper, mustard, chives and seasoned salt; mix lightly. Chill. Spoon into large lettuce cup. Garnish with pimiento-stuffed olive slices, if desired. Serve with cucumber slices, tomato wedges, salami and Muenster cheese slices, as desired. 8 servings.

BUTTERY HERB BREAD

BROILED OPEN FACE ASPARAGUS CHEESE SANDWICH

From the very beginnings of culinary history, cheesecake has been a favorite dessert.

Cheese Celebrates Centennial

Cream cheese is celebrating its 100th Anniversary this year, making it one of the nation's oldest packaged dairy products.

An American original, cream cheese was invented in 1872 in upstate New York, in response to a desire for a better, richer cheese made with cream. The brand name "Philadelphia" was first used for the cheese in 1880, not because the cheese had any connection with Philadelphia, but because the city at that time enjoyed a reputation for high quality foods and superior and plentiful dairy products.

In 1928, Kraft merged with the company that produced "Philly" cream cheese and the product has carried the Kraft label ever since.

Over the years, the uses for cream cheese have multiplied from its original use as a spread for bread, crackers, or bagels. It is now featured in a host of recipes, from appetizers to desserts.

But mention baking with cream cheese, and "cheesecake" springs almost immediately to the mind. This rich dessert has generated a controversy between those who fancy creamy no-bake cheesecake, and those who prefer the traditional baked cheesecake with a drier texture.

To salute the 100th year of "Philly" cream cheese, here is a "classic": Hollywood Cheesecake, delicately flavored with lemon and vanilla. This traditional baked cheesecake features a tangy sour cream topping, and may be garnished with strawberry halves, if desired.

Hollywood Cheesecake

1 cup graham cracker crumbs
3 tablespoons sugar
3 tablespoons margarine, melted

2 8-oz. pkgs cream cheese
1/2 cup sugar
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1 teaspoon grated lemon rind
1/2 teaspoon vanilla
2 eggs, separated

1 cup dairy sour cream
2 tablespoons sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla

Combine crumbs, sugar and margarine, press onto bottom of 9-inch springform pan. Bake at 325 degrees, 10 minutes.

Combine softened cream cheese, sugar, lemon juice, rind and vanilla, mixing at medium speed on electric mixer until well blended. Add egg yolks, one at a time, mixing well after each addition. Fold in stiffly beaten egg whites; pour over crust. Bake at 300 degrees, 45 minutes.

Combine sour cream, sugar and vanilla. Carefully spread over cheesecake; continue baking 10 minutes. Loosen cake from rim of pan; cool before removing rim of pan. Chill.

Butcher Your Own: Have Your Steak And Eat It Too

Oriental Grilled Steak,
Bavarian Beef
Steak and Tangy
Sauteed Steak come from one cut of meat.

Buying meats or poultry in large quantities can save you money, if you do the "butchering" yourself.

For example, half of a ham costs less per pound than a ham you buy already cut into steaks. A whole turkey is less per pound than a turkey roast formed from deboned meat. You may have your steak and eat it, too, by buying it in a large cut and then cutting it into several pieces and preparing it in different styles.

Select a cut labeled "full round steak bone-in," at least 2-inches thick, weighing 4 1/2 to 5 pounds. At home, divide this cut into three well-known cuts you probably bought separately: top round, bottom round and eye round. To assure added tenderness for each of your round steaks, use a natural meat tenderizer in marinades.

An Oriental grilled steak serves 6 to 8; a Bavarian beef steak serves 3 to 4, and tangy sauteed steaks serve 2. The leftovers make excellent sandwiches or go well in a chef or meat salad, further stretching the dollars you paid for the initial large cut of meat.

ORIENTAL GRILLED STEAK

- 3/4 cup water
- 4 tablespoons margarine
- 1/4 cup Worcestershire sauce

- 1/4 cup soy sauce
- 1/4 cup wine vinegar
- 3 tablespoons brown sugar
- 1 1/2 tablespoons prepared mustard
- 1/2 teaspoon ground ginger
- 1 top round steak (about 2 1/2 pounds, cut 2-inches thick, trimmed)

1 1/2 teaspoons unseasoned natural meat tenderizer
In saucepan, combine first 8 ingredients; simmer 10-15 minutes. Moisten meat with water. Sprinkle evenly with half the amount of tenderizer and pierce deeply with a fork; repeat on other side. (Use no salt.) Broil steak 4 to 5-inches from heat, 16-18 minutes per side for medium, basting frequently with sauce. Slice diagonally and serve with remaining sauce. This kitchen-tested recipe makes 6-8 servings.

BAVARIAN BEEF STEAK

- 2 slices bacon, chopped
- 1 large onion, chopped
- 2 tablespoons oil
- 1 bottom round steak (about 1 pound), cut 2-inches thick
- 1 teaspoon seasoned natural meat tenderizer
- 3/4 cup water
- 1/2 cup beef stock
- 1-3rd cup wine vinegar
- 1 tablespoon sugar
- 3/4 teaspoon fennel seed
- Black pepper, to taste
- 1 small apple, peeled and chopped
- 1/4 medium cabbage, sliced

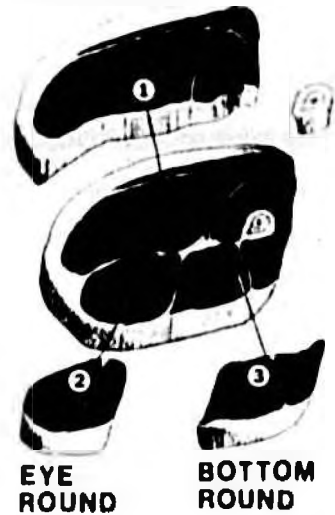

In large skillet, saute bacon and onion in oil until onion is translucent; remove, drain and set aside. Moisten meat with water. Sprinkle evenly with half the amount of tenderizer and pierce deeply with fork; repeat on other side. Slice meat into 1/4-inch strips. (Use no salt.) Brown thoroughly on both sides; drain fat. Combine meat, bacon, onions and remaining ingredients. Cover and simmer, stirring occasionally, 20-25 minutes or until tender. This kitchen-tested recipe makes 4 servings.

TANGY SAUTEED STEAK

- 2 large onions sliced into 1/4-inch rings
- 2 tablespoons oil
- 1 eye round steak (about 3/4 pound), cut 2-inches thick
- 1/2 teaspoon seasoned natural meat tenderizer
- 1/2 cup beef stock
- 2 tablespoons water
- 2 tablespoons butter or margarine
- 1 1/2 tablespoons lemon juice
- 3/4 teaspoon sugar
- 1/2 teaspoon grated lemon peel
- 1 bay leaf, crushed
- Black pepper, to taste

In large skillet, brown onions in oil; remove and set aside. Slice meat lengthwise into 4 (1/4-inch) steaks. Moisten meat with water. Sprinkle evenly with half the amount of tenderizer and pierce deeply with a fork; repeat on other side. (Use no salt.) Brown meat thoroughly on both sides. Combine meat, onions and remaining ingredients; simmer, stirring occasionally, 12-15 minutes or until tender. This kitchen-tested recipe makes 2 servings.

Artichoke Gift To Food Lovers

By GAYNOR MADDOX
Special To The Herald

Artichokes are one of California's gifts to food lovers across the United States.

Castroville, on the Monterey Peninsula, is the center of the artichoke-growing industry because of its perfect cultivating conditions of morning fog and afternoon sunlight. This is their peak season.

Not only is the artichoke delicious and readily available; it also packs a load of calcium, phosphorus, iron and vitamins A, B and C. It is also rich in potassium, which could be especially important to those being treated for high blood pressure.

However, the artichoke's nutritional bonuses are not limited to minerals and vitamins. They are particularly suited to the needs of those on special diets. One medium artichoke contains only about 50 calories and 30 milligrams of sodium.

Artichokes can be prepared by several methods — including boiling, stuffing and marinating.

The basic preparation and cooking are very simple. Wash each artichoke. Cut off their stems at the base. Remove and discard the small bottom leaves.

With a sharp knife, cut off the points about an inch from top. With scissors, cut off the points of the remaining leaves.

Place the artichokes upright in a deep saucepan large enough to hold them snugly. Add 1/4 teaspoon of salt for each artichoke and 2 to 3 inches of boiling water. Add 1 tablespoon of lemon juice.

Cover and boil gently for 30 to 45 minutes, or until the base can be pierced easily with a fork. (Add a little more boiling water, if needed.)

Gently spread the leaves from the center of each artichoke with a metal spoon.

Turn the artichokes upside down to drain. If the artichokes are to be stuffed, simply push down on the stem end with an open hand to spread the leaves. This makes it easier to fill the centers.

Artichokes can be eaten either warm with melted butter or cold with a favorite dipping sauce, such as French vinaigrette. Pick off each leaf, dip it into the sauce, then scrape the delicate pulp off the leaves with our teeth. Have a plate handy for discarded leaves.

As you get down to the small, central, sometimes purple-tinged cone, remove and eat it, if you wish.

Just below this is the fuzzy choke. Scoop out this thorny fiber with a spoon and discard, thus exposing the heart of the artichoke. Cut the heart into bite-size pieces with a fork, dip each piece into the sauce and eat as a save-the-best-for-last treat.

Coulibiac from Russia: flaky puff pastry with a luscious filling.

Salmon, Rice, Tea: Favorites Of World

Every nation has its favorite foods, its own specialties. Some of these dishes are unique to a specific country, while others are common to many lands.

For instance, rice is a favorite on all continents of the world. Salmon, too, appears in the cuisine of places as farflung as Alaska and India.

A third product that wins world-wide acclaim is tea, as popular in the Soviet Union where they drink it hot and spiced, as it is in our own South where it turns up over tinkling ice cubes.

Some examples of these international recipes are shown here. One is a specialty from Russia, Coulibiac, in which rice and canned salmon are combined with mushrooms, white wine, chopped eggs and a variety of seasonings. This luscious filling, layered with chopped spinach, is encased in flaky puff pastry. It's an entree splendid enough to grace the most elegant dinner table. Accompany the entree with Russian Tea, a modern adaption of an ethnic recipe made with instant tea, orange-flavored breakfast drink, cinnamon and cloves.

Because it is used so freely in India, curry powder has been called "the salt of the Orient." And it does indeed add a very special touch to the dressing of the Curried Strata Salad. Fluffy white grains of rice are combined with raisins, apple wedges, green onions and celery. On this tasty bed, the flaked canned salmon is arranged and a curried mayonnaise tops it all off. America's gift to the world — iced tea — is the perfect accompaniment to the spicy salad.

Salmon...rice...tea: World-wide favorites with taste appeal that surpasses language, oceans, and boundaries.

COULIBIAC
1 package (10 ounces) frozen spinach, thawed and well drained
2 hard-cooked eggs, chopped
1 can (15½ ounces) salmon
½ cup chopped onion
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
¾ cup sliced mushrooms (about ¼ pound) or 4 oz. can mushrooms, drained
2 tablespoons dry white wine

¼ teaspoon freshly ground black pepper
2 teaspoons lemon juice
3 cups cooked rice, cooled
1 package (17½ ounces) frozen puff pastry, thawed
1 egg
1 tablespoon water

Combine spinach and chopped eggs; set aside. Drain and coarsely flake salmon, reserving liquid. Sauté onion in butter until soft but not brown. Add mushrooms; cook 3 minutes longer. Stir in salmon liquid, wine, dill weed, salt, pepper and lemon juice. Combine with rice and salmon. On lightly floured surface, roll 1 sheet pastry to a 10 x 12-inch rectangle. Mound half the salmon-rice mixture. Draw long edges of pastry together over filling; pinch to seal. Cut off a triangle from each corner, then fold ends like envelope flaps over covered filling. Place a lightly greased baking sheet, face down, on pastry and invert so that seam side will be down. Repeat with second sheet of pastry. Beat together egg and water; brush over tops of pastry. Cut small fish shapes from pastry trimmings; arrange on top of pastry and brush with egg mixture. Make 2 or 3 slashes on top of each loaf. Bake at 400 degrees for 25 to 30 minutes or until golden brown. Slice each loaf into 4 portions. Serve with clarified butter, if desired. Makes 8 servings.

CURRIED STRATA SALAD
3 cups cooked rice
2 tart cooking apples
1 cup diagonally sliced celery
½ cup thinly sliced green onions, including tops
1-3 cup seedless raisins, plumped
1 can (15½ ounces) salmon, drained
½ cup each mayonnaise and dairy sour cream
1 teaspoon each curry powder and lemon juice
¼ teaspoon salt
Cool rice. Core apples and slice into thin wedges. Then cut wedges in half. Combine rice, apples, celery onions and raisins. Spoon into serving bowl. Arrange salmon over rice. Combine remaining ingredients. Spoon over salmon. Toss lightly just before serving. If desired, serve with a selection of condiments such as sliced bananas, cashew nuts and chutney. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

SAUMON AU SHERRY
1 can (15½ ounces) salmon
¼ cup sliced green onions, including tops
1 can (8 ounces) sliced mushrooms, drained
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
¼ cup flour
¾ teaspoon salt
2 to 3 dashes ground red pepper
Half-and-half (cream and milk)
2 tablespoons sherry
1 cup grated Swiss cheese
3 cups hot cooked rice
Parmesan cheese, optional
Drain salmon, reserving liquid; break into large pieces. Set aside. Cook onions and mushrooms in butter in 2-quart saucepan until soft but not brown. Blend in flour, salt and pepper. Add enough half-and-half to reserved salmon liquid to make 2 cups. Add to saucepan with sherry. Cook, stirring, until smooth and thickened. Gently add Swiss cheese and salmon; heat through. Serve over beds of fluffy rice and sprinkle with Parmesan, if desired. Makes 6 servings.

ICED TEA — TWO WAYS
With boiling water; bring 1 quart of freshly drawn cold water to a full rolling boil in a saucepan. Remove from heat and immediately add 15 teabags or 1-3 cup loose tea. Stir, cover and let stand 5 minutes. Stir again and strain into a pitcher holding another quart of cold water. Serve over ice cubes.
With cold water; Fill a quart pitcher or container with cold tap water. Add 8 to 10 teabags (remove tags). Cover. Let stand at room temperature or in refrigerator for at least 6 hours or overnight. Remove teabags, squeezing against side of container. (Recipe may be doubled.) Serve over ice cubes.

RUSSIAN TEA
2½ cups (or one 18-ounce jar) orange-flavored instant breakfast drink
1½ cups sugar
1 teaspoon ground cinnamon
½ teaspoon ground cloves
Dash salt
Boiling water
Combine instant tea, instant breakfast drink, sugar, spices and salt. Store in a tightly-covered jar. Makes 4 cups mix. To serve, place 1 well-rounded teaspoon of mix in a cup or glass. Add boiling water; stir until dissolved. Garnish with lemon slice and cinnamon stick, if desired.

Serve Curried Strata Salad with condiments such as sliced bananas, chutney and cashew nuts

Even Horses Horse Around

Sometimes things don't go exactly as planned. Take, for example, a recent gathering of the West Volusia Saddle Club in Lake Helen. Club members were entered in a variety of ribbon ride events, including one called "ride and lead." What that is, explained club members, is a quick ride out of the starting gate, a fast run about 30 yards or so to a barrel, a short turn around the barrel, then the rider leaps from the horse and runs, pulling the animal behind him or her, as quickly as possible back to the starting gate. Some of those horses don't take to being pulled, however.

Jo-Ann Priore, 15, of Orange City rides her horse "Pepper" out of the gate to demonstrate for club members...

...Caryn Elaine Mullen, 15, of Lake Helen, made it to the barrel okay atop "Good Johnny Boy"...

...Now Caryn's heading for the gate; so far, so good...

...Hey, who's leading who? Caryn had a tough time getting Good(?) Johnny Boy behind her again.

Federal Funding Cut For Apopka

APOPKA, Fla. (UPI) — A judge has cut federal funding to the town of Apopka until city fathers give black neighborhoods a bigger share of the revenue sharing pie.

U.S. District Judge Charles R. Scott turned off the money spigot Wednesday in the face of evidence that officials last year channeled 90 percent of the city's $131,000 in revenue sharing money to predominantly white areas.

He said this violated the 1964 Civil Rights Act as well as the 14th Amendment and the federal Revenue Sharing Act.

Citing a 1937 ordinance, repealed in 1968, that prohibited blacks from living north of the railroad tracks, Scott said there was a "historical background" of neglect that has led to poor water, drainage and street services to the majority of black residents.

In Death Penalty Cases

Supreme Court Orders Lawyers: Move Faster

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (UPI) — The Florida Supreme Court threatened today to find public defenders in Miami, Daytona Beach and West Palm Beach in special contempt of court if they don't move faster in appeals for 17 persons facing the death penalty.

The justices blasted Public Defenders Bennett Brummer of Miami, James Gibson of Daytona Beach and Richard Jorandby of West Palm Beach for missing by more than a year deadlines for submission of briefs and other documents in the cases and said they won't accept any further delay.

The court established new deadlines for briefs in 17 cases, ordered private lawyers appointed to take over four others and directed Brummer, Gibson and Jorandby to refuse to accept any more cases involving the death penalty until they pledge in writing to "faithfully abide by the time limitations and briefing schedules" outlined in state rules of appellate procedure.

Private lawyers will be appointed to represent indigent persons facing the death penalty until the three public defenders are able to accept capital cases again.

The three public defenders may be found in "indirect criminal contempt" and fined if they don't comply with today's order, the court said.

The order resulted from a complaint filed against the three officials by Attorney General Jim Smith and Gov. Bob Graham have moved in several ways to speed up the courts' review of capital cases in an effort to clear the way for resumption of executions on a regular basis.

Brummer was ordered to submit a brief in one capital case by May 8 and given until July 10 to submit written arguments in six other cases. He was ordered to withdraw in another case, so a private lawyer can be appointed.

Gibson was given until May 7 to file one brief and until July 1 to file two others. He was told to withdraw from three other cases.

Jorandby was given until May 7 to file written arguments in one case and until July 1 to file briefs in six others.

Brummer, Gibson and Jorandby contended in extraordinary oral arguments before the court last month the delays resulted from too heavy a caseload, a lack of manpower and problems in getting transcripts from the trial court. They denied that the delays were intentional, but emphasized they believe painstaking caution is necessary when a defendant's life is at stake.

Assistant Attorney General George Georgieff noted before the court that state's attorneys also are overburdened, but are usually able to make the briefing deadlines.

He also questioned whether public defenders ought to be writing such expensive briefs, appearing before federal judges and arguing before the Cabinet when it sits as the state clemency board. "You might not be so busy and understaffed if you did only what you are required to do," he told the public defenders.

Under state law, capital cases automatically go from the trial court to the state Supreme Court. Indigent persons often are involved in capital cases, so public defenders are assigned.

Low Rainfall Taxing Local Water Systems

By JANE CASSELBERRY
Herald Staff Writer

South Floridians have been warned by Gov. Bob Graham that unless they conserve water they face a water emergency, but Central Florida is already feeling the results of below average rainfall.

As the underground water table drops many lakes and wells are drying up hampering firefighters, farmers, citrus growers and inconveniencing home owners.

Municipal water systems are taxed during peak hours as residents use more water on their lawns and gardens.

In Casselberry, the problem is compounded by repairs being made to two of the city's water tanks resulting in a ban on outdoor water use during late afternoon and weekends.

Many residents who depend on their private wells for their water supply are having difficulties. A Sanford well drilling firm reports two or three calls a day. Well owners are having to go deeper for their water or increase the size of their wells.

Phil Kulbes, Lake Mary city manager, said there is no water shortage in the city at present, but it is trying to conserve and may ask the citizens to cut back on washing cars and other outdoor use in the future.

Other cities report no problems with their water supply at present.

The National Weather Service in Orlando reports rainfall has been behind every year for the past 10 years. Rainfall was 10 inches below normal last year and if the present trend continues it will be 15 inches below normal this year.

Normal rainfall for the first four months of the year would be 11.41 and last year it was 7.43 inches. This year rainfall through the month of April was only 6.60 inches.

The area received some rain on April 21, but the last appreciable rainfall was on March 22 when the area received an inch of rain.

Scattered showers that sprinkled some parts of Seminole and Orange counties Wednesday night were described by a National Weather Service spokesman as "six drops."

The Weather Service predicted a 30 percent chance of rain for today. If there is no rain by midnight today rainfall for the first quarter of 1981 will be 4.91 inches below average.

"It's so dry even the earthworms are committing suicide," remarked Seminole County Agricultural Agent Frank Jasa today. "For the past four or five days they have been crawling out of the dirt in front of the Ag Center and on to the road."

Jasa said the drought has hurt the spring cucumber and cabbage crops in the Sanford area and production will be down. He said the mucklands in the Oviedo area still have adequate moisture.

"Pastures are drying up and if there is no rain within the next couple of weeks they will have a hard time recovering," he said.

Cold damage and lack of rain have dealt a double blow to the citrus groves, Jasa said, and there will be a small crop this year. Some of the growers are irrigating their trees, but others no longer have the water to do so as the lakes which they pumped from have dried up.

There was no significant rain in April and the low humidity has contributed to evaporation of moisture. "There is a lack of subsurface moisture," Jasa added, and even several one inch rains won't make up for it."

Auto-Train Demise Displaces Marriott Employees

By DONNA ESTES
Herald Staff Writer

When Auto-Train pulls out of the Sanford station on its final trip to Lorton, Va., at 4 p.m. today, the Marriott Corp. kitchen on McCracken Road will close.

The kitchen has been located in Sanford nearly 9½ years for the sole purpose of serving Auto-Train, said Thomas Kessenger, general manager of the Sanford operation.

The firm's 11 employees here have been offered jobs in other Marriott kitchens at other airports, mostly at the Orlando International Airport, but only four are expected to accept those jobs, Kessenger said. The other seven employees are expected to seek jobs elsewhere.

"They have decided the Orlando jetport is just too far to travel and to look for something a little closer," Kessenger said. He added that the kitchen at the Orlando airport operates 24 hours daily and none could be assured what shift they would be assigned.

"The seniority of the Sanford employees would have to be compared to the seniority of the Orlando employees," he said, before shifts could be determined.

"The Orlando operation probably could have handled 75 percent of the Sanford employees," said Kessenger, who will himself take a job at the facility.

The Sanford Marriott employees are preparing 500 meals today to send on the final run of the northbound train. Marriott employees in Lorton, Va., meanwhile, also are preparing 500 meals for the final Auto-Train southbound run to arrive in Sanford Friday afternoon.

Kessenger said the Marriott operation in Sanford began when Auto-Train initiated its service in December, 1971. At Auto-Train's peak, when two runs daily were leaving Sanford — one for Lorton, Va. and one for Louisville, Ky., Marriott in Sanford was preparing 1,000 meals per day.

Marriott acquired the property at 2020 McCracken Road and especially equipped it with ovens, dish machines and other necessary equipment, specifically to serve Auto-Train, its only customer here.

The announcement was made last Friday that financially plagued Auto-Train would cease operations this week and 250 Sanford area residents, employed by the firm, would lose their jobs.

Jack Horner, executive manager of the Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce, said today the loss of those jobs will certainly have an impact on the area.

"Fortunately on the plus side Sanford is experiencing great growth," he said. "We can absorb some of these employees, especially those in skilled trades, into new jobs which are being created locally," he said.

"On the optimistic side, I look for Auto-Train to come back. I'm not going to count it out yet," Horner said. "This particular management may not return. The idea — of transporting passengers and their vehicles — is good and some investors will pick it up and start out fresh," he said.

"The Chamber of Commerce intends to do everything in its power to provide jobs for these people. We are constantly being approached by firms and prospective industries. We are going to work even harder to bring to fruition the plans of new industries to locate in this area to take up the slack," he said.

Senate Votes 29-11 For Convention

Anti-Abortion Resolution Passed

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (UPI) — The Senate voted 29-11 today to urge Congress to call a constitutional convention that would write an anti-abortion amendment and send it to the states for ratification.

"It seems to be strange that all the people who favor abortions have already been born," said Sen. David McClain, R-Tampa, sponsor of the resolution (SM 52) approved by senators.

The resolution must be approved by the House before going up to Congress and House leaders are skeptical it will pass.

Congress would be asked to convene a national convention to write a "right to life" amendment to the U.S. Constitution. The convention, which would be America's first since the Bill of Rights was proposed in 1770, would be free to decide how strict or how lax an amendment to write and submit to the legislatures of the states.

Sen. Gwen Margolis, D-Miami, argued against the resolution, saying she would want her daughters to be able to have an abortion if they were raped.

"Gentlemen, I have heard again and again people saying there is too much government regulation," she said. "Now, gentlemen, you're messing in my life. You're intruding in my bedroom."

Sen. Dick Langley, R-Clermont, cited religious reasons for opposing abortions and said, "I'm glad that Mary didn't decide to abort."

Sen. Harry Johnston, D-West Palm Beach, drew the only applause from the packed galleries in the 75-minute debate. He noted there are only four women senators and asked his 35 male colleagues how they would feel if the constitution mandated vasectomies for men who father illegitimate children.

He said banning abortions was no more legally justifiable than mandating them would be.

"When we start dealing with our sex organs, it's a whole new ballgame," Johnston said. "And yet we very cavalierly deal with theirs. Women labor under our promiscuity."

Since the Supreme Court's 1973 ruling legalizing abortion, McClain said, 20 states have passed resolutions calling for a constitutional convention. If 34 states petition Congress for a convention, the lawmakers have no choice but to call one.

Any amendment coming out of the convention would have to be ratified by 38 states.

Many legislative lawyers are wary of a convention, fearing the unprecedented method might throw open the Constitution to many unrelated topics. McClain said, however, he and other conservative lawyers are confident a convention call could be limited to abortion — and that slavery, the death penalty, gun control, a balanced budget and other constitutional controversies would not be brought up in a convention.

Rep. Tom Bush, R-Fort Lauderdale, has a companion proposal pending in the House for hearing by the Judiciary Committee next Wednesday. He said Wednesday night the committee is "pretty evenly split" on the issue and that he is ready to compromise — possibly accepting a simple resolution putting the House on record against abortion, but not calling for a convention.

"The way the Senate has the bill greased, it probably will not need much debate and will be a straight up-or-down vote," said Bush. "It's going to be very hotly contested in the House, though, with a lot of procedural attempts to stop it."

Near Meltdown

SANTA ROSA, Calif. (UPI) — Pacific Gas & Electric officials almost had a meltdown on their hands from a transformer blow-out in 90 degree weather.

The blow-out shut power to one downtown block and the owner of a Swenson's ice cream parlor, with 1,000 gallons of ice cream on storage, got worried.

He quickly called the police, who notified PG&E, and the utility managed to fix the outage in one hour. That was quick enough to keep the ice cream hard.

"That would have been the worst kind of meltdown," said store owner Paul Anderson.
