Commissioners to take oath

LAKE MARY — Two city commissioners will be sworn in for a two-year term late this afternoon in Lake Mary. Commissioner George Duryea, Seat 2, and Commissioner A.R. "Doc" Jore, Seat 4, were re-elected without opposition.

The oath of office will be administered by Circuit Judge Wallace H. Hall during a special called meeting of the Lake Mary City Commission this afternoon.

The only other item on the agenda for the meeting is the annual election of Deputy Mayor, which is conducted by members of the commission.

The meeting is scheduled to begin at 4:30 this afternoon, in the commission chambers of Lake Mary City Hall, 100 N. Country Club Road.

Cop injured in collision

LONGWOOD — A Casselberry Police officer was taken to South Seminole Community Hospital after his bicycle collided with a car this morning.

According to Lt. Russ Cohen of the Longwood Police Department, Officer William E. Robinson III was riding his bicycle into the parking lot of the Lake Kathryn Food Mart on U.S. Highway 17-92 when he collided with a Plymouth Duster driven by Martha Beers of Casselberry.

The extent of Robinson's injuries are not known, though he was being interviewed by police investigators this morning. Beers was not hurt in the accident.

No charges have been filed at this time.

Davie ticket wins jackpot

TALLAHASSEE — One lucky ticket sold in the Fort Lauderdale suburb of Davie last week is the only one in the state to match all six numbers for a Florida Lotto jackpot estimated at $7 million.

The numbers 5-8-14-19-21-47 turned up in a drawing late Saturday.

Correction

Due to an error in the Sanford Main Street Community Calendar, the 10th Annual Nostalgia Car Show, sponsored by the Celery City Cruisers, will be held on Nov. 13 rather than Nov. 7 as listed, and subsequently published in the Sanford Herald's weekend-to-do guide.

The event will be held from 10 a.m. until 4 p.m.

Groups join forces; marketing study to begin

By NICK PFEIFAU

SANFORD — The Waterfront Master Plan Steering Committee and Sanford Main Street organization are planning to join forces, undertaking a massive marketing study. The Sanford City Commission will consider the proposal at tonight's commission meeting. The request is for a consultant service contract with Andersen & Associates in the amount of $2,000.

The city will be deciding if it will allocate half of the money, $1,000. Jay Marder, director of Planning and Development for the city has suggested the money come from the Department of Engineering and Planning budget for architectural fees.

The remaining $1,000 is to be given by the Sanford Main Street organization, through a grant from Southern Bell.

The Main Street Board met on Oct. 18 and gave a consensus vote to work in conjunction with the Waterfront Committee to compile the study. It also agreed to share the cost of the project.

According to the agreement to be considered, Andersen & Associates will prepare a brief. See Study, Page 5A

SANFORD — While nearly 2,000 athletes are expected at this week's Golden Age Games in Sanford, only about 100 of them were on hand for the colorful opening ceremonies at the Sanford Civic Center.

A famous golden or rather, yellow athlete was on hand to help those on hand get ready for the competition.

Gunfire ends dispute over pig's feet

By NICK PFEIFAU
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — A dispute police say was over some pig's feet resulted in a shooting last night.

Twenty-one-year-old Jeffrey Butler, of Lincoln Heights, was taken to Orlando Regional Medical Center suffering from gunshot wounds.

A hospital spokesman said his condition was serious but stable as of 8 a.m. this morning.

No arrest had been made in the case as of late this morning.

The shooting was said to have taken place at approximately 10:40 p.m. Sunday night, at the Old Duck Barbecue, 18th Street and Strickland Avenue, just west of Sanford near Lincoln Heights.

Sheriff's department spokesman Ed McDonough said the incident apparently started in a dispute between Butler and Alton Dixon, 21, also of Lincoln Heights, over a possible theft of some pig's feet. "During the argument," he said, "Butler apparently hit Dixon over the head several times with a shovel, and Dixon reportedly

Review of officials' performance discussed

By J. MARK BARFIELD
Herald Senior Staff Writer

SANFORD — Members of the Seminole County Charter Review Commission endorsed having commissioners participate in the department director review process.

Although CRC members were reluctant to have county officials come under periodic official commission review, they endorsed granting commissioners the opportunity to formally comment on official's annual performance reports.

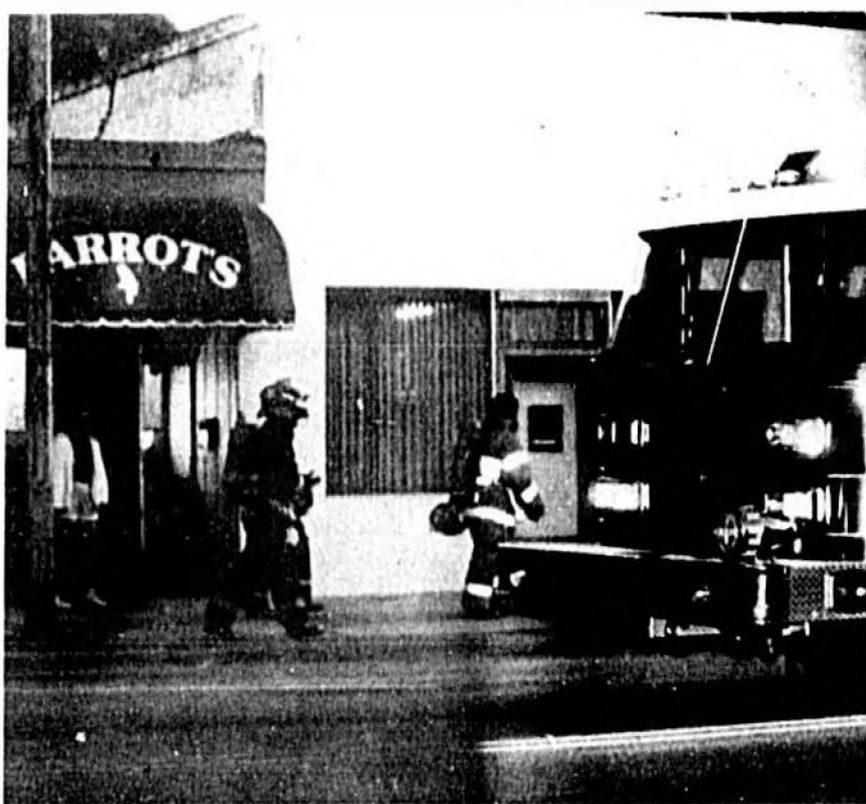

Several CRC members have called for formalized commission input to department heads' performance to make the bureaucracy more accountable to the public.

County Manager Ron Rahm told the review panel if commissioners were allowed to formally review chief employees, it would disrupt his authority and chain of command.

Seminole High grads tapped as exceptional

By VICKI DeSORMIER
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — Twelve Seminole High School graduates were named among the more exceptional students in the country by the College Board recently.

The students were recognized for their exceptional achievement on the college-level Advanced Placement examinations.

Only about 11 percent of the more than 400,000 students who took the Advanced Placement examinations in May of this year performed at a level that is sufficiently high so as to qualify them for this recognition.

Additionally, two of the students, Charlotte Hightower and Trung Vong, were named for the AP Scholar with Distinction Award.

To qualify for that award Vong and Hightower were required to score at least a 3 on five or more Advanced Placement exams with an average score of at least 3.50.

The AP Scholar with Honor Award has been presented to Cherise Scott.

Scott qualified for that award by See Students, Page 5A

Much planning made weekend a big success

The Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce tries to maintain a calendar of events for the area. The original purpose was to avoid a conflict between organizations in planning for various functions.

This year, everyone took a risk. Three major events were held on the same weekend. World Class powerboats were zipping around Lake Monroe. Shoppers and the curious were visiting the Holiday CraftFest sponsored by the Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce at Fort Mellon Park. And, the Golden Age Games held opening ceremonies at the Civic Center.

Dropping temperatures may have been a factor in reducing the overall turnout of spectators.

It does prove however, that holding a number of events on the same weekend can be beneficial to everyone. People who may have come for the boat races had the opportunity to start some of their holiday shopping.

Golden Age Games participants may have had their first encounter with boats capable of speeds beyond 100 miles per hour.

Out of state visitors coming to Sanford may have learned for the first time, of the fun and competition offered in the week-long Golden Age Games.

The holding of more than one event at a time is not exactly new in Sanford. We do it in December as well. The annual St. Lucia Festival and Sanford Christmas Parade, along with the lighted boat parade, crowning of Miss St. Lucia, and other activities, have regularly been a delight to one and all.

By the end of this year, because of this past weekend's events and the up-coming holiday festivities, many visitors may have had their first opportunity to see Sanford and meet its people.

We applaud people who work so diligently in arranging these events. They are giving us an opportunity to put our best foot forward.

Goldsboro revitalization

Westside Community Association is a committed, organized and concerned group of residents who live on the west side of Sanford in the community of Goldsboro. Our purpose and goal is to make some positive improvements in our community. We realize we can no longer sit back and allow our community to continue on the course it has taken and therefore must put forth our every effort to make these improvements become reality. The projects we have taken upon ourselves may not seem important nor spectacular to some of you, but they are very significant in achieving our goals.

Our first project is nearing completion. The business district welcome sign located at the corner of S. Lake Ave. and West 13th St. We would like to thank the following list of business owners who donated funds to assist in this project: Seminole National Bank, First Impressions Early Childhood Development Center, Tip Top Supermarket, Tiago Tavern, Dr. Errol H. Cherry, Poplar Market, Southwest Food Market, Ice Enterprises of Mid-Florida, C&D Grocery, Sunshine Liquor, Idels Food Store, John Daniels Fuel Service, Williams Fish Market, Mark's Place and McCoy's Deluxe Cleaners. Without your participation and interest, we could not have completed this project.

Our second project, which involves placing garbage cans and dumpsters along West 13th St. has begun. We would like to thank the city of Sanford (mayor, city manager and department heads and employees) for their donation of four dumpsters and four (30 gallon) garbage cans and placement of same which are being used in the community as a deterrent to throwing trash along the streets in which we live. Our goal is to place more 30-gallon trash cans further along West 13th Street as soon as we can raise more funds or by donations.

Our third goal is to plant flowers at the base of the welcome sign and flowers along West 13th St., which will be a positive enhancement for our community. We thank GoldenRule Housing & Community Development for contributing to the redevelopment in our community. GoldenRule has built five homes in Goldsboro and is building the sixth home now.

Goldsboro needs some serious redevelopment and rehabilitation of old homes and buildings that are still in existence in our neighborhood and we plan to do something about it. We also thank Seminole National Bank for their donations, interest and support of our efforts to improve our community. Westside Community Association asks for yours and the community's continued support in helping us reach our goal as we strive for some positive "improvements" in our community.

A very hard First Amendment case

For 31 years, Peter Melzer, 52, has been a teacher of physics at the Bronx High School of Science in New York. He is now a pariah in much of the city, having been exposed — by hidden cameras on a local television newscast — as a member of the North American Man/Boy Love Association. Melzer, it turned out, has written for — and occasionally edited — the NAMBLA Bulletin.

The revelation that a pedophile is a New York City teacher led to an exhaustive report by Edward Stancik, the school system's special commissioner of investigations. Stancik strongly recommended that Melzer be fired, or at the very least, be removed from unsupervised contact with students.

The new chancellor of the school system, Raimon Cortines — a thoughtful, kindly man — was unequivocal, Melzer, he said, should be dismissed because teachers are role models and Melzer's "advocacy and promotion of illegal activities makes him unfit to serve as a classroom role model."

At first, Melzer's union, the United Federation of Teachers — traditionally a fierce defender of its members' due process rights — abandoned Melzer. Said a spokesman for the union: "Some teachers are concerned about where you draw the line" in what they are permitted to do on their own. "but it's the position of the union that this is where you draw the line." (Since then, the union's line has changed and it will assist Melzer.) He also has his own experienced constitutional lawyer.

What also may assist Melzer is a footnote well inside the official Stancik report: "We have gained across no direct evidence that Melzer has ever overtly acted in an inappropriate manner with his students." This conclusion was reached after interviews with,

He is now a pariah in much of the city, having been exposed as a member of the North American Man/Boy Love Association.

among others, "present and former members of the FBI, the New York City Police Department and representatives of other law enforcement agencies."

Melzer is indignant about all this furor, pointing out that during all the years he has taught, no sexual harassment complaint has been filed against him. Moreover, he says he has never permitted discussions about any aspect of sex in his classroom. "I have always been conscious," he says, "of the propriety of my position." There is no evidence to contradict this.

Most of the press sees no complexity in this situation: Pedophiles should be removed from school. Eric Breindel, editorial page editor of the New York Post, emphasized that "the Peter Melzer case (is) exceedingly uncomplicated. It takes a special kind of mind not to recognize this reality."

Just such a mindset — not surprisingly — is that of Norman Siegel, executive director of the New York Civil Liberties Union: "Government bodies cannot penalize an employee because of the employee's association with a group that is advocating illegal activities — because mere association is not sufficient grounds."

Black Caucus holds open arms

WASHINGTON — As its clout grows on Capitol Hill, the Congressional Black Caucus is wrestling with the word "inclusion." During its annual conference here this fall, the caucus found common cause with two men who fall outside the mainstream of black politics: convicted junk-bond king Michael Milken and controversial Nation of Islam minister, Louis Farrakhan.

"We no longer will allow people to divide us," said caucus Chairman Kweisi Mfume, D-Md., in a bow to the flame-throwing Farrakhan. Jewish leaders have fought Farrakhan since he called Judaism a "gutter religion." As for Milken, whose insider deal-making produced some of the biggest financial flops of the 1980s, caucus member Maxine Waters, D-Calif., feels forgiving toward one of the founding fathers of the Greed Decade. "I thought he was someone worth talking to and listening to," Waters told our associate Jan Moller, adding that she has known Milken since before he went to prison and admires his "underdog" career rise.

As its clout grows on Capitol Hill, the Congressional Black Caucus is wrestling with the word "inclusion."

The CBC's open-door policy doesn't apply to one of its own members. Rep. Gary Franks, R-Conn., the sole Republican in the caucus, has been battling the group since early last summer, when some members sought his removal. Although Franks was eventually allowed to stay (he had already paid $10,000 in dues for two years), his activities as a member of the "other party" earned him a vitriolic rebuke in a seven-page "Dear Colleague" letter from Rep. William Clay, D-Md. Clay blasted Franks for his "insensitivity and callous disregard for the basic rights and freedoms of 35 million black Americans."

Among Franks' sins was standing up against the practice of creating gerrymandered congressional districts that at some points are only connected by a highway. Franks has also voted to control the growth of entitlement spending.

With a Democrat in the White House, and a membership that jumped from 28 to 40 in the last election, the CBC is enjoying new celebrity and clout. Many longtime members have moved into leadership positions, and its swelling membership has emboldened it to register on issues ranging from Haiti to health care.

Some members are counting votes and naming names. In a recent internal memo to Rep. Mel Watt, D-N.C., Clay outlined a "list of key votes" by members in the North Carolina congressional delegation that "has the potential to affect black Americans positively or adversely.... Unfortunately, in too many instances, the record shows that too many elected members of Congress from the majority race have totally abandoned the legitimate concerns of their black constituents, and have recklessly disregarded their black citizens' fundamental freedoms."

These "fundamental freedoms" are somewhat far-fung: school milk programs, unemployment compensation and cuts in the Medicare program. To cast the "correct vote for Black people," according to Clay, members had to vote against $27.2 billion in Medicare cuts, in favor of $5.7 billion in emergency unemployment benefits and in favor of a bill that gave $4.9 billion to "transportation needs," among other things.

For the CBC, dissent does not appear to be one of the "fundamental freedoms."

HODDING CARTER

Canada's upheaval our future?

When a political party explodes before your eyes, as the Conservatives did in Canada's national election last week, it is a stunning spectacle. The people's verdict hits with the impact of a nuclear bomb. When public confidence in an entire political system slowly but steadily erodes, as it has over the past two decades in the United States, it is less spectacular but the eventual consequences are likely to be equally far-reaching.

The dust has settled in Canada by now. The ruling party for a decade, the Progressive Conservatives, find themselves with only two seats in Parliament. There is no precedent in North American political history for such a wipeout. The chief political beneficiary of the voters' cataclysmic discontent was the Liberal Party, which won a comfortable governing majority.

But the truly significant result was the transformation of two rambunctious minority parties from borderline annoyance to meaningful opposition. The separatist Bloc Quebecois, which aims for an independent Quebec, went from eight to 54 seats in Parliament and the right-wing Reform Party went from one to 52.

What do all these facts and figures have to do with that part of America that lies below the Canadian border? A lot. Discontent and disgust with the established order are commonplace in the United States as well. From California to New York, the voters have been saying in ways large and small that they are ready for sweeping changes in the identity and approach of those who govern them.

Rosa Perot is sometimes treated like an isolated phenomenon, a unique force of nature whose money bought him a platform but whose long-range impact on events will be minimal. That analysis makes the mistake of confusing the messenger with the message.

It also ignores the fact that Perot the man and Perot the message are both very much alive. Ask Bill Clinton and his political operatives if you need independent confirmation.

The nearly 20 million Americans who voted for Perot last year were saying something that millions continue to say today. They no longer have any faith in the ability or the will of the two established parties to clean up their act or to re-establish links of reciprocal obligation between the government and the people.

That is essentially what voters in 17 states and 12 cities said in approving term limits for state and federal offices last year and others joined in saying this week. Unless the Supreme Court eventually decides that it requires a constitutional amendment to impose limits on congressional service, the number of states and municipalities with term limits will grow exponentially in the immediate future. What that will mean is a near-revolutionary turnover on Capitol Hill and scores of statehouses within a decade.

Congress and the president are doing their best to guarantee that voter anger will not diminish. For instance, there will be no meaningful campaign reform legislation from this Congress. Something called campaign reform will be passed, but its effects will be minimal. Incumbents and millionaires will still have massive advantages in most campaigns.

Although Bill Clinton was elected with the smallest percentage of the eligible electorate on his side since the election of John Quincy Adams in 1824, he took office on a tide of public hope that he could do what he promised and reconnect the governed with their governors. So far that has proved to be an unfulfilled dream.

But there is no rush to the Republicans. Recent elections have featured a "throw the rascals out" mentality. Incumbency rather than ideology has been the target.

A little over two years ago, the Centel Public Accountability Project ran focus group discussions in three states. Its findings, written by pollster Peter Hart, a Democrat, and Doug Bailey, a Republican political consultant, could have been written today. Among them:

Americans are apprehensive and downbeat about the way things are going. They are convinced that politicians in Washington put self-preservation ahead of the public interest. Many have lost confidence in the electoral system as a means of influencing government and the rest are in the process of losing it.

Prophetically, Bailey and Hart wrote, "There is a fertile field in America today for opportunistic candidates who are willing to exploit people's anger, because so many people are convinced that traditional politics no longer even notice their anger." This was July 1991, and Perot was a half-year away.

Look northward again, not only at the Conservatives' obliteration but also at the strong emergence of two new parties. Consider our own history, and particularly the death of an intellectually bankrupt Whig Party and the rise of a new Republican Party in the middle of the 19th century.

Will it happen again? Numerous signs point in that direction. All the inertial forces that have reinforced and undergirded the traditional two-party system are slackening perceptibly before our eyes.

The people's verdict hits with the impact of a nuclear bomb.

Racers from Johnny Travis' race team will be heading back to Hammond, Louisiana today following the conclusion of the performance boat races held on Lake Monroe this weekend. Travis' team was among about 25 teams that came from around the world to take part in the international championships here.

Gene study may offer way to treat Alzheimer's soon

By PAUL REGER
AP Science Writer

WASHINGTON — A new understanding about how a gene influences Alzheimer's disease offers fresh hope for a diagnostic test and, eventually, a drug to prevent the memory-robbing disorder.

At a symposium Sunday sponsored by the federal National Institute on Aging, a series of new studies showed that one form of a gene called apolipoprotein-E, or apoE, may protect some people from developing Alzheimer's disease, while a flawed form of the same gene substantially increases the risk. The research, originated by a Duke University team led by Dr. Allen Roses, showed that a rare form of the gene, called apoE2, appears to protect people from developing Alzheimer's disease.

but another form of the gene, apoE4, results in a substantially greater risk of developing the disease.

"This is a major discovery that moves Alzheimer's research to a new and higher level," said Stuart Roth of the Alzheimer's Association. "It offers real hope for the management of Alzheimer's disease."

"There is almost universal agreement now about the importance of apoE in Alzheimer's," said Dr. Robert Katzman of the University of California, San Diego. He said the discovery, for the first time, offers the possibility of developing a drug that would copy the natural protective action against Alzheimer's that may be provided by the apoE2 gene.

"This could have a very, very major impact," said Katzman. A statement from the National Institute on Aging called the apoE gene discovery "a breakthrough in Alzheimer's research, a disease that has baffled researchers for over 20 years."

Roses announced earlier this year that he and his group had proven that people with the apoE4 gene had an increased risk of developing Alzheimer's.

In the body, each cell has two copies of the apoE gene, which is on chromosome 19. About 79 percent of the population has at least one copy of an apoE variant called E3. There are about 14 percent with at least one copy of E4, and only about 7 percent with copies of a third variant called E2.

Roses said 90 percent of people with two E4 genes will have Alzheimer's by age 80.

earning grades of 3 or more on four or more Advanced Placement exams with an average grade of 3.25.

Nine Seminoles qualified for the AP Scholar Award by completing three or more Advanced Placement exams and scoring at least a 3 on all of them.

They are Valerie Benge, Christopher Black, Joseph Hoffman, Stephen Humburg, Nicola Johnson, James Neville, Gregory Rebis, Dustin Tran and Derek Westfall. All but Black have graduated. He is a senior this year.

The Advanced Placement examinations, which students take in May of each year, are taken after the students complete the grueling college-level Advanced Placement courses. They are graded on a five-point scale with five being the highest score.

Most of the nation's colleges and universities award credit and/or placement for grades of 3 or higher. Some institutions will offer a year of credit to students with a sufficient number of qualifying grades.

Airport noise to be discussed

By NICK PFRIFAP
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — The Sanford Airport Authority will hold its November meeting tomorrow morning. The following items have been placed on the agenda:

- Consideration of the F.A.R. Part-150 Noise Study.
- Report from Gordon Evans, of Cloudkiss Beverages, Inc.
- Consideration of sub-lease by Knight Flight, Ltd., to Bill Van Epps.
- Consideration of bids for construction of international arrivals building and terminal renovations.

• Consideration of sale of Cardinal Stock.

The noise study has been a topic of discussion during previous meetings of the Airport Authority, as well as the Lake Mary City Commission. Several residential areas to the north of Lake Mary have complained about the problems of noise caused by large aircraft landing from the westerly direction onto the airport's longest runway.

The Airport Authority meeting will begin at 9 a.m. Tuesday morning, in the conference room of Building 1, at the Central Florida Regional Airport.

in the public," said Rabun. "But neither does a preacher unless he's Jesus Christ, or better."

Larry Dale said though he supports greater commission input, he did not want to disrupt Rabun's authority.

"I didn't mean to have a Roman emperor kind of thing where you parade the department heads past and it's thumbs up or thumbs down," said Dale. "But there's no public input into the evaluation process. We need to give some thought on how to get the commission involved so the public feels they're involved with the process."

Former county commissioner Fred Streetman said he was concerned a commission affirmation process would force employees to make recommendations based on political survival, rather than their expertise. "It's positive insulation," he said of the current system.

Streetman said Rabun and former managers have always been responsive to public complaints, especially if they are passed on from commissioners.

As a compromise, former Lake

Mary mayor Randy Morris suggested Rabun invite commissioners to submit written comments during officials' annual reviews. Such comments, if offered, would be added to the officials' personnel record.

Rabun said he had "no problem" with the suggestion. The recommendation brought unanimous support for the committee and will be scheduled for a public hearing.

In other votes, the CRC will take public comment on whether county officers such as the sheriff and tax collector should continue to be elected or appointed. They will also seek public comment on whether school board members should continue to be elected without regard to party or changed to a partisan process.

CRC members decided not to actively seek public comment on whether all long-term debts should be approved by voters, whether a separate audit process is needed or whether fire or police service should be consolidated in the county. When the public hearings are scheduled, the public may ask the CRC to take up those topics again.

Banana George, is the nation's oldest and probably best known barefoot waterskier.

The Golden Age athletes are in town to celebrate the 19th annual games in Sanford. The celebration of senior citizen athletics in Sanford is the longest-running senior Olympic games in the country.

Blair, whose water skiing career is sponsored by Chiquita bananas, may have looked like he doesn't take life seriously, dressed in yellow from head to toe when he arrived at the opening ceremonies in a yellow Cadillac, but there is one thing that he does take seriously: his health.

He spoke to the athletes who had gathered about the importance of continued good health and activity.

The athletes will participate in activities ranging from bridge to track and field, from knitting to swimming.

Blair encouraged them to stay active, mentally and physically. After Blair lit the ceremonial Olympic flame in the torch on the lakefront outside the civic center, the Pan-American headed to the airport for healthy snacks, some lively entertainment and to prepare for the games which kick off in force today.

Earlier yesterday the sailing competition kicked off on Lake Baldwin at the Orlando Naval Training Center.

Today, athletes will play tennis, checkers and golf and participate in synchronized swimming, bowling, canoe racing and billiards.

There will also be a reception at the Sanford Civic Center this evening.

The document also says, "The consultant shall prepare a master plan showing proposed location of the market share as identified in the market plan for downtown/waterfront Sanford. The master plan shall specifically identify activity centers (im-

Helen Stairs, chairman of the Main Street Economic Development Committee has indicated that Main Street has already done a total inventory of buildings within the program area, determined total available space, the number of businesses, and number of buildings in the area.

Marder says the contract, "represents both a quick-start to the marketing and planning of the waterfront/downtown area as well as a first step to formally coordinate the efforts of Sanford Main Street and the Waterfront Master Plan Steering Committee." "In short," he says, "existing economic data and available market analysis will be reviewed, major target users will be identified and physical locations will be designated and prioritized as potential sites for proposed activities and targeted users."

Marder has submitted a recommendation to the commission that the contract be authorized, and the $1,000 be allocated.

The matter is scheduled for consideration during the regular meeting of the Sanford City Commission, scheduled to begin at 7 p.m., in the commission chambers of Sanford City Hall, 300 N. Park Avenue.

Flag titles on line

SANFORD — The Eagles and Predators both won to remain tied in the Minor Division, while the 49ers were upset to set up a winner take all game in the Major Division in the Sanford Recreation Department Youth Flag Football League at McKibbin Park Saturday.

The Eagles knocked off the Bulldogs (2-3), 13-6, and the Predators blanked the Seminoles (0-5), 20-0, to give the two leaders 4-1 records with one week left in the season.

Next week the Seminoles play the Eagles at 9 a.m. and the Predators play the Bulldogs at 10 a.m. If both teams win, or if both teams lose, a playoff would be played between the two at 11 a.m. at McKibbin Park.

The Steelers (2-3) pulled off the upset of the year, besting the previously unbeaten 49ers, 19-6. The 49ers loss, coupled with a Dolphins 32-13 victory over the Cowboys (0-5), gives both the 49ers and Dolphins 4-1 records heading into next week's last game.

At 11 a.m. (or noon, depending on the Minor results), the Steelers will face the Cowboys, then at noon (or 1 p.m.), the 49ers and Dolphins will square off for the division title.

A picnic and trophy presentation ceremony will take place after the 49ers-Dolphins contest.

AROUND THE NATION

Jets stymie Dolphins again

EAST RUTHERFORD, N.J. — The Jets beat Shula and the Dolphins for the second time this season, 27-10, at the Meadowlands. The Jets have won 21 times against Don Shula, more than any other team, including an upset over his Baltimore Colts in the third Super Bowl.

Shula remained tied with George Halas as the NFL's winningest coach with 324 victories and is 28-21-1 lifetime against the Jets.

Shula will get another chance next Sunday in Philadelphia against the Eagles.

Boomer Esiason hit 23-of-32 passes for 256 yards and three touchdowns for the Jets (4-4).

Scott Mitchell struggled for the first time for Miami (6-2). He was 23-for-44 for 293 yards, most after the game had been decided.

Sanders tramples Bucs

DETROIT — Barry Sanders ran for 187 yards to lead the offense and Detroit's defense recorded its first shutout in 10 years as the Lions crushed the Tampa Bay Buccaneers, 23-0. The win at the Silverdome improved Detroit to 7-2, its best start since 1962.

Tampa Bay (2-6) was limited to 146 yards, just 44 on the ground. The Lions' last shutout was on Sept. 4, 1983, also against the Bucs.

Grissom claims Busch crown

HICKORY, N.C. — Steve Grissom wrapped up the 1993 NASCAR Busch Grand National Series title while veteran short track driver Johnny Rumbley pulled off a stunning upset in the Granger Select 300 at Hickory Motor Speedway.

Grissom, of Gadsden, Ala., finished ninth in the 300-lap race on the .363-mile track, while closest challenger David Green finished 17th after a multitude of problems. Grissom has a 188-point lead entering the finale at Atlanta, a margin Green cannot overcome in one race.

Rumbley drove an unopposed Oldsmobile in only his seventh Busch Series race.

Completing the top five were Chuck Bown, Pontiac, Tommy Houston, Ford, Ricky Craven, Chevrolet, and Tommy Ellis, Chevrolet.

Panthers stop Quebec

QUEBEC — Patrick Lebeau, Scott Mellanby and Randy Gilhen each scored a goal as the Florida Panthers handed the Quebec Nordiques their third straight defeat, 3-1.

Lebeau, who has played in only five NHL games, including two this season, gave Florida a 1-0 lead with a power-play goal at 7:20 of the second period. Mellanby made it 2-0 with two minutes left in the second period, redirecting a pass by Brian Skrudland into the net.

The Nordiques' Mats Sundin scored at 1:26 of the third, ending the shutout bid of John Vanbiesbrouck. But Gilhen's goal, into an empty net with 41 seconds left, clinched it.

Senna wins F1 closer

ADELAIDE, Australia — Ayrton Senna of Brazil won his final Formula One matchup with Alain Prost of France, lapping all but two of his rivals in Sunday's Australian Grand Prix.

Senna, the three-time world champion averaged 107.611 mph in his McLaren-Ford in the 79-lap race on the 2.348-mile street circuit. Prost, who already had clinched his fourth world title going into the final race of his career, was second in his Williams-Renault.

Orangewood's title results in haircut for coach

From Staff Reports

MAITLAND — What's a little hair between a coach and his team?

About halfway through the season, the members of the Orangewood Christian School boys soccer team shaved their heads. When asked to follow suit, Coach Shawn Bower said the Rams would have to win the state championship first.

On Saturday night, they did just that, beating Lakeland Christian 3-1 in the Florida High School Activities Association's Fall Boys Soccer state championship game at Lake Destiny Park.

"I lost my hair," said Bower. "During the mid part of the season, all the members of the team shaved their heads. When they said it was my turn, I said they'd have to win the state tournament first."

"It was worth it."

Using a modified lineup employing five defenders, the Rams (20-3-1) handed Lakeland Christian (21-1) its only loss of the season and avenged a 1-0 loss earlier in the season.

"We were really focused and that was the difference," said Brower. "Lakeland Christian didn't seem to be as focused as we were. They had already beaten us once and everybody else they played."

Orangewood Christian took a 2-1 lead in the first half on goals by Dan Vandestreek and Chris Miller. John McCully, a sophomore who was the fifth defender in the Rams' lineup, assisted on Vandestreek's goal.

Scott Armstrong gave the Rams some breathing room when he scored off of an assist by Jakob Hardrick with less than 10 minutes left in the game. After that, Orangewood Christian concentrated on protecting the lead.

"McCully did a phenomenal job," said Bower. "The entire defense did a great job. That was the difference. We knew the game would be won or lost at the midfield and that's where we won it."

"Their sweeper moved up to try to offset our fifth defender. After Scott scored with nine minutes left in the game, we dropped a striker back and played to keep it 3-1."

The result was the first state championship in Orangewood Christian's history and a impromptu haircut for Bower.

There was no word whether or not Orangewood Christian girls volleyball coach Diane Prulin has made the same deal with her team, which plays Plantation-American Heritage this Friday in the Class 1A state semifinals at New Port Richey-River Ridge High School.

DOUBLE TAKES

Road Warriors
 Lyman High School's football team has an unusual record so far this season, going 0-for-4 in games in Volusia County but winning three of four in Seminole County but winning three of four in Volusia County. This Friday, Coach Larry Baker and the Greyhounds will try to end their Seminole County winless streak when they host Lake Brantley.

'Hounds in running for state hardware

From Staff Reports

ORLANDO — After spending all season ranked either first or second in the Florida Athletic Coaches Association's Class 5A girls cross country state poll, the Lyman Greyhounds have earned the right to put that ranking to the test at the Class 5A state championship meet next weekend.

This past Saturday, the Greyhounds easily took the last step to the state championship meet, winning the 5A-Region III championship at the Naval Training Center Annex near Orlando International Airport.

Led by top-10 finishers Kianah Bresnick, Kelly Hudson, and Maeve Alford, the Greyhounds outscored runner-up Deltona 46-79. Also qualifying for the state meet were Lake Howell (104) and Boca Raton-Spanish River (105).

The top four finishers in the two-mile race — Ramona Saridakis from Lake Worth-John I. Leonard, Oak Ridge's Nicole Singleton, Angie Olson of Lake Mary, and Boone's Kelly Magee — qualified as individuals.

Lake Mary was the only Seminole County boys team to qualify for the state meet, finishing fourth (124) behind Palm Bay (75), Oak Ridge (83), and Edgewater (114).

Seminole County also will be represented by Lake Brantley's Dan Hilley and Lyman's Rob Evans, who finished second and third, respectively, in back of Lake Mary's Toby Ayers.

All of the cross country state championship races will be run next Saturday, Nov. 13, on the north campus of Florida Community College-Jacksonville. The Class 5A girls' race is scheduled for 10 a.m. with the Class 5A boys set to run at 10:30 a.m.

Oviedo (141) finished sixth in the boys standings, Lake Brantley (143) came in seventh, and Lyman (179) eighth.

Trio swims to individual district titles

From Staff Reports

ORLANDO — Lake Brantley High School's Melissa Bateman, Lake Mary's Chad Christopher, and Lyman's Joel Frey were the only swimmers from Seminole County to claim individual district championships in Saturday's 5A-District 5 meet at the International Drive YMCA Aquatic Center.

Bateman came in first in the girls' 50-meter freestyle with a time of 24.55 seconds. Christopher won the 100 butterfly (50.21) while Frey finished first in the 200 freestyle (1:46.77).

In all, Seminole County will be sending 15 individuals (eight boys, seven girls) and 14 relays to the Class 5A state swim meet this Saturday at the YMCA Aquatic Center. The top four finishers in each event qualified for the state meet.

Winter Park (the defending state champion for both boys and girls), swept both district team titles Saturday, outscoring runner-up Dr. Phillips 275-179 for the boys' crown and second-place Lake Brantley 239-189 in the girls' chase.

Among the boys, Lake Mary (154) was third, Lyman (150) took fourth, Lake Howell (39) finished in a tie for ninth, and Oviedo (24) came in 12th.

The Lake Mary girls (87) took fourth, Oviedo (72) was fifth, Lake Howell (57) placed eighth, and Lyman finished 11th (46).

Bateman also qualified in the 100 freestyle for Lake Brantley, finishing second (53.67), Jenny DeLoach qualified in the 50 freestyle (second, 24.79) and 100 freestyle (third, 53.70).

The Patriot girls also qualified their 200 freestyle relay (second, 1:42.27), 200 medley relay (second, 1:54.22), and 400 freestyle relay (third, 3:48.54).

For Lake Mary, Jennifer Alger finished second in the 200 individual medley (2:11.90), Megan Paget-Wilkes was third in the 100 backstroke (1:02.82), and Chelsey Phillips took third in the 100 breaststroke (1:10.85).

Lake Mary also won the 200 freestyle relay (1:41.96), was second in the 400 freestyle relay (3:45.19), and

Lyman's mastery of Volusia County a mystery

Stranger things have happened, but not much stranger.

Lyman High School's football team has won three games this season, all of them on the road, all of them in Volusia County.

On Sept. 17, Lyman upended Mainland 13-6 at Daytona Beach Municipal Stadium. On Oct. 22, the Greyhounds bested the district-leading DeLand Bulldogs 27-24 at Spee Martin Stadium. And this past Friday, Lyman upset Spruce Creek 28-22 at the Spruce Creek High School Stadium.

Not even Coach Larry Baker can explain it.

"We've talked about it," said Baker. "It's come up in conversation more than once in coaches' meetings. There's no way to explain it."

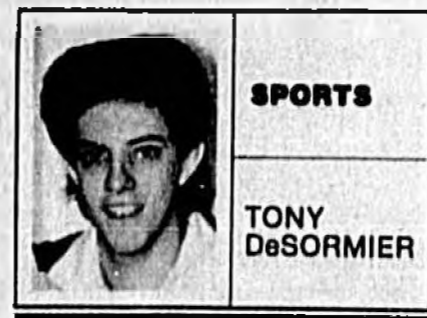

While it may be a pleasant puzzle for the Greyhounds, it's a nightmare come true for the Spruce Creek Hawks and DeLand Bulldogs. Their respective losses to Lyman well may have cost the Hawks and Bulldogs a berth in the playoffs.

"I haven't had a chance to talk to (Lake Howell coach) Mike (Bisceglia)," said Baker. "This puts them in a real good position. Still, a lot of things can happen."

Bisceglia didn't find out about Lyman's win until he reached home late Friday night after the Silver Hawks' come-from-behind win over Mainland.

"I didn't get home until 11:30 p.m.," said Bisceglia. "I walked in the house and my wife had a big smile on her face."

"I'm happy for Larry. They did a great job. We have a lot of respect for Lyman. They have good, skilled kids. They beat some good teams. I felt like Lyman had a chance (to beat Spruce Creek). I felt that they could win. I'm glad that they did."

While Lyman's victory may have knocked Spruce Creek out of the state playoffs and boosted Lake Howell into them, Baker said that the Greyhounds didn't approach Friday's game with the idea of playing the spoilers.

"The kids read the paper," said Baker. "They knew the situation. They knew the importance of the ballgame for Spruce Creek. But we told them that we needed to play this game for ourselves. We had to earn a little respect."

"We haven't played well consistently. We needed to play one for pride. We're trying to believe in ourselves and believe we could still play. The guys had something they needed to prove to themselves, that if they play well, good things will happen."

The Greyhounds have seen their share of bad things happen so far this season. On Oct. 15, Lyman lost its homecoming game to Lake Mary, lost starting tailback Kenny Lane to a knee injury, and starting quarterback Tommy Dixon to a shoulder injury.

A week ago Thursday, Lyman suffered a 35-7 whipping at home at the hands of Lake Howell. The next day, when the nine-week grades came out, the Greyhounds lost their No. 2 fallback.

But every time there was an excuse for the Greyhounds to fold their tents, they came back strong. The week after the Lake Mary nightmare, Lyman knocked off DeLand. After losing to Lake Howell, the Greyhounds did the Silver Hawks a favor by beating Spruce Creek.

"We've been riding the rollercoaster this season," admitted Baker. "But everytime something's happened, we've had some kids that stepped in and did the job."

Against Spruce Creek, it was senior quarterback Ben Moon, who threw for two touchdowns and rushed for a touchdown and a two-point conversion.

"Ben Moon played a great game at quarterback," said Baker. "That says a lot for Ben. Even though he's a senior and he wasn't the starting quarterback, he stayed around and worked hard in practice so that when and if the time came, he'd be ready to do the job. And he's done just that."

Much to the horror of the Spruce Creek Hawks and delight of the Lake Howell Silver Hawks,

Some lab tests aren't necessary

DEAR DR. GOTT: You wrote a column on bone scans and expressed surprise at patients having them done annually. Do you know that women with breast cancer get scanned every year for the first five years after mastectomy? Now I'm worried. I've had four and no longer trust my doctors.

DEAR READER: I don't object to laboratory tests, such as X-rays and bone scans, if there is a valid reason to have them done. Annual bone scans for women who have had breast cancer are certainly appropriate to identify spread of the malignancy. However, if physicians don't have sound justification for ordering such tests, I encourage patients to consider avoiding them.

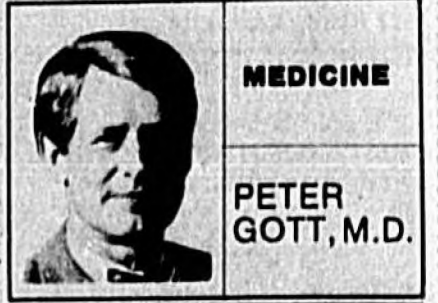

In my view -- and in the opinion of many knowledgeable authorities -- doctors order too many lab tests, including blood analyses, so that the physician's don't miss anything on liability. I encourage patients to become active partners in the decision process involving tests -- and medicines.

DEAR DR. GOTT: Some weeks ago my 34-year-old son experienced spasms during which his head would involuntarily be pulled back and his legs would go stiff. An EEG was normal, but the blood work revealed he was deficient in magnesium and had an excess of iron. It also revealed that iron was not binding to his blood cells. The spasms ceased after a magnesium supplement; however, we are concerned about the iron. Can this unused iron be toxic to his liver?

DEAR READER: This is a very unusual condition. I do not know why your son had a magnesium deficiency, which can cause severe muscle spasms. The iron overload is equally troublesome and can affect your son's liver. In most cases, iron overload affliction is inherited: Too much of the mineral is absorbed into the body and the excess quantity settles in various tissues, producing toxicity and leading to bronze skin pigmentation, cirrhosis, diabetes, arthritis, and heart disease.

Treatment includes phlebotomy (periodic removal of blood to reduce iron concentration) and, in some instances, chelating agents (to bind iron before it can cause damage).

WIN AT BRIDGE

By Phillip Alder
Bobby Fischer once claimed that he could take a chess expert and turn him into a good bridge player, but that the converse wasn't true. Perhaps he's right, perhaps not. Certainly many top bridge players begin life as chess players. Why do they move to bridge? Because it is an easier game? More sociable? Or because one mistake doesn't make you an automatic loser?

Irina Levitina is a national champion at both games. Born in Leningrad, she became one of Russia's best chess players, but in 1990 she moved to New Jersey. She has won the U.S. Women's Chess Championship for the last two years. And in July she won the Women's Knockout Teams national bridge title.

On today's deal from the final, Levitina and her team gained useful points. At both tables, West led a low spade against three no-trump. South winning East's king with the ace. On a complicated deal, Levitina's teammate Gail Greenberg ran the diamond seven at trick two. East won with the ace and returned a spade to her partner's jack. West exited with a low club. A moment later Greenberg claimed 10 tricks: one spade, two hearts, five diamonds and two clubs.

At the other table, South started with a diamond to the queen. Levitina's partner, Dorothy Truscott, played well by ducking. Declarer led a heart to her ace, followed by another diamond to the king. East won with the ace and returned a spade. With the diamond jack as an entry, Levitina cleared her spades. Declarer lost three spade and two diamond tricks for one down.

HOROSCOPE

By Bernice Bede Osol
YOUR BIRTHDAY
Nov. 9, 1993

In the year ahead you might make two major changes which could each branch off into different areas. Anything related to the original sources would turn out lucky.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) New life can be breathed into an old venture today. If you take it apart piece by piece, you might discover ways to resurrect it so it produces benefits. Know where to look for romance and you'll find it. The Astro-Graph Matchmaker instantly reveals which signs are romantically perfect for you. Mail $2 and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to Matchmaker, c/o this newspaper, P.O. Box 4465, New York, N.Y. 10163.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Although you'll be a high achiever today, most of what you'll do will be for the benefit of others as well as for yourself. The results of your efforts will have longevity.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Usually it's what we know (that is more significant than what we know. However, with the cycle you're now in contacts could prove more valuable than your expertise.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Someone who is a casual acquaintance might come to you today for help in sorting out a problem. If you take on the assignment, don't be afraid to ask for a fee.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Alliances or partnership arrangements you make at this time have excellent chances for success. Your instincts should tell you which are productive and which aren't.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) You're now in a cycle where good things might come to you without having to expend too much effort on your own behalf. Reap its benefits, but do not let this become an indifferent habit.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) You won't feel comfortable today if something important develops in which you'll play a minor role. You belong up front calling the shots and you'll figure out a way to get there.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20)

Balancing several endeavors simultaneously is something that gives you an edge over your opposition today. You might put on a performance that will win acclaims from your associates.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Sometimes it's unwise to change our minds or our plans at the last moment. However, today when making adjustments is when you are likely to function at your best.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) At the present there are several inter-related situations which could individually and collectively be profitable for you. If you find one, continue to look for more.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) A creative friend of yours might discuss with you today a new concept he/she recently conceived. It's a good idea and there may be room for you to share in it.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Our roles in life tend to vary from time to time. Sometimes we're designated givers, sometimes we're designated recipients. Happily, you're in the latter category today.
