'I'm speechless." political newcomer Lynette Dennis said Tuesday night on learning she had won the District 3 seat on the Longwood City Commission without having to face a run-off.

The defeated incumbent Perry Faulkner, who said Tuesday night he would file a complaint with the State Elections Committee, has changed his mind, "It would not do the city any good to pursue it." he said today.

"I feel I lost for all the wrong reasons." Faulkner said. "Mrs. Dennis gave the wrong information in her political ad on the amount paid toquiet title on land for the police station, bids on a frontend loader, and the purchase of the fire truck. It is a matter of public record.

In the District 5 race, incumbent Mayor Larry Goldberg, 47. of 940 Waverly Drive, who received 33.5 percent of the vote has to face challenger Dave Gunter, 47, of 1068 Cheltanham Court, who had 49.0 percent of the vote, in a run-oil race on Dec. 16. With charges and countercharges flying between the candidates, the last leg of the campaign in this race promises to get a bit messy.

Only 22 percent of Longwood's 4.730 registered voters turned out for the election. City Clerk Don Terry had predicted a 20 percent turnout. City commissioners serve for two-year terms and receive $4,200 annually. Candidates must live in the district they are running for, but are elected by the city at large.

Mrs. Dennis proved to be the top vote-getter in Longwood's city election Tuesday by receiving 579 votes or 57 percent of the votes cast in the District 3 commission race, she defeated her two opponents, including incumbent Perry Faulkner, 42, of 1046 First Place, who received 199 votes or 19.8 percent. He was seeking his second term on the commission. He had first said he would not seek re-election and would move out of the city. but later changed his mind and qualified to run. Another newcomer to city politics, but a long-time resident, Irene Campbell, 44, of 424 Georgia Ave., came in second with 227 votes or 22.6 percent of the District 3 vote.

Mrs. Dennis, 46. of 263 W. Palmetto Ave., is married and she and her husband Thomas J. have three children. A resident of Longwood for 15 years, she is employed by the Custom Marble and Stone Co., Inc. She has served as chairman of the Longwood Charter Advisory Committee and is co-chairman of the Longwood Historical Commission.

Mrs. Dennis said. "I want to really thank the people of Longwood, who trusted me enough to elect me. My family and friends tried to tell me I was going to win, but I couldn't feel comfortable until I heard the results. I'm not a person with a giant ego and when my family came over with food and drinks for an victory party I felt like hiding in the closet, because I thought I might not

Election Time, And The Counting Is Easy

Officials study the computerized printout of Sanford's election results Tuesday night. From left, Sandy Goard, county supervisor of elections, checks the figures with Henry

Sanford has four voting districts, with residents in each zone voting only for one commission representative, who must be a resident of that district. All registered voters in the city are eligible to cast ballots in the at large election held every four years for mayor.In District 4, a paltry 14.2 percent of registered voters came out Tuesday, while 32.6 percent voted in District 3.

City Clerk Henry Tamm had predicted up to 50 percent voter turnouts for both districts. "I'm suprised." Tamm said when he learned of the percentages, "I thought with this many candidates a lot more people would have come out." Incumbent Smith apparently received enough ballots to make it into the Dec. 16 run-off against Mc-Clanahan. Tuesday's top vote getter in Sanford's District 3 city commission race. Smith holds a 13 vote lead over third place finisher Martha Yancey and there are 28 absentee ballots to be counted.

Seminole High School teacher and former Eckstein county Planning and Zoning member Meadors will contend for the District 4 seat in the Dec. 16 run-off.

McClanahan, a former city commissioner, unsuccessfully faced Smith in 1980 when the two ran for an unexpired commission term. Smith has served since then, but this time Mc-Clanahan says he's confident he'll come out on top in the Absentee ballots were to be counted at noon today by city commissioners. There are 28 such ballots for District 3 and. although only 13 votes separate third place finisher Martha Yancey from Smith, Mrs. Yancey says she doesn't feel today's count could knock Smith out of contention placing her in the run-off against McClanahan. The 11 absentee ballots in District 4 cannot make a difference in that race's outcome.

McClanahan received 312 votes to Smith's second place 155 vote showing in Tuesday's first round of district voting. McClanahan fell less than 10 percent shy of receiving the majority that would have made him outright District 3 commissioner. He garnered 40.2 percent of the vote to Smith's 19.9.

Illustrating Tuesday's low voter turn-out, McClanahan was the only candidate of 13 running in both districts to get more than 200 votes. Most contendors rerequirement that candidates for the city commission submit a petition of 10 voters residing within the district in which they are seeking to qualify was appoved 497 to 400.

Voters voted 571 to 310 to require candidates to pay a non-refundable qualifying fee equal to 5 percent of the annual compensation for each commissioner (presently $4,200), or, if the candidate is unable to pay the qualifying fee, then the candidate shall be required to qualify in accordance with state law by submitting a petition signed by 3 percent of the registered voters of the city.

An amendment passed 550 to 362 deleting the requirement that the commission prescribe the form of the ballot, including the method of listing candidates. for commission elections and any other city election. The Charter Review Committee, in recommending the amendment. stated that the form of the ballot is adequately covered under state law and there is insufficient time to prescribe the format for each election by ordinance. As a result of 788 to 171 vote. winning candidates will no longer be elected by having the majority of votes, but will only have to receive the highest number of votes cast removing the necessity for a run-off election, except in case of a tie vote at the regular city election. In that event, voters approved 864 to 97 to hold the run-off election on the second Tuesday following the regular election.

Voters approved 559 to 371 a change that states in the event of only one person qualifying to run for a designated commission scat, the candidate will be presumed to have voted for him or herself and will be automatically elected without being listed on the ballot with public notice being given of the election of sald candidate.

The voters also approved 748 to 165 an amendment calling for the commission to appoint a Charter Advisory Committee not less than every three years to-review the charter and make recommendations to the commission for proposed amend-ments or revisions.

Deadly Storm Comes To Rest

By United Press International

A wintry storm that marched across the nation leaving 16 deaths in its path dwindled today in the East, where Atlantic coastal floods damaged homes and hotels, crumbled swimming pools and washed out roads, stranding a resort town.

National Weather Services spokesman Paul Fike said the storm would move off the Atlantic Coast today, though snow fell before dawn in northern New England.

"It's going to be moving out .. but there will still be rain in the Northeast Wednesday and snow in northern Maine," Fike said.

Snow also fell early today in the upper Great Lakes. northern Minnesota and eastern North Dakota, and gale warnings were posted for lakes Superior, Huron and Erie.

Flooding was reported today in the Maryland portion of the Chesapeake Bay and along the Potomae River, running between Maryland and Virginia. Flood watches were posted

On the South Carolina coast. tides 2 to 3 feet above normal washed away boats, damaged homes and hotels, eroded beaches and crumbled swimming pools, causing at least $1 million in damage in the state, Myrtle Beach municipal spokesman Patrick Dowling said.

In North Carolina, a 2-mile section of a state road leading to Topsail Island, a beach resort filled with condos, was washed out Tuesday, reportedly stranding the 340 residents and causing $5 million in damage.

High water at the Onslow County resort also knocked out beach house walls, eroded beaches. flooded basements and destroyed decks and walkways.

IN BRIEF

Reno: Special Session Needed For Drug Problem

TALLAHASSEE (UPI)- Dade County State Attorney Janet Reno, chairman of a state task force on "crack" cocaine and other drugs, says drug abuse in Florida is a growing "crisis" that could cost billions of dollars to fight.

Reno said the growing "epidemic" of crack made it essential for legislators to call a special session immediately, if only to create a central office to coordinate anti-drug efforts. But chances for such a session dimmed when two key Senate committee chairmen firmly dismissed Gov. Bob Graham's proposed special session legislation.

Graham has asked legislators to go into session this month and adopt a $61 million anti-drug and prison construction program. He also wants them to give him a $27 million contingency fund for an emergency-only prison-building program. Graham would pay for the program by raising eigarette taxes by 4 cents, borrowing $24 million from the state's "rainy day" fund, shifting $12 million from the Education Department budget and spending an unexpected $2 million state tax windfall.

Higher Teacher Pay Proposed

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) - Commissioner of Educationelect Betty Castor says Florida's rapid growth means the state must recruit teachers from out of state - and must be willing to pay them more.

Castor told the House Education K-12 Committee Tuesday that the student population in public schools will increase by more than 220,000 over the next five years, a jump of 16.4 percent. If Florida is to avoid having badly overcrowded classrooms, she said, it must have more Castor said Florida must hire 10,000 new teachers each year. The state already must import 65 to 70 percent of those, and the situation may get worse.

Even so, Castor said educational leaders should admit they cannot achieve their longstanding goal of moving teacher salaries into the nation's top quartile and instead aim only at matching the national average.

French Drug May Be Diet Answer

GAINESVILLE (UPI) - A researcher at the University of Florida says a new and powerful French appetite suppressant may help solve problems for dieters who lose weight only to put it back on.

Doctoral candidate Janis Carlton is testing dfenfluramine for the French drug company Servier, and preliminary results indicate the new drug has minimal side effects. Carlton also said it appears that its appetite suppressant action lasts longer than other drugs.

Appetite suppressants work primarily by fooling the brain into thinking the stomach is full and also delay the emptying of the stomach, which reduces snacking, Carlton said in a story released by the university Tuesday.

Now Seen For What They Are

A dramatic turnaround in how the press views Nicaragua is evident in the way it has played the Eugene Hasenfus story. Nicaragua's Marxist Sandinista rulers must have thought it was a public relations dream when their forces shot down an arms-laden American plane on Oct. 5 and captured Hasenfus, an air cargo expert.

Past experience would have justified assumptions that the North American press would view the Hasenfus story as an example of an unjustified Yanqui plot against tiny, innocent Nicaragua.

The coverage didn't come out that way, and the story was largely relegated to the inside pages by most newspapers. This is due to the fact that most of the press - and presumably, much of the public - has finally come to recognize that the Sandinistas are not the harmless reformers they are still pretending to be.

After years of bullying the church, imprisoning and massacring Indians, censoring the press and bringing in Soviet bloc experts to apy on and propagandize their own people, the Sandinistas have lost their positive image with most Americans.

Not everyone has gotten the word, of course. There are still the Maryknoll nuns and a handful of liberal U.S. senators who probably still think that Fidel Castro is a fellow Democrat. Unfortunately, the Republican loss of the Senate in the Nov. 4 elections will give people like Rhode Island's Sen. Claiborne Pell increased clout in the foreign policy field. Pell has referred to the Contras - the anticommunist rebels that a Nicaraguan court convicted Hasenfus of siding — as "our terrorists." It does not bode well for reform in Nicaragua that Pell is expected to become chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

The Sandinistas, who have always known how to get the most out of their friends in the United States, can be expected to maximize their efforts with the relatively few in In its true light:

Don't the surprised if Daniel Ortega, whose kangeroo court sentenced Hasenfus to 30 years in jail, releases him to the applause of liberals in the Congress. The liberals will commend the Sandinistas for their compassion and desire to improve relations with the United States.

Hasenfus told the Nicaraguans he was involved in a clandestine operation to deliver weapons to the Contras, although no direct link to the U.S. government has been proven.

There is no doubt, however, that the Nicaraguan government has for years been directly involved in trying to topple its Central American neighbors into the Soviet

The facts of their totalitarianship and intrigue have caught up with the Sandinistas in most quarters and damaged their public relations campaign in the United States. Ortega and his coterie, however, may yet be able to make a damaging — and possibly even successful - last stand in the U.S. Congress.

Thatcher Wanted Poindexter Sacked

WASHINGTON (NEA) - Even before the contra funds transfer from Iran was uncovered. the future of Vice Adm. John Poindexter as national security adviser was very much in question.

According to sources here and in London. British Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher had demanded - while visiting the United States recently - that President Reagan fire Poindex-

They met for more than three hours during Thatcher's one-day visit to the presidential retreat at Camp David, Maryland. For a full hour, the two met with no aides present. Sources say it was during that private session the demand was made.

The same sources report that Thatcher and others in the British government were furious at Poindexter for lying to them about Washington's covert negotiations with Tehran. And they say that she was upset with the former national security aide for authorizing - either directly or indirectly - arms shipments to Iran.

The situation is complicated: It can be traced back to Thatcher's decision allowing the use of British bases to launch the April 15 U.S. dealings with the Iranian government and bombing raid on Libya. This was the subject of much public protest in Britain: and it also resulted in the execution of two British hostages being held in Lebanon.

Thatcher stood firm in the face of mounting criticism. She asserted that it was Britain's responsibility to oppose countries that take part in state-sponsored terrorism.

But in early May. British intelligence learned that the United States might be dealing in some fashion with Iran.

Sources say Saudi billionaire arms dealer Adnan Khashoggi. on behalf of Israeli interests. approached British businessman Roland Rowland about whether he would be willing for a very nice profit - to get involved in delivering U.S. arms to Iran.

According to sources, Rowland was assured by Khashoggi that the proposed secret arms shipment to Iran had Washington's blessing. Rowland then checked with the U.S. embassy in London and was told on the highest authority that such was not the case.

He was told the U.S. government had no in such a way as to save face.

would look with tremendous disfavor on any private arms dealers trading with Tehran. On the direct advice of U.S. officials in London and Washington. Rowland backed out of the deal.

Apparently, those assurances came from Poindexter. According to sources, on May 28 he told a high-level British government official there had been no change in U.S. policy regarding negotiations or hostages and that no deals had been approved by Washington to send arms to Tehran.

Based on Poindexter's firm denials. Thatcher renewed her public support of the U.S. position and defended her decision to allow British-based aircraft to be used in the Tripoli raid.

However, it turns out that at almost the exact hour Poindexter apparently was assuring Thatcher, former national security adviser Robert McFarlane was landing in Tehran on his now-famous mission.

Sources say she made it very clear to President Reagan, in their private session, that had Poindexter been truthful, she could have couched her support for the American position

Hill Aides Tell What They Think

By Robert Shepard WASHINGTON (UPI) - While they are far less visible than their elected bosses, congressional staff members wield considerable influence on Capitol Hill. Recognizing that fact, some Washington public relations firms make it a point to find out what top staffers think about various issues and individu-

In two recent surveys. Hill staffers said the continuing effort to reduce the federal budget deficit and legislation to curb foreign imports will be the most important issues facing Congress next year.

On the foreign policy front, a survey by Fleishman-Hillard Inc. found that top House and Senate aides foresee a deterioration of relations between the United States and both South Africa and Nicaragua, and an improving outlook for ties with the Philippines.

The firm, which conducted a similar poll in January, polled 373 senior Capitol Hill staffers last month.

In the latest survey, deficit reduc-75 percent of the sides to be the toping setting, in a tiny Vermont town up issue for the new Congress, while the trade deficit to in second. with just B percent. A poll by the Hannaford Co. ranked trade and budget as the top two issues.

It may turn out that trade gets the most attention next year, since the Democratic leaders of both the House and Senate have said that dealing with the trade problem is their top priority. Also, trade legislation offers more political satisfaction and less pain than the budget cutting that will be necessary in order for Congress to meet the Gramm-Rudman deficit reduction targets.

Refining or overhauling the tax reform bill passed by Congress this year is the most important item in the view of 5 percent of the Hill staffers contacted by Fleishman-Hillard.

A tax increase probably will be necessary to meet the Gramm-Rudman targets, the survey suggests. Almost one-half (46 percent) of the aides said it is very likely Congress will have to raise taxes or create new taxes.

An additional 32 percent said a tax increase is "somewhat likely." while 19 percent said it is unlikely

Not surprisingly, aldes to Democratic senators or representatives were "significantly more likely" than Republican aides to say a tax increase is necessary. Fleishman-Hillard reports.

Pass The Turkey

Did you know that the United Nations hates Thanksgiving? It did not exactly come to a vote, but you didn't need to be a genius to get the

I will explain these strange remarks in a moment, but I'll tell you this. Whatever the U.N. thinks, my wife and I celebrated Thanksgiving tion was said by an overwhelming and he traditional New England ciose to the Canadian border, where there is a marvelous country restaurant. There was a great deal of turkey and stuffing, a lot of gravy and mashed potatoes and squash. cranberry sauce, country bread, and much red and white wine. We and the rest of the people celebrating at the Buck and Doe restaurant were. to put it simply, glad that America happened.

The majority of the nations in the U.N. are not, even though many of them, communist and Third World, are heavily dependent upon us for easy credit.

When Spain recently, with the support of about every Western nation, submitted United Nations Draft Resolution A/37/L36 calling for the "Observance of the Quincentennnary of the Discovery of America in 1992," the proposal evoked such a spasm of hatred from the communist and Third World representatives that Spain allowed the resolution to lapse.

The plain fact is that these bleak despotisms hate Columbus because they hate America. They hate Western civilization, and hate its expansion to the Americas. Of course this is a futile hatred. In no plausible version of world history could anything different have hap-pened. And all of the nations that refused to celebrate Columbus are heavily dependent upon the West, economically and even culturally, for whatever merit they do possess.

It may come as news to you that an aggressive faction in the academic world agrees with the U.N. majority. I leaf through an lvy League course catalog, and what do I find? A history course titled "The European Invasion of America." That's right. It would have been better if the Mayflower had sunk. It Was full of imperialists who hit the beach at Plymouth Rock much as we did later at Okinawa. For this frame of mind I have coined a word: "ethnophobia." It means hatred of one's own ethnic group, and it is rampant in the liberal academy.

There lands on my desk, for example, a review copy of a new book called "Ecological Imperialism: The Biological Expansion of Europe, 900-1900," by Alfred W. Crosby, 368 pages, Cambridge University Press. It would be an ideal text for that course in the European Invasion of America. I have before me as I write, some old Thanksgiving cards from the 1890s. People actually sent Thanksgiving cards in those days, about the time Secretary of the Navy Roosevelt sent the Great White Fleet around the world on a "good-will mission." The turkey is there on the cards, of course, but also a lot of red-white-and-blue decoration. Very patriotic. One card has a picture of a woman. Liberty. with a cornucopia, and with ocean liners and factories in the background. Plenty, we understand, and understand correctly, is one of the blessings of Liberty. The cards were right. The communists and Third Worlders in the U.N., the liberal Ethnophobes in the academy - the European-created academy, in fact - can all go to hell as far as I'm concerned.

Noses,

SCIENCE WORLD

Sprays And Stuff

By Gayle Young UPI Science Writer NEW YORK (UPI) - Nose sprays can cause nasal congestion as well as relieve it, doctors say, and many people will develop a dependency on over-the-counter decongestants during the winter season of stuffy While the sprays are effective in relieving the stuffy feeling that accompanies colds. flu and allergies, doctors said they wear off within hours and the nose "rebounds" by becoming more stuffy than it was originally. "The congestion comes right back and is actually worse than before, so the patient shoots up again," said

Dr. Larry J. Shemen, an otolaryngologist at the Manhattan Eye, Ear & Throat Hospital. Doctors said in telephone interviews that people who become dependent on nasal sprays dose themselves several times a day, sometimes for years, before seeking medical treatment. "They have a psychological addiction." said Dr. Micahel Guttenplan of the department of Otorhinolaryngology at the University of Pennsylvania School of Medicine. "They come to depend on that instant form of gratification," he said. "They're happy with what they are doing. Shemen said some nasal spray addicts do not seek treatment because they do not realize they have a problem. "People explain it away as a permanent medical condition when it is not at all," he said.

A stuffy nose is called rhinitis and doctors say the problem usually accompanies such upper respiratory tract infections as the cold and flu. In order to counter an invasion of bacteria or virus, white blood cells rush to the nasal passages, causing blood vessels to widen and cells to rctain fluid. The result is a stuffy feeling that affects breathing, smelling and, partially, the sense of taste.

"It is very uncomfortable, for sure," Shemen said.

Over-the-counter decongestant sprays contain chemicals and hormones that restrict blood vessels and shrink the swelling of nasal membranes. 'They are very fast and effective."

said Gutterplan, who said most people breathe freely within minutes of applying the decongestant sprays.

But when a person stops using a nasal spray, blood engorges the nose and causes it to swell comto shining sea.

NSC's Accuracy: Shoots Self In The Foot CONFIDENTIAL FILE: Kho-

By Jack Anderson

UNDER THE DOME: Inevitably, perhaps, Senate Foreign Relations Committee staffers investigating the Reagan administration's misadventures in Iran and Nicaragua have come up with a derisive nickname, for the National Security Council people involved in both controversial programs: The Gang that Couldn't Shoot Straight. We suggest, however, that this is any inexact slur. At least in the Iranian caper, the NSC gang's marksmanship was straight enough: It shot itself in the foot with deadly accuracy.

CLOAK AND BLACKJACK: A personal weapon developed by a German firm in the 1920s and used by Office of Strategic Services agents behind enemy lines in World War II is making a comeback in the United States as a defense against muggers. The SIPO (a contraction of the German words for security police) is a palm-sized, innocent-looking metal tube that extends in a split second into a 16-inch, boiledspring steel sap. A company in Burbank. Calif.. is marketing the unique blackjack, which in its dormant state resembles a fat fountain pen. Steve Kessler, president of INCO, says sales are brisk.

MINI-EDITORIAL: We're not among those who want the U.S. out of the U.N. For all its irritating anti-American rhetoric, the United Nations remains a valuable instrument for resolving international problems. But what about the other half of that bumper-sticker slogan -U.N. out of the U.S.? Having the United Nations divide its time equally between New York and Moscow might coax it out of its shrill anti-American demagoguery. If our Third World critics had to spend aix months a year in the Soviet paradise that seems to enchant them from aigr. we suspect they'd be so chastened by the experience they'd kiss the tarmac at IFK Airport on each return.

meini-watching is still a growth industry in Washington intelligence circles. Fueled by the Reagan administration's ill-starred arms deal. which the White House claimed began as a feeler toward potentially friendly tranian officials who might succeed the 86-year-old ayatollah. speculation on the state of Khomeini's health continues space. The trouble is that the inside scoop coming out of Iran is hopelessly contradictory. He's had a heart attack; he hasn't. He's dying; he's doing fine. You pays your money and you takes your choice.
AIDS & TOURISM: Americans

traveling abroad may soon face discrimination because of fears that they will bring exposure to AIDS, the fatal disease spread by sexual contact. Japanese authorities have reported an outbreak of AIDS cases and claim to have traced them all to contact with visiting Americans.
Mainland China has had no cases of AIDS yet, but Chinese authorities are said to be nervous about the growing influx of American tourists. The Swedes are also reported to be concerned. U.S. medical specialists of the disease say they wouldn't blame foreign governments if they instituted screening measures for incoming Americans.

MINI-EDITORIAL: The burden of worrying about foreign policy. Wall Street chicanery, the budget deficit and holiday traffic snaris is pretty exhausting, so we're grateful for one small favor: There is nothing we can do about the "ozone hole" over the South Pole until scientists figure out its cause, and so far they haven't been able to. The finger of suspicion points to chemical gases used in refrigeration, but apparently it would be premature to scrap all our air conditioners until more studies are done. What a relief! At this rate, we could have our worrying over the 1988 election out of the way before we have to ponder the ozone

Special Prosecutor Will Probe Iran Deal

WASHINGTON (UPI) - An embattled President Reagan announced today a special prosecutor will investigate the Iran arms-Contra aid scandal and named longtime public official Frank Carlucci as his new national security adviser. Addressing the nation for the fourth time in three weeks to stem a loss of public confidence. Reagan said in a televised address that Attorney General Edwin Meese will relinquish control of the probe to an Watergate-style independent counsel.

At the same time, Reagan urged Congress to "consolidate" its own inquiries into the deepest crisis of his presidency, while refraining comment on calls for a special session to hand that mission to a special investigative panel.

"If the investigative processes now set in motion are given an opportunity to work," he said, "all the facts concerning Iran and the transfer of funds to assist the anti-Sandinista forces will shortly be made

Rep. Robert Michel, R-Ill., House Republican leader, who saw Reagan at the White House today along with other GOP officials, said. "I feel good about what the president told me flat out about the honesty and truthfulness with which he told us the events as he knows them. And I believe the president was telling me the truth. That's what makes me feel good about it." Reagan addressed the nation minutes before Attorney General Edwin Meese held a news conference at the Justice Department, to disclose his plans for turning over the investigation of the Iran and Nicaragua operations to an independent counsel, the new name for the job special prosecutor Archibald Cox did in the Watergate in-

Speaking from the Oval Office, Reagan seemed to urge patience as a New York Times-CBS News poll showed a record one-month plunge in his approval rating a reflection of widespread distrust of the secret dealings with Iran and the Contras.

The same poll showed a majority of Americans concerned that the administration has covered up his secret dealings abroad. Said White House spokesman Dan Howard: "Polls go up, polls go down and polls go back up." Reagan, vowing again to "get to the bottom of this matter," said Meese concluded on the basis of a preliminary investigation that there were "reasonable grounds" to pursue with an independent criminal probe.

"With the appointment of an independent counsel," Reagan said, "we will have in place a dual system for assuring a thorough review of all aspects of this matter.

"If illegal acts were undertaken, those who did so will be brought to justice. If actions in implementing my policy were undertaken without my authorization. knowledge or concurrence, this will be exposed and appropriate corrective steps Implemented."

The criminal investigation will proceed parallel to inquiries by Congress and a top-to-bottom review of National Security Council operations by a special presidential board headed by former Sen. John Tower,

Reagan again pledged to cooperate in all of these investigations, insisting "no area" of the NSC staff "will be immune" from scrutiny and asking Congress to pursue its interests "without disrupting the orderly conduct of government."

"Since the outset of the controversy over our policy relating to Iran. I have done everything in my power to make all the facts relating this matter known to the American people," he said.

Carlucci, 56, who becomes Reagan's fifth national security adviser in less than six years, replaces Vice Adm. John Poindexter. who resigned last week amid disclosures that he had some knowledge of the diversion of profits from Iran arms sales to Nicaraguan rebels.

While the transfer of skimmed profits from those sales was said to have been coordinated by Lt. Col. Oliver North, who was fired from his post on the NSC staff. Meese said Poindexter knew some details and failed to pursue them.

Carlucci, the recent chairman and chief executive officer of the defunct Sears World Trade Inc., is known to have been favored by CIA Director William Casey for the National Security Council post, in part for a shared view of covert operations.

He became a career foreign service officer in 1956 and held posts in Africa and Brazil before joining the Nixon administration, serving as director of the Office of Economic Opportunity, associate director of the Office of Management and Budget and undersecretary of health, education and welfare.

Carlucci served as ambassador to Portugal, returned to Washington to hold the No. 2 position at the CIA during the last half of the Carter administration and became deputy secretary of defense early in the Reagan administration. He left that post on Dec. 6, 1982.

In his brief speech. Reagan said:

"I'm pleased to announce today that I'm appointing Frank Carlucci as assistant to the president for national security affairs, a former deputy secretary of defense, deputy director of the CIA, and ambassador to Portugual, Mr. Carlucci has the depth of experience in foreign affairs, defense and intelligence matters that uniquely qualify him to serve as my national security adviser. The American people will be well served by his tenure."

Perot Says He Tried To Ransom Hostages

DALLAS (UPI) — Billionaire H. Ross Perot sald Tuesday that former National Security Council aide Lt. Col. Oliver North asked him to pay ransom for American hostages, including some of those held in Lebanon, but Perot controlled the money during the entire operation.

"I knew when and where every penny was being used," Perot told United Press International. "My people handled all the money. Oliver made sure of that. He went the extra mile to make sure of that. He was that type of guy, a hundred percent integrity.'

Perot sent $2 million to Cyprus for a "ship-to-ship" transfer in the most recent clandestine attempt to ransom five American hostages, sources told The Washington Post. which first reported the Perot-North connection.

Originally. North had asked Perot to put the money in the Credit Suisse Bank of Zurich on May 23 but changed plans at the last minute and asked Perot to send a courier to Cyprus and exchange the money at sea. The messenger waited five days for a chance to pay the ransom but the deal fell through for unknown reasons, the newspaper

South African Official Says Christmas Boycott Illegal

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (UPI) — South Africa's new police minister warned blacks planning a Christmas boycott of white stores that boycotts are illegal and organizers will be punished.

Black groups announced on Monday two boycotts of stores owned and operated by whites. One begins next Monday in Soweto and Johannesburg and the other, intended to be nationwide, begins Dec. 16 and runs through the Christmas shopping season.

Law and Order Minister Adriaan Vlok said Tuesday that organizing boycotts is "illegal in terms of the (nationwide state of) emergency." which was declared June 12 to stem racial unrest.

Vlok, asked whether boycott organizers faced punishment under the emergency, said, "You couldn't have put it

Combat Units OK'd For Women

COPENHAGEN. Denmark (UPI) - Denmark announced it will let women join naval combat forces, becoming the first NATO country to permit women to fight beside men. A similar decision is expected for land and air fighting units.

Defense Minister Hans Engell announced Tuesday that women may immediately begin volunteering for all navy combat units except those serving on submarines, the Fleet Air Arm or as frogmen.

He called it "a direct consequence of the general movement towards equality."

Officials said the decision follows a five-year trial period in which some 160 Danish women were tested in combat units of all three defense arms. The navy, which tried out women gunners and navigators on torpedo boats. minesweepers and other warships, was first to produce its evaluation report.

Aquino Defends Cabinet Changes

MANILA. Philippines (UPI) — President Corazon Aquino told senior military commanders Tuesday she reorganized her Cabinet for the sake of national unity and her spokesman said two more ministers will be replaced.

Speaking at a conference of the military's top 70 officers to announce new benefits for soldiers. Aquino declared she has made "important changes" in her 9-month-old government.

'It was not easy to make the changes in the civilian government for they involved men who were loyal and devoted friends of my late husband. (Benigno Aquino) champions of the cause of Filipino freedom and dedicated supporters of my presidency. They served me well.

"But the call of duty and national unity required me to remove them," she said.

The officers, including the chiefs of the major military services, pledged full support for a 60-day cease-fire with the communist-led New People's Army. Armed Forces spokesmen Col. Honesto Isleta said. The cease-fire, agreed to in negotiations last week between the government and rebel representatives, is to begin Dec. 10. During the 60-day truce, government and rebel negotiators are to meet to try to reach a permanent peace agreement.

Tuesday's conference marked Aquino's first meeting with military officers since firing Defense Minister Juan Ponce Enrile. whose dismissal Nov. 23 followed reports of a failed coup by officers who shared his opcommunist rebels.

Passage of the unprecedented law follows months of controversy. Some Communist Party officials believe the law runs counter to communist principles that protect workers from unemployment.

Peng Zhen, chairman of the standing committee, stressed the necessity of a bankruptcy law but acknowledged the "immaturity of conditions for a full-scale law at present." Xinhua said.

Peng said the main obstacle to a permanent bankruptcy law is the absence of legislation granting government-run businesses independent decision-making

Because of that, opponents of the experimental law said permanent regulations making state-owned firms responsible for their profits and losses would be premature. A law giving managers more independence is being considered.

Florida Junior has Daytona Wednesday and us Saturday," Payne said. "If they come out of this week with two wins, the race might be over."

St. John's River, which has been one of the MFC doormats the past decade, has revitalized this year under coach Mike Herman, a former assistant to Stetson's Glenn Wilkes.

'Four of them are back from last year and they got a kid from Louisville named Davis which has helped," Payne said. "They pressure you defensively. They play under control. They run if they get it and set up if Mike Davis, a 6-4 point guard, runs the show and has orchestrated the SJR to its 6-3 start. John Nixon, a 5-9 sophomore guard who was second in the state in scoring last year, is averaging 23.5 points per game. Wallace Campbell, a 6-4 forward, is next at 21 ppg. Undre Mitchell, a 6-6 center, is scoring 15.3 points and pulling down 11 boards. Tony Starke, a 6-2 guard, is averaging 9.5 rebounds.

'Their only weakness is depth." Payne said. "They use just six or seven players."

Payne will open with 6-8 Vance Hall, 6-7 Claude Jackson and 6-3 James Morris on the front line. SCC's dynamic backcourt is made up of 5-8 point guard Darris Gallagher and 6.0 sharpshooter Malcolm Houston.

The Raiders' depth has Payne worried due to injuries. Efrem Brooks, the third guard, is bothered by knee injuries while 6-7 Barry Dunning and 6-6 Robert Williams have achilles heel and ankle injuries, respective-Seminole, 1-0, returns to action Thursday night at 9 p.m. against Orlando Edgewater in the Winter Park Rotary Tip-Off Tournament at Winter Park High School. The tourney runs through Saturday.

"We didn't play that well," Kicin said about Tuesday's win. 'Our talent just wore them down. We put enough pressure on them that it finally got to them in the second half.

DeLand coach John Zeoli said his Bulldogs lost their bite in the second half. "We just stopped being aggressive," he said. "Surprisingly, we got the ball inside on them in the first half, but we didn't stay with it in the second half."

Klein pointed to junior Andre Whitney as his ace in the hole. Whitney, who didn't start but will after Tuesday's hustling effort, sparked a third-quarter surge in which Sanford outscored DeLand, 12-4, to take a 38-30 lead into the final eight minutes.

Whitney, a 5-11 point guard, was everywhere defensively and pushed the ball up the floor offensively. He fed 6-8 Craig Walker for a dunk and a 29-28 lead with five minutes left in the

Ex-NFL Greats Among Layne Pallbearers

LUBBOCK, Texas (UPI) - Some of the greatest pro football players, along with friends and fans, were expected to gather today to say farewell to Hall of Fame quarterback Bobby Layne. Services were set for 4 p.m. today at St. Paul's Episcopal Church in Lubbock, with a private burial to follow.

Layne, 59, had died Monday of cardiac urrest from complications involving a chronic liver disease.

Among the 12 pallbearers expected at Layne's funeral were four members of the Pro Football Hall of Fame - Doak Walker, Yale Lary, Joe Schmidt and Ernie Stautner. Layne had been in a Lubbock hospital since Nov. 15 with internal bleeding, the same allment for which he had been hospitalized in Pontiac, Mich., earlier in the month while attending a Detroit Lions alumni dinner.

"I'll remember him as a fighter and as a winner." said Layne's son, Alan. "Two days Football ago, the doctors said he was gone. The next day, he was sitting up in bed, reading. He just wouldn't quit fighting.

"He lasted about two weeks more than anybody normal would have. His heart just finally gave out."

Layne carned a place in the Pro Football Hall of Fame after twice quarterbacking the Detroit Lions to the NFL championship. He played for four NFL teams following a college career in which he broke every passing record at Texas — some that stood until this season.

During his tenure with the Chicago Bears, New York Bulldogs, Lions and Pittsburgh Steelers, Layne perfected the art of moving the ball downfield in the final minutes of a half or game, giving birth to what coaches now refer to as the two-minute drill.

"Bobby Layne never lost a game," said Walker, a high-school and Lions teammate. "Sometimes, time just ran out on him." Teammates and opposing players remember Layne as a flery competitor. "Bobby Layne was one of the greatest athletes that Texas has ever produced," said gone," said former Lubbock mayor Dirk West, another longtime friend, "He Just seemed permanent. He was an indestructible man. He took charge of everything and he figured he would be around a long time."

"He was a great quarterback - a real leader." said Sammy Baugh, former Washington Redskins quarterback who played against Layne. "Everyone who played with him had faith in him. He was a tremendous leader."

Bobby Layne was an NFL quarterback from 1948 to 1962. The Hall of Famer dled Monday. He was twice an NFL champ.

Mental, Emotional, Social Plays Are Key Facets Of Tennis Basics In learning to play tennis, it is, of course, very important to spend a lot of time and effort on the basics of the game. The forehand and backhand groundstrokes, the volleys, the overhead and lob and, the serve are the essentials.

No one can ever reach a very high level in the game without a lot of work and instruction on these basies. I think we miss the boat, though, if we just concentrate on the physical aspects of the game and do not get a good, solld background in the mental, emotional and social aspects of the

Many, many players out there grow and mature in the physical part of their tennis games but are still rank beginners in the other aspects. I believe that tennis teaching pros have an obligation to go into all aspects of playing the game, not just dwelling on stroke production.

The development of mental toughness, emotional stability and social skills of a tennis player can be greatly enhanced by a good instructor who is willing to go into these areas. It takes time, lots of explanation and patience, but it will pay big dividends in one's tennis.

The mental aspect of tennis involves many things. Some call it "mental toughness" or "having a good head," but whatever it is called, a person can never really be a great player without

It seems that an awful lot of tennis players are rather fatalistic about mental toughness. They think that a person is born with it, that you either have it or you don't, and that there is not much you can do about it one way or another.

This is far from being true. Actually, there is a lot you can do to improve the mental aspects of your game. First of all, just playing a lot of matches will help. The more actual matches you play the more experience you acquire in dealing with a variety of situations. You gain mental strength just by going through tough situations in a match. Using positive mental images and dialoguing with yourself in a positive way also enhances your mental "toughness."

For example, you can imagine that you are in a big match, you are serving and the score is deuce. See yourself hitting the first serve in to the backhand side, see yourself taking the return and volleying it deep to the corner and see yourself taking the lob that your opponent hits and smashing it for a winner.

Believe it or not, if you go over these pictures in your mind often enough, you have a much greater chance of producing the results you want. Talk positively with yourself during these situations. The bigger the point the more positive you

A great part of the mental game is to be able to concentrate. To zero in on every point, to not become distracted and to play one point at a time. This part of your game can be improved by just thinking over and over to yourself: "Watch the ball, watch the ball, watch the ball."

Sound silly? It works, try it. The emotional part of the game has to do with not getting down on yourself, not getting angry or

Rumler-Walsh Combo Holds Key For Lady Seminoles

By Chris Fister

Herald Sports Writer

With experience and up and coming talent at every other position, the key for the Seminole High girls soccer team this season may very well be in the goalkeeping.

seninole's number one keeper, senior Sherri Rumler, is also the team's top scoring threat. Therefore, the improvement of number two keeper Kim Walsh will be important to the Lady Tribe's success.

"Kim (Walsh) will see more duty as goalkeeper this year." Seminole coach Suzy Reno said. "The better she (Walsh) gets, the more time I will be able to put Sherri (Rumler) on the field. And you know what can happen when Sherri's on the field. She was only in two minutes in the jamboree and she scored a goal."

The Lady Seminoles open the season tonight at 7 at home in a Seminole Athletic Conference match against Lake Howell. The same two teams fought to a 1-1 tie in the SAC Jamboree after tying two times last Reno, who is assisted by son Phillip Reno and Gary Barnett, said the experience and young players who have come up through the area youth leagues, should make the Lady 'Noles a better team than that of a year ago.

"We look a lot better now than we did at this time last year." Reno said.

"We have more depth on the bench and the girls are in better condition and really have their hearts in it. We might not be as strong as Lake Brantley or Lyman, but we're not going to be the weakling of the area either."

Rumler, an all-state player as a sophomore and all-state honorable mention last season, is the top returning goalkeeper in the SAC and also one of the most dangerous offensive players. Another top returning goal-scoring threat is senior midfielder Vicky "Spuffy" Pakovic.

Reno will look for additional offensive firepower from junior forward Tracy Farrelly, sophomore forward Melissa Shuckman and freshman striker Heather "Worm" Brown, a transfer from Texas.

Solidifying the midfield are senior Carol Lykens who returns from back surgery that forced her to miss last season. Junior Rachelle Denmark, sophomore Jennifer Lindamood and freshman Shannon "Slick" Sundvall.

Defense was the strength of the Lady Seminoles a year ago and will be a strong point again in 1986-87. The top returning defenders are junior Cindy Benge who will move to sweeperback this season and senior Jennifer Roberts. Walsh, a junior, will start at stopper back with sophomore Michelle Bisigni playing stopper when Walsh is in goal. Sophomore Linda Warren will lend depth at right fullback.

"I got to play everybody in the jamboree to see how they would react." Reno said. "And it was good that I did because I saw that some girls played better at different position and I was able to make some changes. The way it looks right now, we should have a much better season this year."

Tribe Kicks Trinity, 4-1

By Chris Fister

Even though they worked hard in the preleason and looked good in the jamboree, jeminole High soccer enthusiasts still needed lome kind of sign to show that the 'Noles were loing to turn their fortunes around in 1986-87. How about a convincing 4-1 victory over Trinity

Prep in Tuesday's season opener?
Seminoic High, 2-14 last season, proved that they won't be easily kicked around this year by dominating the visiting Saints Tuesday night at Seminole High. Darren Forde scored two goals and assisted on another while Mike Altizer and Chris Ray also scored in the opening-night victory.

""We probably had more offensive opportunities created tonight than we had in our 16-game schedule last year." Seminole coach Carlos Merlino said. "And it's not becasue Trinity is so bad. We have improved that much."

Seminole takes its 1-0 record back into action Thursday at Apopka.

In Tuesday's match, Forde scored the first goal at the 31:04 mark to give Seminole a lead it would not relinquish. The score remained 1-0 tintil 2:12 left in the first half when Ray scored for a'2-0 halftime lead.

Seminole made it 3-0 with three minutes gone in the second half on a goal by Altizer off an assist from Forde. Altizer then assisted Forde's second goal as the 'Noles took a 4-0 lead with 29:50 left to play.

Trinity finally got on the board with 16:40 remaining on Dan Bachrach's goal. Seminole goalkeeper Sean Sunduval had seven saves while Merlino said J.J. Partlow, David Reed and Chuk Roll led Seminole's tough defense.

RAMS SHUT OUT OAK RIDGE, 3-0

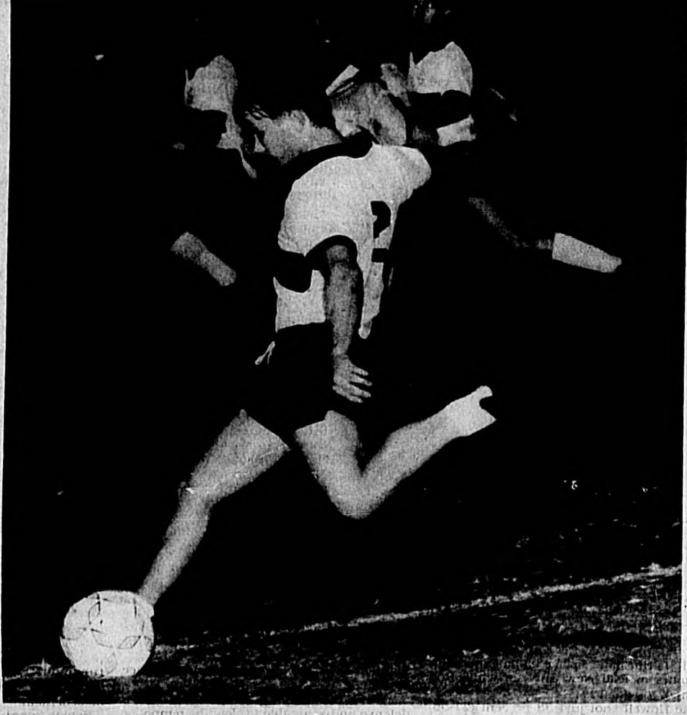

"Lake Mary's Rams, ranked fifth in the state (4A) had little trouble creating opportunities Tuesday night, but could only convert three of them into goals in a 3-0 opening-season victory over Orlando Oak Ridge at Lake Mary High.

"The Rams return to action Friday night at 8 against Orlando Evans at the Evans Tournament. Fourth-ranked Cooper City and eighth-ranked West Orange will meet in the other first-round match.

"The story of the game was our inability to beat Oak Ridge's keeper," Lake Mary coach Larry McCorkle said. "He had 26 saves, the most anybody's ever had against us. He had some really nice ones but we hit the ball at him most of the time. We should have had seven or eight goals in the first half alone."

Lake Mary took 39 shots on goal for the match compared to just two for Oak Ridge. Lake Mary's chemive dominance, along with the defensive lay of Scott Schmitt, Pete Kinsley, Rick Morales and Chris Riske kept the visiting Pioneers off the loard.

Lake Mary opened the scoring 10 minutes into the match when Rick Broennie fired in a shot from 18 yards out. Five minutes later, Lake Mary took a 2-0 lead when Jon Brooks scored on an assist from Steve Sapp. The Rams' 2-0 lead held up at halftime.

Ernie Broennie added an insurance goal for the Rams with 12 minutes remaining to make the final 3-0.

McCorkle said he was pleased with the opening-night victory (Lake Mary lost, 1-0, to Oak Ridge in last year's opener) but he hopes the Rams can finish their offensive opportunities better in the future.

"We were all over them (Oak Ridge) in the first 25 minutes of the game," McCorkle said. "We missed shots over the goal a couple times and hit the post four times. It's a better start than last year, but there's still room for improvement."

Lake Howell flexed its offensive muscles
Tuesday in a 5-2 opening-night victory over

The Silver Hawks return to action tonight at 7 at Orlando Oak Ridge.

Lake Howell took 28 shots on goal Tuesday compared to just six for the visiting Bucs. Jerry Philips, Todd Smith, Dougie Lee, Jeff Shirkey and Todd Miller all scored for the Silver Hawks.

"We dominated on offense and worked the ball real well." Lake Howell coach Glenn Griffin said. "And we played good defense, but I wasn't pleased that we gave up two goals in six shots."

Mary Blanks Hornets; Bergman Lifts Oviedo

By Chris Fister Herald Sports Writer

Lake Mary was the offensive aggressor Tuesday, but the Lady Rams also needed some key defensive plays to get them going in a 4-0 season-opening victory over Bishop Moore's Lady Hornets at Lake Mary High.

The Lady Rams had a 1-0 lead with two minutes left in the first half when Bishop Moore had an opportunity to tie it before halftime. Goalkeeper Tammy Scott came out to stop a Bishop Moore shot but the ball rebounded out to another Lady Hornet. The second shot, though, was saved by Lake Mary defender Michelle Padilla.

"That was an important save," Lake Mary coach Bill Eissele said. "If Bishop Moore had scored, it would have been tied at halftime and it would have given them some momentum."

Lake Mary then came out in the second half and scored three unanswered goals to pull away. The Lady Rams return to action Friday in a big early-season Seminole Athletic Conference match at Lake Brantley. The Lady Rams dropped a 5-0 decision to Brantley in the preseason jamboree (one half).

The first 36 minutes of Tuesday's match was a scoreless tie but Michelle Mattingly gave the Lady Rams a 1-0 lead with four minutes left in the half. Mattingly scored again 10 minutes into the second half on an assist from Kelley Broen for a 2-0 lead.

Lake Mary made it 3-0 later in the half when Crissic Snow scored on Broen's second assist and Broen, last year's scoring leader, got her first goal of the season to give the Lady Rams a 4-0 lead.

Lake Mary had 30 shots on goal compared to 10 for the Lady Hornets. Scott had four saves for the Lady Rams while Bishop Moore keeper Katie Berescheim came up with 19 saves.

"We kept pounding away and eventually got through in the second half." Eissele said. "We got excellent defensive efforts from Annemieke Stonerock. Amy Alexander and Vicky Warner. They did a good job clearing the ball and keeping them (Bishop Moore) from mounting any strong attack."

attack." LADY LIONS ROUT TRINITY PREP, 5-2

Cathy Bergman pumped in a career-high four goals Tuesday night as Oviedo's Lady Lions opened the season with a 5-2 rout of Trinity Prep's Lady Saints at Trinity Preparatory School.

Oviedo, 1-0, returns to action today at 4:30 at Winter Park's Ward Park.

Bergman scored her first goal six minutes into the match, then scored again three minutes later. Jill Knutson's goal gave the Lady Lions a 3-0 lead before the Lady Saints pulled within 3-1 at halftime.

Bergman booted two more goals, with assists from Doris Arcomone and Kelly Price, as Oviedo took a commanding 5-1 lead.

"I thought it would be a little closer than it was." Oviedo coach Gene Lescollette said. "I didn't expect us to score five goals. But a lot of the players are back from last year so they've been playing together for a while and that helped."

Oviedo had 26 shots on goal for the match compared to 15 for Trinity. Oviedo goalkeeper Lori Blackburn had eight saves while Arcomone, the Lady Lions' sweeperback, led the defense.

Carpenger returns with a team that a year ago was dominated by 38 freshmen and sophomores. He said those frosh and 10th graders are now a year older, and hungry for the season to begin tonight at Oviedo. Junior varsity action begins at 6:30 p.m. with the varstly immediately following. "We don't have any wrestlers with two or three years of varsity experience." Carpenger said. "But we've got a lot of enthusiasm and excitement. We've got 60 kids out for the team. and most of them are underclassmen. "As we grow through the season, our confidence will build." Carpenger said. "It requires the coaches to teach a lot more than we normally have too, but that is a challenge, and also a lot of fun for us.'

The Patriots lost two key wrestlers to graduation from last season's team. Troy Lewis (189 pounder) is gone as is Danny Streetman who is now at the Naval Academy in Annapolis. Dan Roth, a 100-pound senior, is one of the few returning wrestlers with a good deal of tournament experience and will be one of the cornerstones. Carpenger is also looking for big things from Grant Carpenter at 169 and John Hornbeck. Carpenter has only had three days of practice due to football, but Carpenger said he is better of than in seasons past.

Colby Sprague is another player making the transition from the gridiron to the foam. Sprague is a transfer student that Carpenger hopes to receive support from. He will also look to Scott Meridith and Greg Wyka who are pattling for the 121-pound slot and Gary Kohler at 128.

Kohler and Jason Bray (134) are two grapplers who had some varsity experience, and Carpenger has John Tubbs returning. Tubbs wrestled for the Pats his sophomore year before transferring to DeLand. He has returned, and will be sporting the Patriots red. white and blue for his senior

"We're weak with experience." Carpenger said. "And we're thin at the upper weights, but we'll grow through the season. The staff can already see some growth in the first three weeks of practice. We seem to be a lot better at the little things, like takedowns, that hurt us last year. The closer it gets to tournament time, and the more experience we get, the better we'll be."

Corso, meanwhile, will face the same struggle without experience when the Silver Hawks open tonight at Apopka. Corso has a number of wrestlers returning, but most are extremely

"We need a good year developement-wise," Corso said. "Then we can do well in the state tournament. We are going to have to rely on team strength to do well."

Corso also has three football player he will count heavily on. Jeff Celones. Nate Hoskins, Al Valle and Henry Heim are among the wrestlers he expects to contribute that are getting late starts. Senior Todd Miller is one of the key returners.

The senior will wrestle at 121 pounds this season. Miller wrestled at 108 last year and appeared on his way to the state meet before not making weight at the district meet. Junior Brian Horvath (128) and Dave Figler also figure to be prominent wrestlers. Figler wrestled varsity as a freshman, but an accident on his bicycle early in the season kept him from having a sensational year. Other Silver Hawks with tournament experience are Chris Cina (147-pound junior) and Hoskins (135, senior). Cina made it to state a year ago, while Hoskins came one match shy of the Sophomore Jason Rosenblatt (third in the confernce as a frosh), Jeff Dorshea and Valle will fill the upper weights for the Silver Hawks. "Everyone is anxious to get back on the mats." Corso said. "We are going to need as much experience early as we can get. There are tough kids every where in the county, and every one is very competitive, it should be an interesting Corso won't have to walt very long to convince Carpenger. The two will meet in the Patriots' home gym this weekend in a triangular meet which includes DeLand.

Becker's Age: Small Stat Which Ends All Arguments

NEW YORK (UPI) - When it comes to a high-level discussion of the relative merits of Boris Becker and Ivan Lendl. Becker cites a small statistic that can end all

The difference between them, he suggests, isn't so much serves and groundstrokes as it is age.

"We are almost even," the world's No. 2 player said of No. 1. "I don't know who is better now.

"But he's now at the limit of his game; he can't get better. You can't get better than No. 1. He's 26 and I'm 19. There's still room for me to get better. I have the time for improvement.'

Even with the $500,000 Nabisco Masters to be played this week. Lendl has clinched the top ranking for 1986. He is the only man to win two Grand Slam titles this year the U.S. and French opens - and he has compiled eight Becker, though, is looking to the future, and the Nabisco Masters could provide an ideal showcase for his campaign to overtake Lendl in the coming year. The personable West German meets Joakim Nystrom tonight in his first match.

Wichita State Drops Football

WICHITA, Kan. (UPI) - Wichita State President Warren Armstrong blamed the community's lack of support for the death of the school's 89-year-old football program, Armstrong said Tuesday the school's football program would be discontinued indefinitely. He said poor community support and financial losses this year approaching $800,000 caused the action.

"I think it's a sad day for the city," Armstrong said. "It's the level of support in the community that has resulted in this. Perhaps the extent of the problem was not fully appreciated.'

During a news conference, Armstrong said only an infusion of at least $3 million in the athletic department's operating budget could revive the program.

'California Dolls' Invade Sanford

Daytona Beach Mainland's version of the "California Dolls" invades Sanford tonight when coach Ron Pagano bring two girls with his Bucs for a prep wrestling match at Seminole High School.

Junior varsity action begins at 6:30 p.m., with the varsity contest slated for 7:30 p.m.

Seminole coach Glenn Maiolini said he believes Mainland is using the gals for forfeit points, but he, like everyone else, is approaching the match with interest.

Maiolini said he wouldn't wrestle anyone against the girls at the junior varsity level but if Pagano inserts them in the varsity lineup, he would.

"That's a different story," he said. "We aren't going to forfeit varsity points."

Conner's Craft Scores Easy Win

FREMANTLE. Australia (UPI) - Dennis Conner's Stars & Stripes withstood battering winds and swollen seas today to defeat the New York Yacht Club's America II by 13 minutes and 4 seconds in the third America's Cup

The 25- to 30-knot winds caused waves that swept one bowman overboard and disabled boats.

In the conditions he favors, Conner, the San Diego Yacht Club skipper, led around every mark to solidify his hold on second place with 70 points, 20 behind first-place New

DeLand-Lake Mary JV Cancelled

DeLand High has dropped its junior varsity basketball program, thus forcing the cancellation of a Thursday game with Lake Mary High's JV, Lake Mary basketball coach Bill Moore said Tuesday.

Oviedo Rally Falls Short; Patriots Lose

By Chris Fister Herald Sports Writer

Oviedo's Lady Lions made a valiant second-half comeback Tuesday night, but it fell just one point short in a 37-36 loss to Boone's Lady Braves at Orlando.

The loss dropped Oviedo to 1-3 for the season and the Lady Lions return to action Thursday at home against Eustis. Boone improved to 1-3 with its first

"It was our best game of the year." Oviedo coach John Thomas said. "We still have a long way to go, but we're improving. When we reach our potential, we'll be all right."

Oviedo had the lead in the first quarter but Boone's Melissa DeNune got the hot hand in the second quarter as the Lady Braves took a 19-14 halftime lead. Oviedo came back strong in the second half but Boone held on for the narrow victory.

Suzanne Hughes and Kristin Harrell had eight points each to lead Oviedo while Teresa Philpot, Jodie Switzer and Bridget Jenerette contributed six points each.

COLD BRANTLEY LOSES

Lake Brantley's Lady Patriots shot just 32 percent (14-43) from the floor Tuesday night in a 56-29 loss to Orlando Edgewater's Lady Eagles at Edgewater High.

Lake Brantley, 2.2 for the season, returns to action Thursday at Boone (junior varisty 6:15, varsity 8). Edgewater ran its record to 3-1 with the win. 'We had a very, very bad game," Lake Brantley coach Cindy Frank said. "We missed a lot of shots from within 10 feet. If we could have hit those shots, it would have been closer." Brantley played a tough zone defense to stay within 14-8 after one quarter, but Edgewater went high for Brantley while Janice Abaray added seven. Vanessa Taylor led the Lady Eagles with a game-high 14 points, Pat Wilson tossed in 12 and Keisha Maxwell added 10.

There was no report from Lyman on the Lyman-West Orange girls basketball game.

Continued from 7A not giving up. So many players "beat themselves up" every time they make a bad shot.

They say things like, "You're a klutz," or "You stink" or "You are so bad you can't walk and chew gum at the same time. This type of dialogue usually only makes you play worse and draws attention to your bad shots and to your lack of emotional maturity as a tennis player. I also know players who practically give up the whole match if they play some bad points in the first game. The whole match is ruined for them and their opponent just because they got off to a Listen, tennis takes at least six games to win a set and two of three sets to win a match. Hang in there and don't give up, even if you lose the first set 6.0 - a lot of players have come back to win the match even from that point.

There is nothing that turns people off on the tennis court more than having to play on a court next to some person who is getting angry after every point and throwing the racket and using bad language. Unfortunately, we have some of these types almost everywhere we play, but they are getting fewer as time goes by.

Most players have learned that it is not "cool" to act like this and that it does offend others, so they have stopped acting up. When a player uses profanity on the court or throws the racket or just acts like an All-American jerk, it is usually beccase of problems they have off the court and the tennis just gives them an arena to let it out. Don't be the one who poisons the air for other players - get your emotional game together. Tennis is a great social game but on the court is on a 13-4 spurt in the second not really the place to socialize. To carry on a period for a 27-12 halftime running conversation, to laugh and giggle over advantage.

everything that is done or said is very, very Villandia Rivers 8 points were distracting to others playing around you. " olf you are the only ones playing and everyone involved wants to chat and giggle during the match, then that is okay. But if others around you want to concentrate, it is unfair of you to be such a distraction.

Save the socializing for before and after the match. Also remember that tennis should be socially enhancing and not socially destructive. Don't make bad calls, don't put all the emphasis on winning and, for Pete's sake, don't get mad at your opponent.

Tennis is a great way to socialize and meet poeple, so don't spoil it for yourself and others.

Bowden Waves Good Riddance To Nattiel

By Benton Wood Special to the Herald TALLAHASSEE - The weather didn't cooperate with players - especially quarterbacks Kerwin Bell and

Danny McManus. But the Throwin' Mayoan lobbed a water-logged football to Ricky Nattiel for an 18-yard touchdown to lead Florida to a 17-13 victory and drown Florida State's hopes of snapping a six-game losing streak to the Gators in front of a Doak Campbell Stadium record 62.307 sympathizers. Most of them expected an air show between Bell and McManus, but the downpour soaked both passing games. Bell was only 8 of 17 for 65 yards, while McManus was worse, completing 8 of 15 for 48 yards.

"That was about the worst weather I've ever played in," Bell said. "You always had mud and stuff between your hand and the ball."

But Bell conquered the elements the one time the Gators needed him the most. Florida was faced with a third-and-six after keeping the hall on the ground seven consecutive plays.
Bell found Nattiel sliding across the middle of the end zone with 3:50 remaining to ensure the Gators, 6-5, a winning season.

"I knew it was for the go-ahead touchdown and was my last college game." Nattiel said. "It wasn't a pretty throw, but it was effective. I just went down and tried to cradle it. I wasn't going to let that chance slip out of my hands." McManus and the Seminoles let two chances to rally slip away from them. Florida State (6-4-1) couldn't get a first down in two the fans, the coaches or the tries and McManus was only 1-7. Still. FSU head coach Bobby Bowden refused to use the weather as an excuse. 'The rain is not the reason we lost." Bowden said. "It had a big effect on the game, but who it helped the most — I don't know.

The weather did cause both teams to adjust their game plans carly. Bell and McManus both threw an interception a minute apart early in the game. Ricky Mulberry intercepted a pass that slipped from McManus to give the Gators early field position at the Seminole 40. Six plays later freshman Octavius Gould scored on an eight-yard run to give Florida a 7-0 lead with 4:06 in the first quarter. From then on. Florida coach Galen Hall and Bowden decided to keep the ball on the ground. Neither coach was excited about abandoning the passing game, but both admitted they had to run the ball to win.

"We've tried not to put too much pressure on our young backs this year." Hall said. "All of a sudden, because of the weather we found ourself in a position where we had to get a good effort from them to win."

Bowden also said he had to switch his game-plan. "It was pretty evident after the twointerceptions that both teams had to run the ball. I knew after Danny's (McManus) interception that if we didn't run the ball, we would get beat."

Stocks Open Lower

NEW YORK (UPI) - Prices opened lower today In heavy trading of New York Stock Exchange issues, trimming gains won in the previous day's record session.

The Dow Jones industrial average, which gained 43.03 Tuesday, was down 7.46 to 1948.11 shortly after the market opened.

Declines led advances 547-401 among the 1,403 issues crossing the New York Stock Exchange tape.

Early turnover amounted to about 16,501,700 shares.

The stock market surged and the Dow soared to a record high in heavy trading Tuesday as investors welcomed President Reagan's announcement that a Watergate-style independent counsel will investigate the Iran arms scandal.

The Dow crashed through the previous record of 1919.71, set Sept. 4., to close at 1955.57.

"The market has survived a lot of bad news and is fundamentally strong," said Harry Villec of Sutro & Co. in San Francisco.

Stock prices began rising late Monday, largely on expectations that President Reagan would act to curb the political damage caused by the Iran arms affair. Traders said a strong bond market also helped stock prices. Credit market investors analyzed a 0.6 percent rise in the October index of leading economic indicators, reported early Tuesday, and decided that the economy remains too sluggish for the Federal Reserve Board to let interest rates

Home Sales Plunge 9.6 Percent

WASHINGTON (UPI) - Sales of new single family homes plunged 9.6 percent in October to a seasonally adjusted 662,000, offsetting a dramatic gain in September, the Commerce Department said today.

New home sales rose to 732,000 in September from 618,000 in August, according to revised figures issued in a government report.

Still, the August and September sales figures are up substantially from earlier reports, so the setback in October does not reflect as much weakness as first anticipated. Even so, new home sales are off substantially from levels in carly 1986. Sales peaked at 924,000 in March before diminishing demand, especially in depressed farm and energy producing regions, combined with sharply higher prices to wear down the rapid pace of sales.

ballots Tuesday. Turnout was even more disappointing in District 4, with a mere 582, or 14.2 percent of the district's 4,104 voters turning out.

Tuesday's election pared six candidates from the District 4 roster and three contenders from the District 3 race. Incumbent District 4 Commissioner Dave Farr did not seek reclection.

in addition to Eckstein and Mrs. Meadors, District 4 candidate Joe Dennison received 77 votes. Cathy Harrison, 76: Dot Waller, 67: Dennis Stewart, 54: Garold Page. 41; and Earl Jesse.

in District 3. McClananahn and Smith came out ahead of Mrs. Yancey, who garneded 142 votes: A. Bart Peterson, who recieved 104; and Eddie Keith got 64 votes.

Mrs. Yancey said Tuesday night "only three or four" of District 3's 28 absentee ballots were cast in her favor and therefore she did not feel she'd surpass Smith when commissioners count them today.

"Although I'd be pleasantly suprised if things turned out differently. I'm sure Commissioner Smith will be in the run-off," she said.

A double honor is bestowed on Cheryl Jessup of Sanford today. as she celebrates her birthday and is chosen as our Cook Of The Week, and both occasions are worthy of praise, according to her loved ones. Our Cook is a high spirited lady whose good humor touches all those around her, from family to the youngsters she works with at "My mama was, and still is, a wonderful cook," Mrs. Jessup continues. "We didn't have an awful lot, except what was necessary, and I know that it was a rare thing to have meat except on the weekends. My mama could cook vegetables, I just call it Southern style, and you'd never think twice about sitting down Monday night to peas and okra and sliced tomatoes and corn bread. That's how we ate. Then, on Friday night, as a treat, we'd have hamburgers. On Sunday she'd always have two meats, and if there was something left over. then it went on into Monday. So. Sunday's dinner was real big." NEW ORLEANS (UPI) - For more than 200 years, the Cajuns of Louisiana trapped. recled in or hunted down the finest the bayou country had to offer - and whipped this bounty into one of the best-kept secrets of the cultnary world.

For the past two years, however, the 'Cajuns" of Minneapolis, Paris, even Singapore have dished up a host of trendy dishes with extremely catchy names - all in the name of quick profit and the great god

It's no wonder, then, that the real Cajuns are applauding a young chef named Alex Patout for his efforts at setting the record (and the wayward palate) straight.

Patout, who stepped into a commercial kitchen just eight years ago, has from that day been quietly but with growing conviction re-creating the world's image of Cajun cooking.

With the publication of "Patout's Cajun Home Cooking." he is announcing for the benefit of anyone who missed the message that the cuisine of south Louisiana is a lot more varied, and a lot more magnificent, than a boatload of blackened redfish.

There never was anything else that restaurant in tiny New Iberia with chic but authentic cateries in Los Angeles and New

"A lot of people go into the restaurant business not knowing what flavors they're trying to reach. But the greatest critics we had were the family we'd grown up with. And the greatest advantage we had was that - so we could say again and again, 'No. we're not there yet.

These days, it's safe to say, the Patout family is "there." Alex not only serves as author and chief promoter of the new cookbook (published by Random House at $19.95) but as a kind of overall quality control manager. in Los Angeles, his sister Gigi and brother Andre keep things going in a style that has carned raves from all the local critics and some national ones as well.

In New Orleans, no easy restaurant market, diners have welcomed sister Liz and brother Mitch as though they were handing out free money in addition to terrific Louisiana food.

All this - the cookbook, a national equaled the food we ate at home," said publicity tour, two new restaurants -Patout, who recently expanded beyond his comes a full year after every major food publication proclaimed 1985 the year of superstar chef Paul Prudhomme and, in the same breath, declared this "Cajun Thing" was a goner.

Patout insists the fad called Cajun might have faded but an appreciation of true Cajun cooking is only beginning to take hold. "So many Cajun restaurants are opening taste - the flavors we'd been accustomed to up all over the country," said Patout, who earned a degree in accounting before picking up his first skillet. "Some are doing quite well and some aren't. What makes Patout's so unique is the authenticity it offers. You dilute that and the quality is diluted also.

"Paul Prudhomme's book offered a brand-new point of view about a concept that was truly unknown. I feel that our book will offer additional support to the idea that Louisiana as a whole is by far the greatest culinary state this country has to offer."

In the interest of both accuracy and family relations. Patout admits it might have taken him "30 or 40 years" to come up with 150

Man's Surgery Leaves Woman Seeking Truth

DEAR ABBY: I am 40. divorced and have known a lot of men in my life, but this one is hard to figure out. A few months ago, I met a very handsome man (age 37) who looks a lot like Tom Selleck. He told me he was injured in Vietnam and had a plastic chest. Recently I spent the night with him, and it seems that the plastic on his body extends to a greater area (his hips and pelvis). He's a perfect date - intelligent, educated and well-bred. He said he was on the football team in college and he also studied ballet. He loves to cook, bake, crochet, knit and do needlepoint. He's an excellent dancer, owns his own business and has plenty of money. (He's a "computer consultant," whatever that is.)

After we made love (just that one time, which was just OK), I bgan to wonder if maybe he was a transsexual (a female who had had a sex-chagne operation). He talked a lot about plastic surgery, and his body looked strangely different and appeared to be patched up in many places. I wondered how he could have been injured in all those places and live to tell about it. He claimed he received many war decorations but never applied for any veteran's benefit (for his injuries) because he didn't consider himself "disabled."

I don't plan to see him again because frankly, he left me with the creeps.

I'd like to know the real truth about him. Abby, are people who have sex-change operations registered anywhere so I can find out for sure?

NO NAME, PLEASE

DEAR NO NAME: Sex-change surgery is a private matter; people who have undergone that type of operation are not "registered" anywhere.

The best way to learn the facts about a man is to ask him. And if you can't believe what he says, I advise you to sever the relationship.

Simplify Meals During Busy Holidays

The days between Thanksgiving and the end of the year are for many the very busiest of the year. There's shopping, school activities, church meetings, entertaining to prepare for, and generally step-up in things to get

Preparing our family meals becomes just one more activity that we can simplify by planning and preparing for ahead of time. Recipes and suggestions in this column might be labeled menu.

If your family members are coming and going at different times, this sloppy joe sauce can be ever ready and everyone can make their own. This recipe makes six servings, if you have children or teenagers with big appetites it is easily doubled.

ITALIAN SLOPPY JOES

1 pound ground chuck 1/2 cup chopped onion 1 can (8 oz.) tomato sauce 1/4 cup Parmesan cheese

1/2 cup grated Cheddar cheese 1/4 t. oregano 1/8 t. basil

1/4 t. garlic powder Salt and pepper to taste

6 hamburger buns, 6 slices Mozzarella cheese

Crumble beef in a 1 1/2 qt. casserole. M/W on 100% power 5-7 minutes. Stir occasionally to break up meat; drain. Add remaining ingredients, except buns and mozzarela cheese. W/W on 100% power 2-3 minutes or until mixture starts to simmer. M/W on 50% power for 4-6 minutes, stirring once. Spoon mixture on half of bun and top with mozzarella cheese and bun. Serve at once. Serve yourself raw vegetables and potato chips are good accompaniements.

Micro-hint: if increasing amounts in recipe, increase the cooking time also.

A quick casserole is sometimes the answer to what should I fix for dinner. This one is always welcome.

A fine family, a comfortable home, and a satisfying career are all good reasons for the perpetual smile on Cheryl Jessup's face, but another good reason is her-love for music and the fellowship she enjoys at Sanford's First Baptist Church. Mrs. Jessup teaches a Sunday School class of women and is a member of the choir. "We have a very nice class," she says, "and we have about five or six covered dish parties a year. Sometimes we'll go down to the church and everybody will bring a different crock pot or container of soup. We all bring our own bowl and our own spoon, and you've never seen anything until you've seen the way we all taste each other's soup and beg for leftovers," she laughs. The adult choir, which is called Celebration, and the youth choir, called Promise, are all preparing for the special Christmas season. "I love the music program." says Mrs. Jessup, "I really do. We have a lot of good fellowship, and we tease a lot, but we all know why we're there and that's to sing praises to the Lord. If someone told me that I'd have to give it up, I don't believe I could live. I love the music - to me, it's a part of worship. I don't think you should ever sing something you don't believe, because you're singing a message whether it's church music or whatever." Mrs. Jessup credits the choir director. Rodney Brooks, for making the music program a pleasurable and rewarding experience for all.

"He has all the qualities to get the most out of us, and he really knows his business," she says.

Calling on her children for some of their favorite recipes to share with us, Mrs. Jessup relates, "They said, 'Mama, we like everything.' My husband likes my sweet potato pie recipe because it's not loaded with spices. And everybody who has ever eaten the chocolate pound cake has loved it." A new recipe that she has just tried for the first time is the Christmas Cake, and will surely put the old fashioned fruit cake to shame.

A November To Remember For NBC

NEW YORK (UPI) — It was a November to remember for NBC, which won its seventh consecutive ratings sweeps period — a record for the No. 1 network. For ABC and CBS, it was a November for surrender. ABC chalked up the worst November sweeps performance for any network and CBS had its poorest performance ever.

Ratings for the November sweeps are especially critical because they determine how much local stations can charge advertisers for the next few months. There are four sweeps period in a year -November, February, May and July - but November and February are considered the big months.

Not only was this sweeps period bleak for ABC and CBS, but it was also not a good month for the miniscries format and network television as a

According to A.C. Nielsen Co., NBC had a 17.8 ratings average for the aweeps period, CBS had a 16.0 and ABC had a dismal 14.0. A ratings point equals about 874,000 households. The top-rated show of the month — NBC's "The Cosby Show" - was no surprise considering that it has been the No. 1 show for eight out of nine weeks of the fall season, losing out only to the

Falling behind Cosby like good little Thursday night soldiers were NBC's "Family Ties" and

CBS did well with "Murder, She Wrote," which finished No. 4, and ABC's "Moonlighting" was

The three networks each had different strategies for the sweeps. NBC relied mainly on the strength of its regular series. CBS went the miniseries route and ABC tried theatrical movies. For CBS and ABC, the strategy failed.

Last year, the networks presented 30 hours of miniseries, including ABC's blockbuster hit "North and South." This year, there were only 14 hours of miniscries.

NBC's "Rage of Angels: The Story Continues" performed the best, followed by CBS's comedy miniseries "Fresno" and CBS's "Monte Carlo" starring Joan Collins.

ABC, once known as the miniseries network, ignored the miniseries format this time around, and opted for less expensive theatrical movies like "Sudden Impact" and "Splash." They did not pay off in big numbers, but didn't cost millions of dollars to put on — an example of the "New Reality" at the networks. CBS spent about $20 million on its two miniscries and failed to reap just rewards. "Monte Carlo" was nothing short of a bomb, leading her glitter. With "Fresno," CBS tried something new: the first funny mini. The result was less than spectacular.

Even NBC's "Rage of Angels" starring Jaclyn Smith came up short in the ratings, although it outperformed the other minis. The new bottom line economic environment at the networks does not allow for $30 million miniseries mistakes anymore.

Because of that, the miniscries is approaching endangered species status on network television. The minis will never go away, but they will be shortened and spread out more throughout the

The next mega-miniseries will air during the sweeps period in February when ABC presents its controversial 12-hour. $32 million "Amerika." about the Soviet invasion of the United States.

CBS is opting for glitz over controversy with its eight-hour, $16 million "I'll Take Manhattan." starring Valerie Bertinelli as an heiress to a fashion magazine empire.

For the big network picture, ratings were down sharply. Overall, the combined three-network rating fell from a 51.0 last year to a 47.7 — a loss of 3.4 ratings points.

That means that the networks lost about three million viewers from the same period last year.

"Deep In the Heart of Nowhere." On a recent trip to New York. Geldof arrived at the office of his record company looking like a Nobel Peace Prize in 1986 and Band Aid, as if his rock 'n' roll persona had been in suspended

> "This is the best exercise in showing people you've got clay feet," he argued in a musical Dublin accent. "People say 'God, what's Geldof doing putting out a record?' Well, I've gotta pay my electricity bills, to be quite blunt with you.

> "That brings it down to the mundane. The whole point about Band Aid is that everyone is capable of doing that stuff. I said at the beginning, this demands not money but something of yourself." Geldof has evoked a deep response from many people. Some still come up to him on the street to give him money. "On the way to the airport in London this taxi driver rolled down his window and handed me five pounds," he recalled the satisface Others have criticized Geldof, charging he used Live Aid to promote himself. "At first I was hurt by it," he admitted. "I thought, 'How could you, what do they want of me?' I had gone to the point of total exhaustion. of even exhausting my finances.

"Then I just thought, it's a little extreme to say that I organized the greatest famine in human history so that I could sell a few records. It's like saying that Demis Roussos, the Greek singer, organized the Beirut hijacking to restore his flagging career.

Although Geldof has returned to his music, he still keeps track of the aid money and talks to the Band Aid staff twice a day. "I'm chairman of the board of trustees. Up to June It took a lot of my time. I spent a lot of time on it because I didn't want to make a mistake. Making a mistake would have betrayed the people who trusted us, hurt the people we were trying to help and given the politicians an advantage." Despite the challenges of getting food to starving Ethiopians in the midst of Africa's current political chaos, Band Aid has pulled it off. Says Geldof, "We have our own ships, our own trucks, so we kept control from the moment someone gave us the money to the moment it left London docks, to the moment it docked, to the moment it got on the trucks, to the moment it left the trucks. We just organized our own system all the way through.

How long will it go on? "Until such time as the money is spent. I said every penny would get there, every cent. That's a personal guarantee and that holds. We had $120 million. there's $30 million left."

Geldof could have launched a political career on the success of Live Aid, but he couldn't wait to get back to his main love. making music.

Agoraphobia Is A Genuine Problem

DEAR DR. GOTT - People in my town don't believe that there is such a thing as agoraphobia. Please set them straight and explain that it's no fun for those of us who suffer from it.

DEARREADER — Agoraphobia is the irrational fear of being alone and isolated in an open, crowded or public place. The condition is real and, as you point out, it is no fun. A person with agoraphobia can experience panic when in a tunnel, on a bridge, in a store, on a busy street - in virtually an unlimited array of situations that most of us take for granted. To the agoraphobic, seemingly in-consequential daily activities may become intolerable burdens. Fortunately, the ailment can be treated with counseling and psychiatric help.

DEAR DR. GOTT — My sister died last year and we suspect that myofibrositis may have contributed to her heart attack. For 10 years she attempted to get a diagnosis of the problem. which caused great pain in her neck and shoulders and caused small hard nodes to form. Could the myofibrositis have contributed to her heart attack?

DEARREADER -Myofibrositis (or fibromyositis) is a low-grade inflammation and swelling of strands of connective tissue, the material that connects our organs. Fibromyositis usually affects the muscles and ligaments of the shoulder and neck, causing pain, stiffness and tender trigger points. It is more common in middle age than before or after. To my knowledge, it does not affect the heart.

I don't believe that fibromyositis caused or contributed to your sister's heart attack: they are two independent problems. Fibromyositis can be treated with a variety of methods, including massage. ultrasound, myotherapy and aspirin-like medicines.

DEAR DR. GOTT - Recently. during a physical exam, the blood test showed I have an SGOT level of 63. I do not drink alcohol or take aspirin. Could you tell me what this test indicates? My doctor does not feel it is a problem.

DEAR READER - SGOT is medical shorthand for serum

l u t a m i c oxaloacetictransaminase, an enzyme found in the liver and heart and muscle tissue. Ordinarily, small amounts of the enzyme are released into the bloodstream and can be measured. If liver damage is have it rechecked in several present or if there has been heart months, if your other blood tests or muscle damage, more of the were normal.

Desi Arnaz Dead At 69

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) - Deal Arnaz, the Cuban-born bandleader and straight man to the zany Lucille Ball on the landmark "I Love Lucy" television series, died Tuesday of cancer in his daughter's arms. He was 69.

"We all have been praying for two or three months that Desi would be released from his pain," said Ball, who was married to Arnaz for nearly 20 years and remained a friend after their divorce. "Now I'm grateful to God that Desi's suffering is over. He was a wonderful man with many fine qualities."

Ball said their daughter, Lucie Arnaz, was with Arnaz "day and night for many days before his death" at his home in Del Mar. Calif. She said he "died in his daughter's arms" at 12:30 a.m.

Ball, who last visited Arnaz last week, planned to join Lucie at the home along with the couple's son, Dest Arnaz Jr.

She also said Arnaz's body would be cremated, and that memorial "services of some kind" would likely be held in Hollywood in a few days.

Arnaz had been ill for several years. His physician, Dr. Charles Campbell, said, "He died of lung cancer. It was from smoking those Cuban cigars. That's the truth." In "I Love Lucy," one of the most successful and influential situation comedies in television history. Arnaz played Ricky Ricardo, the dashing congaplaying bandleader at the mythical Tropicana Club in New York who was constantly bedeviled by his wacky wife, Lucy, played by Ball. The show, which had its first telecast in October 1951, was an immediate smash and one of the most popular ever on television. ranked lower than third in the ratings, and in the 1952-53 season in amassed an all-time high yearly Nielson rating of 67.3. Many of the comedy twists centered on Lucy's insatiable desire to perform with Arnaz's band or on confusion caused by Arnaz's heavy Spanish accent.

The show co-starred William Frawley and Vivian Vance as America's best-known next-door neighbors, Fred and Ethel Mertz. A fifth cast member, Little Ricky, was added late in the run when Ball became pregnant and the couple made the unprecedented decision to incorporate he birth into the series.

Arnaz was an astute businessman and clever producerdirector. He pioneered television comedy filming techniques. performing before a live au-dience and introducing the three-camera technique still used on most situation come-

Arnaz and Ball established a television and movie studio called Desilu, which owned three Hollywood lots and filled prime-time network television with its comedy shows. From 1955-57, Desilu made a total of 691 half hour TV segments. While "I Love Lucy" was the cornerstone of Desilu en-terprises, the empire also included period favorites such as "December Bride." "Our Miss Brooks" and "The Ann Sothern Show." The studio also produced "The Untouchables." which launched a wave of crime shows on TV.

The popularity of Desilu shows and the success of the Arnaz-Ball relationship waned by 1960. when they ended their marriage. In 1963 Arnaz married Edith Mack Hirsch, who died last year.

Ball bought out Arnaz in 1962, ending their business partnership. Arnaz retired to a hideaway in Mexico's Baja California and his home in Del Mar, near a popular seaside race track.

Arnaz was born Desiderio Alberto Arnaz y de Acha on March 2, 1917, in Santiago. Cuba, the son of the mayor. His maternal grandfather was a founder of the Bacardi Rum Co.

The Cuban revolution of 1933 destroyed his family's wealth and the young aristocrat fled to the United States, where he got his first job cleaning bird cages in Florida.

In a 1976 autobiography. "A Book." Arnaz recounted the luxuries of his childhood and the contrasting hardships he faced as an immigrant. He soon found a job playing guitar and singing with a small rumba band in Miami, and was discovered by bandleader Xavier

He later formed his own band and appeared at Miami's La Conga Club, where he introduced the conga dance that became a national craze. He moved on to New York where he was cast in the Broadway musical "Too Many Girls." An RKO Studios executive signed Arnaz to appear in the movie version of the show. starring Ball. They met on the movie set, had their first date that night and eloped six months later, in November 1940. "He was very handsome and

In "I Love Lucy," one of the most successful and influential situation comedies in television history, Arnaz played Ricky Ricardo, dashing conga-playing bandleader and husband of zany Lucy, played by Lucille Ball. The show soared to top popularity rating in 1952 and Desilu Productions made by-product fortune lending name "Lucy" and "Ricky" to husband-wife twin pajama sets and other items. Arnaz introduced the three-camera technique still used on most situation comedies.

romantic," Ball once recalled. "I knew I shouldn't have married him ... but I never had anything exciting and romantic like that happen to me quite that fast."

Arnaz then toured the country with his band while Ball stuck with movies. Arnaz also did a three-year hitch in the Army during World War II.

After the war, Arnaz formed another touring band and became musical director of Bob Hope's network radio show, Both Arnaz and Ball were intrigued by television and when CBS offered to star the husband-wife team in During its first six years it never "I Love Lucy." they readily agreed.

In financing the show, they needed another $1,000 per week to make the budget. Arnaz came with a plan to cut the couple's salaries by that amount in exchange for 100 percent ownership of the show. A few years later he sold the episodes back to CBS for $4.5 million.

Arnaz came out of retirement in 1955 to create and produce one more sitcom, "The Mothers-in-Law."

In 1968 he was national chairman of the "Viva Nixon" committee, and in 1970 he was appointed a member of the Advisory Council for Minority Enterprises by Nixon.

Pies-A-Plenty

Add Spark To Desserts From The Freezer

origin, but they're a definite, hours before serving. Makes 6 delicious part of the American

Early English settlers brought their love of piece with them when they came to this continent. Along with hearty meat ples, there were fruit ples and berry ples and rich, creamy custard pies, which they called puddings.

It wasn't unusual in those early days of America, and even well into the 19th century, for a woman to have baked several ples before sun-up, while the man of the house milked the cows and fed the chickens and did the other early morning chores. Likely as not, some of that pie was eaten for breakfast.

Nor was it unusual for early American cooks to freeze their pies when the winters were cold. They would bake the ples in quantity, put them out to freeze and bring them in as needed.

We don't often eat ple for breakfast anymore, but frozen pies have become a staple, not just during a long, cold winter, but any time an occasion calls for dessert.

That's true even — and maybe especially — during the holiday season, when pies are part of the tradition, but time is very limited.

These recipes allow for a compromise. The pies come from the freezer case, but they're topped with simple, homemade concoctions that let the cook take credit for coming up with something special.

Holiday Food Sampler Come One, Come All To Festive Luncheon

By Doris Dietrich PEOPLE Editor

Members of the Woman's Club of Sanford Inc. will put their best culinary aptitudes forward on Wednesday, Dec. 12, at the First Annual Holiday Food Sampler, a tasting luncheon, to be held at the Sanford Civic Center.

And the talented and thoughtful group of women are leaving no stone unturned in the well-planned event including a table of low-cholestrol foods for those on special diets.

The so-called frosting on the cake will come through the heavenly good Christmas candies and cookies up for sale during the hours, 11 a.m. to 2

Hazel Cash, vice president and chairman of the luncheon, said, "Since it is being held between Thanksgiving and Christmas, a tasting luncheon, where guests are invited to sample different foods and buy the recipe, seemed to fit into the season. We are all looking for new recipes and new foods for the holidays."

Mrs. Cash continued, "Many of the club's members have been formerly named Cook of the Week (a weekly feature of The Sanford Herald) and members are excellent cooks as the tasting luncheon will prove to be true. Dishes provided range from dips and hors d'oeuvres types of food to delectable desserts. Even homemade sour dough bread is being prepared."

Recipes for the foods prepared by the 165 club members will be cheese sold for 25 cents each or five for $1.00. "The recipes will be them quickly available, " Mrs.

Entertaining Season Calls For Sprucing Up Recipe Repertoire

pitched season of entertaining is such party fare all too similar. upon is, it's a perfect time to spruce up your repertoire of festive party recipes. Many an otherwise adventurous cook will turn out the same uninspired canapes year after year, which, alongside the ubiquitous

Both of these out-of-theordinary hors d'ocurves recipes are sure to punch-up the festivities at your next holiday

PARTY CHICKEN NUGGETS 4 chicken breasts (about 2 sweetened coconut

Now that the frenzied, high- crudites and dip, have made pounds) boned and skinned, cut

3/5 cup coconut rum 1/2 cup soy sauce

2 tablespoons vegetable oil

1 teaspoon ground ginger

in 1-inch nuggests

14 teaspoon garile powder 35 cup flaked or shredded

Endive or romaine lettuce leaves

Place chicken nuggets in large shallow dish. Combine coconut rum, soy sauce,, oil, ginger and garlic powder: pour over chicken. Cover dish: refrigerate 3 hour or overnight. Place coconut on flat plate. Remove chicken from marinade; roll in coconut, pressing to coat. Place on baking sheet lined with foil (dull side up). Bake in center of preheated 400°F, oven 10 minutes, until coconut is golden brown. Serve on endive leaves, if destred.

MEATBALLS WITH SPICY COCONUT DIPPING BAUCE

% pound ground pork

34 pound ground beef 1 package (3 ounces) cream cheese, at room temperature 114 cups plain, packaged dry bread crumbs 35 cup coconut rum, divided

1/2 teaspoon salt 1 cup (12-ounce bottle) chili

14 cup red currant jelly I can (20 ounces) unsweetened pineapple chunks.

well-drained

in a large bowl mix pork, beef, cream cheese, bread crumbs, 1/2 coconut rum and salt. Blend until very well mixed; cover, chill 1 hour. Shape into 1-inch balls. In large skillet over medium heat, heat oil; drain fat from skillet. Add chili sauce, jelly and remaining 1/3 cup coconut rum to skillet; stir over medium heat until jelly is melted. Add meatballs, simmer 5 minutes. Add pineapple; heat through. Serve with cocktail forks or party

¼ INCH TRIM

In the Publix meat department you'll find professional meat cutters who take extra steps to make sure you take home the LEAMEST CUTS POSSIBLE. Our steaks and roasts, pork and lamb are triminal to not over 16 INCH AVERAGE. That saves you money. Because less fat means more value for your food dollar. Look for "NUTRI FACTS" brochures and displays in your Publix meat department. They'll tell you how to choose delicious meat meals that are low in fat, cholesterol and calories—but high in taste and nutritional value. And look for your favorite cuts of Publix meat-always lean,
