TALLAHASSEE, Fla., Apr. 16. (AP)—Florida's Grand Lodge of Masons today dedicated two tablets on the temple of the local lodge in the commemoration of one-hundredth anniversary of founding of the Grand Lodge in Florida.

The meeting of the grand lodge which convened yesterday, will be tomorrow with the installation of officers for the coming year as the principal business of the day. The officers will be named this afternoon.

Victims Of Strange Paralysis Malady Take Baths In Oil

WICHITA, Kans., Apr. 16. (AP)—Although authorities do not understand the value of the treatment, officials of "nude party" hospitals here today reported that several victims of a mysterious malady believed caused by drinking Jamaica ginger, had turned to a cure believed contained in baths in petroleum refinery slush ponds.

With Wichita believed filled with hundreds of "nude party" victims, Dr. R. E. Johnson, city physician, might also announce a cure which could be made with a view of abolishing an emergency hospital in the town, a city auditor said.

A painful march of the lame toward the beach park of the Golden Rule Oil Company here today. Sufferers of the malady used the procession after a report spread that similar victims at Hildreth, Kans., another oil town, had found relief after bathing in slush ponds there.

The ponds contain a mixture of oil refuse and mud. The refuse, oil and sand, was made up of small parts of lime and sulphur compounds.

D. H. Van-Sover, chemist at the Golden Rule Refinery, said he observed a dozen men bathing in the pool there and could not see any improvement after the treatment. Other persons carried away jars of the slush liquid.

The eight men were Arthur T. Walden, in charge of the dogs, Norman Vaughn, and Edward Gosdale, his assistant. Clair Alexander, supply officer, Martin Rosini, sail maker, Victor Vagtzek, Walter Leuchner, and G. H. Block, supplyman and cook.

Big League Teams Launch Campaigns For Coveted Pennant Awarded Winner

By HERBERT W. BARKER
Associated Press Sports Writer
Old King baseball, whose adventurous career offers one of the best illustrations of the difficulty of keeping a good man down, returned to the sport three days ago for the first time in his career. He is again in the ring, and now and then, by the strict rules of professional boxing, he will be able to hold the ring as October makes his bow and pugilists begin to fly through the air to herald the approach of his successor, his majestic, college football.

Representing the nobles of the baseball realm, the 16 clubs of the two major leagues all faced the rising of the sun on Monday with hope and a few with confidence. So far as the clubs in the American League are concerned, the official opening already was a thing of the past. The Boston Red Sox, lately for last place in the advance, once gained the honor of leading the league up at least one day by beating Washington, D. C., at the national capital yesterday as President Hoover, government officials, and 25,000 fans looked on.

The Red Sox's triumph, however, was but enough to make the sports after their forecast that the Philadelphia Athletics again would win the American League title and settle the Chicago Cubs, National League champions, in the world's series next fall.

Granted for weather, a total of a quarter of million spectators was expected to attend the night game on today's schedule in the American League, the New York Yankees, were in open position for the title at Philadelphia, St. Louis, Detroit, Cleveland at Chicago and Washington at Boston. In the National League, the Cubs were in play at St. Louis, Boston at New York, Pittsburgh at Cincinnati, and Detroit play at Brooklyn.

In the American League, the Athletics expect to find the Yankees a tough opponent in the Yankees with Cleveland and Detroit still to be feared. The Yankees still have Babe Ruth at $30,000 a year, but not as much as last year, but with experiment with two coaches, Chapman at third base and Cady in left field, where Babe Ruth used to roam.

In the National League, the fight comes to be between the Cubs, Pittsburgh Pirates and New York Giants. The Pirates have a good record but with injuries and a weak offense, the Cubs have a reputation for a good offense and a strong pitcher, and the Giants have a reputation for a good offense and a strong pitcher.

Eight clubs will have new managers, and all of them have made changes of one or more members of the club of the 1929 campaign.

Go ahead, make our Dealers prove it

From time to time we make some pretty strong claims for Goodyear Tires. We do so because we are sure that Goodyear Tires will make good on these claims. You may not be so sure; so we invite you to demand proof. Any Goodyear Dealer will be glad of an opportunity to demonstrate the facts. The facts are, Goodyear Tires are definitely superior in both tread and carcass, the two main parts of a tire.

The Goodyear All Weather Tread is superior in traction. It is simply because people have learned by experience that Goodyear Tires do give greater value. These two superior features outstanding in the world. They are so valuable to the user that you might be tempted upon getting them the first time you buy tires. It is not by accident that Goodyear values were never so high.

The Careless Twenty Percent
The City Commissioners have wisely decided to destroy the "Pinehurst" archway, a sort of unhappy reminder of boom days which in later years has grown into a tombstone marking the site of frequent accidents. Cars driving east at this intersection are warned to stop, and usually, we believe, they do, but the archway is so unfortunately situated as to completely obscure the avenue to the right and to the left, so that often one pulls out into the middle of the street just in time to be smashed by some onrushing truck which, having the right of way, does not fail to take it.

However, not all accidents at this gloomy intersection have been due to the battered and unsightly archway. The annually automobiles driving west have crashed with motorists northward or southward bound, and the only part in such accidents that the archway has played has been as a sort of meeting place for broken heads at rearward. It has been a place where motorists, in one or two instances provided a very convenient bumper and undoubtedly has kept wandering motorists from hitting barns and houses farther down in the subdivision.

Principals in accidents of this nature have little to blame on the character of the intersection. Their own defective eyesight or absent-mindedness must be held wholly responsible. For a motorist driving west, French Avenue is visible at least a block both north and south, and consequently the same driver must be visible himself to a person on French Avenue from a similar distance. Yet in spite of this high degree of visibility, in spite of the fact that drivers must stop at French Avenue, accidents have occurred in just this manner.

Accidents of this kind must necessarily come under the head of carelessness. Nearly half the automobiles involved in such accidents, says the Literary Digest, "are twenty percent of the drivers, who are 'chronic repeaters'." In other words twenty percent of the drivers are always having accidents, like the pot is always overflowing, but never being tipped over of any kind or another which indicates carelessness. And this comparatively small number of persons is responsible for half of all automobile accidents.

If this twenty percent of the drivers in this country were eliminated, that is, forbidden by law to drive cars, the number of accidents would automatically be reduced by one-half. It seems to us that this would be a saving in life and property which would be entirely worth while. When you find a driver with his fingers nicked in a dozen different places, with his headlight smashed in and his bumper torn off, with his car bearing countless marks of careless driving, he should have his license taken away from him.

And yet we have known persons with just such badly handled cars who thought they knew how to drive.

The Farmer's Advice
BY ALMA SMITH
The other day I needed a good horse. I went to call upon a man whose hair has grown white in the course of young years, but whose face is as young as a child. He had a fine horse, and he was willing to sell it for a good price. I was very interested in the horse, and I was very interested in the man. I was very interested in the horse, and I was very interested in the man.

Florida Growth
In these days of modern achievement we have grown up in a remarkable Florida. Florida has made such progress in the past few years that it is now one of the most rapidly growing states in the Union. The population of Florida has increased from 1,000,000 in 1920 to 2,000,000 in 1930. This is a remarkable increase and is a result of the many advantages which Florida has to offer.
