

Gondoliers Win Over G-Men By Score Of 4-0

Jake Bunch Hurls 7 Hit Baseball For Leach Delegation; G-Men Need Win

VENETIAN PARK, Leesburg, Sept. 14.—The Leesburg Gondoliers defeated the Gainesville G-Men by a score of 4 to 0 last night to make the count of game 3 to 2 still in favor of the G-Men in the final series to determine the club series to play the winner of the Georgia Florida League for the Southeastern Class "D" championship.

The veteran Jake Bunch was on the mound for the Gondoliers and tossed seven hit baseballs, keeping them well scattered while his mates jumped on Jim Weldon and Don Helms for eight hits which they bunched in three scoring innings.

The scoring started in the first inning when the Gondoliers pushed across a lone tally. Mel Arnold walked and was sacrificed to second by Skinny McGowan. Frenkie Drews then slashed out a two bagger to left center field to send Arnold across the plate.

The Gondoliers tallied again in the fourth when Drews was safe on Lou Rogino's miscue. Chet Clemmons walked and Drews scored when Billy Gobel singled over third base.

The Leesburg crew tallied twice more in the seventh when Drews was safe on a fielder's choice. A passed ball sent Drews to second and Clemmons hit a line single through the box to tally Drews. Clemmons went to second on a balk and scored on Gobel's third hit of the evening.

The two teams move back to Harris Field in Gainesville tonight for the sixth battle of the

High School Band To Begin Practice Thursday Evening

Professor T. M. Dollison, director of the Seminole High School band, yesterday announced that the musical program this season would be the greatest ever held in Seminole High School history.

Commenting on the band for this year, Mr. Dollison stated that the group out two members were coming up from the Junior High School.

The director stated the present 30 piece band will undergo organization and that military formations and drills will be held this fall.

The band will start drilling Thursday afternoon in the rear of the high school and for the present one hour rehearsals are planned but Mr. Dollison said that if the members of the band would like to have two or three hours practice a week, it would be possible to do so.

Fred Brekke, tackle on the Tulane football varsity, was a life guard at during the summer at New Richmond, Wisconsin.

Harvard astronomers announce that they have found a temperature drop of 1,500 degrees between the surface of the sun and its overlying atmosphere.

The series and the G-Men still need one win to clinch the series while the Gondoliers have to win two straight.

Women Can Swim Without Bloomers

CHICAGO, (AP)—It will be perfectly legal for women to swim without bloomers and wear bathing longer than six inches when ordinance changes made by the city council become effective.

Deletions and amendments will make other things legal, too, such as selling liquor in drug stores, showing motion pictures in private homes without a license and parading across bridges in perfect step.

IN THE FIELD OF SPORTS

Warren Odham got a free image next week should bring out a lot of fight in the boys that will wear the beautiful Fed uniforms his fall.

Local fans may hear a new kind of public address system at the football games this fall. It would be through the Celery Fed football team if the U. S. entered war during the next two months.

They would lose Jim Brown, Tigo Howell, Darrell Ferguson, Red Williams, Fred Ganas and Charlie Leavitt, all National guardsmen.

Tampa University along with Stetson and Miami will all get a crack at the University of Florida Gators this season.

They say that Stetson will put the best ball club in many years up against Florida on the 24th.

The high school band may have a real treat for you this season and possibly a 55 piece organization.

Joe Ruggerio left for Niagara Falls yesterday morning but he may return in about three weeks to take over a position in Orlando.

It looks like Pittsburgh is having a real battle for that national loop banner.

They even rate Cincinnati in third place, a bigger threat to the Pirates than the second place Chicago Cubs.

Anyway the coming Cincinnati-Pittsburgh series will tell the tale.

Red Williams already receiving fan mail? High School stadium will be in its peak condition for the Easton opener on the 30th.

DANVILLE, Ill.—(AP)—Hard-ware merchants here report an unusually large sale of lawn mowers this year and claim that heavy rains throughout the summer have taxed old machines beyond their capacity.

The valley experiment station has a young tree known scientifically as "Carpodita Guianensis," which bears pods known as "cannonballs."

The pods are the size and shape of old-fashioned cannon balls and they explode when ripe to scatter seeds.

Dummy Scrimmage And Formations Feature Session

Entire Squad Makes Preparation For Scrimmage Drills Starting Next Week

Head Coach Leonard L. McClracken apparently found a new worry yesterday afternoon as the Celery Feds underwent a tough practice session in the rear of the high school building.

Blocking was not up to par and the tackling must also be improved if else the Fed defense this season will injure them more than anything else.

It is expected that the coaching staff will spend the next few days correcting this defect before scrimmage sessions start during the early portion of next week.

Fed mentors yesterday held a dummy scrimmage and walked through the small number of plays the boys will use this season. Sam Waitt, star and has not yet reported but he is scheduled to begin work this afternoon.

BIBLE VERSE FOR TODAY

VICTORY THROUGH MAGNANIMITY: Bless them that curse you, and pray for them which despitefully use you. Luke 6:28.

The Titusville Star-Advocate suggests that President Roosevelt is "scrapping the Party." Do you mean scrapping the party, or scrapping the party?

One is hardly surprised to read that Gen. Goering is suffering with a leg inflammation and has been confined to his room. After the inflammatory speech which he made Saturday, he should have been placed in a padded cell.

If conditions seemed a little better in Sanford today, it probably wasn't because most of the City Commissioners, and most of the County Commissioners, as well as most of the other politicians, were spending the day at Lemon Bluff.

Most commentators declare that Hitler's speech didn't decide whether it was to be peace or war. All he said was that the Czechs would have to draw and quarter themselves, and like it, and that if they didn't the Sudeten Germans would skin them alive, and what's more, he'd help you do it even if he had to lick the whole world.

People are wondering how the war in Europe could break out this month when Hitler specifically stated in his Nuremberg speech that the new fortifications on the Rhine would not be completed before winter. Perhaps Hitler was kidding. Perhaps Hitler does not intend to tell the Allies exactly when he will march into Czechoslovakia. Perhaps the fortifications are completed already.

The trial of James J. Hines on a lottery racket charge took a peculiar turn when Judge Peters ruled the case a mistrial on a technicality. Over $50,000 had been spent by the state in trying to convict the Tammany leader in a trial which had lasted 21 days. Now the trial will have to begin all over again. One would think that an intelligent judge could have found some more technical way of attaining the ends of justice.

William Green advocates a 48-hour week for all working men. That would be a fine thing if the unemployed as a group could be employed as well as the employed. Then everyone would have something to do, and national production would be reduced. Unfortunately, however, some of those who are now unemployed could not learn to do the work which would be required of them if there were a 48-hour week. Production would be reduced and the people would have to do without things they now enjoy.

In the winter of 1937 President Roosevelt first announced his attempt to pack the Supreme Court, the charge of unpopularity did not have such a strong sound as it does today. Many people who had been good Americans, Democrats, were beginning to wonder if perhaps a good thing was not the only thing to our domestic production. During the past 18 months the case of dictatorial rule has been helped by the Hitler and Mussolini who are able to prove some of their claims, not only in their own countries, but in the countries which are the de-

Chamberlain Takes To The Air

Prime Minister Chamberlain's visit to Hitler today is probably one of the most momentous events in the history of the world and upon it hangs the fate of people in every section of the universe. The prime minister's journey to Berchtesgaden is not another "Canosa," when the Emperor Henry VII humiliated himself in 1077 before Pope Gregory VII at a castle in Northern Italy.

But it is distinctly distasteful for the prime minister of a great power like Great Britain to place himself in the unstrategic position of "doing the asking" before the Nazi leader. It must hurt his pride, but it indicates that he is willing to take this unprecedented action in one last effort to avoid a world conflagration.

On the lighter side, there is one item involved in the meeting which may not seem so important but which, nevertheless, has not escaped the attention of the press and which adds proof that Chamberlain's mission is no personal lark for him.

The prime minister is making his first airplane ride and because he is 70 years old and the fact that he has never been in the air before shows that he is too engrossed in the seriousness of the situation to let a little matter of his own considerations interfere with him in pursuing peace until the last ray of hope fades.

Co-Operation In The Movies

The motion picture industry, which is participating in a million-dollar campaign to bring the business out of the red, is spending a huge sum in newspaper advertising and is giving the country an excellent example of co-operation among the various members of a big industry.

Describing the situation, the St. Petersburg Independent says: "The industry found itself faced with a rapid falling off in attendance early this summer. Such a condition might have been a signal for cutthroat competition if the industry had lost its head; actually, however, it resulted in the common-sense decision that all members of the industry should get together to put into effect a program that would benefit all members of the industry."

"It was conceded that the average quality of pictures had been falling off, so all studios went to work with a determination to produce pictures so excellent that they would wipe out the memory of former failures. The new pictures have been produced, and they are said to come up to expectations. They are to be sent out by all studios at once."

"New and better pictures, however, would not suffice if a certain portion of the movie-going public has got out of the habit of attending. So to bring the stay-aways back to see the new pictures, a special million-dollar advertising fund was created, to which major producers, smaller firms, distributors, and exhibitors have all contributed on a pro rata basis. Part of this fund is being used to finance a screen quiz, now beginning all over the country. It is believed that the public, once brought to see the new pictures, will be sold on them and patronize the movies as freely as of old."

"It is obvious that much of the permanent success of the plan will depend on the merit of the new pictures. If they are good, the plan should succeed well enough to prove what co-operation can do."

Roosevelt "Purge" Now He Knows Just How Much Tank Holds As George Wins

Balloting was brisk from the time the polls opened for the primary. Nomination is tantamount to election.

There were scattered showers but the weather was generally favorable, assuring a representative vote from the rural areas which dominate Georgia primaries under a county unit system.

Camp, the 39-year-old district attorney who was a Roosevelt backer at the Democratic national convention in 1932, and Tinsdale, red-suspended New Deal critic and former governor competing with him for George's seat, awaited returns in Atlanta.

The senator, who said the great issue raised by the President's "purge" speech at Barnstable was whether the people are capable of choosing their own servants," voted early at his home town of Vienna, and remained there for the outcome.

"I am sure the people of Georgia want a voice in the senate—not an echo," said George.

President Roosevelt liked him as a conservative and said "on most questions he and I do not speak the same language." George responded that he had "supported most of the major New Deal measures, but 'frankly differed' on others; defined himself as "a liberal within limitations of the American constitution."

Camp cast his ballot in mid-morning at Atlanta.

"The great majority of Georgians," he said in a final campaign statement, "have grateful hearts and will demonstrate their gratitude for the multitude of benefits they have received from Franklin D. Roosevelt."

Senator Lonergan, the first Democratic senator elected from Connecticut in 59 years, was renominated by the Democratic state convention by a overwhelming vote over two opponents who charged him with being a New Deal foe.

Connecticut's school board Governor, Wilbur L. Cross, was also renominated for a fifth term by a majority of the 1100 delegates. The senator, whose supporters claimed he had "stood with the Originator of the dreaded Revolutionary Tribunal which ordered the guillotining of hundreds of victims of the Reign of Terror in France was Jean Paul Marat, president of the Jacobin Club. So fanatical did Marat become that he at one time publicly asked for the heads of 270,000 Frenchmen. Delivered over to the Revolutionary Tribunal, he was acquitted and received in triumph. Sudetens Formally Ask Annexation As New Nazi State

Continued from Page One been won over to a plebiscite as a last resort to prevent war, temporarily splitting both cabinets. Complete accord of the British and French governments on Chamberlain's visit to Hitler was stressed here, and Chamberlain, it was said, will have a free hand with French support. The principal feature of Chamberlain's mission, it was said here, will be to inform the German Fuehrer in a firm but conciliatory manner of the true position of the French and British governments. Repeated doubts have been expressed by informed diplomatic sources here that Chancellor Hitler himself is aware of the extent of co-operation between London and Paris. These circles have suggested that Anglo-French discussions of policy have failed to filter through the reichsfuehrer's circle of advisors.

MILAN, Italy, Sept. 15.—(AP)—Premier Mussolini of Italy in an open letter to Viscount Runciman, the British mediator, today urged a plebiscite for "all Czechoslovak nationalities."

The letter was included in an article published in Il Duce's newspaper, Il Popolo D'Italia, and was understood to have been written by Mussolini himself. It declared: "A Czechoslovak nation does not exist." The article said Czechoslovakia was held together only by a centrifugal force and if constraint ceased the "phenomenon of dislocation of Czechoslovakia would be inevitable and irrevocable." "It is no longer time for compromises," the article continued. "Carlsbad has been left behind. (An apparent reference to the autonomy demands of the Sudet) President Beneš of Czechoslovakia—a long-time paragon of moderation—has let the race. Yes, Signor Runciman, should simply propose to Beneš a plebiscite not only for the Sudetens but for all nationalities which ask it."

Revenue From Sale Of Land Provided Funds For Capitol

Erection Of State's Headquarters Was Started In 1824

TALLAHASSEE, Sept. 15.—(AP)—Revenue from the sale of surrounding lots financed the first construction of Florida's capitol. Erection of the capitol, a $250,000 addition to which was finished only last year, started in 1824, more than 21 years before Florida became one of the United States.

Location of the capitol here started the town of Tallahassee. In fact the formal proclamation by Territorial Governor William Duval located the seat of government "about a mile southwest from the deserted fields of Tallahassee, at a point where the old Spanish road is intersected by a trail running southwesterly."

Five city blocks were reserved for the State government buildings and other lots in the big tract approved by the National Congress were sold to raise funds for erecting the capitol. The squares were named Capitol, Jackson, Washington, Wayne and Greene.

Capitol Square is occupied by the Capitol. Other are occupied by the Leon county court house, the State Supreme Court and the Road Department building, and the fifth, still owned by the State is a public park.

The territorial legislature organized here in November, 1822, occupying three city blocks created by James Robinson and S. McCall, who were among the first white persons to arrive on the site of Tallahassee.

Indians living in the vicinity offered no resistance and many of their assisted workmen in the building. The name Tallahassee was that of an Indian chief who farmed a nearby field.

Writers of the period reported Indians loitered about the government buildings and watched the proceedings of the legislature council. White settlers were housed in log cabins and tents nearby.

The council passed the legislation providing for laying out of the town of Tallahassee and construction and financing the first permanent capitol. The town was incorporated in 1825.

The first part of the capitol cost $12,000. Through the years additions were made despite litigation over their financing and agitation for removing the capitol to some other part of the state.

In 1832, work on the capitol was at a standstill because of a controversy between State officials and the contractor, Benjamin G. Thornton. Ten years passed before this was settled, but in the meantime the legislative council of 1832 provided $1,200 to paint the building, make repairs and paint the Capitol Square fence and gate.

The town limits were extended several times in order that additional lots could be sold for cash. Appeals were made to Congress but there was no help from that source. A. Patterson drilled a well on the capitol grounds in 1842 and received $350 payment.

A permanent capitol structure had been completed and was ready for the first session of the State Legislature in June, 1845. It remained without noticeable change until 1902.

A white Democratic referendum in 1900 resulted in defeat of proposals to move the capitol elsewhere, and in 1901 Governor W. S. Jennings recommended appropriation of $75,000 for erecting additions now known as the capitol's north and south wings.

The present east and west wings were erected at a cost of $250,000 after an appropriation by the Legislature in 1921 when Cary A. Hardee was governor. Appropriations since then covered repairs and some remodeling.

The 1935 Legislature appropriated $1,000,000 upon recommendation of Governor Dave Sholtz to match grants and loans from the Federal Public Works Administration for a State building program. Of this, the capitol received the recently-completed $250,000 wing which extends from east to west on the same scale as the central east-west wing.

Girl Writes A Letter And Gets Education

WILKIN, Poland, Sept. 14.—(AP) A letter to Marshall Smigly Rydz from Mania Susak, 15-year-old Jewish girl, has won her an education. When Mania discovered her parents were too poor to send her to high school, she wrote in despair to the marshal asking whether it would be possible to obtain an education at government cost.

The marshal investigated the case immediately, found she was an outstanding student and arranged for her tuition.

Gainesville Captures Play-Off Series With Win Over Gons

Pierce Corley Allows Only Four Hits For 3 To 0 Win

Ike Livingston Stars For Gainesville With A Pair Of Singles And Two Doubles In Four Attempts

HARRIS FIELD, Gainesville, Sept. 15.—The Gainesville Gons last night captured the Florida State League play-off series by defeating the Leesburg Condoliers by a score of 3 to 0.

That wasn't all, Pierce Corley, ace Gainesville southpaw, who was secured from Palatka, won his fourth game in the series and it was a shutout victory like the other three and he set a new league record for scoreless innings pitched. The record he made was 37 innings.

Corley last night allowed the Leesburg crew only four hits while his mates got nine which were good for three runs. Corley also struck out eight men while walking none.

The scoring started in the fourth inning when Ike Livingston singled to center field but was forced out at second on Nix's attempted sacrifice. Skeets Gallagher singled to left to send Nix to third. Bucky Rodgers walked to fill the bases and Lou Marina continued his wildness to walk Lou Rogins and force in Nix.

In the sixth inning, Livingston led off with his second single and went to second on Nix's sacrifice. Livingston advanced to third on a wild pitch and talked in Gallagher's single to left field.

The final Gainesville run came

Miami U. Makes Ready For Tough Football Season

Jack Harding Sees Twenty Lettermen Return To School

CORAL GABLES, Sept. 15.—Thirty-five aspirants reported to Head Coach Jack Harding Labor Day when the University of Miami opened its Fall football practice. With this number of lettermen, the Hurricane mentor must mould an eleven which will meet the Universities of Florida and Georgia, Duquesne, Drake, Bucknell, Catholic, Georgetown, Tampa, Rollins and Spring Hill.

Twenty of the squad are lettermen while only nine sophomores are included in the list of candidates. Graduation robbed the line of its brightest star, End Bob Masterson who won All-American mention last Fall and accidental death took Lou Cheena, rated second only to Capt. Eddie Dunn in the backfield.

The squad opened its Fall workouts without a tried punter. Cheena did all the booting last Fall, without a proven passer—the Hurricane completed less than one of each of four tosses they tried last Fall, and without any certainty that the scoring punch, on the last three games of the 1937 slate, has been gained.

After 30-Year Wait He Saw Skyscrapers

LOUISVILLE, Ky., (AP)—Lee Klingensmith who lives on a farm 50 miles away, had been waiting to get down to Louisville ever since his marriage 30 odd years ago but "things never shaped up just right" until after his 67th birthday.

After rounding up a heifer which had broken down the fence and got into the cornfield, Klingensmith finally got away to see the city sights.

He was willing enough to take a ride on a street-car but balked at an airplane.

"I told 'em," he explained, "I hadn't lost anything up there, and if I had, I didn't hanker to go up and look for it."

Nest Becomes Tomb For Stubborn Bees

LIVERMORE, Ia., Sept. 15.—(AP) The building which a swarm of bees liked so well as a home has become their tomb.

It all happened because the bees just wouldn't move, despite repeated efforts of workmen to dislodge them.

Four other swarms of bees in the same building heeded the workmen's demands that they take up another abode when wrecking crews started raising part of an old hotel structure.

The fifth swarm insisted on remaining in a section of the building that was to remain standing, so the contractor ordered the bees cemented in between layers of a concrete wall.

To Show Gold Flake That Caused Rush

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 15.—The original flake of gold that started the gold rush to California will be exhibited at the Golden Gate International Exposition in 1939.

James W. Marshall discovered it in the mill race of Capt. John A. Sutter's sawmill at Coloma on January 24, 1849. He took it to Sutter, who in turn gave it to Capt. J. A. Folsom, assistant quartermaster of the post of San Francisco.

It is now in the Smithsonian Institution. The value of the flake is 73 cents.

Decides To Sue Man For Quarter Or Booze

JACKSON, Ky., Sept. 15.—(AP) County Judge Pearl Campbell is a bit flabbergasted.

A man rushed into his office and demanded a warrant.

"Whom do you want a warrant for," the judge asked.

The man explained he gave a stranger 25 cents to buy a pint of "moonshine" liquor but the latter failed to return.

The complainant wanted either the liquor or his quarter back, he told Judge Campbell.

The jurist took the request under advisement.

IN THE FIELD OF SPORTS

When the New York Giants downed the Pirates yesterday, a new light was thrown on the National League race. Even though Cincinnati is about three or four games back, the Reds still are the biggest threat to the Pirates.

The Celery Feds went to work yesterday afternoon to correct some of that faulty blocking and tackling which looked pitiful during the Tuesday afternoon session.

The linemen are realizing that the first game is only two weeks away and that only a week's scrimmage can be gotten in before the Fiesta encounter.

The University of Miami will have a hard schedule this season. The eleven will meet teams like Duquesne, Bucknell, Georgia, Drake, Florida and Catholic University. Coach Jack Harding had 85 men to report for the opening session including 20 lettermen.

Congratulations to the Gainesville Gons. After a terrific slump near the end of the season, the Gons lost margin. In the series, the Don McShane boys came from behind after losing the pennant to the Leesburg Condoliers by a one game offer to take three straight games, let the Gons have one and then last night won the series by a 1 to 2 count. Pierce Corley paved the way for the new Gainesville spirit as he pitched four games in the series against Orlando and Leesburg. He won all four games and did not allow a single run in the 36 consecutive innings pitched.

The one reason that the Orlando Senators did not cause a big kick when Corley went to the Gons was the Arizona was being Charlie Atwater from Sanford after Aug. 10.

The Leesburg Hirs School Yellow-Jackets this morning announced that it has been refused admission to the Florida Big Ten because the school was not large enough.

Hitler Demands Annexation Of Sudeten Area And Control Of Czechoslovakia's Economic Policies

Germany Insists The Czechs Must Abandon Alliances With France And Russia

Prague Dissolves Henlein Party

Leader Charged With Treason And Is Said To Have Fled Nation

Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain returned to Britain today to discuss with his cabinet the Czechoslovakian situation, while from Berlin reports that Chancellor Hitler had demanded both the cession to Germany of Czechoslovakia's Sudeten area and binding assurances that the country's foreign policy should be in harmony with Germany's.

Meanwhile the defiant Prague government issued a proclamation dissolving the Sudeten German party shortly after charging its leader, Konrad Henlein, with treason. Henlein had already fled the country.

Chamberlain upon landing at London after a flight from Munich said of yesterday's conference at Berchtesgaden: "Yesterday afternoon I had a long talk with Herr Hitler. It was a long talk, but it was a friendly one. I feel satisfied now that each of us fully understands what is in the mind of the other."

He declined to comment on Hitler's demands, but Louis P. Lochner, Associated Press correspondent at Berlin, said the Reichsfuehrer's aims were disclosed by a man who talked to high chancellery officials at Berchtesgaden. Another German demand, this source said, was that after German absorption of Czechoslovak Sudeten area, what is left of the republic should fit itself into the German economic system, at least to extend that Czechoslovakia did not hinder the realization of German economic aims.

Czechoslovakia's defensive alliances with France and Soviet Russia have been the target of a German-Italian-Japanese anti-communism pact.

Under the economic demand Germany, for instance, would have the final say over the output of Czechoslovakia's great Skoda munitions works and where it is sent.

In Paris, French diplomats and American statesmen conferred on the international crisis for two hours. Meeting with Sumner Welles, assistant United States secretary of state, and William C. Bullitt, United States ambassador to France, were French Premier Edouard Daladier, foreign minister Georges Bonnet, and former Premier Camille Chautemps.

Disorders continued in the Sudeten areas of Czechoslovakia and martial law was extended to 10 districts. Dispatches from Rome said diplomats there saw the possibility of four-power talks among Germany, Italy, Britain and France on the crisis. There were few developments in the war in Spain and China.

FDR And Cabinet Members Discuss European Crisis

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16. (AP)—President Roosevelt called in Secretary Hull, Secretary Morgenthau and Norman Davis to canvass possible effects of European developments on America's neutrality policy, trade agreements and international finance. Stephen Early, presidential secretary, said these phrases "are being more or less seriously discussed and considered." He added he was relaying that information to newspapermen so they would know the trend of discussion and at the same time get away from what he called "surrealistic" or "sensational" type. The President planned a full cabinet session later in the day.

NEW YORK, Sept. 16. (AP)—Unless the national league season ends in the 1938 world series will open on Wednesday, Oct. 5, with the first two games scheduled in the home of the national league champions. The third, fourth and fifth games will be played in Yankee Stadium, with the sixth and seventh, if necessary, returning to the National League city. This was decided today at a conference between baseball commissioners Kenesaw M. Landis and representatives of the five clubs involved. The New York Yankees representing the American League and the Pittsburgh Pirates, New York Giants, Chicago Cubs and Cincinnati Reds from the National League.

Seminole Ranks Fourth In State's Celery Shipments

Fourth Smallest, It Again Leads In Production Of Celery

Although the fourth smallest county in the state, Seminole County during the past year maintained its rank as one of the Florida's largest producers of fruits and vegetables, according to the annual report of the Florida State Marketing Bureau which has just been received by the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce.

Seminole County which has been termed by Chamber of Commerce, the "biggest Little County" in the state, ranked fourth in Florida's total vegetable shipment of fruits and vegetables. Polk County was first due to its enormous volume of fruit, Orange was second and Palm Beach county was third.

As in past years, Seminole County lead the entire state in the production of celery. The Shippers of the county shipped 5,800 cars of the total of $270,000 worth of celery from the state by rail, the report showed.

In the shipment of mixed and miscellaneous vegetables, Seminole County rated third, exceeded only by Broward and Duval counties which ranked first and second. The bureau's report on the celery crop of 1937-38 states as follows in part: Florida's average of 8,000 acres is 1,500 more than the average for recent years. The volume harvested was 2,455 carloads, only about 1 percent above the average, while the average was approximately 25 percent above the average. The gross value was $4,600,100. The average value for rail cars was approximately $488 and was the second lowest value in recent years.

In giving a comparison with other seasons, the report shows that Florida's total 1937-38 volume of fruits and vegetables harvested was the heaviest on record exceeding the previous record for volume set in 1936-37, 25,504 carloads. The report further points that "The 1937-38 gross value of fruits and vegetables was the second greatest during the past ten seasons, but $16,385,052 below the record value of 111,081,114 in 1936-37."

BARCELONA, Sept. 16. (AP)—Twenty-nine persons were killed and 114 wounded when three squadrons of Spanish insurgent planes dumped heavy loads of bombs on the Barcelona port section. Menaced, but untouched, was the American freighter Wisconsin of Portland, Ore. The bombing was the worst the Barcelona provisional Spanish Government capital has experienced in months.

Chamberlain And Hitler Confer For 3 Hours: Hitler Does Most Of The Talking

Chamberlain Says Talk Is Friendly

Hitler Warned That Peaceful Solution Must Be Found

Prime Minister Chamberlain who left for Rome at 9:30 A. M. said he believed the conference with Herr Hitler was an important one. He said he had been "very friendly."

Most German cabinet members, however, the Hitler's statement upon the close of world territorial negotiations for the Sudeten German had been in fact to cause the British premier to suddenly change his plans and demand the return to London.

They believed that when the momentous conference was the mountain broke up at 8:15 P. M. yesterday. Hitler himself suggested a "half way" meeting place for the next conference.

Although only the minute cable of those in last night's conference knew definitely what had transpired, it was indicated that Hitler strongly repeated his demand for "self-determination" of the part of the Sudeten and urged Chamberlain to use Britain's weight to compel the Prague government to withdraw state police and troops from the purely German districts.

It was believed Chamberlain countered with a statement that a peaceful solution of the Sudeten crisis must be obtained at all costs and pointed out to Hitler in case he harbored any illusions that Britain probably would fight alongside France if the latter was involved in war on the side of the Czechs.

Some quarters believed that Chamberlain gave an Hitler a forceful picture of the state of British public opinion regarding a possible war against Germany. Whatever else transpired was, of course, a matter of conjecture but whatever it was it was grave enough to force Chamberlain to call off his plans to remain at Berchtesgaden until Saturday.

Before he returns to confer with Hitler, the prime minister will consult not only his own cabinet but the French government. A man who spoke to Hitler recently said that he had hoped that Chamberlain could budget Der Fuehrer from his unwavering attitude, as laid down in his Nuremberg speech last Monday night.

At that time Hitler said, "never in my life have I been so sure I am right."

Chamberlain's decision to return to London completely surprised the German foreign office and raised doubts there that he would come back. Officials feared his decision might mean the British Prime Minister and Hitler soon recognized they could not see eye to eye on the Sudeten minority question at their Berchtesgaden conference. Foreign office authorities who talked with officials at Berchtesgaden were under the impression Chamberlain came armed with nothing more than Britain's and France's readiness to support a plebiscite in the Sudeten region of Czechoslovakia under international control. But in German eyes the plebiscite already is superseded by Konrad Henlein's proclamation demanding secession of the Sudeten area. Hence to Germany the only question remaining is whether Britain and France would stand aside if and when Germany comes to the Sudeten minority's aid "to restore order."
