

University Of Florida Will Meet Mississippi Saturday

By SID BROUSE
GAINESVILLE, Oct. 20.—A three University of Florida squad arrived in Gainesville yesterday afternoon to complete a round trip to Philadelphia that was beset with travel difficulties. Saturday the Gators are to meet Mississippi State on Florida Field in the annual homecoming clash.

Practice this afternoon was called off to give gridgers a chance to catch up on their rest. In addition five trunks bearing their equipment are "en route" but that is all that is known of their location.

The usual gala homecoming will not take place at Florida this year because of transportation difficulties. However, those alumni who do manage the trip to Gainesville will be well rewarded. One thing is certain and that is that the Florida Mississippi State game on Saturday afternoon will be interesting.

Last year the Maroons came out on the better end of a 6 to 0 score largely because of the running of a hefty back. Blonnie Black. He returned a punt early in the fourth quarter for 42 yards and the only score of the game. Black is back again in plique the Gators.

Line Coach Orr Dermody who coached the Mississippi State-Alabama game stated that the Maroons displayed a varied passing and running attack that most fans like to watch. In Bill Murphy, understudy to Black, they have an exceptionally good passer. Their two first string ends are fine pass receivers.

Today the Gators got down to serious practice for the game. Only the usual run of bruises were picked up in the Villanova clash. On the whole the squad is in good physical condition.

Coach Tom Lieb refused to single out any of the Gator gridgers for their play in Philadelphia, rather he stated that all players a good game and went on to praise them.

Florida has played Mississippi State yearly since 1936 and Saturday will be out to gain their first win in the present series. They hold two wins and a tie in earlier competition, however.

NEW YORK.—Princeton and Yale playing in New York again. That was one game you thought would never be played on the campus. It is the real old-time game.

The transfer of the Princeton-Yale football game from the Nassau stadium to the city of New York was a ten-year-old thing. It was thought of in the early days of college football when Princeton and Yale had Harvard definitely led the gridiron when the American team was just getting its feet under it.

Much of the history of the Princeton-Yale series was written here in New York. The first game was played here in 1880 and 1889. It was here that Judge Hefflinger turned in some of his greatest performance exploits that cause some experts to still rank him as an all-time All-American guard.

Among those who have coached at the college of the Pacific, made a large measure of his reputation at Yale by his play against the Tigers here and "Doc" one of the greatest of all Nassau players, starred on Manhattan gridiron.

The old Waldorf was the hotel then and the undergraduates overran it.

Sophomore Grid Players Stand Out Since Upperclassmen Enlist

By DILLON GRAHAM
Wide World Sports Editor

NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—Sophomore standouts, scarce in past years, are sparking many college football teams this season.

Pearl Harbor was the signal for dozens of last year's stars to don military uniforms, and sophomores are filling the spots they vacated. In other campaigns it was a rarity to find a sophomore regular on some of the better football teams but now they're all using them—and glad to have 'em.

Down at Georgia Tech second-year collegians have made a sensational on-field strike, making the sophomore machine and Coach Bill Alexander of the Engineers is singing the praises of Eddie Proctor, Eddie Proctor, and another one, Eddie Proctor, who outscored Billenbrand, ringing up three touchdowns against the Hoosiers. Bo McMillin introduced a fifty number, too, in Bob Cowan, who slithered through Ohio for 47 yards and a score.

Cowan, who turned in a better high school record at Gary than did Tom Harmon a few years ago, also tallied twice against Butler.

A thick-faced sophomore named the Elbenberg tossed a touchdown pass for Rice against Tulane. Earlier he had scored once and passed for another six points against Louisiana State. The 175-pounder also has about a 100-yard dash and a 100-yard dash.

Wiscconsin, which produced Pat Harder last season, came up with another ace in Elroy Hirsch, a 185-pounder who scored both 100-yard touchdowns in the triumph.

Tulane Coach Says Sinkwich Is Tops

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 20. (AP)—Tulane's coach, Claude Simons, Jr., was asked yesterday at the Monday quarterbacks' meeting what he meant prior to the Georgia catastrophe, by: "My boys are going to take a pop at Georgia's All-American Sinkwich."

"Webster," quipped the quarterbacks, "defines a 'pop' as a short burst."

Simons answered without hesitation: "My boys did take a pop at him. We lost, but they had him on the ground several times, you know. Sinkwich puts his pants on just like my boys do; but he's just a lot better."

Simons added that "in my book, Sinkwich is the back of the year" and said that although he had expected Tulane to make a better showing than it had, it was the old business of green linesmen trying to block out elusive veterans who knew how to slide out of range and go ahead to make their tackles.

Aerial Battles Rage Over Egyptian Desert

U. S. Bombers Shower Enemy Troops And Supply Dumps In Solomons Battle

Reports reaching Ankara, Turkey, today said German firing squad have executed 18 more alleged revolutionaries in Yugoslavia and that threats of revolt in Belgrade, capital of the conquered Balkan nation, have forced the Germans to strengthen the city's garrison by at least two regiments.

In the Egyptian campaign, fierce air battles raged over the desert, possibly heralding an early resumption of long-stalled land fighting there.

In a strenuous effort to disorganize Japan's big Solomons Island offensive before it can get really started, American fliers are showering enemy troops and supply dumps with bombs in a non-stop series of raids, it was revealed last night.

Throughout Oct. 18 and 19, a navy communiqué said, army, navy and marine corps aircraft hammered at the enemy of Guadalcanal and the great Japanese thrust which has been expected for days has yet to get started.

However, there was no means of telling on the basis of the communiqué whether the air raids had altered Japanese plans, or whether the enemy was following a pre-arranged schedule of getting set and fully prepared before launching a land offensive designed to wrest the vital Guadalcanal airfield from the American marines and army men.

Hovering in nearby waters was a large enemy fleet of warships and auxiliaries, although the navy communiqué said there had been no further landings on Guadalcanal.

On Oct. 19, the Japanese on Guadalcanal, army flying fortresses returned to the attack on Oct. 19 on Rekata Bay, Santa Isabel Island, 180 miles northwest of Guadalcanal. Fires were started by bombs from the big planes.

Far to the north, in the Aleutians, the communiqué added, army Liberator planes struck again at shore installations and a beached ship in the harbor at Kiska, starting fires in the Japanese camp area.

Concerning the struggle in the Solomons, Secretary of the Navy Knox told reporters that "in my judgment, the Japanese have by no means yet exercised their main force."

All branches of American armed forces now have joined in the struggle for control of the archipelago which can command shipping lanes to Australia. Warships of the United States fleet were the latest to move into the fight.

An indication that land based planes which have participated so frequently in many engagements may see even more action came from Secretary Knox. He said he was unable to disclose the number of such planes now operated by the navy, but that the figure was "steadily increasing."

South Pacific: (All dates are east longitude).
1. Large numbers of enemy warships and auxiliaries are still reported in the Solomons area, but there have been no further enemy landings on Guadalcanal Island.
2. Army, navy, and marine corps aircraft bombed enemy troops and supply concentrations on Guadalcanal throughout Oct. 18th and 19th. No report has been received of any offensive thrust against our positions by these enemy troops since their landing on Oct. 18.
3. On Oct. 19, army "Flying Fortresses" bombed Rekata Bay and fires were started.
4. North Pacific:
a. On Oct. 19 (Washington date), army Liberator bombers dropped 12 tons of bombs on enemy shore installations at Kiska on a beached ship in the harbor. Fires were observed in the camp area.

University Head Says Newspapers May Be Frozen

NEW YORK, Oct. 21. (AP)—Dean Carl W. Ackerman of Columbia University said last night that newspapers of the U. S. were being subjected to a "freezing process" by the government and that the Justice Department's recent lawsuit against The Associated Press was simply a further move to "freeze the press into a new mold."

The head of Columbia's Graduate School of Journalism and former war correspondent told the fourth Accounting Institute banquet in a prepared speech that "under the cloak of war emergency, the American way of life is being profoundly changed by law and directives" which attack directly at a free press and the Bill of Rights.

"Today the authority of the government to control the press is absolute, although called voluntary," Ackerman said. "Because the situation has a profound and poisonous bearing on the public opinion, every newspaper reader must be concerned, because he is directly involved."

"We who remain at home share a literally stupendous responsibility for what we are permitting to happen while these men are away, at sea, or on the several battle lines."

Ackerman pointed to the services of newspapermen throughout the United States in promoting salvage drives, sale of war bonds, the Red Cross roll call, the USO campaign and the mobilization of civil defense and Community Chests, and said the press had "enthusiastically and loyally mobilized public sentiment in support of every war project."

Older Men May Be Drafted To Industry

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21. (AP)—The nation's critical manpower problem brought from President Roosevelt Tuesday a suggestion that it may be wise to furlough older men from the Army for assignment to war industry work in which they are trained.

He told his press conference that on his recent tour of the country he saw in army camps men between 35 and 48 years of age who would be of greater service in munitions factories. He said in response to questions that many of the older men could be used in definite places in war work, they would be furloughed back into civilian life.

His suggestion came as the senate, preparing to open debate Thursday on the teen age draft bill, was asked by Senator Thomas (R-Ida.), to write into an amendment providing that 14 and 15 year old soldiers be given at least one year of training before being sent into combat. Drafting of the younger men is expected to enhance prospects for furloughing older soldiers for war work.

BIBLE VERSE FOR TODAY

FOR YOUR OWN SAKE AS WELL AS FOR THE SAKE OF OTHERS: Let him turn away from evil, and do good; let him seek peace and pursue it.—Peter 2:11. (R. V.)

Poem for 1942

(From Voices)

Not for this time

The calm thoughts set upon paper, the reasonable speech, the solution of the fair mind. We may not climb

Yet to that logical place that had seemed in reach.

Rather the dragon still loose, we must keep to our swords. The incisive, staccato machine-gun that does not hear.

Answer or cool rebuttal; the swift phrase that cuts to the bone. That hawk of the innocents, the loud tank, the acid bomb, and the courage of a resolved heart.

Later there must be word of sanity and sense spoken lucidly and clearly. And heard by the grateful people. But not while the beast still rants from his dank morass.

But not till the fool serpent is chained again. Thomas Caldwell Chubb

Drive slowly and save tires. Have you bought your month's quota of war bonds yet?

The Japs are going to be a heap wiser after they get out of the Solomons.

One way everyone can help in the nation's war effort. Keep well and don't over work the doctors.

New York City boasts more babies born last week than during any previous week in ten years. It must be the climate.

General Somervell says hundreds of small industrial plants throughout the country will have to close. They certainly will if they can't get employees.

Down in Fort Myers they are reported as mixing barley, figs, nut bran as a coffee substitute. Did you ever try one from St. Johns river bottom?

Donald Nelson says that when this war ends, he will have the greatest opportunity any people ever had. And he might add, we don't have to wait until the war ends.

Did you know that while the labor shortage threatens to throw scores of citizens out of business, some folks are drawing unemployment compensation from the state on the grounds they cannot find work to do?

There is more scrap metal still available here than has been shipped. If you can't help recover it, sell the school pupils about it; they'll do the job.—Titusville Star-Advocate. Yeah, they'll take everything including the kitchen sink.

The most popular man in the country right now is Bill Jeffers and it's 50-50 whether on account of talking back to senators or venting fires for everybody.—The News-Times. Well, the promise certainly didn't hurt him any.

We understand that only a portion about a third of our latest group of draftees are to be shipped as accepted. All of all things, one of the things it was hard of getting—Deals Banner. Well, at least the noise of battle shouldn't be him.

Back To The Kitchen

That was an interesting column in yesterday morning's Orlando Sentinel written by Martin Andersen. It seems that Mrs. Roosevelt, while not actually organizing the "Eleanor Clubs" or anything like them, does believe that domestic workers should join the unions so as to force better pay and shorter hours. And Mr. Andersen thinks that the answer to this problem lies in the housewife's return to the kitchen.

"The average working woman does not as a rule have servants," writes Mrs. Roosevelt in the Ladies' Home Journal. "I did not know that Negro women were forming Eleanor Roosevelt clubs. I would regret it exceedingly, because I think, instead of forming clubs of that kind, they should enter a union and make their household work a profession. They should then receive adequate wages and live up to the same standards as other people engaged in domestic work."

"Domestic work in the past, particularly in the case of Negro women, has been in certain parts of the country, a very low-paid occupation, and the standards of work have very often been low. No one should be asked to work in other people's homes for the three to five dollars a week which in some places has been the prevailing wage. No person engaging domestic workers should have to put up with the kind of work which some people, both white and colored, do. For this work people should be trained and then, very often, one hour's work would be worth five or six by an unskilled worker."

"I do think that a union of domestic workers must have flexible rules, since every household has its own particular needs. Certain standards undoubtedly could be set up, however, and I think employers probably need education as much as the employees in many cases. I have worked on committees for many years, which have been concerned not only with the wages and hours of domestic employees, but also with the standards of work in the homes. I think the consensus in most of these groups has been that education is needed by the employer as well as by the employee."

Signs of Revolt

With growing indications of unrest and actual revolt in France, the long anticipated invasion of the continent may indeed be close at hand. Common sense would seem to indicate that neither the British nor the Americans could afford to stand idly by while French citizens futilely battle it out in the streets against their Nazi conquerors.

That matters are rapidly coming to a head was shown yesterday when Gen. Charles DeGaulle, leader of the Free French movement, announced over the radio that the time for revolt has come. This would not be so significant were it not for the fact that heretofore DeGaulle has counseled patience and passive resistance. He has told the French people that he would let them know when it was time to arise.

His speech came directly upon the heels of one delivered by that arch-traitor of all Frenchmen, Pierre Laval, in which he revealed that Vichy has signed an agreement with the Germans for a fixed levy on the manpower of every factory to be sent into Germany. It appears that forced labor conscription is but a matter of days for French workmen.

In reply DeGaulle said, "To arms, French soldiers in East Africa and the Pacific; French sailors on every sea; airmen in every sky," he said. "Forward workers, peasants, bourgeois and priests who suffer in the fight for every inch of the motherland. Courage, resistance groups, fighting men, snipers and liberators, whose mission it is to organize revolution. We are all marching in step in the same battle, under the same flag, just as one day, I promise you, we shall all be merged as comrades in the hosts of victory."

This has all the earmarks of a fuse lit to set off an explosion. Perhaps the Allied invasion will await this test of French public opinion. Perhaps the British and the Americans would like to know how the French people feel about it before they land in France. But one thing, it seems to us, is fairly certain, the Allies will surely take advantage of the situation if an open revolt breaks out.

Adjust-Yourself

Many of the economic shocks, which numbers of people are getting now, are due to the fact that they have refused over past months to adjust their thoughts and their actions to what has been apparent for a long time.

Despite all the trends which showed how we were heading, as was inevitable in war time, with all its dislocation of private life, many have failed to accept the idea that great changes were inevitable that life in general is going to be quite different; that marketing and menus are in for decided changes, and that incomes are to be drastically cut, due to increased taxes, and the necessity to invest in War Bonds and Stamps.

It is strange that so many adults are like children in the facing of unpleasant truths. They refuse to accept a situation until it is right upon them. Then they cannot take it gracefully because they appear startled, resentful and disputatious over the various details that develop. Those who react in this way had better start getting realistic about things; be prepared for changes of almost any kind, and ready to accept what comes in a philosophical frame of mind.—St. Augustine Record.

Farm Bureau Okehs Labor Importation

ORLANDO, Oct. 21, (FNS)—Commenting on the recent statement of Commissioner Nathan Mayo that Florida growers must form a strong organization if they hope to survive the present emergency, the Florida Farm Bureau Federation adopted resolutions recommending adoption of a universal service law, the importation of laborers from the West Indies, and commended the action of Mayo in enforcing fertilizer inspection laws against shipments of AAA fertilizer into this state. Manager Ford said that the Florida Farm Bureau offered growers of this state the opportunity to get together under one banner for advancement of their welfare.

PERISH RECORDS

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Oct. 21.—(AP)—Coach Tom Stiglich, of Marquette, hopes his 1942 passing will be the last of a record year which has broken national collecting football records—number of passes completed by one player in a season.

Midnight Curfew For Entire State Is Urged

LAKELAND, Oct. 21, (FNS)—The state agricultural labor committee Tuesday urged the curfew of all work joints in Florida at midnight every night and all day Sunday, charging that much of the labor problem could be ascribed to inefficiency resulting from drinking and late hours. At the same time speakers told the committee the labor situation in the state's dairy industry is critical, and many army camps will have to bring in all the milk they need because Florida cannot produce it. Drinking is having such a serious effect on the efficiency of farm labor that it constitutes "sabotage of the war effort," asserted the committee, a branch of the agriculture committee of the state defense council. Ten per cent of all land in members of the American Brand name is inactively or inefficiently managed.

"THE LATE MR. BROWN"

WEEKLY NEWS COLUMN By JOE HENDRICKS

In The Same Manner—President Roosevelt hardly returned from his secret trip throughout the nation, on which he inspected war plants, until the Republicans found it out and took the floor of the House to abuse him for having made a political trip. They said that this secret trip notified of politics I wonder if there is anyone dumb enough to think, had he made the trip with fan-fare, photographers and newsmen that the President's safety would not have been guaranteed. I thought the President answered this quite clearly when he made his fireside chat on Monday night, Oct. 12, when he said that he had just returned from his secret trip, that it was necessary to make this trip in secret so that he would have the time to do the job that he had to do without having to meet all of the high officials on the way and take up so much of his time, and he ended by saying "It will be necessary for me to make other trips of this kind and I shall make them in the same manner." It does not appear as though the President was very much disturbed about the accusation and of course he should not have been.

That Extra Something! ...You can spot it every time IT TAKES something extra...a plus...to make a reputation that everybody respects. Coca-Cola got its reputation for quality, because it has always been made the quality way out of quality ingredients. Coca-Cola is an original creation with a very special something to offer, found in no other drink...a finished art in its making...a blend of wholesome flavors that creates for Coca-Cola a taste all its own. That's why Coca-Cola has the taste that charms...and never cloy. There are many things for three but only one stands out for refreshment...ice-cold Coca-Cola. The only thing like Coca-Cola is Coca-Cola, itself. Warnings limit the supply of Coca-Cola. Those times when you cannot get it, remember Coca-Cola being first choice, will not find it for it each time. No matter how short the supply, the quality of Coca-Cola is the same.

Coach McClucas Is Back On Job, Putting Feds Through Paces

Coach Leonard McClucas, who during his recent illness has turned over the coaching of the Colony Feds to Dick McLaughlin and during the past two days put the A and B squads through some good scrimmages work in preparation for their game Friday up at Ocala.

Particular attention was also given during the workouts to getting the work into order. Just the bullet like passes of "Blingshot" Bucky Hale, the Kentucky wonder, might get through and be received in the game with DeLand last week gave the Feds a good object lesson in this respect, as it was two long passes, the first by Tiller and the second by Mort McDonald, that enabled the Bulldogs to triumph even though they were way behind in first downs.

The Feds however, have one good trail. No matter how crushing the defeat they may have endured the week before, they always work up a lot of optimism for the next game, as was evidenced last week, when after going through three games with but two points to their credit, they began ripping through the DeLand line. The "near" touchdown of Wolfier was a sample.

At any rate it will be interesting to see how the Feds behave away from the home lot when they invade Ocala. At that, Hale, Daniels, Fleming and Wolfier, the backs, may this time get in motion and give Ocala a big surprise.

Three Louisiana Boys Are On Navy Pre-Flight Team

ATHENS, Ga., Oct. 21. (Special)—There are three Louisianians on the varsity football squad of the U. S. Navy Pre-Flight School, which meets Louisiana State University's Tigers under the lights at Baton Rouge Saturday night.

No stranger to the L. S. U. stadium is Cadet Leo Bird, who other college a fine wingback for the Tigers prior to his selection for Naval aviation training. Bird, who is weighing 175 pounds these days, probably will play many minutes against his former teammates. Bird's home is in Shreveport.

Bill Kirchem, an Ensign who is playing a lot of guard for the Tigers, is quite a tallback for the Tigers prior to his selection for Naval aviation training. Bird, who is weighing 175 pounds these days, probably will play many minutes against his former teammates. Bird's home is in Shreveport.

T. C. B. Jambonville would have made Louisiana State or some other college a fine wingback had the Plaquemine youth had a chance, in the opinion of Pre-Flight School coaches. Cadet Jambonville, who is just 19, weighs only 162 pounds, but has partly overcome his lack of experience with a great show of courage. He has battled much more experienced players right along for the right to play on the varsity. No one would be greatly surprised to see him in action against the Tigers.

Louisiana State gave one member of the Pre-Flight School coaching staff to the Navy. He is Lieut. Ben Enis, Assistant Line Coach for the Skyrockets. Enis had similar duties at the Baton Rouge institution for many years prior to his joining the Navy.

Writer Prophesies Civilians May Be Drafted To Jobs

By HERMAN ALLEN

The word in Washington is this: After the tax bill is out of the way, look for an overall compulsory manpower bill—a bill aimed at compelling every civilian to a non-essential job to get into a war job, or to stay in the one he has.

It is almost certainly coming. President Roosevelt hinted at it in his Columbus Day speech when he said: "It may be that all of our volunteer effort... will not suffice to solve the (manpower) problem. In that case we shall have to adopt new legislation."

Manpower Commissioner McNutt and other officials have pointed out the problem. McNutt, testifying before the Tolan Committee on industrial migration, declared "there is good reason to doubt" that local "anti-pirating" agreements, voluntary transfer of workers to war industry, etc., will continue to meet the issue for long.

Indications are there's a campaign under way to sell the idea of compulsory manpower control to the public before any bill is introduced in Congress.

Those who shudder at Nazi-sounding words like "national service" legislation may take comfort from the fact that England has had such laws since 1940, with nearly 700 inspectors checking to make sure that employers are making the best use of skilled workers—men and women.

The British have found little need to use their power, however. With the power in its hands, it has been found that employers are voluntarily doing the utmost to see the right man in the right job, to release him for a more important job if he's qualified and to train replacements for men lost to other industries and to the armed services.

What form will manpower control take if it is enacted here? We already have two suggestions. One is the virtual freeing of logging and non-ferrous (other than iron) mine workers in their jobs in the northwest. The other is the shutting down of gold mines so that the miners can go to work digging copper and other war-related ore.

Right now the tool and die industry in the Detroit area and the aircraft industry on the Pacific coast are sore spots. One aircraft plant hired several thousand workers in 30 days, yet wound up with net loss in employment.

Since the arrangement worked out in the logging and non-ferrous mining situations in the northwest is reported to have succeeded in bang-up fashion, the same scheme may be applied to these two fields.

Brief Program For Saturday Game Is Given By U. Of F.

GAINESVILLE, Oct. 21. (AP)—In a brief program before half of the Mississippi State-Florida football game Saturday afternoon, a salute to Florida's men in the service, a short address by Gov. Spessard Holland, and an award of the annual Blue Key citation for services to the University of Florida and the State will constitute the 1942 homecoming.

Announcement of these events to interest and welcome alumni and visitors who find it convenient to come to Gainesville for the home-coming day game, was made today by W. J. Bill) Norman, Blue Key president.

Norman said the only colorful aspect of the day, which has been largely eliminated as a celebration, will be a Florida band demonstration and presentation of the colors by ROTC cadets.

Fraternity houses bordering the campus will not be decorated. Instead, the salute to service men, the Blue Key award was expected by Norman to be the chief attraction in the mid-game program. Governor Holland received the award last year. As usual, no linking of the recipient this year has been let out.

British Ambassador to the U. S. Lord Halifax is shown talking amalely to Philip Murray, president of the CIO, in Pittsburgh. They met when Halifax went to the smoky city to speak at the 45th annual Carnegie Institute Founder's Day ceremonies. The ambassador made a tour of the war plants in the area the following day. 'Hashing' Occupation Has Almost Vanished

BERKELEY, Calif., Oct. 21. (AP)—"Hashing," time-honored occupation by which college students worked for their meals, has all but vanished.

With well-paid defense jobs available, men students are not interested. Some sororities rotate their own members on a co-operative basis, one has put in cafeteria service and some eat one meal a day.

Stanford university had arranged to have eleven minor offenders paroled from the county jail to work in campus cafeterias. Then a university official forbade the experiment.

WASHINGTON By Jack Stinnett

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21. (W W)—In the War Department, in the Department of Labor and in the offices of the War Production Board these days, they are mapping plans for a nationwide battle against industrial accidents.

The rise in accidents in the war plants of the nation since we got into the world fracas has some of our production chiefs groggy.

The War Department recently issued a statement that if the first half of 1942 rate is maintained on industrial accidents, the year will go off the calendar with more than 20,000 war workers killed, 90,000 more permanently disabled and 2,000,000 others injured. The man hours lost probably will run close to half a billion. Is it any wonder that the production chiefs are perturbed?

In an Illinois factory, a wrench carelessly knocked from a scaffold fell into the top of a powerful machine. One operator was killed, his assistant badly injured and about $5,000 damage done to the machine, which was idle 110 hours while repairs were being made.

In a shipyard near Washington, a rickety scaffold collapsed. One man was killed, two injured. In Washington itself the other day, cement forms collapsed and buried workers—11 injured. Multiply these three little items by hundreds and you'll have what is happening every week.

The Labor Department has been fighting the industrial accident battle for years and has made excellent progress until the war came along. The terrific speed-up in production, the influx of inexperienced workers, the race against time, the relaxing of supervision, has wiped all that out.

The Army engineers are now swinging into the fight in earnest. The Labor Department is making available to them all the records and case histories of their long battle. Where the Army engineers are in direct supervision of a job, they are instituting all known precautions against accidents.

Coach McClucas Is Back On Job, Putting Feds Through Paces

Coach Leonard McClucas, who during his recent illness had turned over the coaching of the Celery Feds to Dick McLaulin has resumed charge of the team and during the past two days put the A and B squads through some good stiff scrimmage work in preparation for their game Friday up at Ocala.

Particular attention was also given during the workouts to passing and receiving, in order that the bullet like passes of "Blindfold" Buckley Hale, the Kentucky wonder, might get through and be received. The game with DeLand last week gave the Feds a good object lesson in this respect as it was two long passes, the first by Tiller and the second by Mori McDonald, that enabled the Bulldogs to triumph even though they were way behind in first downs.

The Feds however, have one good trait, no matter how crushing the defeat they may have endured the week before, they always work up a lot of optimism for the next game, as was evidenced last week, when after being ripped through three games with but two points to their credit, they began ripping through the DeLand line. The "meat" touchdown of Wolfer was a sample.

At any rate it will be interesting to see how the Feds behave away from the home lot when they invade Ocala. At that, Hale, Daniels, Fleming and Wolfer, the backs, may this time get in motion and give Ocala a big surprise.

Where they are not, they are organizing an army of 25,000 supervisors and foremen to take up the fight for safety. These supervisors are being trained under experienced safety engineers in night classes at universities and colleges in more than a score of states. These supervisors will go back into the firing line armed with all the knowledge they need to make their plants accident-proof, but it won't get them far if they can't stir up the individual workers to a sense of personal responsibility.

The National Safety Council is raising a $5,000,000 war chest just for the purpose of campaigning against accidents on the industrial front.

What the council wants to do and the Army, too, is make every war worker a safety "bug." If they could cut the 110,000 killed, and permanently injured rate for the year in half, it would be a home-front victory that would be felt from Chungking to Stalingrad the long way round.

Italy Says Axis Bags 55 Planes

Japs Report Sinking Of 2 Destroyers; Resume Attacks On Guadalcanal Field

VICHY, Oct. 22. (AP)—Admiral Jean Darlan, broadcasting from Dakar, told inhabitants of France's west African naval base, "New destroyers are hanging over you."

He arrived in Dakar today as rumors were pondered in France that the United States may attack Dakar.

In the Egyptian campaign, the Italians asserted today that 55 British planes were shot down against a loss of 11 Axis planes in a violent air battle over the desert. The land front on El Alamein was quiet.

In the Southwest Pacific Japanese forces have sunk two American destroyers and resumed their attacks on the Guadalcanal airfield, but American fliers are still hitting back hard. The Navy reported last night in a communiqué which indicated the main battle of the Solomons is not yet joined.

It noted ominously that "large numbers" of enemy warships are still poised in the northern Solomons, apparently awaiting the signal for an anticipated all-out Jap attempt to recapture positions lost to the Marines Aug. 7. The Navy said the destroyers Meredith and O'Brien—two of the newest in the United States fleet—were sunk by enemy action "within the last few days."

It said reports on casualties have not been received but it is believed that the O'Brien personnel and most of the Meredith were rescued.

Normal complement of each vessel is about 175 officers and men. The number of binnacle shots of the destroyers, reported to be the number of American warships and auxiliaries sunk in the Solomons campaign.

The communiqué revealed a continued heavy and growing activity on Guadalcanal and indicated that American fliers still are bearing the brunt of the Japs.

They shot down a total of 12 Jap planes Sunday and Monday and damaged two more enemy warships—destroyers and a transport—during the fighting. The number of enemy planes destroyed.

The damaged cruiser was believed to have been part of one of the major enemy task forces in the Solomons.

For the fifth successive day, American fliers again took the offensive against the enemy positions on the northwestern shore of Guadalcanal—a strategy apparently designed to keep the Japs from getting set for a major blow.

Apparently feeling the sting of American air power, the Japs resumed their attempt to knock out Henderson Field—key to American defenses on Guadalcanal—but these ventures cost them 11 planes.

The Japs apparently were trying to "mousetrap" the defenders—a trick they have used elsewhere in the Pacific. The trick is to send a flight of fighters across first as a lure to draw up the fighter defense and then hit the air field with a bomb force.

But it appeared that the ruse—designed to bring the bombers in unprepared for the attack—did not work since two of the enemy bombers were shot down.

Health Plan Is Adopted At Board Meeting

Women's Clubs Plan Public Services As Part Of All-Out War Effort

All-out endorsement of a "Health for Victory" educational program, and through condemnation of any "political trifling" with the public health service and county units was embodied in two resolutions presented to and approved by 121 women; comprising the Board of Directors of the Florida Federation of Women's Clubs, representing 12 districts from Jacksonville to Key West, which met yesterday morning at the Hotel Sanford for the final program of their two day Fall session.

"Florida leads the nation in natural health advantages such as pure water and fresh air, but in the matter of health statistics I am sorry to state, it also leads the nation as far as bad health is concerned," said Mrs. Thurston Roberts, chairman of the War Service Committee and immediate past president of the Federation, in introducing the program.

Her co-sponsor was Mrs. A. Malcolm Smith, Tampa, chairman for the Department of Public Welfare for the year.

The "Health for Victory" program encompasses education in personal fitness, nutrition, sanitary eating and drinking establishments, safe food and water supplies, adequate housing facilities, immunization and vaccination, rodent control, adequate sewage disposal, venereal disease control, repression of prostitution and allied problems, according to Mrs. Roberts. It is to augment present activities along these lines and in no measure to attempt to supplant anything any other agency or organization is now doing, she emphasized.

Prominent endorser of the program are Paul V. McNelly, Director of the Office of Defense Production, Assistant Director of the same agency Senator Claude Pepper and Dr. Gilbert S. Osheup, Chairman of the Department of Health and Housing of the Florida Defense Council, Senior Surgeon in the U. S. Public Health Service holding the rank of Colonel and President of the Florida Medical Association.

Sponsors of the program declared it is an opportunity to help create a healthier, more efficient nation growing out of problems created by the war. They said that "the sound health of both civilians and armed forces is basic to the winning of the war, which calls for all-out effort in every field."

Because of the vast number of military camps in the state, the committee hopes to issue USO membership cards to all junior and senior housewives who have attended the three lesson course.

The second of these courses, "Dress and Grooming," will be held at a meeting this evening in the City Hall Auditorium at 7:45 P. M. Monday evening, Oct. 29, at the Lake Mary Community Building. Mrs. J. C. Penny, chairman of the U. S. O. Club will probably be established here within the next few weeks and the committee hopes to issue USO membership cards to all junior and senior housewives who have attended the three lesson course.

The purpose of this instruction, which is sponsored by the State Agricultural Department, is explained to be to induce poultrymen to produce several million pounds more of fresh eggs in the state.

Other courses on the same subject will be organized in the near future at different places in the county. Mrs. Johnson said, which are designed to fit in with war food production requirements. In addition, courses will be given in farm machinery, repair, egg production, increasing yield of vegetables and step-by-step production of pork and dairy products.

The present course includes instruction in regard to providing satisfactory equipment; buying chicks; preparation for chicks and brooding; feeding for meat production; building a fattening pen; marketing; dressing fryers for market; combating diseases and parasites and securing necessary labor and material.

WHEREAS, the United States Navy is fighting the battle for freedom in the waters of the aggressors, and, WHEREAS, the United States Navy, conjoined with its famed coordinated arm, the United States Marine Corps, as established a foothold on soil held by the enemy, and is battling heroically to extend that advantage, and, WHEREAS, by national tradition the debt the people of the United States owe their Navy is annually emphasized to the setting aside of one day to acclaim that branch of the armed forces;

THEREFORE, I, Wm. C. Hill, mayor of the City of Sanford, hereby proclaim Tuesday, October 27th, Nineteen hundred and Forty Two as Navy Day and call upon the citizens of Sanford to take part in observance of this day through the many channels open to them and to join in a salute to the United States Navy, and its coordinated sea power, the Marine Corps, Coast Guard, Naval Aviation and the Merchant Marine.

Convicted Bund Leaders On Way To Jail

Police escort some of the 24 German-American Bund leaders to vans on their way to jail after they had been found guilty in federal court in New York City of conspiracy to violate the draft act. The one and one-half hours the jury reached the verdict that carries a maximum penalty of five years imprisonment and $10,000 fine. Shortly before the verdict was reached the defendants sang Hitler's Horst Wessel anthem.
