For he know that every president, that every administration deals with basic challenges and must interpret the basic commitments in a manner which will let historians "one hundred years from now" pronounce their judgment with fall information. Of course, here was a most determined man, a veteral logislator who had set a high-water mark for logislative accomplishment, bills passed to carry-out the promises which had carried John F. Kennedy and himself to the White House. His measure was not only to this Congress and the incoming President but to those who would sit in the White House and in the House and Senate in afteryears. His concern, the goal of these years since 1952 under both the Republican and the Democratic Chief Executives, had been the "people." And it was in this aspect that the thread wove strong and clear.

this aspect that the thread wove strong and clear. This torch of concern for people, the doing away of all injustices, the almost desperate (and in Viet-nam, tragic) search for world-wide freedom for all, has been held high. Now it passes to President-elect Nixon with the hope of all that it continues to be a beacon that all can see clearly and follow closely! Thus it would have been in the generally accept-ed Johnsonian meaner for the message to have been more direct, tougher and with no olive branch exded to the Republican administration. Not only the words but the very attitude of the

Where's It At?

Seems strange not to see anything on the wires about the baseball stars inking their contracts, doesn't it? I mean at this time of the year, everyone is supposed to be sitting around that pot-bellied stove and discussing how many more years Mantle will play .... or whether "lays will "come back." etc. And yet, I still haven't seen the first player's name indicating that he returned his signed contract. If things continue as they have in the past, what with the owners squabbling amongst themselves and not getting on with the husiness of picking a baseball commissioner .... don't be surprised if spring training comes a little late this year. If they think that they have a problem now, just wait'll they check their mail and find that the player's attorney has been advising all of them NOT to sign contracts until management gets around to putting more of that green stuff into their retirement fund.

So, like I've been saying ... if they do get started late on their spring training, can't you just imagine the baseball schedules continuing right into November and December.

Say ... wouldn't that be something if they had the World peries is one utadium and the Super Bowl right next door ALL ON THE SAME DAY, TOO!

The result was a Penn siondown that left Villanova Coach Jack Kraft doing a slow burn after the unheralded Quakers upset the ninth-ranked Wildcats

The only other team in The Associated Press Top Ten to see action was the fourth-ranked. Davidson Wildcats, who acratched out a 90-82 triumph. A long jump shot by sophomore Stove Bilsky with three seconds left gave Penn its dramatic victory and saddled Villanova with its second loss in 12

The Quakers froze the ball after Villanova's high-scoring Howard Porter, who managed only three points all night, missed a free throw with 3:35 remaining. Villanova stayed in its zone and finally Penn called time out with 26 seconds left and again five seconds later. "The play was set up for either me or Dave Wohl to take a jumper." Bilsky explained. "'I looked at the clock and saw there were only seven seconds left. It was a little further out than I usually shoot from, but I knew there wouldn't be time to
