Law enforcement agencies collect funds for local charities

By Nick Pfeiffert
Staff Writer

SANFORD - Regardless of what fund-raising project our local law enforcement officers get involved with, it appears as though they come out winners. The results of two separate efforts have been announced.

The most recent was last weekend's "Tip a Cop" event at the Red Lobster Restaurant at Seminole Towne Center. Sheriff's volunteers donned aprons and waited tables at the restaurant, accepting tips in a special envelope, in a fight against juvenile diabetes.

Sheriff's Department Spokesman Steve Olson has reported nearly $2,000 received in the drive. The money is being sent to the Juvenile Diabetes Foundation.

Earlier this year, in March, sheriff's deputies and some local police officers again converged at Red Lobster at the mall. This time, the effort was to obtain money in support of Special Olympics.

The program generated $1.2 million nationwide, a new record over previous drives sponsored by Red Lobster, which had undertaken this project for the past 13 years.

According to final donation figures just released, Sanford's efforts came out ahead of all 16 Red Lobster locations in the Orlando area. Sanford law enforcement officers managed to obtain $5,128.55 in donations. Second highest was the Vine Street store in Kissimmee with $4,418.97.

Other locations involved were in Altamonte Springs, Daytona Beach and Daytona Beach Shores, Leesburg, Melbourne, Merritt Island, Ocala and Orlando. None of the Orlando stores reached the $3,000 level.

"We are proud to partner with law enforcement officers who work year after year to raise dollars for Special Olympics athletes," said Red Lobster President Dick Rivera.

Dale to United Way: Get out

By Dan Ping
Editor

SANFORD — Mayor Larry Dale has barred the United Way from soliciting contributions from city employees during working hours at Sanford City Hall.

Dale said he took the action in response to the Heart of Florida United Way's decision to implement a non-discrimination policy, a move Dale claims is aimed at the Boy Scouts of America.

"The United Way has decided they won't fund the Boy Scouts because they don't allow homosexuals to serve as Boy Scout leaders," Dale said. "As an Eagle

Mayor bars agency from City Hall after UW 'pressures' Boy Scouts Scout, and someone who has worked as a professional Scout and remains active in the Scouting organization, that offends me. The Supreme Court ruled in June that the Boy Scouts were protected under the First Amendment right of association, and now the United Way is trying to overturn that decision on their own."

Not so, says Brian Quail, president and CEO of Heart of Florida United Way, the local chapter of the national United Way organization.

"The United Way will not dictate who the leaders are for our agencies," Quail said. "The non-discrimination policy clearly says that."

Quail said his agency's new policy does conflict with a national Boy Scout policy that says youth members of the Boy Scouts would be kicked out if they announced they were homosexual.

"That's were the rub is," Quail said. He pointed out that no agencies would be affected under this year's United Way fund-raising campaign, and the policy wouldn't be implemented until next year's campaign.

"After the current campaign is over, we're going to be discussing the non-discrimination policy with our agencies,"

26th Annual Golden Age Games — Pedal Powered Peterson

89-year-old grandma loves the cycling events

SANFORD — When Mari-Henri Peterson was 71, she decided to enter her first bicycle race.

Mari-Henri Peterson congratulates her son Jim after his bicycle race.

Eighteen years later, the 89-year-old from Orange City has a box full of medals, and she earned another on Monday by competing in the 5K race during the city's annual Golden Age Games.

According to Peterson, she chose the cycling event on a whim while she was considering what to compete in during the Games.

"My husband was looking at the long list of things to do, and he saw the bicycle events," Peterson said. "I didn't even have a bike. But, I decided to do

During her almost two decades of bicycle peddling, Peterson — known as "Pedal Peterson" to her friends and family — has been to six national Golden Age Games after finishing in the top five at local and state competitions. She again qualified to participate at the state level this year, but she isn't sure she will compete.

Peterson is currently overcoming one of her biggest obstacles. Two years ago, she was diagnosed with ovarian cancer. She is now on the road to recovery, and she has no intention of letting the disease stop her.

"My doctors say I am doing so good," she said. "And, I am fighting it. I wouldn't be here today if I weren't fighting it."

Peterson's also got a large cheering section pushing her to success. Her son and daughter-in-law, Jim and Barb Peterson

Longwood incumbents ask voters to rely on experience

By Joe DeSantis

LONGWOOD — Pointing to fiscal soundness and an infrastructure program that is back on track after being side-tracked for a number of years, Longwood incumbents Paul Lovstrand in District 5 and Steve Miller in District 3 seek reelection Nov. 7.

Lovstrand, who also serves as the city's mayor, is being challenged for a second time by Longwood businessman Craig Van Hooven, while political newcomer George McKenzie is seeking Miller's seat.

The incumbents, who often vote along similar lines are both, touting a new-found spirit of board cooperation and dividends paying off from years of austerity.

"There is cohesion in the commission now and never a raised voice at a meeting," commented Lovstrand. "We listen to the people who have good concerns and the voices of a handful of gadflies have seem to gone away."

Often the center of contentious and heated arguments, last year's election of newcomers Butch Bundy and John Malingot in Districts 4 and 1, has appeared to bring a greater sense of maturity and civility to Longwood city commission gatherings.

Lovstrand said he enjoys politics and feels he can contribute to the city now and in the future.

With a background in financial management, the incumbent said he feels he is more qualified to serve on the board and more familiar with budgets than his challenger.

Lovstrand acknowledged the city has some $15 million in reserves, a bone of contention with his challenger Van Hooven, but said there is a rationale behind that figure.

"In the early 1990's we had a city administrator who was slow to act and some board members who derailed our paving and sewer line projects in favor of targeted residential development," Lovstrand said. "This board has gotten our infrastructure program back on track and we have managed to change what once was a 100 percent

County opposes high-speed rail project

By Joe DeSantis
Staff Writer

SANFORD — With the issue to be decided by Florida voters in less than a week, Seminole County Commissioners have joined a number of other Florida counties in formally opposing a high speed rail initiative that will appear on the Nov. 7 ballot.

By a unanimous 5-0 vote, the board has adopted a formal resolution in opposition to the proposed Constitutional Amendment on a statewide high speed rail system.

The amendment would require the Legislature, Cabinet, and Governor to proceed with the development of a monorail, fixed guideway or magnetic levitation rail system capable of speeds in excess of 120 miles per hour, linking the five largest urban areas of the state.

Construction of the system would begin in November of 2003.

"The state has only finite resources to deal with transportation issues and the board feels while there might be an appropriate place for high speed rail in our future, we have more pressing needs," said Deputy County Manager James Marino.

Marino said the board's opposition to the proposed amendment derives from the

Sanford FPL Plant repowering

By Nick Pfeiffert
Staff Writer

At the present time, as motorists will attest, there is a great deal of work, and delay, involved in driving between the St. Johns River and DeBary. The congestion is being caused by DOT and FPL work at the same time.

Even though the Florida Power and Light Company's power plant is located in DeBary, it is considered the "Sanford Plant." In addition to the roadwork, the FPL construction activities for the repowering are underway. Authorities assure us efforts underway to ensure minimum negative impact on traffic and neighbors. The plant, on the north side of the St. Johns River and west of U.S. Highway 17-92 has been in operation since 1927.

"We've hired off-duty police officers to monitor the flow of traffic in front of the plant on 17-92" said

Roxane Kennedy, Sanford plant manager. "In addition, we asked our contractors to schedule many of their larger deliveries at night and during off-peak traffic hours."

"For example," she continued, "we've recently completed a foundation pour involving more than 995 cubic yards of concrete by scheduling the work between midnight and 6 a.m., including the arrival of 95 trucks of concrete."

Another challenge for the plant according to Kennedy has been to coordinate its construction activities with the State Department of Transportation DOT is installing underground utilities and widening a section of 17-92

Damage from the fire was minimal.

SEMINOLE SUMMARY

A GLANCE AROUND OUR COUNTY

Being old is not age — it's how you act

This morning, I was planning to participate in the Golden Age Games in Sanford. I was entered in the Canoe - Sprint race at Lake Carola. Unfortunately, I am unable to do so at my doctor's suggestion. I will miss it.

I'll never forget the last time I was in the race. I was paddling along, and suddenly, just as I was about to make the big left turn at the far end of the course, a gust of wind coming from Lake Monroe caught me. It threw me completely off course and rather than turning left, I found myself heading right (That's to the starboard to you seafaring folks).

Nick Pfeifauf

As a result of this distraction from my planned course, I ended up coming in second and received a silver medal for my efforts. OK, I'll admit it. The reason I got a second place medal is because there was only one other man of my age group entered in the race. Naturally, he finished first and took home the gold.

Was I bitter? No. I thought, there is always next year, and today — I find I must look even further to the 2001 games.

I was really looking forward to getting into one of those canoes supplied by Katie's Landing, and see what I can do. People who know how to paddle a canoe are supposed to do it by paddling only on one side in such an angle as to keep the craft heading in one direction. I don't know how to do this although I've certainly tried. I'll have to paddle right, left, right, left, etc.

But seriously, for anyone over the age of 50, Sanford's Golden Age Games are a delight, to participate in, barring difficulties with health or other factors. They are also activities to watch. Many folks can tell stories of what they saw at, perhaps, the talent show. This year it will be Thursday, Nov. 2 at 7 p.m. at the Civic Center. These are not professionals, but they are people who have talent and the results are often astounding as well as humorous.

You may believe that because you are on-in-years, you have no business competing in sporting or fun events. WRONG! The honorary chairman is a heart-transplant recipient, yet she will be entered in several events.

For others, take bowling for example. You may have bowled for years and enjoyed it. Now you say you can't. Unless there are health reasons, you probably can. After all — you would be going up against others of your same age who may have also felt they couldn't before they tried it. Naturally, luck also plays a part in who wins, and you have just as much chance of being lucky than the next person.

In golfing, perhaps you no longer are healthy enough to handle 18 holes. But why not enter the long drive competition?

Even those with health problems will find events in which to participate. Dominoes for example; Hobby and Photo competition, Pinochle, Contract or Duplicate Bridge, plus many others.

The late George Burns, who lived to be over 100, once said that, regardless of one's age, if you act like you're old, you ARE old. Become involved in this year's Golden Age Games. It'll make you feel young again.

Getting ready to drive

We're getting too comfortable

Every generation gets a little wimpier than the one before it. Our ancestors lived in wooden shacks without running water or electricity. We have central heat, central air, central vac, central casting, humidifiers, dehumidifiers, carbon filters, ozone detectors, smoke detectors, chest protectors, bomb deflectors and house inspectors. We can push one button in our house and another in our car, and as long as we have an attached garage, we will never leave an atmosphere of constant temperature, humidity, oxygen content and clarity.

It makes for an easy, comfortable life, but over time Mother Nature will devolve us to the point where we can't handle any change in our environment. Sure it might be nice to never shiver or sweat but not if it means that every time you open the fridge or oven door, you have a massive cardiac infarction.

So don't try so hard to make it so easy. Human beings survive a lot better when they have something to fight against. That's why married people live longer.

DRESSING FOR TROUBLE

I sometimes take abuse for my wardrobe. I tend to be on the low side of casual. Tattered jeans and a flannel shirt is my uniform of choice. It's not an unconscious choice. I'm very aware of why I dress like that.

First of all, I think it sends out a good message. That I'm not using my clothes to make you think I'm rich or important. I'm important to me, and while I'm happy to have you join me in that, it's your call.

It also sends a message to single women that I'm out of bounds. If I dress this shabby while I'm looking, can you imagine how bad it would get after she gets to know me. (My wife has never totally bought this argument.)

But the main reason I dress this way is because I think you have to be ready for anything. A leaky pipe, a lawnmower that won't start or a car that needs a push. When there's an emergency, I can just jump right in. I don't need to find a phone booth to change in.

So when you see a guy decked out in extra-casual wear, he's dressed for battle. And when you see a guy in an expensive suit, he may have money, but if you have an emergency, he'll be grabbing his cell phone and calling somebody like me.

FIVE QUESTIONS THAT SCARE MARRIED MEN

- Did you do what you promised to do?
- Where did the apple pie go?
- Do you remember what today is?
- What size pants are you wearing these days?
- Have you got big plans for later?

Purse snatching arrests
The Seminole County Sheriff's office has now identified the three persons arrested in connection with several purse snatching in Central Florida last week.

According to an incident report, purse snatching occurred at the Publix on SR-46, west of Sanford, Lake Mary Center, and in the Orlando area. In most of the incidents, the snatchings occurred when a vehicle drove past a woman in the parking lot, and someone reached out of the window and grabbed her purse.

Arrested were Justin Robert Hall, 19, Christy Dorothea Barnes, 16, and Chance Wayne Henderson, 30. All three have been charged with robbery.

Home invasion

A home invasion was reported in the late hours of Thursday, Oct. 26 in the 100 block of Midway Drive in Altamonte Springs. Two men and a woman were said to be in the house working on a local company payroll when there was a knock on the door. Two black males reportedly entered the room, one with a handgun, and demanded the money. One struck one of the residents in the head several times, disabled the telephone and after ordering the three to the ground, fled with an estimated $14,000. Some of the money was found strewn on the ground outside the home.

After the two had left the residence, two shots were heard followed by a vehicle being driven off. Neighbors also heard the shots and the vehicle.

The two were described as being in their 20's, approximately six feet tall, 180 pounds and dressed in all black. One was wearing a plain black baseball cap and had gold teeth over his front upper teeth. The vehicle was described as a large four-door, possibly a 1980's car, cream in color.

Both of the men in the house were reportedly injured in the robbery and were treated at the scene by Seminole County Fire and Rescue personnel.

Under arrest

Samuel Butler, 25, of Sanford, shot during an armed robbery of an Altamonte Springs convenience store is now out of the hospital and in jail. Butler was booked into the jail Saturday. He had been undergoing treatment at Orlando Regional Medical Center since Oct. 21, the day the owner of the E-Z Way convenience store shot him during a robbery.

Alarick Whitted, 29, said to be Butler's accomplice, was arrested the day of the robbery. Both Butler and Whitted are being held under no bond.

Fraud

Two men were arrested by Sanford police Sunday. Officers said neither would give their proper identity and were arrested as John Doe I and II. According to the arrest report, they had gone to an auto dealership in the 3400 block of Orlando Drive and attempted to purchase a new vehicle. Their identification however proved false. Police contacted a person in Winter Park, said to be a relative of the two, and were told the two were using identification from deceased relatives. They also found the pair was wanted in Ohio for using the same scheme to bilk others out of possibly as much as $150,000.

The pair were each charged with falsely obtaining a vehicle with false representation, and uttering a false instrument. Charges are also pending in the State of Ohio.

Traffic stops

Tracy Capehart, 32, of Olliver Avenue, Sanford, was stopped for improper equipment at W. 13th Street Monday. An officer said he saw her throw an object to the ground. The object was said to be a paper bag with a narcotics pipe. She was charged with possession of narcotics equipment.

Who's best for Longwood? Lovestrand, Miller best choices for City Commission

Voters in Longwood will decide Nov. 7 whether they are satisfied with the status quo from two of their city commissioners, or seek a change in Districts 5 and 3. A year ago political newcomer Butch Bundy unseated incumbent Anna Marie Vacca in District 4, while John Malngot unseated incumbent Rusty Milles in District 1. The result has been a more mature, more civil approach to getting the city's business done. Such has not always been the case in Longwood. Incumbents Paul Lovestrand in District 5 and Steve Miller in District 3 are asking voters for another term over respective challengers Craig Van Hooven and George McKenzie.

Make no mistake, there have been ugly moments at city commission meetings in the past 36 months. Lovestrand and Miller are partially responsible for their fair share of provocation, but that blame must equally be shared by the incessant buzzing of a small band of gadflies who leave us wondering if they would ever be satisfied regardless of what actions the board takes.

Lovestrand, a financial advisor, investment and real estate broker, also serves as the city's mayor. He is being challenged for the second time by Longwood businessman Craig Van Hooven. Little love is lost between the two.

Van Hooven contends the city has amassed large budget surpluses because capital projects have been ignored and postponed. Lovestrand contends changes in the composition of the city commission between 1990 and 1997 and the ouster of former city administrator Sheldon Smith led to delays and foot-dragging on road paving and sewer infrastructure programs.

Lovestrand cites his experience with finances and budgets which he says enables him to be a better fiscal watchdog for the city and takes pride in the fact Longwood has no municipal debt.

Van Hooven feels more attention should be paid to funding of parks and recreation programs for city residents.

The incumbent sees more tax dollars from developed commercial corridors and larger commercial utility fees as the means to hold down and reduce ad valorem taxes for residents. Van Hooven says the city has too many self-storage facilities and billboards.

If Van Hooven has one genuine shortcoming, it is his lack of experience in the complex arena of running a city. If Lovestrand has one genuine shortcoming it is his often open disdain for the media and lack of public relations skills in finessing his agenda.

Lovestrand has a demonstrated track record of service to the citizens of Longwood. His lack of tact in the past has led to more than a few contentious and loud commission meetings. But is it fair to kill the messenger because of the message?

While Van Hooven appears to honestly want to serve the city, indicative of his active role in church, school, and civic organizations, at this juncture it is our opinion that he has mounted no compelling reason for a change.

The Seminole Herald's recommendation in District 5 is incumbent Paul Lovestrand.

The choice in the District 3 race between incumbent Miller and challenger McKenzie is similar.

Miller likewise has attempted to spearhead action on capital improvement projects and infrastructure. He often votes in tandem with Lovestrand but on occasion the two have gone their separate ways. Miller's vision is for slow, incremental growth in the city while maintaining a healthy tax base that holds or reduces current millage rates for property owners.

Earlier this year Miller drew heat from some of Longwood's small cadre of constant critics when he proposed a step pay plan for the city's police department; a move many thought usurped city administrator John Drago's responsibility. Miller said he did so in an attempt to slow down attrition in the department he links to higher salaries at larger police agencies. The incumbent has high praise for the city administrator and admits his methodology should have been rethought.

McKenzie, a Longwood resident for just three years, is likable, well-spoken, and seems genuine in his desire to assume the mantle of public servant. Our feeling is that he is still somewhat inexperienced in the various funding mechanisms and "attainable" revenue streams to finance city operations. We would encourage him to cultivate his interest in Longwood by serving on any number of volunteer boards to perhaps gain a deeper insight into overall city operations prior to seeking a board seat.

The Seminole Herald's recommendation in District 3 is for incumbent Miller.

Local Sierra Club endorses Van Gaale

To the editor:

Andrew Van Gaale is the most qualified environmental candidate for Seminole County Commission seat one. He believes local government is making mistakes by allowing leapfrog growth into our rural areas instead of directing it back into urban centers and renovating our cities to make them livable and community oriented. He opposes Gov. Jeb Bush's proposal to reduce state control over growth management.

Van Gaale feels the current land use and environmental regulations are not adequate in protecting the Wekiva and Ecomolochatchee areas. Mr. Van Gaale is an advocate for the people. He can be found at many county commission or land use meetings, where he listens to those who give public input. We need him to help change the political make-up of the Seminole County Commission in favor of stronger environmental protection of the few remaining natural resources. It is for these reasons that the Sierra Club Central Florida Group has endorsed Andrew Van Gaale for District One, Seminole County Commissioner. Sierra's choice is based by his answers to our endorsement questionnaire and personal interview on issues surrounding growth, transportation, and preservation of our natural resources. We believe he is the best choice as representation for the voice of the people in Seminole County.

Daniel writes about county's best kept secret

To the editor:

A push by Seminole County to pass a $25 million tax referendum to expand natural lands and connecting trails reminds me of the best kept secret in the county. In 1989, Parks and Recreation was under the Environmental Services Division and under the department, one of the nicest parcels of land in all of Florida was purchased. 4,000 acres, miles of which front the St. Johns River, was purchased from the Cameron & Thrasher families at a cost of $4,603,500. 500 acres were set aside for the landfill and the police firing range, and 3,500 acres were to be used for public recreation. Consultants were hired to recommend a recreation plan and the parcels were identified on the county's land use maps. In 1990, the Natural Lands Referendum was passed, indicating the voters wanted to preserve and have access to natural lands. Since that time, and as late as August of this year, the county has been purchasing lands as they became available.

Meanwhile, in 1994, Daryl McLain convinced enough of this year's county commissioners it would be beneficial to lease some of Cameron/Thrasher tract to a private interest, and came up with a plan to lease 2,000 acres of the Cameron/Thrasher Property to his friend, Larry Dale, operated under a corporate name of The Seminole County Wildlife Association, (now known as the Boars Nest Hunt Club). Another party, who had offered the county money, and who's bid was consistent with the advertised terms of a lease, was not even considered. The lease as it ended up, consisted of a land swap involving primarily submerged lands, and has a duration of 20 years (10 more than the advertised duration of proposed lease). 1,500 additional acres were included in the lease because, Commission Chairman Carlton Henley told me, "there was no useful public purpose for those lands." Since that time there is a dedicated effort by county government to make all reference, to the most beautiful piece of land in Seminole County, disappear. On land use maps, it has one from reds or greens to a light gray, or is deleted. The consultant's report is no longer available. Management of the land has switched from Environmental Services to Administrative Services, primarily a paper pushing department; unable to monitor compliance with terms of the lease. The terms of the lease, from my personal observation, are not being adhered to.

Before the citizens of Seminole County approve another multi-million dollar bond issue, there needs to be accountability, audits must occur, and proper land management for all of the lands purchased for recreational lands, natural lands and trail lands, must be under the same department. Any terms of leased county land must be adhered to, particularly insurance requirements, security and management of hunting plans. I suggest that a non-revocable deed restriction be placed on every piece of land purchased under these programs, which will protect the public interest. I suggest the lease on the Cameron/Thrasher tracts be revoked for non-compliance, or at the very least, purchased back in the public interest. The next time you vote for a Commission Candidate, ask them how often they have been to "The Boars Nest" and perhaps remind them about the "Sunshine Law".

Cannon plans to vote for Adams and Van Gaale

To the editor:

Three years ago one of our county commissioners traveled to the Netherlands at taxpayer expense. Supposedly the purpose of the trip was to promote business and jobs for Seminole County. Here are a few questions about the trip: Was the trip necessary? When will we see the results? Who will benefit? Why did Seminole County seek business with a country where prostitution and nude beaches are legal?

Why not conduct business with a country more compatible to our values?

The commissioner had received a travel advance which included $50 per day for food.

Not bad: Substitute teachers were paid $50 a day to work with our children. The clerk docked $1081 from his pay, stating he did not have receipts for food. The commissioner sued the county to collect the $1081.

Some people wanted to reduce the clerk's authority and let the commission decide. The clerk has spent more than $17,000 of taxpayer money to defend the county against this lawsuit.

Why did the commissioner who earns more than $65,000 per year for part time work continue the lawsuit? Why not soak it up and help pay for his own meals? A former commissioner returned part of his pay to the county in the form of scholarships. Seminole County is fortunate to have Marine Morse as Clerk of Court. She did what she thought was lawful and correct in this instance.

Fellow republicans, I am not happy with the performance of two of our commissioners. They worked hard to promote special interest and further their own agenda at the expense of the county. This resulted in losing our freedom to choose.

I plan to vote for Mr. Adams and Mr. Van Gaale. Please join me.

Art Ziellinski asks people what they think ...

The campaign headquarters for both Bush and Gore have been working overtime to get their candidates message to the people. Between now and Nov. 7 the airwaves will be flooded with political ads 24 hours a day. Regardless of the TV channel or radio station, it won't take long before Bush or Gore's name flashes across the screen or cuts off the ending to your favorite song. So our question today is, "Are you sick of all the political advertisements on the TV and radio?"

I love it, as long as they are saying good things about the person I'm voting for and bad things about the person I'm not voting for.
Pete Long,
Sanford

I don't really watch TV very much so I really couldn't say. Plus, I never listen to the radio — except to wake me up in the morning.
Robert Muslevs,
Sanford

Yes, I'm tired of all the ads. I made my decision who I'm going to vote for — I listen to the radio to relax.
Jeane Reagin,
Sanford

Yes and no. Yes because they are trying too hard, it takes up too much air time. Most people have their minds made up without all the advertising all day every day. And no, because some people need to hear the issues.
Tierney Simmons,
Orange City

No. Because it's one of the ways a candidate can get their message out. It helps show the difference between them and their opponent.
Joanne Nettles,
Sanford

Hamilton Happenings

By Scott Kinsey
Special to the Herald

Have you ever wondered what the difference is between a Slash Pine and a Red Maple? Well, students at Hamilton Elementary Cluster Magnet School are learning the difference. They are the proud owners of the Environmental Learning Center, a dream that became a reality in 1991. The Learning Center is a 1-acre wetland area, on school grounds, featuring native trees and shrubs in three different habitats. This unique area was established through the efforts of many people, spearheaded by Richard Gregg, former school board member and parent. His efforts have left a remarkable teaching tool for the students of Hamilton, and eventually all of Sanford.

The history of this Center goes back to 1989, when the PTA proposed the idea of building a pavilion so students might study the environment outside, with places to sit and a roof for rain protection. Then, in 1991 Gregg proposed something much more.

During April of 1991, the first meeting was held at Hamilton to discuss plans for not just a pavilion, but an entire habitat for study. The University of Florida was involved from the beginning, as were the Seminole County Agriculture Center, the Seminole County Horticulture Department, and the Seminole County Environmental Education Center. The PTA had pledged $5,000.00 for the pavilion, and Gregg put in motion a plan that would turn a retention pond on the school grounds into a dynamic learning area.

May of 1991 saw another meeting at the school site. This time it was held for teachers, staff, administrators, as well as landscape designers from the University of Florida. The meeting was a success, and approval was given to move forward with the plans.

In September of that year the official ground breaking ceremonies took place, with many dignitaries on hand for this exciting occasion. A 20-foot 'Sweetgum' tree was planted at the school, marking the beginning for the $40,000 Environmental Learning Center. Planned as a model other schools could copy, the Center was to be completed in 6 months and feature three distinct habitats: a hardwood area, a wetlands area, and a South Florida 'flatwoods' area. The original plans also included an observation deck over the wetlands, a boardwalk that would wind through the entire Center, bird houses, 150 trees, 300 under-story plants, an irrigation system using reclaimed water, and a learning pavilion. September also saw the approval of an $18,000.00 grant, made possible by the Florida Department of Agriculture & Consumer Services. Volunteers were asked to put in the large trees and the students and teachers of Hamilton planted the under-story plants.

November saw many work-days at the school, with volunteers putting in many trees indigenous to Central Florida, but no longer common to the area. Parents, teachers, board members, and interested friends of Hamilton gave many hours of labor so this Center might see completion.

Finally, during the month of June, 1992, Hamilton held an official opening for the newly created Environmental Learning Center, giving closure to this new addition to education at the school. Again, a host of dignitaries and friends came to celebrate this special day, a day when a dream became a reality for Richard Gregg and so many people who sacrificed to breathe life into the Center.

Many businesses in Sanford, and from the surrounding Central Florida area, helped in a variety of ways to make this dream become real. Torbett's Nursery, of Geneva, Florida, helped with 50 trees, mostly maples, bald cypress, and slash pines. Pebble Junction, in Sanford, brought in 3 tons of Florida fieldstone. Russell's Tree Farm and Nursery, also from Sanford, gave 1 dozen trees, valued at over $4,000.00. Some gave money, some gave of their time, but all gave from the heart for the children of Hamilton.

Along the way, there were problems. Donations needed to match the grant money were sometimes hard to come up with.

Asking for items up from, without being able to pay immediately because of the wording of those grant monies, was also difficult. But as each problem came up, solutions were found. And in the end, what stands today is a living monument to all who gave willingly for the future of environmental education at Hamilton.

Next week, find out what is happening now at Hamilton Elementary as environmental education enters a new era.

Scott Kinsey is an Hamilton Elementary's environmental science teacher. This is his first year teaching at Hamilton.

Off and Running Games are under way

By Nick Pfeiffert
Staff Writer

SANFORD — The 26th Annual Golden Age Games got under way Sunday, Oct. 29. Events and competition will continue through Nov. 4 at various locations.

A number of events have already been held including cycling and basketball. Others, such as bowling, tennis, and others have had some competition already but will continue through this week.

The Golden Age Games began 26 years ago as an idea among civic leaders. The games have since grown into one of the largest in Florida, and are recognized nationally as the "Nation's oldest senior games."

The Sanford games are one of only 12 qualifying sites for the Florida Senior Games State Championships. The top five finishers in Sanford will be eligible to compete in the state games which will be held in Kissimmee from Nov. 28 through Dec. 3.

Lisa Jones of the Sanford Recreation Department is chairman of this year's events which feature over 40 different activities and festivals. Also scheduled are a number of special activities for everyone to enjoy. In the spirit of the Olympics, the Sanford events award gold, silver and bronze medals to the top three male and female competitors in each sport, broken down into many cases in many of the Games in Sanford.

This year, for the second consecutive year, participants are required to be age 50 or over. Previously, the beginning age was 65.

Application forms were mailed out to persons who requested them or were involved in previous games several months ago. Entries are still being accepted at the Sanford Recreation Department Senior Center at the Sanford Civic Center. In many cases, registration for individual event competition may be done just prior to the start of the actual game, but organizers recommend double-checking on this before planning a last minute entry. The Recreation Department has brochures available listing each of the activities, times, dates, locations, and sponsoring organizations. These are free of charge.

Results listed for first events held during Golden Age Games

The following winners have been announced by the Sanford Parks and Recreation Department for the 2000 Golden Age Games underway this week. Not all of the results were finalized by press time for events held on Monday and Tuesday. Additional event winners will be reported this week-end.

paving assessment costs for residents to a 60-40 split between residents and the city."

Lovestrand said his continued emphasis on city projects would be geared toward completing infrastructure such as paving and sewer along the city's business corridors of SR 427 and 434, attracting more commercial dollars and utility fees, and improving redevelopment efforts on the city's East side and Historic District.

"We have a good city administrator in John Drago who has a vision and a long-range plan," said Lovestrand.

The mayor has acknowledged that some of the criticism mounted by his challenger for failing to attract alternative revenue streams is valid, but much of it is misleading.

"Yes, we could have been more aggressive in going after community block grant money in the past," he said. "Part of the problem is that the city once had a part-time grant writer and no longer does. The second factor in attracting block grant money is that cities have to meet economic criteria. In many instances we were denied because of neighborhood income medians."

Lovestrand said he would be interested in the possibility of hiring a full-time grant writer for Longwood, but would go along with the wishes of the majority of the commission.

Outlining a three-tiered emphasis for the next term Lovestrand said he would work to redevelop the city's east side with better code enforcement, increased police patrols, and applying for grant money to assist homeowners in improving the area. He also sees great potential for Longwood's business corridors in the near future.

"With our infrastructure along the corridors coming closer to completion I see a hustling, bustling commercial zone that translates into more tax dollars and more utility fees which will help us hold or even lower our ad valorem taxes in the future," Lovestrand said.

Miller expresses a similar view about a more cooperative commission, progress on paving and sewer line projects, and says both challengers don't understand how business and projects move forward in the city.

"There hasn't been any one great accomplishment in the last three years, but a series of smaller accomplishments that are getting us to where we need to be," said Miller.

The District 3 representative points to a near 70 percent completion of sewer line installation along the city's business corridor in the last three years, which he says he helped spearhead. Construction of a community Civic Center and improvements in fire and rescue efforts are also accomplishments Miller says he had a hand in.

"We have seen more progress in the past three years than in the 10 previous to that," said Miller.

The incumbent points to a change in city administrators and a new complexion of the commission for those steps forward.

"City administrator John Drago has a plan, we're sticking to it, and moving forward," Miller said. "Previous commissions scrapped our infrastructure plans and set the city behind. The delay in the Range Line Road project is a perfect example of the mess that was created before by a few individuals which we all wound up paying for."

Miller said his emphasis on another term would be to hold the line on city taxes, complete Longwood's commercial infrastructure and maximize the use of the city's Historic District.

"I'd like to have a hand in bringing Longwood into the 21st Century and not having us be the laughing stock of Seminole County because of a tiny few squeaky wheels who are divisive," said Miller.

Miller said since 1997 the city has gotten back on track.

"It's unfortunate that in 1994 the stubborn, bullheadedness of a few board members wound up costing taxpayers hundreds of thousands of dollars because of delays and lack of vision," Miller said. "Certain factions had the city tied up, but we are moving forward."

Miller said his challenger, McKenzie, has campaigned against big budget surpluses but doesn't understand the city's charter.

"We are guided by law that says we don't borrow money in Longwood," Miller said. "We've saved over the years and paid cash for capital projects. The city is debt free."

United Way

Quail said. "We'll be fielding questions and trying to work with our agencies."

The new policy states:

"...Heart of Florida United Way believes that people, no matter what their background, deserve to have access to the resources that will help them grow to their greatest potential.

Therefore, United Way does not fund any agency that discriminates in the provision of services through any program on the basis of race, creed, religion, color, gender, sexual orientation, disability, marital status, veteran status, national origin, age, or any other characteristic protected by law."

Of the 1,400 United Way organizations in America, only 10 have adopted a similar policy, though Quail claims about 2 dozen chapters, including Brevard County, are considering a non-discrimination policy.

Dale said an attempt to force the Boy Scouts, or any other group, to sign a pledge upholding the United Way policy is blackmail.

"For the United Way to tell groups, 'If you don't do as we say, we're not going to fund you,' is wrong," Dale said. "The fact of the matter is they are discriminating against the Boy Scouts because the Boy Scouts won't bend their principles to fit the United Way."

Dale said he has supported United Way in the past and is not denying city employees the right to donate.

"I have not told any of our employees they can't donate to the United Way," Dale said. "That is their decision to make. The only difference this year is that we're not going to use city time for the United Way to solicit our employees."

Dale estimated the city has raised about $10,000 to $12,000 a year for the organization, and he placed the blame for a potential shortfall in funding for local agencies on the United Way.

"The burden rests on the United Way not to be stupid," Dale said. "If it comes down to people deciding whether to fund the Boy Scouts or the United Way, then the United Way is going to be the big loser. People aren't going to stand for it. Who is the United Way to come along and tell the Boy Scouts what they should or should not do?"

Reaction, according to Dale, has been overwhelming positive.

"Literally hundreds of people have called or stopped me when I'm out in public and told me they think I did the right thing," Dale said.

Quail said the United Way always tries to acquire new donors during its annual campaigns, so he is unsure what affect the city of Sanford withdrawal will have on overall fundraising.

"(The ban) is unfortunate because many times people get their information from these meetings," Quail said. "It hurts the education and information process."

Sanford City Commissioner Velma Williams said while she believed city employees "shouldn't be denied the right to have a payroll deduction to contribute to the United Way," she didn't feel comfortable discussing the issue.

"I haven't been involved in any formal discussion about the decision," Williams said. "I'm uncomfortable that we are embroiled in this controversy. As a commissioner, I don't think my role calls for me to be involved in this."

Dale said he made the decision to bar the United Way because the organization always came to him to conduct its campaign in City Hall.

"I didn't need permission from anyone to allow them to come in, so I didn't think I needed anyone's permission to keep them out," Dale said. He added that the City Commission would have the final decision. "Ultimately, the City Commission can decide to support United Way or not support United Way."

With the exception of Williams, at least two commissioners support Dale's decision.

"The employees can still contribute to the United Way," said Commissioner Randy Jones.

"This doesn't prevent them from doing that. My feeling is the Boy Scouts have been around a long time, and their policies are their policies. If someone doesn't agree with them, they don't have to join the Scouts. There's other activities for them to be involved with."

Commissioner Brady Lessard said he believed the United Way could hurt its fund-raising efforts in the future.

"I think the United Way made a terrible decision," Lessard said. "The Boy Scouts have the right to set their own policies, and for the United Way to try to circumvent that will be disastrous to that organization."

Peterson

from Minnesota, attended the Golden Age Games this year to watch her race. Jim, who is 60, even borrowed a bike from his mother's choir director to race in his age group's 5K.

"I wanted to participate this year as a family," Mari-Henri Peterson said. "I've been begging Jim to do it for several years."

Barb Peterson said she is very proud of her mother-in-law's accomplishments.

"These women who raced today have overcome great odds to be here," she said. "Think of all the women their age who aren't here."

For many years, Peterson's goal has been to race when she is 90. With only one more year to go, she — and her family — aspires for more.

"I think she should do it until she creates a new age category," Barb Peterson said. "I think they should have a 100-104 age group."

Mari-Henri Peterson said she will continue riding as long as it's possible. She enjoys it, and each time she gets on her bicycle, it brings back memories of the conversation she had with her husband 18 years ago.

"My husband died 10 years ago, but I think of him whenever I race," she said. "It brings back good memories."

"But, when someone asks me why I do it, I can't really put it into words," she said. "It's the challenge, and I love it."

Rail

commission's position that the amendment would create an unfunded mandate that would immediately and permanently affect 10 years of previous transportation planning and negatively impact the Governor's use of discretionary transportation dollars.

Additionally," explained Marino, "The board is concerned that the normal planning process for such a transportation project has been bypassed, and does not believe it is appropriate to advance this particular project with a Constitutional Amendment."

Central to Seminole County Commissioners' opposition is the fact funds totaling millions and millions would be diverted from current and planned projects in order to build a high speed rail infrastructure and system.

"Many local governments likewise opposing this amendment are more concerned about projects already on the board for road widening, bridge building—we're interested in quality of life issues that we all have to deal with on a day-to-day basis," Marino said.

Pointing to the fact Seminole County belongs to Metro Plan Orlando, the guiding mechanism and planning system for identifying and prioritizing specific Central Florida road projects, Marino said many local governments feel the amendment made it to the ballot in a circumvented way. The initiative has been spearheaded primarily by business interests in the Lakeland area.

"Local governments are just saying, hey, we disagree that supporters of this amendment have gone around the formal process."

Marino said if money is diverted from earmarked local projects to fund the high speed rail program, Seminole County would feel an immediate impact.

"When we talk about quality of life issues dealing with getting people to and from work in a quick and safe manner, and just getting around period, we would see an immediate impact."

Marino pointed to construction of a new I-4 bridge improving access between Volusia and Seminole Counties, and lane expansion of normally gridlocked I-4 as examples of planned projects that would be negatively impacted.

He said he sees high speed rail playing a role in a multi-dimensional transportation system in the future, but not right now.

"We have a 10 year plan and a 20 year plan. Our board and others know there are only so many dollars to go around to fix the issues we are dealing with today."

Last year Orange County voters shot down proposed funding for high speed rail projects designed more to transport tourists along International Drive and other tourist corridors than to alleviate gridlock problems encountered daily by residents who commute in the tri-county area of Orange, Seminole and Volusia counties.

Geneva mini-bike facility dedicated to Mark Schmidt

By Nick Pfeiffaut
Staff Writer

A mini-bike riding facility was dedicated Saturday, Oct. 21. The facility is located at the entrance to the Seminole County Landfill on Osceola Road, just north of Geneva.

The Seminole County Sheriff's Office and Killamey Outreach NYPUM (National Youth Project Using Mini-bikes) Programs sponsored the event.

The facility will be used as a mini-bike riding area for youngsters, mostly of Middle School age. Seminole County Sheriff's Office Public Information Officer Steve Olson said youngsters will be given goals in education, behavior and other requirements, and those who meet those goals will be awarded with a certain amount of time which can be spent on the mini-bikes at the new facility. Olson added that some of the youngsters may even be considered "at-risk" students. "We think this will be a great incentive for improvements in our schools," he said.

The area has been named the Mark Schmidt (Memorial) Riding Facility.

Schmidt was killed in the crash of an experimental aircraft near Prairie Lake in Fern Park, on May 15.

Olson said Schmidt, 42, who had owned Seminole Power Sports in the Five Points area, often assisted the sheriff's department in needs for special equipment, especially for patrolling area lakes and rivers. He also helped the Seminole Department of Public Safety and police departments in Casselberry, Maitland, Altamonte Springs and Longwood.

He was said to be instrumental in starting the NYPUM in Seminole County in 1998. Since that time, dozens of youth have received services from the program, through the efforts of Mark Schmidt, Seminole Power Seminole County Sheriff Don Eslinger and Gayle Schmidt dedicate a new mini-bike riding facility in Geneva. Schmidt's husband, Mark, was killed in an airplane crash earlier this year. He had been a long-time supporter of the sheriff's office and youth programs to deter kids from crime.

Sports, Seminole County Board of Commissioners, Seminole County School Board, Seminole County Sheriff's Office and other community supporters.

A memorial motorcycle road ride was held at 10 a.m., beginning at the First Baptist Church of Geneva and proceeding to the ceremony at the riding facility. Members of the American Honda Motor Corporation, local officials, and members of Mark Schmidt's family were on hand. The official marker was unveiled and dedicated at noon.

The event was followed by a barbecue held at the church.

 meet future customer growth. "We're all working at once and doing our best to coordinate activities in an attempt to minimize impact on drivers and nearby residences and businesses. Once the road work is complete, traffic should flow smoother," said Kennedy. "Repowering" means replacing the 1970's power plant technology with state-of-the-art combined-cycle technology using natural gas instead of oil.

The project will double the generating capacity of the existing facility without requiring additional land to meet the growing electricity needs of FPL's customers in Central Florida. Repowering will expand the plant's current capability of providing electricity for about 220,000 homes and businesses to serve over 486,000 homes and businesses. Construction started in February and the project is expected to be in operation by 2003.

Lake Mary Chamber hosts 10th annual Fantasy Night

From Staff Reports

The Seminole County/Lake Mary Regional Chamber of Commerce will hold the 10th annual Fantasy Night Silent Auction on Friday, Nov. 3. The event will be held at Shriners Auditorium in Maitland. "This year will mark a first for us," said Chamber Executive Director Diane Parker. "This is the first year we will host the auction as the newly expanded Seminole County/Lake Mary

Chamber of Commerce, which means more items for bid and more fun." She continued, "Fantasy Night has seen a natural evolution, becoming one of the chamber's most popular fundraising events. Everyone gets a kick out of bidding the array of grand and unique items that just aren't available in any other venue. This event represents this chamber well in that our members contribute their very best services and products for auction as a way to support the community in a positive way." Among items listed are luxurious vacations, glittering gemstones, special spa treatments, golf outings, and wonderful wines. Other items include a 1.2 carat baguette diamond band worth nearly $2,000, a 12-foot sailboat, weekend retreat aboard a Featherlite Coach tour bus, a $1,500 scholarship to Barbizon of Orlando, home furnishings by Thomas W. Ruff and others. Additionally, a silent auction will be held at the event which will include a myriad of items. Carrabba's Italian Grill will provide heavy hors d'oeuvres, while Candlelight Catering will provide desserts. Coffee will be provided by Fresh Brew. Tickets are available for $10 in advance, $15 at the door. Part of the event proceeds will go to Habitat for Humanity for Seminole County. For additional information regarding Fantasy Night, contact the Seminole/Lake Mary Chamber of Commerce at 407-834-4404.

Metroplan Orlando plans transportation meeting planned

By Nick Pfieauf Staff Writer

Metroplan Orlando asks, "Is traffic bad in Central Florida?" For many motorists, there is no doubt the answer would be "yes." Exactly how people feel about the problem however, is the topic of a special meeting scheduled for Lake Mary High School auditorium on Monday, Nov. 13. The meeting is scheduled to begin at 6 p.m., but maps will be available for review beginning at 5:30 p.m. According to Metroplan Orlando, 67 percent of Central Florida residents consider transportation to be the most important issue facing the region. Unfortunately, all indicators point to even more traffic in the future. To compound the problem, the total cost of needed improvements far exceeds projected revenue. In fact, Central Florida is now faced with a $5.2 billion transportation funding shortfall. In 1995, Metroplan Orlando, the transportation planning organization for Orange, Seminole and Osceola Counties, developed the 2020 Long Range Transportation Plan (L RTP). The L RTP outlined improvements that needed to be made over the next 25 years. It was not a wish list, but rather a plan of critical projects that were necessary to maintain the level or mobility that existed in 1995. With the $5.2 billion funding shortfall however, the entire plan cannot be implemented. In order to make the L RTP financially feasible, Metroplan Orlando is currently updating the plan. The projects within the plan are being reexamined and prioritized to determine which improvements might need to be cut. Every improvement in the L RTP is desperately needed and cutting projects will not be an easy task. Five public hearings, including the first one in Lake Mary, are scheduled for November to give citizens an opportunity to help determine which projects are to be removed from the plan. Difficult decisions must be made - decisions that will impact the entire region. For additional information, phone Metroplan Orlando at 407-481-5672.

LIFE STYLE

Lesson turns student's fear into some fun

DEAR ABBY: My wife, our 7-year-old daughter, Silvia, and I arrived in Los Angeles in June 1965. At the time, Silvia had less than three months of first grade and didn't speak a word of English. We enrolled her in elementary school in Alhambra, Calif., where she was placed in a class taught by an older, conservative teacher who had little patience. The teacher would yell at Silvia for not understanding English.

As you can imagine, taking Silvia to school each day became a Greek tragedy. She would cry from the time she got into the car and continued as she walked through the school's gates. She also cried at home. Fortunately, our daughter was transferred into another class that was taught by a younger teacher, Miss Luke. Miss Luke didn't understand a word of Spanish, but she would wait at the gate for our arrival in the morning, take Silvia's hand and walk with her all the way to the classroom. She spoke English to her in the most loving way, in a sweet, soft voice. Within a week, our daughter was actually happy to be going to school. In a month, she was speaking with her new friends in English!

Miss Luke eventually married and became Mrs. Mertha. If she reads this, we want her to know that Silvia, who showed talent for both writing and art, decided to follow in her footsteps and become a teacher like her. Although Silvia has been offered higher administrative positions, she's decided to remain in the classroom with her "little ones."

Bless you, Mrs. Mertha. You are living proof that bureaucratic laws are not a substitute for love and affection.

RUDOLPH SPADANO, HACIENDA HEIGHTS, CALIF.

DEAR RUDOLPH: Thank you for sharing the touching story about a significant chapter in your daughter's life. It teaches two lessons — that a dedicated teacher can make a profound difference in a child's life, and that it's not only what you say, but also how you say it that conveys a message.

Black Heritage Trail Tour rich in area history

The Black Heritage Trail Tour held recently presented a great deal of history of the City of Sanford and the history of the black community. The bus tour was taken by more than 40 educators and citizens. Some remarked they had no idea that Sanford was so rich in black history.

Marva Hawkins

Tour guide for the trip was Patricia Whatley, who organizes and schedules this tour every two weeks. You may call Tajiri School of Performing Arts and Academics at 407-324-9140 for general information on the tour dates.

In the photo, the group is shown as they hear retired educator and tour historian Juanita Graham Harold give the history of the newly remodeled old Hopper Elementary School Center which was built in the early 1900's, and other African American Culture sites. A must see on the tour.

Family and friends gathered together Saturday evening, Oct. 28 at the Sanford Chamber of Commerce to wish a Halloween birthday boy, Rufus L. McClain a 39-plus happy birthday. The grand surprise was given by his daughter Stephene McClain Littles and all of his children and family members. It made for an evening full of surprises for this grand ole' gentleman. Many more of these happy birthdays are wished Mr. Rufus. Thanks to all who made for a great day. Special entertainment was the Passion Mime Boys.

Grace Apostolic Temple, Inc., in association with the Seminole High School African American United, presents Holy Humor IV, "Off the Hook, Laugh Jam" featuring Passion Mime Boys, Robert Snell, comedian Red Z, and the Seminole High School Gospel Choir, Friday, Nov. 3 at 7 p.m. at the Seminole High School Auditorium. Admission is an $8 donation, or $10 at the door. For tickets see Bethel Bible Book store, or phone 407-321-3228 or 407-981-8371.

Looking for those early Xmas gifts? It's a yard sale and fish fry at the site of Evergreen Temple No. 321, IBPO Elks, Saturday, Nov. 4, from 8 a.m. to 3 p.m., at the Elks Lodge, 619 Cypress Avenue. Come and get the hot fried fish, baked beans, potato salad and bread. Call 407-322-3291 or 407-323-6998 for information. Sylvia Bodison, daughter Ruler.

Saturday, Nov. 4 at 9 a.m. at Hamilton Elementary School Cafeterium, 1501 East 8th Street, is the annual Prayer Breakfast sponsored by the Christian Education Committee of St. Paul Baptist Church, Rev. Albert Covington, pastor. This breakfast is held yearly to benefit the Rev. Castle Brewer Scholarship Fund for deserving students of Seminole County School. Tickets are $7. Last call for tickets at the church office, 407-323-1601, or Alterese Bentley at 407-322-

Exotic leafminer detrimental to Florida's citrus crops

This citrus leafminer was reported for the first time in South Florida in the spring of 1993. In one year it invaded all the citrus producing areas of Florida and was also detected in Alabama, Louisiana and Texas. Many countries in the Caribbean region have also reported this insect problem.

Al Ferrer

The Insect
The citrus leafminer is a small nocturnal moth, measuring less than 5 mm in length. Adults are most often found during daylight hours on undersides of leaves in the interior or canopy of citrus trees. They laid a single, tiny, translucent egg on the leaf surface on newly growing citrus leaf. Female leafminers may lay as many as 50 eggs during a lifetime. A majority of eggs are laid on the underside of the leaf, often located in proximity to veins. Hatching larvae bores through the leaf tissue and begins feeding on the surface layer of cells. Mines normally remain restricted to the leaf surface cells and do not penetrate to the spongy tissue below. The larva pupates inside the mine and the adult emerges in a few days. Under ideal conditions, the entire life cycle, from egg to adult can be completed in 14 days.

Damage
Citrus leafminer can occur on new flush throughout the growing season but typically affects little of the important spring flush. Since subsequent flushes do not account for significant portions of the total leaf crop on mature trees, its damage generally does not affect much of the growth and yield on trees five years or older. Young twigs or fruits are not often affected by the citrus leafminer.

Biological control
In Florida, some "native" parasites have been found to attack the citrus leafminer. In some cases up to 50 percent of parasitism by these insects have been observed. These native parasites apparently are most effective during mid-summer and fall.

Imported parasites have been released by the University of Florida into citrus groves with the purpose of increasing biological control of this insect. One of them is an internal parasite of the citrus leafminer. The parasite produces up to eight parasites in each host attacked.

From the information available to date the parasite has been found to be effective in controlling the citrus leafminer; in some cases reaching 90 percent or more of control.

Because parasitic insects are an important factor in the reduction of this citrus pest under field conditions, the use of broad-spectrum insecticides should be avoided, to protect these parasites from being killed.

Cultural Practices
Citrus leafminer infestations are lowest in the spring. It is recommended that fertilization should be used to promote a rapid growth of spring flush. Irrigation and fertilization should be initiated in early to mid January, slightly in advance of the anticipated spring flush. Since populations in summer and fall are generally high, it is recommended to reduce fertilizer and irrigation practices during this period to decrease damage of the leafminer.

Chemical Control
The use of petroleum oil and a growth regulator called azadirachtin were found to be effective in the control of this insect. The standard recommendation for homeowners is the use of an oil spray at a rate of 1-2 tablespoons per gallon of water. Two applications spaced 10-14 days apart is required to protect a flush cycle. This will not give 100 percent control under heavy pressure but it should keep the trees functioning until biological controls become established in the area. Use oil sprays with precaution since high temperatures may induce some toxicity. Trees less than 5 years old will require more protection than trees 5 years or older.

Oviedo homecoming events begin next week

From staff reports
OVIEDO — Even though a full week of activities have been planned for Oviedo High School Homecoming, action is already underway. The official homecoming will be Nov. 6 through 11. Tickets will be on sale for the event beginning Oct. 23 during lunch in the commons. Tickets will be available through Nov. 10. Nominations for homecoming court have already been gathered earlier this month, with voting for the court now underway in English classes. The court will be officially announced at the Pep Rally on Friday, Oct. 27. A door-decorating contest between Third Period classes will also be held. Decorations may be done until Nov. 6, and judging will be done on the 10th. Saturday, Nov. 11 from 8 p.m. until midnight, it's the homecoming dance in the Commons with this year's theme, A Night in Camelot." For additional information regarding this homecoming celebration, phone 407-320-4199.

FWC to honor all disability licenses

A change in the disability license law earlier this year has caused problems for some disabled individuals trying to obtain hunting permits, but the Florida Fish and Wildlife Conservation Commission (FWC) has found a way to fix things.

Shupe Outdoors

The FWC will honor both new and recently expired disability licenses this hunting season.

"Some individuals who qualified for free disability licenses under the old law learned their licenses were no longer valid under the new law, and they didn't have ample time to renew their licenses in time to apply for wildlife management areas quota permits," said Eddie White, the FWC's quota hunt coordinator.

"We recognize the timing of the new law placed these people in an impossible situation. This decision will enable everyone with disability licenses to hunt this season as in years past."

The revised law, which took effect July 1, changed the criteria for individuals to obtain a disability hunting and fishing license. Under the new law, individuals must be certified as totally and permanently disabled by the United States Veterans Administration, United States Armed Forces, Florida Department of Veterans Affairs, or be certified as disabled by the United States Social Security Administration. The law also invalidated all disability licenses issued before July 1, 1997.

"By June 1, 2001, all disability license holders will need to be in compliance," White said.

SHUPE'S SCOOP

Soon passing cold fronts will have a dramatic impact upon fishing conditions. The best fishing takes place a few days before or after the passage of a front. The worst fishing is during or immediately after a cold front hits.

FISHING FORECAST

River action is getting better by the day. Low water levels and cooler air temperatures are causing bass to be more active. Look for irregular features to hold river bass. Deep banks, sand bars, creek mouths, and bends will all hold bass. Shiners will consistently take the larger fish this time of year.

Sebastian Inlet has good action with snook, redfish, trout and flounder. Large live shrimp or small baitfish work well for all species.

Captain lack at Port Canaveral reports that seas have been really high and virtually no boats have ventured offshore. Inside the Port, a few snook, sheepshead and flounder round out the action. Trout

Raiders, Steelers wrap up perfect seasons

By Dean Smith

SANFORD — The Steelers rolled to another pair of easy victories, while the Raiders had to withstand a scare in the final week to finish off unbeaten seasons in the City of Sanford Recreation and Parks Department 2000 Youth Flag Football League.

Both teams had clinched their respective division titles, the Raiders in the Minors (7-to-9 year olds) and the Steelers (10-to-12 year olds) in the Majors, with relatively easy wins on October 21st, and then closed out the regular season last Saturday on the field across from Sanford Middle School last Saturday.

The Raiders and Steelers will now face the Altamonte Springs League Champions on Friday, November 17th, at a time and place to be determined. In the Minor Division, the Raiders whipped the Gators, 19-7, on October 21st, to clinch the crown, but struggled to get past the Bengals, 13-12, this past Saturday.

In the other games, the Bengals nipped the Jaguars, 14-12, on Oct. 21st, then got a 7-0 "freebie" from the Gators this week.

In the Major Division, the Jaguars saw their title hopes melt when they lost a 13-12 decision to the Rattlers on Oct. 21st, and the Steelers ended all doubt when they whipped the winless Redskins, 33-6.

This past Saturday, the Steelers closed out the season with a 13-0 whitewashing of the Jaguars and the Rattlers moved into a tie for second place with their second consecutive 13-12 victory, this time over the Redskins.

The final standings are: In the Minor Division — the Raiders (6-0), the Gators (4-2), the Bengals (2-4) and See Flag, Page 3B

SANFORD — After graduating a majority of their starting lineups from highly successful 1999-2000 teams, this year's Seminole Community College basketball season figured to be a rebuilding year for coaches Ken Patrick and Stan Cromartie.

And while both teams will feature a lot of inexperienced freshmen, if a look at the rosters and their play in preseason scrimmages are any indication, the 2000-2001 will feature a reloaded Raiders program, not a rebuilding one.

Cromartie, who is beginning his third season at the helm of the revamped men's program, figures to have the biggest job after losing two-year starters Lonnie Battle, Daryl Dingle and Joe Edwards, as well as Eric Walker and Mario Scott, who split starting assignments most of last year, and part-time starter Robbie Shapiro from Lake Mary.

All six were offered scholarships with only Shapiro deciding to remain at home.

But with returning starter Matt Story (6-foot-5 shooting guard from Sarasota) and top reserve Chris Calderon (a 6-foot-6 leaper from Apopka) returning as a nucleus, along with 6-foot-2 sophomore point guard Walter Green from Tallahassee, who transferred to SCC from Central Michigan last year but had to set out the season after being injured in an automobile accident, to form the nucleus, Cromartie is optimistic of a good season.

But what is really impressive about the men's team is the size of the new players.

Starting with the South Carolina duo of 6-foot-10 Che Morgan (Travelers Rest) and 6-foot-9 Cedric McHaney (Iva) and 6-foot-7 Tim Morrison from Sarasota, the Raiders will have one of their tallest rosters in year's.

Also on the 14-player roster are 6-foot-6 Jontue Johnson (Atlanta, Ga.), the 6-foot-5 trio of Rodrick Henry (Orlando), Curtis Dallas (Orlando) and Joe Williams (Deltona), 6-foot-4 Jason Currington (Leesburg), 6-foot-2 Josh Houston (Winter Park), 6-foot Antwain Tennell (Jacksonville) and 5-foot-11 Dennis Williams (Orlando).

Cromartie will also have Orlando Magic veteran Greg Kite back as his chief assistant, along with new assistant Levi Cobb.

The men will be tested right off the bat as they will open the season tonight against defending state champion Brevard Community College from Cocoa.

The game will be played at home at the Health and Physical Education Center starting at 7:30 p.m. and as usual, admission will be free.

The men will also be at home on Saturday, hosting Hillsborough Community College from Tampa starting at 7:30 p.m.

Patrick also suffered heavy graduation losses, seeing four starters, two part-time starters and an important reserve depart from a team that went 27-6 and an overtime loss to eventual state champion Gulf Coast in the semifinals.

The biggest losses are All-American Kaisa Tuure and 3-point specialist Sahu Raimasalo, both of whom are now on scholarship at Stetson University, and jet-quick point guard Mevett Wooley.

The Raiders also lost a potential superstar when 6-foot-2 Kristi Jones, the 1999 West Virginia Player of the Year, and a top reserve last year for SCC, was killed in an automobile See SCC, Page 3B

The Seminole Community College men's basketball team of head coach Stan Cromartie (top) will open the 2000-2001 season with home games tonight (Wednesday) and Saturday (Nov. 4) at 7:30 p.m., while coach Ken Patrick's women's team (bottom) will begin with road games on Thursday and Saturday. Admission to home games is free.

KITTLESON SURVIVES SPEEDWORLD SUPER LATE MODELS

By Dave Westerman
Special to the Herald

BITHLO — Current Points leader Travis Kittleson had a little luck go his way in winning Friday night's 25-lap Super Late Model event at Orlando Speedworld.

Heat Race winner Justin Drawdy had the pole with Bill Pratt outside of him and the two raced that way for 3/4 of a lap before bumping together in turn four.

Kittleson barely squeezed by the spinning duo as the caution flew. Pratt and Drawdy pitted with only Pratt able to continue although the damage forced him to finally park his mount for the night a few laps later.

Kittleson dominated the remainder of the event. A slowdown near midrace for a problem with Eddie King's car was the only thing to slow Kittleson's run to the checker. Tom Root had a great car and was running third but was forced from the race with an oil leak. Rusty Ebersole trailed Kittleson to the stripe followed by David Hart, David King and Perry Lovelady.

It was Kittleson's eighth win of the season. Jason Boyd captured win number 13 in the Modifieds leading flag to flag. Action was halted on lap three for a hard crash on the frontstretch involving John Wills and "Hoot" Flynn. Neither driver was hurt but both were done for the evening. With two laps to go, third-running Wayne Parker blew a rear tire and was also forced to the sidelines.

Frank Polly drove a great race to end up second behind Boyd. John Foerg was third over Shane Held and Skip Honaker.

After six laps of side by side racing, it was Rich Clouser who finally came out on top of the Sportsman main over Richard Hight, Kelly Jarrett, Mark Griffin and Jeff Wright rounded out the top five.

The Dwarf Cars were back and with a starting field of 24; the action was wild. Mark Landis led most of the way topping his brother George Landis for the win. Series Champion Michel Fortin came home third in front of Brian Paradis and Don Hess. Rick Lundeen, Alain Paradis, Dan Berry, Marc Andre Gagnon and Yves Langrois rounded out the top 10.

After rebuilding his car from a bad crash the week before, Duane Freed ran away from the Super Stock field outrunning Homer Gordon, Bob Wines, Rob Watford and Charles Fry.

Kenny Hankins took his tenth Mini-Stock win in dominating fashion over Geoff Williams, Gary Green, Rose Dickerson and Jeff Davls.

This Friday (Nov. 3) a Super Stock Special will be run and the Allison Legacy Cars will also make a special appearance plus Heats and Features in Super Late Model, Modified, Sportsman, Mini Stock & Strickly Stock. No Late Models this week.

Gates open a 6 p.m. and racing begins at 8 p.m. every Friday night at the track located 17 miles east of Orlando between Orlando and Titusville on Highway 50 at the 520 Cocoa Cutoff.

BOYD WINS AT NEW SMYRNA

By Hank Sanders
Special to the Herald

SAMSULA — Jason Boyd driving the #15 Boyd Racing Engines Chevy qualified on the pole, charged to the front, and held off a furious run by Scott Bramlett #26 to get the win in the Country 93.1 Late Model 100 Lap feature at New Smyrna Speedway last Saturday night.

A good field of cars were on hand to challenge Boyd, but several fast cars fell out early including Chris Lawrence and Randy Dye. Boyd took the lead from David Logan on lap 21, but it was Scott Bramlett in Murphy's #26 that looked like the car that might challenge the #15.

Scott got under Jason on lap #71, but lost it and had to go to the back. After the last restart on lap #81, Boyd never looked back and got the win over the #17 SARA car of Scott Crossey, third went to the #27 of Richard Baer of Miami, fourth was points leader Mike Williams in the Sears' #9 and David Logan put the #1 car fifth.

Mike Williams clinched the points battle and is the 2000 Country 93.1 Champion.

When Jerry Symons' #66 modified takes the grid, most agree he will be the car to beat. Wayne Parker drove the #3 Cadillac for all it had, but had to settle for second to Symons super fast black Lefthander.

The third spot eventually went to the #16 of Justin Henderson, and Joe Middleton put the #71 in fourth. The #70 Dodge Daytona of Dave Saviki was paid for fifth.

It was the #55 Ford Probe of Rick "Concrete" Tumej who dominated the Mini-Stock field. He drove to victory over the #64 of Mark Riggsby. The third spot was filled in by St. Pete native Tim McPhail driving the white #30 Missile. Jamie McCague's #8 slipped past JD Duncan's #37 for fourth.

The Sportsman feature saw some controversy surrounding the first time win of Steve Redditt in the #1 blue Pontiac Gran Prix. Doug Samion in the #04 Rinaldi's Air car tried every line he could to get around Redditt, but couldn't pass.

Both Redditt and Samian ended up in victory lane for a heated discussion with the flagman about a restart where Samian had taken the lead, but was called back.

Redditt was eventually credited with the win. Samion was paid for 2nd, third went to John Nusbaum in the hot, black #70 (a nice guy that needs sponsor help), Kevin Hawkinberry placed the #80 in the fourth spot, Ron Lucy drove the #07 to a fifth place finish.

The real disappointment of the evening was the absence of the 0-no car. He was sorely missed by his many fans.

Jim Winterstein's #13 Olds is the fastest SuperStock at NSS. We can say whatever we want, but this car is the car to beat every time.

Saturday night he embarrassed the Chevrolet field again by winning with a half track lead after lifting at the flag stand! The Wildman, Chris Peledat, in the #28 came home second, a career best. Teddy Helms was paid for 3rd in his Orange #61 Buick. Mike Soukup #45 ran fourth.

The Strictly Stock feature went to Richard Bolton in the #78 over Rod Moss, Chris Kirkgard and James Dyal.

This Saturday (Nov. 4) the Classic Cars will make a special appearance along with weekly heats and features in all divisions.

Gates open a 5 p.m. and racing begins at 7 p.m. every Saturday night at the track located at the corner of SR. 44 and CR 419, between New Smyrna, DeLand and Daytona.

Golf

The Bears and Tallahassee-Lincoln tied for third with 296 team totals.

Only the top two teams and individuals advance from the regional, so Mainland and DeLand will be the 2A-2 representatives at the State Tournament next Tuesday and Wednesday at Fairwinds Country Club in Ft. Pierce.

The results of the regional pretty much mirrored the Class 2A-District 4 Tournament at the LPGA Champions Course in Daytona Beach last week.

Mainland (297) was first over DeLand (319) and Winter Springs (325) with Gomes and Manning tying for Medalist honors with 73's on the Par 72 course.

The girls teams will get their chance today when they take to the Meadow Brook Golf Course in Gainesville for the Class 2A-Region II Tournament.

There is a 50-50 chance the Seminole Athletic Conference can get a team to the state as Oviedo (343) was crowned the champions last week at the Class 2A-District 4 Tournament held at Halifax Plantation in Daytona Beach and Lyman (373) claimed the fourth and final spot over Lake Mary (374), Lake Brantley (384) and Winter Springs (397).

Burnell-Flagler/Palm Coast and Seabreeze were the other two teams to qualify for today's regionals.

Lake Mary will be represented at the Regionals, however, as Andrea VanderLende was the low medalist at the districts, shooting an even-par 72.

the Jaguars (0-6). In the Major Division the Steelers (6-0), the Jaguars and the Rattlers (both 3-3) and the Redskins (0-6).

MINOR DIVISION

OCTOBER 21

RAIDERS 19, GATORS 7

Lenny Grace got the Raiders off to a good start when he sprinted in from 50-yards out to give the champs a 6-0 lead.

The Gators, though, had the answer as Luis Carasas ran 30 yards to set-up a 2-yard touchdown run by Clay Wyman and when Carasas added the extra points, the Gators led 7-6 at halftime.

But the Raiders were not ready to have their record blemished as they dominated the second half.

Grace scored the go-ahead touchdown on a 9-yard run and Roby Williams added the insurance with a 35-yard scoring jaunt. Williams also added the extra point after his long run to complete the scoring.

BENGALS 14, JAGUARS 12

The Bengals jumped out to a 14-0 lead on Richard Grey 7-yard run, extra point by Zachary O'Brien, and a 3-yard run by Josh Smith, extra point by Lenny Grace, but ended up having to hang on for dear life.

Mike Keller scored from 2-yards out for the Jaguars to cut the halftime lead to 14-6.

Darrel Taylor then scored the only points of the second half on a 5-yard run, but the 2-point conversion try failed and the Bengals hung on for the win.

OCTOBER 28

RAIDERS 13, BENGALS 12

Josh Smith opened the scoring with a 3-yard center break for the Bengals before Roby Williams tied the game for the Raiders with a 2-yard run and Lenny Grace added the go-ahead extra point.

Richard Grey came back with a 22-yard scoring sprint to put the Bengals back on top, but again they missed the crucial extra point, leaving the score 12-7.

Grace then capped off his excellent season by scoring the winning touchdown on a 40-yard run for the Raiders.

MAJOR DIVISION

OCTOBER 21

RATTLERS 13, JAGUARS 12

The Rattlers appeared headed for an easy win as Travares McGill scored on a 12-yard run (extra point failed) and a 27-yard run followed by an extra point run by Jose Mendez to make the score 13-0 at halftime.

The Jaguars came out fired up in the second half, shutting down the Rattlers offense, and scored on a 27-yard Michael Lowery pass from Lorimel Rivera and on a Lowery 70-yard interception return. But after both scores the extra point try failed, allowing the Rattlers to hang on for the win.

STEELERS 13, REDSKINS 6

Robbie Engroff intercepted a pass to set-up Dave Perdue's 2-yard run for the Steelers and the rout was on.

Myler Neal added the Steelers' second touchdown on a 13-yard run, and set-up Engroff's 17-yard touchdown reception from Glenn Lee with an interception. This time Perdue added the extra point making the score 19-0 at halftime.

Lee later hit George Easley with an 80-yard pass on the opening kickoff of the second half and the Steelers led 25-0.

The Redskins finally broke the ice, scoring on a 40-yard run by Zachary Richards, before Shawn Iblster completed the scoring by grabbing an 18-yard touchdown pass from Perdue.

OCTOBER 28

STEELERS 13, JAGUARS 0

Glenn Lee scored the game's first points on a 13-yard run and Dave Perdue added the extra point and Myler Neal completed the shutout with an 18-yard interception return.

RATTLERS 13, REDSKINS 12

Patrick Turner got the Rattlers going with a 6-yard pass, but the Redskins tied the score at 6-6 when Marvin Smith scampered in from 44-yards out.

Turner immediately put the Rattlers back ahead with a 44-yard kickoff return and Cody Morris added what proved to be the game-winning extra point.

Jose Melendez squelched one Redskins drive with an interception, but the Redskins had a chance to tie the game when Blair Lemon scored on a 27-yard run.

But again the extra point try was no good and the Rattlers earned their second consecutive win to finish the season at .500.

OPTIMIST CLUB HONOREES

The Optimist Club of Sanford recently honored Ebony Washington (top photo) of Seminole High School as its Student of the Month. Ebony was nominated for her willingness to "go the extra mile" in her student training role. Ebony was recently certified in adult CPR and First Aid, and was described as "the cream of the crop" by nominating teacher Sue Ellis. Ebony received her award from SHS Administrative Assistant and Optimist member John Cullum.

The Optimist Club of Sanford also named its first Athlete of the Week in Seminole High School bowler Derrick Hulme (bottom photo). In a match against Lake Brantley, Derrick took all of his games including the last game with a brilliant 257. Derrick's series was a school record of 730. His other two games were a second 257 and 216. Derrick receives commendations from SHS Administrative Assistant and Optimist member John Cullum.

But Patrick and top assistant and defensive specialist Tony Mandeville beat the bushes and came up with 10 excellent freshmen and two transfers to go along with returners Sheketa "Kiki" Kindred and Sue Gyarfas.

Kindred is 5-foot-10 forward/guard from Douglasville, Ga. who was the top player off Patrick's bench last year and figures to step into a leadership role this season.

Gyarfas is the 6-foot-9 center from Budapest, Hungary who turned a lot of heads last year with her shooting and shot-blocking ability.

The Raiders thought they had a good bookend to go along with Gyarfas when they signed 6-foot-4 Yelena Leuchanka from Gomel, Belarus, but she has decided to red-shirt this season to concentrate on improving her english.

That loss leaves Gyarfas as one of only three players over 6-foot tall, along with 6-foot freshmen Linda Cazeau from Eustis and Brandi Davis from Bushnell, which has forced Patrick, Mandeville, assistant coach Frederick Martinez and new assistant Cindy Martin to go to a more defensive and transition style of play.

The transfer is 5-foot-7 Renee

Murphy from Lithonia, Ga. who figures to give SCC strength on the front line.

The top freshmen in the pre-season have been 5-foot-10 Yolanda Johnson from Braddock, Pa., 5-foot-11 Gabrielle Blankfeld from Naperville, Ill., and 5-foot-5 point guard Narumul Berggren from Stockholm, Sweden.

Other newcomers include 5-foot-7 Shannon Cotton from Oviedo, 5-foot-8 Erin Bradshaw from St. Cloud, 5-foot-5 Sheri Harrison from West Hempstead, N.Y., and 5-foot-5 Katrina Morame from Bradenton.

This team is extremely quick and deep, but to reach the heights the squad has attained the past three seasons the team will have to mature in a hurry as 13 teams that were ranked in the top 20 in the nation last year are on the schedule and the 8-team SCC/Winn Dixie Shootout, arguably the top in-season tournament in the country, will be held the final three days of 2000.

The women will also have to start with five road games before playing at home for the first time on Tuesday, November 14th against Abraham-Baldwin Agricultural College from Tifton, Ga.

The first two road games will be at Indian River Community College in Ft. Pierce at 6 p.m. on Thursday and at Tallahassee Community College at 2 p.m. on Saturday.

The team looked good in its final preseason game on Saturday, rolling over NAIA Flagler College from St. Augustine, 86-67. Kindred and Blankfeld led the way with 15 points each, while Gyarfas added 13, Johnson 12 and Murphy 11.

Martin joins the SCC women's program to begin her second year of collegiate coaching and recruiting.

She was a four-year varsity letter winner at Bishop Kenny High School in Jacksonville, playing on back-to-back state championship teams.

After graduation she went to Flagler College and was all-region/all-conference for two years before transferring to the University of Florida and playing on a team that reached the Sweet 16 of the NCAA Division I Tournament.

As a fifth-year senior at Florida, she was a varsity assistant and junior varsity head coach at P.K. Yonge High School in Gainesville and upon graduating from UF (with a degree in Exercise and Sport Sciences) served as assistant coach/recruiting coordinator at Santa Fe Community College in Gainesville before moving over to SCC this year.
