Sanford looks at new image

By LAURA L. CULLIVAN Herald staff writer

SANFORD - The walls coming up between subdivisions and space widening between homes may not be the wave of the future, after all.

Some Sanford residents say their downtown neighborhood is a model of both past and future trends, where closely clustered homes invite a community spirit hindered by fences and large yards that separate people in newer neighborhoods.

That is a concept promoted by architect and planner Andrea Duany of Miami, who the Sanford Historic Trust wants to pay $12,500 to make recommendations on how to enhance the downtown area's tree-lined brick streets and commercial district. Trust members hope Duany's suggestions will be incorporated into the city's comprehensive plan, which outlines zoning and land use for the city.

Duany is known for his work with the neotraditionalist concept, an idea that builds new cities on the kind of foundation that older communities thrived on, trust president Laura Strachia said.

"The idea is: 'Old town, new ways," Strachla said. "Usually Duany designs new towns based on old ways."

The cities Duany has designed, including the 10-year-old Panhandle resort community Seaside near Destin, place houses close together with sidewalks skirting the front porches of neighborhood homes. The concept, trust member and downtown resident Hal Welch said, forces people to get to know each cities are already in place here, Straehla said. All Sanford needs is the planner's help in exploiting those attributes, she said.

Duany bases his ideas for town planning on research of older towns like Nantucket, Savannah, Charleston, Winter Park and Georgetown, Welch said. In those cities where historic homes are close together and walking is as convenient as driving, he said, property values are much higher than in newer subdivisions with larger lots.

Duany has agreed to come to Sanford for a three-day visit. During the three days, the planner will tour Sanford, meet with city officials and hear ideas from city residents during a town meeting. No date has been set for the visit, Straehla said.

Ideas shared during the town meeting will be critical to Duany's recommendations, Strachla said. The town meeting approach to planning is one of the reasons the planner was sought for Sanford, she DHAHRAN, Saudi Arabia — Iraq today renewed its claims that allied air raids were battering civilian areas, reporting 150 people died in an overnight air strike. It was the highest death toll reported by Iraq from a single raid in the Persian Gulf War.

As the unrelenting allied air attack continued on Iraq. a U.S. Marine amphibious assault force was moving into place today in the Persian Gulf. Allied commanders say, however, that any ground war to retake Kuwait will probably follow still more air attacks on Iraqi forces.

Gen. H. Norman Schwarzkopf, commander of Operation Desert Storm, said his greatest concern in the war is that the Iraqis are 'capable of the most heinous acts."

HEATHROW — The district director of the Florida Department of Transportation says Seminole County will fare well from recent increases in state road revenues.

"We're spending up over $300 million a year now for the 10-county district," said Tom Berry, DOT secretary for the district that in-cludes Seminole County.

"That's probably an increase in the neighborhood of $70 million a year over what the Florida Legislature and Governor approved the year before." Berry said. TALLAHASSEE - State lawmakers are talking about improving services to Fiorida's poor, old, young, sick and disabled by reorganizing the state Department of Health and Rehabilitative

The mammoth agency would retain its aging programs under one of the proposals discussed Turaday by the House Health. Aging and Rehabilitation Subcommittee.

A new Department of Elderly Affairs would be created under draft legislation discussed by the subcommittee, but HRS would remain the official state unit on aging as far as the federal Older Americans Act is concerned.

Creating a new department for the elderly was one of Gov. Lawton Chiles' top campaign piedges last year.

"The approach that we've started is really to go slow and really take a look at it," Rep. Lois Frankel, chair of the House HRS Committee, said. Voters authorised lawmakers to create a department in November 1968 but did not order the Legislature to establish it. Chiles has said that a new department could be created without any

"The governor's office is wanting to move a little bit quicker." Frankel said, adding that the House proposal to create a department but not give it any of the programs HRS now runs is "part of our accommodation to the governor."

The staff draft discussed Tuesday proposed elevating the Pepper Commission on Aging to department level. It was just created two years ago by lawmakers to write a master state policy plan and evaluate state services to the elderly from all state agencies.

The Long Term Care Ombudeman Councile, which investigate complaints about nursing homes and adult congregate living facilities. would also be moved to the new department from the 18-member Pepper Commission, which has a □ See Elderly, Page SA

Patrick Delahanty, 27, and Bill Spissak, 26, were originally charged with felonies carrying a maximum prison term of 20 years after the April 1989 incident at MacDill Air Force Base. Those charges were dropped.

But in the last month, prosecutors have quietly refiled less-serious charges against Delahanty of New Port Richey.

This time, he's charged with intentionally causing less than $100 of damage to government property, a misdemeanor. He could be sentenced to up to one year in prison and fined

No new charges have been filed against Spissak of Hudson, but Air Force attorney Timothy Ritzka said the government plans to pursue a new charge.

FORT LAUDERDALE — Walking your dog along the beach here is illegal — and so is lounging with your lizard, Chris DeMango found out.

Mortimer, DeMango's 20-pound purple-tongued monitor lizard, complete with matching pink doll sweater and leash, was out for exercise Monday before visiting a group of school

DeMango said a walk makes Mortimer more doctle for the kids, but police said it makes him an illegal lizard — animals are banned on the beach. DeMango was ticketed, and in theory his lizard law violation could cost him 60 days in jail and a $500 fine, said police spokesman Ott Cefkin. The officer who issued the ticket laughed, Mango said, but he

Last December, Margolis and the Senate would do some "belt tightening" along with agencies because of the budget crunch. In January, Margolis said she doubted that state employees would get any pay raises in the upcoming budget year because or the shortage.

However, key staffers who have received increases include: Patricia Cerra, a longtime aide to Margolis. Since last June, Cerra's annual salary has umped from $37,368 to

Growth in Keys could be curbed greatly

Accordated Press

KEY WEST - Monroe County commissioners have issued a new policy direction for the Fiorida Keys that could put growth limitations on the 106-mile island chain.

The Overseas Highway carrying tourists to the mainland's tropics will never be wider than four lanes for long distances, and a housing permit allocation system will weigh applications based on community needs, commissioners decided Monday.

"Back in July and August of last year, even the old commission, which was considered pro-growth oriented, had already determined most of these things," Commissioner John Stormont said Tuesday.

By taking an overall look at policies set piecemeal in recent years, the commission rejected historic growth projections for 400-700 new housing units a year in favor of a 200-300 range, Stormont said.

But Monroe commissioners have a reputation for contrariness, and even Stormont conceded, "We set a new direction every time commissioners get elected. That's every two years."

The reaction so far is muted because the policy direction is so general.

Specific goals will take months to develop in a region deemed an area of critical state concern because of the pressure tourists and residents place on unique coral reefs.

seagrass beds and sensitive wildlife.
"The bottom line is going to be when the masses stand up and scream, 'Property rights,'" Stormont said, recalling fractious debates and lawsuits flying in all directions in the 1980s.

Bill Smith, executive director of the 205-member Florida Keya Contractors Association, is gratified that the commission will study the capacity of the Keys' infrastructure rather than relying on heated

"Obviously those decisions are going to cause a slow up in building, which is what it's designed to do," Smith said.

Four other members of the family were poisoned but survived. Mrs. Carr's son, Duane Dubberly, 19, and stepson, Travis Carr, 18, underwent months of physical therapy. Husband Parcarlyn Carr and a 2-year-old girl also drank from the bottles but were not hospitaltsed.

Physician, test thyself

Many Americans have convinced themselves that AIDS is a disease for others to get. Now, that powerful, if misplaced, sense of denial has been shaken by the news that a Florida dentist infected with the AIDS virus likely transmitted the deadly disease to three Suddenly, AIDS seemed to loom on everyone's doorstep. That caused handwringing conspicuously absent when the AIDS threat seemed largely targeted at gays and drug users. And the medical profession faced a tough public-relations problem.

The profession's solution was announced recently. It represents an important step forward in the battle against the AIDS pandemic.

The American Medical Association and the American Dental Association urged AIDSinfected physicians to warn their patients or to stop medical treatments that risk transmission of the disease. The AMA also urged doctors who perform surgery or other invasive procedures to determine their HIV.

The organizations indicated that compliance with this advice was an ethical obligation. It's also common sense. Any doctor — or other American — who thinks he or she is at risk of infection should seek testing. Early detection of HIV-infection is the key to postponing the symptoms of full-blown AIDS. And clearly, anyone who knows he is infected should immediately stop all behavior that places others at risk — whether the unsafe actions are sex or surgery.

The AMA and ADA based their directives on a health policy that has served well in this pandemic — voluntary testing. Threats of mandatory testings contains a released to employers or the public, drives high-risk reprosper undeground. Health-care professionals were wise to stick with the TOM voluntary policy when policing themselves.

It's only prudent to note that doctor-topatient infections are fare. The federal

The real problem is not the exploitation of the Willie Horton issue made Atwater sound raciet. The trouble is that it stirred racial animosity for political gain.

Anyway, Atwater deserves sympathy as he struggles against a dreadful illness and worries about a premature death. And he deserves credit for seeing, albeit belatedly, that ambition doesn't excuse indecent factics.

Bring our Korea MIAs home

JACKSONVILLE — Tom Gregory says he met Gene Connors at the beginning of the Korean War. It was 1950, and they were all-American fellows. Gragory was stocky, Connors was thin; they were known as "Pat Boy" and "Skinny." They shared the essentials of the moment: Asian beer, combat fortheles and mutual trust.

foxholes and mutual trust.

The last time they any one another was on a snowy November day. They were among the allied forces retreating from the bitterly contested Chosin Reservoir. Gregory says Connors was blown off the ground by a bomb blast. Then, as the two men embraced for a final, terrible instant, Skinny said, "I think I want to go home."

Gene Connors didn't make it home. The truck in which he was evacuated was truck in which he was evacuated was eventually intercepted by hostile forces, and he became a very sad statistic. He was one of the many thousands of U.S. soldiers who were left behind, forever missing in action, who've not been brought back to their country.

Until now, that is. Recently, the U.S. government has begun a tenuous effort to recover the remains of the MIAs from Kores. The man who has initiated the process is Tom Gregory. He says he didn't forget his pal's last wish, and he has dedicated much of the intervening decades to bringing home all of the MIAs.

It's not been easy. Gregory says most people save forgotten about the Korean missing — in eart, because they've forgotten the war itself.

part, because they've forgotten the war itself. He says the nation worries over the men being lost in the Persian Gulf, it remains troubled by the 2,000 still abandoned in Vietnam, but it long ago set aside the question of more than 8,000 Gla who remain in Korsa.

Oregory is now 87. He was an artillery sergeant during the war, and he is presently an engineering analyst in Jacksonville. He says he started talking about MIA repairiations soon after the Korean armistice, but sobody was interested. He says Washington ignared it, and the mainline service groups were almost as bad.

At length, he joined a veterans organization known as the Chosin Few (i.e., the reservoir campaign). The alliance president then was Frank Kerr, who also wanted the MiAs returned. He put Gregory in charge of what would be the only national effort to account for the missing and press for their homecoming.

Gregory went first to the National Archives. He says he could not find anyone in government who could so suich as recount now many men had been left in Kores. He says he perused the records, and then talked with former POWs: He likewise found a list of MIA names inactived on a manuscial at a military conservy in Marchivel:

"I finally settled on a working number. The number is 0,102 still missing in Kores. I don't know how accurate it is. The government doesn't know how accurate it is. Nobody but God knows how accurate it is. There may be 10,000 or 12,000 men actually missing, but we say it is 8,182. It gives us something to go on."

Once armed with the number, Oregory and Kerr made contact with the North Koreans.

Gregory says it turned out to be revealing. He ed Nations claimed the United States had never formally asked for the MIA remains. and, in fact, his na-tion had no objection to giving them up. Gregory says the Koreans began coo-perating in 1985. But they wanted Wash-ington in on the business, and that became a political matter. Gregory says the U.S. State Department fussed.

waffled and delayed.
He spent the next four years trying to create a contract be tween countries that do not have diplomatic relations.

Finally, last summer, the United States agreed to send an official delegation to Panmunjom. That's the internationalized town where the old antagonists meet to threah out postwar disputes. Oregory was included; he says a stiff, solemn ceremony was conducted, and the North Koreans turned over the remains of five Americans:

"Some of these people still had dog tags. There were worn cigarette lighters and other personal items. It was all very moving. I remember I had a sense of great satisfaction. It took almost 40 years, but it was worth it. The U.S. was finally remembering the men they left behind. We were finally bringing them home."

That is not to say, however, the nation is finally ready to correct the oversight complete-ity. Tom Gregory says politics and popular priorities continue to stand in the way. He says, for example, that the five remains will not be positively identified for months, or until technicians are done with their Vietnam cases.

That's more, Gregory adds that Washington sestating again. The North Koreans have pared the remains of 11 more MIAs, they ready to send them back at any time, yet the State Department is wary. The Koreans want another ceremony, and the U.S. government does not want to give them a second occasion to posture.

So, Tom Gregory, wise to the ways by now, anys he is working as hard at repatriations as

Simpson says he was misconstrued

WASHINGTON — From windswept Wyoming, Sen. Alan Simpson, R-Wyo., has raised an almighty howl about a column we wrote last August on his performance in a meeting with Saddam Hussein. Simpson protested before the Wyoming Press Association recently that we had taken some remarks he made to Saddam out of context. We we have to remark to remark the context. We are happy to provide the context.

Simpson was one of five Benate leaders who called on Saddam in Haghdad last April. By coincidence, the meeting occurred at the same time that we were writing about Saddam. We warned that he was "the emerging mad dog of the Middle East" and criticised the Bush administration for doing business with "Your recent statements threatening to use chemical weapons against largel have created anxiety among nations throughout the world. In your own interest and in the interest of peace in the Middle East, we urge you to reconsider pursuit of these dangerous programs and provocative assertions."

The iraqi ruler didn't even bother to deny that he had a chemical arsenal. He admitted freely that he had violated the Geneva accords, which ban chemical weapons,
"I said that if Israel uses atomic bombs, we will strike it with binary chemical weapons Saddam told the senators. "I repeat, if this is done, we will do that. We have relayed this command to the air and missile base command to the air and missile base commanders, that the moment they hear that lerael has struck any place in Iraq with an atomic homb, they must load as many binary chemical weapons that reach lerael and deliver them to leraeli territory....

"Members of the delegation. I know that chemical weapons have been banned in the Geneva Accords. I have not forgotten our commitment that we have signed. However, are chemical weapons more dangerous to are chemical weapons more dangerous to mankind than are nuclear bombs?"

Saddam protested that he wanted peace, but blamed lerael for forcing him to bolster his military power. He also complained about America's pro-lerael favoritism.

What was Simpson's reaction to all this? He blamed the media, as is his habit. Nowhere in the transcript is there a response from Simpson to Saddam's threat of chemical warrare. Instead, the senator used his time to

"I believe your problems lie with the Western media and not with the U.S. government. As long as you are isolated from the media, the press — and it is a haughty and pampered press — they all consider themselves political geniuses. That is, the journalists do. They are very cynical. What I advise is that you invite them to come here and see for themselves." and see for themselves."

When we published the transcript last When we published the transcript last August, Simpson disputed it because it was supplied from a tape made by Saddam's staff. Before we printed excerpts, we checked with other sensiors who were at the meeting, and they vouched for its accuracy.

In the end, Simpson said that the quotes were correct, but that his meaning was misunderstood. He said he was simply trying to gain more access to Iraq for the Western process.

Conflicting winds and currents are believed to have kept it in place, but northerly winds picked up Tuesday and the spill was expected to take on speed.

Because of the hostilities further north, experts have been unable to get a complete picture on the current size and shape of the spill, Milligan said.

RIYADH, Saudi Arabia -When a reporter complained to Lt. Col. Mike Gallagher that the 6 p.m. start for U.S. Central Command's daily news briefing was too late for many deadlines. the colonel looked aghast.

"If you think we're going to push these briefings back an hour, forget it." said Gallagher, the command's media director. "No way are we going to let you start calling this the '5 o'clock follies."

The command also has instituted a new, Salgon-type morning "communique," updating events since the previous night's briefing. Previously, reporters had to wait almost 24 hours between one detailed report and the next.

The big difference is that the Saigon "follies" took place in a decaying building with ceiling fans and gecko lizards scampering about the walls. This latter-day version is staged in a large hotel ballroom, with allseeing television cameras recording it for a worldwide audience.

Lafayette Park: Magnet for causes

By W. DALE HELSON Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON - Day after day, night after night, as the war in the Persian Gulf deepens, demonstrators gather on seven acres of carefully kept parkland across Pennsylvania Avenue from the White House to shout, parade and keep vigil for peace.
"It is virtually the Hyde Park

Corner of the U.S. in many ways," said Arthur Spitzer, legal director of the American Civil Libertles Union in Washington. Like London's Hyde Park

Corner, Lafayette Park is the scene of protest in both peace and war: against U.S. policies in Southeast Asia and Latin America: against nuclear power: in favor of the homeless; and now against the gulf conflict.

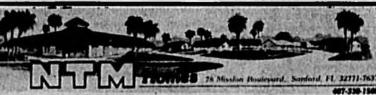

It is also a park, and its users have often disagreed over whether the aesthetic delights that it offers should outweigh its importance as a forum for free speech.

"It is one of America's premier parks," said Richard C. Robbins. the National Park Service's assistant solicitor for national capital parks. "It gets a high use by national and international visitors. At the same time, it is a unique situs for people wishing to express their views."

The Park Service says it has tried to walk a line between these values by adopting regulations limiting the size of signs. prohibiting structures in the park and outlawing camping.

Another proposed regulation, now awaiting final action, would limit the goods a demonstrator could bring to the park to three cubic feet in order to eliminate unsightly bundles of bedding. clothing and household wares often carried by protesters who virtually live in the park.

When I first got here, everything that I was doing was protected absolutely by the law," said William Thomas, an anti-nuclear and pro-peace demonstrator.

Whites live black life for weekend

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa - Eighty middle-class whites left their suburban comforts on a cloudy Friday afternoon and took a half-hour bus ride to another world. They spent a weekend in Soweto, the huge black township outside Johannesburg. The first Soweto Encounter was intended to break down barriers as the country moves toward an end to apartheid, the official policy of racial separation. More than anything, it illustrated the main question facing South Africa: How do whites and blacks learn to live together?

Abbey Makoe, a black journalist from Soweto, wrote: "Like many other township residents. I hosted a white for the first time in my life. ... A few questions kept nagging me. What will it be like? How is she going to behave? I tried to remain

WASHINGTON - There will be winners and losers under a free trade agreement with Mexico, but on balance the U.S. economy will benefit, the government's International Trade Commission says.

An ITC study said there could be losers north of the Rio Grande under the agreement, including retailers on the Southwestern border who depend on Mexican shoppers, fruit and vegetable growers, producers of inexpensive household glassware, cow-calf operators, and segments of textile industry.

Hypertension, disadvantages inked by race

CLIFF EDWARDS sociated Press Writer

CHICAGO - Social and ecomic disadvantages appear ore important that genes in counting for blacks' elevated stes of high blood pressure, ya a study published today.

The study, published in toy's Journal of the American lical Association, adds weight the argument that the ill ets of racism are a stronger edictor of who will have high ood pressure than darkness of Previous studies yielded conleting results. Some rearchers found more pertension among darker cks independent of their inme and education. Other reirchers have found the link dependent on socioeconomic status more than, or rather than, akin color.

In the new study, doctors at three hospitals used meters to measure the skin color of 457 black men and women from Savannah, Ga.; Hagerstown.

Md.; and Pueblo, Colo. In addition to data on skin color, the researchers took information on each subject's educational background, occupation and ethnic traits. Subjects with darker skin color had higher blood pressure. but the relationship varied with ocioeconomic status, the re-earchers reported. A positive association between kin pigmentation and blood pressure was present in those with lower levels of the Green ndex, a measure of ocioeconomic status. "In persons with higher levels f this index, no association was letected," they said.

An editorial accompanying the tudy in JAMA argued that enes that predispose people to ncreased blood pressure are mmon to blacks and that skin olor is merely a statistical eddent.

"The fact that skin pigmentaion and blood pressure are not onsistently associated is evience that they are not enetically linked," said the edi-orial, by Dr. Robert F. Murray of he Howard University College of ledicine.

The study's lead researcher, . Michael Klag of the Johna opkins University School of edicine said, "We didn't see hat we expected. Our results o not rule out a genetic mechaam, but they make it less cely.

King added in a telephone erview Tuesday, "Skin color a factor. The question is nether there is a susceptible me that goes along with skin lor. We can't say from this udy."

Lighter skin color could be sociated with lower blood ressure if lighter-skinned icks inherited fewer genes edisposing them to pertension because they had me white ancestors, the re-trehers said.

Bishop Moore wins region

ORLANDO - Winter Springs residents Jill and Amy Geltz combined for two goals and three assists to lead the Bishop Moore Hornets to a 6-0 romp over Tampa-Berkley Prep in the 3A-Region III title game Tuesday night.

The Hornets, Class 3A state champions two years ago and state runners-up last year, play at St. Petersburg-Lakewood on Friday for the Section II crown and a berth in the semifinals.

Jill Geltz scored the game's first goal on an assist from Stephanie Feulner. Karen Butz made it 2-0 when she bent in a corner kick.

In the second half, Feulner, Christine Bourne, Amy Geltz and Connie Davis each scored a goal. Amy Geltz assisted on Feulner's and Bourne's goals while Jill had the assist on Amy's goal. Bishop Moore, 24-3-3, out-shot Berkley Prep 31-0 and had a 7-0 edge in corner kicks.

The baseball team, 1-1, will play its third home game in as many days when it hosts defending state runners-up Mlami-Dade Community College South at Raiders Field starting at 1:30 p.m. Lake Howell graduate Jason Sandberg will be the starting pitcher for SCC.

The women's basketball team, under Ileana Gallagher, will play its last home game of the season when the South Florida Punthers come calling for a non-conference game at 5:30 p.m.

The men's team, coming off two straight road conference wins, hosts second-ranked Lake City Community College and the state's leading scorer, Charlie Burke, starting at 7:30 p.m. at the Health and Physical Education Center.

This will be the second meeting of the year between Lake City and SCC. The Timberwolves won the first meeting 91-89 as Burke hit a three-pointer at the buzzer to cap a 44-point game. A win by the Raiders over Lake City will keep their hopes of a conference title alive.

Lyman claims regional title with OT win over Winter Park

Herald Correspondent

LONGWOOD — Adrian Kane scored two goals to lead the Lyman Greyhounds to a 3-1 overtime victory over the Winter Park Wildcats Tuesday evening in the 4A-Region II girls' soccer championship game at Lyman High School.

The Greyhounds (now 21-2-4) dominated the first half, taking nine shots on goal while holding the Wildcats (22-6-2) to only two.

Early in the first half, Danielle Garrett threaded a crossing pass to Tracy Sher in the Winter Park penalty box, but her shot went just wide. Midway into the half, Sher had another shot from the right wing but it also went just wide.

Cathy Anderson had a pair of breakaway opportunities for Winter Park, the first shot going wide while Lyman goalkeeper Becky Carr came out of the goal to make a brilliant save on the second chance.

"Everything was working until we got down to the 18-yard box," said Lyman Coach Jim Thompson. "But we couldn't get the ball in the goal."

Early in the second half. Anderson sent a free kick into the Lyman penalty box where Brandye Batten had slipped behind the defense. Her goal gave Winter Park a 1-0 lead.

"The girls seemed to be looking for somthing to motivate them," said Thompson. "Once Winter Park scored, the girls picked up their game (a level). The Greyhounds took control of the game and put tremendous pressure on the Wildcats goal but each time came up empty.

"It looked like it was going to be one of those games where you totally dominate but don't win." said Thompson. However, fortune smiled on Lyman as Sher sent a corner kick into the Wildcats goal box where Kane headed it home, tying the match at 1-1 with 5:27 left.

With less than a minute left, Winter Park had an excellent chance to win the game when Anderson took a free kick from just outside the Lyman penalty box. But Carr made a great save to send the utive overtime match.

The Greyhounds defense dominated the overtime, not allowing a shot on goal.

Kane sent a looping topspin shot from 25 yards out that dipped just below the crossbar, giving Lyman a 2-1 lead with 0:49 remaining in the overtime's first half.

Carrett converted a penalty kick with 0:36 left in the overtime's second half to ice the win.

"I feel that going through an overtime in our previous match helped us tonight," said Thompson. "The girls knew what they had to do and they stayed with it."

Lyman will travel to Jacksonville to face the Orange Park Raiders Friday evening for the 4A-Section I championship and a berth in the state semifinals.

Newsome, Fooks lead Greyhounds

By PHIL SMITH Herald Correspondent

LONGWOOD - Alan Newsome and Brian Fooks each scored a goal to lift the No. 1-seeded Lyman Greyhounds to a 2-0 victory over the Spruce Creek Hawks Tuesday in the first round of the 4A-District 9 boys' soccer tournament.

Lyman, now 17-4-3, took control of the match from the start, outshooting the Hawks 28-3.

Newsome, Fooks, Richle Steeves and Toby Leibin controlled the midfield for Lyman.

Midway through the first half, Spruce Creek's Max Lins had a great scoring opportunity when he collected a rebound in front of an empty Lyman goal. But his shot was wide right.

Mike Sells made several strong run along the right wing for the Greyhounds in the first half but was thwarted by Hawk goalle Zack Corn.

With 10:30 remaining in the first half. Kelly sent a free kick on goal from 30 yards out but. Dewberry made the save.

Lyman's defense, led by Paul Klaus, Jeff Onderko Kurt Fisher and Mark Romagosa took total control of the match from that point forward, not allowing Spruce Creek to get a shot on goal for the rest of the match.

"We played very well tonight," said Lyman Coach Ray Sandidge. "We dominated the match from the start but just couldn't score."

The Greyhounds continued to put tremendous pressure on the Hawk goal but every shot would either go just wide, high or hit the post. "We must have had at least five shots ring off of the post tonight." said Sandidge. The game remained scorless and seemed destined for overtime until the 75th minute.

Onderko sent a free kick long to Frank Cipolla who in turn threaded a crossing pass into the Hawk penalty area to Newsome, whose shot found the back of the net.

The Greyhounds clinched the victory when Fooks' shot from the right wing ducked just inside the left post.

Brian Coduto scored one goal and assisted on another in less than three minutes during the second half of Lake Mary's win over Lake Welr.

Rams, Patriots Bulldogs survive

By TONY DeSORMIER Herald Sports Editor

LAKE MARY - Sometimes you have to tell teenagers something twice (or more) before it

On Tuesday night, Lake Mary High School boys' soccer coach Larry McCorkle told his team how he wanted them to play in their 4A District 9 tournament game against Lake Weir. And the Rams went out and did exactly the opposite.

So at halftime, McCorkle re-emphasized how he wanted them to play. In the second half, the Rams, seeded second in the tournament, followed his instructions and scored a pair of quick goals, rolling to a 3-0 victory and a berth in the semifinals tonight against sixth-seeded DeLand (which upset No. 3 Lake Howell 3-1 Tuesday).

Tonight's game will be played at 7 p.m. at Lake Mary's Don T. Reynolds Stadium.

In the other half of the tournament, No. 1 seed Lyman eliminated Spruce Creck while No. 4 Lake Brantley got past No. 5 Oviedo 3-2 in four overtimes. Lake Brantley plays at Lyman tonight

The championship game will be played on the nome field of the highest remaining meded teams on Friday at 7 p.m.

"What we did in the second half was what I wanted us to do in the first half," said McCorkle. "I wanted us to pick up the tempo. Offensively, I wanted us to play much faster. I don't know what we didn't do that in the first half."

Even though the Rams were playing several speeds slower than McCorkle wanted, they still look a 1-0 lead when Steve Heldt volleyed a ball over his head to the far post of the the Lake Weir goal. Mario Travios ran on and knocked the ball home with 29:10 gone in the first half.

Lake Mary came dangerously close to being down 1-0. Less than a minute before Travios scored, the Hurricanes made a run at the Lake Mary goal. When the ball was played across from the right wing, a Lake Mary defender tried to intercept the pass. Instead, he played a perfect shot on goal. But Ram goalic Jason Redditt reacted immediately, making a leaping save to Bee Soccer, Page 28

SANFORD — Curt Prom pitched four innings of shutout relief as the Seminole Community College baseball team came from behind to knock off Miami-Dade Commmunity College South 7-6 at Raider Field Tuesday afternoon.

"When Prom throws strikes he's tough beat," said SCC Coach Jack Pantelias. "In an exhibition against the Astron last week, he got behind and they knocked the ball into orbit."

Prom, a freshman right-hander from Lake Mary, allowed only two hits in his four inning stint against the powerful Jaguars, who finished second in the state last season after opening the season with a three-game sweep of the Raiders. After Dade South scored five runs in the fourth inning to take a 6-2 lead, SCC came back with single runs in the fifth and sixth innings and two runs in the seventh to tie the game. The Raiders scored the winning run in the bottom of the ninth inning.

After Stan Evans flew out at the 419-foot mark in center, Chad Epperson singled, Joe Golinski doubled and Blane Barroso was intentionally walked to load the bases. Daks Rodriguez then hit a smash that the Dade South shortstop couldn't handle and Epperson trotted home with winning run.

"We needed a win like this for the program," said Pantelias. "It's important to be 1-1 at this point instead of starting 0-16 like last year."

SCC's defense showed why Pantellas has been singing its praises as the infield made several spectacular plays to snuff potential railies for the Jaguars.

Shortstop Rich Knizner threw out the potential go ahead run at the plate on a grounder up the middle in the seventh. Second baseman Jack Niles made a diving stop and threw to Prom. who was covering first, to end the eighth inning with the leading run at third.

"Those are the kinds of plays that win championships," said Pantellas. "It's been a while since we had players that could make those plays. I hope it continues."

Epperson and Evans were both 3-for-5 with a double and two runs scored to lead the Raider offense, Scott Cursi also had three hits. Golinski came up with a pair of doubles in four at bats.

SCC will play at home again today when it hosts the Jaguars in the final game of a two-game set at Raider Field starting at 1:30 p.m.

Real men do cook dinner

Busy family members share chores and tasty meals

By JOAN KING Herald correspondent

SANFORD - Dennis Jay Waldron, our Cook of the Week, often prepares a light Sunday night supper for his daughters. 9-year-old Jamie and 5-year-old

Waldron often cooks when his wife, Pam. is out of town on

He said his mother taught him to cook when they lived in Phoenix, N.Y.

Waldron and his parents, Buck and Clara, traveled to Florida every winter and stayed in Sanford as snowbirds in the 70's. By the mid-70's he met and married Pam, a college student. In August, they will have been married for 15 years. They settled in Sanford, built a home and started a family.

Recently, the family started a part-time business that requires one or both of the young parents to travel out of town.

The children pitch in and help with dishes, dusting, sweeping and folding laundry. They cheerfully carry out their tasks and do it quite well.

Waldron is a crate maker for Uni-Pak in Longwood where he has been employed for the past

While discussing limitations that men place on themselves, he believes that real men do change diapers, wash dishes, cook and help care for their children.

He said, "Pam helps me with the yard work and I help her with the housework and we both work our part-time business. We are a busy family and that's good. We're also trying to build our financial future and that's good too."

When Waldron isn't working he can be found in his own backyard repairing his children's playthings, building a playhouse fixing a swing or in surprise for his wife, Pa

He has made several pieces of furniure and a gun cabinet. His wife is artistic and burnished a wild life scene on the gun cabinet's doors for him.

Their dining room hutch and buffet was custom made by Waldron and a surprise gift for his wife. It took months of effort in his spare time for Waldron to complete the furniture.

"The hardest part of the project was keeping Pam out of my workshop so she wouldn't know what I was doing for her," he said chuckling. His cooking is quick, simple, "economical" and very tasty.

read so much about preventing child abuse, yet one of the most common and blatant forms of child abuse goes on daily without comment.

I refer to the practice of piercing the ears of infants and small children who have no say in the matter, which is a terrible thing to do to a child. I have walked past shops in malls where this is being done, and heard little girls screaming. Forcing children to have a hole punched through a tender part of their bodies is cruel and

I've seen children not yet 3 or 4 with several earrings in each ear, with a hole for each earring! There is no doubt in my mind that a small child experiences a trauma from this abuse at the hands of the one who is supposed to love and protect them. Americans laugh at pictures of Africans with bones in their noses, but parents who inflict a similar (though lesser) disfigurement on their own children are no better. Please comment.

JAMES R. NEWBY, VAN BUREN, IND. DEAR MR. NEWBY: I agree. I. too, am opposed to putting a hole in a child's ear. And yes, I am aware that in some cultures it is a traditionally accepted practice. But in my view, children should not be subjected to this until they are old enough to make that decision for themselves. (And please, dear readers, don't anybody bring up circumcision.)

ADVICE ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: My boyfriend surprised me with a diamond engagement ring for Christmas. It wasn't cheap by any means, but I hated it. Now the problem. I went to the jewelry store it came from and exchanged it for the kind I wanted - a solitaire.

I've been married before and I hated my first engagement ring. so this time I wanted one I really liked, so I got a solitaire. I love my boyfriend with all my heart. and I wouldn't hurt his feelings for the world, but I'm afraid I did. I could see the disappointment in his eyes when I told him I had exchanged my ring for a solitaire. He admitted he felt hurt, but he never brought the subject up again.

Was I wrong to have exchanged the ring? I've been put down by family members. What do you think?

PUT DOWN IN CANADA DEAR PUT DOWN: To have exchanged yur engagement ring without first discussing it with your flance showed bad manners, poor judgment and a blatant disregard for his feelings.

DEAR ABBY: I am an American Army officer stationed in Korea. I am 38 years old. Whie I have been stationed overseas. my mother continues to open my mail, even after I have politely asked her to stop.

She reads "Dear Abby" faithfully in the Chicago Tribune, so would you please print this with a little note from you admonishing her for this practice?

CAPTAIN IN KORBA DEAR CAPTAIN: Gladly!

Dear Mother: I'm sure you love your son, but you should also respect his privacy. Motherhood does not give you the right to, open your son's mall. So if you want his respect, you will stop this violation of his privacy, which surely must demean you in his eyes.

P.S. Captain, why not instruct your friends to send their letters to you in care of someone who can be trusted?

DEAR DR. GOTT: I've been probably not disappear without diagnosed with lupus lesions on my head. Will the lesions ever go away, and will my brain eventually be affected?

DEAR READER: Lupus crythematosus, a disease of unknown cause, is characterized by inflammation of the body's supportive (connective) tissues. The affliction appears in two forms: systemic LE (which affects skin, joints, lungs, heart and kidneys) and discoid LE (which affects only the skin). Some patients with discoid LE eventually develop systemic LE.

From your brief description, I suspect that you have the typical rash of discoid LE: round, scaly patches on the nose, scalp and cars. Although these skin lesions may spread to the upper body. progressing to infected areas and atrophy (portions of skin that wither and dry up), you are unlikely to experience inflammation of internal organs unless, as I mentioned, you are one of the unusual patients whose discoid LE turns into systemic LE.

Because the skin changes of both forms of lupus are indistinguishable, even by biopsy, your doctor should obtain a blood test called anti-DNA antibodies.

Lupus is believed to be an autoimmune disease; that is, the body somehow misperceives normal tissue as abnormal and tries to destroy it. DNA is a basic constituent of all tissues. Therefore, the presence of anti-DNA antibodies in the blood indicates systemic LE.

Because patients with discold LE are reacting only to normal skin cells, they do not have anti-DNA antibodies in their blood. Thus, this blood test effectively discriminates be-tween patients with the two forms of lupus.

If you have discold LE, your brain will not be affected, as is the case with some systemic LE patients who develop headache. scizures and personality

However, the skin lesions will

An interesting development in the world of bridge is that young players are being encouraged by ir national organizations to train as future international competitors. Today's deal features young English player Andy Bowles, working out the winning conclusion in the play of four hearts.

After North's artificial two-club response searching for a major-suit fit, East doubled. South bld two hearts and was quickly raised to game. West led the 10 of clubs and East played the A-K-Q. Declarer Bowles ruffed the third club with the king of hearts. figuring that at least one heart honor would be with West. and then passed the seven of hearts. East took the jack and West's queen and dummy's ace. and drew the last opposing trump. He now played two more rounds of spades, discarding a diamond from dummy. That left him needing to bring in the diamond suit without a loser, with Q-7-5-4 facing A-J-3 in dummy. Normally the best chance in this combination is to catch West with K-x of diamonds, but Andy Bowles had taken note of East's distribution. East had shown six clubs and had followed to three rounds each of hearts and spades. So he could hold only one diamond.

Declarer's only chance was that the lone diamond in East's hand was the king, so declarer played to dummy's ace and was rewarded when the king came tumbling down.

By Bernice Bede Osol . YOUR BIRTHDAY

Feb. 7, 1991

You may be more resourceful and adventurous in the year ahead than you've been in the past. You will increase your range of interests, as well as your possibilities for success.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) It's best to keep things on a purely social basis with friends today. Make it a point to stay out of their commercial affairs and bar them from entry into yours. Trying to patch up a broken romance? The Astro-Graph Matchmaker can help you understand what to do to make the relationship work. Mail $2 to Matchmaker, c/o this newspaper, P.O. Box 91428. Cleveland, OH 44101-3428.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Don't throw in the towel if you are confronted by a formidable obstacle today. You're much more clever than you may realize in circumventing obstructions that block your path.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) It may be necessary for you to review your options and revise your plans today in order to accommodate current developments. Minor changes can be handled constructively.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) You should be able to skillfully manage arrangements which serve your personal interests today. However, if they are of a financial nature, the trade-off may leave you breaking even.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Your Judgment will be reasonably good today but, perhaps, not up to that of your mate's, particularly in regard to an important issue that your partner is more familiar with than you are.

CANCER (June 21-July 22)
This could be a very productive day for you, provided you do things at your own pace and with a minimal amount of supervision. Try not to call too much attention to yourself. LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Fun activities will be very helpful today in refreshing your outlook and attitude. If you get involved in something social that is competitive, don't make winning too important. VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) The concerns of those for whom you are responsible should take precedence over your other interests today. However, it might be hard to keep priorities in order.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Your possibilities for fulfilling hopes and expectations look very good today, provided you don't make impulsive changes once events are on a smooth track. SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) When it comes to negotiating something of a material nature. you should be in your element today. Outside of the commercial arena, your judgment may be less dependable. BAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Be extremely selective of associations today, because detractors will not differentiate between their behavior and yours. All will be tarred by the same brush. CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) It will give you greater feelings of gratification if you help where you know you are needed today - without being asked. Good things happen to good people. (C)1991. NEWSPAPER EN-
