County Delays Old Hospital Renovation Meeting

By MICHAEL BEHA
Herald Staff Writer

A Seminole County commission work session on plans to renovate the old Seminole Memorial Hospital and the county courthouse has been postponed. The work session, which had been scheduled for Tuesday at 2 p.m., was postponed "for lack of information," said John Percy, director of public services and development.

Percy and Acting County

Administrator Jim Easton were meeting today to go over plans from Walter H. Sobel & Associates of Chicago. A plan was submitted by Sobel last week but Easton asked for more information. That information arrived today.

"We wanted to know where the offices would be and what Sobel's reasoning was," Easton said. He explained that the report submitted by Sobel contained some sketches of where offices should be located within the building but gave none of the information used to make the decisions on their placement.

Commissioners have been waiting nearly a month for the Sobel report. Sobel, the county's space consultant, is overseeing the renovation of the hospital and courthouse and the relocation of offices currently using the courthouse.

Commissioners had set an April 1 deadline for moving their offices, staff agencies and constitutional officers into the old hospital. But last week, Charles Braun, vice president of Helman, Hurley, Charvat, Peacock-Architects, said a mid-summer moving date was more probable.

Braun said an exact timetable could not be established until his firm has a chance to examine the contents of Sobel's report.

Easton said some of the information in the Sobel report could help the architect expedite the project. Sobel already has calculated the amount of space necessary for each office through the year 2000.

In the county's plan for construction, when the county officials leave the courthouse, that building will be renovated for use by the circuit and county courts.

Plans also call for construction of an additional office building on the south side of the courthouse to house the constitutional officers.

Commissioners also are expected to act Tuesday on proposals to purchase land adjacent to their Five Points complex for construction of an administration center and land near Zayre's on Airport Boulevard in Sanford for development of a health clinic.

The Winter Park architect also will handle the design work for construction of those facilities. That construction is projected to continue through the next 10 years.

Murder Case Selection Of Jury Begins

The jury was being selected today in the murder trial of 23-year-old Susie Mae Davis, charged in the shooting death of her boyfriend at a Sanford construction site.

Miss Davis of 1410 Williams Ave. was indicted by a grand jury in September in the shooting death of Byron L. Brooks of Lake Mary.

Testimony is expected to begin Tuesday in the case.

Assistant State Attorney Don Marblestone said he will not seek the death penalty in the case. If convicted, Miss Davis would have to spend 25 years in prison before she is eligible for parole.

Miss Davis is being represented by the public defender's office.

Seminole Circuit Court Judge Kenneth M. Leffler is presiding in the trial.

Brooks was working at the Sanford Landings apartment construction site on West First Street the morning of Aug. 24 when a woman drove her car to the site, parked it and walked up to him.

After a discussion, the woman returned to her car, pulled out a .22-caliber pistol and shot Brooks as he tried to run away, police said. As Brooks ran away the woman followed, yelling "he lied on me" shooting three more bullets into him.

The attack sent Brooks' co-workers scurrying for cover but one quick-thinking worker chased the woman down in his truck, ramming it into her car as she drove out of the construction site.

Keith King, 39, of Lake Mary, a crew foreman, held a gun on the woman until police arrived at the scene.

Police said the shooting was the result of an apparent lovers' quarrel between Brooks and Miss Davis. They had been living together until two days before the shooting when he moved out of their house. No reason for Brooks' decision to move out of the house was given and police said they don't know what prompted the shooting. — MICHAEL BEHA

FIRST FOR 1983

Although little Christopher James Wise wasn't born until Jan. 2, he is the first baby born in 1983 at Central Florida Regional Hospital in Sanford and is the first child of Barbara and James Wise, of 110 W. Airport Blvd. in Sanford. The 6-pound, 12-ounce boy was royally welcomed by all, including his grandmother, Evelyn Wise, who is a nurse in the obstetric department at the hospital. Christopher was born at 6:11 a.m. Sunday. The first Seminole County couple to enjoy the birth of their child in 1983 were Ann and Don Deal of Altamonte Springs. Their daughter, Lindsey Marie Deal, arrived at 12:03 a.m. Saturday at Orlando General Hospital. She weighed 8 pounds and 1½ ounces.

If FRS Killed

County, Cities To Lose Over $2 Million

By DONNA ESTES
Herald Staff Writer

Seminole County and its seven cities will lose more than $2 million in revenues if the promised death of the federal revenue sharing program comes to pass this year.

And the action recommended to allay that happening is an intense lobbying of congressman and U.S. senators to keep the money return from the federal coffers going.

Both Sanford City Manager W. E. "Pete" Knowles and Altamonte Springs City Manager Jeff Etchberger are suggesting that route.

"Some personal contact ought to be made by the elected heads of local government with the elected members of Congress and the U.S. Senate, urging they give their interest, consideration and support to continuing the federal revenue sharing program," Knowles said.

And Etchberger added that the Florida League of Cities has laid out a program of explaining the importance of the program to the community and the members of the congressional delegation from Florida.

"We succeeded the last time and I hope we will be successful this time," Etchberger said. FLC Chairman Ray Sittig noted that cities across the nation were successful in gaining support in 1976 and again in 1980 when it was in jeopardy of dying.

"Now is the time for city officials to begin their lobbying activities to help assure re-enactment," Sittig said.

In letters to the cities of the state, Sittig said the budget process is already underway with the preparation of the administration's 1984 fiscal year budget. "It is essential that the president's budget contain a request for funding of the revenue sharing program."

The budget is to be submitted to Congress this month. "If the budget contains funding for revenue sharing, the president will send Congress his proposed legislation to reauthorize the program in February or March," Sittig said.

In the past when the loss of federal revenue sharing funds was threatened, the cities and the county governments began limiting the use of the funds to capital outlay projects such as equipment for police and fire departments and road construction.

Etchberger noted that when he was the director of management and budget for the county, he urged that the funds be used in that fashion and has continued this philosophy in Altamonte Springs, so that the funds have little impact on service.

In the 1982-83 fiscal year, Seminole County governments anticipate the following revenues from the federal government through this program:

- Seminole County Commission, $1,345,697;
- Sanford, $384,654;
- Altamonte, $152,717;
- Casselberry, $94,458;
- Longwood, $46,761;
- Winter Springs, $38,505;
- Oviedo, $17,530;
- Lake Mary, $13,152.

Knowles, noting the federal revenue sharing funds are budgeted in Sanford to assist in law enforcement, said if the federal money program is eliminated this year, the city would have to levy an additional tax of $1.62 per $1,000 assessed valuation of real property to take up the slack.

He said the major reason Sanford would be hurt so severely financially by loss of the federal money is that some 47 percent of the properties, within the city of Sanford are currently tax exempt.

This is due to the large number of government buildings in the county seat and because of tax exemption for fraternal, civic and church organizations and the $25,000 homestead exemption on real property. Knowles said he anticipated the value of tax exempt property will run over 50 percent in the 1983-84 fiscal year.

Among the courses which the Sanford City Commission could take to alleviate the problem, Knowles said, is to make sure the city doesn't annex any property of lower value and to concentrate annexations on property already developed or planned to be developed industrially, commercially or in apartments to get these lands and properties on the tax rolls.

The total of revenues to be received this year by the county and the seven cities is $2,093,474. If federal revenue sharing funds were lost the local governments here would have to levy these additional property taxes to make up the lost money: Seminole County, 41 cents per $1,000; Casselberry 42 cents; Altamonte 25 cents; Lake Mary 17 cents; Longwood 27 cents and Winter Springs 20 cents.

The key date to keep in mind, Sittig has advised the cities, is "May 15, the date by which the first budget resolution for fiscal year 1984 must be passed. Funds for general revenue sharing must be included in the first budget resolution to assure funding."

Homestead Ruling Costs Seminole $182 Million; Impact Weighed

Seminole Property Appraiser Bill Suber will report to the Council of Local Governments in Seminole County at a 7:30 p.m. meeting Wednesday on the impact on local government from the Florida Supreme Court's decision declaring unconstitutional the five-year residency requirements for $25,000 homestead exemption.

Suber said today the decision will remove $182 million in previously taxable property from the county tax rolls.

"I'm trying to compile statistics so that I can tell each city individually what its impact will be from the ruling," Suber said today.

Suber added that there was a lot of new construction in Seminole County in 1982, and that increase in value will probably balance out the losses in taxable property value.

The decision will give some 9,100 property owners in Seminole who previously could only claim a $5,000 homestead exemption from taxation, $20,000 additional to exempt from their property taxes levied by city and county government.

The Council of Local Governments, composed of representatives from each of the county's seven cities and the County Commission will meet at the Lake Mary City Hall, 158 N. Country Club Road.

County Commissioner Bill Kirchhoff is to replace Commission Chairman Sandra Glenn as the county's representative at this meeting.

Casselberry Mayor Owen Sheppard will be attending his final meeting as his city's representative. Beginning with the February meeting, Mayor Charles Glascock will represent Casselberry. — DONNA ESTES.

One Holiday Fatality, 16 DUIs

By VICTOR ASSERSON
Herald Staff Writer

New Year's Eve was quiet for the police who put on extra patrols to curb drinking and driving with motorists heeding the crackdown on drunken driving.

One fatality was reported in the area and most police departments reported fewer arrests than usual.

A 22-year-old woman was killed when she was hit by a pick-up truck as she crossed U.S. Highway 17-92 at South Street in Fern Park at 11:05 p.m. Friday.

Florida Highway Patrol officers investigating the accident said the woman was living at a Fern Park motel. Her identity has not been released as next of kin have not yet been informed.

The truck was driven by Phillip D. Hayles, 36, of 5259 Letha St., Orlando. Police still are investigating the incident.

And while the Sanford Police Department gave drinkers a free ride home the Seminole Sheriff's Department only gave free rides to the county jail when they caught up with the 18 drunken drivers they arrested — the same as last year. Florida Highway patrol did not arrest any DUIs in Seminole County.

"We are pleased that it was no more than last year," said a Sheriff's Department spokesman.

Sanford Police Department arrested only one drunken driver and that was on Sunday, two days after the New Year's Eve revels. Only two drivers, who felt they were unfit to drive because of their drinking, took up the Sanford police department's offer to take them home in a cruiser.

"It was as quiet as any other weekend of the year. Drivers appear to be using their heads. We didn't have any serious injuries or fatalities.

Either our people did a fantastic job or the drivers came to their senses. I think it was a bit of both," said Sgt. Herb Shea of Sanford Police Department.

"Compared with a normal weekend it was a little quiet. I hope the publicity to seek out the drunken driver has done some good. Normally we are fairly busy with DUIs on the weekend but there were less drunken drivers than in the past," said Sgt. Gene Hultgreen of the Patrol.

The following people were arrested for DUI:

— Christopher James Hoelle, 20, of 120 Galahad Lane, Maitland, arrested at 12:40 a.m. Sunday for DUI while traveling on Briarcliff Road, Longwood.

— Jimmy Junior, 34, of 611 Park Avenue, Sanford arrested on Park Avenue, by Sanford police at 1:31 a.m. on Sunday and charged with DUI. — David John Wolfe of Cypress Lane, Winter Springs arrested at Trotwood and Northern Way, on Sunday at 11:37 p.m. and charged with DUI.

— Fred Michael McBowen, 25, of 3280 South Semoran Boulevard arrested at 2:47 a.m. Sunday for DUI, failure to maintain single lane and driving with a suspended license when he left a Shop and Go store at SR 434 and Myrtle Avenue, Longwood.

— John Morgan Smith, 41, of 214 Krider Road, Sanford arrested at SR 436 and Newbury Park, Casselberry, at 2 a.m. Friday.

— Victoria Lee Spencer, 27, of 605 Northlake Boulevard, Altamonte Springs, who was charged with DUI, improper tag and failure to keep to designated lane, after being arrested at about 4 p.m. on Sunday on SR 436 and Huntclub Boulevard, Forest City.

IT'S NO DAY

Surely many people early Saturday felt like it was no day, at least no day to be remembered, after celebrating New Year's Eve to the hilt. But the time and temperature sign of Atlantic Bank in downtown Sanford at First and Park was more confused than most people. The sign reportedly didn't know what day it was, all day. It did accurately report the temperature.

NATION IN BRIEF

Reagan Appoints MX Panel; Budget Talks Set To Start

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Reagan, having selected members for his MX missile study commission, begins a round of conferences today with fiscal advisers and congressional leaders to make final decisions on the 1984 budget.

A top White House official said Reagan planned today to announce the members of a blue ribbon commission, headed by former national security adviser Brent Scowcroft, with a broad mandate to review the U.S. nuclear deterrent policies and to recommend a basing mode for the controversial MX missile.

Former Secretary of State Alexander Haig; national security expert Thomas E. Reed, an expert on strategic nuclear policy; and several former defense secretaries have agreed to serve on the panel, the official said.

In addition, a secondary advisory group with prominent officials of past administrations, including former Secretary of State Henry Kissinger, will be announced to consult with the panel on nuclear defense policy.

Reagan decided to appoint the bipartisan commission after Congress withheld funds for the MX missile, pending a decision on a way to base the weapon. Members of Congress were highly critical of Reagan's original plan to deploy the weapon in a closely-spaced "dense pack" system at Warren Air Force Base near Cheyenne, Wyo.

Congress Reconvenes

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The 98th Congress — a more Democratic, more independent body — opens today with a battle brewing over proposed restrictive new House rules.

Democrats also are facing a sensitive decision on whether to yank "Boll Weevil" Phil Gramm off the House Budget Committee as punishment for pushing President Reagan's budget cuts.

The first week of the new Congress will be consumed by rules and housekeeping. The lawmakers then will take their first long recess, until Reagan's State of the Union address Jan. 25.

Grappling with the real problems facing the nation — financing of Social Security, a budget deficit nearing $200 billion, record unemployment, and the competition between military and domestic programs for tax dollars — will not start until February or March.

Experts: Housing To Increase

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Some experts are predicting a much-needed resurgence in the housing industry this year, helped by the lower interest rates produced by a weak economy and little competition for credit.

Although Chemical Bank, U.S. Trust and Bankers Trust on Thursday raised their prime lending rate, the experts are predicting the trend that took mortgage loan rates down four percentage points to around 13.5 percent in 1982 will continue.

The 1982 improvement lowered by about $230 the monthly payments for a typical new house.

"I would imagine around 12 percent is where it's going to end up" in 1983, said Michael Sunichraast, chief economist of the National Association of Homebuilders, the largest housing industry trade group.

NATIONAL REPORT: President Reagan promised swift federal aid to Louisiana where 9,600 people fled high water during more than a week of devastating rain that moved eastward today. Freezing temperatures gripped the Southern Plains and heavy rain doused the Southeast. "I know many here have lost their homes and life's possessions," Reagan said Sunday as he toured flood-ravaged areas of northern Louisiana with Gov. Dave Treen. "But I also know that with every rise in the water level, the spirit and determination of the people of Louisiana have risen as well."

Election '82 Year Saw Mixed Bag Of Victories In Seminole County

By DONNA ESTES
Herald Staff Writer

City elections in Seminole County in 1982 saw a mixed bag of victors.

Seven incumbents were re-elected, six newcomers to municipal politics were selected, two long-time officials were deposed and four who had retired from the political arena were swept back into office.

At the same time, two city government officials resigned and three others by trying to climb the ladder in politics were left without any office at all. Four of those returned to office faced no election contests.

And new city charters or charter amendments on the ballot did not fare too well. A new city charter for Sanford was turned down by the electorate and Longwood voters refused to extend the terms of its city commissioners for four years.

In Lake Mary where three charter questions were on the ballot, only the non-controversial major revision with mostly housekeeping changes was approved. Amendments to increase terms from two to four years and to create single council member districts were soundly defeated.

Casselberry voters, meanwhile, for the second year in a row approved a paramedic program, agreeing to support the program with tax money.

Despite the lack of opposition to Altamonte Springs City Commission incumbents — Cheney Coliardo, Lee Constantine and Bob Reis — all three names had to be on the ballot in compliance with city law. Thus an election was held there.

Kenneth King, who was completing his first two-year term on the Lake Mary City Council, was elected unopposed.

In Longwood, 10-year city commission veteran J. Russell Grant won another two-year term. In Lake Mary, Walter Sorenson won re-election to the mayor's office he has held for eight years despite tough opposition from former Councilman Vic Olvera and Councilman Dick Fess.

Olvera, when he resigned to run for mayor, had one year left in his elected term. By virtue of running for mayor, Fess did not seek re-election to the council and thus both men are out of office.

In Sanford, City Commissioners David Farr and Milton Smith won election to second terms.

Councilman Gene McDonald, who had served on the Lake Mary Council for three years, resigned to accept a job with the Motorola Corp. in Tennessee. And in Winter Springs, Maureen Boyd was under fire for serving as a police reserve officer in Winter Park while serving on the commission in her city. She resigned her office to go to work full time as a police officer. Attorney Jim Smith ruled that an elected official cannot be a police officer, even in another jurisdiction, at the same time. Smith said this was dual office holding and forbidden by the Constitution.

Marty Trencher, who ran unsuccessfully for mayor of Winter Springs, was appointed by the City Commission to replace Mrs. Boyd. John Torcaso, a city commissioner, was elected to the mayor's office in November after Troy Pliand, who was city commissioner and mayor for 11½ years total resigned to run for the Florida House of Representatives and was defeated.

Newcomers elected in Winter Springs were Leanne Grove and Inez Linville. For a few weeks before Mrs. Boyd's resignation, women dominated the commission.

In Casselberry, two fixtures in city government — Councilman Frank Schutte, completing six years in office, and Councilman Bill Grier, who had served a total of 10 years as mayor and councilman — were ousted from office.

Schutte was defeated by city fire department employee Frank Stone while Grier was beaten by former two-term councilman Carl Robertson Jr., who was unsuccessful in two previous attempts to regain his council post.

Richard Russo, a newcomer to city politics but who was experienced in politics through his service on the local Democratic Executive Committee, was elected to the Casselberry City Council.

With the resignation of Casselberry Mayor Owen Sheppard, former Councilman Charles Glascock was elected mayor without opposition.

In a contest between two former city commissioners in Longwood, Bill Mitchell emerged victorious for a new two-year term replacing Timothy O'Leary who declined to seek re-election.

And in Lake Mary, Burt Perinchief, who had retired from politics after serving six years on the city council, won election to a one-year split term. Two newcomers won election also to the City Council in Lake Mary — on their first tries for office — Russ Megonegal and Charlie Lytle.

Students Serve As Interns In D.C.

Fifteen students from Fifth District high schools received a first-hand education on how Congress functions during a recent trip to Washington, D.C., as participants in a special intern program conducted by U.S. Rep. Bill McCollum.

During their stay in the Nation's Capital, the high school juniors from Orange, Seminole, Lake, Citrus, Pasco and Pinellas counties met with Congressional leaders, such as Republican Whip Trent Lott, and watched Members of Congress at work in committee and on Floor of the House. They also listened to arguments before the Supreme Court and attended a Senate hearing where Lawrence S.

Eagleburger, Under Secretary for Political Affairs at the Department of State, was offering testimony.

"The legislative process can be somewhat confusing, especially if you're trying to learn about it from a textbook," said McCollum.

"As interns in Washington, these students were able to see and experience the lawmaking process while it was really happening and to have their questions answered by people who were actually participating in it."

McCollum briefed the interns throughout their visit on topics such as the role of a Member of Congress and how business is conducted on the Floor of the House. The students also sat in on a hearing held by the Domestic Monetary Policy Subcommittee of the Banking Committee, on which McCollum serves.

The students represented roughly half of the high schools in the current Fifth District. Last Spring, students from the remaining schools came to Capitol Hill for the same program.

During their stay in Washington, the interns visited the White House, the Library of Congress, the Smithsonian Institution, the Federal Bureau of Investigation and the Bureau of Engraving and Printing.

Seminole County students who participated in the program included: Alan Baker, of Lake Brantley High School and Douglas Horn of Lake Mary High School.

Elderly Easy Fraud Targets

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Mail fraud is on the rise and the elderly, fearful for their economic security, are easy targets, a new report shows.

The report, prepared by the House Select Committee on Aging, shows growing numbers of senior citizens, seeking ways to supplement their fixed incomes, are investing — and losing — their life savings in phony business propositions.

Chairman Claude Pepper, D-Fla., wrote: "The frauds which are examined in this report are particularly vicious because they prey on the fear of retirees or those soon to be retired that they will not have enough income to support themselves."

Pepper, an octogenarian himself, continued: "This fear is real since 25 percent of the elderly have incomes placing them at or near the poverty line

... Recent publicity about possible cuts in Social Security has served to fuel the fears of the aged about their economic security."

Based on responses to a questionnaire from police chiefs and district attorneys from major cities around the nation, the committee concluded that "the area of economic crime is one of the fastest-growing kinds of all crimes against the elderly."

It found that although senior citizens make up 11 percent of the population, they account for about 30 percent of both violent and white-collar crime victims.

The committee found that fraudulent work-at-home schemes, ranging from knitting baby booties to stuffing envelopes, are almost exclusively targeted at the elderly.

The report said there are many legitimate advertisements, but explained how a typical work-at-home scam works.

"The come-on is the promise of a good income which can be earned at home. Usually, a fee is required ... The promoter claims the money is for a start-up kit or for other expenses."

"The promise is that the promoter will buy back the finished product or arrange for it to be purchased by others in the marketplace. Unfortunately, the promoter seldom, if ever, buys back the products and the consumer is not only robbed of his initial cash outlay, but is also stuck with a large quantity of products for which there is no market."

The report described hundreds of cases, ranging from the 23,000 people in Nashville, Tenn., who were invited to send a $15 registration fee to participate in a program stuffing envelopes in their homes, to the man in New Haven, Mo., who invested nearly $8,000 for materials to make wall plaques and picture frames that the company refused to buy back.

Miami Officer Violated Procedure In Shooting

MIAMI (UPI) — City Manager Howard Gary says the officer who shot Nevell Johnson Jr., sparking three days of violence in the Overtown ghetto, violated police procedure, it was reported today.

Gary said officer Luis Alvarez, who fatally shot the 20-year-old Johnson once in the head at a video game room Tuesday night, "committed a violation of police procedure" when he and his partner left their assigned patrol and drove to Overtown, the Miami News reported.

Two days of rioting followed the shooting of Johnson, resulting in two dead, 26 injured and at least a dozen businesses damaged or destroyed.

Alvarez, 32, and his rookie partner Louis Cruz were assigned to the central, mostly Latin, section of Miami when they decided to leave their patrol and go to the video game room in Overtown where Johnson was shot.

Gary, who is heading an investigation into the shooting for the city, said Alvarez told his superiors that he and Cruz left their assigned area to make a routine check of Recreation Establishment Inc.

Gary would not say what punishment, if any, would be appropriate for such a violation.

"When I have gathered all the facts, I will make a decision," he said. "If (Alvarez) is found to have acted improperly, he will be punished."

More Than 200 Die On Roads Over Holiday

United Press International

More than 200 people died on the nation's highways during the four-day New Year's holiday but the total was far lower than predicted by the National Safety Council.

A count by United Press International showed at least 234 people killed by early today. The 78-hour weekend began Thursday at 6 p.m. local time and ended at midnight Sunday.

California led the list with 28 deaths and Texas had 22. Georgia had 19, Florida reported 20, Missouri 13, Ohio 12 and Pennsylvania 10.

The National Safety Council estimated between 300 and 400 people would die in crashes and another 14,000 to 19,000 would suffer disabling injuries.

Millions of people heading home after a weekend of celebrations were confronted with snow-packed roads in Texas and Arkansas, dense fog in the valleys of central California, the middle Missouri River valley and heavy rains along the eastern Gulf Coast.

Drivers who overindulged were the target of most local, county and state police — out in force across the nation as they croaked down on drivers letting holiday spirits get the better of them.

Safety experts estimated the majority of weekend traffic deaths would be linked directly to drunken drivers.

Police, transit and taxi companies in various communities offered free rides home New Year's Eve.

A Missouri crash killed three people and left two others critically injured when one car traveling at high speed with no lights collided with a pickup truck being driven in the wrong lane.

Three construction workers died in south central Texas when the pickup truck in which they were riding skidded off a rain-slicked highway into a tree.

Four of Florida's victims were pedestrians. In northern Wisconsin, a 63-year-old woman drowned when the car in which she was riding slid on ice and rolled into a creek.

At least 20 people lost their lives on Florida's roadways during the long New Year's weekend — eight of them in alcohol-related accidents, the Florida Highway Patrol reported today.

The patrol had predicted that 27 would be killed on the state's streets and highways during the holiday period that began Thursday night and ended at midnight Sunday.

There were at least eight accidents over the weekend involving drunken drivers, a patrol spokeswoman said.

One of the latest reported fatalities was Julie Hamby, who was a passenger in a car that was struck by another vehicle in Putnam County on State Road 308 Sunday evening. Her age and address were unknown. The accident was alcohol-related, the spokeswoman said.

At least six pedestrians were struck and killed by cars during the weekend, including Peter Frederick King, who died on New Year's Eve in Broward County as he tried to cross a street.

FLORIDA IN BRIEF

Graham Will Pay For His Inaugural Himself

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — At a time when Florida is tightening her fiscal belt, Gov. Bob Graham is determined not to compound the state's financial burden with a fancy inaugural ceremony.

None of the bills for Tuesday's celebration, in fact, will be paid for with state tax dollars.

Instead, Graham announced he would foot the expense with contributions remaining from his successful re-election campaign. A $100,000 appropriation for inaugural expenses included by the Legislature in the 1982-83 state budget will be returned to help pay other state expenses, said Graham.

Graham said the inauguration will be "substantially less expensive than those in the past."

The budget-conscious ceremony won't include a parade or the formal ball at Florida State University that highlighted earlier inaugurations, including Graham's first in January 1979.

But while there won't be a parade, there will be "a people's walk" from the Capitol to the Governor's Mansion about a mile away.

The walk, which will be led by Graham and Lt. Gov. Wayne Mixson, is intended to attract people to the mansion for an open house and for a street fair across from the mansion.

"The 1983 inaugural will be a people's inaugural," Graham said. "It will be a celebration of the future of Florida."

KKK In Miami Ignored

MIAMI (UPI) — A small band of robed Ku Klux Klan members hoping to capitalize on white backlash from racial violence in Overton passed out leaflets on a street corner but drew mostly waves or honks and just one heckler who yelled at them to go home.

"Nobody wants you around here," the heckler shouted to KKK Imperial Wizard Bill Wilkinson and 11 other Klan members at a busy intersection Sunday. "Nobody wants your racial problem, take it back to Georgia or Alabama or wherever you got it from."

Wilkinson, whose organization is based in Denham Springs, La., said he traveled to Miami to "stand up for the rights of white people and the police" in the wake of three days of rioting that was triggered by the police shooting of a young black man.

The violence began Tuesday night after police officer Luis Alvarez shot Nevell Johnson Jr., 20, a black, while trying to take a gun away from him at a video game arcade. Johnson, a messenger who was saving money for college, died the next day.

Foul-Up Devastates Lady

HUDSON (UPI) — An 84-year-old widow who saved for 20 years to travel through the holy lands was "devastated" by the news that a 1914 immigration foul-up means she can't leave the United States in time for the trip.

Helen Pfennig dreamed for two decades of the day she would visit Israel and sing a solo at Calvary — the hill where Jesus Christ was crucified — backed by fellow choir members of the First United Methodist Church of Hudson.

"She was devastated when they told her she didn't have the right citizenship papers to get a passport," said Mrs. Pfennig's granddaughter, Clarice Saparito.

"She burst a blood vessel in her eye and I thought she was going to pass out right in the immigration office," said Ms. Saparito. "She loves this country so much and she's always thought she was a citizen since she married my grandfather in 1914."

WORLD IN BRIEF

West Germany Is Easing Its Backing Of 'Zero Option'

BONN, West Germany (UPI) — West Germany, easing support for the U.S.-proposed "zero option" to ban medium-range nuclear missiles in Europe, said it would support strict limits on deployment if a total ban is unattainable.

Foreign Minister Hans Dietrich Genscher also urged that Western governments be alert to recognize "advances" in Soviet disarmament attitudes and use them to maintain progress in arms talks.

The West German position, outlined Sunday by Genscher, marked a change of emphasis in the government's disarmament policy, which had unwaveringly backed President Reagan's "zero option" concept.

Genscher said the "zero option" — calling for a ban on medium-range nuclear missiles in Europe — remained the "ideal objective" in talks on the weapons in Geneva between the United States and the Soviet Union.

But, he added, if it could not be attained, everything had to be done to keep the number of missiles deployed as low as possible.

Solidarity Replacement

WARSAW, Poland (UPI) — The Polish government set up 2,500 small trade unions today to replace the outlawed Solidarity union but its official news agency admitted the new groups have yet to win support from most workers.

The official news agency PAP said Sunday the new unions — each at an individual work place — were to begin operation today, with applications by 4,000 more small founding committees pending.

"However," the agency conceded, "the mood of reserve and expectation still holds among the personnel of many enterprises. It does not mean that the majority of employees decided to join the new trade unions."

The new unions came with the trade union law passed Oct. 8 to disband Solidarity and two other pre-market law labor organizations. The Solidarity underground and other opposition groups called on workers to boycott them.

Officials Swearing — Into Office, That Is

City Attorney Robert Petree will conduct the oath of office ceremonies for newly elected Lake Mary city councilmen and Mayor Walter A. Sorenson at 4 p.m. today.

To be sworn in are — Sorenson to a fifth two-year term; — Dr. Burt Perinchieff to a one-year term; — Kenneth King to a second two-year term in office; — New councilmen Charles Lytle and Russ Megonegal. The four beginning new terms will join Councilman Ray Fox, who is completing his second term on the City Council. The newly-constituted council will hold its first official meeting at 7:30 p.m. on Thursday.

Meanwhile, Longwood Mayor June Lormann conducted oath of office ceremonies at city hall, 301 W. Warren Ave., at 10 a.m. today for J. Russell Grant, who is beginning his fifth term on the City Commission, and Bill Mitchell, who served on the Commission 16 months previously.

There is no city commission meeting tonight. The new commission will hold its first meeting on Jan. 10. The oath of office is to be administered to the two newly elected Sanford City Commissioners — David Farr and Milton Smith — at a 7 p.m. meeting Tuesday at city hall, 300 N. Park Avenue. — DONNA ESTES

Altamonte Woman Charged After Shooting

By VICTOR ASSERSOHN
Herald Staff Writer

A 31-year-old woman was arrested by Seminole County sheriff's deputies after she made an early morning call to a former boyfriend's apartment and allegedly fired two shots.

Donna Travis, 31, of 980 Montgomery Apartments in Altamonte Springs faces charges of aggravated assault and shooting into an occupied dwelling after she went to the apartment of 44-year-old Charles Turner at 406 Woodstead Circle in Longwood at 7:15 a.m. on Sunday.

Police said Turner and Travis had had an affair which was over and Travis had been allegedly harassing Turner with telephone calls making claims that she would commit suicide.

Turner had answered a knock at his door to find Travis standing there with a gun, police said. He then slammed the door, and moved to the side. She then fired two shots, one into the right front door and the other into the garage window, police said.

The gun and ammunition were confiscated, police reported.

HUSBAND, WIFE ARRESTED

When police went to arrest Edgar Zane Greer, 37, of 1801 W. First Street in Apartment B on a warrant from Manatee County accusing Greer of passing worthless checks, they realized his wife also was wanted on a warrant for allegedly passing a worthless document. So they arrested the wife, Margie Dianne Greer, at the same time, 5:57 p.m. on Thursday.

LICENSE SUSPENDED

W. George Stevenson, who gave an alias of Sugar Man and an address as Box 1141 in Eatonville, was stopped after police saw his car weaving across the center line on Lake Mary Boulevard at Pine Hart Road. Stevenson passed a road side sobriety test but was booked into Seminole County jail on a charge of driving on a suspended license.

DUI CHARGES

The following person was arrested Thursday on a charge of driving under the influence (DUI) of alcoholic beverages in Seminole County.

— Frank Louis Kmet of 717 East Loge Street in Longwood, arrested at about 11:30 p.m. Thursday near 1023 Hunt Road in Longwood. Kmet also was charged with refusing a breathalyzer and reckless driving.

TAPES STOLEN FROM CAR

Police believe a thief used a coathanger to break into a car belonging to Linda Zino of Brittany Circle, Casselberry. She had parked her car outside the Fairlane bowling alley, Wilshire Drive, Casselberry, at about 6:15 p.m. on Wednesday and discovered it had been broken into at 8:40 p.m. A cassette player and tapes worth about $200 were taken from the car.

BICYCLE STOLEN

A five-speed bicycle belonging to George Henry Phillips of 1118 Eastbrook Boulevard, Winter Park, was taken from his yard between 10 p.m. Tuesday and 12:30 p.m. Wednesday.

JEWELS TAKEN

Jewelry worth $1,390 was stolen from the apartment of Charlotte Johnson, of Fern Park between 9 p.m. on Dec. 23 and 5:05 p.m. Wednesday. The jewelry, which included a $500 emerald ring, was removed by a thief who entered her apartment through the front door.

HIGH-SPEED CHASE

Two women involved in an argument with others at 220 Lake Shore Dr., in Mortle Manor subdivision were arrested by police after a high-speed chase.

Arrested were Susan Dianne Schultz, 25, of 4209 Lake Lockhart Drive in Lockhart, and Susan Ray Knutson, 24, 408 Lake Shore Dr., in Longwood.

Seminole County sheriff's deputies said Knutson was involved in an argument with her ex-husband and when police arrived she left in a car driven by Schultz, who sped off with no lights on. At one time Schultz was clocked by police doing 60 mph down a dirt residential road. During the high-speed chase by police, a brown paper bag was seen thrown from the car and it was later found in a hedge, police said. It contained a half bottle of liquid which was marked "Jack Daniels" says the report. Schultz was charged with reckless driving and fleeing

Seminole High School Dean On Job After Shoplifting Charge

By MICHEAL BEHA
Herald Staff Writer

The dean of students at Seminole High School will remain on the job this week despite her arrest on a retail theft charge, Seminole County School Superintendent Robert Hughes said today.

Jacqueline C. Pearson, 43, of Wekiva Park Road in Sanford, was arrested Thursday for allegedly shoplifting $10.28 worth of merchandise from a supermarket.

Mrs. Pearson, in her first year as dean of students after 10 years as a biology teacher at the school, is scheduled to appear in county court at 9 a.m. Friday on the misdemeanor charge.

Hughes said district administrators will monitor Mrs. Pearson's performance at school on a day-to-day basis this week to determine whether she should remain on the job.

"We'll be looking at the amount of public concern and acceptance of her situation," Hughes said. He said it is impossible to determine in advance how much the arrest will affect her performance.

Mrs. Pearson, contacted at school today, said she "is not supposed to answer any questions" about her arrest.

District administrators are reviewing Mrs. Pearson's contract and district conduct codes to determine what disciplinary options are available to them if she is convicted.

and attempting to elude police. Knutson, who police said twice refused to leave the car, was charged with resisting arrest and violating litter laws.

TIP LEADSTO ARREST

A tip led police to the Jai Alai Fronton on U.S. Highway 17-92 where they arrested Larry Donell Gorman, 27, on a warrant alleging armed robbery. Gorman, of 721 Swope Ave. in Winter Park was arrested at 10:25 p.m. Thursday.

TWO SPEAKERS STOLEN

Two stereo speakers valued at $400 were stolen from 101 Eastern Fork in Longwood between 5:30 p.m. Dec. 26 and 6 p.m. Dec. 30. The speakers were the property of Janice Kennedy Bogdany.

CAR DAMAGED

About $100 in damage was reported to the hood of Sharon Knight's car when someone poured an unknown liquid over it when it was parked in the driveway of her home at 3681 State Road 46 in Sanford. The incident took place between 10 p.m. Saturday and 11 a.m. Sunday.

TWO MEN ROBBED

Two young men trying to retrieve their car from a ditch outside Lake Howell Road Club on State Road 436 told Seminole County sheriff deputies that they were robbed of $120 by five men.

Robbed were Richey Arnold Doern, 20, of 130 Bayberry Court in Winter Springs and Christopher Peterson, 18, of Sweet Gum Court in Winter Springs. They were robbed of $120 in cash and a blue cloth type wallet. Police have no description of the men involved and said neither Doern nor Peterson showed any signs of injuries or having been involved in a struggle.

JEWELRY STOLEN

Jewelry worth $4,000 was stolen from the home of Sally Warren, 376 Woodhead Circle in Longwood between 12:29 p.m. and 10:15 p.m. Thursday. The Seminole County sheriff's Department reported no family members were home. The jewelry, including a $3,000 five-diamond custom-made wedding ring, was in a bedroom dressing table.

PURSE SNATCHED

Seminole County sheriff's deputies are looking for a man who snatched a purse from a 75-year-old woman outside Publix supermarket, Butler Plaza at State Road 436 at about 4 p.m. Thursday.

Mary Jenney of Genius Drive in Winter Park said she lost $80 and two credit cards which were in her purse.

Search For Life In Space

STANFORD, Calif. (UPI) — Like the creature in the movie "E.T.," scientists at Stanford University are trying to "phone" the home of extraterrestrial beings. Any messages received are expected to be from civilizations much older than Earth's.

The project will be the Western world's most systematic search for intelligent life in other solar systems, scientists said Sunday.

Believing that "we are not alone," individual researchers have been searching for signs of extra-terrestrial life for more than 20 years, but the Stanford project, funded by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, is the first coordinated program.

The Search for Extra-Terrestrial Intelligence, has a $1.5 million budget, a dozen fulltime scientists and two dozen part-time computer programmers.

Although the machine's prototype has not been completed yet, the first field test already has been scheduled for April in the Mojave Desert of Southern California.

The machine — about the size of a refrigerator and filled with racks of digital electronics boards holding computer chips — will be able to scan 74,000 different sounds simultaneously. It will be backed by a larger computer.

In five years, the NASA scientists plan to build a larger model that will listen to 8 million channels at once.

The final version of the multichannel spectrum analyzer will be a million times more sensitive than any current listening device, SETI research scientist Ivan Linscott said.

Program chief John Billingham said NASA will attach about 10 of the larger models to antennas throughout the world.

"If a signal is detected, it is likely to be from a civilization much older than ours, one which is advanced enough to send strong transmissions over many light years," he said.

"It is one of the most exciting scientific and philosophical questions that can be asked: Are we alone? This is really a grand exploration."

The prototype will take a uniform sampling of the entire sky and focus on 778 stars within 1,000 light years of Earth. Those stars have been determined to be close enough to Earth's sun to have developed life on their surrounding planets, Linscott said.

If a signal arrived from a planet 1,000 light years away, it would have been sent during the Middle Ages on Earth, he said.

The SETI program is a collaboration between the NASA Ames Research Center at Moffett Field Naval Air Station in Mountain View and the privately owned Jet Propulsion Laboratory in Pasadena, Calif.

In the movie "E.T.: the Extra-Terrestrial," which broke all box office records, an alien from outer space contacts his home planet through a phonotype device.

The Soviet Union also is researching extra-terrestrial intelligence, Billingham said, but he did not know the extent of the Russian program.

AREA DEATHS

LOUISE E. MALONEY

Louise Ellen Maloney, 65, of 180 Maitland Ave. in Altamonte Springs died Friday at Florida Hospital-Altamonte. Born Dec. 11, 1915, in Newport, R.I., she moved to Altamonte Springs from Lynbrook, N.Y., in 1971. She was a retired director of personnel and facilities for the Institute of Internal Auditors and a member of St.

Mary Magdalen Catholic Church. She was the first woman honored by the Society Emeritus of the Institute of Internal Auditors.

Survivors include a brother, John J. Maloney of Levittown, N.Y.; and a sister, Mrs. Marie Ferguson of Altamonte Springs. Baldwin-Fairchild Funeral Home, Altamonte Springs, is in charge of arrangements.

JAMES "DON" WELSH

James "Don" Welsh, 60, of 567 Orange St. in Altamonte Springs died Saturday at Florida Hospital-Altamonte.

Born April 24, 1913, in Youngstown, Ohio, he moved to Altamonte Springs from Winter Park in 1972. He was a retired vice president and manager of WLOF radio station. He was a member of St. Mary Magdalen Catholic Church.

Survivors include his wife, Grace; a son, Michael, of Longwood; a daughter, Mrs. Patricia Robinson, of Altamonte Springs; and two grandchildren.

Garden Chapel Home for Funerals, Orlando, is in charge of arrangements.

Trumpeter Concert Jan. 11 At UCF

Jazz great Clark Terry will be at the University of Central Florida Jan. 11 for an open rehearsal plus concert with UCF's own jazz lab under John Whitney.

Terry, who earned his musical stripes for his trumpet and flugelhorn work with Duke Ellington, has since appeared in clubs and concerts around the world.

His appearance at UCF is in conjunction with his annual visit to the area for a playdate at Walt Disney World Village. The 11 a.m. rehearsal is free and open to the public. There will be a dollar admission for the one hour noontime jazz concert backed by Whitney on piano, Chuck Lawson on bass, and Robert Pettis on drums.

Both events will be held in the UCF music rehearsal hall.

Andropov Ploy No Bargain Here

Soviet leader Yuri Andropov is proving no less adept than the late Leonid Brezhnev at using arms control proposals to manipulate public opinion in the West.

Consider Andropov's recent offer to reduce the numbers of medium-range nuclear weapons in Europe. To the uninformed or naive, the proposal must have seemed eminently fair. In truth, however, the proffered deal was little more than a rehash of a shopworn Brezhnev formula that would leave the Soviets with a decisive margin of superiority in medium-range nuclear weapons.

Brezhnev's standing offer went like this: The Soviets will agree to withdraw roughly half of their 300 or so SS-20 missiles if NATO cancels plans to deploy new U.S. Pershing II and cruise missiles starting in 1983.

Even if Brezhnev's arithmetic had been honest — it was not — the Soviets would have ended up with, say, 150 SS-20s deployed against Western Europe. NATO, on the other hand, would have been denied the right to deploy a single modern intermediate-range ballistic missile anywhere on European soil.

As the respected British news weekly The Economist put it, that was a little like a man with two guns offering to drop one if his opponent agrees to fight only with his fists.

Now, Andropov has reworked the same formula with a new rhetorical twist. The Soviet Union, he said, would be willing to reduce its medium-range missiles in Europe to about 162 if NATO agreed to forego the Pershing II and cruise weapons. The Soviet leader underscored his assertion that this would result in parity by claiming that the 162 figure matched the number of missiles currently deployed by France and Britain.

That would be true only if all French and British submarine-launched missiles are counted while the far larger number of comparable Soviet weapons are excluded. Britain has no land-based nuclear missiles at all and France has only 18. Neither country has anything comparable to the Soviet SS-20, a mobile missile with three independently targeted warheads and a range of 3,000 miles or more.

Moreover, France has long since withdrawn from NATO's military command and French armed forces are wholly independent of the Atlantic alliance. Would the Soviets agree to count Yugoslavia's armed forces in the Warsaw Pact total? Not likely.

Finally, there is the matter of what Andropov would do with the 150-odd SS-20s withdrawn from European Russia. The discredited Brezhnev formula envisioned their deployment east of the Ural Mountains. But from there, they could still strike almost any target in Western Europe.

The Andropov plan says nothing about actually dismantling the SS-20s, or about permitting on-site inspection to ensure compliance. It is worth noting that the SS-20, which is carried on a tracked vehicle about the size of a large tank, is easily concealable. In fact, it would be child's play to hide hundreds of SS-20s all over European Russia and then wheel them out when the time came to bully Western Europe into a Finland-style neutrality.

For all of these reasons, France, Britain, and the United States promptly, and correctly, rejected the Andropov proposal. Every country in NATO remains publicly committed to President Reagan's proposal for a ban on all intermediate-range, land-based nuclear missiles.

If the Soviets reject that, they will have only themselves to blame if NATO deploys the new Pershing II and cruise missiles. Andropov's ploy shows that the Soviet leadership is still intent on using duplicity and propaganda to mislead Western Europeans into supporting arms control proposals that amount to unilateral disarmament for NATO.

BERRY'S WORLD

"You're looking at a private sector 'lame duck'"

By MICHAEL BEHA

DON GRAFF

Dollars And Our Democracy

Bob Shamansky, D-Ohio, is not your ordinary congressman.

For one thing, a reasonably liberal Democrat, he represented a firmly Republican district in the 97th Congress.

For another, in the 97th's lame-duck session he was the genuine article — an incumbent who lost on Nov. 2. And as such, he was even more of a rarity — the only sitting Democrat to be defeated by a Republican challenger. Other House Democratic losses were the result of redistricting that threw two incumbents into the same ring.

Shamansky, the first Democrat to represent Ohio's 12th in 44 years, is quick to point out, however, that he also was handicapped by redistricting, the work of a Republican-controlled legislature in which his opponent, a state senator, had a hand.

But there's something more that sets Shamansky apart from the congressional herd. In an era of escalating political spending increasingly channeled through proliferating political action committees, he has paid a large part of his own way.

He estimates that about two-thirds of the costs of his winning 1980 race, in which he defeated an entrenched Republican incumbent, came out of his own pocket. The figures are still being counted on 1982 spending, but he guesses when they are all in his share will be "maybe 20 percent." And, because he will be obligated to no one but himself, Shamansky has been exceedingly choosy as to where the money for his campaigns that is not his own comes from.

He thus has informed opinions on the impact of money on politics that, in the wake of the humongous spending in the 1982 election, is spurring new demands for another try at reform.

To start with, Shamansky does not see rising costs of political activity as the real problem. They are high and inevitably will go higher because the necessities of a political campaign today cost a lot — "whatever TV is going to charge, they're going to charge."

The real problem is how to pay, without candidates being forced to sell themselves for the financial support without which they could not conduct effective campaigns.

He agrees with many critics that increasingly the only alternative appears to be personal wealth, making politics a game for those who have already made it. Or, he adds, those who have nothing to risk.

These alternatives, Shamansky worries, leave out the overwhelming majority of potential candidates that we should want to keep interested in the political process — concerned individuals determined to vote their own convictions.

He does not, however, go along with suggestions that PAC money be eliminated entirely or believe that a healthy political system is necessarily endangered by special interests.

For one thing, he has reservations about that term since "every interest is special to the person who has it."

For another, there is nothing to be gained through restraining the PACs, which were supposed to be the antidote to excessive individual contributions but have proved no cure, unless provision is made for obtaining political financing elsewhere.

Shamansky doesn't claim to have all the answers but does have some ideas as to the direction in which we might at least begin looking. And that is the funding of presidential campaigns.

Congress Will Have Same Power Plays

WASHINGTON — A new congress convenes today, but some old squabbles will continue to strike sparks in the traditionally courtly corridors of power. And it's power that is the root of all evil on Capitol Hill.

One of the contentious bones that remains to be gnawed over in the 98th Congress is the Domestic Content Bill. This would ban the sale of foreign cars that aren't built with a fat percentage of U.S. parts and labor.

As an obvious restriction on imports, the bill should have naturally come within the purview of the Ways and Means subcommittee on trade. But its chairman, Rep. Sam Gibbons, D-Fla., is a staunch advocate of free trade.

So Rep. John Dingell, D-Mich., who wants the legislation as a means of putting his Detroit constituents back to work, set out to steal the bill from Gibbons and drag it onto the friendlier turf of his own Energy and Commerce Committee.

He is in cahoots with Rep. Richard

Ottiger, D-N.Y. Together, they cleverly drafted the bill so that it made no mention at all of trade restrictions or Japanese imports. The House parliamentarian referred the bill to Dingell's committee.

Gibbons was outraged. The best he could do was extract a promise from the House leadership that his subcommittee would get to consider the bill after Dingell's committee was through with it.

Meanwhile, Dingell sat on the bill for nine months while he quietly lined up more and more cosponsors. By the time Gibbons got it, the bill had the momentum of a legislative snowball — and Gibbons was left with only eight days to work on it. To offset his disadvantage, he tried to maneuver the floor debate so that he would have the last word.

"The gentleman from Florida," said Dingell with some asperity, "who has most diligently sat upon all trade legislation and who wholly opposes any efforts to protect individual and team activities.

A program to stop smoking will be held Jan. 3-7 at Orlando Regional Medical Center.

Respiratory therapist Steve Shideler will lead the group in discussions about the facts of smoking and the benefits of quitting.

The meetings will be held from 7 to 9 p.m. in Room 15 of the hospital's personnel and administration building at 1414 S. Kuhl Ave., Orlando.

Registration is $20 for the program. Ten dollars will be refunded to those who have quit smoking for a month or more.

Auditions for "The Rivals," a 1775 comedy-farce will be held at 7:30 p.m. Jan. 10 at Central Florida Civic Theatre, 1010 E. Princeton St., Loch Haven Park, Orlando.

Director Bryant Simms will select actors for nine male roles and four women's roles in the play which will run from Feb. 18 to March 5.

A free university is in the works in Central Florida.

The Orange Fact Tree Learning Resources Network, the brainchild of Orlando resident Hugh Webber, is working to organize people with knowledge and people with a desire to learn.

The philosophy of the program is that anyone can teach and anyone can learn with the main function of the group being to get teachers and learners together.

Webber invites people interested in participating in the free program to call 841-1438 or write LRN, P.O. Box 7561A, Orlando.

Doctors Lose... For Now

WASHINGTON (NEA)—At one point during the recent lame-duck session, the Senate set a modern record by staying in session, for almost 48 hours straight. This led to some odd sights—with none, perhaps, more implausible than that which occurred just before dawn on the second morning of the legislative marathon.

As exhausted senators stumbled out of the Senate chamber to catch a few minutes' sleep, they were buttonholed by lobbyists from the American Medical Association, who had been stalking the halls all night. The doctors' message was simple: At some point in the pre-dawn hours, the Senate would take up an amendment to the government-funding bill which the AMA felt was critical to U.S. medical practice, and which they hoped each senator would support.

At issue was the AMA's long fight to have Congress forbid the Federal Trade Commission to interfere with the workings of professional associations. The AMA-FTC feud has gone on since the mid-1970s, when the FTC made a series of rulings forbidding practices of medical societies which it claimed were kickbacks, price-fixing and anti-competitive.

When the AMA could not win its battle in the courts, it turned to Congress to have a statute passed which would ban further FTC interference. In the last several years, the AMA has tried to grease the skids for this legislation by becoming the single biggest political contributor in town: In the last four years alone, it gave away a total of almost $2.5 million to more than half of the House and three-quarters of the Senate.

Earlier in the year, it looked as if the AMA had won. The House easily passed an amendment proposed by Rep. Tom Luken, D-Ohio (who had received $19,750 in AMA contributions), which would have stripped the FTC of all authority over professionals. The AMA was sure it was over the biggest hurdle, since it believed that Senate approval was almost a foregone conclusion.

But the AMA had not counted on Sen. Warren Rudman, R-N.H., a little-noticed freshman who previously had shown little interest in the AMA-FTC fight.

In the Senate Appropriations Committee, Sen. James McClure, R-Idaho ($10,000 in AMA contributions), offered his version of the Luken amendment. And all were shocked when Rudman—who refuses to accept donations from political action committees—rose with a counterproposal that would allow the FTC to continue regulating professionals, as long as its regulations did not supersede those of state regulatory bodies. This permits the FTC to regulate the business, but not the practice, of medicine—which was exactly what the FTC had argued that it had been doing.

The Rudman amendment passed by 15-14—and so the AMA lobbyists found themselves off the Senate floor at 5 a.m., waiting for McClure to try again to have the Senate as a whole accept his amendment, not Rudman's.

The dawn debate began. Once again, Rudman passionately argued, "Let's give the American people a break." The full Senate agreed by a vote of 59-37, passing his amendment and rejecting McClure's.

But the AMA still had one more shot, and now it overplayed its hand. Since the House had passed more restrictive language than had the Senate, the matter had to go to the funding-bill conference. The AMA had its friends in the conference push—and push hard—for the Luken amendment. But the conferees decided that they were sick of the argument and the pressure surrounding it: They voted to drop both amendments, thus reverting to the status quo. For the time being, the FTC is not restricted in its regulation of professionals.

Of the AMA's decision to push for the Luken amendment in the conference, Rudman said, "My language would have limited the FTC to going after things like price-fixing...but the AMA was just too bullheaded."

FTC chairman James C. Miller III said that the American public had been "well served" by the conferees who "had the courage to stand up on a matter of principle." He added that he looked forward to working with the AMA's leadership in resolving the dispute.

But no one really expects this dispute to be resolved. As one FTC source said, "On the first day of the 98th Congress, the AMA will start all over again. They may have lost this battle, but they are determined to spend whatever it takes to win the war."

Liddy: On The Road

Time magazine informed me that my old friend of Watergate fame G. Gordon Liddy is now the most sought-after and well-paid of campus speakers, making some 100 appearances a year for $4,000 a shot, so I decided to catch his act at a local campus.

Big news. His reception by students in 1982, A.D. was warm and open. They wanted to see him and judge what sort of creature he is. They listened to him attentively, and neither during the question and answer period following his talk, nor during the press conference afterwards, were the questions particularly hostile.

The Liddy of public consciousness is in no small part a deliberate caricature limned by himself.

After he blew the second Watergate break-in, Liddy went to his superiors at the White House and offered to take the entire blame for the operation himself.

They told him that no one would buy the story.

Liddy had been superbly educated, had a law degree and a graduate degree. He had been an FBI agent in superior positions. Surely the press would not believe that he had embezzled thousands of dollars, all on his own, and organized the Watergate caper.

They would believe it only if he were projected as, suddenly nuts. Therefore, the image of Liddy the hand-burner, Liddy the gunslinger, Liddy the violent.

To the surprise of Liddy himself and his superiors at the White House, not only the press but also the government prosecutors temporarily bought this concept. Liddy had gone off the track. But, then, Judge John Sirica — with his huge sentences — broke the defendants, except for Liddy.

I was interested to hear what Gordon Liddy has to tell his campus audiences, and, though he does fill them in on Watergate from his point of view, that is not his present preoccupation. He has moved on.

He thinks that Americans live in a world of comprehensive illusion.

We simply do not face the demonstrable numbers indicating overwhelming Soviet military superiority: 10-1 in fighting divisions, 5-1 in hours of pilot training, 10-1 in tanks, 4-1 in monthly tank production, a vast naval and submarine buildup.

Liddy, a jet pilot himself, says that the Israeli pilots are the best in the world because they get 60 hours of advanced jet tactics per year. The Soviet pilots get 300. Ours get 60: According to Liddy, who has flown the planes, a minor mistake in a U.S. F-15, which flies at twice the speed of a bullet, can kill you. But our pilots are not budgeted for suitable hours of practice.

Liddy criticized our illusions as expressed in language. We call old people "senior citizens." We call international slum areas "developing countries." We call the head of Nicaragua a "leader" but the head of Guatemala a "dictator."

G. Gordon Liddy is a formidably intelligent human being, and knowledgeable far beyond his audience — including faculty members. He is a compelling and courageous speaker, his dark eyes alive with passion.

He cited a member of the Joint Chiefs of Staff as saying that our all-volunteer Army was "hollow," and asked his audience to examine the eyes of our troops in World War II in old photos. Their eyes "gleam with intelligence," he said.

Liddy is wowing the campuses, somewhat to his own astonishment.

American industry and jobs... proposes to conclude debate. I do not find that fair."

Stung by this personal foul, Gibbons responded in kind. "I resent the gentleman from Michigan trying to slur my good name," he said. "If the gentleman insists on getting in the gutter, I can sling mud just as well."

Pointing out that Dingell was the one who had sat on the bill and left Gibbons only eight days to consider it, the Floridian snapped: "Now the gentleman has the gall to come in and protest about his rights."

Dingell apologized, and the two shook hands.

Another bitter turf squabble pitted Rep. Carl Perkins, D-Ky., chairman of the Education and Labor Committee, against Rep. Don Fuqua, D-Fla., chairman of the Science and Technology Committee. The prize was the Engineering and Science Manpower Bill, which included $150 million for programs in technical training and college teaching.

Fuqua's committee drafted and passed the bill and awarded the $150 million to the National Science Foundation, which is under Fuqua's supervision. Perkins persuaded the leadership to refer Fuqua's bill to his committee, where he took the funds away from the NSF and gave them to the Education Department, which Perkins oversees.

The 70-year-old Kentuckian, who has spent almost half his life in the House, played shrewdly on his seniority to put down Fuqua; who at 48 is a relative stripling on Capitol Hill. "I was there when we established the NSF in 1949," he reminded his colleagues. He argued that the NSF had no business administering education money.

Somewhat chastened, Fuqua later conceded to my associate, Peter Grant, that "our bill did infringe on their prerogative." And prerogatives are the stuff of power in Congress, to be toyed with only at the infringer's peril.

Do You Really Think Tampa Can Win It?

TAMPA — With the Tampa Bay Buccaneers starting a 23-6 deficit in the face midway through the third quarter Sunday, a little old lady in the VIP section of the press box turned to her husband and inquired, "Do you really think they can come back?"

The gentleman, resplendent in orange, gave his spouse a discerning look and declared, "Where have you been for the past six weeks?"

More than likely, the disbeliever had been right by his side. But even the Buccaneers' latest walk on water — a 26-23 overtime victory over Chicago which earned them a playoff spot — would have the most stout-hearted of us playing Peter and the rooster.

But these Bucs just won't be denied. Especially diminutive kicker Billy Capece and quarterback Doug Williams. Capece kicked a pressure-packed 40-yard field goal with just 28 seconds left in regulation and then hammered home a 33-yarder to win the game at 11:46 of the overtime period.

The victory was the fifth in six games for the Bucs, all of which have been decided in the final minute or later (Sunday). The win kept the Bucs undefeated in overtime with a 2-0-1 mark.

Tampa will play at Dallas if Minnesota beats the Cowboys tonight, but that probably won't happen, so the Bucs will play at Green Bay next Saturday or Sunday.

Capece, who missed one field goal (38 yards) Sunday, was steady as a rock when it counted. Although the last field goal won the game, the 40-yarder was more difficult. He was kicking into a swirling wind and the pressure was intense. A little too much hook — like his miss — and the Bucs can pull out the wide screen for the playoffs.

"I tried not to think about the wind," said the ex-Florida State record setter after the game. "On the miss, I pulled it to the left. Thank God I got a chance to make up for it."

The chance for the winning kick was made possible by fullback James Wilder. Taking a handoff at the Tampa 40, the second-year back from Missouri turned the right corner and went 47 yards to the Chicago 13.

The run was the longest of Wilder's career and was only his second carry of the game. A perfect block by tight end Jimmie Giles — which clogged up the defensive end and a linebacker — sprung Wilder into the clear.

On the next play, Williams centered the ball at the Chicago 15 and Capece came on to pop the champagne cork.

"He who messes around when he's in field goal position lives to regret it," said a jovial coach John McKay after the game. "There was no sense running any more plays, we knew what we wanted."

And they got it thanks to a courageous effort by the 6-4 Williams. The former Grambling great bounced off the deck from a groin pull and a pulled hamstring to lead the comeback.

Shrugging off another slow start and a few boobyisms ("We want Goldstein"), Williams was marvelous in the second half. In the fourth quarter alone, Williams hit 11 of 20 passes for 156 yards. Whenever Giles was one-on-one a defender — 35 and 31-yard TD passes — it was all over by the rejoicing.

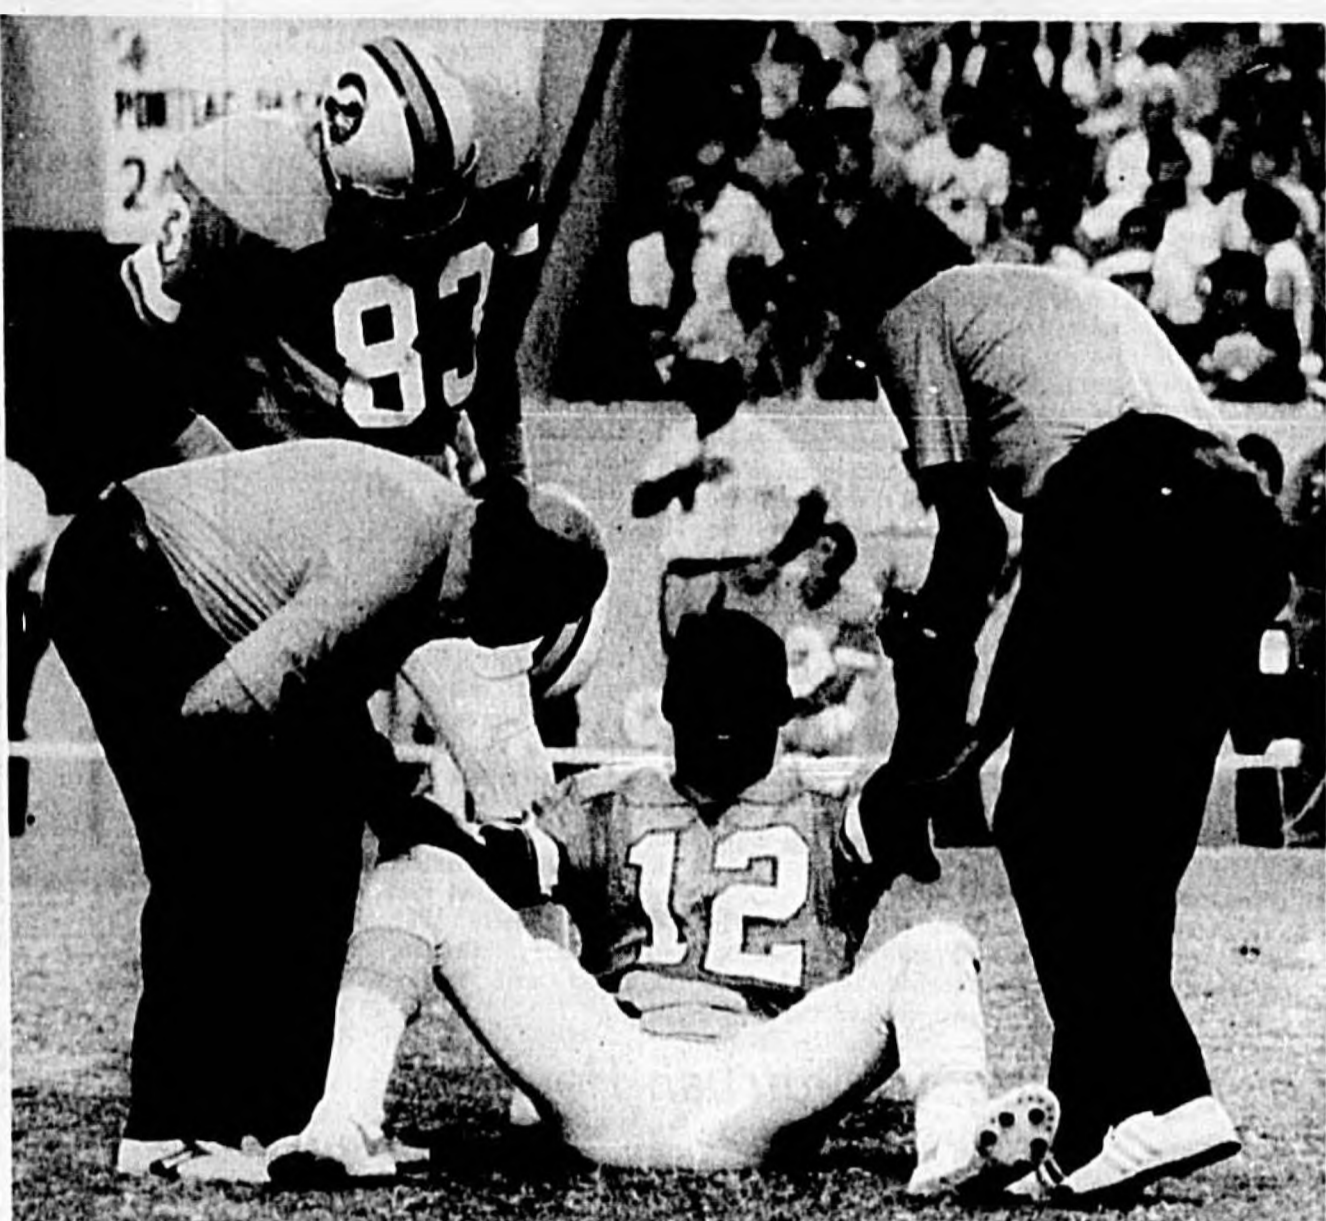

Williams finished the day 25 of 49 for 367 yards and two touchdowns. Giles caught three for 75 yards. Wilder snagged six for 61 yards and Kevin House grabbed four for 96 yards. A rejuvenated Theo Bell latched onto four for 50 yards and Gordon Jones snared four for 56 yards.

BUC SHOTS — The Tampa Bay media selected Neal Colzie as the Bucs' most valuable player. Colzie received five of the 10 votes from the sports writers who cover the Bucs on a day-to-day basis.

Wilder was second with three votes while Hugh Green and Lee Roy Selmon were next with one vote each.

Doug Williams won the award the past two years which is conducted by the St. Petersburg Times.

Although there were still 1,000 tickets left at 12 noon, the game was a sellout (72,138). The "no show" total was comparatively low to the past two weeks as only 4,016 missed the game.

Tampa Bay quarterback Doug Williams was down a couple of times Sunday against the Chicago Bears. But the 6-4 QB got off the deck to lead a furious Buccaneer comeback which knocked off the Bears, 26-23, in overtime and gave Tampa a berth in the playoffs. Wide receiver Theo Bell (left) checks out the anguished Williams.

Invitations Out For Rozelle's Sweet 16

United Press International

The invitations are out for Pete Rozelle's Sweet 16 party but just who will be dancing with whom still remains to be worked out.

The eight-week players' strike forced the National Football League to revamp its playoff format to a 16-team tournament basis this season and the last four slots were filled Sunday in a hectic regular season windup.

New England and Cleveland joined the 8-team American Conference field and Tampa Bay and Detroit completed the 8-team National Conference grouping. The playoff picture is as follows:

AFC entrants — Cincinnati, Cleveland, the Los Angeles Raiders, Miami, New England, the New York Jets, Pittsburgh and San Diego.

NFC entrants — Atlanta, Dallas, Detroit, Green Bay, Minnesota, St. Louis, Tampa Bay and Washington.

The league will announce its first round schedule for next weekend after tonight's nationally televised game between Dallas and Minnesota. That game will determine pairings in the NFC. The AFC pairings are set, with Cleveland at the Raiders, New England at Miami, the Jets at Cincinnati and San Diego at Pittsburgh.

If Dallas wins tonight, the NFC pairings will have Detroit at Washington, Minnesota at Dallas, Tampa Bay at Green Bay and St. Louis at Atlanta. If Minnesota wins tonight, it will be Detroit at Washington, Tampa Bay at Dallas, St. Louis at Green Bay and Atlanta at Minnesota.

There will be two more playoff rounds after next weekend leading to the Super Bowl at Pasadena, Calif. on Jan. 30.

New England, 2-14 last season, earned its playoff spot by beating Buffalo 30-19 and Cleveland used the Bills' loss to vault into the playoffs despite a 37-21 loss to Pittsburgh. Detroit edged Green Bay 27-24 and earned its spot when Super Bowl champion San Francisco was eliminated 21-20 by the Los Angeles Rams. Tampa Bay gained its berth with a 26-23 overtime victory over Chicago.

Steve Grogan passed for three touchdowns and Stanley Morgan had seven catches for 141 yards in leading the Patriots (5-4) over Buffalo (4-5) and bringing coach Ron Meyer a playoff club in his first year in the NFL.

Terry Bradshaw passed for 269 yards and two TDs and rookie John Rodgers blocked a punt and returned it 18 yards for another TD to carry Pittsburgh past Cleveland which became the first team in the NFL's 63-year history to make the playoffs with a losing record (4-5).

Detroit also qualified at 4-5, using a 1-yard TD run on an end-around by third-stringer Rob Rubick with 5:47 left to defeat Green Bay. It was the first time Rubick touched the ball this season.

"Obviously it's a great feeling," Detroit Coach Monte Clark said, "even if it did go down to the final day."

Bengals 35, Oilers 27

Ken Anderson hit 27-of-31 passes, including an NFL record 20 in a row, for two TDs to carry Cincinnati (7-2) over Houston (1-8) and send the Oilers to their seventh straight loss.

Raiders 41, Chargers 34

Third-stringer James Davis picked off a Dan Fouts pass in the closing minutes and returned it 52 yards for a score as the Raiders (8-1) clinched the home field advantage throughout the AFC playoffs by beating San Diego (6-3). Mike Davis also had a TD on an interception return for the Raiders.

Chiefs 37, Jets 13

Bill Kenney threw three TD passes to carry Kansas City (3-6) to an upset of the playoff-bound Jets (6-3) before only 11,902 — the smallest crowd in the 11-year history of the 78,000-seat Arrowhead Stadium.

Redskins 28, Cardinals 9

Joe Theismann threw for three TDs as Washington (8-1) blanketed St. Louis (5-4).

Dolphins 34, Baltimore 7

David Woodley had three TD passes and Uwe von Schamann added two field goals as Miami (7-2) clinched a home site in the opening round of the AFC playoffs by beating Baltimore (0-8-1).

Rams 21, 49ers 20

Vince Ferragamo connected on two TD passes, including a 42-yard strike to George Farmer midway through the last period, as the Rams (2-7) deprived Super Bowl champion San Francisco (3-6) of a playoff spot.

Giants 28, Eagles 21

Joe Danelo's fourth field goal of the game, a 25-yarder with two seconds left to play, lifted the Giants (4-5) over Philadelphia (3-6).

Saints 35, Falcons 6

Wayne Wilson rushed for three TDs and caught 11 passes as New Orleans (4-5) crushed Atlanta (5-4) to snap a four-game losing streak.

Seahawks 13, Broncos 11

Reserve quarterback Dave Krieg's 10-yard pass to Roger Carr with only 47 seconds left lifted Seattle (4-5) over Denver (2-7).

Dimensional Lady Raiders To Blend, Tonight Then Move Up; Host Lincoln, Ill.

By CHRIS FISTER

Herald Sports Writer

The first half of the 1982-83 basketball season was one of transition for the Lady Raiders of Seminole Community College. Coach Sol Battoon's youthful squad was adjusting from high school to college competition and picking up the experience needed to make a run in the second half.

The Raiders look to improve on a 4-6 first half record tonight at 7:30 as SCC hosts Lincoln, Ill. Junior College.

The Raiders are made up of mostly freshmen and Battoon feels with the first half out of the way, SCC should do well the remainder of the season.

"The first half gave us the experience we needed," Battoon said. "Now we have to eliminate the freshman mistakes and if we keep a positive attitude we should do well."

One freshman who will have a lot to do with SCC's success is Sanford's Cathy Jones. The former Seminole High standout averaged 14.6 points per game for SCC the first 10 games at the number two guard position.

"She's had to make the adjustment from forward in high school to guard in college," Battoon said. "If she opens up,

J.C. Basketball

she will be able to set the pace for us the second half."

Another Seminole graduate is on the SCC roster but injuries have kept Sabrina Melton from performing the way she is capable of. Melton averaged four points per game the first half as backup to Jones.

"Sabrina does a good job when she's able to play," Battoon said. "If her knees hold up she will be good support for Cathy Jones."

At point guard the Lady Raiders have experience in Mindy Patrick who Battoon is counting on for leadership the second half. Patrick was a standout at Lake Brantley High.

"I expect Mindy to be our leader," Battoon said. "She handles the ball well and is a good scorer which is an extra threat for a point guard. We look for great things from her the second half so she can go on to play at a four year school."

Also out of Lake Brantley is 5-10 center Debra Garrison who is strong underneath the boards and a hard worker. "Debra gives us strong support at center," Battoon said.

The Lady Raiders are expecting more production out of 5-10 Evelyn Rivera Smith who married her former high school coach from Apopka over the holidays.

"Evelyn helped in the scoring department the first half (5.4 average) and we expect more from her the second half both in scoring and on defense," Battoon said.

The backup point guard to Patrick the first half was Mary Jo Miller out of Orlando Boone High. The 5-3 freshman is strong off the bench and should be a leader in the future. "She is a motivating factor on the bench and good support for Mindy," Battoon said.

One player who didn't play the first half and should make a difference the second half is 6-3 center Sue Winterheimer. The Orlando Evans graduate will play a big role inside for the Lady Raiders. "She's a hard worker and we expect great things from her," Battoon said.

The other sophomore on the squad and one of the best defensive players is 5-6 Mary Kane. Kane is out of Melbourne High and can give even the best offensive player a hard time.

'Capece' Of Cake, Bucs Come Back For Playoff Berth

TAMPA (UPI) — The Tampa Bay Buccaneers believe in giving their fans their money worth and keeping them at the stadium for the full game.

The outcome of six of the last seven games the Bucs played were decided in either the last minute or in overtime, with Tampa winning five of the six.

Sunday was no exception. Bill Capece booted a 40-yard field goal with 28 seconds to go to force the game into overtime and then kicked a 33-yard field goal 3:54 into overtime to send the Bucs into the NFL playoffs with a 26-23 win over the Chicago Bears.

It is the third time in four years the Bucs have made it to the NFL playoffs, but they won't know who or where they will play until after tonight's game between Dallas and Minnesota.

If the Cowboys win, Tampa (5-4) will be at Green Bay (5-3-1) next weekend. If Minnesota wins, Tampa faces the Cowboys at Dallas.

The Bucs were scheduled to play Green Bay twice this season, but the player strike wiped out both games. Their first game back after the strike was at Dallas, where the Cowboys won 14-9.

Capece had kicked second quarter field goals of 27 and 31 yards and had missed a fourth quarter attempt from 38 yards before kicking the decisive field goal.

The winning field goal was set up by an explosive 47-yard run off right tackle to the Bears' 13 by James Wilder on only his second carry of the game. Quarterback Doug Williams then ran the ball on a keeper to put it in the center of the field between the hash marks and Capece drilled it home.

"The game tier was tougher," Capece said. "It was further and it was into the wind."

The Bears' defense dominated the first half, intercepting Williams twice for a touchdown and setting up a field goal and using a Williams' fumble to set up another field goal.

After the first interception, Bob Thomas kicked a 43-yard field goal after he added a 19-yard field goal after the fumble recovery which was taken by tackle Steve McMichael on the Bears' 28 to the Tampa 8 before Williams was able to get up from the ground and run him down.

Linebacker Otis Wilson added to the score when he made a shoestring grab of a deflected Williams pass and ran it back 39 yards, and before Tampa could mount any threat Chicago led 13-0.

After Capece got Tampa going with his pair of second quarter field goals, rookie quarterback Jim McMahon hit Brian Baschnagel with a 19-yard scoring toss to pad the Bears' lead to 20-6.

Thomas put the Bears up 23-6 early in the third period before Williams got untracked and brought the Bucs storming back with a third period touchdown pass of 35 yards to tight end Jimmy Giles and a fourth quarter scoring pass of 31 yards, also to Giles.

Williams was hurt twice on the final touchdown drive. Midway through the drive he suffered a leg injury when he was knocked out of bounds, but returned after one play. Then, on the touchdown pass made under heavy pressure, he was slammed to the ground and had to be helped from the field.

But, with his right thigh heavily bandaged, he returned to move the Bucs into position for the final two field goals by Capece.

"I'm a little sore right now, but I don't feel it," Williams said. "I started off real bad. I spotted them 10 points."

"They didn't blitz as much in the first half as they did in the second," Williams said. "The offensive line did a super job in the second half down the stretch."

"It was evident that we had our opportunities today," Chicago Coach Mike Ditka said. "We let a good football team come back and beat us. It's unfortunate that we had it under control and lost it."

"He (Williams) made some runs that were very vital to their continuing drive," Ditka said. "He had enough patience to stay in when he started out bad and hit some good plays. I've got to give him credit, he's got a lot of guts."

"We dropped more passes than we ever had," Tampa Coach John McKay said. "What we did today that hurt us the most was drop passes. We must have dropped five passes that I bet we wouldn't drop again."

McKay said Wilder's run was called to counter the Bears' nickel pass defense and was a simple pitch to Wilder and "everybody block somebody."

8 p.m. DeLand at Lady Seminoles Sanford's Fighting Lady Seminoles, fresh from a second place finish in the Lady Hawk Invitational, host DeLand tonight.

"I don't know too much about DeLand," said Seminole coach Ron Methrie. "I do know that (Loretta) Pat is gone which is good."

Seminole, 6-4 overall and 2-2 in the Five Star, is getting excellent scoring from guard Mona Benton. The 5-8 sophomore has scored 202 points in the "Holes" 10 games for an average of 20.2 points per game. She has a season high of 30.

Along with Benton in the backcourt will be 5-7 Arlene Jones who is scoring 8.6 points an outing. Maxine Campbell, a 5-9 junior, is fourth in the county with 5.9 assists per game and 14th with 5.8 rebounds. She is averaging 7.7 points.

Starting off forward tonight will be 6-0 Crosson freshman Patricia Campbell. She is averaging 7.5 rebounds which is good for eighth in the county. Completing the starting five is the Lady Hawk Invitational heroine — Dieder Hillery. The 6-1 junior dropped in two free throws to beat Edgewater in the semifinals. The first time a Seminole team has turned the trick. Hillery averages 14.3 points and 10.9 board a game.

In tonight's JV game, coach Sonya Manley puts her girls unbeaten string on the line against the Lady Bulldogs at 6:15.

7:30 p.m. Lincoln, Ill. at SCC Lady Raiders

Catch Sol Battoon's Lady Raiders try to turn around a 4-6 season tonight when Lincoln, Ill. Junior College comes to the SCC gym.

Battoon will start Mindy Patrick and Cathy Jones at the guards, Valerie Roessler and Katrina Anderson at the forwards along with Sue Winterheimer at center.

SPORTS IN BRIEF

St. John's Enjoys 11-0 Start, Readies For Schedule Meat

Master chef that he is, Lou Carnesecca knows how to lay out a meal.

"What we've seen so far is the appetizer," says the St. John's coach. "The main course is yet to come." Carnesecca may have been talking about the 11-0 start of his Redmen but he might just as well have been speaking of college basketball's movable feast.

The easy part of the season is over for the nation's top teams: the games against Marist, Mankato State, Tennessee-Martin and the like.

With conference schedules beginning this week, college basketball clears the first set of plates and gets down to the entre. The Southeastern Conference, deemed in some quarters the best in country, gets the early jump with league play beginning Monday night. The main course runs through the early rounds of the NCAA Tournament in March and concludes with dessert and cordials in Albuquerque, N.M., April 4 with the championship game.

As for the appetizer, it went down nicely: Virginia, voted No. 1 in preseason, opens with a 124-60 victory over Johns Hopkins. Defending champion North Carolina is not so lucky. The Tar Heels, without James Worthy and Jimmy Black this year, lose 78-74 in overtime to St. John's. North Carolina goes to 3-3 and is out of the Top 20.

Billed as the greatest showdown of giants since King Kong met Godzilla, Ralph Sampson of Virginia faces Patrick Ewing of Georgetown. Virginia beats Georgetown 68-63, with Sampson declared the winner.

The Big East proves it is ready to trade elbows and prestige with the SEC, ACC and Big Ten. By the year's end, the Big East has four schools (St. John's, Syracuse, Georgetown and Villanova) in the Top 20, more than any other conference.

Kentucky again opens the season with star center Sam Bowie on crutches. No matter, Joe Hall's team is a killer. Kentucky wins 88-45 at Notre Dame and Irish coach Digger Phelps all but proclaims the Wildcats national champions.

Indiana has something to say about that. The Hoosiers, with some smooth workers in Ted Kitchel and Randy Wittman, defeat Kentucky 62-59 to move to the top of the rankings.

Virginia goes to Japan for a tournament. On the way home, the Cavaliers stop in Hawaii to shake off their jet lag with a game against Chaminade, an NAIA school of some 2,300 students. Chaminade rolls Virginia through the surf, winning 77-72 in one of college basketball's great upsets.

Among ranked teams over the weekend, No. 15 Nevada-Las Vegas defeated Utah 71-68 and No. 16 Houston swamped Pacific 112-58.

At Las Vegas, Nev., Sidney Green scored 20 points New Year's Night and Eldridge Hudson tipped in his missed free throw with 21 seconds left as UNLV ran its record to 10-0.

At Houston, Michael Young celebrated his 22nd birthday Sunday with 29 points to lead the Cougars' runaway. Houston, 8-2, led 92-24 at the half.

Kings' Flurry Whips Hawks

The winning points came with 11 seconds left, but to Atlanta Coach Kevin Loughery, his Hawks' 108-104 loss to Kansas City Sunday night was decided in the beginning of the final quarter.

Loughery pointed to the Kings' scoring 17 of the first 19 points in the fourth quarter to tie the game 88-88. Although the Hawks rebounded to take a 104-98 lead with 1:16 remaining, Loughery felt the lean stretch sapped his team.

"We were outscored 15 (actually 17) to two at one stretch and there's where the game was lost," Loughery said. "We got tired and they scored some easy baskets in the transition."

Perhaps the easiest basket was Eddie Johnson's at the end. With the game tied 104-104, the King's Larry Drew stole an Atlanta inbound pass which resulted in Johnson's layup as Kansas City scored the game's final 10 points.

In other games, San Antonio whipped Cleveland 103-93, Milwaukee crushed Houston 103-82, Phoenix smashed Seattle 116-99, Golden State clipped Indiana 114-105, Portland pounded Denver 123-104 and Los Angeles rapped Detroit 127-112.

Flyers Trip Black Hawks, 3-1

The Philadelphia Flyers knew they were hot on the road and they passed a difficult test Sunday night.

The Flyers, winners of five straight away games, came into Chicago, where the Black Hawks had won 11 straight. Philadelphia took the exam and triumphed, with Lindsay Carson scoring two goals in a 3-1 victory. The result gave the Flyers a club-record sixth straight victory away from home, upping their road record to an NHL-leading 12-4-3.

The Black Hawks, owners of the league's best record, have lost only twice against 15 wins and two losses in Chicago Stadium.

Carson snapped a 1-1 tie at 8:04 of the final period when he beat Chicago goalie Tony Esposito with a slapshot from the right circle.

"I saw Tony was up against the post and I aimed for the other side," said Carson. "I just let it go and caught it inside. If Tony came out he would have had a better angle."

Carson got an empty net goal with 54 seconds remaining to seal the win.

In other games, Buffalo topped Hartford 8-4, Toronto whipped Detroit 6-3, New Jersey damped Vancouver 3-1, Washington crushed Quebec 7-3, Montreal blasted Pittsburgh 5-1 and Winnipeg defeated Boston 6-4.

Preliminaries Over For SEC

The preliminaries are over for Southeastern Conference basketball teams.

After a month of feinting their records against frequently small-caliber opposition, the SEC race gets under way Monday night with 8th-ranked Tennessee (8-1) hosting unbeaten Georgia (9-0) in the featured game.

In other action, 6th-ranked Kentucky (8-1) entertains Mississippi (7-3), 8th-ranked Alabama (8-4) travels to Florida (6-4), Mississippi State (7-3) plays at Auburn (7-2) and Vanderbilt (9-3) hosts LSU (8-3).

Wait Is Over For Nittany Lions, Penn State Declared No. 1 Team

NEW YORK (UPI) — The waiting is over for Penn State.

The Nittany Lions, in the past consistently one of the nation's best football teams but unable to prove it with a No. 1 final ranking, got over that hurdle Sunday when they were named the top team in the country by UPI's Board of Coaches.

"Obviously this is a great thrill for everyone connected with Penn State football," said coach Joe Paterno. "This year's squad just made up their minds that they wanted to be national champions and also be recognized by everyone as national champs. It's a great honor for all of us."

Following a 27-23 victory over previously unbeaten and top-ranked Georgia in the Sugar Bowl Saturday night, Penn State fulfilled a goal it set last fall. Penn State, 11-1, was ranked No. 2 behind Georgia entering its Sugar Bowl showdown.

The Nittany Lions, runnersup twice before in the UPI ratings, picked up 33 first-place votes and 551 points from the 37 coaches who participated in the final voting to outdistance SMU by a lengthy margin.

Winning the national championship was especially gratifying to Paterno, who three times previously coached Penn State to undefeated seasons only to see his team bypassed for No. 1 in the final ratings. In 1968, 1969 and 1973, the Nittany Lions had perfect seasons but did not win the national championship. In 1968 and '69 they finished second in the voting and in 1973 they were fifth.

College Football

In 1978 Penn State was ranked No. 1 going into the post-season competition but was beaten by Alabama 14-7 in the 1979 Sugar Bowl and blew its chance for the national championship.

It marked the first time since Notre Dame in 1977 that an independent school has won the national championship and the first time in four years that the national championship has left the south. SMU, the only major college team to complete the season with an unbeaten record (11-0-1), earned the other four first-place votes and picked up 514 points to beat out Nebraska, 12-1, for the No. 2 spot. Nebraska had 468 points and finished 12 points ahead of Georgia, 11-1.

Rounding out the top 10, in order, were UCLA, Arizona State, Washington, Arkansas, Pittsburgh and Florida State.

Note: By agreement with the American Football Coaches Association, teams on probation by the NCAA are ineligible for the Top 20 and national championship consideration by the UPI Board of Coaches. The teams currently on probation are Clemson, Oregon, Southern California and Southern Mississippi.

Warner: Great Feeling To Outrush Herschel

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — Curt Warner came out of the Sugar Bowl battered and bruised, but convinced he's as good a college running back as there is in the game today.

"It's a great feeling to have outrushed the Heisman Trophy winner two years in a row," said the Penn State senior tailback. "I'm not trying to downplay Herschel Walker or Marcus Allen, but I'm not going to put myself down in any way either. I think I am as good as anyone else."

Warner, who outgained 1981 Heisman Trophy winner Allen 145 yards to 85 while leading the Nittany Lions to a 26-10 victory over Southern Cal in last year's Fiesta Bowl, outgained Walker, the 1982 Heisman winner, 117-103 Saturday when Penn State beat then top-ranked Georgia, 27-23, to vault from No. 2 to the national championship.

Georgia finished No. 4 in the final ratings by UPI's Board of Coaches behind second-place Southern Methodist and No. 3 Nebraska.

"I think Herschel Walker is a great running back," said Warner. "But, I'm not going to consider myself any lower than Herschel or (SMU All-American) Eric Dickerson or anyone else."

Warner, who scored two bowl touchdowns (on runs of 2 and 9 yards) for the second year in a row, said he was playing in pain Saturday night after being wracked by the Georgia defense. "But sometimes you have to play with a little pain," he said. "It was a one-chance shut. When you are playing for the national championship, you can't think about pain."

Penn State Coach Joe Paterno, close but no cigar so many times before (1968-69-73-77-78), said he was glad that he would no longer have to answer questions about why he had never won a national championship.

"Those questions didn't bug me, but it seems to have bugged some of our fans," said Paterno. "I felt our fans were frustrated but I wasn't. I hope to coach at least seven or eight more years and if it hadn't happened this time, I'd have had another chance."

Penn State, loser only to Alabama (2-21) this past season, appeared to be blowing previously unbeaten Georgia out of the Superdome when the Lions, with four second-quarter scoring threats, built a 20-3 lead going into the closing seconds of the first half.

College Football

But the Bulldogs drove 66 yards, on four passes, in 39 seconds to trail 20-10 at halftime and marched 64 yards after the second half kickoff to close to 20-17 with 10:37 left in the third period.

"I thought we had them on the ropes," said Paterno. "But they came back and at one point I was afraid we weren't going to pull it off."

However, Georgia failed to generate any more offense until late in the final quarter and Penn State got what turned out to be the winning touchdown on a 48-yard pass from Todd Blackledge to Gregg Garrity.

"We felt we could get a big play on them because they were playing our receivers real tight," said Blackledge, who completed 13 of 23 passes for 224 yards. "I don't think they realized how quick some of our receivers are."

"I said before the game that I thought Penn State was one of the three best teams I'd seen in my 19 years at Georgia," said Bulldogs Coach Vince Dooley. "Unfortunately, my fears were confirmed. Penn State certainly deserves to be ranked No. 1, but it's a tribute to our team that we got back into the game."

Warner, who scored the second time he carried the ball Saturday after having scored the first time he carried in both the 1980 and 1982 Fiesta Bowls, says he thought the Lions "relaxed a little after getting ahead 20-3. But you have to credit Georgia with playing a good game. They came back with those two scoring drives and turned it back into a football game."

Terry Hoage, Georgia's All-America defensive back, said the Bulldogs got only themselves to blame for falling so far behind in the first half. "They executed extremely well while we made a lot of stupid mistakes," said Hoage. "We had a lot of mental breakdowns at the wrong time."

The Sugar Bowl had been billed as a duel between Penn State's balanced offense and Walker, junior three-time All-America and third-leading career rusher in NCAA history with a year yet to go. Walker, needing 28 carries to get those 103 yards and scoring only once, from a foot out, didn't seem himself Saturday night.

"I feel fine, there's nothing wrong," Walker insisted. "Penn State just played like champions. If I had a vote, I'd vote them No. 1. They really stopped me. They really shut down our running game. "They started stunting up front," said Walker. "That's what hurt us all year. "I'm happy our team is taking the loss like champions," said Walker. "My goal for next season? How about another Heisman Trophy and a national championship for Georgia?"

Osborne Agrees With Poll

MIAMI (UPI) — Nebraska Coach Tom Osborne says he agrees with the selection of Penn State as national champion. "Penn State beat us and they beat the number one rated team. They played a tough schedule," he said of the Nittany Lions, who defeated previously top-ranked Georgia in the Sugar Bowl Saturday night.

At the same time, Osborne's Cornhuskers were overcoming six turnovers by defeating LSU 21-20 in the Orange Bowl. The result was that Nebraska (12-1) remained the third ranked team in the nation and LSU (8-3-1) advanced from 13th to 11th.

"If we'd have played an error-free football team last night, I might have voted for Nebraska," Osborne said Sunday, adding that the ratings may not mean too much anymore. "To tell you the truth I think you can take the top 10 or 12 teams in the country and put a hat over them. Almost any one of them can beat anybody," he said Sunday.

As for Nebraska's six turnovers, LSU Coach Jerry Stovall said he thought his Tigers should get at least some credit for them.

"My philosophy may be just a little bit different than some other coaches, with respect to turnovers," Stovall said.

Cook Starts Year Right With Win; Rookie Survives Restarts For 1st

NEW SMYRNA BEACH — Back after a four-week suspension, 1980-81 track champion Jack Cook started the New Year the right way by driving the Bob's Space Racers' 1982 Camaro to victory in the 25-lap late model feature on Saturday night at New Smyrna Speedway.

Another driver who greeted New Year's Day in a winning way was 16-year old Bryan Campbell who drove a shiny new black Camaro sporting a neatly lettered "Thanks Mom" sign on its flank.

Campbell, whose dad Steve and uncle Harry are excellent race car builders, had never raced on a high-banked half-mile oval before. He took the lead at the green and surviving a multitude of restarts, led all the way to win the thunder car main.

Current street stock Rookie of the Year Rick Clouser, who presently leads that division's point standings, took the lead the last time around, in an unusual burst of speed, to win the feature, besting Ron DiCandio, Bill Kinley, Doug Young and Benny Gibson. Heat winners were Clouser and Jim Stank.

With three laps to go, first heat winner Bob Clark put the winning move on strong early leader Milo Vidic to win the four cylinder finale. Presently second in the point standings, Clark, who nicknamed his potent Pinto "One Trick Pony" after the lyrics of a popular song, is presently building a fresh "pony" in an all-out effort to win the track championship. Second to fifth were W. G. Watts, Vidic, Mike Shuman and Al Gray. Clark and Bud Beaty were the heat winners.

Spectator races winners were Mark Grimm and Dale Clouser.

Back with fresh mounts, Cook and Porter were at it again in the fast heat, with the flying pair tangling while battling for the lead, inflicting severe bodywork damage to both cars. With hundreds of pit dwellers watching, both crews went to work on the two cars and both made it to the start-finish line for the feature.

Previous week's victor and fast heat winner Lee Faulk led for the first three times around. On lap four, fast timer Cook moved up high in turn three and four, and grabbed the lead, with Porter giving chase. But late in the race, Porter had to "shut it down" and pull behind the wall, giving up second place to Joe Middleton, with Smokey Yunkick Jr., John Passett and second heat winner Billy Gast rounding out the top five.

Top thunder car finishers were Campbell, Barry Ownby, Tommy Patterson, Harold Crooms and Al Bitman. Gary Patterson won the second heat.

In And Around Winter Springs

Infants Baptized In Home Rites

The Rev. Edward Gunter, of Clinton, N.C., made a special trip back home in order to baptize his niece and nephew, Jacqueline Gunter and Brian David Hunter. Jacqueline is the infant daughter of Dr. Dan and Ann Gunter, and Brian is the son of Dr. Gunter's sister, Anne.

The babies were baptized in a ceremony held at Anne Hunter's home in Winter Park where all the Gunter family members gathered for the occasion on Dec. 30.

Dr. Dan and Ann, along with Jacqueline, spent the New Year holiday in Hinesville, Ga. where they visited with friends, Marie and W.T. Hunter.

As they say, it's better late than never. With the Christmas holidays and all, I didn't get down the street to find out my neighbors, Chip and Sharon Martin, had their baby.

On Nov. 29, Brooke Allison Martin made her way into the world, weighing in at 9 lbs., 7 oz. Mother and baby are doing fine, with the exception that mother would like to have more sleep, she says.

Brooke's daddy is also known as Dr. Charles Martin, Winter Spring's chiropractor. Brooke is the Martin's second child. They also have another daughter, Erin, who is as cute as a button.

The maternal grandparents are Rose and Ed Klein of Orlando. Paternal grandparents are Don and Lois Martin, also of Orlando.

Congratulations Chip and Sharon. We're happy to see a baby girl born in the neighborhood. It's been all boys for two years.

Imagine waking up on Christmas morning and seeing nothing under the tree for you except a card. That's what happened to Wanda Puryear. When she opened the card it contained a key. As she read on she found out the key was to a brand new house hubby Don had bought her for her Christmas present.

Wanda says she can't imagine no one slipping up and not giving her at least a little hint. The new home is in DeBary, and the Puryears hope to move in the end of January. Wanda says the new house is big enough to have a party and that's what she plans on doing when they are settled.

Although we'll miss them in Winter Springs, we wish them much happiness in their new home.

Meanwhile, son Jeff held a New Year's Eve party at his parents present house with approximately 15 guests present. Wanda and Don found it hard walking through the house when they arrived home, as most of Jeff's guests spent the night.

Happy birthday to my good friend and neighbor, Donna Moore, who celebrated her birthday on Dec. 30.

Donna's brother, Leo, and his wife, Teresa and daughter, Emily, arrived from Georgia in ontune to share not only Donna's birthday celebration but also to spend the New Year's holiday with the Moores.

Now we can talk about more Moores on the other end of the street. Curt and Sherri Moore hosted a New Year's Eve party with approximately eight couples attending. There was lots of good food and spirits floating about.

Sue LaMore flew to Miami to spend the New Year's holiday with Joyce and Bear Baila. She says they had a terrific time. She flew back today and had to head straight to work. That's the breaks, Sue.

The Winter Springs Extension Homemakers Club will meet on Jan. 13 at 9:30 a.m. at the Community Church on Wade Street. There will be a short business meeting. Gordon Spencer, who is with the Winter Springs Paramedic Unit, will be the guest speaker. He will speak on what the Paramedic Unit is all about and what it offers to its residents.

A baby sitter will be available for a charge of $1 per child.

LIQUID SUNSHINE

Wain Cummings of Sanford shows a navel orange that was grown by Don W. Flippen, Seminole County building inspector. The large orange, home-grown (and what a boost to the Florida Citrus Industry), weighed 3 pounds with a circumference of approximately 19 inches.

Chapter Ends Year Giving To Project

Preceptor Beta Lambda Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi held the first meeting of December at the home of Joyce Sammet. The program was on Jaycees and Jaycettes given by W. Clark Mack, president of the Sanford Jaycees and Eileen M. Mack, president of the Sanford Jaycettes.

The program informed members of the amount of service work performed by both of these organizations and the help it gives in improvement of the individual in the realization of their goals.

The business meeting followed at which an update of the annual charity ball plans was given. Refreshments with the Christmas theme were served by the hostess.

A social event of the chapter was held at the home of Joyce Sammet in Lake Mary. A variety of hors d'oeuvres were served with the Christmas punch.

Attending and exchanging gifts were: June and Carl Helms, Amoret and John La Rosa, Barbara Gorman, Jewel Rose, Ruth and Harry Holfon, Vertris and Eddie Sauls, Joyce and Chuck Sammet, Marilyn and La Mar Meredith, Grace Marie Slinecpher, Pam and Bud Hawkins, Glenda and James Emerson and Delora and Frances Mark.

During the evening, 21 gifts were wrapped to be delivered to the Beta House in Orlando before Christmas for the residents there. This is one of the service projects of the sorority.

Birth Photos Reflect 'Beautiful' Experience

DEAR ABBY: Why don't you and "New Grandma" grow up and accept the fact that giving birth is a beautiful experience—one that new mothers and fathers are eager to share with those who hold the same views? "New Grandma" complained because pictures were taken of her daughter during a painful labor, and actually giving birth. Grandma said, "Don't tell me that an unwashed baby, still attached to its mother's umbilical cord, is a beautiful sight. I call it sickening." (And you agreed with her.)

When "New Grandma" gave birth to her children, she was probably knocked out while her husband was pacing the floor in the waiting room. Now I call that "sickening"!

NEW MOMMA IN VAN NUYS

DEAR ABBY: I have been an obstetrical nurse for 30 years, and I'd like to add a few words to "New Grandma's" letter.

Today, parents are well-prepared for what happens in the delivery room. Fathers willingly witness the birth, and most of them take pictures. I think that's fine. But a few years ago it wasn't all that fine. We had fathers fainting and getting sick all over the place. Most of them were there only because their wives had the attitude of, "Look at what you're putting me through, you s.o.b."

Grandma should get with it and realize that times have changed since she was screaming for something to put her under.

FRANNY AT ST. MARY'S

DEAR ABBY: Apropos "New Grandma's" letter: In 1966, I was one of the first babies to be photographed during birth. In fact, my parents told me they searched the country in order to find a hospital that would allow it.

I can't believe that in this day and age there are people so ignorant that they would regard the birth of a human being as "sickening." The birth of a baby is beautiful. To this day I enjoy looking at the pictures of myself being born, and I am grateful to my parents for having taken them.

HEIDI T. IN L.A.

DEAR ABBY: You and "Grandma" can go pick up your new kids, squeaky clean and antiseptically wrapped in white sacks just like McDonald's hamburger. For me, I'll take the beautiful miracle of birth, natural, as God intended it.

PAUL IN SMITHTOWN, N.Y.

DEAR ABBY: For whatever it's worth, my husband missed seeing me give birth. (Monday night football.) But a mirror was put up so I could see it. I even put my glasses on.

GLAD I WAS AWAKE

DEAR ABBY: About the "New Grandma" letter: My baby was delivered by a midwife, and although my husband did not take pictures of the actual delivery, he was allowed to cut the umbilical cord.

He later said that was the most moving experience of his life.

NEW MOTHER IN PHILLY

DEAR ABBY: So often you print letters from aunts, grandmothers, etc., who complain bitterly that their gifts to nieces, nephews, grandchildren, etc., are never acknowledged.

I, too send gifts to my young nephews, but only because I want to. Usually they respond, but not always. It has been my observation that many people send gifts for the sole purpose of getting some attention from loved ones. This is sad.

I suggest that gift givers examine their own motives, and if communication is what they really want, why not pick up the phone and say, "Hello. I just want to know how you are." A phone call is less costly and infinitely more satisfying. A word of advice: Never accuse your dear ones of neglecting you. Show sincere interest in their lives, and each call will be welcomed. It works.

OVERLOOKED BUT HAPPY AUNTIE
DEAR OVERLOOKED: I agree, phone calls to keep in touch are indeed lovely, but there is no excuse for failing to acknowledge a gift.

Best Gain In Seven Years

Stocks Enjoy Record '82 Volume

NEW YORK (UPI) — An unprecedented rally that exploded in mid-August propelled the 1982 stock market to its best gain in seven years on record volume during the worst recession since 1938.

The 1,000 level of the Dow Jones industrial average, once considered a goal, apparently became a floor in the late-year birth of a bull market that saw 100 million shares or more traded on 25 occasions.

Most analysts believe stocks will continue to move to new heights in 1983 although the road probably will be rocky and volatile.

The Dow Jones average, which lost 88.99 points the year before, gained 171.54 points to 1,046.54, a 19.6 percent increase. That was the best gain since a 38.3 percent surge in 1975 at the end of another severe recession.

More impressively, the Dow, which topped all other averages in gains, rose 269.62 points or 37.7 percent from a 27-month low of 776.92 on Aug. 12.

The widely followed average of 30 stocks hit an all-time high of 1,070.50 on Dec. 27 to culminate the August-November rally sparked by lower interest rates and Federal Reserve credit easing.

The broader-based averages also surged. The New York Stock Exchange index climbed 9.92 to 81.03 — a 13.95 percent increase. Standard & Poor's 500-stock index jumped 18.09 to 140.64 for a 14.76 percent increase.

The paper value of all stocks listed on the NYSE climbed $148.80 billion in 1982. Advancers topped decliners 1,590-510 among the 2,253 issues traded.

Volume again was the big New York Stock Exchange story, with a record 16,458,036,768 shares changing hands, eclipsing last year's mark of 11,853,293,531 shares by 39 percent. More than half that volume came after the bull market began Aug. 13.

Every volume standard was shattered, highlighted by a record 149,385,480 shares traded Nov. 4.

Brokerage houses reaped rewards of the trading bonanza and their stocks ranked among the best performers of 1982.

The first seven months were characterized by fluctuating prices amid investor concern about the battle over the budget and its $100 billion-plus deficit, high interest rates and the lengthy recession.

The Reagan administration, which pushed through the largest tax-cut in history in 1981, won the largest tax increase ever — $99 billion over three years — to cut the red ink.

Chairman Paul Volcker's Federal Reserve, under fire from all sides, was forced to make more money available to stem several emergency situations in addition to trying to revitalize the economy.

The collapse of Drysdale Government Securities, Lombard-Wall Securities and Penn Square Bank created fears of a credit crunch. The international crises caused by debt problems of Mexico, Argentina, Brazil and Poland required even more money.

Wall Street reacted initially with vigor to these crises because they produced easier credit.

Seeing these things happening, Henry Kaufman, the influential Salomon Brothers economist, stunned the investment community by changing his forecast for interest rates.

Thus, the Volcker-Kaufman duet kicked off the biggest surge in Wall Street's 190-year history and pushed the stock market into a new era of prices and heavy volume.

Blue-chips, high-technology issues and stocks of heavily capitalized companies were pacesetters, with speculative issues trailing much of the 12 months.

Energy stocks lagged the rest of the list in view of soft oil prices and an OPEC split on production and pricing policies.

"Toy Magnet" Assists In Anemia Diagnosis

BOSTON (UPI) — People with severe anemia and a rare genetic disorder can now be diagnosed and better treated with the aid of a "toy magnet" that measures iron levels when held over the liver, researchers say.

The new magnetic technique allows doctors safely and quickly to measure iron buildup that previously could be measured only by liver biopsy, a study reported in the New England Journal of Medicine said.

People with hemochromatosis, a rare genetic disorder where iron builds up to such massive levels critical organs are damaged, can now be diagnosed and treated in the early stages of the disease, said Dr. Gary M. Brittenham of Cleveland Metropolitan General Hospital.

The technique also allows effective monitoring of severe anemias who can die from excessive iron levels.

"Iron is the most important trace element in the body. Either too much or too little can cause problems," Brittenham said.

SQUID, as the superconducting susceptometer is called, operates with a weak magnetic field, "like a toy magnet," held over the patient's liver. The device counts the number of iron atoms in the body and feeds it to a computer that in seconds reads out the exact amount of iron present.

Whereas other diagnostic methods such as X-rays and ultrasound carry some danger, this technique is safe because it transfers virtually no energy into the body, Brittenham said.

People afflicted with hemochromatosis usually are healthy until 40 or 50, then begin to develop liver and heart disease, joint problems, diabetes or tumors, he said.

"It's an uncommon cause of very common problems," he said, adding that once diagnosed, hemochromatosis is easily treated by the old-fashioned method of bleeding the patient.

The new technique also can be used to aid severe anemias, such as those with thalassemia, a hereditary anemia that strikes Mediterraneans. They require regular blood transfusions and are susceptible because each transfusion contains iron.

They often die in their late teens or early 20s of heart failure due to toxic levels of iron, Brittenham said.

In the past few years, researchers have treated people with thalassemia with chelating agents that combine with iron so the body can excrete it.

Due To Social Security

Tax Bite Increases In 1983

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The new year brings higher Social Security taxes and Medicare costs for about 39 million Americans, but some retirees no longer need fear losing Social Security benefits because of outside earnings.

Social Security will take a bigger bite from the paychecks of nearly 10 million Americans in 1983, and Medicare deductibles will go up for more than 29 million old and disabled people.

The Social Security tax rate stays the same in 1983 as in 1982 — 6.7 percent each on employers and employees. But the maximum amount of earnings taxed will jump to $35,700, up from $32,400 in 1982. The rise is based on increases in national average earnings.

That means the top payroll tax will go up $221.10, to $2,391.90 in 1983. For the self-employed, who pay three-quarters of the combined employer-employee tax, the top will rise $308.95, to $3,337.95.

Social Security officials say 9.8 million Americans are expected to earn more than $32,400 in 1983, out of more than 116 million paying into the system.

There will be good news in 1983 for retirees, 70 to 72. Members of this select group can earn as much as they want without losing Social Security benefits, a bonus previously available only to those over 72.

But the Medicare deductible will rise Jan. 1, meaning more than 29 million Americans getting government health benefits will have to pay nearly 17 percent more out of their own pockets before insurance takes over.

The deductible, $260 in 1982, will go up to $304 in 1983. The increase is based on rising hospital costs. Medicare patients also will have to pay more if they stay in the hospital more than 60 days. Those who stay 60 to 90 days will pay $76 a day, up from 1982's $65; those staying more than 90 days will pay $152 a day, up from $130.

Patients who spend more than 20 days in a nursing home will pay $38 a day, up from $32.50, for the 21st through 100th day.

Other Social Security changes taking effect Jan. 1:

—People under 65 who receive benefits, such as children, widows and early retirees, can make $4,920 in 1983 without losing benefits, up from $4,440.

—For beneficiaries, 65 to 69, the earnings limit rises from $6,000 in 1982 to $6,600 in 1983.

—A worker must earn $370 a quarter-year in 1983, up from $340, to qualify for minimum Social Security coverage.

Despite Gloomy Economy

Florida Tourism Looks Rosy

ORLANDO (UPI) — Americans may have fewer dollars to spend on luxuries in these troubled economic times, but one thing they're not giving up is vacations.

That fact is borne out by a 35 percent increase in tourism in Florida during the third quarter of 1982. State officials are overjoyed.

"The economy doesn't seem to affect tourism that much. It's a factor, but there's still a lot of people that can afford to travel," said Dean Gaiser, assistant director of the state's Division of Tourism in Tallahassee.

"It's kind of hard for a husband to say to his wife and children, 'we can't take a vacation this year after we have planned on it.'"

Approximately 26.3 million domestic and Canadian tourists visited Florida from January through September. That's a 7 percent jump over the same period last year, and those figures do not include visitors from abroad.

Gaiser said tourists are still coming to Florida in bunches because the Sunshine State is a good vacation value. It has a variety of attractions and it has, of course, a warm climate and hundreds of miles of sun-kissed beaches.

Additionally, carriers are reducing prices in and out of Florida to boost travel, while hotels and cruise lines are offering bargain rates.

"I think people are pretty careful of their budgets now, but by the same token Florida offers probably the most economical vacation that you could take any place," he said. "They get more for the buck here than any place I could think of."

The Epcot Center, Walt Disney World's new $1 billion theme park and adult fantasy factory, has helped lure millions of tourists to Florida since it opened its gates in Lake Buena Vista on Oct. 1. As a matter of fact, more than a million people visited the Epcot Center during the first 24 days.

"Epcot has made an appreciable impact on the state of Florida," Gaiser said. "It's just another opportunity for visitors to come to the state."

"Many people come to Florida for the sun and the fun, but that doesn't mean they spend 12.9 days on the beach. They do a lot of things and go a lot of places. Now, they'll go to Epcot."

Law Price, director of tourism for Dade County, said officials were worried at first that Epcot "would siphon off people from south Florida."

"But really, people will go to Disney and Epcot and stay a few days and then come down here for the beaches and the international flavor we offer," Price said.

Tourism officials believe the negative image of Miami being a haven for criminals and refugees is wearing off. For example, crime was down 4.4 percent during the first six months of 1982 compared to the same period last year.

"South Florida is still a traditional winter resort destination," Gaiser said. "It's not as busy in the summer months, but it will have a good winter season."

"People who come to Miami take day trips to other places. They can get on a bus or plane and be in Orlando or Epcot, Disney or Sea World, or in Tampa for Busch Gardens."

"People can take almost a regional vacation, if you please," he said. "They just fan out. They use wherever they happen to land as the spoke and still do a lot of things from there."

State officials aren't the only ones optimistic about the future of tourism in Florida.

Sea World of Orlando, a marine-life theme park that features ski shows, dozens of dolphins, sharks and other sea animals, recently announced a $100 million expansion project. The project includes an $80 million, 780-room hotel across from Sea World.

Hilton and Hyatt also plan to erect new hotels in several locations in Florida.

"There is so much expansion going on," said Gaiser. "Those people aren't investing megabucks to lose money. It's all very positive."

NOVENA TO ST JUDE — On Holy St. Jude, Apostle and Martyr, great in virtue and rich in miracles, near kinsman of Jesus Christ, faithful intercessor of all who invoke your special patronage in time of need to you I have recourse from the depths of my heart and humbly beg to whom God has given such great power to come to my assistance. Help me in my present and urgent petition. In return I promise to make your name known and cause you to be invoked. Say Three Our Fathers, Three Hail Marys and Glorias. Publication must be promised. St. Jude pray for us and all who invoke your aid. Amen. This Novena has never been known to fail. Thank you St. Jude for favors received.

HOROSCOPE

By HERNICE BEDE OSOL

For Tuesday, January 4, 1983

YOUR BIRTHDAY January 4, 1983
Ways will open this coming year that could enable you to fulfill several secret ambitions. Obstacles which previously thwarted your progress will be eliminated.
CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Do not introduce changes today into career situations now running smoothly. Instead of improving your position, they could complicate and weaken it.
LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) You have an edge over your peers today in that you should be able to see opportunity where they see only question marks.
VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) If you are on familiar ground you could develop something profitable for yourself today, but the same results may not hold true in untried areas.
LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Lady Luck wants to assist you today, but she'll be waiting for you to get things rolling before she steps into the picture.
SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) You could be rather fortunate in material ways today. Someone in the background will lend a hand. Acknowledge the contribution.
SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Situations you personally control should work out well for you today, but in matters where you share the helm you might run aground.
TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Strive to be independent today, but don't be too proud to ask for assistance in situations which you can't handle alone. Two heads are better than one.

No Need To Worry About Lean Meat

DEAR DR. LAMB — I am concerned about a recent report concerning diet and cancer. The report said that you were more likely to get cancer of the breast, prostate and large bowel if you ate too much meat or used too many dairy products.

DEAR READER — You must be referring to the National Academy of Sciences report on nutrition and cancer. If so, you have not read the actual recommendations carefully enough. The report did say there appeared to be an increased risk of cancer of the breast, prostate and large bowel if you were on a high-fat diet and did caution against using too much fat meats or fatty dairy products in your diet.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I have recently developed diabetes insipidus from a car-accident. Since this form of diabetes seems so rare could you give me the basics of it? I am only 16 and my doctor told me to prepare to have it the rest of my life.

DEAR READER — As you know, this form of diabetes has nothing to do with the common diabetes mellitus (sugar diabetes). Diabetes insipidus is caused by a failure of production of the antidiuretic hormone from the pituitary gland under the brain. Accidents that injure the area are a cause.

WIN AT BRIDGE

By Oswald Jacoby and James Jacoby
Oswald: "Declarer gets to play 26 cards as a unit. That gives him a decided advantage. The higher the contract, the less this advantage, but it is still there."
