

Nation's GNP At Peak Of $618.5 Billion

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The nation's production of goods and services soared to a record annual rate of $618.5 billion in the second quarter of 1964, and President Johnson predicts even bigger gains in the months ahead.

The figure, announced Thursday, was up $10 billion over the first three months of this year. This means that the gross national product (GNP)—that is, the total output of goods and services—now is running about $20 billion ahead of its rate at the start of the year.

"On the basis of this fine record—and with the tax cut's major impact yet to come—we fully expect the gains in the second half of the year to be even greater than the first," Johnson said.

He hailed the report as "further witness to our strong and balanced economic expansion. The Chief Executive noted also that personal income particularly 'grows faster than we had expected.'"

In a related development, Labor Secretary W. Willard Wirtz said Thursday that non-farm employment reached 59.1 million last month—the highest level in American history.

But, he noted, heavy overtime work assignments continued, and the total number of jobs in June was 4.7 million, for an unemployment rate of 5.3 per cent of the work force as compared with 5.1 per cent in May.

During the last quarter of 1963 the rate of the GNP was $599 billion, and for the first quarter of this year $608.8 billion.

Strong consumer buying was said to have accounted for $8 billion of the increase during the second quarter. All goods except automobiles showed substantial increases, the Commerce Department said.

Automobile purchases continued at the high level established during the preceding quarters.

Johnson said the performance indicated strong advances for the rest of this year.

Sanford Scout Leader Goes To Jamboree

Thomas G. Albert, Sanford Boy Scout executive, left Saturday for the National Boy Scout Jamboree at Valley Forge, Pa., where he will serve for two weeks as Scoutmaster of Council Jamboree Troop 60, located in Section 21 and composed of units throughout Region Six.

There are 112 Scouts and 14 adult leaders representing the Central Florida Area Council. The group departed late Saturday night from Camp LaNoche near Umatilla by chartered buses. The theme of this year's Jamboree is "Strengthen America's Heritage."

The tour schedule includes trips to Williamsburg, Va., Washington, D. C., Philadelphia and many other points plus military bases for meals, church services and attractions. Jamboree buses are slated to return July 26 at Camp LaNoche.

Authorities said Howard Gall Hendricks, 65, apparently fell into the water and drowned while fishing. Hendricks retired four years ago and moved here from Decatur, authorities said.

Lutheran Church Bible School Opens Today

Vacation Bible School at the Lutheran Church of the Redeemer, W. 25th Place, Sanford, opened at 9 a.m. today with classes for children four to 14 years old on the theme "God, My Country and I." The two-week school will close Friday, July 31.

Purpose of this year's courses, according to the Rev. Herbert W. Goers, pastor, is three-fold: 1) to lead the children to acknowledge God to be the Ruler over all things in heaven and earth and to recognize Him as the One who has established government on earth and given it authority to rule in order to serve the people in the land;

2) To lead them to the realization that every Christian is a citizen of both of God's Kingdoms—the heavenly one and the earthly one;

3) To encourage them, as they are led by the Holy Spirit, to develop the desire to live as loyal citizens of both kingdoms.

Tools to help accomplish these results will be workbooks for each pupil, filmstrips in color, handwork projects, singing of appropriate songs in the five departments, Nursery through Junior High. Games and refreshments will round out each morning's schedule.

The loud booming sounds, made by channel bass and black drum are often heard in the corridors at Marineland of Florida.

Four Detection Satellites Now In Orbit

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI) — America's new nuclear detection satellites, maneuvered into position by three days of a killifly rocketry, whirled around earth today as lookouts for any illegal atomic tests during the next 12 months.

The two sentries joined a similar pair orbited last October to give the United States a four-satellite force to police the limited test ban treaty signed with Russia last August. Both of the new satellites, together with a small research moonlet, were rocketed early Friday into yo-yo orbits that looped from 65,500 miles in space to within 230 miles of earth.

The first of the new watchdog satellites was switched into a circular orbit 65,500 miles high Friday night while the second made another swoop around the earth on the initial orbit.

At exactly the right moment Sunday, 59 hours and 11 minutes after launch, scientists at the Air Force Satellite Control Center in Sunnyvale, Calif., triggered a small rocket aboard the second craft and klicked it into the same high circular orbit.

Because of the delay between the two orbital maneuvers, the two sentries are about 120,000 miles apart so that when one is on one side of the globe, its partner is patrolling the opposite side.

The first two, rocketed into space in the opening of the Defense Department's program for a fool-proof method to guard against test ban cheating above ground.

Nevada No More Divorce Capital

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Nevada has lost its reputation as the divorce capital of America to Alabama, according to a survey of the National Vital Statistics Division.

Alabama had 17,320 divorces in 1963 compared to only 8,465 for Nevada. The Alabama counties of Geneva, Marion, Randolph and Winston all logged more divorces than marriages; there was no county in Nevada in which divorces exceeded marriages.

Men To Paint Irwin Hall

By Maryann Miles
The Men's Club of the Bear Lake Methodist Church will have a "Paint Irwin Hall" get-together at 8 p.m. today followed by a covered dish supper when it gets too dark to paint.

The club hopes to have its first meeting in the new hall on Aug. 23.

Perez Visit To Florida Off

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — Plaquemines Parish (county) segregation leader, Leander Perez today postponed a trip to St. Augustine because of an injured heel.

A spokesman for Perez said he slipped when closing a window during a rain storm. Perez had scheduled to talk in the racial trouble spot at the request of local business men.

He is president of the Plaquemines Parish Council, and is regarded the leading segregationist in Louisiana.

Work Sentences Given 4 Boys For Vandalism

Three young brothers, ages eight to 14 years old and a nine-year-old boy from another family reported to Juvenile Court at 9 a.m. today to begin serving a "work sentence."

Judge C. Vernon Mize passed the probationary sentence on the four youngsters Monday. They all were involved in the vandalism and theft at the home of Dr. Leonard Munson on July 11 and 12.

The boys all will do menial labor for the City for three hours a day "until further notice," under an arrangement worked out by Judge Mize and City Manager W. E. Knowles. The work will involve pulling weeds, picking up trash and other small jobs within their capacity.

The oldest member of the group involved in the vandalism, a 16 year old deaf-mute, who, because of his incurable behavior is unacceptable to the state industrial school or to schools for afflicted children, will be transferred to the state asylum at Chattahoochee, on the recommendation of a panel of psychiatrists who examined him Friday.

Two little girls also involved will not be required to work, but are not allowed to leave their homes unless accompanied by their parents or a responsible adult until further notice.

The older brother of one of the girls, who is mentally retarded, is being detained at his home until he can be admitted to the Sunland Training Center.

Judge Mize said that he would like to have seen the youngsters have to clean up the mess they had made at the Munson home, but this being impossible since the own-

Board Rejects Request For Asphalt Plant

A request from Charles A. Meyers Jr. and James R. Morgan to establish an asphalt plant in the vicinity of SR 431 and the ACL tracks at Forest City was denied Monday night at a meeting of the Seminole County Board of Adjustment.

The applicants were not present to substantiate their request for a special exception permit, but a host of nearby property owners, residents and representatives of the Hi-Acres Concentrate, Inc., were present to present objections.

The board, headed by Chairman Hal Colbert and members W. C. Hallbeck, Richard Hanko, Jack Syme and J. H. Lee (the latter was not present) turned down the request on the basis of these objections and the fact that Hi-Acres was a food processing plant.

The board took no action on the request of Curtis Dorsey for a special exception permit to establish a golf driving range in south Seminole. The permit was granted originally but an adjacent property owner was out of the state at the time and did not have an opportunity to register his objections. By an agreement between the parties concerned, the County Commission referred the question back to the Board of Adjustment for additional consideration and a recommendation to the Commission.

The Board of Adjustment decided to inspect the property site and make a final recommendation to the County Commission by Friday of this week.

7th's Flagship Reaches Saigon

SAIGON, Viet Nam (UPI) — The USS Oklahoma City, flagship of the powerful 7th Fleet, made for Saigon harbor today for a three-day operational visit expected to put a fresh head of steam behind the anti-Communist war effort in South Viet Nam.

The decks of the guided missile light cruiser bristle with newly mounted machine guns to repel any guerrilla attack from shore. It has been fitted with underwater detection devices for protection against saboteurs.

In early May, Communist Viet Cong saboteurs mined and sank the converted U. S. aircraft carrier card in Saigon harbor. It was repaired and refloated.

The visit by Vice Admiral Roy L. Johnson, 7th Fleet commander, came at a time when government forces were feeling from two telling new blows inflicted by the Communists.

ers are away and unaware of what has happened, he decided to put them to work helping to do clean-up work in the city.

None of the children, with the exception of the 16 year old deaf mute, has ever been in trouble before, investigation shows.

The sentence is indefinite, pending reports of the boys' behavior, their attitude and diligence, from City Recreation Director Jim Jernigan who will supervise their chores, and Juvenile Counselor C. E. McCord who will check on them regularly.

The parents of the youngsters promised to cooperate in seeing that they get to work at the designated times and are kept off the streets and away from any of the other children involved.

The father of the three boys, who returned here over the weekend from California, said that he was anxious to pay his proportionate share of the damages done by his sons and was seeking employment here or nearby so that he could be at home with them.

All of the youngsters are under court supervision until further notice, pending their behavior and attitude and Judge Mize warned that a second offense of any kind would mean they would be sent to industrial school.

The mother of the boy who is committed to Chattahoochee has decided to move back to North Carolina, Judge Mize said, and added that the boy would later be transferred to the North Carolina state institution.

As far as is known, the Munson family has not been informed of the vandalism and theft at their home. They are traveling on an extensive vacation and were last reported in Mexico. Friends here said they would not tell them what had happened "because it would spoil their vacation."

No comprehensive estimate of damages or loss is available at present.

Goldwater Unit To Be Formed

A bipartisan meeting for the purpose of establishing a Seminole County "Goldwater for President" office will be held at 8 p.m. Thursday in the Edwards Building at 200 North Park Avenue.

A group of local Goldwater supporters have obtained an office location and will meet to organize campaign efforts in this county.

An invitation has been extended to all county residents to attend the affair.

Mrs. Barbara Peters has returned to the office of North Orlando Village Clerk upon request and approval by unanimous resolution of the Village Council and was officially sworn in last Thursday by Mayor Irene Van Eepoel.

She announced this week that office hours will be from 9 a.m. until noon, Monday through Thursday and from 1 until 5 p.m. on Friday of each week.

Unity Cited As City's Big Need

Editor's Note: A sincere and thoughtful reader recently took The Herald to task because the feeling was that this newspaper was "knocking" our downtown business district when it should "try boosting" for a change. This is the first in a series of three articles discussing the downtown district.

By Julian Stenstrom Associate Editor
What about the downtown district? The question is heard repeatedly in nearly every major city in the country. Certainly, it's not a new question — even here in Central Florida where civic leaders, business men, city planners and municipal authorities are investigating every possible approach to find a practical solution. Sanford is no exception. As long time exponents of what might be called "accentuating the positive," The Herald does just that whenever it can. But in its effort to be a dependable newspaper it also finds itself charged with the responsibility of being factual in its reporting. Unfortunately, the two just do not tie together very well at this time on this topic. On the positive side, there has been the establishment by city officials of parking lots scattered around the First Street area. Most prominent is the new one at Sanford's main downtown intersection. Others are at Second and Oak,

Commercial and Palmetto or Hood — and the popular boat trailer parking area for those who use the ramp at the protected boat basin. Then there are the lots at the rear of the Civic Center and at Third and Magnolia.

All of these are within easy walking distance of the downtown shopping area — perhaps even closer than many of the parking places in outlying shopping center parking areas.

It is apparent then that parking is not downtown Sanford's problem. But what about the business houses themselves?

Do they attract shoppers because of an appealing appearance? Are prices in line with competition? Is the stock in keeping with market trends in styles, qualities and quantities? The answers to these questions are up to the merchants. But insofar as the physical appearances of the stores are concerned, it seems much can be done through planning and action.

But it must be unified planning. It is unfortunate when some property owners who strive to rehabilitate, rejuvenate and regenerate shopping activity encounter a lack of cooperation and an unwillingness on the part of some other owners to participate in a unified effort.

Even if civic pride and interest did not serve as keys to action, self preservation should.

If shopper interest is not maintained at a high level property values will not stay on a high plane.

Thinking positively, it must be agreed that merchants and property owners in downtown Sanford must put forth a "heap of cooperation."

Woman Charged In Meat Theft

A woman identified by police as Vera Senn Summey of W. Third St. was charged with petty larceny Monday afternoon in the theft of five pounds of meat from an E. First St. store.

Police said the woman and another were seen to leave the store, enter a phone booth, but not make a call. The witness checked the booth and found two quarts of milk on the floor. A store employe came out and said one of the women had taken the meat.

It was learned by police the meat was taken from the counter, concealed on the woman who later purchased two quarts of milk. The items were exchanged in the bag while the two were in the phone booth, police said.

Hill Recaptured From Laos Reds

VIENTIANE, Laos (UPI) — Government forces driving east from Muong Sout recaptured strategic Phou Kout Hill from the Communists Monday night and were advancing today on Muong Kheung, eight miles beyond, military sources said.

Gen. King Lee's lost Phou Kout, which dominates east-west Highway 7 at the western edge of the Plain de Jarres, to the Communist Pathet Lao in mid-June. Myong Kheung had been conquered in a Communist lightning offensive a month earlier.

The sources said King Lee's infantry had driven the Communists off the main ridge of the hill and were slowly pushing them off the northeast slope.

Government troops had enveloped most of the slopes around Phou Kout Monday in an air-supported offensive that rolled 10 miles in two days.

Pre-Convention Demo Drive On

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Johnson met with Democratic congressional leaders today to map out plans for a final drive to clear key administration measures before the party's national convention Aug. 21.

The Chief Executive played host to the lawmakers at his regular Tuesday breakfast at the White House.

Sen. Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield, (Mont.), announced earlier that he intended to announce after a caucus of Democrats Monday that the Senate would meet Saturdays and lengthen its sessions to the evening hours to "do everything we can to finish work" on priority legislation.

Topping the list of "must" measures was the administration's $962.5 million anti-poverty bill. Mansfield scheduled action on the bill for later in the week, possibly Wednesday and Thursday.

After that comes the $1.4 billion foreign aid authorization measure.

On the same bill will be ventriloquist Dottie Jardine. Looks like a great Wednesday Luncheon meeting at the Civic Center for the Kiwanis.

Secretary of State Tom Adams, who by law is charged with the maintenance of the grounds at the state capitol in Tallahassee, reports that recently someone stole several newly planted azalea plants from the northside of the capitol building. The deepest sympathy of everyone at The Herald is extended to Kay Batholomew and her children in the tragedy that has befallen them in the past two days.

There are never any words to express what we all feel at times like this. Through regular daily news, so much of it concerned with the activities of the Sanford Naval Air Station and the squadrons of the Wing, we come to know a great many of these men and their families.

When these accidents happen and we must report the news, it is no routine matter. Such news casts a pall over the newspaper office, as it does over the homes of those families who are stricken, their friends neighbors and squadrons.

Kay is more like one of our own, being an ex-newspaper woman. She is a part of the great fraternity of the "fourth estate" and we are always happy to see her when she comes in, as she so frequently does, to bring us a scoop, or her own fresh and interesting viewpoint on Navy people in the news.

We shared her pride when her husband was made squadron commander and we share her sorrow now. We extend our best wishes for a speedy recovery from their injuries to Lt. Dale Purdy and Chief Ronald Pritchett and our sympathy to their families in their anxiety and concern.

We understand Mrs. Purdy had gone to Europe with a group of other VAH-11 wives as they followed the ship and toured the continent. Mrs. Pritchett, we believe had gone home to be with her family in the north while her husband was away.

JOURNALIST JUDY Turner has resigned for the time being from newspaper work and is making some plans for a very interesting new adventure beginning in the fall. She will be around Sanford until about October, so we are not going to tell you right now about her plans for the future. (No, it's not motherhood.)

They received jewelry auction, which was held in conjunction with a coffee recently. Hostesses were Mrs. Edward Cherefsky, Mrs. Darwin Smith and Mrs. W. West. The jewelry auction sounds like a very interesting idea and one every club could utilize for fund-raising. Everyone has pieces of jewelry which don't go with anything you own or are not suited to your style. You gather it all up and turn it over to the club. It might be just what someone else has been looking for. Wish we had been there—love costume jewelry.

DO YOU DRIVE? If you don't, the Chief's Wives Club is sponsoring a Driver's Training Class for military personnel and their dependents.

Don't know if it's too late to register or not, but perhaps if it's too late for this class they'll put your name in the pot for the next one. Registration is at Building Two. Classes start today.

What a good way to let your teenagers learn to drive, if they are not in line for driver's training at school. Your columnist is presently going through the shuddering chore of teaching our youngest to drive.

"How can I drive, Mother?" says he, "You make me so nervous!" I make HIM nervous?

JUST HEARD from the Navy Wives 211 Club that they are going to hold a jewelry auction, too. This will be on July 29th at 1 p. m. at the home of Mrs. J. Brown, in conjunction with a coffee.

Just bring all your unwanted jewelry to Mrs. Brown's home when you come, and it will be displayed so prospective bidders can see it. At their recent monthly meeting 211 elected a new secretary, Mrs. Bonita Whippley, to replace Mrs. Mary Sutton, whose husband is leaving the Navy.

Guests at the meeting were June Frost and Carol Ewer. Two future events being planned by the club include a "farmer's auction," which will include just anything you don't want or need any more; and a luncheon social, which will be held at the Trade Winds Cafeteria. The telephone committee will notify you when and where these events will take place.

20 Youngsters Enter Longwood Fishathon

By Donna Eates
Twenty youngsters participated in the fishing contest at Trout Lake at Lyman High School last week. The contest was scheduled as an event of the current summer recreation program being conducted for students of Longwood Elementary School.

Despite the few fish caught, Coaches Walt Dzurus and Rodney Umberger and Mrs. Nell Drueding were kept busy baiting the hooks for the squeamish girl fishermen. In addition to a few fish, a variety of twigs, leaves and weeds were caught. Jay Davis and Ricky Smith were awarded cane poles for getting the "biggest" and "smallest" fish. Due to absence of adequate measuring equipment, sizes of the fish were not available for publication.

Following two hours of diligent fishing the young people ate their sack lunches and went home to tell their parents about "the big ones that got away."

False-casting is a delicate art. The player who false-cards all the time is unlikely to fool anyone; the player who never false-cards is equally unsuccessful. In our study of false-casting let's look at an automatic situation. West opens the king of clubs against South's four spade contract. East plays the deuce and South should drop the queen without hesitation.

West may continue anyway. If he doesn't South will get a chance to throw the three of clubs on one of dummy's diamonds. If South held the deuce of clubs and East the trey this false-card would be an automatic giveaway. West would look around for the deuce and realize that either his partner had signaled "come-on" or that South was hiding the deuce.

Incidentally, this false-card was made possible only because East played the wrong card at trick one. He was looking right at two trump tricks and should have realized that he wanted his partner to cash any clubs he could and to do so right away.

WEST: ♠K55, ♠K2, ♠AK1098, ♠J84. EAST: ♠AQ2, ♠753, ♠QJ8, ♠882. SOUTH: ♠J108878, ♠AQJ8, ♠3, ♠Q3. No one vulnerable. North-South West 1♠ Pass 1♠ Pass 2♠ Pass 4♠ Pass. Opening lead—♠K.

Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My problem is my wife. She has been going from one doctor to the next for almost 30 years. When he tells her there is nothing wrong with her, she finds another doctor. The doctor and drug bills every month are tremendous. I wouldn't mind if she were really sick, but she isn't. She carries a pocketbook full of pills in case she has some sort of "attack," which she has never had. She is up on all the known diseases, and is always looking for new ones. What is your advice? I'm sick of telling her that she isn't sick.

HER HUSBAND: People who are preoccupied with diseases and imaginary illnesses are indeed "sick." Tell her present physician about your wife's history. Perhaps HE can convince her that she needs help above her eyebrows.

DEAR ABBY: To celebrate our fifth wedding anniversary, my husband and I would like to have a big wedding with all the trimmings. I want to send out invitations, have a white gown and veil, and everything, just like it was the first wedding. The reason for this is because we eloped, and realize that we missed something. Has anyone ever done this before?

MY DREAM: DEAR MY: I doubt it. White weddings with all the trimmings are for the first plunge only. Have an anniversary party, but skip the gown and veil.

DEAR ABBY: I am 14 and I like this boy. I don't want to find another boy because, well, you see, he's special! My problem is that he likes me only as a friend and that's not good enough. He likes a girl who is very sexy, makes average grades and has dirty hair. She is sort of cute, but so am I. I am clean and make good grades and my friends say I have a good personality. Who do you think deserves him, and how can I get him?

Jacoby On Bridge By Oswald Jacoby

Any time you play a high card instead of a lower card in an effort to confuse or foil an opponent, you are false-carding. False-carding is a delicate art. The player who false-cards all the time is unlikely to fool anyone; the player who never false-cards is equally unsuccessful. In our study of false-carding let's look at an automatic situation. West opens the king of clubs against South's four spade contract. East plays the deuce and South should drop the queen without hesitation.

West may continue anyway. If he doesn't South will get a chance to throw the three of clubs on one of dummy's diamonds. If South held the deuce of clubs and East the trey this false-card would be an automatic giveaway. West would look around for the deuce and realize that either his partner had signaled "come-on" or that South was hiding the deuce.

Incidentally, this false-card was made possible only because East played the wrong card at trick one. He was looking right at two trump tricks and should have realized that he wanted his partner to cash any clubs he could and to do so right away.

We The Women: By Ruth Millett

That Pennsylvania man who recently had his wife-to-be sign a prenuptial contract giving him final authority in all matters may feel he's one up on most husbands. But actually what he has got is a worthless piece of paper. No wife with an ounce of femininity makes family decision by such direct and open statements as "I have decided..." "We are going to do such-and-such..." "My mind is made up..." or "If you will just listen for a minute, I'll show you where you are wrong."

Instead, the wife bent on getting her own way is quick to reassure her husband that he is the head of the family and the one to make the decisions. She graciously listens to his ideas, nods in agreement and never lets an important discussion turn into an argument. But she knows just the right question to ask to put a nagging doubt in his mind, making him wonder: "Am I right about this?" She knows how to slip in her ideas so easily and casually her husband accepts them as his own. She tends to be wise after the fact, instead of demanding, so that her husband finds it even more pleasant to "surprise" her with a decision he knows will delight her than to pursue a course that she has sensibly sprinkled with the cold water of "Well, if that's what you think is best, it's fine with me."

So, a wife's signature on a document that says her husband is boss isn't worth much. For it is precisely when a husband has been lulled into thinking that he is boss that his wife finds it the easiest to get her way. The wife who signed that agreement surely knows that and she must have smiled a secret smile as she signed it.

Highlights TV Time Previews

TV Time critics preview coming television shows by attending rehearsals, watching screenings, studying scripts in New York and Hollywood. Here are their views for today: 7:30-8:30 p. m. CBS. CBS Reports. "The Business of Heroin." (Rerun) A shocking and important documentary exposing one of society's most perplexing problems, the traffic in dope. You may be appalled to learn the extent of this business and you'll learn how the entire operation is handled by syndicated crime. Prepared with the same techniques utilized in the earlier "Biography of a Bookie Joint," much of the film was taken with hidden cameras and you'll get a chance to see the bosses, the pushers and the addicts and hear from a variety of law-enforcement officials about what is being done to combat this crime/disease. The exposure sequences in Harlem are particularly fascinating. 7:30-9 p. m. NBC. Virgilian. "The Fortune of J. Jimerson Jones." (color) (rerun) Pat O'Brien's charm provides most of whatever merit there is in this episode about the romantic misadventures of a newly rich prospector. Series star Lee J. Cobb gets a couple of opportunities to shine and there is a bit of help from Ann Doran and Jeanne Cooper. 7:30-8:30 p. m. ABC. 77 Sunset Strip. "Penthouse on Skid Row." (rerun) A boarding house on skid row is hardly the likely spot for a series of robberies unless there is more than half-filled wine bottles and lice-ridden clothing in the place. So deduces Jeff (Roger Smith) when an owner of such an establishment calls on him to investigate this unusual circumstance. Jeff concludes that it's the value of the property and not its inhabitants or their possessions that provides the motive for the crime spree. 9-10 p. m. NBC. Espionage. "Once a Spy." (rerun) Here's a chance to take a look at England's original "TW3" girl, Millicent Martin, in a role that doesn't do her justice.

Barry And 7 Gets $1,400 London Taker

LONDON (UPI) — One of the chief London bookmakers reported Monday a heavy run on betting on Sen. Barry Goldwater to win the presidential election. "We were surprised but we think this was because we were offering very generous odds of 7-1 against," said a spokesman for the bookmakers (Ladbroke's). "We have dropped the odds to 4-1 against since this morning, and the betting will probably ease off now." The spokesman said several thousand pounds were put on Goldwater Monday. An American made one of the largest bets, 600 pounds ($1,400), the spokesman said.

The L. Munsons Visit Historic Mountain Crest

Dr. and Mrs. Leonard Munson recently visited the 10,678 foot-high Sandia Crest in Albuquerque, N.M.

From this spectacular mountain, they viewed a breathtaking panorama of more than 10,000 square miles including metropolitan Albuquerque, the romantic Rio Grande Valley, and neighboring peaks and volcanoes.

Sandia is the Spanish word for watermelon, and this rocky range was named by Coronado as he and his Comandante wintered at a nearby pueblo in 1540. Oldest traces of man in the New World were found in a cave on the side of this mountain and the "Sandia Man" was judged to be 25,000 years old.

The Munsons were delighted with the recreational facilities offered by this site which provides superb hunting in the fall, camping and picnicking during the warmer months, and is one of the most southern of the nation's ski resorts.

Advice Sounds Corny

The trouble with advice is that if it's any good, it's apt to sound corny. Take, for example, what a highly successful business man told a graduating class in a commencement address the other day:

One: To take pride in their work, to develop real skill, to demand of themselves the very best they could possibly do and more than what was required.

Two: To be dependable — to be where they're supposed to be, doing what they're counted upon to do, and do it so unfailingly that it would never occur to anyone to doubt they would do it.

Three: To be loyal to their trade, their job, their employer and their principles. The speaker pointed out that the four loyalties aren't nearly as incompatible as many people believe.

This advice, of course, can be written off as pure corn from Squaresville. But a lot of very successful and contented people have made it work.

The Annual Miracle

The Seminole County Board of Public Instruction in one sense of the word has completed its annual miracle — in that it has been able to plan for the accommodation of another record enrollment during the 1964-65 school year with a millage increase of only 1.07 mills.

The board's tentative budget calls for income and expenditures of $6,250,743.63. This is a slight increase over the $6,248,463.99 budget for the previous year.

During the previous year the school system received tax monies based on 3.35 mills levied by the county, 2.75 mills by the district, and 1.00 mill for the district building and bus fund plus 1.15 mills for the retirement of bonded indebtedness.

This year the millage levied by the county will increase to 4.35, a rise of one mill even. Other millage rates will remain the same except the millage for the retirement of bonds which will go from 1.15 mills to 1.22 mills.

The total increase of 1.07 mills over last year appears to be more than reasonable when a record enrollment is anticipated for the coming school year, when the industrial arts program in schools throughout the county has to be expanded, when new driving ranges are now a necessity, when the county has to have eight new school buses compared with three the previous year, when libraries must be improved—particularly in the new schools, and when the cost of the board's participation in the Minimum Foundation program will cost $44,000 more next year than it did last year.

That's why we say the annual miracle has been performed.

Thought For Today

Cast your bread upon the waters, and you will find it after many days. —Ecl. 11:1.

At Christmas be merry and thank God for all, And feast thy poor neighbors, the great and the small, Yea, all the year long have an eye to the poor, And God shall send luck to keep open thy door. —Thomas Tusser.

Dr. Crane's

Worry Clinic

CASE T-426: Fanny D., aged 65, presents a common problem.

"Dr. Crane," she began, "I jumped out of bed this morning to shut off the alarm clock.

"But everything started to go black and I fainted, for when I woke up, I was lying on the floor.

"Is anything seriously wrong with me? Is this a sign of a brain tumor?"

Every physician makes what is called a D/D (differential diagnosis) when any symptom is offered.

And in the situation described by Fanny, the first thought of the doctor is lack of sufficient oxygen to the brain due to a fast postural change.

For example, Fanny had been lying abed for several hours. Thus, her pulse rate had slowed down and her blood pressure had also dropped.

Her brain, in this horizontal posture, obtained hardly enough blood even to generate dream!

When she suddenly stood upright, her heart required a few moments to adjust to the higher pressure required by her vertical position.

For a few moments, therefore, Fanny's brain didn't get enough blood to furnish the oxygen required for consciousness.

So she blacked out and fell to the floor in a faint.

Everybody past the age of 40 should thus take a lesson from Fanny's experience.

Don't jump out of bed in the morning, for this imposes an abnormal load on your previous resting heart.

You motorists know that it is smart to warm up your automobile motor before you tax it to the limit of its horsepower.

Aviators also warm up their engines for several minutes before they attempt a take-off.

And the human motor (heart) deserves similar consideration.

So place your alarm clock near the bed! Then you can reach out and shut it off without standing up suddenly!

Next, sit up and rest your feet on the floor for a full minute before you attempt to stand upright.

Thus, you figuratively let your human motor (heart) "warm up" to the demand for the higher blood pressure required when you are in the vertical instead of the horizontal position.

And the older you grow or the more you suffer from hardening of the arteries and high blood pressure, the more your faithful heart needs a few seconds to "warm up" to its maximum horsepower!

Fainting is due primarily to oxygen deficiency in the brain and this may result from mechanical inertia, as shown by Fanny's case, or from various psychological causes, to be explained more fully tomorrow.

So make a scrapbook of these daily cases, for they will furnish a textbook of practical data on both psychology and medicine.

How About the "Spirit of '64"?

Holmes Alexander

A Clear Choice Now

SAN FRANCISCO, Calif.—In rejoicing in the founding of what amounts to being the American Tory party, we should not forget that there's another half to the system. Senator Goldwater and his right-wingers behaved so sensibly and with such dignity at the Convention, and Governor Scrantom and his liberals acquitted themselves with such pettiness and ill-grace, that one could be excused for thinking this glorious sun has risen out of Arizona and has forever dimmed all lesser lights.

But whereas there is plenty of reason to rejoice that the Republican party at last has found its leader and its purpose, the triumph of conservatism under one banner should draw attention to the primacy of liberalism under the Democrats. At last we are going to have an election where there is a clear choice of political philosophies, and that is all the more reason we should give a full measure of thought to each of them.

In the heat of battle, it is natural enough to cry out that Goldwater has all the truth on his side, that he will change the country for the better and that his Democratic opposition should be considered the enemy of all honest men. But the open mind requires us to be more reasonable as we look back at the Convention and forward toward the election.

Goldwater has made much of passing responsibility for education and health facilities from the Federal government back to the States. The soundness of the idea is indisputable, but so is another fact that we may not have noticed for a long time. The same organization, and often the same persons, who preach a pinch-penny policy for Federalism also preach it for the home State. I doubt if any thoughtful American would like to save money at the cost of seeing schools and hospitals cease to expand, and yet this could happen at the hands of economizers running unchecked by criticism and opposition.

We should also check the excusable impulse to believe that Goldwater, even if elected by a sweeping mandate, could quickly bring to pass a number of desirable changes in domestic and foreign affairs. For instance, we would all like to see five million new jobs leap into the market. Presidents Kennedy and Johnson have tried the orthodox job-inducement scheme. In the past three years, we have had a Trade Expansion Act, a Tax Reduction Act and numerous spurts of educational funds. You might think that selling more goods abroad, and having more money to spend at home, and turning out better-trained youngsters, would automatically mean the hiring of more workers. But there have been adverse forces at play, and these will not abate even for as persuasive a man as Harry Goldwater.

I am one who believes that the American military power, especially air and naval, should be used whenever our interests are deeply involved. This certainly means expelling the Eurasian invader from Cuba, tending our property in Panama and not allowing our boys to bleed to death without hope of victory in South Vietnam. Maybe Goldwater can do this by bluff and brinkmanship, and I see no reason why he should not speak frankly about our nuclear ability to defoliate jungles and blow up harbors for that matter. But the more warlike we get, the less those personal and economic freedoms which Goldwater promises at home are going to be possible.

So, although the Senator's great success in giving us a new party and his own glittering personality are a cause for ball-ringing in the land, we must not forget that we are celebrating the restoration — not the abolition — to a two party system.

The Democrats have often done badly for us, but the country still stands. Lyndon Johnson, President by fate, is nothing short of a marvel in taking command in a crisis and in moving legislation through Congress. He is bound to be even more effective — I would judge more conservative too — if elected in his own right. Goldwater's nomination, as necessary and magnificent as it was, does not mean that we are ready or required to turn as good a man as Johnson out of his job.

As the Senator aptly said in his Der Spiegel interview, "That's another horse race."

Political Notebook

SAN FRANCISCO (NEA) — Sen. Barry Goldwater was nominated for president in good part because he touches an inner core of the Republican party.

He represents the deepfelt heart's wish of many influential Republicans, especially at the county and local level, who have lived off desert mirages for from one to three decades.

With the counterforce of moderate-minded governors and others sharply diminished in 1964, the wish is at last reality, a blooming oasis refreshing all those who have never liked or never understood the old-fashioned business of beating the Democrats at their own game.

Astute young John Grenier, regular GOP Alabama chairman and also regional director for the Goldwater campaign, believes that among Republican professionals, a majority always disapproved that tactic.

But he argues plausibly from convention history that in every seriously contested nomination from 1910 on, the moderates—usually relying on a big wedge of powerful governors — have weaned away enough of that majority to frustrate the conservatives' candidate.

Even before the moderates' current weakness was so painfully exposed, Barry Goldwater offered promise of holding the conservatives together against the standard charge of "he can't win."

He had the look of a winner, and his shrewd early promoters devised a "winning strategy" to go with him. This was the famed southern strategy which anticipated Goldwater's capture of most Old South states against the late John F. Kennedy.

When Kennedy was killed, that plan collapsed. Moderates, thereafter convinced that Goldwater's "unelectability" was obvious to all, promptly went to sleep.

But at this point the long-suppressed inner voice of the professionals' conservative majority spoke with unaccustomed vigor. For them, 1964 and 1968 had been the years of persuasion.

Goldwater's sweeping travels along the fund-raising, speech-making circuit had established him as a treasured, outspoken foe of meddling big government and a champion of a militant, nationalistic foreign policy.

His views on these broad matters uttered in almost endless variation, gave him his matchless credentials. The majority conservatives in professional status clasped Goldwater to their bosoms.

As a speaker and campaigner, the senator often disappointed them. As a symbol of their hopes for a breakout, he never did.

Two Goldwater supporters in California's Orange County, a hotbed of Goldwaterism, sharply etched this fact in their response to a Los Angeles speech he made this spring. Said one:

"I think it would have been better if (actor) Ronald Reagan had talked, and Goldwater had just sat there and nodded."

Clearly, this would not have diminished the senator one whit in their eyes. His place in their hearts is secure.

Having touched the soul of many influential Republicans, having fed them what they wanted to hear, Goldwater found himself possessed of their crucial support in the 1964 fight for the presidential nomination.

These professionals, scattered widely among many levels, took some of the curse of regionalism off the senator's candidacy. They gave solidity and respectability to his effort. They were the cement of victory, mortaring the big base on which his decisive June 2 California triumph was laid.

When Illinois Sen. Everett Dirksen plumped for Goldwater, that was the capstone. Dirksen's basic instincts are stoutly conservative. He had placed his respectable bet on the Arizona—and in so doing he had signaled the conservative majority among professionals that the time finally was at hand to test for the presidency a man whose voice seemed to come from their own hearts.

Editor, Herald:

This is wonderful. The proposed development of Sanford's waterfront and the use of the potential inherent in Lake Monroe. I see only two things missing: The clean water swimming pool of 10 acres with Olympic type pool enclosed as proposed by Mr. Wright, president of Seminole County Sportsmen's Association, and the airport in the lake.

But sure as time goes by these also will come.

Moscow Reds Gather To Put China Out In Cold

MOSCOW (UPI) — Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev left today for a four-nation Communist summit meeting in Warsaw which may produce plans for a showdown with Communist China.

The official purpose of the visit is to celebrate the 20th anniversary of the Polish Communist regime, which moved into Poland from Moscow as the Soviet armies drove the Germans back.

But amid the speechmaking and celebrating, Khrushchev is expected to rally his allies for a campaign to expel Peking from the Moscow-led Communist camp.

He will meet with Polish Communist leader Wladyslaw Gomulka, Czech President Antonin Novotny, and East German Communist chief Walter Ulbricht. All are opposed to China's militant policies.

and all favor Khrushchev's co-existence with the West. Moscow observers said that Khrushchev feels that the split with Peking cannot be healed and that the world's 90-plus Communist parties must be summoned for a meeting that would lead to China's exclusion.

Before the world conference, believed planned for next spring, Khrushchev wants a smaller summit this fall of 20 leading Communist parties.

Observers said they expect him to press Gomulka, Ulbricht, and Novotny for approval for this.

No timetable for Khrushchev's stay in Poland has been made public, but it was expected to last about four days.

Enterprise Circles Have Meeting
By Mrs. Ritchie Harris
A combined meeting of the three WSCS circles from Barnett Memorial Methodist Church of Enterprise met last Tuesday afternoon in the church annex with members from Deltona as hostesses.

Mrs. William McDonald, general chairman, was in charge of the meeting with individual circle chairmen also taking part. The program was conducted by Miss Mary Hubbard, rural worker, who showed a film explaining the different religions.

The hostesses served a delicious refreshment course following the meeting and program.

Both Republican and Democratic leaders had conceded Goldwater a good chance of carrying Florida anyway.

Wallace's decision to drop out killed a lot of arguments which insisted that the Democratic segregationist would split the conservative Democratic vote with Goldwater, giving President Johnson a majority.

At least two leading Florida Democrats — Gov. Farris Bryant and veteran state Public Utilities Commissioner Jerry Carter — have concluded that the Democrats will have to fight hard for a victory in Florida.

Bryant, who a few months ago predicted a victory for the Democrats in Florida in '64, said last week that with Goldwater on the GOP ticket, he didn't see any more chance of the Democrats taking the cake this time than in the past elections.

Barry's Florida Stock Increases

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — Barry Goldwater's chances of carrying Florida in the November presidential election apparently took a big jump Sunday when Alabama Gov. George Wallace dropped out of the race.

Both Republican and Democratic leaders had conceded Goldwater a good chance of carrying Florida anyway.

Wallace's decision to drop out killed a lot of arguments which insisted that the Democratic segregationist would split the conservative Democratic vote with Goldwater, giving President Johnson a majority.

Bryant, who a few months ago predicted a victory for the Democrats in Florida in '64, said last week that with Goldwater on the GOP ticket, he didn't see any more chance of the Democrats taking the cake this time than in the past elections.

But Bryant said he would not throw in the towel and will stump the state for Johnson if need be.

Cuban Sales To U. S. Allies At $182 Million

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Rep. Paul G. Rogers, D-Fla., says that U. S. allies bought $182 million worth of goods last year from the Cuban regime of Premier Fidel Castro.

"Ironically," Rogers told the House Monday, "most U. S. allies buy more goods from Castro than they sell to him, giving him ready markets from which to foster his regime."

He said Italy bought some $37 million in goods from Cuba during 1963, while selling approximately $600,000 in return.

Britain bought some $16.7 million last year and sold $5.8 million, Rogers said. Japan bought $21.6 million and sold $2.3 million.

Miller Gives Definition Of 'Extremism'

BUFFALO, N.Y. (UPI) — Republican vice presidential nominee William E. Miller said Monday night that Sen. Barry Goldwater should have used the word "patriotism" instead of "extremism" in his controversial speech accepting the GOP presidential nomination.

Miller made the remark in answer to a reporter's question at a news conference at Buffalo's International Airport a short time after he returned to his home state from the San Francisco convention.

The New York congressman said Goldwater meant to convey the idea in his statement that "patriotism in defense of liberty is no vice," Goldwater's statement was "extremism in defense of liberty is no vice... moderation in the pursuit of justice is no virtue."

Miller's statement appeared to be an attempt to stem some of the criticism against Goldwater — from Republicans and Democrats alike — for his defense of extremism.

On other matters, Miller pledged to strive for party unity and not to inject the civil rights issue into the campaign. But he did not rule out support for the Goldwater-Miller ticket from Gov. George Wallace of Alabama.

"We will welcome support from anyone who believes in our principles," Miller said. "We are not going to exclude or read anyone out of the party." He indicated, however, that Wallace probably would not uphold GOP principles and the party platform.

bedroom of their home in Bay Village, Ohio, 10 years ago.

He was convicted of the slaying, but has always maintained his innocence.

"We don't forget and we don't stop fighting," Sheppard told reporters. "This is an injustice and it should matter to you and me and you. It might be my son or your son who is subjected to this in the future."

In Florida...

after a swim, beer is a natural

On a hot summer day, a dip in a cool stream can be wonderfully refreshing. Equally refreshing when you're relaxing afterwards with friends is a hearty glass of beer. There's hardly another beverage around that suits what you do for fun as much as beer. Camping, hiking, or just lounging on a lawn chair—beer brings to each just the right touch of extra good living.

Your familiar glass of beer is also a pleasurable reminder that we live in a land of personal freedom—and that our right to enjoy beer and ale, if we so desire, is just one, but an important one, of those personal freedoms.

Thinking Out Loud

BY JULIAN STENSTROM

Floyd Palmer, a local insurance man and former major league baseball player in the days of yesteryear, writes, "I was talking to our old friend Bert Chapman the other day."

Chapman, we ought to point out, is also a former ball player. In his day he was considered a top notch receiver.

"As you know," continued Palmer, "Chapman feels that he is a good judge of ball players and their ability. Bert insisted that a .300 hitter during his era (or reign of terror) was by far a better hitter because of the variety of pitches and balls thrown which were legal at that time."

Palmer listed them as follows:

"The emery ball, spit ball, mud ball, chin ball, dust ball, bean ball, in ball, tobacco ball, chewing gum ball, knuckle ball, screw ball, fade away ball, drop ball, out ball, moth ball and hi-ball."

We've heard of most of them but the last two—as far as we know—were never associated with baseball. But, of course, we're not quite as ancient as Palmer.

"Bert insisted," Floyd went on to say, "and explained that all these pitches were legal and a pitcher was so perfect and destructive at his profession that a hurler in a 3 and 1 situation would throw a simple pitch. "A simple pitch, Bert said, was one which would start out and leave the pitcher's hand as a bean ball for the first one-third of the distance to the plate. The next one-third of the distance the pitch would change and travel as a chin ball. Over the last one-third of the route it would change into a tobacco ball. As it reached the plate it would splatter tobacco juice into the eyes of the batter so he could not see."

Then Floyd says, "After listening to Bert tell about the types and pitches, I asked him if he had any weaknesses at the plate when he played baseball and if any of these balls bothered him. He replied by saying that he could hit one pitch just as good as the other."

"Then I told him that I played baseball about the same time he did. In fact, he and I played together on the Sanford club in 1916. I also told him that it seemed to me that he was always weak on a plain pitched ball."

"To this he agreed and wanted to talk about politics."

Why we print such stuff as this we'll never know. But we do know how ball players are. They'll do anything to get their names on the sports page.

And the best way to describe this latest yarn from Palmer is "anything."

But we'll agree to one thing. They were a fine pair of players in their day. We don't recall seeing Palmer play—except in old timer affairs—from time to time. But we do recall when Chapman donned the mitt, mask, pads and protectors in the early days of the old Central Florida semi-pro circuit and caught for Sanford.

We've got one question for Floyd: Are you sure Chapman admitted being weak on a pitched ball?

The other day when we spoke to the Lions Club in Sanford on sports, then and now, we recalled that Sanford was a hot-bed of boxing not too many years ago. George Hughes and a couple of fellows decided to make some picture show money and put on a "boxing card" with tickets going at 10 cents apiece.

The late Judge S. A. B. Wilkinson lent a hand and the boys started putting on their weekly bouts in a warehouse which still stands at Fourth and Elm. Kids around here "fought" among themselves until finally some of the best were pitted against outsiders. At least one fighter was brought in from as far away as Texas.

But probably the most exciting bout ever to come off there was a contest one night between Warren Odham and "Lefty" Williams—a better known today as Circuit Court Judge Volle Williams Jr. For three rounds Williams shot machinegun type punches at Odham. And being kept busy ducking, Warren—we can't recall—ever threw a punch. This bout brought down the house.

Ah, these were the days. Somehow, kids today—we imagine don't think of things like that.

And, you know, sometimes we wonder if today's youngsters have as much fun as we did back in the so-called good 'ol days.

White Sox And Reds Gain On League Leaders

Hutch, Lopez Have Hopes For October Meeting

By George C. Langford

UPI Sports Writer
Two old friends—Al Lopez and Fred Hutchinson—have had few opportunities to get together on the playing field in recent years except during spring training. But today both were figuring on an October meeting—in the World Series.

Neither of the golfing partners would have given the idea much thought a month ago when Manager Lopez' Chicago White Sox were in the throes of a 10-game losing streak to the Yankees and Hutchinson's Reds were resting in sixth place in the National League.

The White Sox, however, have rallied behind superlative pitching, and Monday night climbed to within a half-game of the idle American League leaders, the Baltimore Orioles, when rookie Fred Talbot hurled his second shut-out, 9-0 over the Los Angeles Angels.

Cincinnati, combining strong pitching and a tight defense, has been the only team able to gain on the skidding Philadelphia Phillies and San Francisco Giants.

Hutchinson's forces have won seven of their last nine games while the first-place Phils have dropped nine of 13 and the Giants have lost seven of their last 10. The Reds clipped the Phils 6-2 Monday night behind lefthander Joe Nuxhall and Billy McCool to move within 2 1/2 games of first place.

Don Buford carried the White Sox attack, batting in four runs, including three on his third home run to extend Chicago's win streak to five games and end the Angels' skid at six.

Talbot scattered nine hits and worked out of bases-loaded jams in the seventh and eighth innings to record the 10th shutout for a White Sox hurler this season.

Catcher Don Pavletich, who has hit three homers in four games since being purchased by Cincinnati from San Diego last week, connected with a man on the eighth to ice the victory after scoring what proved to be the winning run in the sixth on Leo Cardenas' double off loser Dennis Bennett.

In the only other American League game scheduled, Detroit rallied from a four-run deficit to defeat Boston 7-5. The abbreviated National League schedule saw the Cubs topple the Giants 6-4 and the Colts upset the Dodgers 4-1.

Kingswood And Bankers Post Wins In Softball Tournament

The Kingswood Builders Monday night extended their winning streak to 19 games by whipping Robb's Construction 12-2 in the first game of the Men's Six-Pitch Softball Tournament.

The Builders, regular season champs, plastered Robb's pitching for 16 hits. Dan Underwood had a perfect night at the plate with two singles, a double and a triple to take hitting honors. Don Harvey had two hits, including a home run that cleared the rightfield fence. Buteh Cook connected for an inside-the-park homer among the three hits to his credit.

Don Carter, Frank Stafford and Ronnie Russ all chipped in with two hits each. Bud Monerief gained the pitching win, scattering seven hits. George Griffin went three for three at the plate for Robb's.

In another opening round game played last night, Florida State Bank shut out Wilson Maier 13-0. Dohnle Sapp hurled a one-hitter. He gave up his first and only hit to Larry Helman, who led off in the fifth inning.

Buddy Burton with three hits, Mike Bowers—who had the games only homer—Earl Black and Sapp each had two hits to lead the Bankers at the plate. The game was called after five innings because of rain.

NAS Ops "C" took all four points from the VAIH-1 Tigers as Long took high game honors with his 223 game. Cul with 202/539 and Rankin with 204 were high for the Tigers. NAS Diabur-ing was paced by Kraukopf (207/557) and Jacks (195/564) in their three game romp over NANTG "B" who had Colegrove turning in a fine 206/533. Lamay shot a 304/533 for NAS Avionics, NAS Admin beat NAS Maint "B" three out of four and the VAIH-3 Odd Dalls took three from Wing Alley Masters as Willie "Firecracker" Maglio showed them how.

NAS Ten Pins grabbed a three-point victory from NAS Ops "B" as Butten shot a 108/550. Dan Brandon was the show-off for the New Breed and John Uhr kept Hatwing One "A" close with 204/549.

Harris won series honors with his 211/567 while pacing Hatwing One "B" to a three-game nod over NANTG "A". VAIH-3 Ops swept all four from Det "B". VAIH-3 Line won four from VAIH-3 Maint, as Hudson (183/537) and Ashby (185/536) set the pace.

Despite some fine bowling by Clarence Henning (213/561) and Jack Fry (199/555) the VAIH-3 All Stars dropped a four-point decision to NAS Marines. VAIH-9 "B" took three points from NAS Med/Dent as Van Hicks shot 196/542. Applegate was high for Med/Dent with 188/535.

Post 53 Meets Post 242 Here Tonight For Crown

The Post 53 American Legion Junior baseball club has met Orlando's Post 242 three times this season.

In the first encounter Sanford took the boys from south of here by a 6 to 0 count. In the second meeting Manager Frank Thomas' charges did it again, 4 to 2. Last week, to stay in the flag race in the Sixth District, Sanford nosed out the same club 4 to 3.

The two teams meet again tonight, at 7:30, at Sanford's Memorial Stadium.

This is the one Sanford needs to wrap up the flag. Right now the locals have a half a game edge on Orlando's Post 19. But they have to win tonight.

Thomas is going to go with his ace—Jim Courier of Oviedo. He'll have Billy Higgins behind the plate. Red Jansen at first, Billy Kuykendall at second, Rick Sires at third, Rick Gollober at short, Lawrence Pivec in left, either Steve Harris or Don Smith in center and Rex Brooks at right.

"We'll probably face Post 242's top moundsman," said Thomas, "in Gary Coleman. He's quite a pitcher and he'll be tough. But our boys are playing good baseball now and if we can collect a few hits we'll make it."

Seminole Team Plays Thursday

The Seminole Little League all stars will participate in the Little League district tournament this week.

The team drew a bye in the fifth round of play and will go into the semi-finals, by meeting the winner of the Northgate-Oceco game.

Northgate and Oceco will play Wednesday and the winner will meet Seminole at Cooper Field in Casselberry Recreation Park Thursday night.

On Friday the winner of the Thursday game will play at 1 p. m. at Tinker Field in Orlando.

Sanders Launches Southern Demo Drive Against Goldwater

Malaysian Chief Flying To U. S. To Seek Help

LONDON (UPI) — Prime Minister Tengku Abdul Rahman of Malaysia left by air today for the United States where he will seek moral support and express his willingness to accept American helicopters for Malaysia's jungle war with Indonesia.

Rahman, 61, a sorely-bested friend of the West, will meet President Johnson in Washington Wednesday. The prime minister left London at 11:10 a.m. and was arriving in New York at 1:35 p.m. EDT. He will spend tonight at Williamsburg, Va., Malaysia, a new nation created only 10 months ago out of Malay, Singapore and the British Borneo territories, is fighting a guerrilla war with Indonesia, which regards Malaysia as a "tool of British imperialism."

The United States already has expressed moral support for Malaysia and has cut off the supply of weapons, ammunition and spare parts to Indonesia.

But U.S. officials are concerned that direct military aid to Malaysia would drive neutralist Indonesia into the arms of the Communists.

FASTEST GUN IN THE WEST? — The two tough hombres squared off and stared defiantly at each other. And then, Pow! The silence of Virginia City, Mont., was shattered. Had the gunfight been real, the feller in the white shirt would be long gone. The winner of the mock battle is the man behind the cloud of smoke. The timing apparatus between the two gunmen determined who drew first.

The 'Little Stroke' Stroke Of Warning

An active housewife, several times a grandmother, was doing her ironing one evening. Suddenly the iron fell from her hand and her whole arm felt numb. She felt weak but she did not faint or lose consciousness.

When her husband, startled by the clatter of the iron hitting the kitchen floor, rushed in to see what was the matter, his wife could not speak. He helped her to a chair and — although her symptoms disappeared in two or three minutes and she could voice her objections — he called the doctor who found she had had a "little stroke."

Basically, all strokes, big or little, occur when the blood supply to a part of the brain is cut off, depriving its nerve cells of oxygen and other nutrients.

While the big stroke, which is more dreaded, can paralyze an entire side of the body, the little stroke is by far the more frequent, according to Florida Heart Association.

The symptoms of a little stroke are usually minor and may last only a few seconds or up to a few days. They vary widely and may include numbness or weakening of one side of the face or an arm or leg. Or there may be temporary loss or blurring of vision, difficulty or slurring of speech.

The brain, of course, is the control center for the whole body. Specific areas of the brain control body, arms, hands, legs, speech, reading and sight. The effects of a stroke depend on which control center is deprived of blood and for how long.

Because little strokes have comparatively minor symptoms which usually pass quickly, many people ignore them. It is a dangerous thing to do.

Symptoms of a little stroke should be reported to your physician immediately. More often than not, a little stroke is a warning which should be heeded. Prompt medical attention may forestall a more serious stroke.

The doctor may prescribe medication; he may suggest you modify your living habits regarding diet, rest, activity. Whatever his instructions, it's important that you follow them closely.

Sometimes little strokes go literally unnoticed by the person experiencing them. This is one of two good reasons for having a regular physical examination. Often the doctor's questioning may bring to light certain information that suggests a little stroke may have occurred.

The other good reason for having a physical examination regularly is to enable your doctor to discover and control any condition — whether it be high blood pressure or overweight — which may affect your health. Regular physical examinations can prevent some diseases. Maintaining good general health improves your fighting chances against any disease that might strike.

Attack Against Reds Pressed
VIENTIANE, Laos (UPI) — Neutralist troops today pressed a counter-attack against a bogged-down Communist offensive in central Laos in a bid to dislodge Pathet Lao rebels from key positions and pave the way for a drive against the Plaines des Jarres.

Military sources said neutralist ground and air raiders already had swept through Communist-held villages around the base of the strategic Phou Kout Hill area of the western edge of the plain.

In action Sunday, the sources said, neutralist forces drove Communist troops from the foothill villages of Na Khai, Na Kho and Pong Noi, which lie in a semi-circle around Phou Kout Hill.

Beyond Phou Kout to the east lies the vital center of the Plaines de Jarres which Communist rebels overran in one of their biggest victories last May.

Big Plane Noses Over; None Hurt

CHARLOTTE, N. C. (UPI) — An Eastern Air Lines plane with 56 persons aboard nosed over and skidded off a runway Monday night when its front wheel collapsed after landing.

"There was no panic and no one suffered even so much as a scratch," said an airlines spokesman.

Most of the 51 passengers aboard the four-engine plane, flight 702 from Atlanta to Cleveland and Detroit, took a later flight.

Luci Rehearses For Reading Of 'Peter And Wolf'

Luci, 17, will perform at the Interlochen music camp as a guest artist along with the famous pianist, Van Cliburn. She will rehearse her narration with Cliburn Wednesday.

Mansion Mum On Wallace

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The White House had no reaction Monday to the withdrawal of Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace from the presidential race.

"Yes, we've heard about it," Press Secretary George E. Reedy said.

"Naturally Mr. Wallace makes his own decisions. We have no reaction one way or another."

Age Overtaking Dixie Senators

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Father time is catching up with the southern Senate forces. Veteran senators who have fought the South's battles in Washington for years are at ripe old ages which suggest that their careers are in the final stages.

Sen. Harry F. Byrd, D-Va., and A. Willis Robertson, D-Va., are each 77. Sen. Allen J. Ellender, D-La., is nearly 74. Sen. Speasard L. Holland, D-Fla., is 72. Sen. Lister Hill, D-Ala., will turn 70 this year. The 18 southern Democrats who were on the recently-defeated anti-civil rights team have a median age of nearly 65, only two years below the current average life span for American males and eight years above the average age of other senators.

Collectively, these southerners have 326 years of Senate tenure — an average of 18 years each.

Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., is the senior senator of the group at 66. He joined the Senate on Jan. 12, 1953, two months ahead of Byrd. Ellender has been a senator for 27 years and Hill for 26. The group's junior member is Sen. B. Everett Jordan, D-N.C., a relative newcomer with six years in the Senate. The youngest member is Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La., 45, who has 16 years of service and seniority over 42 other senators.

Three of these 18 senators are among the Senate's 16 permanent committee chairmen.

The South — as long as the Democrats are in power — should retain many of these chairmanships for years to come because the seniority system has put Southerners in line to succeed the southerners who now hold them.

For instance, Byrd would be succeeded as finance chairman by Long; Russell as armed services chairman by Sen. John C. Stennis, D-Miss.; Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., as foreign relations chairman by Sen. John J. Sparkman, D-Ala., and Sen. James Eastland, D-Miss., as judiciary chairman by Sen. Olin D. Johnston, D-S.C.

D. K. "Dutch" Stanley, Dean of College of Health and Physical Education will represent the University in a panel discussion with local students now attending the University of Florida, and a question-answer session following the film.

Refreshments will be served. Andrew Brackin, club president, and reception chairman R. J. "Bob" Crumley and James R. Dycus said that they felt the evening would be "enlightening to incoming University of Florida students and their families."

ANG Concludes 31st Session
LONG BEACH, Calif. (UPI) — The American Newspaper Guild (ANG) wound up its 31st annual convention Monday with appointment of Bernard Stein as international vice president for region E.

Stein, who had been second vice president of the guild's New York local, replaces Edward Easton Jr., who retired because of his health.

Funeral Notices
BANKER, LT. COL. LYNN B. — Funeral services for Lt. Col. Lynn Barker, 62, who died Monday, will be held at 7 p.m. today in Niblack Funeral Home Chapel, Casselberry, with Rev. Delmas Copeland officiating. Members of local veterans organizations are asked to meet at the Chapel at 6:30 p.m. Burial will be in Arlington National Cemetery, Ft. Myer, Va. Niblack Funeral Home in charge of arrangements.

Col. Barker Dies In Casselberry
Lt. Col. (U. S. Army, Retired) Lyle Elmer Barker, 62, of 1433 Lake Drive, Casselberry, died Monday.

A native of Dakota, Ill., he moved to Casselberry two years ago. He served in World War II, the Korean Conflict and was a member of the American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars and Helion Masonic Lodge 1, Huntsville, Ala., of the Sojourners, Fort Knox, Ky. and Order of Eastern Star. He was a Protestant.

Survivors are his wife, Mrs. Helen C. Barker and daughters, Karen and Kathryn, all of Casselberry.

PAUL KOBYLAK

Altamonte Boy Home From Army Duty

Specialist Fourth Class Paul Kobylak, 246 Signal Company, son of Mr. and Mrs. Apollo P. Kobylak of Oriole Gardens, Altamonte Springs, has completed his tour of duty in France and returned home.

A 1960 graduate of Winter Park High School, he entered the Army in July, 1961, receiving his basic training at Ft. Jackson, S. C. and Ft. Gordon, Ga. He plans now to enter Orlando Junior College to study business administration.

For the trip home Paul joined his parents in Cleveland, Ohio, where they were visiting Mrs. Kobylak's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Chapuis. After visiting other members of the family and friends there, the three returned together to Altamonte.

Paul enjoys bowling and received several trophies while in the service.

"Let me say too that when you see any extremism in defense of liberty is no vice, I would ask some of you of whose liberty are you speaking?" Sanders said.

He admitted there is a "ground swell" of Republican strength in Georgia but that he thought President Johnson could carry the state in the November presidential election.

Sanders said he did not favor full and immediate implementation of the civil rights law because "it might tear up local communities." He added that he thought there would be some division at the Democratic national convention brought about the civil rights issue.

The governor said he did not think the rank and file Negro citizen was in agreement with Negro extremist civil rights groups and condemned such organizations.

"I believe that moderation is a virtue and that extremism is a vice," he said, "and I believe that Georgians want to adhere to a course of action which will allow us to proceed with honor, the framework of law and order."

Commenting on Alabama Gov. George Wallace's decision to withdraw from the presidential race — a move Goldwater supporters applauded — Sanders said there would be a "sizeable vote for Goldwater but it doesn't make much sense."

Governor Hops On 'Extremism'

ATLANTA (UPI)—Gov. Carl Sanders opened the South's Democratic campaign against the new GOP presidential candidate Monday and charged Sen. Barry Goldwater's position on extremism could spark racial violence.

The youthful Georgia governor, reportedly one of President Lyndon Johnson's chief strategists in the South, called a news conference to level the blast at Goldwater.

In what could signal the attack plan for southern supporters of President Johnson, Sanders charged that Goldwater's recent remarks at the GOP national convention could be interpreted by extremists as a blank check for any action that he may dream up to fit his own views."

In his speech accepting the Republican presidential nomination, Goldwater said extremism in defense of liberty is no vice and moderation in pursuit of justice is no virtue.

Sanders said "the idea of approving extremism as an acceptable policy of government in America is appalling to me. I think extremism is like a cancer — the quicker you remove it the better, or it will destroy you."

The governor said such statements could cause additional violence "right here in Georgia."

"Let me say too that when you see any extremism in defense of liberty is no vice, I would ask some of you of whose liberty are you speaking?" Sanders said.

He admitted there is a "ground swell" of Republican strength in Georgia but that he thought President Johnson could carry the state in the November presidential election.

Sanders said he did not favor full and immediate implementation of the civil rights law because "it might tear up local communities." He added that he thought there would be some division at the Democratic national convention brought about the civil rights issue.

The Herald has received numerous letters complimenting it upon the reporting of the lakefront development plan recently presented to the City Commission.

Among them is the following: Editor, The Herald:

No one has been more aggressively interested in Sanford's development than has the Sanford Herald. So, the fact that you accorded so much of your space in the July 14 edition to a plan of progress for our fine city, is truly another evidence of this deep concern about the future of our home town. For this we are most grateful.

Those who advanced the plan do not insist that it is THE plan, but that at least it is A plan, one that points to a revitalization of the entire community. Because it does - and properly should - involve all of Sanford, the City Commission, as our duly elected leaders, are the ones to whose intellect, understanding and enthusiasm we must look for promotion of whatever path of progress is to be followed in the city's interest.

However, this in no way relieves any of us of the responsibility of supporting these Commissioners in their efforts to move ahead. No plan can reach its fullest potential unless all of us put our thinking and our best efforts to Sanford's development. Let us not overlook the fact this must involve an untiring drive that will extend over many years. During this period, our citizens must be kept informed of developments, and encouraged to uphold the laudable actions of the City Commission.

In this latter phase the Sanford Herald with its enthusiasm will be able to continue a fine public service. No, in thanking you for your support of a comprehensive plan for the lakefront development and your continuing zeal for local progress, may I urge that during the years when such a plan is being brought to full fruition that you help foster, maintain and expand the public support of the endeavor, just as you have the introduction of this plan for progress.

County Clerk Arthur Beckwith reports that for the first six months of 1964 there has been an increase of 380 recorded documents over the number for the first six months of 1963. The figure for the previous year was 8,612. For this year it's 8,998. Beckwith also says that there has been a decrease of 28 chancery cases during the first six months of this year. The total from Jan. 1 through June 30 is 476. Last year for the same period it was 504.

"The reason," Beckwith says, "is fewer mortgage foreclosures." He adds: "It's evidence of an improvement in the county's economy."

Along with the discussion concerning the lakefront development plan, some local swim association enthusiasts would like for consideration to be given to the construction of an Olympic sized pool in the proposed marina layout. Sanford and Seminole youngsters have won prizes in every meet they've attended this year under the direction of Coach Emma Spencer. As we understand it all meets in which the local association participates must be out of town since Sanford does not have a facility to host such programs. We know that Drs. John Morgan and Brooks Smith are more than just interested.

Editor's Note: This is the second in a series of three articles discussing Sanford's downtown business district.

By Julian Stenstrom
What about "Co-operation?" Were people agreed that if the city's downtown business district is to undergo a modern beautification program it is going to require a "heap of co-operation" on the part of merchants and property owners.

A recent article in a nationally circulated magazine pointed out that the huge, federally - dominated land clearance and urban renewal projects of "blighted areas" in the large cities are getting the national spotlight because they are so spectacular. The story of St. Louis is one example.

Southward Investment & Realty Company of 116 N. Park Ave. has joined the list of local establishments in fixing up their buildings.

The firm has painted the exterior of the building, used Formica to assist in beautifying project, installed a redwood fence on the sides and generally fixed up the exterior.

However, co-operative endeavors of smaller communities are producing comparable benefits. The prime requisite is that the local businessmen and property owners must want urban renewal.

Forces Trained For 'Special Mission'

BIEN HOA AIRBASE, Viet Nam (UPI) — The commander of the Vietnamese air force officially disclosed today that South Viet Nam is parachuting commandos into the Communist North Viet Nam.

Air Commodore Nguyen Cao Ky further revealed that the Vietnamese air force is undergoing training for a "special mission" which he said would include attack, support and paradrop missions of a larger scale "outside Viet Nam."

Ky also urged air attacks against "even Communist China" to bring victory in the fighting against the Viet Cong guerrillas.

He said Viet Nam had asked the United States for medium range jet fighter-bombers and that Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara had held out hope they might be forthcoming.

The disclosures were accompanied by the first official American admission that U. S. officers are piloting Vietnamese air force planes on combat missions against the Viet Cong Communists, who are now waging bitter guerrilla war against the Vietnamese government in the south.

American and Vietnamese military authorities threw this formerly top-secret airbase north of Saigon open to newsmen today for the first time since it was built more than two years ago.

Commodore Ky told newsmen that on one recent mission over Communist North Viet Nam a South Vietnamese air force plane was intercepted by a Soviet-built MIG21 jet fighter believed to have come from Red China.

Ky said the South Vietnamese plane escaped being shot down by hugging the ground and maneuvering in such a way that the jet fighter could not hit it.

The South Vietnamese air force chief made the disclosure at a news conference attended by U. S. Maj. Gen. Joseph Moore, commander of the U. S. Air Force in South Viet Nam.

The disclosure followed closely South Vietnamese Premier Gen. Nguyen Khanh's public call Sunday for carrying the war into Communist North Viet Nam. He told a mass rally that "steps to escalate the war into North Viet Nam" were the "ardent wish of thousands of families in the South."

Attack On JP System Answered By Beckwith

By Julian Stenstrom

Cold water was dashed this morning on part of an article appearing in the August edition of the national magazine Argosy entitled "Justice of the Peace" and deals with the question of "How can a motorist expect a fair shake when, in 25 of our states, the justice of the peace trying the case gets paid only if the verdict is guilty?"

Throwing the water on a report by the American Bar Association on conditions in Seminole County and especially in Sanford was Arthur Beckwith, county clerk.

The article quoting the ABA report, said:

"Here (referring to Seminole County) the justice of the peace buys the job. In the town of Sanford, the JP's were making only $8,500 a year. This hardly covered what they had to pay the town. So they managed to get a law passed which had quite a gimmick. It extended the jurisdiction of JP's to violations up to $100. It also extended their jurisdiction, where the fine did not amount to more than $100.

"But this proved to be a windfall for the JP's in the area. This was because the JP's changed their whole modus operandi. Where a fine for drunken driving used to be $500, they changed the rules.

Four Convicted In Plot To Blow Up FEC Trestle

MIAMI (UPI) — A federal court jury convicted four railway workers today of attempting to blow up a trestle during a bitter strike against the Florida East Coast Railway.

Two of the defendants were convicted of all three charges against them but the other two were convicted on only one count.

Joseph Lee Vadder of Miami and John Wesley Davis of St. Louis were convicted of all three counts—conspiracy, actually placing a 15-stick dynamite charge on a Florida East Coast Railway trestle last March, and thereby attempting to wreck a freight train.

They face maximum sentences of a total of 45 years in jail and/or a $30,000 fine.

Hugh Winn and John Katsikas of Miami were found guilty only of attempting to wreck a freight train. The maximum sentence on this count is 20 years in jail and/or a $10,000 fine.

Defense attorney Hilton Carr immediately announced he would appeal and Federal Judge Emmet C. Choate allowed the men to remain free under their bonds of $50,000.

Store Burglary Attempt Fails

A thief or thieves tried unsuccessfully last night to enter Joe's Grocery at Celery and Locust Avenues when they pushed in a screen on the east side of the building. Bars kept them from entering, police said.

The persons then tried to break into a soft drink machine but failed. They damaged a bread box apparently when vexed over the failures, police added.

The accused driver was fined $100. Thus, the JP's were able to retain jurisdiction. As a result, their fees jumped to $33,000 a year."

Beckwith said he was not familiar with changes in the laws referred to in the article but that he could say that Florida statutes limit Justice of the Peace Hugh Duncan to a maximum personal income of $7,500 per year.

"According to the laws," said Beckwith, the first receipts of the JP office must pay the expenses of its operation. Receipts over and above that figure go to the justice of the peace as personal income but it cannot exceed $7,500. Any receipts over and above expenses and income to the justice must be remitted to the clerk."

Beckwith delved into the records for the calendar year of 1963. The report filed by Duncan, who was not available for comment because of court being in session, revealed that during 1963 the receipts of the JP office in Sanford district amounted to $11,622.33. Office expenses were $4,423.50. This included rent, auto expenses, janitorial services, postage, office supplies and equipment and miscellaneous items.

"Therefore," said Beckwith, "Justice Duncan's personal income was only $7,198.83, less than the maximum figure of $7,500 permitted by law."

These figures were taken from a "Report of Receipts, Expenses and Net Income," as prescribed for the annual operation of county offices under provisions of the Florida statutes.

The magazine may have gotten the figure of $33,000 income from all of the JP's in Seminole County. However, according to Beckwith this is not likely since none of the other JP's had a report anywhere comparable to Justice Duncan's. Their reports of receipts and expenditures were comprised of much lower figures.

Friends To Pay Tribute To NAS Officer

Shipmates, family and friends of Commander Barton W. Bartholomew will gather in tribute to the Naval leader during memorial services at 3 p.m. Thursday in the Sanford Naval Air Station chapel.

The widely-known commanding officer of Heavy Attack Squadron Eleven (VAH-11) died Sunday in an aircraft accident in the Mediterranean.

Chaplain Leo J. McDonald will officiate at the services. Attending will be Mrs. Kay Bartholomew, widow of the accomplished aviator; daughter, Sandria, 13; son, Scott, 6; and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Jay Bartholomew of Fresno, Calif.

Surrounding them will be many of the friends, both military and civilian, of a 21-year naval career.

Cdr. Bartholomew had served in the Korean Conflict and built a promising reputation in flying and administrative when he came to Sanford in November 1959.

Except for six months at the Armed Forces Staff College at Norfolk, Va., he had been stationed here ever since. In those years he enhanced his professional reputation while developing a wide field of friendships in the community.

He served as safety officer and operations officer in VAH-1 while flying the A-1H Skywarrior attack bomber and in February 1963 became executive officer of VAH-11.

He assumed command of the "Checkertail" squadron on April 6, less than a month before it left aboard the carrier Franklin D. Roosevelt to fill its current commitments with the U. S. Sixth Fleet.

During his 16 months in the squadron he was instrumental in its winning the Battle Efficiency "E" for 1963 and in compiling a strong operational record which could bring a repeat victory in Fiscal 1964.

The family requests that in lieu of flowers contributions be made through the Rev. Leroy D. Super, pastor of the Holy Cross Episcopal Church, Sanford, to the American Farm School in Salonika, Greece, or the Mission for Indian Children.

Violence In Harlem Seen As Planned

NEW YORK (UPI) — Communists are working with hate group and black nationalists to stimulate the riots and racial unrest plaguing the nation's largest city, officials said today.

The signs of planned violence have begun to emerge after the fourth day of lawlessness which at first appeared to be the haphazard work of raving street gangs. Acting Mayor Paul R. Seravane disclosed Tuesday that police have been investigating the efforts of extremists to capitalize on the frustration of Negroes for a considerable time.

Seravane said "known Communists" have been involved in inflammatory rallies and meetings and Communist members probably have financed demonstrations. A spokesman for Police Commissioner Michael J. Murphy said the department has been "investigating very closely indications of left-wing incitement."

The FBI has been cooperating with Murphy's investigators since the rioting began last Saturday and stepped into the situation officially Tuesday on order of President Johnson.

A Justice Department spokesman said FBI agents will try to find out "who is responsible for doing what" in the chaotic sections of Manhattan and Brooklyn.

LBJ Visits Grave

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Johnson brought his fast-paced schedule to a momentary pause Tuesday with a visit to the grave of the late President John F. Kennedy.

Renewal Will Require A 'Heap Of Co-Operation'

Editor's Note: This is the second in a series of three articles discussing Sanford's downtown business district.

By Julian Stenstrom
What about "Co-operation?" Were people agreed that if the city's downtown business district is to undergo a modern beautification program it is going to require a "heap of co-operation" on the part of merchants and property owners.

A recent article in a nationally circulated magazine pointed out that the huge, federally - dominated land clearance and urban renewal projects of "blighted areas" in the large cities are getting the national spotlight because they are so spectacular. The story of St. Louis is one example.

Southward Investment & Realty Company of 116 N. Park Ave. has joined the list of local establishments in fixing up their buildings. The firm has painted the exterior of the building, used Formica to assist in beautifying project, installed a redwood fence on the sides and generally fixed up the exterior.

However, co-operative endeavors of smaller communities are producing comparable benefits. The prime requisite is that the local businessmen and property owners must want urban renewal.

They must want to rejuvenate Sanford's downtown business area enough to unite and work for it.

Of course, it isn't accomplished overnight.

Grand Junction, Colo., for example, called its project "Operation Foresight." New Rochelle, N. Y., tagged theirs "Modernization of the Key-stone," and they worked at it for six years and spent $6 million.

Grand Junction whipped their plan into shape four years ago because leading merchants recognized that "inaction in the face of normal but real problems of an old downtown leads only to deterioration, and that this in turn leads to the capture of local markets by other downtowns and outlying shopping centers."

So, they developed a master plan that included new street and parking designs in the shopping area, storm sewers, construction, office building and store modernization. And because this western city is more the size of Sanford, and because the project's cost is more in line with our own capability, its success should serve as an inspiration to Sanford. The cost was something like a half a million dollars.

Not many nights ago a group of local business leaders presented to the City Commission a comprehensive plan of lakefront development.

It suggested that in capitalizing on Sanford's most exclusive asset—the extensive city frontage on Lake Monroe not only would the city take on a new image of progress, but also the activity would soon encompass the "main street" shopping district, if—there's that word again—property owners and merchants got together on a plan which would serve to attract the visiting yachmen as well as Central Floridians.

It would cost money and lots of it. It would take time—but every year the lakefront project is developing so would the business district's modernization program.

It will take a "heap of co-operation" of not just a few but of all the property owners and store operators. The influx of visiting boatmen who will thrill to the natural beauty of the St. Johns and the modern harbor facilities of Sanford on the "Nile of America" will represent business over and above that of the local patrons who will be delighted to take advantage of a fine downtown shopping center with its charm and the appeal of modern merchandise at attractive prices.

Foresight, co-operation, unrelenting drive and—as the sincere reader who started this series of articles with a letter said—"positive thinking" can do the job.

Would Sanford dare try it? Tomorrow: Its feasibility.
