Speaker Will Bring Some Rare Experiences To C of C Audience

H. MOOSE' WALLER

H. 'Moose' Waller Is Named VAA-5 White Hat Of Week

A steady, firm hand is the prime requisite for the job. H. "Moose" Waller holds in Heavy Attack Squadron Five, Waller, an Aviation Ordnanceman 2/c, has the responsibility of loading bombs and mines into the AJ "Bavaria" aircraft of the squadron. His collateral duties occasionally find him instructing the 48 caliber automatic on the BNAAS pistol range. Moose has been in VAA-5 for six of his seven years in the Navy. He reported from Fighter Squadron 132 in Alameda, Calif. in 1943. Waller is 34 and names Marco, Ga. as his home town. He finds Orlando excellent place to spend his liberties and Sanford an ideal place to be stationed.

Ceremony Slated At Local Church Sunday Afternoon

Sunday at 2:30 p. m. is set for the Cornerstone Ceremony of the Congregational Christian Church in order to allow people from other churches and the general public to attend the service. Ground was broken for the new house of worship in November, 1954, and the church occupied last November. The pastor, chairman of the board of the deacons and trustees and the clerk will participate in putting the records in the cornerstone before the marble tablet is affixed. This will be at the north entrance of the church on South 24th St. adjoining Park Ave., after the speaking in the church has taken place. Three talks of eight minutes each are to be given by the Rev. Rankin L. Shrewsbury, pastor of the Daytona Beach Congregational Christian Church, who is from Oviedo and a graduate of Rollins College; Fred Ensminger, the sole surviving charter member of the Church; and Supt. William N. Tuttle of the Florida Congregational Christian Conference. All are cordially invited.

The nationally known figure, Assistant to the President of Capital Airlines, speaking at the annual meeting of the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce to be held at the Mayfair Inn Tuesday, Dec. 6, will bring to his Seminole County audience some of the rare experiences in his business that takes him around the nation. Speaking recently at a Dallas, Tex., meeting of the Sales Executive Club, with 450 in his audience, Jennings Randolph made such an impression that Maxwell Clamptt, president of the club said, "Jennings Randolph will give a standing ovation. All day long the telephone has been ringing telling me what an inspiration he was to our members and guests."

At an earlier speaking engagement at the University of Richmond School of Business Administration banquet speaker, F. Byers Miller, Dean, said, "Your willingness to take of your time and energy to participate in programs such as these serve as an inspiration to all of us who have the responsibility of putting programs together." And Dean Miller said of Jennings Randolph, "You really put the frosting on the cake and every man who heard you left there with the inspiration to go out and do a better job."

H. K. Fairweather, of Eastern Motor Express Company, in Terre Haute, Ind. told Randolph, after his address to his organization, "You address was one that plainly indicated your ability to cover the subject thoroughly without resorting to questionable anecdotes to emphasize the points you so vividly brought out." The local officials planning the annual meeting early in December have indicated that the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce is able to appear for the occasion. John Fitzpatrick, chairman of the Annual Meeting said "we are anxious for every member of the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce to hear Mr. Randolph." Tickets are being made available immediately and indications point to one of the most successful meetings in the local Chamber's modern history.

S-D Day Sponsors Ask Contributions Of Common Sense

In an age when medical science is striving to overcome those diseases which kill and maim mankind, should we not pause to consider another killer—the traffic accident—and what can be done by everyone of us to curb its threat? The sponsors of "S-D Day" or "Safe Driving Day" are asking for contributions of common sense—not money—in the fight against traffic deaths and injuries. They realize that only with the whole-hearted support of the driving and walking public can any safe-driving campaign be successful. And they are asking for that support in terms of individual awareness, by each person, of his own responsibility in curbing traffic accidents.

"S-D Day" is Thursday, Dec. 1. On that date, the President's Committee for Traffic Safety and the many organizations cooperating in the observance of "S-D Day" are hoping for a 24-hour traffic accident "holiday." But this year's observance of "S-D Day" will go beyond that 24-hour period in an attempt to educate the public to a year-around reconsideration of driving and walking habits. The President has asked all Americans to join in this job of accident elimination. The program has also been endorsed by Governor Leroy Collins and by nearly 200 national, state, and local organizations who are banding together in a concerted effort to rid our streets and highways of the traffic-accident menace.

Their success, the success of "S-D Day," depends entirely upon how well the program is brought to the attention of the individual driver and pedestrian, who, after all, is the one that must change his attitudes. Common, everyday courtesy and an extension of the Golden Rule—and the will to use them—will go a long way. It would be well to keep in mind that over 1,000 Americans would still be alive today if we had driven every day during the past year as we did on "S-D Day" last year.

Herald To Publish Series Of Articles On Charter Of City

Citizens of Sanford can have a complete copy of the Charter of the City of Sanford, Fla. by keeping the clippings of the sections of the charter appearing in the Sanford Herald beginning Monday afternoon.

The sections of the Charter of Sanford, appearing in The Herald, will be of the same approximate length making possible an orderly scrapbook of the document which can be referred to by pages.

Sanford's charter appears in a booklet of 68 pages in its distributed form with 178 sections. It became effective in 1919 with House Bill No. 1136, Laws of Florida Act of 1919. To keep abreast of daily happenings within the structure of Sanford's city government, and to be familiar with the reasons for many actions, citizens should know the City Charter and the provisions laid down in the legal document which guides the city in its legal actions. The series of sections of the City Charter will appear daily on the editorial page of The Sanford Herald. It will take approximately 68 days to complete the series.

PRIDE WINS FORT LAUDERDALE

FORT LAUDERDALE (AP)—Pride drove Norman Theroux back to Fort Lauderdale to face charges of passing worthless checks totaling $22,000 which officers said he spent in "high living."

Another Airliner Crashes

SEATTLE (AP)—A non-scheduled airliner's engine sputtering as it left an icy runway, crashed into a residential area early today, killing at least 27 persons and injuring 46 others as it exploded and burned.

The big Peninsular Air Transport Co. plane was loaded with 66 servicemen who had just returned from the Far East and were trying to get home for Thanksgiving. Also aboard were a man, woman, two children and a crew of three.

The plane first clipped a tree on a hillside south of its Boeing field takeoff point, bounced off the ground and shattered as it burst into flames. Parts of it scudded into the back of a house and set it afire but a young mother and her five children inside escaped unharmed.

Mrs. Donald Renard said she heard a "terrific explosion. The next minute my yard was full of soldiers."

Bodies of the dead, dying and injured were strewn about. Flames fed by gasoline which had spilled from full tanks roared into the air.

Within seconds calls were out for every available ambulance in Seattle and King County but their arrival was slowed by the ice and snow-covered streets.

When the ambulances arrived, dozens of the soldiers were wandering or lying about the wreck scene some in a state of shock, others needing only minor treatment.

The government had contracted with a number of non-scheduled airlines, including Peninsular, to spread the men home for the holiday.

Local Officials Continue Pressing Of Traffic Offenses

Seminole County Sheriff Luther Hobbs' force of deputies and the Florida Highway Patrol continued their crackdown on local traffic violations in an effort to cut down on accidents, property damage, injuries and deaths.

Six arrests made and recorded in the Sheriff's office since yesterday morning reveal that the entire system of county highways is being watched carefully for traffic offenders.

Edward Young, 26-year-old Orlando laborer, one mile south of Sanford last night, was charged with operating his car with an improper license tag. Trouper T. Mack Mack made the charges.

Ulysses Robinson, 25-year-old Sanford negro laborer, two miles south of Sanford was charged with operating his car with an improper muffler. FHP Patrolman Carl Williams made the charges.

Charles Howard Mobley of Winter Park, five miles north of Sanford, was charged with excessive speed, according to a report made by Deputy Sheriff A. E. Evans.

The report stated that Mobley was traveling at speeds between 75 and 80 miles an hour.

James Pierce Harper of the Sanford Naval Auxiliary Air Station was charged with operating his car at excessive speed when stopped by Deputy Sheriff Evans.

Suit Involving 5 Horses Settled

NEW YORK (AP)—Mrs. Elizabeth Whitney Lunn has settled out of court a $22,000 suit involving the sale of five horses to brewer August A. Busch Jr.

The settlement came yesterday, the sixth day of trial in federal court. The terms were not disclosed.

Busch, owner of the St. Louis Cardinals, claimed the animals he purchased for $15,000 from the socialite horse breeder were not "sound of limb and safe for children to handle" as represented. He bought the horses in 1950, and his suit also asked $7,000 for feeding them.

Buy License First Season Will Open Nov. 23

Judge Ernest Housholder discussed "Hunting" this morning as he brought out significant points that must be adhered to by local hunters.

Housholder said, "before thinking about hunting, think about your hunting license. You secure this from your County Judge's Office and must have it with you when you are hunting."

"Hunting season opens Nov. 23," Judge Housholder said. And he said that the daily shooting hours for all game during the first five days, except for dove, is half hour before sunrise to sunset.

"Be careful about your time and check your calendar or almanac or newspaper for the time of sunrise and sunset," he said.

About now, if you are looking ahead you can subtract about a minute a day to Dec. 22 and thereafter, add, Housholder added.

"If you hunt in wildlife management areas, you must have a special area permit, and if you hunt duck you must secure a duck stamp from the Post Office," he commented.

"Remember that there is the three-shell capacity regulation on plugging your shotgun," Housholder said, "and when you shoot deer be sure of the character of animal before firing." The local judge emphasized, "this is most important in deer hunting."

"Pointing out the days for hunting, and adding to the statement about the first five days, Housholder said, "Mondays, Tuesdays and Fridays are closed thereafter as to most game, but duck hunting is open every day."

As to the hunting season itself, Judge Housholder said, "information from those who know indicate that this will be the best hunting season we have had in several years."

On another fact, Housholder said, "let's do our best to prevent accidents. Never carry a gun into camp or home loaded or in your car, when not actually in use."

"Never point a gun at anything you do not want to shoot. Fix your target is game and not a human being, before you pull the trigger," Housholder warned. He commented, "remember, a gun is a dangerous instrument and you need every one of your normal faculties when using it."

Judge Housholder pointed out that our forests and woodland is especially dry this year which is a reminder to be careful with your matches, cigarettes, and campfires.

"You should study the hunting rules and regulations before going out," Housholder reminded. And he concluded "if you have not secured a copy of them they are available at the County Judge's Office."

Something Strange Is Eating Statues At Circus Museum

Something is strange that even the experts are stumped is eating away at some of the statues on the grounds of the Ringling Art Museum.

Rutherford J. Gettens of the Freer Museum, Smithsonian Institution at Washington, said it appeared the bronze statues are exuding a white crustaceous secretion and the limestones are producing some kind of growth. Samples are being taken to Washington for study.

Affected by the mold are about 6 statues, some of which have been outdoors as long as 40 years.

LAW OFFICERS CONVENE MONDAY

The National Institute of Municipal Law Officers will convene Monday with some 400 attorneys from the 48 states, Canada, Puerto Rico, Hawaii and the District of Columbia expected to attend.

Clothing Business Needs More Room States Committee

A meeting of the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce Industrial Committee, headed by Don Bales, local business executive, will be held Monday night, 7:30 p. m. at the Educational Building on Commercial Ave., according to an announcement made this morning.

Bales said that discussions will surround the "essential 400 person payroll of a local business faced with expansion and the need for larger quarters in which to operate."

"Publicity from the manufacturers of Sanford pajamas, Sanford shirts, and other articles turned out by this organization is worthy of careful consideration," said Bales as he made known the meeting and the items that will be before the committee for consideration.

"If the organization is set up so that it can grow, there is no way of estimating the vast expansion of the local industry that is now cramped for room and with no space available for the installation of new equipment already on its way here," the Industrial Committee Chairman said.

One of the officials of the industry is Sanford now looking over the operations here and attempting to plan for the necessary expansion to keep up with the trend of increasing business. "We are turning down orders now that should be turned out if we had the space, the machinery, and the personnel at work," the official said.

DELEGATION TO ADD SUPPORT PANAMA CITY

A delegation from Sarasota was expected to add its support today to pleas for airline service from the middle West Coast of Florida to Atlanta via Panama City.

T. M. BAKER

Native Of Florida Elected Secretary Of Columbia Bank

T. Meade Baker has been elected Secretary of the Federal Land Bank of Columbia.

The announcement was made by Rufus Clark, president, following the monthly meeting of the Farm Credit Board, Nov. 16. The election fills the vacancy caused by the recent death of former Secretary Hugh C. Leaman.

The new secretary is a native of Florida, and received his education in the public schools of Geneva and Sanford, and at Stetson University. He joined the staff of the Federal Land Bank in 1924, where he has been employed continuously, having served as assistant secretary, assistant treasurer, and assistant to the president.

Baker is married to the former Anne Graves, of Jacksonville, and they have one daughter, Laura Meade, who is a student at Mary Washington College.

He is a member of Trinity Episcopal Church. The Bakers make their home at 2607 Stratford Road, Columbia.

Christmas Tree Industry Facing Cold Wave Crisis

EUREKA, Mont. (AP)—Montana's million-dollar Christmas tree industry is approaching a crisis due to the state's worse November cold wave in history.

The state produces about a seventh of the nation's Christmas trees.

The Weather Bureau said there was little indication of better weather conditions in the next five days. Temperatures have dropped to as low as 25 degrees below zero the past week.

Thousands of trees have been cut but they cannot be baled for shipment out of state due to the cold. They become so brittle that any pressure breaks the twigs off.

Officials said this could mean a shortage of trees for Americans this year.

LEARNING TO SAY "Thank You"

As every parent knows, learning to say "thank you" is one of the elementary lessons in a child's home education. It is page one in the book of good manners.

It is also one of the first lessons in a person's religious education. And here it is something more than mere good manners.

In every age man's spiritual insight can be measured by his readiness to recognize God as the source of strength and blessing, and by his eagerness to express his gratitude to the Almighty. No one has ever doubted the religious sincerity of our Pilgrim fathers: they gave us Thanksgiving Day.

Today, in a world hungry for spiritual leadership, how much depends on our faith in God... and our ability to turn to Him in gratitude and prayer!

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

'Church Of Air' Is One Of Most Popular Programs

NEW YORK (AP)—One of the most popular radio programs on the air is not a quiz program or a variety program or a comedy program. It's a religious program and it's called "Church of the Air."
Every Sunday morning more people tune to "Church of the Air" on CBS Radio than listened to the Apostle Paul during the many years of his ministry.
During the 24 years of its radio history "Church of the Air" has presented more than 1,000 sermons of Protestant, Catholic, Jewish and Orthodox faiths and hundreds of thousands of listeners have written in gratitude for inspiration they received from the program.
"Church of the Air" is not really a church service," says its guiding force, George Crothers, CBS director of educational and religious broadcasts. "It cuts down the formal church service to good (liturgical) music, a prayer, scripture, and a brief inspirational message."
The advice Crothers most frequently gives the guest clergymen from all sections of the country who appear on the program is this: "Do not sell religion or entertainment. Let's get real religion in what you have to say, for radio represents the most effective way of preaching the Gospel that man ever invented."
CBS is aided in running the program by a board of consultants from many faiths. In selecting its guest clergymen, "Church of the Air" takes into consideration such elements as the religious population of a faith and how widely it is spread in the nation. Not every Protestant denomination has been represented, of course. It couldn't be. There are 200 denominations in the country and some are very small. Leaders of all the major faiths have praised the program highly.
"A universal characteristic of all clergymen," says Crothers, "is to want to speak longer than the time allotted. Almost invariably they'll stretch a 15 minute talk into 16 minutes. In rehearsal it will be 13 minutes. On the air it will be 14 minutes."
Since every clergyman except one who ever appeared on the program read from a script Crothers is at a loss to explain how this happens. But he says it does.
The clergyman who did not use a script was Bishop Fulton J. Sheen. He came to the studio, asked Crothers how long he was to talk, and was told 15 minutes. He borrowed a wristwatch from Crothers placed it before him, and, says Crothers, "recited facts and figures extemporaneously, entering his peroration just 40 seconds before his time was up and completing his message exactly 15 minutes after he began."

CYCLO THERAPY IN MUSCLE SPASMS

HUMANS RELY ON 500 MUSCLES

MUSCLE SPASMS ARE COMMON AMONG ATHLETES

HOUSEWIVES... THE HOME HANDY MAN...

MUSCLE SPASM IS ASSOCIATED WITH A VARIETY OF DISEASES

by Science Features

We humans rely on a complex array of 500 muscles of various sizes for the physical power we have over our environment. Yet, we commonly become aware of this wonderful system of locomotion only when our muscles "act up"—when they remind us through pain or spasm that something has gone wrong.

A spasm is an sudden, involuntary contraction of a muscle. Twitching, cramps or other types of muscle spasm may be brought on by a variety of causes. Sudden chilling of the body after swimming may result in severe spasm of several of the body's muscles. Sharply diminished circulation of the blood to any part of the body brings about spasms in the blood-starved area. Chemical imbalance is also a common cause of spasm; for example, recent research indicates that the painful leg-cramps of pregnancy are due to abnormally low levels of calcium in the blood of expectant mothers. The so-called night cramps—sleep-disturbing spasms of leg muscles—are also believed to be related to calcium metabolism.

Bacterial toxins can send the body's musculature into violent contractions; the most notorious of these is the toxin secreted by the germ of tetanus or lockjaw. In addition, many ailments of the nervous and skeletal systems are accompanied by muscular spasms.

In many of these chronic conditions, including arthritis, bursitis, paraplegia and low back pain, a new treatment known as cyclotherapy is proving beneficial. Doctors have found that cyclotherapy, a unique form of electrically generated physical energy, has scored striking results in easing spasms and relieving the pain of patients suffering from a variety of ailments that affect the muscles, and helping them toward rehabilitation.

The physician also has a variety of other physical and chemical agents at his disposal to quiet disturbed muscles. Heat, in various forms, has been used since time immemorial to "iron out the kinks" in painful muscles, and it is still a valuable means of therapy. Many drugs, including anesthetics, barbiturates, counter-irritants and the recently developed "muscle-relaxing drugs" have their place in the spasm-fighting armamentarium.

In some cases, muscle spasm is not primarily the result of disease, but is related to over-use of a particular set of muscles. In these conditions, such as the so-called "occupational cramps" or "athlete's cramps," modern methods of treatment, including cyclotherapy, have proven effective in restoring free motion to the affected parts.

Help Fight Tuberculosis - Buy, Use Christmas Seals

One by one, the infectious diseases that have plagued men for centuries are going down to defeat. But tuberculosis remains unconquered.

The attack on TB has been carried out on a broad front by the combined efforts of the medical profession, public health agencies, and citizens groups, such as our own Seminole County Tuberculosis and Health Association. The weapons have been education of the public, chest x-rays to find cases of tuberculosis, legislation to make the best in treatment available to all patients, programs in rehabilitation to help patients get back on their feet and stay there, and research for ever better methods of preventing and treating the disease.

Each of these weapons has an effective place in the campaign against tuberculosis. If each were used to the fullest possible extent, the disease could be brought under control.

It is easy to be lulled into a sense of false security by telling ourselves that TB no longer kills people as it used to. We are curing people of tuberculosis, but we are not doing so well at preventing spread of the disease. Today, 400,000 Americans have the disease. Approximately 100,000 new cases are reported each year. Estimates of the number of people who are infected with TB range from one-fourth to one-third of the American people. Most of these people will not develop active disease, but any of them could do so.

Obviously constant vigilance against tuberculosis is necessary. But more than that—there must be increased efforts to make full use of the weapons that can defeat tuberculosis. When we buy and use the Christmas Seals of the Seminole County Tuberculosis and Health Association we are sharing in these efforts. We can take pride in what has been done—but we can and must do more.

Seals were mailed to more than eight thousand Seminole County citizens yesterday and on the early return of contributions the local Tuberculosis and Health Association is staking a part in the annual premiere performance of a Warner Brothers movie.

Not only will we be helping in the immediate fight against tuberculosis with the purchase of the seals, but we will also be helping in a possible opportunity to bring the famous film and the famous people seen in it to Seminole County.

Have you thought of a name for the new lake located in Sanford? Yours might be the name that strikes the fancy of most of the people here. Why not send it in to the City of Sanford as a suggestion?

A lot of people are shopping the easy way today, with savings stacked up over a period of a year in the Christmas Club memberships in both of Sanford's banks. $60,000 is a lot of money and it is making local merchants' cash registers ring with a merry Christmas tune.

"Let's put Christ back into Christmas" is a wonderful theme for the local Jaycees-Merchants Association Christmas Parade. No wonder such enthusiastic response is being evidenced in this year's event.

Now would be a wonderful time to change to parallel parking in the downtown area. With a brand new 235-car parking lot with 12-foot parking stalls, motorists and shoppers will experience a great thrill in being able to open wide the doors of their cars for those great big Christmas bundles.

"Schools are big business," Seminole County Superintendent of Public Instruction R. T. Milwee told a Sanford civic club the other day. We heartily agree for it is the business of future citizens that mean more to our country, our state, county and city than anything else these days.

Santa will soon visit Sanford and with him will come all of the hopes, desires, thoughts, dreams, and loves of the youngster. "There will always be a Santa Claus" is a story that many boys and girls will be hearing as days grow shorter toward the glorious day when the Star of Bethlehem was first seen.

So that, the Detroit might really go places if equipped with a brand new Tigeromatic drive.

Want A Statue From Italy Or England? Go To Monroe Corner Graft, Gift Shop

By SANDRA BERG
Herald Society Editor

If you have ever dreamed of visiting Sweden, England, Italy or maybe Cuba, Jamaica, Mexico, Germany, Spain or the Philippines I would suggest that you drive out to Monroe Corner. Located there, right on the corner lot is one of the most fascinating and quaint shops in or around Central Florida. The Monroe Corner Graft and Gift Shop.

These countries can become a reality in the objects found in the store. Dainty crystal vases from Sweden, bone china from England, tiny statues and figurines from Italy and woven baskets from the Philippines along with crystal ware and woven rugs from our own United States are among the many and varied things found on the shelves.

The owners and operators are Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Jackson originally from "New York and New Jersey" who have been planning the craft shop "for more than 25 years."

Strange as it may seem, Mr. Jackson was a college professor in Mont Clair College for 22 years but because of his health was "told by his doctor to come south."

The Jacksons, who by the way, have a son Edward, first went to Clermont, but through newspaper ads and in traveling around those parts to settle down. "You have to get the real feel of the town," said busy Mrs. Jackson, as she looked here and there for a speck of dust on a bowl or an adjustment to be made. "You know what you want and you look until you find it."

"When we first came to Sanford," she went on "we liked it so much we stayed over night and we kept coming back and looking around until we found what we wanted. A lot with two hours on it and situated on a corner."

"I said to myself," she murmured as she got a far away look in her eye "here it is. This is just for our shop."

The shop, which was converted from an old slipshod building, is now a misty grey trimmed in pink with a bright pink door. Its large windows which sparkle in the sunshine are framed on the inside with scalloped cornices, which Mr. Jackson made.

The interior is composed of two main rooms with smaller rooms in back. As one walks in, the colors present a warm, friendly atmosphere. A robin egg blue is used on the walls and some of the cabinets and is softened by touches of pink which accents the clear crystal bowls and vases.

Walking through the "almost archway" you enter the larger room which still carries the pink and blue theme but in wall paper. Fine tables, cabinets, stands, and what have you, all made by Mr. Jackson, are each in its proper place and loaded with every article imaginable. What is so surprising is the prices which are very reasonable.

In the show cases are woven stoles and skirts along with dolls, pocket books, and other items of interest in child and grown-up. Brass and copper craft reflects the smaller miniatures. Wrought iron work is also exhibited and lends an Early American Air.

Mrs. Jackson tells us that all of her things "come from different countries." She also told your reporter that "we started with an idea of selling things from Florida only, but as there wasn't enough variety we took in foreign countries."

Mr. Jackson, it seems, has always been interested in craft work and says that he will make furniture and almost anything you have in mind. Just come and tell me what you want tomorrow. Take a drive out . . . it's the grand opening today and

The Jackson's Gift Shop is haven't you?

Fish may be hardened for home canning by soaking for one hour in brine strong enough to float a medium-sized potato.

While game and poultry may be washed before canning, meats should be merely wiped with a damp cloth.

Seminole Hi

By Margaret Moore

There is a real treat in store for us because coming to our SHS stage is a wonderful play. It's entitled "Father Knows Best." Some of the characters are Rank-all Robbins, as Jim Anderson the Father, Kay Jenkins as Margaret Anderson, the mother and their children are Ann Voroshan, Betty, Iris Causey, Kathy, and Bill Kirchhoff as Bud. From the rumor "floating" around it's going to be good play. You'll hear more about it later on . . . but keep the thought in mind . . .

In chapel, Thursday morning, Mr. Morris introduced Mr. Dunn, a member of the Gideons of Orlando and in turn he introduced Brother A. E. Lewis the speaker. All classrooms in the school received a Gideon Bible and the students a testament. The organization to which these men belong is a Christian Men's Organization. With the help of Christian friends of many different churches, they have been able to place over two and one-half million Bibles in hotels, hospitals, schools and penal institutions; and have distributed over nine and one-half million New Testaments with Psalms to armed forces. . . .

We, the students and teachers appreciate the Bibles and testaments given us and will enjoy using and reading them. . . . Mr. Blair, a member of this organization gave the prayer.

The Glee Club led the students in singing the doxology. Afterwards Mrs. Pete Newsome introduced the chaplain, Mrs. Thurston, both representing The American Legion Auxiliary. Mrs. Newsome presented the school with an American flag. The Glee Club then sang a beautiful number "Prayer for Our Country" and Pat Harrington sang "That's America to Me". The Club ended with "I Like It Here". The program came to close with Mrs. Blair giving the Benediction.

Oh You Lucky seniors . . . hey! that includes me, what am I talking about . . . well any way — we are getting an opportunity to visit the Florida State Bank. About 20 students a day. They split up into two groups and are taken on a tour through the bank and are served dinner, compliments of the bank also. . . . The main dish, by the way, is ham. It was enjoyed by all who went and was "delicious".

The art classes, taught by Mr. Mattioux, are having a wonderful time in making different objects, out of clay. . . . Bill Vincent is very much enthused over his work. He is making a turtle and it is quite good.

The rest of the class not interested in clay are drawing horses. Dorothy Brewer must have a great love for them because she is making a wonderful drawing. The atmosphere in the classroom is one of partnership and of people who are enjoying their work. . . .

Our Homecoming at SHS was something worth seeing. Of course "we are still shouting it from highest steeples" that we won the game by a score of 14-0. Sealvarez did a good job but ours was a little bit better. . . . That halftime show was really a sight with the majorettes going all out and dressing like Indians even to staining themselves. The sponsors, of course, were very pretty and added to the color and excitement. . . . the dance in the gym afterwards was a lot of fun too.

Our last game is going to be Nov. 23 in Deland playing Deland Bulldogs. . . . we're pulling for you boys, so get out there and do your best. . . . SEMINOLE SONG FOR THE WEEK IS "It's Almost Tomorrow".

See Now . . .

Woman's Club Department Hears Mrs. E. A. Stewart From Orlando

By Margaret Moore

The American Home Department of the Woman's Club met Tuesday night at the clubhouse. The speaker was Mrs. Evelyn A. Stewart, Decorating Consultant for Cox-O'Neal Furniture Company in Orlando. She was introduced by Mrs. F. E. Breckenridge, program chairman.

Mrs. Stewart began her program by showing two interesting films, "Plan for Better Living" and "Modern Growth Light". These films presented ways that home furnishings can be practical and functional as well as attractive. In her talk following the films Mrs. Stewart suggested that in planning the furnishings for any room, some variety in wood finishes may be used to advantage — such as a light wood in a room with mahogany pieces. She pointed out that it is much wiser to buy wood rugs, rather than cotton for living and dining areas, and that wall-to-wall carpeting is "most effective."

A business meeting followed the program with Mrs. Willis Peacock, chairman, presiding. Committee reports were given.

A note of thanks for the teachers supper party was read from Mrs. Velma Mitchell on behalf of Southside faculty. A letter was read from Beta Sigma Phi Sorority telling of the Bazaar they will hold soon. A notice from the Jaycees concerning the Christmas parade was read. Club members discussed entering a float in the parade.

Plans were made to decorate the Christmas tree at the Woman's Club for the Christmas party. Club members were reminded to bring gifts for the Jacksonville children's Home to the Christmas party, Dec. 14.

Delicious refreshments were served by the hostesses, Mrs. Peacock, Mrs. Douglas Stenstrom, Mrs. H. S. Duggar and Mrs. J. D. Carlton.

Those present were: Mrs. A. O. Roberts, Mrs. B. T. Hatchett, Mrs. John Carlton, and guest, Mrs. Blanton Owen; Mrs. James Howard; Mrs. John John Kader; Mrs. F. E. Breckenridge, and guest, Mrs. Bob May; Mrs. Bob Karns; Mrs. Hazel Ellerbe; Mrs. Irving Feinberg; Mrs. Francis Meriwether; Mrs. Francis Sweeney; Mrs. Raymond Bass; Mrs. Bill Kirk; Mrs. Barbara Ruprecht and Miss Joy Duggar.

Sanford BPW Has 3 Special Guests At Dinner Meeting

The Sanford BPW held its monthly dinner and business meeting Wednesday night at the Yacht Club at 6:30 p. m. Mrs. Sidney Fowler was guest speaker from the Seminole County Judge's office and as special guests the club entertained Mrs. Edna Van Acker and Miss Adrienne Waits.

Flags of the United Nations decorated the interior of the club and indicated the theme of the program which was presented to the members by Mrs. Marguerite Graham, chairman of the International Relations Committee.

The organization functions and achievements of the United Nations were described in observance of the Tenth Anniversary of its founding.

Mrs. Josie Carter, chairman of the Education and Vacation committee, in the second portion of the program presented the guest speaker, Mrs. Sidney Fowler who is the secretary in the Seminole County Judge's office. She had a "most interesting and informative" talk on the operations of the office with particular reference to wills and testaments.

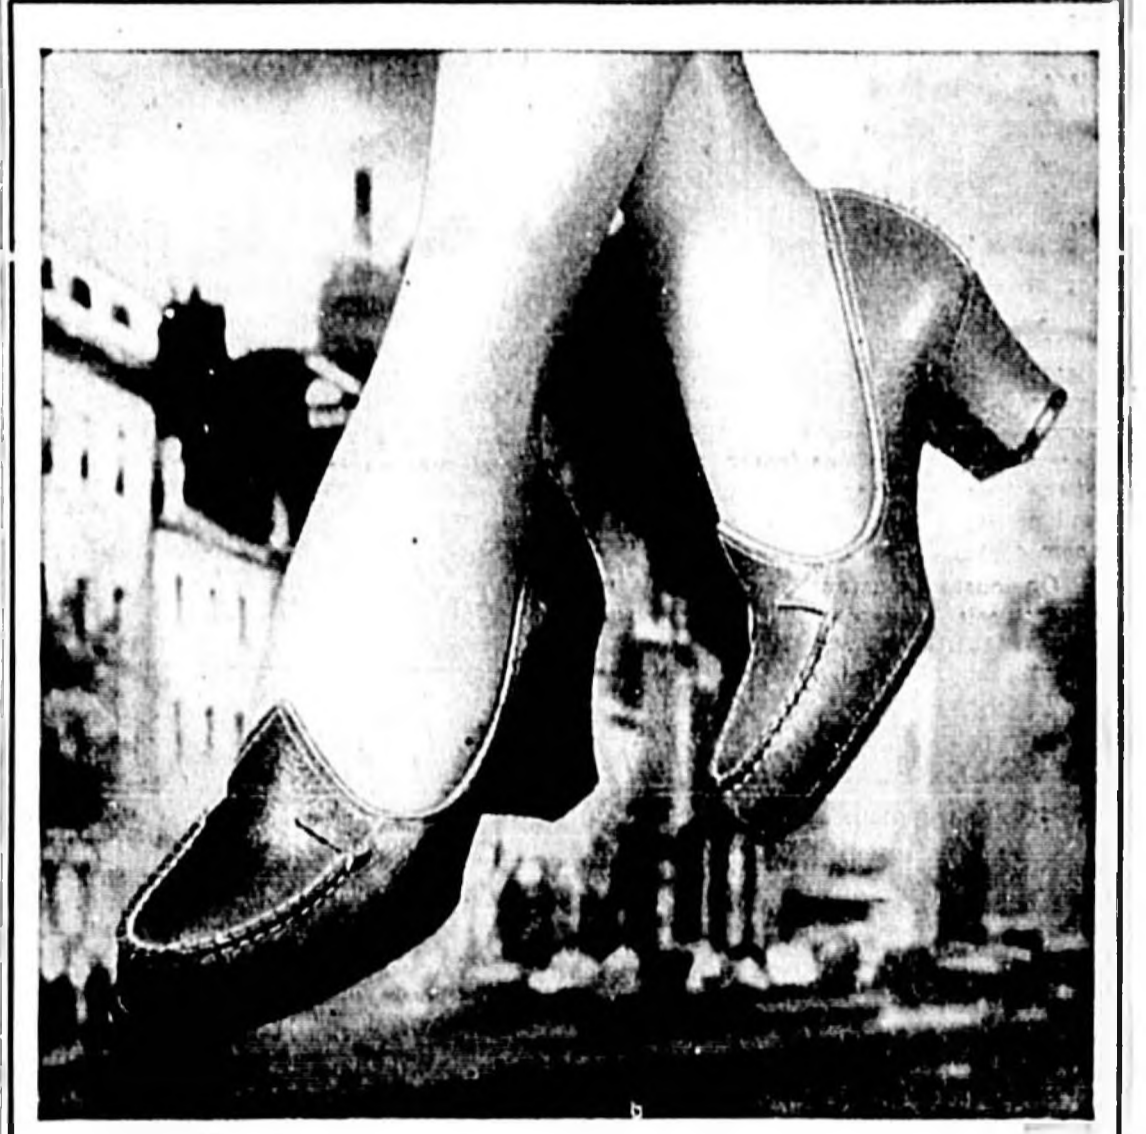

As special guest for the evening Mrs. Edna Van Acker, Miami and vice chairman of the Southeast region of the National Federation BPW was introduced. Mrs. Van Acker was membership chairman of the Florida Federation in 1918 helping to organize the Sanford BPW in December of that year. She was also past president of the Florida Federation.

Along with Mrs. Acker was Mrs. Adrienne Waits, past vice president of the Florida Federation. She is from Orlando.

Mrs. Van Acker described the preparations being made for the reception of approximately 4,000 women who will attend the Bi-annual convention of the National Federation which will be held in Miami from June 29 to July 6.

Wednesday night at the meeting approximately 70 guests and members were present to enjoy the meal and program. The regular business session was opened by Mrs. Hunter, president and the devotional was given by Mrs. Ella Grantham.

FSU Is Favorite In Homecoming

State University's fastly improving Seminoles meet the Citadel's surprising Bulldogs in Doak Campbell Stadium Saturday afternoon in the Seminoles ninth annual football homecoming classic. Game time is 2:30 o'clock.

DUKE METTS - HALFBACK FLORIDA STATE UNIVERSITY

Southern Conference this year, and will enter Saturday's clash with a good 5-3 record. Pre-season prognosticators had the Cadets occupying the Southern Conference cellar, with little hope of rising further than ninth, but the Bulldogs finished Southern Conference competition in a fourth place tie with Richmond with a 2-2-1 showing. One of Citadel's biggest surprises was a convincing 14-13 win over Richmond midway in the season.

Coach Tom Nugent's Seminoles are showing the typical "Nugent comeback" of the past two seasons. After taking their licks from some of the south's top teams four times in a row, the Seminoles have now begun to click in top fashion, and will prove a formidable opponent for anyone in the last three games of the season. The big charge behind the FSU rejuvenation has been the emergence of Quarterback Vic Princi, sophomore flank from Waverly, N.Y.

SEC Football Will Feature More Quality

By MERCER BAILEY The Associated Press
Southeastern Conference football features more quality than quantity this weekend as Auburn, Tennessee and Vanderbilt risk their chances at a bowl bid against formidable foes. Only seven SEC teams are in action this weekend, Mississippi, the defending SEC champ and No. 1 in the current standings, Mississippi State, Tulane, Georgia and Georgia Tech are idle, resting up for next week's season finale against traditional intransigent rivals.

Marty Marion Has Received St. Louis Elks Club Award

ST. LOUIS, Mo. — Marty Marion, manager of the Chicago White Sox during their bid for the American League pennant last season, last night received the fifth annual St. Louis Elks Club award as "St. Louis' outstanding sports figure of 1955."

By B. HUGH ANSLEY
The Fighting Feds of Seminole High School have shocked themselves into the football limelight of the East Florida Conference. By virtue of their mighty upset over powerful Seabreeze last Friday night, they took a lead on the Southern Division. Their lone rival is DeLand, who will be the guests of the Feds next Wednesday night. DeLand holds a slight edge on Seminole in conference play, but should the Feds upset DeLand as they did Seabreeze they will be in the playoff for the conference championship.

also turned in a fine performance as a defensive lineman. It is not known at what particular point in the "rough-and-ready" game Carter sustained his injuries, but he did turn in a fine performance under a great handicap. From the way things look now, DeLand has a slight edge on Seminole. They are the proud holders of a 5-2 season record, with impressive wins. Ketterlinus outmanned them in a close 6-0 game and Seabreeze outscored them by an expected 20-14. But the Delanders smeared New Smyrna 31-0, then Wildwood 33-0. P. K. Youngs 19-0, they outmanned Winter Park 14-6, and they slipped past Palatka 6-0 in a nip-and-tuck game. The Feds have a 5-3 season record. Two of their losses were to victims of DeLand: Palatka and Winter Park. The Feds have not shown the offensive work that is the distinctive feature of the DeLand club. 19 points has been the Feds' greatest number of points amassed in a single game, while DeLand has scored over 30 points on two different occasions.

The big question this week is Carter. The Feds' spirits are still as high as they were last week when they upset Seabreeze, but Carter has no replacement. There is however, hope that Carter will be able to dress out by game time. If he does, and the good spirit keeps up until next Wednesday (and that's a long way off) we may be in store for another upset. The Feds have a 5-3 season record.

Dark Intent

By RAE FOLEY

CHAPTER NINETEEN
BANE looked around, saw a man in a dark suit, pulling out of her pocket a package of cigars. When she did not speak he added, "What was Roger's goal in life?"
"You've been reading Adam," the older woman said with a quick smile. "A man's goal determines all his actions. Maybe Roger's goal," she added thoughtfully, "was seeing people what they really are."
"A pretty big order," Lois commented.
"You know, Miss Fleming," Jane tilted her head and her eyes sparkled and she stepped around her hand, looking through the streaked sunlight at the leaves, "as a rule we expect to much more of life than we do of ourselves. We are impatient when they don't change their habits to suit us, but don't bother to change our own. All that, but Roger was the other way. He tried to make himself what others wanted him to be and he took them at their own valuation. He simplified them because he was a very simple man, and he brightened their great qualities because he was completely reasonable."
"You're right, Lois," she said simply. "He's in my bones." After a moment she went on, "There is a time in the life of most of us when we lose our sense of wonder, our expectation of adventure, our belief in magic, our belief in a spark behind a stone. Roger never lost that quality. He carried it with him always. He communicated a sense of heightened experience to those around him. The weather was never gray where he was."
"You have a big job, Miss Fleming," she said, "to make him real. He wanted so desperately to be real. And he blundered so disastrously, so demagogically. She put out her cigarette, taking her time.
"It's amazing now, Lois thought, what she really meant of me."
Jane stretched out her legs, staring at her sturdy boots. "Mightn't he speak of you so often. She said you a kind of driving rod, with a curious ability to get inside other people's skins and talk with their minds. And with their nerves. I don't know how you got it, probably you don't know either. I write about that myself. But that wasn't what she had meant to say. Lois thought, "He could have been a great

This Is What We Propose For Our Mellonville Avenue Property:

I sincerely believe that one of the great needs of Sanford is to have a subdivision where many of our citizens can buy homes in the $15,000 to $25,000 price range.

I have purchased the Cornell property on the west side of Mellonville Avenue and the Lingle grove on the east side. I plan to start construction of the first of these homes in December.

All homes fronting on Mellonville Avenue will conform to the existing ordinances and will be homes in the $18,000 to $25,000 price range. On the inside lots of the property, back in the groves, the homes will vary in price from $15,000 to $25,000.

I believe that such a development, as I propose will be a fine thing for Sanford. I have requested the City to change the zoning on the land that does not front on Mellonville Avenue so that all of the property may be developed at one time.

There will be a special meeting to consider this matter at the City Hall Monday at 8:00 P. M. to which all persons are urged to be present and express their opinions.

I will have some of the drawings of the homes I intend to use in this area. In addition, I intend to build my own home in this area. If you think this will be an asset to Sanford, be sure to be present.

This map is published for the purpose of enlightening the public of our proposed plans, and we urge you to notice the large spacious lots contained in our proposed development.

By VIRGINIA P. ANDERSON
 Cadet Bill Smathers of Gordon Military College, Barnstable, Ga., was the weekend guest of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Smathers, recently.

Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Thompson of Albion, Penna., arrived Wednesday to spend the winter in Lake Mary. They have rented an apartment at the home of Mrs. Bessie Saunders. It will be remembered that they are friends of Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Spiers and were residents of Lake Mary last winter.

Mr. and Mrs. James Pickering of Nuttuck, Mass., called on his aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. L. G. Pickering, Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Sherlock who bought the Million place some time ago, arrived in Lake Mary from their home in Aurora, N. Y. this past week. They had been in town only ten days when they were called back by the sudden death of her mother, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Tomlinson arrived Thursday from their summer home in North Wilmington, Mass., and have opened their home on Little Lake Mary.

Howard Lloyd, US Army, stationed at Tidwell Field, Panama City was the guest of his father, E. E. Lloyd Jr. this past weekend. He leaves shortly for advanced schooling in Milwaukee, Wis., prior to an overseas assignment in Arabia.

People came from Fern Park as well as Sanford, knowing the excellence of the Lake Mary food and they were not disappointed.

Adding considerably to the evening's enjoyment was music furnished by the Lake Mary Orchestra composed of drums, John Peckham, piano, Harry Wester and trombone, Henry DeMingo. The Girl Scouts, who are sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce helped with the serving and added a very smart note by their trim green uniforms.

Friends of H. M. Young will be interested to hear that he was taken last week by ambulance to Day Pines for treatment of a back condition which has incapacitated him for some time.

Walter Wiederhold, US Navy is spending a short furlough with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Wiederhold. He has been stationed at Great Lakes Training Station, Ill. and will be transferred to an Oklahoma base in the near future.

Mrs. P. D. Anderson cousin herself a very fortunate person. Last week she celebrated a birthday and was the recipient of two cakes. Little Miss Karen Seaman, a successful 4-11 member made the first cake and the second was part of a family dinner Sunday at the Enterprise home of Mrs. Anderson's cousins.

Those enjoying this occasion with the honoree were Mrs. Charles Krueger, Mrs. Grace Cole, Mrs. Carl Moss, Mrs. T. E. Spiers, Mrs. D. C. Spiers, Mrs. James Dingman and Mrs. Vola Werfelman.

Last Thursday, Mrs. W. P. Burke entertained her Sunday School class of Juniors. During the evening, they played games and at a late hour, the hostess served oak and orange juice. The girls a tending were, Frances Dorton, Frances Tillis, Maxine Shaw, Joyce Peterson and Gayle Burke.

Wednesday evening the Business Women's Circle of the Community Church of Lake Mary held its monthly meeting at the home of Mrs. H. M. Cochran. A short business session preceded a picnic party to which guests in excess of 100 members had been invited.

The president, Mrs. Walter J. Piper presided. Minutes of the previous meeting were dispensed with and merely an overall balance of more than $15.00 was given in place of a treasurer's report. Mrs. J. M. Thompson was appointed chairman of the Bazaar Committee, assisted by Mrs. P. D. Anderson and both of them will work with the Friendship Class on the complete plans.

Members were asked to leave washable, woolen clothing with Mrs. Anderson, which will be shipped to World Service for distribution where most needed. It was agreed that members who had not contributed to the first Sunshine Bazaar sent Mrs. William Musgrave could contribute to a second one. The organization had purchased a mechanical toy which Mrs. Anderson agreed to take to Mrs. Musgrave, to be used in a program designed to bring back dexterity to her hand which has been inactive since her illness.

The secretary, Mrs. S. F. Fowler read a resolution, memorializing the late Elma Cochran Lloyd, member of the group. It was voted that copies be sent her family and also spread upon the minutes of the meeting. It was voted that the group take full share of the church's sewing quota, and Mrs. Jonnie Lee Harmon was authorized to purchase the needed articles and ship to the Board.

Mrs. Thompson and Mrs. Fowler were appointed a committee to work on a tentative budget for the coming year. It was agreed that this year as last the Christmas party would be in the nature of a White Gift Service. A committee for this consisting of Mrs. Cochran assisted by Mrs. Joe Smathers was appointed and the party is to be held at the home of Mrs. Fowler in December. It is hoped that later, the group can make contributions to the newly opened Home for Elderly Presbyterians, in Lakeland.

At the conclusion of the business meeting the group adjourned to the porch where Mrs. Tommy Moon of Oviedo had set up her plastic display. Mrs. Cochran held the devotions which was thus made available to all. During the evening Mrs. A. F. Kemp won the advance prize and she and Mrs. Harmon both won prizes to mark this their first plastic party.

Following the demonstration, the hostess served lemon chicken, pie, coffee, nuts and minis to members, Mrs. Piper, Mrs. Anderson, Mrs. Smathers, Mrs. Fowler, Mrs. Harmon, Mrs. Thompson, Mrs. Richard Beebe, Mrs. R. E. True, Mrs. L. W. Scott, the representative, Mrs. Moon, and guests, Mrs. J. W. Wilson, Mrs. Raymond M. Ball, Mrs. Arthur Coplin and Mrs. Kemp.

Scott, Mr. and Mrs. P. D. Anderson, Mrs. Otis Sjoblom Mrs. Thomas Alroy, Mrs. H. C. Pugh, Mrs. J. C. Hendricks and Mrs. James Dingman.

Two Stations Along With Seventy-Seven Papers Are Cited

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (Seventy-seven newspapers and two broadcasting stations today were cited for exceptional cooperation in news and picture coverage by the Associated Press Managing Editors' Assn.)

They were honored for the outstanding way in which they provided news and pictures of events to other AP members—many times when the contributing member could not see the story it was sharing until a day later.

The Louisville (Ky.) Times and the Oakland (Calif.) Tribune received the top APME award for the third consecutive year.

The awards were announced here at the annual convention of the APME, an independent organization of newspaper editorial officials which serves in an advisory capacity to the AP on news coverage.

The AP, as a news cooperative, collects from its member newspapers and television stations much of the news it distributes. The citations honor those examples of news participation which far exceeded normal expectations.

'Pursuit' Placed On Production Lines

DETROIT — Described as the most powerful special car in automotive history, the 250-horsepower "Pursuit" has been placed in production by the Dodge Division, Chrysler Corp. Announcement of the special model was made by Rayson J. Nichols, vice president and General Sales Manager for Dodge.

To meet police requirements for pick-up, speed, and durability, the cars are equipped with the Super-Powered Super Red Ram V-8 engine that recently powered the 1956 Dodge through 307 AAA speed and endurance records.

At Bonnevillie Salt Flats, Utah, the performance and stamina needed for police work was demonstrated in a "flying mile" clocked at 114.03 mph, and a 14-day endurance run that averaged 105.43 mph for 10,000 miles and 32.86 mph for 31,224 continuous miles — including refueling stops.

"The new 'Pursuit' police cars provide exceptional stability due to their 120-inch wheelbase," Nichols state, adding that "optional full-time power steering offers the safety of additional stability."

Four body styles of the police model cars offered: two-door and four-door, plus Suburban and four-door Sierra station wagons. Station wagons can be used as combination police car and ambulance with optional litter conversion units featuring a cot which locks to the body side panel.

The models roll off the assembly line equipped with special map lights, variable speed electric windshield wipers, heavy-duty springs, and shock absorbers, special chassis for maximum strength, and easily cleaned vinyl interior trim.

Though the economy of maintenance and driver ease provided by automatic transmissions makes them generally preferred for police work, the "Pursuit" police cars are also built with standard transmission or overdrive.

The "Pursuit" model is also available with the economical six or Red Ram V-8 engine. Heavy-duty generators are optional equipment.

MARCH OF DIMES Foster Boy for 1955, Tommy Woodward, 5, of Baltimore, a police victim, gets an assist from actress Patty McCormack. On the stage, Patty plays the role of a child killer, but off stage she devotes much of her time to doing good deeds. The annual "March" drive begins on Jan. 2. (Central Press)

Paultry such as chicken, duck and turkey should be killed only 6 to 12 hours before being home canned.

Many Of School Children Suffer Visual Handicap

PHILADELPHIA — It runs out I'm not a very good reader. For one kind of reading that is probably the most useful kind.

From years of editing press copy, I'm pretty fair at detailed reading, hunting for misspelled words and misplaced commas.

And from years of glancing at publicity handouts to "see if this is anything we want" I'm pretty good at quickly grasping general content.

It's the in-between kind of reading that throws me—rapid reading for detailed content, like studying or reading a serious magazine article, the kind most people do the most of.

To get a better idea of what the Institute on Reading being held here this week is about, I asked Dr. Emmett A. Betts if he'd test my reading ability. Dr. Betts is director of the Betts Reading Clinic at nearby Haverford, Pa., which is sponsoring the institute.

Dr. Betts shifted his corn cob pipe to the other side of his mouth and said he'd be glad to.

"First," he said, "we'll check your vision."

He whipped out a gadget something like a flashlight, held it about 18 inches from my face and moved it toward my nose.

"Tell me when you see two lights," he said.

I told him.

"Hmm," he said in the tone of voice the dentist uses when he is about to tell you all the upper teeth have to come out.

"Now," he said, covering my right eye "follow the light with your left eye."

He moved the light in a circle about a foot in diameter and I tracked it diligently.

We repeated the performance with the right eye and Dr. Betts nodded in gain.

"I hate to have to tell you this," he said "but you have a visual handicap. No defect in your eyes, you understand but you just don't use them properly. Like walking. Some people use their feet properly. Some don't. Some use their eyes properly. Some don't. You don't."

Dr. Betts explained that I should have seen only one light until it was about two inches from my nose. It doubled up for me at about five. The left eye tracked the light smoothly, but the right moved in jumps and starts.

A further test proved that I am "right-eyed." That is, my right eye controls the motion of both eyes. Unable to control itself properly, it doesn't control the left properly either. That was why the light doubled too soon.

The result of this is that my eyes don't take in whole phrases and lines of print at a time. Sometimes I miss part of a line and have to go back. All this slows me down.

Dr. Betts said recent findings indicate a majority of schoolchildren may suffer from this handicap.

He handed me a reprint of a magazine article marked "Reading Time, 3 Minutes." A really expert reader, he said would read and comprehend it in two minutes; the average business man should read it in three; a very poor reader would take five. It took me almost four minutes.

Dr. Betts named a vision therapist near Washington, my regular optician and recommended that I see him as soon as I get home. I'm going to.

DR. EMMETT A. BETTS, returning to Washington from a European trip, tells reporters that he never insisted on a special plane to fly him back home. The Panagon recently apologized to two other U.S. Senators who had made similar denials.

A special message to truck drivers' wives

from your Ford Dealer . . .

This year, everybody is talking about safety in automobiles. And with good reason. The hazards of the road take more American lives every year than we lost in the whole Korean war.

So important things are being done to make cars safer.

But— isn't safety even more important in trucks?

If safety is important to the man who drives a car a few hours a day, isn't it even more important to the man (and his family) who drives a truck for a living?

We think it is.

And we think you wives think it is. That's why we believe you'll be vitally interested in what Ford has done to make driving a truck safer for your husband.

Ford has taken the lead in safety with not just one, but a whole family of new safety features for America's trucks and cars.

What are these features that could be so important to you?

- 1. Lifeguard Steering Wheel
- 2. Lifeguard Door Latches
- 3. Seat Belts
- 4. Tubeless Tires
- 5. Power Brakes
- 6. High Visibility
- 7. Reserve Power

- 1. Lifeguard Steering Wheel
Ford's exclusive Lifeguard truck steering wheel is built in such a way that, in case of accident, it helps protect the driver from any contact with the steering post. This kind of "deep-center" steering wheel actually acts as a cushion in case of accidents.
- 2. Lifeguard Door Latches
Ford's Lifeguard door latches have a new "double grip" type construction. Their extra holding strength gives added protection against doors flying open in the event of an accident. . . to help keep the driver in the truck where he's twice as safe.
- 3. Seat Belts
You've read a lot about seat belts. You probably know that the Accident Research Center at Cornell University, the American College of Surgeons and many other groups strongly urge that every owner equip his vehicle with seat belts. Studies prove that in about one-half of all accidents, injuries could be avoided or reduced by the use of seat belts.

SOMETHING new? No, it's existed all along, But it took a Miami woman—a business-minded Miami woman, Mrs. Peg Robinson—to bring it to light—to thrust before the 15 million hard-of-hearing in this country the fact that a hearing aid need not prevent its wearer being an efficient secretary, just because the job requires that she use the head contraption of a Dictaphone.

The challenge was presented to this woman, and she went out to meet it. Didn't Alexander Graham Bell invent the telephone as a result of his early attempts to design something to serve as a hearing aid for his deaf wife? Mrs. Robinson began to put the ideas together.

She went into "research" at the salesroom of the machine. First hint of wonders to come was the small pink ear button attached by a light cord to the machine. It was identical to that of her hearing aid. Fancy being able to snap the transmitter of the machine smartly into your own earmold! It worked!

Volume, speed, control. There were the dials. Ah, no more garbled words and requests for repeats. Just operate the controls. And what's more, her own voice range could be found. A too heavy baritone could be made to take on tenor tones.

She accepted the challenge and faced the prospective employer minus timidity and fear of not measuring up. Although in the "senior citizen" bracket, she had overcome an obstacle demanding use of a highly specialized hearing aid.

With top-notch confidence, she issues the challenge to others similarly handicapped—and oh, yes, to alert employers—that they learn for themselves the high type of service which can be rendered by the deafened.

The Band that made History...

By MAEBELLE R. ABNEY

THERE'S a special treat in store for residents of the pleasant little city of Sebring and its visitors this winter, on each Sunday afternoon from Christmas Day through March.

The band which has been called "magnificent" by foremost musicians—the city's own High School Band—will be giving fine symphony concerts on these Sunday afternoons at the City Pier Band Shell on Rex Beach Lake.

But members of the audiences may lose sight of the fact that they're listening to students, so professional is this band which was organized almost by accident, and which through the years has won many "firsts" in state, regional and inter-state contests.

It all started back in 1925, when Peter J. Gustat arrived in town after many years of prominent performance as a music conductor, director and organizer of municipal and symphony orchestras. "Prof," as he was affectionately known, tried at that time to organize a municipal band for the pleasure of the community. After several rehearsals, he dryly commented: "If I had a bunch of school kids, I could teach them to play rings around you in three weeks." And—being "Prof"—he proceeded to do just that.

He started by gathering together a group of boys and girls with no previous training, and providing many of the instruments at his own expense.

In 1927, he entered his tiny new band in competition at the State Music Contest in Tampa, Class "C." So enthusiastic were the judges that they suggested the band be moved into Class "A" the following year. From then until the present, Sebring has won consecutive top honors.

Competing with bands from Virginia, West Virginia, Maryland, North and South Carolina, Georgia and Washington, D. C. in 1947, the group carried off highest honors in the Eighth

PAUL J. GUSTAT, "Prof's" youngest son (left), took over the baton of the Sebring High School Band when his father retired in 1950, and is carrying on according to its tradition.

Regional Contest. The same year, the Sebring band won the Florida State Band Contest Sweepstakes, and the Best High School Band Award in the Gasparilla Parade.

There've been many other top regional honors in succeeding years. Among the more than 30 trophies proudly displayed in the front foyer of the High School, is that of the 1941 Lions International Amateur Band Contest won at New Orleans. High praise and superior rating according to professional standards, has been given the group in the state and regional contests sponsored by the Florida Bandmasters Association, by judges composed of the finest band leaders of the country.

The story behind the success of this outstanding band, named "First Chair of America" in its class, is the story of Peter J. Gustat's inspiration, and love.

Beneath his quiet, dignified bearing there was stubborn determination, iron will and tremendous drive. He made each child feel the importance of the part he played. Time and again he told them that if they played only one drum beat, that one note was just as important as the solo lead.

Typical of his quiet, managerial manner, is the way in which he snapped to attention not only his boys and girls, but, unintentionally other pedestrians on a New York street one day in 1949, while in the city to open the International Lions Convention.

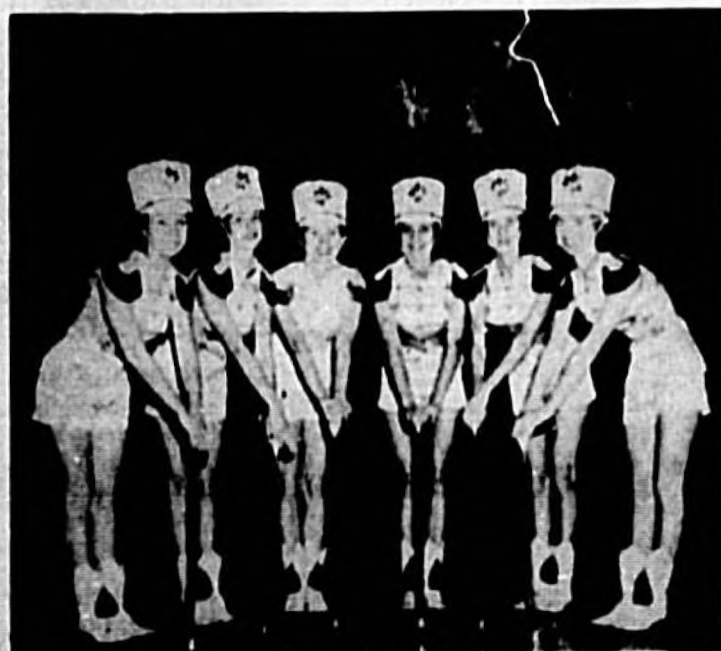

The boys and girls were strolling along toward an intersection, in small groups, when Prof sounded the familiar "tweet" of his whistle and passed along instructions to form in ranks of four. As the band fell into formation, so did others of the street, as far back as eye could see. The policeman holding that intersection removed his cap and bowed as they passed, and is probably still wondering what it was all about.

Mr. Gustat had many offers to leave his little school band and take his place among the prominent men in the world of music, but the answer was always the same: "I love my boys and girls in Sebring and they want me to stay."

He was not a young man when he came to Sebring and his tremendous activity and strenuous schedule took its toll. Teachers are expected to retire at 65, but each year, at the students' insistence and the school board's acquiescence, he returned "one more year" until in 1950, at the age of 70, it was agreed that he should retire. # THEY CAPTURE THE SEA

LIFE-SIZED statue of the porpoise which delights youngsters at marine exhibit, stands (above) before the main Seaquarium Building.

Sharks, porpoises, spotted rays and larger sea creatures swim in constantly circulating current of this 750-foot circular viewing channel (left).

FEEDING attendant, Theodore B. Batt, hands tidbit of mullet to June, jumping porpoise, to the delight of spectators who jammed 55-acre Seaquarium grounds on opening day.

WHEN a trio of tanned Miami adventurers bring home the bacon from one of their three-day deep sea hunts, the "bacon" is apt to be anything from Hogfish, Porkfish or Muttonfish, or even a Cowfish. These three aquatic athletes comprise the highly trained specimen collecting crew of the new $2,300,000 Miami Seaquarium on Rickenbacker Causeway.

Chief collector for the Seaquarium is Capt. William B. Gray, a twinkly-eyed Randolph-Scottish man with a logbook of 40 years on the briny deep. He has chased down and identified more than 2,500 different kinds of fish.

Capt. Gray mans his own especially-designed Diesel-powered craft, the Sea Horse, a 42-footer equipped with a manually operated winch for raising large sharks, table-sized turtles and 400-pound jewfish or porpoises out of their native habitat.

Captain Gray and associates, Emil Hanson and Ed "Woodie" Woodford, have spent the past six months gathering every conceivable kind of marine life for the Seaquarium's 50- and 80-foot main tank, the 750-foot circular viewing channel, 26 corridor tanks and the crustacean pools at the recently opened marine exhibit.

With the captain's Sea Horse, is a 38-foot barge, the Sea Cow; and a small skiff, the Sea Calf. These comprise the fleet which is constantly searching waters from Biscayne Bay to Himini, Gun Key to Key West for rare species for the Seaquarium tanks.

The gear includes everything from a half-mile long porpoise-catching net, wire traps, special long-poled nets for smaller fish, to deep sea fishing rigs and the old standby—the hand line.

Once the fleet is anchored off a likely spot, Gun Key, for instance, Emil and Woodie—with goggles, schnorkels and flippers are over the side in a hurry, laying and pulling wire traps from a depth of 25-30 feet, dipping out tiny technicolor Splendid Razors, zebra-striped Angelfish or Apache-faced baby Queen Triggerfish.

They spot traps laid the week before. As the Sea Horse trolls easily along, they dive, hook a rope to the traps and bring them up.

Porpoise or turtle catching is the biggest adventure for the seagoing roundup hands. Their latest porpoise is a mammoth three-year-old eight-footer taken off the Cape Florida lighthouse.

Once he'd sighted the familiar tiny gush of water of the air-breathing mammal, Captain Gray ordered the engines cut.

WOODIE WOODFORD (left), is an expert seaman and was salvage diver for the Navy at Pearl Harbor, but finds it no easy task — barefooted and barehanded—to remove hook from maw of this toothy shark.

— their only cage

By JUANITA STOKES

ANIMAL psychologists would probably place Doey, the deer, and Squeaky, the squirrel, on a couch and diagnose their cases as incurable, crazy, mixed up animals obsessed with the notions that natural habitats are not for them.

Maybe they would be right, but neither Doey nor Squeaky care what diagnosis they are accused of—they are not about to leave kindly benefactors who have cared for them since babyhood. In fact, they like domesticated life.

Doey, grown now into a chic graceful deer, has been with the W. P. Finley family, Tallahassee, since Mr. Finley found her lying weak, half hidden by brush, near a spot where there was evidence of the mother having been killed. In love with the whole family, the deer is especially attached to daughter Shelvia Jean, who took over the feeding of the little orphan and the care of her in general.

At the first sound of Shelvia Jean's voice, Doey will come leaping and bounding from the woods nearby and muzzle her hand for food. Ordinary deer foods are not for this one. Biscuits and honey have been favorites since having been weaned from the bottle. Queerest of all is her taste for rabbit pellets.

"DOEY" is an affectionate animal, with little fear of strangers. It was necessary for Shelvia Jean Finley to hold her collar (above) to restrain her from nuzzling the photographer's hand while he was attempting to take her picture. Doey loves all the Finleys, but especially, Shelvia Jean.

Page 16—All Florida Magazine—(1-20-55)

"SQUEAKY" was found by Miss Nita Litton (above) of Tallahassee, lying on the ground, having fallen from his nest in the tree above. Now that he is able to care for himself, he spurns all offers of freedom, preferring to scamper up the walls, hang from the valences and play peek-a-boo behind the drapes. No digging for acorns as long as Miss Litton feeds him warm milk from a bottle, baby-fashion.

"One day I offered her some, and she about rolled me over trying to find more. Guess she thinks she is a rabbit," laughed Shelvia Jean.

Doey was confined in a fenced-in half-acre until old enough to protect herself. The gate is now permanently open, but seldom does she go away, and if she does, early morning finds her back for her food.

Once, Shelvia Jean recalls, a hunting dog frightened Doey, causing her to run deep into the woods. Neighbors and friends helped search for her, but it was not until she heard her young mistress' voice calling that she came leaping and bounding over the bushes.

Doey is an affectionate animal. Mornings will sometimes find her standing at the kitchen door eager for the sight of the family. She expects her ears to be rubbed, and, when in a capricious mood, will hunt playfully. She has little fear of strangers. In fact, Shelvia Jean had to hold her by the collar to keep her from nuzzling the photographer's hand until he could take her picture.

"She will stay around," said Mrs. Finley confidently, "because she knows she is free to leave when she wishes."

Squeaky's story is about the same. The call of that wild stuff may be all right for some, but he prefers domesticated life—wool blankets in his bed, plenty of warm milk, sugar and oatmeal.

Saved from certain death by Miss Nita Litton, Tallahassee, when she found him fallen from his nest and being mauled by dogs, the wise little squirrel will not leave. She tried releasing him later when he had grown old enough to look out for himself, but he would have none of it.

"Squeaky was placed in the yard near a tree, with the thought that such an act would induce him to scamper up the trunk like an ordinary squirrel should," chuckled Miss Litton. "But at the first tickle of grass on his tummy, he promptly made an Olympic jump and clamped all fours around my ankle refusing to budge."

Then Miss Litton placed him on the tree limb, thinking he would take the hint. But no. Squeaky plopped to the ground and raced to the front porch steps, where he sat up on his hind legs and looked at her reproachfully.

"It's no use," said his mistress ruefully, "I guess I will just have to resign myself to his scampering up the wall, hanging from my valences and playing behind the drapes."

Neither the Finleys nor the Littons know for sure what keeps their pets within bounds. But this they do know — love and affection is the only kind of cage they have built.

But why, Little Mother, do you want to give your little boy baby away?" I asked gently of the pathetic little 13-year-old child-mother who sat at the corner of my desk. "You know if I sign this paper it is gone forever."

"Yes, I know that," she said, tears filling her eyes, "but I think it will be best for the little thing. I can't take care of it and my parents won't take it."

"If somebody that wants a baby will take it and love it and give it a good home and a name, I think that would be best for the little thing, even though I love it and would like to keep it."

I didn't ask her about the father. I already knew about him. He had a wife and five small children. Of course he should have been punished! But what of the suffering and humiliation of the mother and five little ones, the innocent ones, if the guilty father were prosecuted and punished?

"Did anyone persuade you to give up your baby?" I asked. "Did Mrs. Derrickson talk you into it?"

(Mrs. Maude Derrickson is the one who, in the name of the Salvation Army—and of God—mothers and ministers to the mothers who are unmarried. I, of course, knew that she never argued or persuaded one—like Little Mother. But she loves them, and listens, and they usually tell her all there is to tell, and she doesn't "tell," either, unless they consent. There are those—a few—who sort of exude mercy and understanding; and Mrs. Derrickson belongs to that limited class.)

Little Mother looked up at me dazed and indignant.

"You don't know Mrs. Derrickson," she said, "or you wouldn't say that. Why she is the nicest and kindest person! No mother could be better."

I was properly reprovved.

"Well," I said, "if you and Mother Derrickson have talked it all over and if you really think it is best for the 'Little Thing,' I'll ask the Children's Home Society to find those people that want it and will take it and will love it and give it a good home and a name."

The Children's Home Society said they would.

So I signed the proper papers, saw that the other papers were in order, and Little Mother

SOMEBODY'S BOY

Recognizing that the problems of children and their parents are close to every one of us, All Florida Magazine has obtained permission from the Jacksonville Boy Service Council to reprint, from time to time, excerpts from or the whole of their weekly report entitled "Somebody's Boy."

Written and edited by Judge Walter Scott Criswell.

handed over the bundle done up in pink and white into the gentle hands of the worker from the Children's Home Society. And thus Nullius Filius, alias Nobody's son, started on the way to be Somebody's Boy.

Little Mother didn't say anything more. But there was a look in her eyes and a strained expression on her childish face that one doesn't readily forget. No one said anything. But as Little Mother weakly raised herself from her chair, the court stood up and the others also stood.

Little Mother turned around and started to walk out. She was still weak from childbirth.

Her head drooped and her shoulders sagged. She looked crushed. Mrs. Derrickson put her arm around her: and they walked out together.

Sisters Under the Skin

That afternoon, another lady with a bundle was ushered in to the judicial presence. She was a fine looking young lady—well, not so young, either. I think she admitted to 28 summers and an approximately equal number of winters. She wore the proper type of glasses for her eyes, hair and other accessories. In fact, she was trim and neat and well groomed, like a school teacher.

Looking at the papers, I found that she was a teacher, a supervisor in a certain area of knowledge; that she had a Master's Degree; but that she was not and never had been married. Yet there was the bundle in blue and white that squirmed and gurgled.

She was taking a sabbatical year in Florida, so far as the record shows.

"This is your baby?" I remarked. She nodded her head.

"Why do you want to give away your own flesh and blood to strangers," I asked.

"Because I think it is best for him," she said, a la Little Mother.

"I can't explain him—to my people, to my professional associates, or, finally to him, himself, when he grows old enough to ask."

"You have given this matter careful, maybe prayerful, consideration?" I asked.

She nodded. "You realize it is the end of things so far as you and this child born of your body is concerned?"

She nodded again.

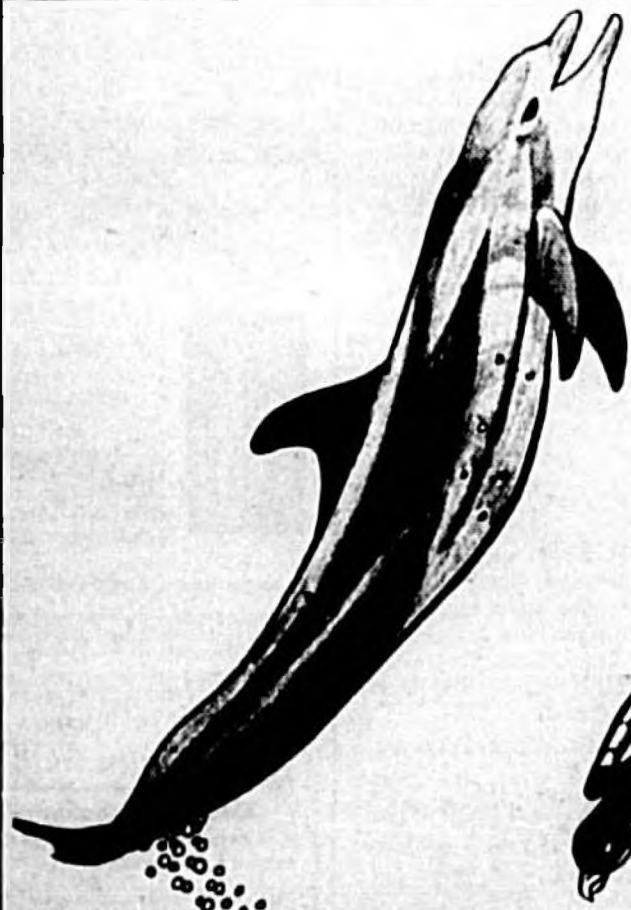

She explained in much the same words, but with better grammar, as had "Little Mother," that she thought it would be better for the "little thing" and herself and everybody else to give it to some one who wanted it, would take it, give it a home, and a name and love it and care for it.

So Nullius Filius Number Two went the same way his brother of the morning had gone.

And the morning and evening were one day, so to speak. And what a day!

For Florida's Abundance - Give Thanks

Tradition in The Kitchen

Photo By Trent Rogers

By Lillie May Marshall

Every day should be Thanksgiving Day in this state of ours—for the abundance of sunshine and the many tropical fruits, vegetables and other food products which spill from Florida's cornucopia. But it is particularly fitting that we pause to count our blessings at this season in which, 300 years ago, the pioneers set aside a day on which to express appreciation for their harvest—truly meagre by today's standards. By annual proclamation of our President, this day will be celebrated next Thursday.

Contributors to All Florida's Recipe Contest have brought to us many ways by which our own fruits, used in connection with everyday recipes, serve to remind us of the state's wealth in health-giving, native foods.

Mrs. Elmer W. Crane, whose summer home is in Arlington Heights, Ill., but who spends her winters in Eustis, suggests:

Orange Pork Chops

She uses four pork chops one inch thick, over which she sprinkles two teaspoonfuls salt mixed with one-fourth cup flour; browns in one tablespoon hot fat, on both sides, then sprinkles with one tablespoon sugar, one-eighth teaspoonful nutmeg and two tablespoonfuls raisins. Adding one cupful Florida orange juice, she covers the pan and heats to boiling, then lowers the heat and cooks slowly for 45 minutes. She places one Florida orange cut into sections on top of chops for last five minutes of cooking time.

Mrs. C. B. Perkins of Delray Beach contributes a recipe for:

Citrusurprise Steak

Pre-heating the oven to 350 degrees, Mrs. Perkins cuts two pounds round steak, one-half inch thick, into serving pieces and pounds into the steak one-fourth cup all purpose flour, into which are mixed one teaspoon salt, one-fourth teaspoon pepper, then browns it in three tablespoonfuls shortening. She combines three-fourths cup ketchup and one-half cup water and pours this over the steak, arranging over top of all, in desired pattern, one medium onion sliced thin, one Florida orange, unpeeled, sliced thin, one lemon unpeeled, sliced thin and six whole cloves. Covering, she bakes it one hour, or until steak is tender.

From Mrs. A. C. Daughrill of Pensacola have come directions for making:

Avocado Crab Cutlets

Removing spines from two cups cooked crabmeat, Mrs. Daughrill melts three tablespoons butter and blends in four tablespoons flour, adding one-half teaspoon salt, one-eighth teaspoon pepper, stirring in one and one-half cups milk and cooking until thickened, stirring constantly. She adds two cups diced avocado and the crabmeat and mixes well, shapes into cutlets, rolls in fine bread crumbs, then in three beaten eggs and again in bread crumbs and fries in hot deep fat until brown—about two to four minutes.

Mrs. O. C. Prevatt of Jacksonville makes a pretty dish of her

Yams and Grapefruit Casserole

She washes a pound of yams, cuts off ends and boils until tender in water containing one teaspoonful of salt to the quart. These she peels and mashes fine with one-half teaspoonful salt, one-fourth teaspoonful nutmeg or cinnamon, two tablespoonfuls cream and two tablespoonfuls butter; places in buttered casserole and arranges over top grapefruit sections (free from seeds and white skin), alternating with marshmallows in pin-wheel design. Dotting with butter, she sprinkles granulated sugar over all just before heating to serve, then leaves it in oven just long enough to heat thoroughly and melt sugar on top. Can be prepared in advance, covered and put in refrigerator until time to re-heat.

Mrs. J. L. Armstrong of Fernandina Beach offers a treat in her—

Grapefruit and Crabmeat Cocktail

Cut three Florida grapefruit in half lengthwise, remove pulp and drain. Mix with it one-half pound crabmeat flakes, one-third cup tomato catsup, one-fourth pound Florida grapefruit juice, one tablespoonful Worcestershire sauce, one-half teaspoonful salt and three or four drops Tobacco sauce. Chill and serve in baskets made from grapefruit shells.

From Palm Beach, Mrs. John Edward Fowler sends a recipe for:

Lemon Pie Crust

Cut one cup shortening into three cups unsifted flour—pastry flour preferred—together with one teaspoonful salt. Beat one egg, add slightly more than half a cup cold water. Stir and add three tablespoons Florida lemon juice, little at a time, to prevent eggs curdling. Add to shortening, flour and salt. Roll and bake as for any pie crust. Keeps well in refrigerator.

Mrs. H. G. Newhook of Pensacola uses citrus fruit to give a distinctive flavor to her—

Florida Chicken Salad

Section a large Florida grapefruit, saving four sections for garnish. Add to two cups cooked, diced chicken, one cup diced celery and one head of Florida lettuce, broken into pieces. Combine one-fourth cup mayonnaise, one-half teaspoon salt, one-eighth teaspoon pepper and two tablespoons lime juice. Mix with salad and toss lightly. Garnish top with grapefruit sections.

Mrs. John Hanel of Tampa sends her recipe:

Florida Citrus Special

Mix one-third cup orange sections, three-fourths cup grapefruit sections, two tablespoons calamondin sections, all cut small and one-fourth cup kumquats cut very thin. Drain off two tablespoons juice for crust and one-fourth cup for topping. Mix remaining juice, pulp and half cup of sugar, and spread over baked cake crust made by sifting one and one-fourth cups all purpose flour, adding half a cup of sugar and one-half teaspoon salt, and cutting or rubbing in one-half cup butter to make crumb consistency. Blend in the two tablespoons juice and pat into ungreased 8 by 8 by 2 pan. Bake 25 minutes in moderate oven, 350 degrees.

A topping may be made by mixing three-fourths cup sugar, one-eighth teaspoon salt, one-half teaspoon baking powder, three tablespoons flour, one teaspoon cinnamon and blending into mixture of two eggs, beaten, and one-fourth cup of the fruit juices. Add one cup shredded coconut and spread on top of the citrus filling. Bake in moderate oven—350 degrees—for 30 minutes. Cut while warm, into 16 bars and leave in pan to cool.

FLORIDA FACTS

By HELEN THERRILDSON
DO YOU KNOW?

That the head of the Homosassa River is known by many fishermen as "Nature's Fish-bowl"?

That Florida's Everglades National Park is the only subtropical area in the U. S., and is third in size of the 28 national parks?

That Tampa's ex-postmaster, Col. J. Edgar Wall, had in his office a specimen of our state bird, the American eagle, which was captured at Prince Williams Sound, Alaska, and died May 6, 1911. That it was from this huge mounted bald eagle that artists reproduced the one used on the recent currency, coins, bonds and official papers of our country? That when Mr. Wall retired from his post he presented this historical bird to Florida Southern College at Lakeland?

So What?

The Fourth Grade Little Mother and holder of the Master's Degree were poles apart educationally; but both carried the same kind of bundle.

If education alone were the answer to our social and moral problems, simply to see that every one had a Doctor's Degree would settle the matter and society would speedily attain a condition of perfect virtue.

But, alas it is not so simple. The human being must be governed by certain rules and principles. It is a matter more of moral training than of information about things. There must be a fervent belief in the Ruler behind the rules, and there must be inculcated both a desire and a determination to abide by those rules. The belief in God gives the sanction and the love of God gives the dynamic for living a life that has meaning and happiness.

Education and knowledge are enlightening and very practically helpful; but only the "Knowledge of God" gives meaning, dimensions and direction to life.

When God abides in the home and is welcomed; when parents live in peace with each other and there is mutual affection, courtesy and love between and amongst the members of the family; then there will be discipline and order based on the rules of God—and there will be no social problems such as we have described. There is no other answer to the much mouthed topic of delinquency and crime.

The "moral lag," when compared to intellectual and scientific progress, is painfully apparent. Perhaps that is the explanation of the current rather frantic and hectic efforts to "re-capture" God and give Him a few months thereafter, he suffered a fatal heart attack.

Traditions of the Sebring Band are being carried on by Prof's youngest son, Paul J. Gustaf.

The most recent honor accorded the band is an invitation to play before an audience of more than 4,000 band directors during the Midwest National Music Clinic at Chicago next month.

As the boys and girls play there, they will play their best, because they will be inspired by the memory of the little man who stood before them through the years, baton in hand, impressing upon them that "though you play only one drum beat, that beat's just as important as the solo lead."

place in the lives and affairs of men. The motive will have to be deeper than the "Fire Insurance" motive if the effort is to be effective.

Nullius Filius and His Sister Nullius Filia

In 1946, there were 55,142 babies born in the State of Florida. Of these there were 3,356 born out of wedlock. In 1953 there were 79,497 babies born in Florida and of these 6,618 were born out of wedlock. It appears that Nullius Filius and his sister Nullius Filia are outstripping their legitimate comrades in the race to be born. The same proportions hold for Duval County. In 1953, 794 little babies became unwilling residents of our county, of which we have described two.

At the present rate of increase, we should have about a thousand of these little folk born in our great country this year. Maybe we can shrug this tragedy off with a sophisticated sneer. Maybe we can repeal the Ten Commandments and substitute some new and more rational rules for them. It is not a new experiment. The only certain thing about it is that it has always failed.

JACKSONVILLE LIBRARY HAS SERVED FLORIDIANS FOR HALF A CENTURY

By
WINSTON R. HENDERSON

SHE'S only two, but Lea Lester displays as much interest as do her elders who visit Jacksonville Public Library for pleasure and enlightenment.

It was a great event when the doors of the Jacksonville Free Public Library first swung open, way back there in 1905, but pride has been magnified many times over during the intervening half century.

The library is celebrating its 50th anniversary this year, opening those same doors and standing in sixth place with regard to the reading public of 28 southern cities with populations ranging from 100,000 to 500,000.

The earliest public library service in the city was started in 1878, by the Jacksonville Library and Literary Association which was succeeded in 1883, by the Jacksonville Library Association, with J. Q. Burbridge as president. The building which housed it, was one of the many brought down by a great conflagration in May, 1901.

The following year, Andrew Carnegie notified Jacksonville officials he was prepared to give the city $50,000 for a library building, provided the city itself would furnish the site and appropriate not less than $5,000 annually for the support of the library.

The decision to establish Florida's first tax-supported library was voted by a majority of 13 when put up to the citizens of Jacksonville.

And now on its 50th anniversary, there's pride over what has been accomplished during the half century, with a loyal and efficient staff, headed since 1920 by Joseph F. Marron.

When the library opened in 1905, there was a population of 35,000 to be served, and 9,000 books from which to choose. Slightly more than 44,000 books were withdrawn during the first 12 months.

It's a very different story now, on the 50th anniversary, when the same doors are being opened every day to serve a population of 220,000 prospective readers, including those of the five branches of the main library, offering a choice of 339,000 books. Last year, 775,300 books were taken out, this putting Jacksonville into the high rank it holds among public libraries of the southern states.

There's apprehension also, on this half century anniversary, over crowded conditions occasioned by the library's continued rapid growth. But the staff is going forward with its appeal not only to adults, but to youngsters who, though they may now be reading fairy stories, will follow through voluntarily during their school days, for pleasure reading and research required for their studies.

9-Item Agenda Confronts Board

A nine-item agenda will face the Board of Sanford City Commissioners tonight at the adjourned meeting of Nov. 14.

The lengthy session, beginning at 8 o'clock in the City Commissioner's Room, will possibly draw one of the largest audiences since the annexation question was being discussed.

It is expected that several items will come up from the floor and along with the public hearing on the rezoning of an area on Melville Ave. near 20th St. to allow construction of homes in the less than 1,600 feet living space requirement.

Already, the Zoning and Planning Commission of the City has recommended a change in rezoning to a low R1AAB which will require only 1,300 feet in the living area. Bradley Odham, head of Odham and Tudor, Inc., who proposed the new subdivision, says that homes upward of the original requirement for the Melville area will be built directly on Melville Ave. However, the lesser space will be reserved for other sections of the plat.

Other items on the agenda that will be discussed or handled during the meeting will include an appointment to the Zoning and Planning Commission, a resolution for the late Elton J. Moughton, a report from the City Attorney in regards to services beyond the city limits, the discussion of a request to use the present hospital building on Oak Ave. as a home for the aged, the vacating of an east-west alley at the rear of 107 W. 10th St., and the authorization for the completion of the agreements with Odham and Tudor, Inc., in regards to water and sewer.

Car Fails To Make Curve, Crashes Into Swamp, Brush

A 1953 Cadillac passenger automobile, traveling south on State Road 600, failed to make the curve at the Lake Monroe Bridge early this morning and crashed into the swamp and brush nearly 250 feet off the highway.

The car was a total loss and had to be cut out of the underbrush and trees into which it had hurled. Apparently out of control, the automobile did not turn over but smashed head-on and buried its front wheels into water and mud.

The accident occurred shortly after one o'clock when the automobile, driven by Mrs. Louise Heberlin, 37-year-old housewife of 2400 Laurel Ave., left the highway immediately south of the Lake Monroe Bridge as it attempted to round the sharp curve.

Mrs. Heberlin sustained a broken right hand and complained of shoulder pains when she was confined at the local hospital. The steering wheel of the car was badly bent as she was thrown against it from the impact.

Cecil B. Heberlin, 27-year-old railroad man, and husband of the driver, received a severe gash on his head when he was thrown into the windshield. He also received a cut on his left elbow.

Florida Highway Patrolman Carl Williams, investigating the accident said that the automobile was apparently traveling at a high rate of speed. However, he noted that there were no skid marks immediately discernible at the scene early this morning.

The automobile was a total loss with the front end completely demolished, the doors twisted out, and the body bent. Property loss was set at approximately $2,500.

Sanford Manufacturing Company Is Faced With Space Problem

Local Ministers Preach To Large Audiences Sunday

Beginning the Thanksgiving Season, Sanford churchgoers heard sermons of varying topics as local ministers preached to a continuing larger audiences in observance of the Sabbath Day.

Pastor Perry L. Stone of the First Christian Church preached Sunday morning from Eph. 2:10 on "Grace, the Free Gift of God." He said, "We are saved by grace, by God's forgiving mercy, his divine favor toward us despite our guilt of sin. Grace is not attained by our own doing—it is a free gift bestowed on penitent believers. It is utterly unmerited, and cannot be earned by morality, observance of the Law, or pious practices. Grace is not attained by works, but any man should boast. We are created in Christ Jesus for good works. Grace is the root of good works, not the fruit. God bestows the gift of grace upon us because of our faith in His Son. Grace is not of ourselves but faith certainly is. Faith is not thrust upon us irresistibly or presented to us miraculously. God has revealed himself, and we are free to believe or disbelieve the credible testimony of the Word of God. But God's promise of blessing depends on our faith, our response to his offer of salvation. Faith is not a coldly sterile, or aridly intellectual belief, but a warm, creative experience, the personal commitment of our whole selves to Christ."

The Rev. David R. Carnotix, pastor of the Christian and Missionary Alliance Church used as his subject yesterday, "The Kind of Thanksgiving That is Not Dependent Upon Circumstances."

SHS Seniors Get Point-By-Point Tour Through Local Bank

Seniors at Seminole High School are getting a point-by-point picture of the banking business as officials and members of the staff of Florida State Bank take the graduating class through their facilities.

In groups of 20 to 25 students, the huge 1954 graduating class is being honored at luncheon, given a word picture of the effect of the banking business on the community, led some of the philosophies of the bank department, and then shown the machine methods, and steps used in banking and loans.

One of the exciting moments during the luncheon was the handing of $20,000 in $100 bills as the pad of currency was passed from one student to another to get the feel of how money is handled in the Florida State Bank.

Senator Douglas Stenstrom, a guest of the bank for the occasion, spoke to the students on the importance of saving and of the services which the bank renders its depositors. Senator Stenstrom explained "the way in which banks serve the public and the part it plays in the county's growth, and the importance as a leading institution."

T. E. Tucker, president of the Florida State Bank, told the Seminole High School graduating class that, "We are proud to have you as our guests and we want to show you through the bank and explain just exactly how we operate."

At the luncheon with the seniors were Representative Volts A. Williams Jr., Superintendent of Public Instruction R. T. Milwood, Mrs. Gertrude Dingfelder, Miss Rebecca Stevens of the Seminole High School staff, and Willis Peacock, cashier of the bank.

Divided into two groups, the second tour of the bank was made conducted by President Tucker and Cashier Peacock of the bank's staff of officials.

Billias Loop, the bank's personal loan officer explained the operation of the loan department and told the seniors, "I'd like to impress upon you the value of taking care of your credit, for you never know when you will need it."

From one side of the bank to the other, the students got first-hand information of the way a bank operates, its policies, and how accounts, loans, savings, and other service are handled.

"It's the feel of money that really impresses me," one student was heard telling another. "I didn't know they had so much of it here."

Hyman Meltzer, father of the local head, is president of the parent organization and also of the Sanford Manufacturing Co., "Jerry" Meltzer said, "We do all of our buying, wherever possible, locally for we believe in spending our money for materials where it will do the most good."

But, our big problem is this, he explained, we are operating with 5,000 feet of floor space where we need upward of 10 to 15 thousand.

"Certainly, we are hopeful of solving our problems here in Sanford, and stay here," Meltzer said. "We like it here and we have an enormous investment, but we must have space necessary for our operations," he concluded.

Franchise Held For Florida, Cuba

With an exclusive franchise for the State of Florida and for Cuba, a new industry is created in Sanford with representatives traveling throughout the State and over the entire island of Cuba.

"With complete confidence in the future for Florida and for the island of Cuba," said W. K. McRoberts, distributor for the Hunt-McRoberts custom built tire, "we are establishing our business here to take care of the expanding trade and the continuing growth of the State."

Two representatives of Hunt-McRoberts Brokerage Division will travel the entire area where the exclusive franchise has been granted. "With over 70 years combined experience in the major tire industries of the country," said McRoberts who heads the local tire distributorship, "we are equipped to serve every tire need of the entire area."

Special representatives Dale Emery and W. E. "Huck" Butler will travel for the concern with Kirby Fite, sales coordinator for the firm.

Dale Emery is a former Eastern Sales Manager for the Wick Corporation and has spent 21 years in one of the major tire industries.

W. E. "Huck" Butler spent 22 years with the major rubber countries of the nation.

W. K. McRoberts, heading the firm, has spent an additional 22 years with major companies and in business for himself.

Explaining the setup of the new organization operating out of Sanford, McRoberts said that there will be a complete warehouse stock here so that shipments can be made in all points from the local source.

McRoberts said, "Denham Tires are not new tires. It has been a quality tire for 12 years." And he continued, "It has been our contention that the Denham tire is a bit better than the run-of-the-mill due to additional control during manufacture of the tire and the additional inspection that is given them after manufacture."

Cabbage Acreage Shows Increase In Market Area

"Cabbage acreage shows an increase in the Sanford Market area," according to Sandy Anderson, manager of the Sanford State Farmers' Market in his tabulation of fall crop acreage in L. N. Lewis, Director of the Florida State Farmers' Markets.

"Vegetable acreage in the Sanford-Oviedo-Delaware-Lake Harris sections, as of Nov. 1," said Manager Sandy Anderson, "shows an increase of 201 acres over the corresponding period last year. Cauliflower acreage increased 44 acres and iceberg lettuce 44 acres. However, there is a decrease in other items with beans showing the greatest with 242 acres less. There are lesser decreases in celery, Boston lettuce, escarole, chikory and romaine and other items. The overall acreage Nov. 1 totaled 2,171 acres as compared to 2,171 acres on this date last year. A part of the acreage decrease is attributed to the Lake Harris acreage being converted to pasture and therefore not being farmed this year."

"Last week the Sanford Market grossed in excess of $60,000 for 20,817 packages of 36 varieties of produce. Beans, celery, corn, cucumbers, escarole squash and citrus led in volume," Anderson reported.

"Rapidly increasing volume at the Fort Myers State Farmers' Market," is reported by Manager Henry Wille Jr. "However, prices are at such a low level on most items growers are barely receiving harvesting and packaging costs," he said.

35 Congratulated

The Executive Officer at the Sanford Naval Auxiliary Air Station personally congratulated each man in a 35-man group last week when they received certificates of advancement.

Commander H. C. Cole Jr., NAAS Executive Officer presented the certificates of advancement and commended the group for their initiative.

Landscaping Alters Appearance Of New Memorial Hospital

Sanford's Sunday sightseers were delightedly surprised to see a striking change of appearance in the north location of the new Seminole County Memorial Hospital, for it now has the pleasing beauty of last part of the landscaping.

Officials are happy about the progress that is being made and are hopeful that doors will be open for patients early in January.

Rather than wait for springing to grow and cover the front grounds of the building that is now nearing completion the trustees decided to have and laid. The green carpeting thus provided around the attractive entrance sets off the new structure in a fine contrast.

In addition to the greenery there are phloxia palms and some short shrubs that add their notes of beauty.

To the east and south most of the springing has been done and the sprinkler system has been work to keep the small patches of grass growing. There is still a large section of the grounds that must be set in lawn mostly to the south and southwest of the new structure.

Flora beds have been laid out and the preparation of the soil being done to insure healthy growth for the plants that are (Continued on Page Eight)

Road Department Has Grass Problems

If planning to mow your front lawn makes you tired, just think of the problems of the State Road Department.

Last year the maintenance division of the Road Department mowed an average of three times the 150,000 acres adjacent to state highways—or a 6-foot wide strip of grass 642,000 miles long.

The 134 mowing units of the State Road Department traversed the equivalent of nearly 26 times around the earth in maintaining the grass rights of way along more than 12,000 miles of primary and secondary roads according to R. C. Bynnerman Jr. maintenance engineer.

Although nearly $200,000 annually is expended to maintain these rights of way Bynnerman said, the cost is only minor compared to the savings from erosion and other damage to road shoulders which is prevented by planting of grass.
