WIND WALKER

(From Voices)
I have been walking in wind all day and my heart is weary Breasting its rival force, and my eyes are weary With tears at its bite, and my feet lag in the autumn lane Treading this end of summer.
I shall not come again
To this country of green hills where the wind goes crying like birds, and the stricken leaves on the long gust flying
Are the taken shadows of birds, and the fugitive water
Tramples the trout-bright sand.
Let the winds scatter
The leaf and the shadow of leaves,
the bird and its stinging;
I shall not walk here again, feel sharp winds bringing Death to the summer of leaves, and quiet to, lost birds, and to love and my heart the winter of frost.

—BERT COOKSLEY

The latest news from New York is that Sam Byrd has signed Paul Robeson to play the lead in his new play.

Snow fell in New York City the other day proving that there's one more reason for being glad to be in Florida.

One way to get that sculpture to stop busting up her valuable pieces of art is to tell her, all right, go ahead and shoot the works.

Bang! Bang! Bang! That noise you heard this morning, for once, thank heavens, was not the Lone Ranger but some lone shirker getting the duck shooting in early.

John Garner insists he is going to be a candidate for president no matter what Roosevelt does. So evidently the man Whom Garner called "the boss" in 1932 is no longer the boss as far as Garner is concerned.

Francis Whitehall of DeLand has insisted right out and said he was going to run for governor next year. Most of the candidates so far have been heard boasting around the mulberry bush about it.

If you want to get some idea of the number of visitors coming to Florida next winter, count the out-of-state license you see already on Florida's highway. And the season doesn't really begin for two months.

William Meade came out strong for Roosevelt and a third term. The former California governor and the man who swung the California delegation to Roosevelt in 1932, went over to the other side. Look as if he would be going out on a limb if he had heard the President were going to give it a try.

Rockefeller Center

Not all of the work which has been provided during the years of the depression has sprung from the WPA or other government sources. A good deal of it has been furnished by private capital, by millionaires with initiative and daring who, though they saw no immediate prospect for profits, still managed to believe in the future of their country. Such a man was John D. Rockefeller, Jr. who spent $100,000,000 during the past eight years on Rockefeller Center.

"A fit setting for the marvels of Rockefeller Center, whose completion was signalled lately when John D.
Rockefeller, Jr. drove a final rivet, is some provided by a border of plane trees," says the New York Herald Tribune.
"They enclose it on three sides, except for the Fifth Avenue front, on which are eight English elms. An area of twelve acres, above which tower some of the world's tallest buildings, is thus rescued from aridity by a reminder of green spaces, further carried out by the spashing fountains and flowers of the sunken plaza. The completeness with which the Center has been built and adorned is of a piece with the wise and courageous policy which inspired its beginning in a time of deep depression and uncertainty.

More than $100,000,000 was spent on it, and the work utilized 11,000,000 man-hours over a period of eight years. How great a public help that was in a period of unemployment and distress, it would be difficult to exaggerate. Faith in the future, shown in going ahead with this giant enterprise, has inevitably been rewarded. More than 25,000 persons—the population of a small city—are occupied in its buildings, while more than 100,000 persons pass in and out of its doors every day. We hope the trees which now define the boundaries of this city-within-a-city will thrive, and will remind those who admire them of their debt to the public spirit which put them there."

Strange Noises

What are the worst noises with which a visitor from the country to the city has to contend? J. A. McCarthy, executive secretary of the Hotel Association of New York, in reviving an anti-noise campaign, presented a list of twenty common noises of which guests in his hotels most commonly complained. They were as follows:

- 1—Sounding of automobile horns.
- 2—Fire engines.
- 3—Noises from signal devices on automobiles, motorcycles, buses and street cars.
- 4—The creation of loud and excessive noises in connection with the loading or unloading of any vehicle and the opening or destruction of boxes, crates and the like.
- 5—The sudden application of brakes.
- 6—The use of overloaded vehicles causing unnecessary grating, grinding and rattling.
- 7—Police radio cars.
- 8—Radios in waiting taxicabs.
- 9—The operation of radios, phonographs and amusement instruments between 11 P. M. and 7 A. M.
- 10—Altercations of taxicab drivers jockeying for position in feeder lines.
- 11—Motorcycles used in connection with delivering automobiles to and from garages.
- 12—Loose manhole covers.
- 13—The shouting and crying of peddlers, hawkers and vendors which disturb the peace and quiet of the neighborhood.
- 14—Discharge of exhaust from steam engines, stationary engines or motor vehicles without the use of a muffler.
- 15—Racing of motors while garage employees are tuning them up.
- 16—The keeping of animals or birds which disturb the repose of persons in hotels.
- 17—The erection, excavation, demolition or repair of buildings in the vicinity, except between the hours of 7 A. M. and 6 P. M.
- 18—The use of any loud speaker or other instrument for attracting attention to any performance, show or sale or display of merchandise.
- 19—The use of mechanical loud speakers on trucks or other vehicles for advertising purposes.
- 20—The blowing of steam whistles attached to any stationary boiler.

Now it would seem to us that anyone who could get used to all that noise in the city would find it pretty peaceful and quiet in the country. We were surprised not long ago when a friend of ours from New York spending the night with us announced the next morning that noise of the crickets and bullfrogs had kept him awake. The silence had been positively deafening.

St. Johns Defeats Florida Power By Score Of 6 To 5

Powermen Forfeit Game Due To Lack Of Enough Players

St. Johns softball team defeated a crippled Florida Power and Light club last night 6 to 5. The game was forfeited by Florida Power due to not having enough players to form a team. However, the team managed to find two or three persons to fill in so a game was played anyhow although it didn't count in the records.

Florida Power scored once in the third, once in the fifth, once in the sixth, and twice in the seventh to tie the score at 5-5. But St. Johns came back in their half of the seventh to score one run to take the game.

St. Johns recorded two runs in the first inning, one in the fourth, one in the fifth, and one in the seventh.

With the score tied at 5-5, St. Johns came to the plate. C. Williams grounded out, R. Cornell was safe when his ground ball to third was thrown wide at first. On J. Tatum's line double to left field, he rounded third and beat the throw home for the winning run.

Hodge, Hopkins, and Darrell Ferguson led Florida Power to a 5-5 tie. For St. Johns J. Tatum showed the way with three hits out of four times up.

Pitching for Florida Power, Darrell Ferguson permitted seven hits while Mason, tossing for St. Johns, gave up nine safeties.

Hundreds Are Known Dead In Oil Town Fire

San Lopez Contreras, decreed three days of national mourning and quickly raised a relief fund of $110,000.

Several years ago the government, with the assistance of the oil companies, built a new village to replace Lagunillas. In spite of the fire, water, gas and lights, the natives did not like it and failed to move in great numbers.

Many of the victims were believed to be children.

More than 3000 men, women and children were trapped when the fire started in the quarter built on piles above an oil-filled lake.

The fire turned oil-capped waters of Lake Maracaibo into a raging inferno along piles connecting petroleum wells with the mainland.

It started when a gasoline lamp caught fire in the Caracas bar.

Lagunillas, founded 25 years ago with the exploitation of oil in Lake Maracaibo, was built in two parts—one over the lake and the other on land. The greater section, inhabited chiefly by squatters, was the part razed by the fire.

The flames spread quickly throughout Lagunillas, most of which was built on stilts, and burned a short bridge connecting the town with the mainland. Destruction of the bridge cut off the only escape for the inhabitants, 2000 of whom survived but were left homeless.

Witnesses said the flames, licking the oil-soaked foundations of the huts which were constructed of packagings and discarded metal, rose to a great height as the fire swept over the lake, the surface of which is always covered by an inch-thick oil cap.

The screams of the victims were heard as their marks blazed away and many, with retreat cut off, were forced to jump into the flaming lake.

Two hundred persons who attempted to escape aboard a lighted raft were lost when the craft over-topped, apparently because of overloading.

Survivors, many of them suffering from burns, were given refuge at nearby oil fields, while approximately 1000 orphans were

Jim Higgins Advances To Semi-Finals Of Tourney

Jim Higgins advanced to the semi-finals of the city badminton tournament last night by winning his quarter final match from Bob Rella in two straight games.

The scores were: 15-8, 16-6.

No other matches were played but several will be played tonight and tomorrow night. Scheduled for play yet in the men's tournament before the semi-finals are Clyde Parker and C. B. Wisecup, and the winner of that match will play Miss Dot Powell tomorrow night.

Director of Recreation R. M. Hardaker invited the public to attend the matches, pointing out that the admission is free and that some good badminton will be seen.

and other cooperatives, the mass line people objecting to such a use being put in these funds and are seeking an injunction. This is an un-understand the situation.

"Not only have shippers, both cooperative and independent, joined with the gas people in the suit, but the shippers, themselves, are about to institute action to prevent the State using these funds for such a purpose."

"Sound objections to the State entering the fruit packing business suggest themselves as we try to consider this thing fairly. Why should the State take money from a fund which is created largely from a tax on the shipping industry, to build packing houses which will compete with those already existing?"

"The excuse is made that a number of small, independent growers have no homes or packing facilities of their own, etc."

"Cooperative growers didn't have any home either until they built packing houses of their own and made the necessary sacrifices to do it. We regret that Florida Citrus Growers, Inc., the so-called, Simons-pure grower organization, apparently favored—perhaps sponsored—the packing shed law and is now attempting to defend it."

"It is not within the province of this bulletin to voice an opinion as to which is the better system, but in arriving at our decision we should rather remember that the right to individual liberty and to private property cannot exist if the state and the individuals are to be allowed to compete one with the other. Ultimately there will be but one survivor and it will not be the individual. It never that four years of service will be performed would thus bring honor to my mother and father and leave a fine heritage to my wife and three children.

"The supreme ideal of my candidacy," he said, "will be to assist in all Florida's activities for civic righteousness, for absolute honesty in public office, for progressive business and forward-looking administration in city, county and state."

He declared Florida is "outstanding in natural advantages" but said "poor local, county and state government has restricted the development that merit warrants. To overcome this condition I propose the application of plain business principles, backed by an aroused and militant citizenry."

Honorable Murray Sans, state's attorney of DeLand, introduced Mr. Whitehair.

"He is a man whose word is relied upon—who is loyal to his friends; a man whose integrity is unquestioned and whose ability is known all over Florida" he said.

The Democrats of Florida in selecting a person for Governor at the coming primary are going to insist that that man be one of intelligence and of integrity, a man possessing the qualifications of a statesman, a man of courage, a man of action and a man who knows the needs of the people of the State of Florida.

"Francis P. Whitehair is that man and unless my predictions go amiss, he is the next Governor of Florida," Mr. Sans said.

A large crowd of Whitehair's Orange county friends were in the crowd in addition to representatives from Lake, Seminole, Bradford, Folk, Hillsborough, Duval, Alachua, Escambia, Pinellas, Leon, Levy and many other sections of the State.

"Build-Up": Way To Ease Women's Pain

Many weak, run-down women suffer from a vicious circle. Their under-nourishment often leads to what is called functional dysmenorrhea and its symptoms—headaches, nervousness, irritability, intermittent cramp-like pains—from which many women suffer. Surest way to break the vicious circle is by building strength and energy, which so many find may be done with the help of CARDUI. It stimulates appetite, aids digestion, and thus helps in this "build-up" of physical resistance. Women also report that, if taken just before and during "the time," CARDUI lessens the pain and discomfort of the period.

Pierce Butler Of High Court Is Dead At 73

Jurist Entered Hospital For Treatment Of Bladder Ailment In 1938

Justice Called Conservative

Had Been One Of Consistent Dissenters In Court Decisions

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16.—(AP)—Associate Justice Pierce Butler of the Supreme Court died today.

The 73-year-old justice had entered the hospital for treatment of bladder trouble last summer, and with the exception of two weeks when he was able to return to his home, had remained there since.

Death meant that President Roosevelt's appointees would be in the majority on the court. Mr. Roosevelt has named four of those on the nine-man tribunal.

Butler was a Democrat, but officials of the Administration had named him as one of the two "conservative" members of the court, the other being Justice James C. McReynolds.

Roosevelt Starts Worry Of Third Term Speculation

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16.—(AP)—President Roosevelt started other third term speculation yesterday by an off-hand remark with which he prefaced an address at the laying of the cornerstone of the Thomas Jefferson memorial.

"This is the second occasion on which I have had the privilege of coming in an official capacity to this site," he said, "and I hope by January, 1941, I shall be able to come to the final dedication of the memorial itself."

Roosevelt's present term expires on the 20th of the month he mentioned and the dedication is scheduled for that month.

Whether his statement was a reiteration of the hope previously expressed that he may retire from public life on that date, was the question that is raised.

If the statement was applicable to the third term question—and men in Roosevelt's position do not lightly make assertions which contain political considerations—it may have meant that the President does not expect to run again.

But at least it was far from definite and left the third term question still unanswered. However, the question which the Lincoln Memorial memorialized the President in a rough way.

The President spoke beneath a chandelier by his speaker's platform framed in garlands and gay wires. A few hundred persons were seated in the balcony below the Lincoln Memorial.

Local Nimrods Report Good Luck And Plenty Of Ducks This Season

The rumble of guns heard in the distance yesterday morning and throughout the day wasn't the outbreak of war on this side of the world but just the opening of duck season, although at times in some areas it sounded very much like a young war, as the hunters threw lead at the whirring wings of ducks, coots and other migratory waterfowl.

South America Al Capone Is Trade Is Fast Given Release From Prison

Chicago's One Time Gang Overlord Disappears In Custody Of Federal Agents

NEW YORK, Nov. 16.—(AP)—Affected like all other ports of the world by Europe's war, this country's only "free port," yesterday welcomed an ever-increasing hoard of South American commodities as its operators forswore a permanent suspension in commerce between the United States and its sister republics to the south.

The war naturally has hurt our European business, cutting down imports from all European countries and especially those at war," said Harry C. Shanks, president of the corporation operating foreign trade zone No. 1. "But trade with South America and the Far East, particularly South America, is building up fast—so much so that already it's more than offsetting the decline from Europe."

With that he pointed to 500,000 cases about 5,000 pounds—of corned beef from Argentina and Uruguay, most of it bound eventually for Europe, and some 10,000,000 pounds of Brazilian nuts, awaiting transshipment to other countries.

The zone, in effect, is a port in but not a part of the United States. Goods from all foreign ports may be unloaded there without payment of duties and stored, repacked, sorted, reloaded, or then may be sent to other parts of the world; if to foreign ports, still without payment of customs duties; if sold in a United States market, duty must be paid before they leave the zone. Less than 50 percent of the total goods received enter the United States zone, Shanks said.

Florida Citrus In Northern Markets Reported Better

Heavy Shipments Are Holding Prices At Depressed Levels

LAKELAND, Nov. 16.—(AP)—Florida oranges and grapefruit reaching northern markets continue to show improvement in quality. L. W. Marvin, advertising manager of the Florida citrus commission, advised Fred W. Davis, chairman of the shippers' advisory committee, Mr. Marvin based his report to Mr. Davis on information received from the commission's sales promotional force, who keep the commission advised of conditions as they find them in all markets.

Wheeler Demands Investigation Of New Destroyers

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16.—(AP)—Senator Wheeler, Democrat, Montana, demanded yesterday a congressional investigation to place responsibility for the construction of the "Wheeler" type of new destroyers for the United States Navy.

"Ascertaining that he could see no excuse whatever for a thing of this kind," Wheeler said, "I have thought the facts ought to be laid before Congress before any votes on new defense appropriations."

Acting Secretary Edison accepted recently the navy had found that some of its newest type destroyers lacked sufficient stability. But he contended that the defects were not serious and could be called "top-heavy" destroyers. Today Edison reiterated that the ships were not getting quality, which is now more acceptable. Midway destroyers are being received with favor, he said, and the rapid diminishing of supplies of California valence indicates the possibility of a healthier market condition.

The first of the big national citrus sales got under way Thursday of this week, and should be very helpful in clearing retailers' and wholesalers' stocks, Mr. Marvin pointed out.

Florida's first big "blast" in full color of advertising oranges, grapefruit and tangerines will appear in next week's issues of the American Weekly, popular Sunday supplement distributed by 17 of the nation's leading Sunday newspapers in Florida's trade territory. This supplement has a circulation of 5,200,000 copies.

Hyacinths In Wekiva River To Be Cleared

Col. Watkins States Stream To Be Open To Source In Week

In about a week it is expected that the Wekiva River will be cleared of hyacinths from the mouth of the St. Johns River to Wekiva Springs, Col. Lewis H. Watkins, U. S. District Engineer, advised Secretary Ralph Bagwell of the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce today.

Col. Watkins' statement was in reply to a request that the U. S. Army Engineers include the Wekiva River in their hyacinth control program.

The lengthy request for action prepared by the Chamber of Commerce from letters written by those living near Wekiva Springs, owning land in the vicinity or having other interests in the river outlined the value of freeing the channel from the hyacinth jams in order that the river might be navigated to the St. Johns River.

For a number of years, there have been jams at various points in the tributary of the St. Johns River, which those requesting the removal of the hyacinths declared has eliminated entirely the possibilities of pleasure craft navigating the stream and greatly reduced the amount of fishing since many parts of the river were not accessible.

Col. Watkins' reply is as follows: "In reply to your letters, I am pleased to inform you that since Oct. 20 this office has been clearing the hyacinths out of the Wekiva River. It is expected they have been cleared from the mouth of the river almost to the highway bridge. The jam at the bridge has been broken and a large part of the hyacinths have drifted through. It is expected that in about one week, the hyacinths on this stream, except the fringes along the bank, will be cleared by Wekiva Springs."

Those who wrote letters to Col. Watkins, the contents of which were used in the report are as follows:

Hamilton Holt, president of Rollins College; Fleetwood B. Peoples, aquatic director of Rollins College; A. C. Slaughter, executive secretary of the Great Lakes Chamber of Commerce; C. H. Womble, distributor for the Gulf Oil Corporation of Apopka; H. S. Welch of Apopka; Harry C. Hughes of Orlando; Mark V. Ryan of Apopka; J. R. Witherington of Orlando; Charles A. Johnson of Orlando; R. T. Overstreet and Archie B. Smith of Sanford; John R. Stennetts of Apopka; Leslie P. Waite of Apopka; L. T. Starbird of Apopka; L. P. Hagan of Sanford and P. P. Campbell, president of the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce.

BERLIN, Nov. 16.—(AP)—Germany yesterday answered the war challenge of Winston Churchill, British first lord of the admiralty, with a statement that Nazi bombers plan and intend to "show the British what it means to be at war with Germany."

The statement intensified bombing attacks on the British Isles, following Field Marshal Goering's threat to "rain down the war" on Britain, coincided with announcement by the high command that a single German U-boat in the past few days had sunk 26,000 tons of shipping and captured 1,000 prisoners.

"German bombers are showing the British what it means to be at war with Germany," the high command said.

In reference to the bombing attack on the Shetland Islands (where the British denied that any heavy unit had been hit or even attacked), the official agency said:

"German air units discovered two smaller, several smaller freighters and a large passenger ship in Sullomvaag.

"The air fighters decided on the cruiser and heavy bombers objectives. Despite firing from light and heavy anti-aircraft guns from the coastal batteries and ships, the German flyers dived from the clouds at their objectives.

"Two flying boats were destroyed by 50 kilogram bombs. A heavy tank was believed to have been hit. The cruiser and heavy flares and smoke were noted by the flyers.

"It can be expected that more surprise attacks will follow. "Often during unfavorable weather German reconnaissance flyers have undertaken flights across the North sea deep into enemy air territory."
