Hughes Wants $5,000 To Send Lobbyist To Capital

By Michael Beha
Herald Staff Writer

Seminole County School Superintendent Robert Hughes wants to give state legislators an earful. Hughes will ask school board members at their 7:30 p.m. meeting today to approve appointing a member of the county staff to work as a lobbyist with the state Legislature.

He said a lobbyist is necessary to present the district's side of issues and protect its interest in state legislation.

"Recent developments in state legislation pertaining to educational matters cause me to be concerned," Hughes said. "I believe there is a need for the Seminole School District to be more visible in Tallahassee during the legislative session."

Hughes said other school districts have had lobbyists working in the Legislature during the past several sessions to provide information to legislators and keep school boards abreast of what's going on in Tallahassee.

He has expressed concern that legislators approve bills without knowing what their true impact will be on the school districts. An example is the RAISE Bill, which raised requirements for graduation from high school, caused the district to add one period per day, and hire additional teachers.

"Seminole County is unique in that it is still one of the few counties in the state that is growing in pupil population," he said. "In the last legislative session much attention was given to counties who were declining in pupil growth."

A lobbyist would help keep the district from being overlooked, said Hughes.

He recommends paying a $5,000 supplement to the staff member selected for the post.

The board will also be asked to approve a list of district personnel who are permitted to take district-owned vehicles home.

Thirty-three cars are taken home by county employees, Hughes said. A total of 19 vehicles are taken home from five high schools, said Hughes, for security reasons. Only at Lyman High School, where vehicles are locked in a fenced compound, are driver's decalation and other vehicles not taken home.

Among those driving cars home are Lake Mary High School Principal Don Reynolds and Vice Principal Jay Stokes, Seminole High Basketball Coach Chris Marlette, Oviedo High Principal Charles Webb and Vice Principal Patsy Kimball.

Fourteen cars are driven home by maintenance and transportation staff who are on-call 24 hours a day for emergencies. Included in those 14 are Assistant Superintendent Benny Arnold, Maintenance Supervisor Glenn McGrav and transportation Director Richard Wells.

The take-home vehicles cost the district about $7,578, Hughes said.

Local Marine Recruits Ready...

They'd Go To Beirut
'On Moment's Notice'

By Diane Petryk
Herald News Editor

No one yet knows if any young men from Seminole County were involved in the Marines' tragedy in Beirut, but Sanford-based Marine Recruiter Sgt. Ike Moon says many are anxious to get over there.

About half the new recruits who were scheduled to depart for boot camp between now and April have expressed a desire to leave immediately because of the Beirut situation, he said.

Although enlistments haven't increased or decreased because of the incident, the new recruits "are chomping at the bit to get out there," Moon said.

"I'm ready to go," said Dirk Korton, 19, of Sanford. "All I ask is 30 minutes to get my stuff together and say goodbye."

"I'd love to go as soon as possible," said Edwin Oldaker, 18, Sanford. "It's really something I'd like to do — to join my fellow Marines."

Korton, Oldaker, and Marine Reservist Lance Cpl. Ralph Wright, 19, Sanford, talked with Sgt. Moon Tuesday about the situation in the mid-east. All agreed that the Marines should stay in Lebanon.

Wright, a helicopter mechanic who requested to go on active duty, will soon report to a deployable unit, which means possible overseas duty. Korton and Oldaker will, of course, first go to boot camp.

That lasts 85 days, Moon explained. "With a ten-day leave and five weeks advanced training, leave between now and January. Of those, six have said they're ready to leave on a moment's notice, he said.

Between January and April there are eight recruits scheduled to leave, and six of those would leave immediately, Moon said. Then there are nine more recruits scheduled for boot camp between now and next October. Most of those are still in school and wouldn't be able to leave until they graduate high school.

Moon estimated the average age of the Marines in Beirut is 19.

Grenada 2 Marines Dead; Cubans Fight Back

By Valerie Strauss

BRIDGETOWN, Barbados (UPI) — About 1,900 U.S. troops battled for control of Marxist-ruled Grenada today after invading the island and inflicting heavy losses on Cuban forces. Cuba vowed to inflict a "moral defeat" on the U.S. soldiers.

The Pentagon said at least two Marines were killed and 23 others wounded.

In a post-midnight news conference in Havana today, Cuban President Fidel Castro said he would not send any reinforcements to back up his estimated 500 Cubans on Grenada. He said U.S. land and sea forces were "too strong."

For the first time since the air, land and sea assault at dawn Tuesday, Cuba also said it would be willing to "listen" to a representative of the United States.

"The Cuban commander in Grenada, Col. Pedro Tortolo, has instructions to receive whatever U.S. parliamentary who approaches him in order to listen to him and transmit to Cuba," a government statement issued by the official Cuban news agency said.

A diplomatic source in Barbados said the Americans, joined by 300 troops from six Caribbean nations, faced pockets of resistance today.

The invasion force seized control of the island's two airports, a power station and the St. George's University medical school during the first 12 hours of operations. It was the largest U.S. military action since the Vietnam War.

The invasion came less than two weeks after a bloody coup toppled the Marxist government of Prime Minister Maurice Bishop, who later was killed by government soldiers.

The Pentagon reported the capture of 200 "armed" Cubans. Jamaica's Prime Minister Edward Seaga said 12 Cubans and three unidentified civilians were killed in combat.

"Personnel of Cuba have suffered an indeterminate number of deaths and injuries," a Cuban government statement carried by the Cuban news agency Prensa Latina monitored in Mexico City said.

It said Cuban and government forces "are in conditions to inflict a moral defeat on the United States, although they are sacrificing themselves ... to offer tenacious resistance to the North American troops."

Seaga told Jamaica's Parliament that the U.S. troops met stiff resistance from armed Cubans at the Point Salines airport on Grenada's southwestern tip but said the area was under U.S. control.

He said a "vast quantity" of Soviet-made weapons, including AK-47 rifles, were seized. Officials said 30 Soviets were on the island.

evidence of Cuban and Soviet military involvement in the Caribbean region.

Grenada, with a population of about 110,000, is located 90 miles off the coast of Venezuela. It has a regular Cuban-trained army of about 2,180 men.

Grenada Deputy representative Ian Jacobs emotionally appealed to the United Nations Security Council to condemn the attack in a session that ended early today. He indicated "hundreds, maybe thousands" had been killed in the invasion.

"U.S. forces have intervened in Grenada at the request of your Caribbean neighbors," a broadcast from a portable radio transmitter brought in with the invasion force said. The radio urged civilians to remain in their homes.

The Caribbean Broadcasting Corp. of Barbados quoted a source on Grenada as saying a U.S. helicopter pilot was injured when his gunship went down. The radio later said a second was shot down.

Nearly four hours after the invasion began, President Reagan said the United States had joined six Caribbean nations in a move to restore order in Grenada following the coup almost two weeks ago.

He formally notified Congress of the invasion, describing it as a move to protect up to 1,000 Americans on the island and thwart "leftist thugs."

"There was a strong feeling that something should be done," said Secretary of State George Shultz. "We responded to the urgent requests of the states in the area, which are not colonies. They are sovereign states."

News items in Barbados said mass evacuations of foreign citizens would be delayed until the landing forces "get everything secure."

Three injured Marines were flown Tuesday to Grantley Adams airport in Barbados, the staging site of the invasion 150 miles to the east, and carried away on stretchers. One Marine had heavily bandaged legs.

Developers Want Input

Sanford Tables Connection Fee Hike

Sanford's plan to quadruple connection fees to the city's water and sewer system to help pay for costs of future expansion hit a snag Monday night.

With the appearance of a group of developers and their attorney, the city commission tabled final adoption of an ordinance that would have raised connection fees from about $550 to $1,925 per unit.

And the commission set a workshop for 3:30 p.m., Nov. 7, with the developers and their attorney, Mack N. Cleveland Jr., to discuss the matter further.

Cleveland advised the commission that since the increased connection fees will effect new citizens of the community, it would be reasonable and just to consider the developers' views. Developers present included A.K. Shoemaker Jr., Bill Goodman of Residential Communities of America and James Lee.

Mayor Lee P. Moore told his colleagues on the commission that it is true that while the connection fees including impact fees are being materially changed, the developers and builders have had no opportunity for input into the process.

Cleveland said the builders and developers are not opposed to impact fees as such. They just want to express their concerns, Cleveland said.

City Manager W.E. "Pete" Knowles, currently away on vacation, recommended the increase in fees after city staff conducted a survey and found that among the governmental units with both water and sewer service in the area, Sanford has been charging the lowest connection fees.

He said Sanford's current $550 fee has not been changed for the past 11 years.

Knowles' plan was to place $1,495 of each connection fee into a trust fund to pay for necessary expansion and improvements of the utility systems caused by growth.

Knowles' argument, supported by Moore, was that if the connection fee is not increased current residents who have not created the need to expand the systems will be paying the cost.

Knowles acknowledged the cost of the connection fee will be added by developers to the price tag of new homes.

Only Commissioner David Farr voted against the proposed increase, saying he is concerned about young couples who are trying to buy their first homes. He said the new charge might mean they cannot buy a home.

Similar increases would be paid not only for single family homes, but also for commercial and industrial development, apartment complexes and other structures.

Knowles will be back from his vacation in time to attend the workshop, Moore said. — Donna Estes

McCollum, Hawkins Support Caribbean Attack

By Donna Estes
Herald Staff Writer

The presidentially ordered invasion by American army rangers and marines of the small Caribbean island of Grenada is supported today by Florida's Republican Sen. Paula Hawkins of Winter Park and U.S. Rep. Bill McCollum, R-Altamonte Springs.

But Lawton Chiles, Florida's Democratic senator from Lakeland, responded to the happening over the weekend with sarcasm.

Chiles said: "One day we've got the number of Marine deaths (in Lebanon) which shocked us all, and the next day we find we are invading Grenada. Are we looking for a war we can win?"

Mrs. Hawkins said, however, "It is my hope that efforts to protect the lives of the Americans living in Grenada will be successful. It is important that the democratic process be restored quickly. Recent events have caused great concern to Grenada's island neighbors and they have asked us to participate in the multi-national force to restore stability to that region. I hope that the American troops will be withdrawn quickly and that further efforts to maintain peace will be carried out by other multi-national forces.

And while lauding President Reagan's "bold and decisive" action, McCollum said he is asking his congressional colleagues to support his proposal urging the president to take advantage of the opportunity of sending with the 600 Cubans, found on Grenada and now being interrogated, back to their homeland the 1,084 Cuban criminals now in the federal penitentiary in Atlanta.

"If the Cuban freighter in Grenada is not large enough to hold all 1,600 perhaps we can find another ship big enough to go along with it," McCollum said.

"I think the president moved boldly and decisively to protect American citizens and our national interests. I also am convinced that the Americans on Grenada were de facto hostages," McCollum said.

"Two efforts were made over the weekend to land planes there to pick up some Americans who wanted to leave, but the efforts were thwarted by the leaders of the revolt in power. And there were indications over the weekend of a substantial movement on the part of Cuban interests in Grenada.

"I think both from the standpoint of American citizens and the future security of the Caribbean islands in the region from the threat of communist, terrorist and military forces from Grenada dictated the president's move and I support it," McCollum said.

The Seminole County resident congressman predicted American forces will be in Grenada just long enough to get the governor general of the British commonwealth, who is now secure on the island, to set up a provisional government under the constitution in existence when Bishop overthrew the government and for the limited island forces there to be put in place to maintain order. "Nobody knows exactly how long that will be, but it won't be long," McCollum said. — Donna Estes

IN BRIEF

Illegal Aliens' Welfare Cut Off; Millions Saved

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — California taxpayers are saving about $120 million a year because of a state-federal program aimed at halting welfare payments to illegal aliens. Immigration officials disclosed.

Officials of the Immigration and Naturalization Service and the State Department of Social Services also said Tuesday a program designed to reduce unemployment benefits to illegal aliens will be implemented soon.

INS figures showed that of 25,821 welfare applications for citizenship or residency status reviewed, 76 percent — or 19,673 — were assumed to be ineligible. INS Commissioner Alan Nelson said the assumption was made when the applicants failed to return with requested additional information.

Through the verification system, state taxpayers realized a savings of $8.2 million from the food stamp program, $51.7 million in Medi-Cal claims and $60.9 million from the Aid to Families with Dependent Children program.

Lawmen 'Bunch Of Thugs'

HOUSTON (UPI) — A federal judge called a former rural sheriff and two of his deputies "a bunch of thugs" whose methods would "embarrass a dictator" and sentenced them to prison for using water torture to extract confessions from prisoners.

Former San Jacinto County Sheriff James C. "Humpy" Parker and four other former deputies also face charges of illegally arresting and strip-searching "hippies", blacks and rock music fans who drove through their county.

U.S. District Judge James DeAnda sentenced Parker, 47, to 10 years in prison and fined him $12,000 for "orchestrating" the water-torture of prisoners to get confessions. He also ordered a psychiatric examination of Parker.

He sentenced Parker's former deputy, Carl Lee, 63, to four years in prison followed by five years probation, and former deputy John Glover, 65, to two years in prison followed by five years probation, for their crimes.

Seminole Judge On 20/20 To Speak About Straight

Circuit Judge Dominick Sall of Seminole County will be among those interviewed on the ABC program 20/20 at 10 p.m. Thursday on Channel 9.

The program concerns the controversial Straight Inc., a drug rehabilitation program for young people with headquarters in St. Petersburg.

Supporters of the program, of which Sall is one, are considering locating a branch in Longwood.

NATIONAL REPORT: Southern California's dreaded Santa Ana winds smashed high temperature records and threatened the region with brushfires. Freezing temperatures stretched from northern Michigan to northern New England. The Santa Ana winds, easterly winds blowing down the mountains and across the desert, fanned Southern California clear of pollutants and nudged the mercury to the century mark in some areas Tuesday. Los Angeles had its hottest Oct. 25 in history when the mercury peaked at 96. It was a record 95 at San Diego. The winds cut humidity levels to 12 percent, prompting firefighters to issue a "red flag" alert for potential brushfires. Winds gusting to 40 mph across the Los Angeles basin knocked out power to about 5,000 San Fernando Valley residents for several hours. Temperatures dipped below freezing by midnight across northern Michigan, eastern New York and northern New England, but light rain that dampened parts of the Northeast Tuesday had stopped. Gale-force winds buffeted West Texas early Tuesday, tearing the roof off an El Paso apartment complex and snapping power lines. The National Weather Service warned travelers to avoid mountain passes in west Texas because 60 mph gusts were expected throughout the day.

AREA FORECAST: Partly sunny and mild today. Highs in the mid to upper 70s. Wind northerly increasing to near 15 mph. Tonight fair and cool. Lows near 50 to mid 50s. Wind northerly 10 to 15 mph. Thursday sunny breezy and pleasant. Highs in the mid to upper 70s.

On Alert Marines Are Taking No Chances In Beirut

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI) — U.S. Marines maintained a state of maximum alert today for fear another suicidal attack might be launched against their exposed positions around Beirut airport.

Wearing steel helmets and bulky flak jackets, they hunkered down in heavily sandbagged bunkers after receiving a report Tuesday that three vehicles possibly packed with explosives were cruising around their positions.

Their commandant, Gen. Paul X. Kelley, who flew from Washington to Lebanon to explore ways of improving security, saw rescue workers pull two more American bodies from the bomb-shattered building that had been Marine headquarters. At least 216 U.S. servicemen died in the blast.

"There is nothing more devastating to a Marine than to lose another Marine," said Kelley, who also visited wounded soldiers in West Germany Tuesday.

The four-story Battalion Landing Team headquarters was the nerve center for some 1,625 U.S. members of Lebanon's multinational peace-keeping force until it was blown up in a terrorist bomb blast Sunday. In two suicide attacks, trucks loaded with explosives barreled into a Marine and a French base in apparently coordinated moves against Lebanon's Western peace-keeping forces.

The Pentagon said it was the bloodiest single attack on the Marines in peacetime and surpassed the loss of life of combat troops on any single day throughout the Vietnam War.

The biggest single loss ever sustained by the Marines was D-Day on Iwo Jima, when 501 Marines died on Feb. 19, 1945.

In Paris, the Defense Ministry said at least 35 French soldiers died in the attack on a building at their base. More than a score were missing today.

The American dead included an unidentified Navy corpsman who married a Lebanese woman exactly one week before the attack, and who had returned to the headquarters from his honeymoon a day early to catch up with paperwork, a military spokesman said.

The Marines — including 300 men flown in from Camp LeJeune, N.C., to replace the American dead and wounded — declared a "Condition One" alert Tuesday after receiving word of a possible new bomb threat.

Condition One is the highest degree of readiness. The alert was put into effect after a Marine spokesman, Maj. Robert Jordan, said there was a report of "three vehicles circling in nearby neighborhoods loaded with explosives."

At one point, jittery Marines hit the ground and covered a truck with their automatic rifles as it parked nearby. Their fears proved groundless.

The Islamic Holy War, a Shiite militia faction aligned with Iran's Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini, claimed responsibility for the bombings Sunday and told Beirut newspapers: "We are the soldiers of God and lovers of death."

The group demanded the withdrawal of all foreign troops and said: "We are ready to turn Lebanon into another Vietnam." It had claimed responsibility for the April 18 bombing that killed more than 60 people at the U.S. Embassy in Beirut.

Deborah Collette, left, of Altamonte Springs, and Fran Tingle of Casselberry will be among the 100 artists and craftsmen displaying their work at the "Fall for Art" show in Sanford this Saturday and Sunday from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. The show will be held at city hall near Lake Monroe.

Commissioners Partially Thaw County Job Freeze

Three Seminole County jobs, left vacant by an administrative hiring freeze, have been thawed by county commissioners.

Commissioners voted unanimously Tuesday to fill vacant legal secretary, adjunct county 4-H extension agent and animal shelter positions which were frozen last spring.

The legal secretary position has been vacant since June 17 when Marie Harris left the job to become an administrative aide in the county administrator's office.

During budget hearings this summer, County Attorney Nikki Clayton asked the job to be filled because of the heavy workload the freeze created for the remaining secretary.

Ms. Clayton said it will take about six weeks to fill the job which has a pay range between $10,764 and $15,236 a year.

The animal shelter position has been vacant since the freeze was instituted six months ago.

Animal Control Officer Bob McIntosh said the vacancy has left the animal shelter staff short-handed in trying to maintain the facility and care for animals impounded there. The job has a salary range of $7,904 to $11,211.

Commissioners also agreed to allow the adjunct county 4-H agent's post to be filled. The job has a pay range of $12,000 to $18,000.

Also Tuesday, commissioners approved the continued use of six temporary refuse truck drivers by the Department of Environmental Services.

The workers, who earn up to $220 per week, were hired four months ago to deal with an increase in trash caused by Sanford's use of the county's Upsala transfer station.

The jobs will be continued for about four more months, according to Solid Waste Manager Fred Blakely.

Commissioners tabled for one week a request from Budget Director Eleanor Anderson to unfreeze a budget analyst position. They want to ask Mr. Anderson, who is on vacation this week, some questions about the position. —Michael Beha

Federal Workers To Bear Brunt Of Budget Cutting

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House directed its budget-cutting knife at present and former federal workers in approving most of the $12.3 billion in spending cuts ordered by the 1984 budget resolution.

The "reconciliation" bill now before the Senate would cut $10.3 billion in the next three years, mostly by limiting pay raises for federal workers and delaying cost-of-living payments for government retirees.

The House approved the bill by voice vote Tuesday.

It is the first attempt to actually implement the $12.3 billion in three-year spending cuts ordered by the $859 billion budget resolution Congress adopted in June.

An effort is expected to be made in the House Thursday to attach the remaining $2 billion in ordered spending cuts — mostly affecting the Medicare program — to a second reconciliation bill raising taxes and to pass it then.

Other spending reductions were recommended in the budget resolution, but the $12.3 billion in mandated spending cuts require a specific change in the law — or a reconciling — to achieve the savings. Without a change, the money would have to be spent.

The bill approved by the House would save $2.4 billion in 1984, $3.4 billion in 1985 and $4.5 billion in 1986 for a total of $10.3 billion.

The measure would save $1.9 billion in 1984 alone by limiting pay increases for civilian and military federal employees to 4 percent a year and delaying the effective date until Jan. 1, 1984.

Federal employees in the past have received pay raises Oct. 1, the beginning of each fiscal year, equal to the rate of inflation. President Reagan blocked this October's pay raise pending congressional action.

The bill also would provide for a six-month delay — until April 1, 1984 — in the payment of the veterans compensation cost-of-living adjustment.

It also would delay Civil Service retirement and disability cost-of-living adjustments until the following January. Because the next scheduled cost-of-living increase is May 1984, the delay would be until January 1985. This change also affects military, Foreign Service, Coast Guard and Public Health Service retirement systems.

The bill also would require the president to convene a domestic economic summit conference with congressional leaders to deal with the prospect of continuing large deficits.

Reagan's 1984 budget proposal, rejected by Congress, called for a one-year freeze on pay raises for federal employees and retirees.

5K 'Run For Children'

The third annual Dick Batchelor "Run for the Children," a 5,000-meter race to benefit the Child Protection Team, will be held at 8 a.m. Saturday on Lake Orlando Parkway at Rosemont Golf and Country Club. Check-in is between 7 and 7:45 a.m.

The Child Protection Team, under the auspices of the Orlando Regional Medical Center, provides professional help for children who have been beaten and traumatized.

The group's goals are to provide a multi-disciplinary approach to diagnosis and treatment of children and their families in Seminole as well as Orange, Osceola, and Brevard counties who have been abused.

The CPT is in desperate need of additional dollars and the run can provide the additional thousands needed to help these children, according to honorary race chairman Batchelor. For race information call Bob Seidl, run director, at 299-7180.

Last year, more than 800 runners participated, netting some $6,300 for the CPT. This is a timed and sanctioned event with trophies being awarded in all of the recognized categories of 5k races. A T-shirt will be given to each person running. There will be many free attraction passes and drawings available after the race.

The top three overall runners and the top three male and female runners in each division will receive awards. Pre-registration fee is $6 and registration fee the day of the race is $8. Race applications are available at all local Sun Bank offices or at the Track Shack, 1322 N. Mills Ave., Orlando, or mail registration form with the check payable to ORMC (Orlando Regional Medical Center) Foundation, 1414 Kuhl Ave., Orlando, Fl., 32806.

Would-Be Burglars Shoot Winter Park Man In His Home

Two armed men entered a south Seminole County apartment early today, shot one occupant and tied up two other persons.

Robert Arthur Bohne, 23, was listed in guarded condition today at Winter Park Memorial Hospital, suffering from a gunshot wound to the chest, a hospital spokesman said.

Seminole County sheriff's deputies said they arrived at the Semoran North Apartments at 2575 N. Semoran Blvd. near Winter Park at 1:11 a.m. and heard calls for help coming from apartment 2812 on the upper floor.

Deputies found Bohne lying in the apartment doorway. His clothing was covered with blood and he was complaining of chest and face pains, a sheriff's report said.

Deputies found Lisa M. Caamano, 23, and Daniel Mark Akin, 21, in a bedroom of the apartment, both with their hands and feet bound with telephone cord, the report said.

Another resident, Gary A. Mosley-Williams told deputies that two men had entered the apartment with guns, demanded money, fired a handgun at Bohne and fled on foot, the report said.

The report did not state whether the gunmen took anything and investigators could not be reached for comment.

apartment and parked his car in the parking lot at 5:40 a.m.

Blanes said as he was getting out of his car, another car pulled up behind him, two men in black ski masks jumped out, grabbed him and held him against his car, a Seminole County sheriff's report said.

Blanes said the men struck him and kicked him, cutting his lip and cheek, took his wallet and drove off.

Blanes said his assailants may have followed him to his apartment from the Hotline disco in Altamonte Springs. The wallet contained an undetermined amount of cash.

Pair Surrender In Pot Conspiracy Case

A 26-year-old Longwood man and his father turned themselves in to U.S. marshals in Orlando Tuesday after they were indicted on a federal conspiracy charge in the alleged use of fictitious names to buy a house for storing marijuana.

Wayne Muscelwhite of Longwood and his father, Warren Muscelwhite, 49, an Apopka car dealer, surrendered after being indicted by a grand jury Monday.

After a hearing before a federal judge, Warren Muscelwhite was released on $50,000 bond and his son was released after posting $10,000 bond.

An Apopka city councilman, William Arrowsmith, 37, was charged in the same indictment and has requested a leave of absence from his council seat. Arrowsmith was freed on $10,000 bail.

The Muscelwhites and Arrowsmith are charged in a scheme to use phony names to buy 23 cashier's checks from 18 banks in the Orlando area.

The indictments charge that the checks, worth $210,000, were purchased in 1978 in increments of less than $10,000 to avoid an Internal Revenue Service regulation that requires banks to report cash transactions of more than $10,000.

Warren Muscelwhite, owner of Muscelwhite Motors in Apopka, is also charged with two other counts of illegally concealing from the IRS the source of $29,500 used to buy the checks.

The indictment charges that the $210,000 was used to purchase a home near Fort Myers. Authorities raided the home in March 1979 and seized 13,000 pounds of marijuana and a car that was registered to Warren Muscelwhite.

Muscelwhite and several others were charged with conspiracy to distribute marijuana, but a judge later threw out the charges for lack of evidence.

If convicted, Warren Muscelwhite faces up to 15 years in prison and $30,000 in fines. Arrowsmith and Wayne Muscelwhite face up to 5 years in prison and $10,000 in fines.

IN BRIEF

Cuban Refugee Killed In Standoff With Police

WEST PALM BEACH (UPI) — Last-minute police marksmanship saved the life of a young woman who was held hostage by a Cuban Mariel refugee for nearly 5 hours before he died in a hall of police gunfire, authorities said.

A police SWAT team shot and killed Lazaro Guerra, 30, early Tuesday to end a hostage situation in which he threatened to kill his girlfriend and fired several shots at police.

Guerra was wounded fatally in a hall of police gunfire about 2:35 a.m. after tear gas forced him from the house where he had held his terrified hostage, Isabel Lezcano.

The siege began about 9:15 p.m. Monday when Ms. Lezcano's brother and sister-in-law responded to her telephone call for help, reporting Guerra was attempting to steal $5,000.

Sheik's Mansion Auctioned

MIAMI BEACH (UPI) — The Star Island pleasure palace abandoned by Saudi Sheik Mohammed al Fassi — described by a neighbor as "a cross between honky-tonk and Egyptian bazaar" — was auctioned at a foreclosure sale today.

The half-finished mansion was scheduled to go on sale shortly before noon on the steps of the Dade County Courthouse.

Original plans called for the grandiose estate to include two marble homes, a shooting gallery, an ice skating rink, an underground fallout shelter and guards' and servants' quarters.

Now the structure has been ravaged by souvenir-seekers. The yard is overgrown and city officials were prepared to tear it down before creditors obtained a court order forestalling the demolition.

Chris Koger, Miami Beach assistant city attorney, said the city might repeal the demolition order if the buyer comes up with a suitable salvage plan.

Another Theme Park?

United Press International
MCA Inc. is discussing a 50-50 venture to build a $203 million theme park in central Florida with Lorimar, the producer of such television programs as Dallas, Falcon Crest and Knot's Landing.

Sidney Sheinberg, president of Los Angeles-based MCA, which has been searching for a partner for the project, said Tuesday the talks are in an "advanced stage."

MCA, which has invested at least $13 million in a 423-acre Orlando site, first announced plans in mid-1981 to build a Florida park modeled after Universal Studio Tours, which it has operated for the past 19 years.

However, when interest rates soared, MCA delayed construction and began seeking a financial partner.

Acid Rain Could Kill State's Lakes, Trees

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — A University of Florida scientist says that unless acid rain is reduced, Florida's lakes could lose their fish and the state's forests could have their trees weaken or die in 10 years.

Dr. Alex Green, director of the Interdisciplinary Center for Aeronomy and Atmospheric Sciences in Gainesville, said increasing acid rain also could lead to adverse health conditions.

"No longer can we be complacent about this," he said. Green, a UF professor of nuclear and mechanical engineering, acid experience with acid rain in the northeast, Canada and Scandinavia suggests there will be "clearly observable effects" from it in Florida in 10 years if current trends continue.

"Rainfall acidity in northern Florida now averages pH 4.3 — 20 times more acidic than what is considered unpolluted rainfall and twice as acidic as average levels in north Florida in 1980," Green said.

"South Florida's rainfall now averages pH 4.7 (and) in 1980 measurements did not fall below 5.9 south of Lake Okeechobee. There have been rainstorms in Florida with acidity levels of pH 3.3 — over 100 times more acidic than is considered unpolluted rain."

The first effects are likely to be sterilization of the state's lakes, leading to fishkills, he said. The weakening or death of trees would follow.

Green said sulfur dioxide, a major component of acid rain, forms sulfates that can remain suspended in humid air and "can cause or aggravate heart and lung diseases."

Doing Prison Time...At Home

MIAMI (UPI) — Floridians without previous criminal records who are convicted of non-violent crimes now can be allowed to serve jail terms in the comfort of their homes, much like teenagers on restriction.

Faced with severe prison overcrowding and bickering about where to build new penitentiaries, the Florida Legislature authorized a new program called "Community Control" that went into effect Oct. 1.

First-time offenders convicted of non-violent crimes can be sentenced to up to two years of "house arrest" instead of going to prison.

Much like the way some parents punish errant youths, judges mandate that a person under house arrest stay in his home except for trips to work or school. Even an unauthorized outing to the corner grocery store can land a lawbreaker in jail.

Other trips must be approved by corrections officials, who make surprise visits to each offender's home at least four times a week.

Some judicial authorities say the program is ideal for non-violent offenders who are the sole support of their families. But not everyone is convinced the program will work.

"It's nonsense," said Dade County Circuit Judge Howard Gross. He compared the home sentence to a "holiday."

Adoption Rules For Biracial Kids May Be Changed

GAINESVILLE (UPI) — The state is considering changing the rules for the adoption of biracial children that would disallow such adoptions by all-white couples.

Under the state Health and Rehabilitative Services Department's current adoption policy, "children of mixed racial background may be considered for families of either race."

Although the HRS stopped placing black children with white families about five years ago, biracial children still are placed with white families.

That would change if the new rule is enacted. Biracial children could be adopted by either black couples or black-white couples, but not all-white couples, an HRS official said.

"We're trying to plan to best meet the needs of that child," said Gloria Walker, program analyst with the state adoption unit.

"The reality of it is these children are black. That's the way these children are viewed and it's felt that their needs can best be met in that kind of a home," she said.

Ms. Walker acknowledged that HRS' proposed rule change has raised the hackles of some people.

"A lot of people resist the idea that we're living in a less than perfect society," she said.

To lessen negative reaction, Ms. Walker said she is working closely with the department's civil rights section. The rule may undergo some changes before it finally is enacted in December, she said.

Mary Ann Thurmond, a direct services supervisor for HRS' children and youth program in Gainesville, said she sees no problems with placing biracial youngsters with white families.

She said there are more white families than black families interested in adopting biracial children.

PSC Hearing On Utility Rate Hike Set Thursday

A state Public Service Commission hearing on rate hikes for Lake Monroe Utilities customers, originally scheduled for Monday, has been rescheduled for 10 a.m. Thursday.

The hearing will be held at the Holiday Inn at Interstate 4, west of Sanford, one of LMU's 36 commercial customers in that area. Hotel management, along with representatives of the Port of Sanford and companies at the I-4 Industrial Park, are expected to argue against the rate hike.

A 300 percent LMU water and sewer rate hike was tentatively approved by the PSC in July and went into effect in September.

Under the new rates, the average monthly water bill for commercial customers increased by 313.16 percent, to $92.96 from $22.50. Average monthly sewer bills increased by 275.6 percent, to $173.96 from $46.31.

PSC staff worked with LMU officials in preparing the new rates, which both PSC staff and the utility say are fair since the utility hasn't had a rate increase in 10 years.

The users contend the new rates are too high and are based upon the size meter used by the customers rather than the actual water usage.

Immigration Patchwork

Immigration reform proposals have died in Congress for two years running, and with 1984 an election year there's little chance of serious reconsideration before 1985. Unfortunately, the problems that make such reform necessary won't go away in the meantime, so Congress and the administration ought, at a minimum, to do something to lighten the burden of the Border Patrol, the federal agency charged with enforcing a nearly unenforceable law with grossly inadequate resources. That's a poor substitute for more substantive changes, but it's no less urgent for that.

Immigration Commissioner Alan Nelson has proposed a supplementary appropriation of $93 million — a 17 percent increase over what's already been made available for fiscal 1984 — to increase the number of Border Patrol officers by 1,000 (about 50 percent), add another 500 support personnel, and to purchase sophisticated detection equipment to stem the flow of illegal aliens across the U.S.-Mexican border, a flow that increased by 40 percent during the past 12 months. Efforts would be increased especially at two points — around El Paso, Texas, and Chula Vista, Calif. — where Nelson says about 60 percent of the 1 million illegal aliens caught last year were apprehended.

Nelson's request is now before the Office of Management and Budget, which objected strenuously to the projected cost of enforcing the Simpson-Mazzoli reform measure that was shelved recently in the House. Clearly, Budget Director David Stockman's objections were not instrumental in burying the reform measure, but they couldn't have helped its chances either. Nelson's request is only a small fraction of what a comprehensive overhaul would have cost, and it's speedy approval, by the administration and by Congress, would demonstrate at least some sense of responsibility by the federal government for a problem it often seems unwilling to confront.

Beyond this patchwork solution, though, President Reagan should put the weight of his office behind the search for a consensus that can withstand the pressure of special-interest groups in Congress. Such a consensus seemed to have been built earlier this year: the Senate, after all, adopted a version of the Simpson-Mazzoli bill — complete with employer sanctions, amnesty for aliens already here for several years, and the beginnings of a worker identification program — by a lopsided margin. What was missing was the energetic support, not only of the president (though he did endorse the bill), but of those in Congress with the clout and the commitment to override the special pleading that defeated it.

There were flaws in Simpson-Mazzoli. The specter of a police state was raised in the provision that would have required the government to come up with a forgery-proof worker ID card. Fears of discrimination against Hispanic-looking workers were played upon; unfortunately, there was no concerted information campaign by the bill's supporters to dispel them. There was also too little attention paid to financing, to implementation of the amnesty program, and to other important details of a measure that was long on ambition and short on follow-through.

Immigration reform has been studied exhaustively, and the debate has raged for years. Still there is no reform. This leads some to the conclusion that the present situation suits too many groups — ranchers, sweatshop owners, Hispanics and other ethnic groups, border-state politicians, some labor unions, consumers of low-cost goods, not to mention the illegal aliens themselves — ever to be changed through legislation.

If that is true, the widespread exploitation of illegal residents and fear that now exist can only become worse, along with social strains whose exact dimensions cannot yet be foreseen. That would be a shameful legacy for the coming generations. It will take strong leadership in Washington to avoid that. Giving the Border Patrol some of the tools it needs to do a thankless job would be a modest but necessary beginning.

The Central Florida Zoological Society's annual Zip-a-dee-zoo-dah Wildwest Auction and Musical Jamboree held Friday night at Expo Centre, Orlando, took in $39,500 and will net a little over $30,000 when expenses are paid, according to co-chairman Beth Hattaway, a member of the zoo board.

There were 385 $50 per person tickets sold for the affair, which was chaired by Patsy Njanger, board secretary.

"It was better than ever," said Beth. "people came from all over Central Florida and everyone was dressed in country western clothes and we had a Blue Grass band."

During the auction there were a lot of 'over bids,' and it was a fun evening," she added. Lew Dellarco of Sanford was the auctioneer.

"On behalf of the board, I want to thank everyone for making it a success, especially the merchants who gave so generously for the auction. We had two cars, boats, and over 100 items in all," she said.

The event is the zoo's largest outside fundraiser.

The third annual Golden Wedding Celebration will be held this year on Nov. 6 at the Sanford Civic Center. This event is sponsored by the Sanford Recreation Department and the Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce to honor all couples who have been married 50 years or more.

Festivities will begin at 1:30 p.m. Refreshments will be served and guests are welcome, according to Paulee Stevens, chairman of the Greater Sanford Chamber's Senior Citizen Committee.

Applications are available at the Chamber office, the Wednesday afternoon dance at the Civic Center, Congregate Meal sites, and the Casselberry Senior Citizen Center.

The 4-H Teen Exchange Club of Seminole County, headed by Mrs. Bonnie Moore and Mrs. Pam Bragg, is looking for members. It is open to any Seminole County youth who wants to do more than the average 4-H member, who wants to travel, to meet and greet 4-H'ers from other states, to learn how other people live, and to exchange interests and life styles.

To be an Exchange Club member you must be 14 years old by the summer of 1984, a member of a local 4-H club, maintain a "C" average in school, and work on Teen Exchange fundraising activities.

If you fit this description and would like to learn more about 4-H Teen Exchange, send a postcard or letter with your name, address, and telephone number to Teen Exchange Club, Seminole County Agricultural Center, 4320 S. Orlando Drive, Sanford, FL 32771 as soon as possible. You will be contacted about the next organizational meeting.

Ronald Reagan's Humor

President Reagan is called, sometimes with an edge of condescension, The Great Communicator, and if there is an edge of condescension in the use of that phrase it tends to mean that he is only a communicator and lacks real substance.

There is plenty of substance to Reagan, but what I am writing about here might be called the substance of his personal style, which is an important part of his power as a communicator, and indeed in his hands a potent political asset.

You almost certainly will not have heard about his remarks on October 3 before a banquet celebrating the 10th birthday of the Heritage Foundation in Washington. It was a gala, joyful affair, and the president was introduced by Joe Coors, the conservative brewer of Coors Beer, and a principal benefactor of Heritage.

Reagan's opening remarks are delicious, and they provide a fine example of his wit and style:

"Thank you all very much. It's wonderful for Nancy and me to be here tonight and see old friends like Joe Coors. Actually, I was little surprised by the warmth of Joe's introduction. I'm not sure how many of you know this, but there's a certain coolness between Joe and me tonight — I guess maybe that's my fault. When I arrived at the reception here I said 'Joe, it's been a long, hard day in the Oval Office, but now it's Miller time.' (Laughter, applause)

"That's when he showed me his Mondale button. (Laughter)

"Seriously, though, where are those Democratic candidates with their grandiose solutions now that we need them? The America's Cup race, for example. (Laughter) Now there was a problem that could have been solved with more money and a lot of wind. (Laughter, applause)

"And I'm delighted to be here with you at Heritage. I remember the days when a conservative intellectual was considered a contradiction in terms — you know, like 'thrifty liberal' — (Laughter) — 'modest government,' and 'penny-pinching congressman.' (Laughter)

"But it's a great privilege to be here tonight at an extraordinary moment not only in the history of the Heritage Foundation but, I firmly believe, in the history of the West.

"Historians who seek the real meaning of events in the latter part of the 20th century must look back on gatherings such as this. They will find among your numbers the leaders of an intellectual revolution that recaptured and renewed the great lessons of Western culture — a revolution that is rallying the democracies to the defense of that culture and to the cause of human freedom, a revolution that I believe is also writing the last sad pages of a bizarre chapter in human history known as communism..."

Soviet Subs Could Tip Power Balance

WASHINGTON — An ominous threat by Soviet Gen. Nikolai Chervov drew little public notice last week. But Chervov's warning that the Soviets might deploy submarines armed with nuclear missiles 100 miles off the U.S. coast was taken seriously by the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

The Pentagon's alarm is understandable: Soviet submarines close to our shores could hit major U.S. targets — including Washington, D.C. — with virtually no warning. And using a still-theoretical technique called "depressed trajectory," the subs could fire their nuclear missiles like artillery shells and hit targets well inland in six minutes or less.

This would give the United States little time to retaliate — or to determine whether it was a genuine Soviet attack, a false alarm or an accident. The time for a decision whether to launch a global

RUSTY BROWN

How D.C. Is Ruled

It's hard to fight city hall. Especially if some of the city council members don't care how you vote.

In Washington, D.C., the citizens have two "city councils." One is composed of hard working men and women, black and white, who actually live in the District of Columbia. The other city council doesn't even live in Washington, although all of its members work there.

Washington's other city council is the 435 members of the U.S. House of Representatives and 100 U.S. senators who can, if they wish, overturn legislation passed by the city council. That's because Congress has legislative authority over the District of Columbia under the Constitution.

Here's how it works: The Washington city council passes a bill. Some member of Congress decides he doesn't like it. If he can organize enough opposition within 30 days, a congressman from Idaho or Illinois can actually succeed in vetoing of a measure passed by the Washington city council.

It happened recently when the council passed a measure liberalizing the district's sex laws. Although they weren't as liberal as the laws of most states, members of Congress objected and organized a veto.

Now it's about to happen again. The issue this time is divestiture. District of Columbia bill 5-18 would require the city government to withdraw all investment — primarily pension funds — from any corporation operating in South Africa and to withdraw city funds from any bank lending money to South Africa.

Leading the opposition is right-wing Rep. Stanford E. Parris, R-Va. Parris and other apologists for South Africa's white-supremacist system charge that divestiture would jeopardize pension funds — despite all available evidence to the contrary.

Recently, Massachusetts became the first state to vote to sell all investments in firms doing business in South Africa.

"It has been our experience," Massachusetts Gov. Michael Dukakis said in a letter to Washington Mayor Marion Barry, "that divestiture makes not only a strong moral statement against apartheid but divestiture has proven to have had no significant impact on our pension earnings."

In fact, Dukakis said, "timely and careful divestiture can result in net increases in pension earnings."

In Connecticut, State Treasurer Henry Parker sold $20 million in securities in obeying his state's divestiture law. He reported profits for his state's taxpayers of $4 million. Both the University of Wisconsin and Michigan State University reported making a profit on divestiture sales and reinvestment.

The real issue in the threat to veto Washington's divestiture bill isn't the financial future of retired Washington school teachers or policemen. It's a reluctance by some members of Congress — mostly Southerners, all of them hostile to civil rights — to let the overwhelmingly black citizens of our nation's capital govern themselves.

Last year, Michigan and Connecticut joined Massachusetts in divestiture action. The cities of Philadelphia, Wilmington, Del., and Grand Rapids, Mich., did the same. In these instances, there was public debate and argument. But when the city council or state legislature voted, the issue was settled: White supremacy lost; Americans who refused to subsidize racism abroad won.

No congressman can force Philadelphia or Michigan to change its laws simply because he doesn't like what they have done. Our federal legislators should have told us last election that they also expected to serve as city council members for the District of Columbia.

Since they didn't tell us that, let's tell them to quit that job and to spend their time doing what we elected them to do.

DICK WEST

Two Knee Bends In The Dark

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The American Cancer Society, sponsor of the Great American Smokeout coming up next month, recommends that anyone giving up cigarettes undertake a "general fitness program" at the same time.

"Work on a crossword puzzle, knit a sweater, balance your checkbook, fix something around the house, shampoo the dog," the society said.

"Exercise to help relieve tension. Climb stairs rather than take the elevator, park the car a block or two from your destination and walk the rest of the way. At home, practice touching your toes, jog in place, do jumping jacks."

This is good advice, I think. It is well known that the hardest part of quitting is finding something to do with one's hands.

One needs an activity that keeps the hands busy during periods when one ordinarily would be lifting cigarettes or cigars to one's lips, or raising one's hand to light one's pipe.

Without needlework, crossword puzzles, checkbooks or some type of substitute, one's hand, from force of habit, will continue rising to one's mouth, giving strangers the impression you are blowing kisses at them.

Even close friends can get the wrong idea.

One can, of course, keep a beer bottle handy. Each time the hand involuntarily starts to the mouth, grab the bottle and it all looks perfectly normal.

The Smokeout sponsors caution, however, that alcohol "can increase your urge to smoke."

Another drawback is that balancing your checkbook can activate your sweat glands at a time when taking a shower may be inconvenient. So perhaps a less strenuous substitute is needed.

My own way out of the problem was to grow a beard. Whenever reflex action caused my hand to rise to my mouth, I would give my whiskers a little tug, thereby creating the illusion that I was lost in contemplation.

And, believe me, growing a beard is far less perspiration-inducing than doing jumping jacks.

Admittedly, however, that method wouldn't work too well for female Smokeout participants. Nor should they disguise unwilling movement by keeping a lipstick at hand.

If another coat of lipstick is applied every time one's hand springs to one's mouth, before the day is over one's lips will be several times their normal thickness.

Women who once had a bee-stung look will appear to have dog-bitten lips — perhaps by the pooch they were using to shampoo.

The Smokeout, obviously, should promote some kind of unisex exercise substitute. In that connection, I was struck by the cancer society's observation that brushing one's teeth gets rid of smoker's breath.

Olympian Tai Babilonia and Mickey Mouse will lead the cheers Nov. 4 during Olympic Hooray Day at Disney World.

Top Athletes Head For Disney and Sanford

Olympic stars, special entertainment and Disney fanfare will highlight a red, white and blue Olympic weekend Nov. 4-6 at Walt Disney World during a special fund raising event for the U.S. Olympic athletes.

Among the former Olympians attending the event will be John "Jack" Kelly Jr., who is scheduled to be in Sanford Nov. 7-12 as honorary chairman of the Golden Age Games. Kelly was competed on the U.S. rowing team in 1948, 1952, 1956, and 1960 Olympics. Golden Age Games sponsors are hoping to have several of the Olympic athletes on hand for the Games opening ceremonies in Sanford as well.

Thousands of school children from Seminole, Orange and Osceola counties will take part in "Olympic Hooray Day" at the Magic Kingdom on Nov. 4, when they will be out for a teacher work day. In addition to the Disney fanfare and special shows they will meet some of America's greatest Gold and Silver Medal winners. From the special admission price of $12, Walt Disney World will donate $1 to the County School Volunteer Program, which provides teacher helpers and other vital services to the school systems.

Each student will receive an Olympic study guide sponsored by Disney and Kodak outlining Olympic history and past U.S. medalists.

The whole "world" is the stage for the event. For every admission to the Magic Kingdom during the Olympic-themed weekend, $1 will be donated to the U.S. Olympic Committee. At EPCOT Center, a patriotic entertainment extravaganza at the American Adventure Showcase theater on Nov. 5 will entertain 1,000 guests at a $250 a plate dinner with the proceeds going to the U.S. Olympic Committee.

Walt Disney World Village at Lake Buena Vista will be the scene of activities that include a salute to past Florida Olympians, on Nov. 5, plus the U.S. Olympic Hall of Fame display sponsored by Coca-Cola will be open under the Captain's Tower from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. on Nov. 5 and 6.

Fund raising events such as this are essential in our efforts to identify, train and develop Olympic hopefuls," said Dennis Keegan, U.S. Olympic Committee spokesman. "The Olympic movement in the United States is a totally American effort and we are pleased the Disney organization is assisting us again." During the Olympic weekend, Walt Disney World guests can experience a variety of entertainment spectaculars. Main Street

U.S.A. will be decorated in a red, white and blue motif leading to an Olympic-themed Castle Forecourt where a special show introducing former Olympic athletes will be presented. U.S. Olympians will also be featured in flag ceremonies, autograph sessions, and a star-spangled Olympic salute highlighting the '84 Olympics.

Invited guests include famous Olympians ranging from petite gymnast Cathy Rigby and ice skater Tai Babilonia to skater Eric Heiden and Bob Beamon of Florida, who still holds the world record in the long jump established in 1968.

To Counter Reagan Firing

Congress Could Appoint New Rights Commission

WASHINGTON (UPI) — To counter President Reagan's firing of three liberal members of the U.S. Civil Rights Commission, Congress is considering creating a new anti-discrimination agency and letting the old one die.

Sens. Arlen Specter, R-Pa., and Joseph Biden, D-Del., unveiled the novel proposal Tuesday amid angry protests over the shakeup at the civil rights commission.

The agency, an independent watchdog of government for 26 years, has been highly critical of a number of Reagan administration civil rights policies.

Previous presidents also have suffered its scorn, but none of them fired any members. With the latest firings, Reagan will have replaced five of the six members on the panel.

"It's clear the president has no desire to honor the independence of the commission," Biden charged.

Rather than live with a civil rights agency dominated by Reagan appointees who share his conservative views on busing and quotas, Biden and Specter called for creation of a new eight-member panel to be appointed by Congress to fixed terms. The new panel could not be fired, except for abuse or neglect of office.

Rep. Don Edwards, D-Calif., planned to introduce a similar proposal in the House today.

Reagan's abrupt decision to fire commissioners Mary Berry, Blandina C. Ramirez and Rabbi Murray Salzman — without waiting for the Senate to confirm their replacements — crushed a lengthy effort to reach a peaceful compromise with Congress on the makeup of the panel.

It also could leave the nation without a watchdog group to oversee the government's civil rights policies.

If Congress fails to take any action, the civil rights commission automatically will go out of business Nov. 29 when its authority to operate runs out.

Yet it will be difficult — if not impossible — for Congress to agree to keep the commission running as it now composed.

Civil rights leaders heaped criticism on Reagan Tuesday, charging the firings blatantly demonstrate his insensitivity to minorities. They too voiced resignation that the current commission may have to be allowed to die Nov. 29 and a new one created to take its place.

"We would rather see the commission go out of existence than have it be a public relations mantle for the president," said Rep. Julian Dixon, D-Calif., chairman of the Congressional Black Caucus.

Ms. Berry, one of the fired civil rights commissioners, said if the House and Senate cannot reverse Reagan's action, "the commission ought to be allowed to expire" because its independence would be irreparably undermined.

In defense of Reagan, Sen. Orrin Hatch, R-Utah, accused Democrats and civil rights groups of playing politics with the civil rights commission issue.

"I don't blame the president for doing it," Hatch said. "I don't think he should be abused for exerting his authority."

WORLD IN BRIEF

Demonstrators Demand U.S. Bases Be Shut Down

MANILA, Philippines (UPI) — More than 500 demonstrators, led by an American Indian and a drum-beating Japanese monk, marched on the U.S. Embassy today to demand the removal of America's largest overseas military bases.

The marchers stopped outside the embassy gate for a peaceful, two-hour rally against "American imperialism" and the spread of nuclear weapons.

Leaders charged that the five U.S. bases in the Philippines helped prop up the 18-year-old regime of President Ferdinand Marcos.

There was no official reaction from the embassy.

The United States operates two major military bases in the Philippines — Clark Air Base, home of the 13th Air Force, and Subic Bay Naval Base, a 7th Fleet logistics and supply center.

The two bases are the largest of their kind outside the United States. More than 15,000 U.S. service personnel work at the two main bases and three smaller installations, all of them just north of Manila, the capital.

Rebels Kill 13

SAN SALVADOR, El Salvador (UPI) — Rebels attacked a 150-man army column near a key city north of the capital, killing 13 troops and wounding 30 others, military officials said.

Officials near Suchitoto, a strategic city 30 miles north of San Salvador, said the army column was operating on the slopes of the Guazapa volcano Tuesday when the attack occurred.

Suchitoto lies only a few miles from two hydroelectric dams that supply more than half of the country's electric power. Rebels have controlled the only road leading into the city since Oct. 16.

Also Tuesday, Salvadoran Attorney General Mario Adalberto Rivera urged that trial proceedings begin immediately against five former national guardsmen accused of murdering four American churchwomen on Dec. 2, 1980.

Maryknoll sisters Ita Ford and Maura Clarke, Ursuline nun Dorothy Kazel and Jean Donovan, a social worker affiliated to the Ursuline order, were all shot in the head.

Was U.S. invasion Of Grenada Legal?

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Congressional critics are questioning the legal basis for the U.S. invasion of Grenada, particularly the use by administration officials of a little-known agreement among several Caribbean nations to justify the assault.

In explaining the action to reporters, Secretary of State George Shultz invoked Article 8 of the Organization of Eastern Caribbean States charter, which sets up a defense and security committee for the collective defense of the participating nations.

But that organization is practically unknown and is not listed in the CIA's annual "World Factbook" as one of the organizations to which Grenada or any other Caribbean nation belongs.

Signatories to the Caribbean charter are Antigua, Dominica, Grenada, Montserrat, St. Lucia, St. Kitts-Nevis

(also known as St. Christopher-Nevis) and St. Vincent. The United States is not a signatory.

However, both the United States and Grenada are members of the much more prominent Organization of American States, whose charter prohibits any state from intervening militarily or otherwise in the internal affairs of another OAS country.

The chairman of the OAS's Permanent Council, Salazar Paredes of Bolivia, told The Washington Post in an interview published today that "any intervention, regardless of the motives, would constitute a violation of the (OAS) charter."

The OAS has "only two alternatives: either to endorse the action or to repudiate it," he said.

When questioned by reporters, Shultz did not address the OAS charter. Instead he focused on the Eastern Caribbean States charter and a request by members of that Caribbean organization for the United States to lead the multinational invasion of Grenada.

But Barnes said not all of the conditions of the Caribbean agreement were met. One, for instance, apparently requires that any action get unanimous consent of the signatories, which obviously did not happen in Grenada's case.

A congressional source familiar with Latin American affairs also criticized Shultz's effort to invoke the little-known agreement.

"We're not a signatory of the (Caribbean) charter, but we are a signatory and one of main authors of the OAS charter, of which we are clearly in violation," said the source, who asked not to be identified.

Another portion of the Caribbean document, Article 14, calls for the peaceful settlement of disputes among member states and provides for different mechanisms to attain that end.

"I think it's quite clear Article 14 was never invoked," the congressional source said.

Furthermore, two of the Caribbean countries that Pentagon sources said participated in the invasion — Jamaica and Barbados — are not signatories.

On Monday, Shultz, testifying about Lebanon before members of both houses of Congress, said, "At stake is the right of a small country to decide for itself how to achieve its sovereign objectives free of outside pressure, threat or blackmail."

Asked on Tuesday why the same standard did not apply to Grenada, he responded: "To all intents and purposes, there is no semblance of government. There is a vacuum, the only government being a 'shoot-on-sight' curfew."

...Marine Recruits Say They're Ready To Go To Beirut

peace-keeping force that they were unable to prevent or lessen the tragedy when a bomb-laden truck was rammed into their headquarters by a driver on a suicide mission.

As peace-keepers their weapons were unloaded. "The kicker of the whole thing is they could have shot at the truck," Moon said. "But when they saw it coming they had to remove their magazines from their magazine pouch, put them into the weapon, cock the weapon and then begin firing."

All that takes about nine seconds, Moon said. "It was enough for the truck to pass them by."

Loaded weapons would have been seen as aggravating to the situation, Moon said.

Moon said the Marines have a few plans up their sleeve so they won't be such sitting ducks next time.

With help from army artillery units, the Marines will be provided equipment that can catch the flash of sniper fire and pinpoint the position from where it came.

"Then we drop a 6-inch bomb on their head and blow 'em to hell," Moon said.

He said the Marines will not go into the bush on seek and destroy missions, because then they would be taking an aggressor's role and, despite the tragedy, the mission remains a peace-keeping one.

"But if they shoot at us and we know where it's coming from, we'll blow 'em away — in a heartbeat."

Moon said he's confident President Reagan is right in his decision to keep the Marines in Lebanon.

"He's our Commander-in-Chief and we will go where he commands. But I firmly believe we should be there."

Moon's recruits may all agree with him, but opinions differed on the Seminole Community College campus.

During one of his regular speaking engagements at SCC Tuesday, Moon said comments from students were mostly "we oughta get out of there."

Moon said he doesn't know for sure if any of his recruits are in Beirut, but some probably are. He specifically knows of one who was on a ship and about to disembark there.

But he said unless the men contact him he loses track of them after they attend boot camp.

He did say two Seminole County mothers have called him seeking information on their sons and one woman called about her nephew. Unfortunately, Moon said, he was unable to help.

Normally, he said, the Marine Corps notifies families within 24 hours of a death or serious injury.

But in this case the corps records were being kept in the building that was bombed and demolished. That included medical and dental records, so identifying the bodies has been a nightmare.

"It's a sad task," Moon said. "We are a band of brothers. It hurts every Marine to have one of his comrades fall."

Expiration Of Law Slows Arms Production

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The expiration last month of a little-known law has Pentagon officials concerned about stalled production of strategic nuclear weapons.

The act affects the production of everything from atomic weapons to the planes and submarines needed to carry them, deals with foreign military sales to allies that depend on the good will of the United States to fulfill its pledges and authorizes the deployment of military forces in peace and war.

The Defense Production Act of 1950, which routinely has been renewed by Congress every year or two for the past 33 years, expired this year on Sept. 30 due to a holdup in congressional committees debating the law.

The immediate impact of the law's expiration has been the inability of the Pentagon since Oct. 1 to insert a routine clause in each of its defense contracts that gives defense production priority over consumer goods made by the same company, according to a Pentagon official familiar with the issue.

While the priority rating in the marketplace in peacetime is not designed to take "the candy away from the consumer," as the official said, it ensures that contractors obligate themselves to meet production schedules.

More significantly, the "underlying skeleton" for the priority rates is that it serves to guarantee the nation's defense industry will be able to boost production of weapons and other material in the event of war, the official said.

There are two priorities for defense production under the law: DX for "highest national urgency priority rated weapons programs" and DO, for contracts dealing with all other military goods and equipment. The DX rating affects about 25 percent of all defense purchases.

Among the DX-rated items are the MX missile, B-1 bomber, Trident missile submarine and the M-1 tank.

"We no longer have priorities," the official said. "I expect things to continue as they have been, but we would like to have it (the priority clause) to assist us in breaking any logjam that may develop. We're unable to put that authority in new contracts."

He was asked how much longer the Pentagon can continue without using the law's muscle.

"We've gone on too long already," he replied. "It's a serious situation. We're a little bit wrapped around the axle up there in Congress, but we hope the dust will settle."

Former White House Aide Says

Rescue Effort Will Not Save Social Security From Collapse

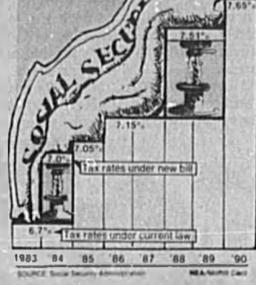

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Despite the latest rescue effort, the Social Security system can be expected to suffer another financial collapse, a former White House aide says.

Peter Ferrara, a one-time Reagan policy aide and now a Washington lawyer, says the rescue effort will fail unless Congress and the administration adopt general tax and monetary reforms.

Supporters of the $165 billion rescue package signed into law by President Reagan last April have said they expect the measure to erase the Social Security system's debts for at least 75 years. The plan requires higher payroll taxes, calls for some pensioners to pay income taxes on their Social Security benefits and gradually raises the retirement age to 67 in the next century.

But Ferrara, writing in the Journal of the Institute for Socioeconomic Studies in White Plains, N.Y., said: "The program

PAYROLL TAX CHANGES

A key feature of the effort to restore the ailing Social Security system to fiscal health is a provision to accelerate payroll tax increase can be expected to collapse again. "This can be expected to occur within five years if an inflation-recession cycle returns right after the present recovery or ... within 15 years if the return of such a cycle is delayed," he adds.

In his article, Ferrara questions the financial projections used by backers of the new law.

He theorizes that stiffer payroll taxes will not raise Social Security revenues to the level supporters have predicted.

Instead, he says, the higher taxes will "substantially harm the economy and lower employment."

Ferrara recommends giving retired workers government bonds to ensure them of their benefits, granting tax-exempt status to retirement benefits paid out of Individual Retirement Accounts, and allowing workers to shift their Social Security tax money into an IRA in exchange for a future reduction in their Social Security benefits.

Heating With Gas This Winter Will Cost More

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Home heating bills will be $131 higher this winter than last year if the United States has normal temperatures for the next five months, a consumer-labor group reports in an 80-city survey of natural gas rates.

The Citizen-Labor Energy Coalition forecast a 21 percent rise in average natural gas bills for the November to March cold weather season — from $332 last winter to $764 this winter.

About one-third of the increased heating costs projected by the group are due to rate increases, while two-thirds is due to the expectation of normal winter weather. Last winter was unusually warm in most parts of the nation, resulting in substantially lower heating bills.

"Because last winter was warmer than normal, many of last year's large rate increases were made by the lower levels of consumption," said the coalition, a union-funded nationwide organization. "Even though rate increases have moderated, and in some parts of the country even declined, a normal winter — even assuming a 2 percent increase in conservation — will result in substantially higher gas bills in most parts of the nation," the study said.

The report found areas facing the highest increases, due both to higher rates and the likelihood of a normal winter, are:

- Flint, Mich., up 63 percent from $467 last winter to $759 this winter.
- Birmingham, Ala., up 53 percent from $329 last winter to $501 this winter.
- San Diego, Calif., up 46 percent from $170 last winter to $251 this winter.

Congress Reacts

Grenada: Republicans Cautiously Approve; Some Democrats Angered

By John F. Barton

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Republicans and the leadership in Congress generally voiced cautious support for President Reagan's decision to invade Grenada, but many Democrats bitterly criticized the largest U.S. military operation since the Vietnam War.

Democrats were angered by what one called Reagan's "cowboy mentality" and wondered why Congress was not advised in advance of the attack Tuesday and whether Americans on the Caribbean island were really in danger, one of the reasons President Reagan cited for the invasion.

But House Speaker Thomas O'Neill — frequently one of Reagan's harshest critics — refused to join the chorus of dissenting Democrats. "I have no intent to get into any type of dialogue critical of my government at this time," O'Neill said.

Sen. John Tower, R-Texas, chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee, said, "Given our vital interests in the island and the grave concern of friendly states in the area we had no practical alternative."

"I think that President Reagan acted correctly and responsibly in his capacity as president and commander in chief of the armed forces," Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., said.

But Democrats questioned everything about the invasion — from whether Reagan acted legally to whether such a response to a country just twice the size of Washington, D.C., was needed.

"Both the legitimacy of the Reagan administration's invasion of Grenada and the credibility of its explanations for that action are open to question," said Sen. Carl Levin, D-Mich.

Rep. Clarence Long, D-Md., chairman of the House foreign operations subcommittee, called Grenada "a postage stamp country" whose invasion was "a case of the elephant being scared of a mouse." But he said many colleagues felt "bafflement" more than anger.

"This kind of cowboy mentality has very dangerous implications," said Rep. Ronald Dellums, D-Calif.

"It's just supply-side foreign policy," Rep. Dennis Eckart, D-Ohio, said. "We supply the arms, we supply the munitions... and now we supply the bodies."

Rep. Michael Barnes, D-Md., chairman of the House Subcommittee on Western Hemisphere Affairs, called the invasion "an act of war" that raises serious international legal questions.

Lebanon: Policies Are Not Working

Congress continues to react to the tragedy in Lebanon by questioning the Reagan administration's policies.

Rep. Michael Barnes, D-Md., said Reagan should address a joint session of Congress to explain the mission and goals of the U.S. presence in Lebanon.

Barnes said Secretary of State George Shultz, who met with congressional leaders Monday, failed to provide a "satisfactory response" and "the answers to these questions need to come from the president himself so that the American people can understand the rationale behind the deployment of U.S. troops in Lebanon."

Barnes said that during the meeting with Shultz, "one member stood up and told the secretary, 'You're wrong. Your policies are not working.'"

Rep. Clarence Long, D-Md., said he will offer an amendment to the defense appropriations bill, due for House action in the next few days, cutting off funds for the Marine operation in Lebanon.

"I would like to cut off the money and insist they get out of there," Long said.

"We should consider repealing what we did a few weeks ago" when Congress approved an 18-month extension for the Marines' stay in Lebanon, declared Sen. David Pryor, D-Ark.

Sen. Ernest Hollings, D-S.C., a candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination, said, "We should admit we've made a mistake, get together with our allies and come up with a plan to bring our troops home within 60 days."

Sen. Sam Nunn said, "We should get the United Nations to take our place over a period of the next several weeks."

Sen. Gary Hart, D-Colo., campaigning for president in Ames, Iowa, also called for the withdrawal of land-based U.S. Marines from Lebanon, saying they have become "sitting ducks" rather than peace-keepers.

Speaker Thomas O'Neill, who strongly supported President Reagan's request for an 18-month extension for the Marine contingent, said "If we were to pull out of there today, it would be a victory not only for Syria, it would be a victory for the Russians.

French President Francois Mitterrand is protected by French paratroopers as he visits the collapsed building where scores of French soldiers were killed Sunday. He is accompanied by his Defense Minister, Charles Hernu.

"I just don't think it's a time for Americans to back down from terrorism," O'Neill said.

Senate GOP leader Howard Baker added, "We should not leave at the point of a gun and I would stoutly resist that. We should keep our powder dry."

Sen. Charles Percy, R-Ill., chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said, "I do not feel in a mood to just cut and run."

But Senate Democratic leader Robert Byrd called on Reagan to explain, "Why it is so important that we have our boys over there" and added, "We ought to do everything we can to hasten the departure of our boys from Lebanon."

Sen. Claiborne Pell, D-R.I., in a telephone conversation Monday on a Providence radio station talk show, said of the Marines, "The mission assigned to our people there is mission impossible."

COSMETIC BONDING

Bonding is the most sought after technique in cosmetic dentistry today. Recent improvements in dental materials and techniques for "Direct Bonding" and "Veneering" have opened up new areas of creativity in cosmetic dentistry. Often without preparing the tooth or injections, we are able to: Lighten, lengthen and widen teeth; restore chips in tooth enamel; eliminate gaps and spaces; and even cosmetically "straighten" teeth.

In many instances we can replace worn or darkened "silver" fillings with tooth colored fillings which are indistinguishable from natural tooth enamel. Bonding is also used as a means of preventing decay. It is painted on as a sealant to correct defects in the enamel of primary and permanent teeth. Left untreated, these defects may trap food and plaque, inviting early decay.

The bonding materials is a strong, new acrylic in paste form. Each layer is hardened in minutes, and after the last coat the tooth is shaped and polished. In cases where the paste approach would not be enough — badly damaged front teeth, for instance — thin acrylic shells or laminated veneers, can be bonded to the teeth. This, of course, amounts to an individual decision.

While bonding is a wonderful technique, it is not yet the perfect solution to all dental restorative problems. In situations where a large portion of the tooth surface is damaged, bonding may not be as advisable as veneer crowns. Also, the veneering materials are not considered "permanent" in the same sense as porcelain or gold crowns. Bonding does, however, provide an attractive and affordable solution to many cosmetic dental needs.

We're excited about bonding and we'll be happy to answer your questions about how it may fit into your smile. Ask us if you have further questions.

The American Family Is Still Solid: Report

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Despite high divorce rates, large numbers of unmarried couples living together and the downcast prophecies of conservative critics, the American family is in no danger of extinction, a new study has found.

"Most Americans still regard the family as central to their well-being and happiness," said the study by the private Population Reference Bureau.

"Although future changes in the family could actually bring more rather than fewer problems, the resilience of the family amidst the changes of the past demonstrates the ability of family life to adapt in a changing role," it said.

The 43-page report, "The Changing American Family," was written by Arland Thornton and Deborah Freedman of the University of Michigan.

It found both continuity and change in current family patterns and even some of the changes, it said, were "new twists" on old patterns.

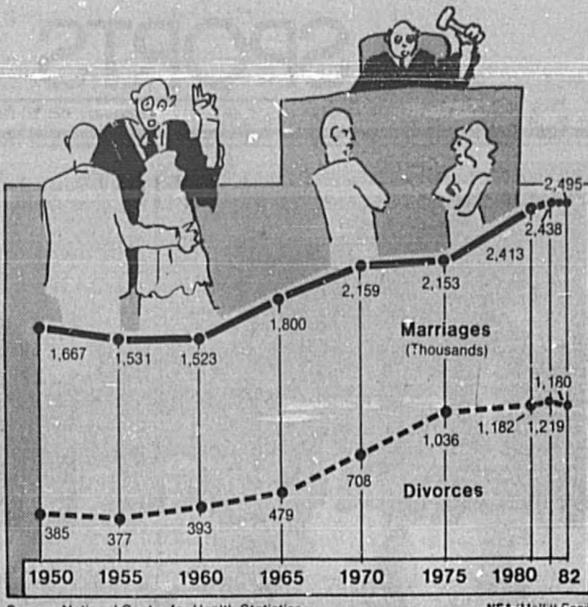

In the study, the two reported a stabilizing of the divorce rate, but found at the same time that "half of all recent first marriages will end in divorce if the current rate continues."

They reported one of every three white children and two of every three black children born in the late 1970s will experience the breakup of their parents' marriages before they are 16 years old. Nine of 10 children of divorce live with their mothers and most live in a fatherless home for at least five years, the report said.

Mothers without a current husband also are more likely than ever to maintain independence from parents and other relatives, the study found.

Thornton and Ms. Freedman said the current low marriage rate is a repeat of the past. Median age at first marriage has risen to slightly over 22 for white women and it appears, they said, that at least 10 percent will never marry — close to the figures for white women born in the 1880s.

There is little difference, however, in attitudes toward the division of labor between wives and husbands, they said. Surveys continue to show that young Americans believe men should always be involved in fulltime employment while women should combine outside jobs with primary responsibility for home and child care.

Source: National Center for Health Statistics

Despite a liberalization of attitudes toward divorce, the relationship between marriage and divorce rates in America has remained fairly stable over three decades.

Goliath's Poor Health May Have Aided David

BOSTON (UPI) — David may have found Goliath a pushover because the Philistine giant was in poor health, suffering from a rare growth disorder, doctors said today.

In a letter to the New England Journal of Medicine, a husband and wife team from Vanderbilt University in Nashville theorized Goliath may have suffered from a disorder that causes tumors to grow in the endocrine glands that help regulate the body's growth and functions.

"It would explain why Goliath was so large, why he couldn't really see David and why he was felled by a small rock from a slingshot," said psychiatrist Pauline Rabin who formulated the theory with her endocrinologist husband, David Rabin.

The Rabins postulated that Goliath suffered from multiple endocrine neoplasia, a hereditary disorder that causes tumor growth in endocrine glands.

The Rabins said the disease causes tumors in the pituitary gland and pressure from such a tumor may have cut down Goliath's vision, not allowing him to take much heed of David.

The disease also causes tumors of the pancreas and that could lead to low blood sugar — which would weaken a person.

"The Scriptures says that David took a little stone from a river — and I take that to mean a pebble — and hit Goliath in the forehead," Mrs. Rabin said.

"Such a cyst would be a softer spot and allow the pebble to penetrate into his brain, killing him instantly." "So it could be said that David may have had an assist from God via Goliath's poor health."

Lucarelli Runs Into 3rd Spot; Caughell 1 Ahead Of Henley

Lake Mary junior halfback Charlie Lucarelli picked up 121 yards on just six carries against Mainland to move into third place on the county rushing list with 437 yards.

After a readjustment in the tackle and assists department, a "corrected" Bill Caughell of Lake Mary is just one tackle and assist ahead of Lyman's Mike Henley, 75-74. Caughell was listed with 25 solos and nine assists last week, which was wrong.

Lake Mary's Donald Grayson (receiving) and Darin Slack (passing) continue to lead the county in their categories.

Ex-Seminole Edmonds Faces Tough Task With Tennis Team

Jim Edmonds is a coach with a few problems. The tennis coach at Seminole High School is facing the coming season with the stark realization that he has no facilities, few players, and a schedule that could prove to be brutal.

This would probably be enough to get most coaches down, but add the fact that when Lake Mary High School opened its doors a couple of years ago Seminole lost many promising tennis prospects and you've added salt to an already sore wound.

Instead of giving up on the tennis program at Seminole, though, Edmonds has chosen to simply work harder and build from the ground up to once again bring a quality tennis program to Seminole High.

His plan is simple, work, work, work. Edmonds is now holding voluntary practices each week day from 2:15-4:00 p.m. for members of his team. The facilities being used are city courts and these are on a first come first serve basis.

He said his overall plans call for getting as many 9th and 10th graders as possible to start in the program and build for the future. Many successful programs in all sports operate this way in high school and unless the school happens to be in a talent rich area like Lake Mary, Lake Brantley or Winter Park — it is the only way to have a decent program.

Edmonds is not afraid of hard work. The 22-year-old coach is a 1978 graduate of Seminole High where he was a standout member of the football team. Football was his sport then and tennis was just something that he tried once in awhile. After graduating from Seminole, Edmonds received a football scholarship to Sterling College in Sterling, Kan. a starter.

Edmonds played tight end on a team that went 6-5 for the season. While at Sterling, Edmonds was asked to play on the tennis team because they needed bodies to fill out the squad. At this point Edmonds was bitten by the tennis bug and has been working very hard at it since. His rise as a competitive player has been phenomenal. He has won the Bayhead singles title for the past two years and would have to rate as one of the top three or four players in Sanford.

Again, his rise as a tennis player has simply been hard work. In the past three years Edmonds has played almost every day while working as an assistant at Bayhead and coaching at Seminole High this year and last.

He is about half way through his work toward a degree and hopes to get a B.S. from UCF so that he can land a full time teaching-coaching position in the county.

In the future, Edmonds is hoping to keep Sanford's homegrown talent at home and build a successful program for the Fighting Seminoles.

Big Play Lifts St. Cloud Over Seminole Frosh, 7-6

Prep Football

The Seminole freshman football team racked up more than 200 yards rushing Tuesday night, but managed only six points for all those yards. On the other hand, St. Cloud's Bulldogs didn't gain as much yards as the Seminoles, but one big play was all the Bulldogs needed in a 7-6 victory over the Tribe Frosh at St. Cloud.

Seminole ended the season with a 3-3 record after winning its first three games.

Seminole used its potent rushing attack to mount a scoring threat early in the second quarter. The Tribe drove deep into St. Cloud territory, but a fumble stalled the drive. Neither team came within striking distance again in the first half and the score stood at 0-0 at halftime.

The Tribe came out fast in the second half and put together the first touchdown drive of the night. Quarterback Dwayne Willis hooked up with Eddie Banks on a 33-yard touchdown pass for a 6-0 Seminole lead. The two point conversion failed, and that would come back to haunt the Tribe.

Late in the third quarter, with Seminole still holding a 6-0 lead, St. Cloud struck for its touchdown. It wasn't any long drive though, the Bulldogs erased all the Seminoles had built up with just one play, a 67-yard touchdown pass. The extra point was good and the Bulldogs had a 7-6 lead, and it held up the rest of the way.

Seminole didn't threaten to score again as it faced poor field position the entire fourth quarter.

Troy Turner led the Seminole rushing attack with 104 yards on 11 carries. Dwayne Wright picked up 54 yards while Stewart Gordon added 51. Defensively, Turner led the way with eight solo tackles and seven assists, including one quarterback sack. Banks added six solos and five assists and he also came up with an interception. Sonny Osborne chipped in six solos and six assists and Antoine Cockerhan had six solos and five assists.

DeLand Upends Lady Tribe In 3

By Chris Fister Herald Sports Writer

The Seminole High volleyball team came within two points of knocking off Five Star Conference leader DeLand, but the Lady Bulldogs came back strong to take a 8-15, 15-13, 15-9 victory over the Lady Seminoles Tuesday night at Seminole High. In the first game of the tri-match, Seminole outlasted Apopka, 15-11, 15-10.

With the victory, DeLand finished the season with a 8-1 conference mark and clinched the top seed in next week's district tournament at Lake Mary High. Seminole finished the regular season with a 5-4 conference mark. Seminole could still be seeded third in the district tourney if Lake Howell beats Lake Brantley Thursday night. Lake Howell will be the second seed in the tourney.

"In the second game, our coverage in the back row and up the middle was weak," Seminole coach Beth Corso said. "We have the potential and hopefully we'll play up to it next week in the district tournament."

After winning the opening game Seminole almost won the match without even playing a second game. DeLand coach Clifford Cox didn't like a few of the officials' calls in the first game, and he vehemently let them know about it. Seminole was awarded one point in the first game because of an unsportsmanlike conduct penalty against Cox and the official awarded Seminole a point before the second game started for another unsportsmanlike conduct penalty against Cox. The official then warned Cox that one more outburst would cause DeLand to forfeit the match. Cox got the message and kept his yap shut most of the rest of the match.

Seminole had a 13-9 lead and the serve in the second game, but DeLand refused to fold. Seminole's Beth Nelson had one of the most impressive all-around games of the season. Nelson had a string of 10 straight serves in the opening game and had some key spikes in the second and third games.

The Lady Bulldogs built a 6-0 lead early in the first game before a missed spike gave Seminole the serve. Nelson then took over, and her blistering serve was too much for DeLand to handle.

Nelson served 10 straight points, seven of which weren't returned, as Seminole built a 10-6 lead. After Cox called a time out, DeLand's second during Nelson's serve, Leslie Voll came up with a spike to break Nelson's string and give DeLand the serve.

The teams traded serves a few times before Voll served a pair of points to cut Seminole's lead to 10-8. Dee Goblebecker then took the serve for Seminole and a Gene Stallworth spike gave the Lady Tribe a 11-8 lead.

DeLand got the serve back but a missed block gave it back to Seminole. Cox didn't think his player touched the ball on the missed block and, after his first temper tantrum, Seminole was given a point and a 12-8 lead. Stallworth then served an ace to make it 13-8 and two DeLand miscues enabled the Lady Tribe to win the opening game, 15-8.

Between games, Cox had another dispute with the officials and his second unsportsmanlike act resulted in a point for Seminole before the second game even started. Seminole took a 2-0 lead on Goblebecker's serve, but it was a back and forth struggle until Seminole regained the serve, leading 8-6.

With Janet Hauck serving, Seminole increased its lead to 10-6 and, after a Stallworth spike gave the serve back to the Lady Tribe, Keri Lake served three straight points for a 13-6 lead.

DeLand cut it to 13-9 before another Stallworth spike gave it back to the Seminoles. DeLand's Bridgette Gordon then came through with a spike to give the serve back to the Lady Bulldogs, and they cut the Tribe's lead to 13-10 before a spike by Nelson gave the serve back to Seminole.

Seminole couldn't score on Stallworth's serve and a dink by Gordon gave it back to DeLand. Robin Swartz then served five straight points, the final two on booming spikes by Gordon, as DeLand forced a third game with a 15-13 victory.

The Lady Bulldogs came out blazing in the third game and built a 10-0 lead, eight coming on Voll's serve, with a pair of key blocks and two spikes by Gordon leading the way.

Nelson's spike gave Seminole the serve and Stallworth served five straight points to cut DeLand's lead to 10-5. The fifth point came on another nice spike by Nelson.

DeLand scored a couple points on its next serve to take a 12-5 lead, but the Lady Tribe got the serve back on when DeLand missed the block on a Nelson spike. Nelson then took over the serve and the Tribe reeled off four straight points to cut DeLand's lead to 12-9.

SEC Title Could Ride On Auburn-Florida Outcome

AUBURN, Ala. (UPI) — Auburn Coach Pat Dye said Tuesday he hopes his fifth-ranked Tigers will get some breaks and not have any turnovers in their upcoming Southeastern Conference matchup with No. 4 Florida.

The SEC championship could ride on the outcome of Saturday's contest between the Tigers, 6-1, and the Gators, 6-0-1. Both teams are undefeated in conference play with three victories each.

"Needless to say, we have our work cut out for us," said Dye. "I don't think there is anything specific in our game plan against Florida, we just have to go out there and execute and play hard and hope we come up with some breaks. I think that is what will probably decide the game."

Dye said he expects a "highly emotional" and "hard hitting" game in which the Tigers must avoid turnovers, maintain a strong kicking game, be aggressive on defense and play "60 minutes of solid football."

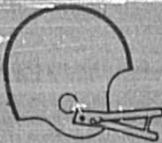

"Any time you are in contention for a conference championship, it boils down to this," he said. "If we hope to control our own destiny, we have to win it."

Dye characterized Florida as the "most versatile and powerful team" on the Tigers' schedule, noting the Gators have rushed for over 200 yards per game and they passed for about the same distance.

"They have a great quarterback in Wayne Peace and two fine running backs in John Williams and Neal Anderson. Their offensive line from tackle to tackle is probably bigger than anyone we have played against," he said.

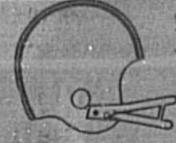

Dye labelled the Gator defense as "big, strong and physical" and he singled out Wilbur Marshall and Alonzo Johnson as "very talented."

Week 5

4 Junior Pee Wees Deadlocked — Carlson Finds End Zone Gold

SYSA Football

The Seminole Youth Sports Association football program has its good teams and its bad. Then, there are always those teams which hang around the .500 mark.

The SYSA, though, hasn't had too many divisions like the Junior Pee Wee, which is shaping up to be one of the toughest, head-to-head battles in the history of the league.

No less than four teams — Tuskawilla Blue and Gold, Milwee and South Seminole — are deadlocked for the top spot with 4-1 records. Tuskawilla Blue did have a game lead on the rest until it was upset by Milwee, 12-0, in a rain-soaked Saturday of action last week. South Seminole smothered Lakeview, 34-0, and Tuskawilla Gold blanked Teague, 14-0, to forge the four-way tie.

This Saturday, South Seminole meets Tuskawilla Blue with the loser falling into second place. Tuskawilla Gold has a chance to hold onto first as it plays Jackson Heights while Milwee battles Lakeview with the same opportunity.

Milwee Junior Pee Wees 12, Tuskawilla Blue 0
Todd Cleveland ran 33 yards for a touchdown and Scott Yurchison followed up with a 40-yard dash with just 35 seconds to play as Milwee blanked Tuskawilla Gold to grab a share of first place.

Yurchison led the Milwee runners with 67 yards on 10 carries while Cleveland galloped for 64 on 16 attempts. Yurchison also added eight tackles to pace a strong defensive effort.

Tuskawilla Gold Junior Pee Wees 14, Teague 0
Todd Carlson ran for 111 yards in just five carries for one touchdown and kicked a two-point PAT as the Gold blanked Teague.

Carlson also completed 4 of 6 passes for 28 yards as Tim Benjamin and Craig Doyle each pulled one in. Carlson ran his touchdown total to eight for the year and also returned a fumble 17 yards. Jon Machules added 80 yards on nine totes.

Carlson ran for a 46-yard TD in the opening minutes of the second quarter and Ryan Lonzeal capped the scoring when he went in for a fourth-period TD behind the blocking of Larry Kaehler, Robby Wilson, Rafael Valle and Doyle.

Milwee Pee Wees 19, Tuskawilla Blue 6
Todd Patterson accounted for three TDs as Milwee improved to 5-0 with a win over Tuskawilla.

Patterson carried for over 100 yards while Paul Bowen added 80 for coach Tom Demps' undefeated crew. Tuskawilla took a 6-0 lead in the first half, but Milwee bounced back with three scores to sew up the game.

Defensively, Bowen intercepted two passes and Thomas Demps had a fumble recovery. "Corey Anderson ran for some tough yards and Scott McKissock played error-free ball at quarterback," said Demps.

Lakeview Midgets 31, South Seminole 0

Coach Wes Childers' Midgets rolled to their fourth straight win by trouncing South Seminole as Lenard Edwards scored two touchdowns.

Edwards caught a 30-yard TD pass from Tarance Carr and ran 30 yards for his second score as Lakeview tallied all its points in the first half.

Dorcy Williams opened the scoring with a seven-yard run. Kenny Batton recovered a fumble and zipped in for another score from 10 yards out. Jarod Jones finished the scoring with a 30-yard run and Carr ran in the extra point.

Jones led all rushers with 120 yards on six carries. Carr added 60 on four.

Defensively, Batton had two fumble recoveries and eight tackles while Williams had one recovery and six tackles. Tracey Turner added eight tackles.

Lakeview Mitey Mites 33, South Seminole 0
Phillip King and Corey Bennett scored two touchdowns each and Anthony Roberts added one as coach Willie Collier's Mitey Mites improved to 5-0 with an easy victory over South Seminole.

King ran for 68 yards in seven carries while Bennett added 62 on six. Roberts logged 38 yards on five carries. Jamie King, Jones Paul and Kevin Johnson had fumble recoveries while Jermaine Hartsfield was the leading tackler.

Lakeview Junior Midgets 19, South Seminole 0
The combination of quarterback Jeff Blake and wideout Terrance Eaddy clicked for one TD. Blake ran for another and Eric Williams tallied on an eight-yard run as the Junior Midgets ran their record to 4-0.

Blake hit Eaddy with a 20-yard scoring toss in the third quarter to snap a 0-0 deadlock during the driving rain. Blake then scored on a 21-yard keeper in the fourth period and Williams added an insurance TD from eight yards out. A Blake pass to Carlos Hartsfield accounted to the PAT after the second score.

Hartsfield set up the second score when he zoomed 35 yards on a reverse to the eight-yard line. Blake completed 6 of 13 passes for 112. Hartsfield caught three for 69, Eaddy two for 30 and Williams one for 13 for coach Tommy Thompson's powerhouse.

Jackson Heights Midgets 20, Rock Lake 14
David Mitchell returned a kickoff 85 yards for a touchdown and rushed for 123 yards as Jackson Heights improved to 4-1.

Andy Devine also scored on a 25-yard run and Aaron Gammons returned an interception 40 yards for another score. Robble King booted the two-point conversion.

Jackson Heights Junior Midgets 22, Rock Lake 8
Steve King ran for Rock Lake's only score in the third quarter, but Jackson Heights received two TDs from Clinton Dunston and one from B.J. Mason while Rodney Thompson boomed two PAT kicks.

Derrick Sims led the Rock Lake rushers with 31 yards on six tries while King added 26 on five. Mike Amato chipped in 26 on four. Clark Nash caught a pass from Sims for nine yards and Peter Fowler corraled one for 12.

Coach Anthony Mays' Bobcats received 134 yards from Dunston on five carries and 103 yards from Thompson on seven. John Pettit completed 4 of 5 passes for three TDs.

Rock Lake Pee Wees 12, Jackson Heights 8
Rock Lake took an intentional safety, then relied on its defense in the last 50 seconds to hold off Jackson Heights.

Kevin Hinshaw opened the Raider scoring when he snared a 23-yard pass from David Swain and chugged in for a TD. Jackson Heights came back with a 70-yard touchdown run by Travis Hill to knot the score, but Keith Stimpson returned an interception 33 yards for the game-winning score.

Hinshaw ran for 43 yards on nine tries and Kent Brubaker added 16 on two. Matt Jittell, Larry J. J. and M.R. Horne added 15. Mark Madigan completed passes to Hall (15) and Kevin Newton (13). Ricky Vaughn and Kevin Hall each had nine tackles for the Bobcats.

Jackson Heights Mitey Mites 37, Rock Lake 0
Coach Brian Smith's awesome Bobcats rolled to their fifth straight win over Rock Lake by building a 25-0 halftime lead and coasting home.

McGill Hodges raced for three TDs on runs of 50, 30 and eight yards while Steve Whitley scored on a 25-yard pass from Ervin Alexander. Alexander also scored on a 20-yard run while Terry Smith scooted in from 40 yards out.

The Bobcat defense did not allow the Raiders a first down.

Saturday's SYSA matchups at Lake Sylvan Park are Rock Lake vs. Teague, South Seminole vs. Tuskawilla Blue, Tuskawilla Gold vs. Jackson Heights and Milwee vs. Lakeview. Games begin at 9 a.m. and run day-long.

Surgery Won't Effect Rivera's Paralysis

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — Doctors say Pittsburgh Steelers rookie defensive lineman Gabriel Rivera needs spinal surgery to avoid serious complications but the operation will have no effect on his paralysis, which appears to be permanent.

Dr. Daniel L. Diamond, head of general surgery and the trauma unit at Allegheny General Hospital, told a news conference Tuesday that Rivera, 22, is paralyzed from the chest down with immobility his biggest enemy now.

Diamond said the surgery, tentatively planned within "the next few days," would stabilize Rivera's spine and allow doctors to move him around and fight possible infection to his heart and lungs.

Rivera, the Steelers' top draft choice last spring, was injured Thursday night in a two-car, head-on collision in suburban Ross Township. His condition remained "serious but stable" Tuesday.

Diamond said Rivera also injured a nerve in his right arm that has left him with weakness in that limb, a bruised heart, fractured ribs on both sides of the chest with a punctured right lung, "serious contusions" to both lungs.

He said the paralysis was caused by a fractured and dislocated vertebrae in his upper back.

Gophers' Coach Resigns

MINNEAPOLIS (UPI) — University of Minnesota football coach Joe Salem Tuesday announced his resignation but said he will guide the injury-riddled 1-6 team through the end of the season.

The Gophers have lost 13 Big Ten games in a row. They beat Rice in the season opener, then dropped six straight.

Holmes To Fight Frazier

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI) — Larry Holmes will defend his World Boxing Council heavyweight championship against undefeated Marvin Frazier on Nov. 25 at Caesars Palace. It was announced Tuesday.

The nationally televised championship bout (NBC) will be held in the 15,000-seat outdoor arena at Caesars Palace and will begin about 10 p.m. EDT.

Muhammad indicated it would be Holmes' last fight, even though the champion reportedly has signed to fight No. 1 contender Greg Page in February for rival promoter Don King.

Holmes, WBC heavyweight champion since June, 1978, has a record of 44-0. Frazier, son of former heavyweight champion Joe Frazier, is 10-0.

Hoyt Named AL Cy Young Winner

A.L. Baseball

NEW YORK (UPI) — LaMarr Hoyt of the Chicago White Sox, a control specialist whose 24 victories were the most by any pitcher in the major leagues this season, Tuesday was named winner of the American League's Cy Young Award by the Baseball Writers Association of America.

The 28-year-old right-hander received 17 first place votes and 116 points from 28 members of the BBWAA — two from each AL city — and beat out relief pitcher Dan Quisenberry of the Kansas City Royals for the award. Hoyt is only the second White Sox pitcher to win the award and the first since Early Wynn in 1959.

Each writer is asked to vote for three pitchers and points are awarded on a 5-3-1 basis. Hoyt was the only pitcher named on all 28 ballots.

Quisenberry, who set a major league record with 45 saves, received nine first place votes and 81 points. Jack Morris of the Detroit Tigers finished third in the voting with 38 points followed, in order, by Richard Dotson of Chicago (9 points), Ron Guidry of New York (5) and Scott McGregor of Baltimore (3).

Hoyt was the mainstay of a pitching staff that finished third in the AL in earned run average. The burly right-hander was practically unbeatable in the second half of the season, winning his final 13 decisions to finish with a 24-10 record.

Nicknamed "The Incredible Bulk" by his teammates because of his hefty 6-foot-1, 240-pound frame, Hoyt finished third in the league in innings pitched with 260 2-3. Although his ERA of 3.66 was not among the league's top 15, his success could easily be measured by his control. He walked only 31 batters, or just slightly more than one per game.

Hoyt also won the White Sox' only game in the AL playoffs, beating the Baltimore Orioles 2-1 in the opening game. However, only regular season statistics are counted in determining the Cy Young Award winner.

Signed by the New York Yankees to his first pro contract in June of 1973, he was to be being groomed to replace Jim "Catfish" Hunter of the Yankee staff after the 1976 season when he went 15-8 with a 2.50 ERA for West Haven of the Eastern League. Shortly thereafter, he was purchased by the White Sox.

In 1979 Hoyt was promoted to Knoxville and was advised by his manager there, Tony LaRussa, that his quickest route to the big leagues would be as a relief pitcher. Hoyt worked exclusively in relief at Knoxville that season and made his major league debut as a reliever with the White Sox that year.

He opened the 1980 season at Iowa of the American Association, where he was used primarily in relief, but was called up by the White Sox early in the season and was in the big leagues to stay. Used as both a starter and reliever in 1980, Hoyt posted a 9-3 record with a 4.58 ERA.

Used almost exclusively in relief in the strike-torn 1981 season, Hoyt was the star of the White Sox bullpen with a 9-3 record and 10 saves. Hoyt began the 1982 campaign as the White Sox' short right-handed relief specialist and won his first three decisions in relief.

The schedule gave him an opportunity to start on April 27 at Milwaukee and he allowed only one earned run and four hits in an 11-2 triumph. He appeared only once in relief the rest of the season and finished the campaign as the league's top winner with a 19-15 record.

Despite his impressive season, he failed to receive a single vote in the balloting for the 1982 Cy Young Award.

In addition to his 45 saves, Quisenberry posted a 3-3 record with a 1.94 ERA in 67 appearances.

Flyers Keep Nordiques In Check, 4-2

N.H.L.

Every NHL coach knows it takes strong checking to contain the Quebec Nordiques, but only one can put Mark Howe and Rick MacLeish on the ice to get it done.

"Knowing that Quebec won 11-2 over Minnesota recently we knew we had to concentrate on our defensive play," Philadelphia Flyers Coach Bob McCammon said after his team's 4-2 victory Tuesday night.

"They have some great offensive players. The trades they have made have really improved them. But MacLeish really shut down Peter Stastny tonight and Mark Howe played an excellent game."

The Flyers ran off three goals in the second period for a 4-1 lead. Center Tim Kerr squeezed a shot between Bouchard's right pad and the goalpost at 3:03. Sutter slammed a wrist shot from the slot area that caught the upper right hand corner to make it 3-0.

Hawks 5, Bruins 1
At Chicago, Keith Brown and Darryl Sutter scored first-period goals to lead Chicago to its club-record 14th consecutive home victory. The Hawks are 7-0 at home this season. Brown put Chicago ahead 1-0 and Sutter's goal came with four seconds left in the period. Troy Murray's second-period goal gave Chicago a commanding 3-0 lead.

Capitals 1, Penguins 0
At Pittsburgh, Al Jensen turned aside all 26 Pittsburgh shots to record his first shutout of the season and Mike Gartner scored the game's only goal to lead Washington. Gartner scored at 12:18 of the first period when he backhanded a rebound of a Doug Jarvis shot past goaltender Denis Herron for his fourth goal of the season.

North Stars 4, Canadiens 3
At Montreal, Neal Broten broke a 3-3 deadlock with a fluke goal at 13:44 of the third period to help Minnesota snap a three-game losing streak. The North Stars' center, alone in corner, tried to pass the puck into a maze of players at the Montreal crease when it struck a skate and slid along the ice past surprised goaltender Richard Sevigny. The goal came just four minutes after Ryan Walter had deflected a Guy Carbonneau shot past Minnesota goalie Don Beaupre.

Jets 4, Islanders 2
At Uniondale, N.Y., Laurie Boschman scored two goals in the first 52 seconds of the third period, enabling the Jets to snap a four-game losing streak while handing New York its fourth straight defeat.

Whalers 8, Kings 5
At Inglewood, Calif., Sylvain Turgeon and Bob Crawford struck for power-play goals 28 seconds apart early in the third period to break open a close game and lead Hartford. With the score tied 3-3, the Whalers capitalized on a fighting penalty to Kings' defenseman Jay Wells to score the two goals. Blaine Stoughton scored two goals for the Whalers, while Kings' rookie Bernie Nicholls scored a hat trick.

Canucks 7, Blues 1
At Vancouver, British Columbia, rookie sensation Tony Tanti scored two goals to bring his league-leading total to 13 and lift Vancouver. St. Louis forward Jack Carlson broke Richard Brodeur's shutout bid at 13:26 of the second period.

A missed spike gave DeLand the serve and Debbie Underwood served a pair of points to give the Lady Bulldogs a 14-9 lead. A nice block by Hauck gave Seminole the serve, but, a missed serve gave it right back to DeLand and Stephanie Edwards served the last point to give the Lady Bulldogs the match.

Evening Herald, Sanford, Fl. Wednesday, Oct. 26, 1983-1B

Robin Miller B.F. Stenstrom Repeat Vows

Robin Michelle Miller and Bryan F. Stenstrom were married Oct. 15, at the United Methodist Church in Zellwood. Dr. Vincent Malkinski and the Rev. Julian Stenstrom performed the ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Miller, Zellwood. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Patricia Stenstrom, Longwood, and Frank C. Stenstrom, Lake Mary.

The bride chose for her vows a white gown of sheer organza over satin with a fitted bodice of silk Venise lace studded with seed pearls. The full skirt was enhanced with triple tiers of lace and crystal pleats terminating in a flowing chapel train. She wore a matching derby hat covered with sheer organza and trimmed with lace and turned up at the side to reveal white silk flowers, illusion puffs and long streamers.

Vicky Garrett attended the bride as maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Mary Anne Roberts, Sonya Elliott and Katrina Elliott. The flower girl was Sara Webb.

Mark Stenstrom served his brother as best man. Groomsmen were Marty Roberts, Danny Kinnard and Craig Miller, brother of the bride. Ring bearer was Shane Billette.

The bride and bridegroom left the wedding reception in a horse-drawn carriage. Following a wedding trip to the mountains of North Carolina and Tennessee, the newlyweds are making their home in Deltona.

Big Band Bash Benefit Set Saturday

Gall Smith, left, a member of the Ballet Guild of Sanford-Seminole Board of Directors, sells BGS supporters Rep. Bobby Brantley (R-Longwood) and his wife, Patti, tickets to the Fall Frolics Big Band Bash, Saturday, Oct. 29, at the Sanford Civic Center. Sponsored by Ballet Guild, a non-profit dance company, music will be provided by Bill

Hinkle and His 17 Merry Men, from 8-12 p.m. Revelers can listen or dance to music from the 1940s on through to today's popular tunes. There will be snacks and a cash bar. Admission is $10 per person payable at the door or in advance from members of the BGS Board of Directors. The ticket donation for the benefit is tax deductible.

Widower's Reaction Slap In The Face To Divorcee

DEAR ABBY: I met a very attractive gentleman at a resort last winter. He told me he was a 67-year-old widower, and I told him I was a 62-year-old divorcee. The facts are that I am 68 and twice divorced.

Dear Abby

The relationship became serious rather quickly. I met his family and he met mine and we started talking marriage. Then I felt guilty for having lied to him about my age and the number of divorces, so I decided to tell him the truth. His reaction was like a slap in the face. He just laughed and said, "Oh, I've known that all along."

I feel that he made a fool of me, knowing the truth all along and pretending not to know. Wasn't that dishonest, Abby?

Now I am not sure of my feelings for him. He insists those small fibs I told him don't matter and I should just forget it, but I can't forget how he humiliated me by telling me he knew all along I had lied but kept it to himself.

What do you think?

NEW YORK AND FLORIDA

DEAR N.Y. AND FLA.: I think you are projecting your guilt onto a very nice gentleman who seems willing to overlook the fact that you lied to him. Forgive yourself. Then it will be easier for you to forgive him.

DEAR ABBY: Will you please solve a family problem for us? Three years ago our oldest daughter died and her husband married a woman with two children. Those kids call us Grandma and Grandpa. We aren't really their grandparents, are we?

Another daughter recently married a man with three children, and his kids also call us "Grandma" and "Grandpa." What relation are these kids to us? We feel that grandchildren have to be blood relatives.

WHAT ARE WE?

DEAR WHAT: The children are your "step-grandchildren." Children need not be blood relatives in order to be loved and accepted into a family. (How about adopted children?) You should feel highly honored that youngsters use the loving title of "grandparents" to address you, even though you are not their "blood relatives" either.

DEAR ABBY: So many of your "solutions" lately seem to be solved with "Get counseling" or "You need therapy" or "See a psychologist or psychiatrist." Abby, please be more realistic. Not everyone can afford that kind of help.

BARELY MAKING IT

DEAR BARELY: Please read on:
DEAR ABBY: In a recent column, I noticed a letter from a person who claimed he could not afford counseling.

As the executive director of a community mental health clinic, I am unaware of any instance where we have turned a person away because of financial circumstances. We offer a wide variety of mental health services, including counseling, psychotherapy and psychiatric services.

We are supported by client fees and funding from federal, state and local governments. It would be greatly appreciated if you would mention the resources community mental health centers may offer people with personal difficulties at little or no cost to them.

Sorority Explores Candlewicking

Members of Xi Theta Epsilon Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi have discovered that fellow citizens of Sanford who enjoy the craft of candlewicking do a lot more work than just embroidering or sewing involves.

During a meeting at the home of member Ruth Gaines, the history and techniques of candlewicking were taught to members by guest speaker Geneva Spalding. An expert in her field, Mrs. Spalding discussed the current popularity of candlewicking both locally and nationally. The history of this craft is unique to Americans and has its origins with that of the United States. Popular back in the day of George Washington, candlewicking is basically 200 years old. At first the craft was made on a loom and used mostly geometrical patterns. As the nation progressed, so did the craft. Artisans experimented with design to achieve a free effect, this in turn led to the use of knots for a "tufted" look. Today it is found on many everyday items from pillows to that "Chenille" bedspread that all are familiar with.

Following this introduction to the craft of candlewicking President Laurel Rodgers conducted a brief business meeting. Members discussed the sorority plans for a city wide rush to take place Nov. 13 at the Lake Mary City Hall from 2 to 5 p.m. Various ways and means projects were also discussed for financing members service work within Sanford.

Members attending were Laurel Rodgers, Tracey Wight, Vickie Hall, Ruth Gaines, Linda Morris, Tina Bojanowski, Ginny Hagan, Victoria Hughes, Bonnie Jones, Al Kurtz, Norma Loepp, Faye Lord and Lois Smith.

DAR Reviews Treaty Of Paris

The Sallie Harrison chapter of DAR held the October meeting at the home of Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Tolar Nance with Mrs. W.D. Leahy co-hostess.

Regent Mrs. W.S. Brumley presided and welcomed the 25 members and guests.

The opening ritual was led by Regent Brumley. A short business meeting was conducted following committee reports. It was announced by Mrs. R.G. Fox that the opening date of Seminole County Museum has been set for Nov. 6.

Mrs. V.C. Messenger introduced guest speaker Mrs. Bettye Smith, professor at Seminole Community College and a woman of many accomplishments and activities. The wife of a local doctor and mother of three sons, she holds a Florida Teacher's Certificate Rank 2, and is a certified law enforcement officer. She is the recipient of the Sanford Kiwanis Club's coveted Roberta Gatchel Woman of the Year award, having been nominated by both Pankhurst and Woman's Club of Sanford.

In reviewing the 1783 Treaty of Paris she mentioned that many people have no idea of the significance of the date Sept. 3, 1783. Mrs. Smith spoke of the American delegates to the treaty negotiations, Benjamin Franklin, John Jay and John Adams. Ben Franklin characterized them as fellow laborers in the best of all work — the work of peace, and they were a distinguished trio of tough negotiators. Thinking of the American Revolutionary heroes we tend to think only of those who participated in the fighting of battles but there are other heroes and heroines as well. The families who supported the soldiers, the businessman who financed the war, the farmer who kept them fed and the men of diplomacy were all representatives of the emerging picture of an American. Mrs. Smith concluded by describing this American as independent and a believer of government by the people and for the people. The Treaty of Paris 1783 marked the beginning of a new nation, the United States of America.

The hostess served refreshments to members and guests.

Ambrosia: Something Magnificent, Supremely Good, Simply Divine

"Ambrosia," in the food sense, generally refers to a compote of oranges, coconut, and pineapple.

According to the dictionary, "ambrosia" can be anything with especially delicious flavor or fragrance. The word originated in days of mythology, when ambrosia meant "food of the gods" and was thought to impart immortality. Hence, an "ambrosial offering" has come to be something magnificent, supremely good, or simply divine.

This delicious dessert could refer to any of those definitions, except for the immortality claim! Della Robbia Ambrosia is a refrigerator dessert molded in a springform pan lined with ladyfingers. The filling is a creamy combination of canned vanilla pudding, gelatin, and fruits.

This refreshing, light dessert is the perfect grand finale to a company meal.

DELLA ROBBIA AMBROSIA

- 1 pkg. (3-oz.) orange-pineapple gelatin
- 1 can (11-oz.) Mandarin oranges
- 1 can (17 1/2 oz.) Thank You Brand Vanilla Pudding
- 1 can (8 1/2 oz.) crushed pineapple
- 1 carton (8-oz.) frozen whipped topping, thawed
- 1 1/2-2 pkg. ladyfingers
- Toasted coconut

Drain Mandarin oranges; reserve liquid. Add water to make 1 cup. Heat juice/water to boiling, then add gelatin, stirring to dissolve. Cool and refrigerate just until the thickness of unbeaten egg white. Blend in pudding until smooth. Add drained Mandarin oranges (save a few for garnish) and undrained pineapple. Gently fold in whipped topping. Line bottom and sides of 9-inch springform pan with ladyfingers. Pile gelatin mixture into mold. Chill for several hours until firm. Before serving, garnish with reserved orange sections and toasted coconut. To serve, remove sides of pan and slice into slim wedges. Yield 12-14 servings.

Della Robbia Ambrosia is the perfect grand finale to a company meal.

Peanut Chicken Dijon

Every cook, amateur and professional, loves a recipe contest. From state fairs to gourmet competitions, chefs have long relished experimenting with various ingredients and sharing their favorite dishes. The prize at the end of the contest may be a blue ribbon or a cash award, but the simple satisfaction of pleasing the palate is often reward enough.

Peanuts and peanut butter have always been prizewinners with children and adults with peanut butter passions. And now chefs from around the country have also turned on to the crunch and flavor of peanuts. Over the last year, the Peanut Advisory Board has sponsored several contests asking chefs and amateur cooks to be creative with peanuts. The prize-winning recipes from these contests will be coming to you this fall in the form of a new recipe booklet called Prize-Winning Peanut Recipes.

Enjoy the winning ways of peanuts and peanut butter by sending 50 cents to Winning Recipes, Peanut Advisory Board, P.O. Box 7528, Tifton, GA 32783. In the meantime, enjoy this recipe for Peanut Chicken Dijon.

PEANUT CHICKEN DIJON

- 8 tablespoons butter
- 5 tablespoons Dijon mustard
- 3 chicken breasts, boned, skinned, split and pounded thin
- 1 1/4 cups finely chopped salted cocktail peanuts
- 3 tablespoons peanut oil
- 1 cup sour cream
- 1/4 cup chopped parsley
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 teaspoon pepper

In a saucepan over medium heat, melt 8 tablespoons butter. Whisk in 3 tablespoons mustard until smooth. Dip chicken breasts in mustard mixture, then coat completely with chopped peanuts. In a large skillet, over medium heat, melt remaining butter. Stir in oil. Add chicken breasts, three at a time, and saute 3 minutes on each side or until done.

Remove and keep warm. Repeat with remaining chicken breasts. Discard butter and oil and any dark brown peanuts that remain. Add sour cream and remaining mustard to skillet. Stir in parsley, salt and pepper. Stir until smooth and sauce is heated through. Spoon a portion of sauce over each chicken breast.

Makes 6 servings.

CIOPPINO

- 2 large onions, chopped
- 1/4 cup olive oil
- 1 (14 oz.) can Italian plum tomatoes
- 2 cups red wine
- 2 cups water
- 1 cup brandy
- 1/2 teaspoon thyme
- 1/2 teaspoon basil
- 1/2 teaspoon oregano
- 1 lb. scallops, halved
- 2 lbs. shrimp, shelled and deveined
- 36 clams, well scrubbed
- 36 mussels, scrubbed and debearded
- 3 crabs, cut up

In a deep kettle, saute the onions in the oil until soft. Add tomatoes, wine, water, brandy, thyme, basil and oregano. Simmer covered over low heat for one hour. Add remaining ingredients and cook another 10-12 minutes. Serves 6.

Florida Fruits Ready For Holiday Baking

Pecan and mincemeat pies are holiday favorites. There are many variations. These stem from a southerner's use of fresh fruits at hand, such as oranges and grapefruits.

ORANGE PECAN PIE

3 eggs
 3/4 cup dark corn syrup
 2 oranges, purced (1/2 cup) + a
 2 tablespoons butter or margarine, melted
 1 tablespoon vanilla
 1/2 cup sugar
 1/2 teaspoon salt
 1/2 teaspoon grated orange rind
 1 cup pecans
 1 unbaked 9-inch pastry shell
 Beat eggs in large bowl; stir in remaining ingredients except pastry shell. Pour into pastry shell. Bake in 400-degree oven for 15 minutes; reduce heat to 350-degrees and continue to bake 35 to 45 minutes longer. Filling will be moist in center. Cool. This kitchen-tested recipe makes 6 to 8 servings.

To puree oranges: Remove skin; cut orange into eighths and process at medium speed in electric blender. One-fourth cup frozen concentrated orange juice may be substituted for the orange puree. Increase sugar to 1 cup when using concentrate.

GRAPEFRUIT MINCEMEAT PIE

1 large grapefruit
 1 jar (28 ounces) prepared mincemeat
 Pastry for 2-crust 9-inch pie
 Grate 1/2 teaspoon rind from grapefruit. Cut slice from top of grapefruit, then cut off peel in strips from top to bottom, cutting deep enough to remove white membrane. Or, cut off peel round and round, spiral fashion. Go over fruit again to remove any remaining white membrane. Cut along side of each dividing membrane from outside to middle of core. Remove section by section. In large bowl, mix sections, rind and mincemeat. Line 9-inch pie plate with half of pastry, add mincemeat filling, cover with remaining pastry, seal and flute edge. Make 3 or 4 small slits in top crust. Bake in 425-degree oven for 35 minutes. Serve warm with Hard Sauce + a. This kitchen-tested recipe makes 6 to 8 servings.

+Hard Sauce

1/2 cup butter or margarine, softened slightly
 1 cup confectioner's sugar
 2 tablespoons grapefruit juice
 1/2 teaspoon grated grapefruit rind
 Cream butter. Alternately add confectioner's sugar and grapefruit juice, beating after each addition. Beat in rind. Pile in small dish. Chill until firm

Soap Opera Junkies Get Telephone Fix

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — For soap opera addicts reluctant to stray from their television sets in fear of losing track of their favorite shows, a 24-hour subscription telephone service in Southern California will fill in the blanks.

Nearly 400 soap fans have opened accounts since Soaps By Phone Inc. in Santa Ana opened for business last month, paying $12.50 for a 60-second update on 13 daytime soap operas.

"What this means is that anywhere you are — at the beach, camping, skiing, or just away from the television set — you can keep track of who does what to whom on your favorite soap opera by a single phone call," founder Karen Anthony said.

Three people watch the soap operas and write summaries of the day's shows. The script is taped that afternoon and subscribers can call for their update by 3 p.m. PDT.

The script for a General Hospital episode is an example of a synopsis that only a true fan can appreciate.

"When Bobbi lingers too long in bed, Brock questions her ... Seizing the moment, Bobbi is on the brink of confessing that she's pregnant, but Jimmy Lee's arrival stops her from telling Brock. While Holly and Celia create a diversion, Luke slips unnoticed into the Buddha idol used for a daily processional. Luke is discovered before the statue leaves the pavilion and he's returned to the other hostages."

If an episode is particularly exciting, more than 60 seconds is allotted for the update, said Mrs. Anthony, a General Hospital fan since childhood.

"The response has been incredible," she said. "I'm overwhelmed ... So many people love this kind of thing and have to work now have a place to call."

Subscribers are given a special access code and a special telephone to tap into the company's 900 system, Mrs. Anthony said. Many clients are from the East Coast, she said, and range in age from 11 to 95.

Mrs. Anthony, who invested about $80,000 to build a sound studio and special telephone system, said her company is the first nationwide soap opera service in the country.

An updating service on the top-rated nighttime soaps — including Dallas, Dynasty and Knot's Landing — is expected in the near future.

'Bubble Boy' Doing Fine

HOUSTON (UPI) — David, the 12-year-old "bubble boy", has shown no signs of negative reaction to a recent bone marrow transplant done to free him from his sterile environment, doctors said.

"He's had no rash, no fever and no signs or reaction," said Susannah Moore Griffin, spokeswoman for Baylor College of Medicine.

David, who suffers from a rare disease that prevents his body from fighting infections, Friday received an infusion of bone marrow from his sister's body which doctors hoped would build his deficient immune system and free him from his environment of sterile, plastic "bubble" isolation units.

"He is doing fine," Ms. Griffin said Tuesday. "His blood count is normal for him and there has been no change in his condition since before the procedure."

Doctors said this was a crucial week to determine if David's body accepted the bone marrow from his sister. David's minimal immune system could reject his 15-year-old sister's bone marrow, or the transplant could have no effect at all.

Ms. Griffin said it could be several weeks or months before it is known if the experimental procedure worked.

Doctors hope the transplant will trigger David's white blood cells to multiply. The procedure has been done on less than a dozen children. Shearer said only two of the children are still alive.

THE APPLE VALLEY RIB CO.

The people who brought the down-home good cookin' of Captain Appleby's to Mt. Dora and Ocala, and Aunt Catfish's to Port Orange, now give DeLand The Apple Valley Rib Co., another fresh idea in old-fashioned good eatin'.

Of course we're serving ribs but there's also seafood, chicken, and steak. Dinners at Apple Valley are served with a choice of side dishes as well as a homemade grain roll and a rum bun.

We're serving lunch every day but Saturday and dinner seven days a week.

Dessert Fanciers' Delights

This rich array of sweet treats will please all types of dessert fanciers, from cake to coffee lovers. Garnished with juicy pineapples and dry coconuts, the frozen pina colada mousse is a cool, smooth choice.

Or take fresh pears poached in rum and serve them hot surrounded by a rich rum cream sauce. With the pears, offer your guests crunchy pecan lace wafers topped with a chocolate rum icing.

Those with sweet teeth will enjoy the coffee and rum layer fillings in our hazelnut buttercream torte. And coffee when mixed with flaming rum and crowned with whipped cream and chocolate shavings is a complete dessert by itself.

FROZEN PUERTO RICAN RUM PINA COLADA MOUSSE (Serves 8)

- 2 envelopes unflavored gelatin
- 2 cups pineapple juice
- 1 can (1 pound, 4 ounces) crushed pineapple, undrained
- 1 can (15 ounces) cream of coconut
- 1 cup gold rum
- 2 cups (1 pint) heavy cream, whipped
- Garnish—halved pineapple slices

In a saucepan, combine gelatin and 1 cup of the juice. Stir over low heat until gelatin is dissolved. Stir in crushed pineapple and cream of coconut. Stir in rum. Chill until mixture mounds when stirred. Fold in whipped cream and pour into a 2 quart freezer container or souffle dish. Freeze until hard, then decorate with pineapple slices. Cover and freeze until ready to serve. Place in refrigerator 30 minutes before serving to make it easier to spoon.

RUM LACE WAFERS

- 1 cup unsifted all-purpose flour
- 1 cup finely chopped pecans
- 1/2 cup light corn syrup
- 1/2 cup vegetable shortening
- 3/4 cup firmly packed dark brown sugar
- 4 squares (4 ounces) semi-sweet chocolate, melted over hot water
- 1/2 cup gold rum

In a bowl, mix flour and pecans. In a saucepan, combine syrup, shortening and sugar and heat mixture until shortening is melted and mixture just starts to boil. Stir hot syrup into flour. Stir until well blended. Drop mixture by heaping teaspoons on greased cookie sheets, spacing them 2 inches apart. Bake in a preheated moderate oven (375°F) for 6 to 7 minutes or until bubbly and golden brown. Cool 2 minutes or until firm and then remove to a rack. Mix chocolate and rum and drizzle over cookies. Let stand until chocolate is firm. Store covered in a cool dry place.

PEARS POACHED IN RUM WITH RUM CREAM SAUCE (Serves 8)

- 8 large firm pears
- 1 cup gold rum
- 1 cup sugar
- 2 cups pineapple juice
- Cream
- 1 package (3 1/2 ounces) instant vanilla pudding
- 2 cups (1 pint) heavy cream
- 1/2 cup gold rum

Peel pears and leave them whole with stems attached. Place into a large saucepan and add rum, sugar and pineapple juice. Liquid should cover pears. If not, add more pineapple juice. Simmer pears gently for 20 to 25 minutes or until easily pierced but still firm. If pears are very ripe they will cook in a shorter time. Cool pears in syrup. In a bowl, combine pudding mix, cream and rum and beat with an electric mixer until thick and fluffy. Chill. When ready to serve, drain pears. Reserve syrup for later use in sauce, fruit soups or punches or drinks. Divide cream between serving plates. Press pears into cream. Serve with Rum Lace Wafers.

FLAMING RUM WITH COFFEE (Serves 6)

- 3 cups hot strong coffee
- 2 tablespoons sugar
- Rind of 1 lemon in one piece
- 1 cup gold rum
- Whipped cream
- Shaved chocolate

Heat coffee, sugar and lemon rind in a saucepan. Add rum and set aflame. When flames die, ladle into heatproof cups and top with whipped cream and shaved chocolate. Serve at once.

PUERTO RICAN RUM COFFEE AND HAZELNUT BUTTERCREAM TORTE (Makes 1 nine inch cake)

- Cake
- 1 package (18 1/2 ounces) white cake mix
- Grated rind of 1 lemon
- 2 egg whites
- 1 cup water
- 1/2 cup white rum
- Filling
- 1/2 cup cornstarch
- 2 tablespoons instant coffee
- 1 cup sugar
- 1/2 cup gold rum
- 1 1/2 cups half and half
- Buttercream
- 4 egg yolks
- 1/2 cup sugar
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- 1 1/2 cups soft unsalted butter
- 3 tablespoons Puerto Rican gold rum
- 1 cup hazelnuts, finely chopped in food processor

Additional hazelnuts
Prepare cake mix according to directions using lemon rind, egg whites, water and rum. Bake batter in 2 greased and floured 9 inch layer cake pans. Bake according to package directions. Unmold and cool layers on a rack. To prepare filling, mix cornstarch, coffee, sugar and rum in a saucepan. Gradually stir in half and half. Stir over low heat until filling becomes very thick.

Cover and cool to room temperature. To prepare buttercream, combine egg yolks, sugar, vanilla, butter and rum in an electric mixer and beat until smooth and fluffy. Fold in hazelnuts. To assemble cake, cut each layer with a sharp knife into 2 thin layers. Place one layer on serving platter and top with 1/2 of the filling.

Repeat layering ending with a plain layer. Spread top and sides with buttercream. Top with whole hazelnuts. Chill until ready to serve. If desired, each slice may be sprinkled with 1 tablespoon gold rum before serving.

Be the hostess with the mostest and crown a festive event with rum desserts. Frozen pina colada mousse, left, is garnished with juicy pineapple slices and dry coconut. Coffee and rum fillings layer the luscious hazelnut buttercream torte, center. A rich rum cream sauce surrounds fresh pears poached in rum

HOROSCOPE

What The Day Will Bring...

YOUR BIRTHDAY OCTOBER 27, 1983 There will be a tremendous improvement in over-all conditions for you this coming year. You will be able to manage situations which previously managed you. SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Romantic adventure is likely today because members of the opposite gender will find you even more appealing than usual. Scorpio predictions for the year ahead are now ready. Romance, career, luck, earnings, travel and much more are discussed. Send $1 to Astro-Graph, Box 489, Radio City Station, N.Y. 10019. Send an additional $2 for the NEW Astro-Graph Matchmaker wheel and booklet. Reveals romantic compatibilities for all signs. Be sure to state your zodiac sign. SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) The secret to your today is to put your heart as well as your head into your work. If you enjoy what you're doing, you'll make it to the top. CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) You could be in for a pleasant surprise today when you discover that the two persons who have been talking behind your back are saying only nice things. AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) This should be a productive day for you. However, tasks you'll perform the best will be those which require imagination and an artistic touch. PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) If you are presently unattached and looking for a new relationship, get out and circulate today. You could meet the person you've been seeking. ARIES (March 21-April 19) That which will be of true value to you today cannot be counted in material ways. Your wealth will be found by helping others. TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Although you won't intentionally try to be flamboyant or showy today, your presence will be duly noticed at any gathering. Be yourself. GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Providing for loved ones will be a strong motivating factor today. What's more important, your heart will be in your efforts. CANCER (June 21-July 22) Charm and wit are your greatest assets today. You'll use them to your advantage in several instances. Smile and the world smiles with you. LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Conditions are rather unusual today. Chance could play a favorable role in your affairs, especially business or moneywise. VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Be hopeful regarding the outcome of events today. There'll be fortunate currents stirring on your behalf which should add to your optimism. LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Conditions continue to favor you in career and material matters. You could get a lucky break today through an unexpected channel.

Counting Calories Starts In Kitchen

DEAR DR. LAMB — My problem with dieting is that I am always hungry. Those small amounts of food you can eat on most diets simply will not satisfy me. When I'm done with those little snacks, I feel like I am just ready to eat.

I have read in your column that you can control the amount of calories in your food by how you prepare it. Does that mean I could eat large portions instead of little snacks? If so, I'd like to try it. Just how do you prepare foods to eliminate calories? If you have a Health Letter on this I would sure appreciate receiving it.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I have heard that the highly amplified music played at disco bars and rock concerts can be harmful to one's hearing. Is this true? If so, what precautions can one take short of giving up these forms of entertainment altogether?

DEAR READER — I'm glad you have started to think in terms of what is in the foods you eat. The key to losing excess body fat or preventing it is to consume no more or fewer calories than your body uses. And the way to do that is to eliminate high calorie foods in your diet.

DEAR READER — It is true. Any source of sound that has a greater intensity than 80 decibels (a measure of loudness), can damage the delicate hearing mechanism. If continual exposure occurs, permanent damage may result.

Most calories are in fat. There are nine calories per gram of fat, but only four calories per gram of carbohydrates or protein. Many fats used in foods also contain little water, no bulk and often no vitamins or minerals of consequence.

Some people seem to be more susceptible to noise than others but no one is safe at levels beyond 80 decibels.

Sugar and concentrated sweets are high-calorie foods because they contain no bulk and essentially no water. So the key is to eliminate sweets and fats from your food.

The only two courses of action are to avoid the noise, by staying away from it, or to wear ear protection devices. Ear protectors sort of defeat the purpose of the loud music, but a lot of the music you evidently like can be enjoyed without having to be loud to the point that it causes ear damage. Also harmful to ears is loud radio music provided by earphones that some walkers and joggers use.

Eliminating these items begins in the kitchen. Don't use fat in cooking meats if you can avoid it and use lean meats such as round steak. Roasts should first be cut up as needed to remove all visible fat before roasting.

Chicken can be baked or stewed and removing the skin with its fat before cooking removes a lot of fat calories.

You can use fortified skim milk to eliminate calories and get your dairy foods. Cook vegetables diamond tricks would give him his slam. He won the spade lead in dummy, led the seven of diamonds and finessed his jack. West took his queen and led a second spade.

Jacoby thought awhile, led a diamond, rose with dummy's king and the slam had gone into the land of lost slams.

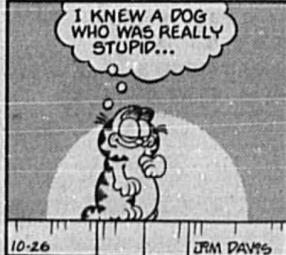

Hal Sims, who was watching the game, said, "You still have a lot to learn about card play. You had a perfect safety play to guard against anything but a 5-0 diamond break."

That safety play is well-enough known today so that no expert would go wrong. It is to play the ace of diamonds first and then lead toward the K-9 in dummy. A 3-2 break can't hurt declarer. If West holds four diamonds and plays the eight, dummy's nine is played. If West held a singleton honor, the king is played from dummy and a third diamond is led toward the jack.

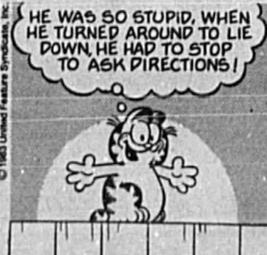

By Oswald Jacoby and James Jacoby Here is a hand that is very similar to one misplayed by Oswald Jacoby in a rubber bridge game at the late P. Hal Sims' home a trifle over 50 years ago. We don't remember the exact bidding, but when young Jacoby looked at dummy, he saw that four

FBI Pays $163,000 To Racketeering Informant

FORT LAUDERDALE (UPI) — The FBI covered a loan-shark debt for a "former mobster" and paid him more than $163,000 as an informant in a racketeering case against Florida's first black police chief, records show.

Joseph "Joe Dogs" Iannuzzi Jr., described as a "former mobster," struck a deal with the FBI after he began informing on the Mafia in 1980, the Fort Lauderdale News and Sun-Sentinel reported Tuesday.

Iannuzzi is the star informant in the racketeering case against former Riviera Beach Police Chief William "Boone" Darden, Florida's first black police chief.

According to an early August indictment, Darden, 57, accepted bribes from alleged members of the Gambino Mafia family in exchange for protecting a lounge and an illegal Riviera Beach gambling house called "Suite 100," Iannuzzi was the manager of the club.

Iannuzzi became a full-time FBI informant after suffering a "savage and vicious beating" at the hands of loan sharks in January 1981, documents show. The beating came after Iannuzzi fell behind in payments on a loan of $32,000, according to the indictment returned in the Darden case.

Defense attorneys are asking U.S. Magistrate Peter Nimkoff to force prosecutors to disclose more details about the expense money paid to Iannuzzi, hoping to gather information to discredit him in court.

Nimkoff has not ruled on that or numerous other motions filed in the case.

Iannuzzi's work before the Darden case earned him $41,209.36 for services and expenses from May 1980 to April 1981, the court documents show. After April 1981, when he started working for the FBI full time on what became the Darden case, Iannuzzi received $75,521.30 in salary and $87,668.83 for expenses.

The government also has agreed to pay Iannuzzi an unspecified sum based on the quality of his court testimony against Darden and 10 co-defendants who are reputed members and associates of the Gambino Mafia family, according to the court documents.

Let Kids Eat What They Want

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Americans who forbid their kids to munch on sugar-coated cereals, salt-laden pretzels or fast-food fried chicken run the risk of setting the stage for such illnesses as anorexia nervosa, a noted pediatrician says.

"Most of the current health fads in nutrition are probably without much scientific basis and are of doubtful benefit," Dr. William Well, professor of pediatrics-human development at Michigan State University, said Tuesday.

"The major problem I see with these attempts to modify children's eating is to make such a medical thing out of what should be an uncomplicated biological function that it will create a series of ills, such as anorexia nervosa, a disorder in which victims slowly starve themselves.

"If you eat certain things, you'll get cancer. If you eat too much salt, you'll get high blood pressure, too much fat, coronary artery disease. If you eat too much in general, you're going to be obese, and that's a terrible thing in itself," he said.

"We've turned refrigerators into medicine cabinets."

Munching on pretzels and guzzling a beer at night may give a person so much pleasure, "it may actually contribute to his longevity," Well said.

Subsequent research showed if people cut back on eggs and other cholesterol sources, "your serum cholesterol might drop a little bit, maybe 10-15 grams so that instead of 350 you might have 320, but that's still high enough not to seriously cut down your chances of coronary artery disease," he said.

As for salt, a child in the highest salt-consuming group eats 3 grams a day, compared with 2 1/2 grams for those who abstain from potato chips, pretzels and other sodium-laden snacks, said Well.

The abused child will grow up someday. Maybe.

Each year, over one million American children suffer from child abuse. Over 2,000 children die from it. But what about those who survive? An abused childhood can affect a person's entire life. Yet child abuse can be prevented.

The National Committee for Prevention of Child Abuse is a private charitable organization that knows how to do it. But we need your help. We need money. We need volunteers. Send us your check today. Or write for our booklet.

The terms and conditions of such exchange of property are that Seminole County will transfer ownership by County Deed to Wingfield Development Company in exchange for a transfer of ownership by Warranty Deed to Seminole County by Wingfield Development Company. The Board of County Commissioners intends to hold a public hearing to consider the adoption of a resolution authorizing the exchange of the above-described properties at 10:00 a.m., or as soon thereafter as possible, at its regular meeting on the 8th day of November, 1983, at the Seminole County Courthouse, Room 300, North Park Avenue, Sanford, Florida. Persons are advised that, if they decide to appeal any decision made at this hearing, they will need a record of the proceedings, and, for such purpose, they may need to insure that a verbatim record of the proceedings is made, which record includes the testimony and evidence upon which the appeal is to be based.

ARTHUR H. BECKWITH, JR., Clerk of the Board of County Commissioners of Seminole County, Florida.

Cook Of The Week

Halloween Treats Begin Baking Season

By Lou Childers
Herald Correspondent

Everyone has to cook to get their daily meals. But it takes extra energy to bake homemade cookies. Ruby Massey is one of those gals who manages to have the "extra energy" that's needed to always have a full cookie jar.

Born in Columbus, Ohio, Ruby moved to Florida in 1971 settling in Oviedo. "I started baking cookies at the ripe old age of 9," says this week's cook. Ruby explains that she often helped out at home when her mother worked by preparing the evening meals. "Also," she says, "I just plain like to cook!"

This will be Ruby's 14th year for baking dozens of cookies. "The season is almost here (Halloween) when my cookie making always increases." From October through Thanksgiving and the Christmas holidays, Ruby says that she is busy "digging out old tried-and-true recipes" as well as scanning magazines and newspapers for the latest "fad cookies."

Her all-time favorite cookie is called Meringue Drops. "It couldn't be much easier than Meringue Drops," according to Ruby. You simply mix them up, pop them in the oven, turn the oven off, resist the temptation to peek, and 6 hours later — perfect cookies. You never have to wonder if they are burning either!

Ruby's husband, Jimmy Massey, who works at Auto Body Specialists in Altamonte Springs, is never surprised to find Ruby's homemade cookies in his lunch bucket. The only thing that beats Peanut Butter Chocolate Kisses are the ones his wife gives him when he gets home!

If you are the type who likes to make "something special" for a treat for the neighborhood kids on Spook Night, Ruby says that Candy Cookies can't be beat. Each cookie is so rich with caramel, pecans and milk chocolate. It's almost like a candy bar.

Ruby Massey stays very busy caring for her children, Lorie, 4½, and Jason, 1. But she is never too busy to turn that oven on and put together a batch of Toll House cookies. Ruby says she sometimes uses the recipe on the package, but usually she likes to vary it a bit by adding 12 ounces of raisins. "You can take common, everyday cookie recipes," says Ruby, "and with just a little imagination you can really spruce them up." Ruby does this with plain Sugar Cookies by adding M&M's or chocolate chips for a topping.

Ruby says she is the type of person who "always makes a big deal out of birthdays," too. "I like to decorate the cakes (she did a Raggedy Ann cake for Laurie's last birthday), and coordinate all the decorations — the streamers, napkins, plates and cups."

You might say that Ruby Massey's motto is "Every day can be special with something fresh baked from the oven."

Ruby Massey lets her imagination run wild when it comes to preparing cookies. She shares her recipe for her all-time favorite, Meringue Drops, as easy as 1-2-3. Simply heat the oven, pop cookies in, and turn oven off. Six hours later, a perfect treat turns up.

½ cup brown sugar
1 cup coarsely chopped pecans
1 cup milk chocolate morsels
Heat oven to 350 degrees. Combine crust ingredients in large mixer bowl. Beat at medium speed until thoroughly combined and particles are fine. Pat firmly into an ungreased 13x9x2-inch pan. Sprinkle pecans over unbaked crust. To prepare caramel layer, combine ½ cup butter and ½ cup brown sugar in heavy saucepan. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly until entire surface of mixture begins to boil. Boil ½ to 1 minute, stirring constantly. Pour evenly over pecans and crust. Bake about 20 minutes or until caramel is bubbly and crust is golden brown. Remove from oven and sprinkle with chocolate morsels. Allow chocolate to melt for 2 or 3 minutes. Slightly swirl morsels for a marble effect. Cool completely and cut into bars. Yield: 3 to 4 dozen cookies. NOTE: For crunchier candy refrigerate.

MERINGUE DROPS

2 egg whites slightly beaten
¾ cup sugar
food coloring of choice (optional)
1 teaspoon vanilla
pinch of salt
1 package (6 oz.) semi-sweet chocolate pieces
1 cup coarsely chopped nuts additional semi-sweet chocolate pieces for garnish (optional)

Preheat oven to moderate, 350 degrees. Cover cookie sheets with aluminum foil. Beat egg whites in small bowl until foamy. Gradually beat in sugar until meringue forms stiff peaks. Add food coloring if desired. Add vanilla and salt. Stir in chocolate pieces and nuts. Drop meringue by teaspoonfuls onto prepared cookie sheets. Garnish each with a chocolate piece. Place in oven. Turn oven off. Do not open oven for at least 6 hours or overnight.

QUICK CARAMEL COFFEE RING

½ cup margarine
½ cup chopped nuts
1 cup firmly packed brown sugar
2 tablespoons water
2 (10 oz.) cans refrigerated flaky biscuits

Heat oven to 375 degrees. In small saucepan melt margarine. Coat bottom and sides of ungreased 12 cup fluted tube pan with 2 tablespoons of melted margarine. Sprinkle 3 tablespoons of the nuts over bottom of prepared pan. Add remaining nuts, brown sugar and water to remaining margarine. Heat to boiling stirring occasionally, remove from heat. Separate dough into 20 biscuits, cut each biscuit in half and shape into a ball. Place 20 balls in bottom of prepared pan. Drizzle half of the caramel sauce over balls, repeat layers. Bake at 375 degrees for 20 to 25 minutes or until golden brown. Invert immediately onto waxed paper and remove from pan.

Rolls about 7 (10-cup) each and place on an ungreased baking sheet. Bake for 5 minutes. Remove from oven and press a chocolate kiss on the top of each cookie. Return to oven and bake 3 minutes longer. Don't let chocolate burn. Cool on racks thoroughly before storing. Makes 40 cookies.

CANDY COOKIES

Crust:
2 cups plain flour, sifted
1 cup brown sugar
½ cup butter, softened
Caramel Layer:
¾ cup butter

Beef Brisket Perfect For Casual Meal

At football games today, all the action is not necessarily on the field. The fun can begin long before the opening kick-off as fans gather for a tailgate party.

Ideal for the pre-game festivities is Italian-style Beef Brisket. Slices of tender beef brisket and roasted peppers are teamed up in a spicy liquid and served on crusty rolls. The beef filling can be prepared well in advance and toted to the game to be reheated on a portable grill or habachi. Choose other easy-to-eat items such as antipasto salad and spicy zucchini cake squares to complete the tailgate menu.

While beef brisket is a less tender cut, you can count on it to be tender and delicious for it is first roasted with onion, garlic and fennel seed, then slowly braised in the oven. For optimum tenderness, carve the brisket diagonally across the grain into thin slices.

You'll also enjoy trying the special technique used to prepare the peppers. Green peppers are first broiled to blister the skins, then placed in a paper bag. The skins are removed and the peppers are cut into strips. The flavorful cooking liquid from the beef becomes the base for the Italian-spiced liquid in which the beef and peppers are combined.

Keep Italian-style Beef Brisket in mind anytime you want a casual meal that's tasty, satisfying and nutritious. Like all beef, the brisket is an excellent source of high-quality protein, essential B-vitamins and important minerals including iron and zinc.

ITALIAN-STYLE BEEF BRISKET

- 4 pound boneless beef brisket
- 1 cup chopped onion
- 2 cloves garlic, slivered
- 1 teaspoon fennel seed, crushed
- ¾ cups water, divided
- 1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce
- 2 beef bouillon cubes
- 2 teaspoons Italian seasoning
- 1 teaspoon salt
- ¼ teaspoon hot pepper sauce
- 3 green peppers
- 8 to 10 crusty rolls, split

Trim excess fat from brisket. Place brisket, fat side up, in open roasting pan; sprinkle onion, garlic and fennel seed over top. Add ½ cup water. Roast in a slow oven (325°F.) 1 hour. Cover tightly with aluminum foil and continue cooking 2 hours or until tender. Remove brisket; cool. Pour cooking liquid into large saucepan. Add remaining ¾ cups water, Worcestershire sauce, bouillon cubes, Italian seasoning, salt and hot pepper sauce. Bring to a boil, reduce heat and simmer 15 to 20 minutes. Meanwhile place green peppers on rack in broiler pan. Broil 10 to 15 minutes or until skins blister, turning occasionally. Place peppers in paper bag; close and let stand 15 to 20 minutes, remove loosened skin and cut into thin strips; reserve. Carve brisket diagonally across the grain into thin slices. Add sliced brisket and green pepper strips to seasoned liquid and heat through. Serve on crusty rolls. Yield: 8 to 10 sandwiches.

Note: May be prepared the day before and reheated.

BRANDY MULLED CIDER

- 2½ cups apple cider
- 1½ cups brandy
- ¼ cup sugar
- 1 tablespoon lemon juice
- ¼ teaspoon ground cardamom
- 3 sticks cinnamon

In a saucepan combine apple cider, brandy, sugar, lemon juice, cardamom and cinnamon. Heat until just simmering but do not boil. Remove from heat and cool. Pour with cinnamon into an attractive decanter or carafe and cork tightly until ready to serve. Makes about one quart.

Autumn Days Bring On Specialties From Oven

The shorter days and cooler nights are a sure sign that summer's over.

For many homemakers, these first hints of fall also signal a renewed interest in oven cookery. This return to slow baked, hearty meals means a kitchen filled with appetizing aromas and families who have had several fragrant hours to anticipate dinner. You'll definitely want it to be worth the wait.

One sure way to satisfy this hungry herd is with a succulent roast capon dinner with all the "fixins." This menu includes a slow roasted capon filled with vegetable stuffing, a colorful leafy green salad, a pear and pastry tart for dessert and, to help warm the insides, a glass of cider sparked with a spirited dash of California brandy. The subtle flavor of these brandies from California gently enhances the taste of fruit drinks as well as many sauces and dressings.

Capon is a plump, juicy fowl with delicate, velvety breast meat that slices and serves easily. Wrapped and refrigerated, the meat stays moist for a delicious "next day" Hot Capon salad. These roosters are sexed at an early age, then specially fed and treated to increase weight gain and produce a particularly tender and meaty bird.

Herbed Vegetable Stuffing is made by mixing sauteed mushrooms, carrots, onions and celery with acorn squash, raisins and Herb Seasoned Stuffing Mix. Made with specially formulated bread, the stuffing mix has a perfect blend of seasonings that complement the flavor of the vegetables.

The salad is an interesting blend of leafy greens (endive, red leaf lettuce and spinach) with red cabbage, cherry tomatoes and other vegetables added for color. A dash of brandy added to a basic sour cream and yogurt dressing makes a tangy, very unusual dressing for the salad. Also, a helpful hint — if the salad is dressed as it's served it stays crisp longer and any leftovers can be refrigerated for later use. Seasoned croutons added just before serving provide texture.

And the piece de resistance is an exquisite Branded Pear Tart for dessert. The shell for the tart is easily made using frozen puff pastry sheets that can be thawed and ready to use in just minutes. The frozen pastry eliminates all the time consuming work of pastry making yet results are equally light, flaky and delicate. A mixture of ground almonds, sugar and flour is sprinkled over the pastry.

TO PREPARE CAPON:

Remove plastic bag, free legs and tail from tucked position. Remove giblets from body and neck cavities and simmer in enough water to cover for 1/2 hour for liver and 2 hours for neck, heart and gizzard. Chop meat and reserve broth. Sprinkle cavities lightly with salt and fill loosely with stuffing. Skewer neck skin to back and return legs and tail to tucked position or cover stuffing with aluminum foil and tie legs and tail together loosely. Place capon breast-side up on a rack in shallow open roasting pan. Brush capon with melted butter and cover loosely with aluminum foil, crimping it to edges of pan. Foil should not touch capons. Roast at 325° about 40 minutes per pound. Remove foil during last 45 minutes of roasting time. Cut band of skin or string to free legs. Roast until leg joint moves easily and meat is tender. Meat thermometer should register 185°.

To make gravy, pour drippings from roasting pan into large liquid measure. Spoon 5 to 6 tablespoons of fat from top of drippings and return them to roasting pan. Skim away remaining fat and add enough liquid (giblet broth, milk or water) to make 3 cups. Blend 6 tablespoons flour into fat in roasting pan; stir and heat to brown. Gradually add liquid, salt and pepper and chopped giblets. Heat through. Makes 3 cups.

HERBED VEGETABLE STUFFING

- 3/4 pound fresh mushrooms, sliced
- 1 cup shredded, peeled carrots
- 1 cup chopped, peeled onion
- 1 cup julienne celery pieces, each 1/2 x 1/2 x 3/4 inches
- 1/2 cup butter or margarine
- 1 acorn squash (3/4 pound) peeled, seeded, cut into 1/2 inch pieces and cooked (about 2 cups)
- 1/2 cup dark seedless raisins
- 1/2 teaspoon dried thyme leaves
- 1/2 teaspoon dried powdered sage
- 1 package (8 ounces) seasoned stuffing
- 1 cup chicken broth
- 1 large egg, beaten

In a large skillet, saute mushrooms, carrots, onions and celery in butter until tender. Add remaining ingredients and toss thoroughly. Makes enough stuffing for an 8 to 10 pound capon. Bake any extra stuffing in a covered casserole for about 30 minutes or until hot. Put in the same oven with capon.

AUTUMN HARVEST SALAD WITH CREAMY GREEN PEPPER DRESSING

- SALAD:
- 1 head endive
 - 1 head red leaf lettuce
 - 1 small bag spinach
 - 1/2 small head red cabbage, finely grated
 - 1 pint cherry tomatoes, cut into halves
 - 1 large red onion, thinly sliced and separated into rings
 - 1 small bag radishes, thinly sliced

Creamy Green Pepper Dressing (recipe follows)

- 1 cup seasoned croutons
- Wash, drain and shake dry endive, leaf lettuce and spinach. Tear greens into pieces, discarding hard sections of stems. Place greens, grated cabbage, tomatoes, onion rings and radishes in salad bowl. Toss until thoroughly combined. Serve with Creamy Green Pepper Dressing and croutons. Makes 10 servings.

GREEN PEPPER DRESSING:

- 1 large green pepper, finely diced
 - 1 cup sour cream
 - 1 cup plain yogurt
 - 2 tablespoons brandy
 - 1/2 teaspoon garlic salt
 - 1 teaspoon dill seed
- Combine all ingredients. Stir until yogurt and sour cream are completely mixed. Makes 2 cups dressing.

PEAR TART WITH BRANDED CUSTARD SAUCE

- TART
- 1 sheet frozen puff pastry
 - 1 egg yolk beaten with 1 teaspoon water
 - 1/2 cup ground blanched almonds
 - 1/4 cup sugar
 - 1 tablespoon all-purpose flour
 - 3 large ripe pears, preferably anjou
 - 1/4 cup lemon juice mixed with 1/4 cup water
 - 1/4 cup apricot jam
 - 2 tablespoons brandy
- Thaw puff pastry 20 minutes. Unfold and roll on a lightly floured surface to a 13-inch square. Fit pastry into an 11-inch fluted tart pan with removable bottom; trim edges. Brush bottom of pastry with egg yolk and sprinkle with a mixture of almonds, sugar and flour. Peel pears and cut in half lengthwise. Cut 2 pears lengthwise into thin slices and dip in lemon solution. Arrange around outer edges of pastry in tart pan, overlapping slices slightly. Cut remaining pear crosswise into thin slices, dip in lemon solution then arrange in center of tart in a spiral fashion. Bake in preheated 350° oven for 45 to 50 minutes. Remove from oven and cool on wire rack. Heat jam and brandy in a small saucepan and brush over pear filling to glaze. Remove outer rim of tart pan and serve pear tart with Branded Custard Sauce. Makes 10 servings.

CUSTARD SAUCE:

- 1/2 cup milk
- 1/2 cup light cream or dairy half-and-half cream
- 3 large egg yolks
- 1/4 cup sugar
- 2 tablespoons brandy
- 1/2 teaspoon vanilla extract

In the top of a double boiler, over simmering water, heat milk and cream until bubbles form around edges of milk. Beat egg yolks and sugar in a small bowl and gradually add hot milk mixture, beating eggs constantly. Return mixture to pan and cook, stirring constantly, until mixture thickens slightly and will lightly coat the back of a metal spoon. Remove from heat and stir in brandy and vanilla. Cover and chill. Serve with pear tart. Makes 1 1/4 cups thin sauce.

Microwave Magic

Delicious Treats For Halloween

These special recipes for Halloween goodies will be welcomed by all trick or treaters.

When preparing candies in the microwave, there are several cautions to take that will help ensure success. Remember that the microwaves are attracted to sugars very quickly so that the cooking time is quite short; therefore, have the ingredients measured and utensils ready before you begin cooking. A sugar syrup gets very hot and precautions are necessary to avoid burns. Pot holders should be used.

A candy thermometer for the microwave will provide accuracy which is important if candies are to set up or become brittle.

A favorite treat for this time of the year is Peanut Brittle. The raw peanuts can be purchased in the produce department. The nuts are being harvested now, so they should be fresh. If buying some for later use, store in the freezer.

PEANUT BRITTLE

- 1 cup sugar
- 1 cup raw peanuts
- 1 cup white corn syrup
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1 teaspoon baking soda
- 1 teaspoon butter
- 1 teaspoon vanilla

Combine peanuts sugar, salt and syrup in a large bowl. Microwave 100% 7 to 8 min. Add vanilla and butter. Continue cooking 100% 2-3 min. Mixture will be darkened. Add baking soda. Stir quickly. Pour mixture onto a lightly greased cookie sheet. Let cool and break into pieces.

When making popcorn balls, keep the popped corn warm in the conventional oven. The syrup will not harden so fast if you follow this procedure.

POPCORN BALLS

- 2 1/2 cups sugar
 - 1 1/2 cups hot water
 - 3/4 cups dark corn syrup
 - 2 teaspoons vinegar
 - 2 teaspoons vanilla
 - 12 cups popped corn
- Combine sugar, hot water, corn syrup and vinegar in a 3-quart casserole. Microwave at 100% power for 35-40 minutes or until hard crack stage (300 degrees F). Syrup separates into hard brittle threads when small amount is dropped into cold water, stir 3 or 4 times.

Stir in vanilla. Pour syrup over popcorn, stirring to coat. Quickly shape into balls, with buttered hands. Place on wax paper; cool. Wrap each in plastic wrap. It helps to have popcorn slightly warm.

These recipes for candies with nuts are nice to have anytime.

SPICED NUTS

- 1 1/2 cup sugar
 - 1/2 cup orange juice
 - 1/4 teaspoon cinnamon
 - 1/4 teaspoon nutmeg
 - 2 1/2 cups shelled walnuts or pecans
- In a 3-quart casserole, cook sugar and orange juice by microwave for 7 1/2 minutes or until soft ball stage, stirring several times. Remove from microwave; add spices and nuts. Stir until mixture begins to look cloudy. Drop by spoonfuls on waxed paper. Separate into small clusters or individual nuts.

PECAN PRALINES

- 1 cup granulated sugar
 - 2 cups firmly packed brown sugar
 - 1/4 cup light corn syrup
 - 1/4 teaspoon salt
 - 1 1/4 cups milk
 - 1 teaspoon vanilla
 - 1 1/2 cups pecan halves
- Combine sugars, corn syrup, salt and milk in a 4-quart casserole. Cook by microwave for 13 to 13 1/2 minutes or until a little of mixture dropped into cold water forms a soft ball. Stir often while cooking. Beat until mixture begins to thicken. Stir in vanilla and pecans. Drop from tablespoon on waxed paper and spread to form patties about 3-inches long in diameter. Let stand until firm. Makes about 16-18 pralines.

Grapefruit Glamorizes Vegetables

Florida grapefruit sections, brimming with juice and flavor, are a lovely treat when used to top baked acorn squash.

Both the grapefruit — the thinskinned, lively Florida ones — and the squash are in plentiful supply in autumn. The combination is nutritious as well as delicious. Grapefruit is a rich source of vitamin C and fiber, and squash contains excellent quantities of vitamin A. Both vitamins A and C have been cited in important government studies as being of utmost importance to the diets of both children and adults in health maintenance.

A cold weather or holiday menu offering a variety of interesting vegetable dishes on the sideboard could include a number of favorites updated by adding zesty grapefruit sections. Our recipes include Elisa's bright cabbage slaw with celery seed, onion and grapefruit; a quick grapefruit corn relish with pimiento and pickle and sunshine stuffed squash halves.

Other vegetables, to which grapefruit sections add eye-appeal as well as flavor, are red cabbage, beets, spinach, and green beans.

Fresh, juicy Florida grapefruit, plentiful in the market, is easy to section. Peel the fruit either round and round, or in strips from stem end to blossom end, cutting deep enough to remove white membrane. Cut along the side of each dividing membrane from the outside to the middle of the core. Remove section by section over a bowl to catch the juice.

Purchase grapefruit that are heavy for their size; the heavier they are, the juicier. They should be firm and shiny-skinned, as opposed to rough-skinned, which indicates dry fruit. With pink grapefruit, a bluish of pink on the skin is perfectly normal.

ELISA'S CABBAGE SLAW

- 1/4 cup mayonnaise
 - 1/4 cup plain yogurt
 - 1/2 teaspoon salt
 - 1/2 teaspoon celery seed
 - 4 cups shredded red and/or green cabbage
 - 1 small onion, thinly sliced
 - 2 cups Florida grapefruit sections
- In a large bowl stir together mayonnaise, yogurt, salt and celery seed. Stir in cabbage and onion to coat with dressing; gently toss in grapefruit sections. Yield: 6 servings.

SUNSHINE SQUASH

- 3 acorn squash, cut in half, seeded
 - 1/2 cup Florida grapefruit juice
 - 2 cups Florida grapefruit sections
 - 2 tablespoons brown sugar
 - 1/4 cup chopped nuts
 - 2 tablespoons butter or margarine
- Arrange squash halves in a shallow pan with 1/2 inch water. Brush squash with grapefruit juice. Bake in a 350°F. oven 50 minutes or until tender. Remove from oven. Fill each squash with grapefruit sections; sprinkle evenly with sugar and nuts and dot with butter. Return to oven; bake 10 minutes longer until sugar melts and nuts are lightly toasted. Yield: 6 servings.

CONFETTI CITRUS AND AND CORN RELISH

- 1 1/2 cups Florida grapefruit sections
 - 2 cans (12 ounces each) whole kernel corn, drained
 - 1 jar (10 ounces) India pickle relish, undrained
 - 1 jar (2 ounces) pimiento, drained and chopped
- In a medium bowl mix all ingredients together. Spoon into jars. Cover. Chill. Yield: About 6 cups.

Art: It's A Natural Resource

By Jerri Bowles
Publicity Chairperson
Sanford-Seminole
Art Association

The Sanford — Seminole Art Association is celebrating its 25th Anniversary. In 1959, 10 charter members started an art league that has flourished and grown to 100 members. Ten of those are junior members, meaning they are under 18 years of age.

The association is made up of talented people offering our area a variety of media to enjoy. This includes oil painting, acrylics and watercolor, pen and ink drawing, pottery, sculpture, photography, print making, stained glass, wood carving, papier mache and batik. Each artist takes pride in sharing ideas and techniques with fellow artists.

The organization

sponsors a tea every February. This gives the artists an opportunity to meet the public and to display their art work. Throughout the year, you may see individual members' art work on exhibit at the Seminole County Courthouse, Sanford City Hall, Sanford City Hall, Flagship Bank, downtown, and the Holiday House Restaurant. Believing that art is to be enjoyed and participated in by the young as well as the old, two members painted murals in Lakeview Nursing Center for the enjoyment of the residents. Every May, our junior members and their peers are encouraged by the annual Sidewalk Show at the Sanford Plaza. Each year two scholarships are awarded to art students in the

Here Are The Rules

1. Each exhibitor must display at least 6 works of art in selected category. All work must be original, rendered since 1981, and not have received an award at previous FFA Shows. Art reproduced from works of old or new masters, advertisements, and widely publicized photography is NOT considered original and may not be shown. Rules committee reserves the right to request removal of any exhibit or individual work not adhering to show rules or which might offend the viewing public, such as suggestive nudity.

2. Two-dimensional work must be framed and/or matted unless displayed in a portfolio.

3. Not eligible for exhibit are art supplies, candles, ceramics cast from commercial molds, commercially manufactured jewelry and leather items, commercial photographers soliciting sales, crochet, decoupage, embroidery, knitting, millinery, novelty shell craft, picture frames, popsicle stick crafts, quilts, sewing, velvet painting, or any work the jurying committee considers not in keeping with the overall quality of the show.

4. Spaces are 10 feet by 12 feet with only one exhibitor per space. Each artist will be furnished and must display a 9 by 12 card bearing artist's name, category, hometown, and space number. Ribbons received at other shows may not be displayed.

5. All cars must be out of display area 9:30 a.m. Saturday and Sunday. Judging will begin at 10:00 a.m. Saturday; ribbons will be presented on completion of judging and monetary awards distributed on Sunday.

6. Each exhibitor is responsible for collecting 5% Florida Sales Tax and for remitting same to the Dept. of Revenue.

7. All applicants must be at least 18 years of age.

8. To be eligible for awards or consideration for future shows, artists must display both days. No stand-in exhibitors please.

...The Judges

Gene Barber, McClenney, Florida — Has own school of art. Acclaimed lecturer and critic. Has judged many shows in Florida.

Message From The President

By Phyllis Barbour
The Sanford-Seminole Art Association welcomes both artists and members of the public to its 1983 Fall for Art Show.

For the artists, this is an opportunity to showcase their talents and hopefully sell some of their work or win an award.

For the public the Fall for Art Show provides an exciting visual experience and the possibility of acquiring a unique, artistic creation.

The city of Sanford is thanked for its cooperation in providing the show's new location, as are the business people of this area for their encouragement and financial support.

Thanks also go to co-chairmen Jane Vance Patterson and Jeanette Pollicastro, members of their committee, and all others who volunteered their services toward making this event a success.

Now if only the weather stays fine!

 area from our John Hodge Scholarship Fund.

Artist leagues can be looked at as a valuable resource to the community, providing the people of all ages with a cultural experience. Art is a statement of our way of life, recorded for future generations and remaining after all else is gone.

Sanford-Seminole members have been working together to provide a creative environment for those interested in participating in the Arts and the opportunity for the community to further its appreciation of art. Robert Henri, an American artist of the early 20th century said "Art in the community has a subtle, unconscious, refining influence."

Got Artistic Talent? Why Not Join?

Among those who attend this year's Fall for Art Show no doubt there will be more than a few persons who have artistic ability worthy of development and public display, but who don't know how to go about it.

The Sanford-Seminole Art Association meets once a month from September to May at the Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce building. Meetings are generally held on the second Monday at 7 p.m., and the programs are slanted toward social contacts with other local artists

Next year the Sanford-Seminole Art Association will celebrate its 25th Anniversary. Beginning with 10 charter members in 1959, it is now close to the 100-member mark, including several talented juniors.

Applicants are required to show samples of their work prior to acceptance but there are varying levels of proficiency and anyone who feels they are ready to exhibit should not be afraid to try.

If you would like to become a member, call 331-0831 for further information.—Pylis Barbour
