

The Romance of Antimony

Antimony is one of the metals that has few uses in industry. Yet no American daily newspaper is printed without the help of antimony, which, with lead and tin, forms the metal from which type is made.

Above: Native antimony smelter in the hills of Hunan Province, China. Below: Melting antimony with lead in one of the plants of the Western Electric Company preparatory to sheathing telephone cables.

While this nation produces many of the raw materials it uses, there are a number of commodities which it can secure only from the other side of the globe. Among these is antimony. Although the world's demand for this metal is not large, this country uses more of it than does any other, and is exporting more each year.

It is to hasten and strengthen the lead sheaths of the cables which the Western Electric Company manufactures for the streets and on lines of poles. By making the sheaths ninety-nine parts lead and one part antimony they are well protected against leaks and from wear by friction. While the percentage of antimony is small, it serves the purpose.

Umpires Of League Given Instructions To Follow The Ball

NEW YORK, Apr. 5. (AP)—Disputes concerning the interpretation of baseball rules by National League umpires are expected to be decreased this season by the annual instructions sent out today by President John A. Heydler to his staff of fourteen umpires.

into foul territory and strike some visible object will be legitimate homers provided they are fair hit when they pass the actual playing field. Stingers whose bats travel close to the foul line and hook or slice like golf drives, will benefit by the ruling.

President Heydler had down cases and clear interpretations of points which puzzled some of the arbiters last season.

A ball hit outside the grounds is to be judged as the point where it disappears from the umpire's view. From the proposed new umpire's position, they are to be warned to follow their eyes of the ball, warned to not to call plays too quickly, and advised them to study the rule daily.

One ruling probably will increase the number of home runs in the season. The umpire is to call a ball hit into any stand or over any in the fence at least 25 feet from the home plate should be called fair or foul according to where it passed from the actual playing field. The front of the stand or the inside fence, instead of the spot where the ball strikes the stand, will guide the umpire in determining whether the hit is fair or foul.

WASHINGTON, Va., (AP)—(AP)—Federal grand jury today returned indictments against R. P. Carter, Chairman, and James Johnson, President, of the American Railway Union, charged with conspiracy to obstruct the operation of the railroad.

Sportwriter Rates Yanks As Most Likely Outfit To Capture League Pennant

BY DAVIS J. WALSH
International News Service
Sports Editor

NEW YORK, Apr. 7.—Having lived at the age of discretion, by red marches, and in the face of general restraints, the writer today is rating the American League as the outfit to capture the Major League pennant. He will not take the flatter in early Oct. values, which constitute a declaration of war on the clubs, which he wishes to see finish six months hence. On the other hand, he will gladly bet on just when the day after tomorrow will become the day before yesterday.

In brief, he is not dealing in futures but only in "paper strength" of the present moment when the clubs are rated as follows: 1.—New York Yankees; 2.—Philadelphia Athletics; 3.—Detroit Tigers; 4.—Washington Senators; 5.—Chicago White Sox; 6.—Cleveland Indians; 7.—St. Louis Browns; 8.—Boston Red Sox.

The writer, of course, thinks the Yanks can win again or he wouldn't have them at the top. Their present speed is somewhat less than last year's, but he believes they have been going approximately nowhere at a terrible rate. From the standpoint of psychology, I think this will prove to be all for the best.

The Yanks were due for a slump after their great record through the 1927 race and their four straight victories in the World Series. No one can deny the fact that they are lucky to get the reaction now when it can't be used against them. And if they were now confident at the outset, they must be duly chastened after losing at random to all the best clubs in the South, even unto the class A outfit.

The others may come forward a bit but the Yanks will have to go back a lot to finish outside first money. It isn't good horse sense to figure that they will. The only real question they must answer is pitching and I think they will get just enough to ride on through.

The Athletics lack too much in defense to be rated higher than second at this early juncture and it may be that the Tigers, finding their stride at last, will come along to take the play away from them. Both clubs have the old punch but they probably will have their troubles stopping the other fellow from scoring, too.

Washington is the mystery ball club of the proceedings. Not even Harris himself can say definitely what his team will do, since young players in critical positions like shortstop and centerfield just can't help lingering the future with uncertainty. I look for the Senators to lose some of their hitting, too. If this state is borne out, they will have to place too much strain on their pitchers to be rated now at better than fourth place.

It is difficult to see where the Chicago White Sox, the Cleveland Indians, the St. Louis Browns and the Boston Red Sox have improved themselves greatly between seasons. The Red Sox, for example, were many games back of seventh place at the pay off last Fall and they have undergone almost no major changes.

The Browns, on the contrary, are themselves right up between season, leaving only a one-year return as a 1928 regular. They don't expect to get anywhere and their present strength indicates that they won't be disappointed in the slightest.

Cleveland and Chicago are almost a stand off. The former has the superior punch, the latter being pitching and general defense. It is for this reason that I think they look to be the better bet at the stage of the proceedings, although that Indian staff might suddenly decide to return to its 1926 form, in which case all bets are off. The Indians, however, aren't much of a ball club at this writing, the Sox having considerably more balance.

Pittsburgh Pirates Are Picked To Lead National League Baseball Outfits

By Davis J. Walsh
International News Service
Sports Editor

NEW YORK, Apr. 7.—If you want something easy, why not swallow a megaphone from its ether or suburban end? Anyhow, today's trick will be an attempt to call the National League's pre-season situation by its given name and, by comparison, everything else looks simple.

"Undisputed" from the standpoint of current prospects which is all any man can do and still retain his gravity, it appears that any one of four clubs might be rated the pace. The Pirates, for example, may be figured at this time to be no worse than they were in 1927.

The Giants regardless of Hornsby's absence, look the part of a on who shot. The Cardinals have to such stuff to be rated any lower than the best and the Cubs, lacking balance though they may, have enough class in various departments to rate at real pennant level.

There isn't sufficient difference in pre-race prospects of the three named to award any of them a definite advantage. The National League's Apr. form sheet, therefore, might be written as follows:

1.—Pittsburgh Pirates; 2.—New York Giants; 3.—St. Louis Cardinals; 4.—Chicago Cubs; 5.—Cincinnati Reds; 6.—Brooklyn Dodgers; 7.—Boston Braves; 8.—Philadelphia Phillies.

The writer is studiously avoiding any attempt to declare himself on the probable order of the finish in the end, in consequence, is passing no opinion on the first three in the batting. The fact is simply that this trio seems to be of almost equal strength at this time, with any favor being indicated only in the order in which they are named above.

There is so much balance to the league as a whole, however, that it is possible some outfit outside the top three will break through. The balance of doing this but, to judge them on current prospects, it must be admitted that any club with uncertain infielders at second and third bases can't be a stand-out at this early stage of the proceedings. Time only can tell whether these positions will develop acceptably and until then the Cubs must be left just a stride off the pace, regardless of their Spring exhibition record.

The same factor rates the Dodgers well down in the second division. They have remarkable pitching and unquestionably more punch than the 1927 club but the right side of the infield is distinctly juvenile. Naturally, no one would be justified in committing himself on an entry like that until further notice.

The Pirates, with a ball player at second base for the first time in several years, can't have lost much between seasons, even if the waning don't quite repeat their sensational performance, as many have hastened to predict. The Pirate pitching may not be quite as good, and, then again, with Grimes available, it might be even better. All in all, I think I'll very graciously allow somebody else to read the Pirates altogether out of top ranking.

The Giants suddenly have taken on the aspect of a far better club than the one that finished third in 1927. Roush seems ready for quite a year, the entire outfield situation is in for better protection and McGraw appears due to get his best pitching since his last championship year in 1924. The catching Cohen, successor to Hornsby, has answered most of the questions about his defense ability at second base. They say he may not hit. But what of it? I have a hunch that the rest of the batting order can carry a light hitter, if necessary.

The quality of pitching that they figure to get is enough alone to keep the Cardinals within a hoarse whisper of the leaders. Third base is the only uncertain factor but with Thevenow and Blades cured of their 1927 ailments the team as a whole is strengthened even if the third base experiments are not entirely satisfactory.

HOPPE WINS
CHICAGO, Apr. 7.—(INS)—Hoppe, the old master of the game, seems to be getting more and more with each succeeding year. He captured the current national three-day Billiard championship in St. Louis last night, for his third straight victory in many starts. Hoppe and Layton of St. Louis, are the only undefeated players.

TOURNEY BEGINS
PINEHURST, N. C., Apr. 7.—(INS)—One of the largest fields ever to enter the annual North and South Amateur Golf Tournament here today in the second half of the 86 hole qualifying round. George J. Voight, of Washington, the defending champion, shared honors with Eugene Homans, the 20-year-old Princeton freshman at the end of the first day's qualifying turning in a score of 79. Match play starts Monday.

Training Camp Briefs

By International News Service
NORFOLK, Va., Apr. 6.—(INS)—Unless the National League clubs prove far tougher than the American League opposition encountered by the New York Giants this Spring, the McGraw men are likely to win the pennant in a cakewalk. The New Yorkers hung up their twelfth straight victory in beating the Washington Senators at Charlotte, N. C., yesterday, 4 to 0. Bill Walker, southpaw recruit from Denver, held the Nats to two singles, and Bill Terry and Shanny Hogan hit home runs. The team play here today.

CHARLOTTE, N. C., Apr. 6.—(INS)—The New York Yankees were all set to slaughter the local team here today. The world's champions finally hit their stride against Knoxville yesterday, swamping the Sally Leaguers 14 to 4. Leo Durocher, St. Paul rookie, clouted a triple and a homer and Babe Ruth hit a single, a double and a triple.

RALIEGH, N. C., Apr. 6.—(INS)—Manager Robinson of the Brooklyn Dodgers was elected today by the batting of Jigger Statz and Rube Bressler in Brooklyn's 16 to 2 victory over Atlanta yesterday. Statz, whose weak hitting has kept him on the bench, got into the game as a pinch hitter and socked a home run. Bressler who apparently has regained the slugging ability which featured his career with Cincinnati, got four hits. The Robins play Raleigh today.

NEW YORK, Apr. 7.—(INS)—Thousands of fans turned out today to witness the first big league game of the season here. The attraction was the world's champion New York Yankees vs. the Brooklyn Robins, in the first of four exhibition games to be played in New York and Brooklyn.

Many fans who had just about given up hope for the Yanks because of their poor record in the south, experienced a change of heart and decided to attend today's game when they learned that the home run twins, Babe Ruth and Buster Gehrig, finally had come to life. Each hit two homers down in North Carolina yesterday against Charlotte.

NEW YORK, Apr. 7.—(INS)—Of greater New York's three big league teams, the Giants made the best record in exhibition contests in the South. They won twenty out of twenty-four and have been victorious in their last thirteen starts. The Brooklyn Robins won fourteen out of twenty and the Yankees only five out of seventeen.

Today the Giants will endeavor to celebrate Manager John McGraw's birthday properly by beating the Senators in Washington. They trounced the Nats again in Norfolk, Va., yesterday, 10 to 2.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Apr. 7.—(INS)—The White Sox belated winning streak has carried on into Hoosierland. They scored a shutout over the Indians of the American Association here yesterday, the score being 4 to 0. Ted Lyons was the winning pitcher.

Injured Ball Player Sues Rail Company

ATLANTA, Ga., Apr. 6.—(INS)—Grover Hartley, former catcher of the New York Giants, filed suit for $25,000 against the Georgia Railroad for the loss of a toenail on his right foot.

Hartley claims as the result of the injury, his catching and batting suffered, and he was released by McGraw to Indianapolis. The accident occurred Apr. 6, 1926, when a flagman stepped on Hartley's great toe as the latter was strolling barefooted through the pullman, enroute to New York from the Florida training camp.

The suit filed by Hartley alleges that as a right hand batter, he was accustomed to throw considerable weight on the toes of his right foot, and that the injured toe caused him to flinch and pull away.

Kearns States Jack Will Not Fight Again

NEW YORK, Apr. 6.—(INS)—Jack Dempsey will never fight again in the opinion of his former manager, Jack Kearns, who has arrived in New York to press his suit for $700,000 against the old heavyweight champion.

"Dempsey is shot," Kearns declared. "I don't think he can ever get in shape to fight a good man. I don't know about his eyes but he knows he's through. He's nearly thirty-three years old and doesn't need the money."

"Jack is worth close to $3,000,000 in real estate, bonds, other investments and ready assets. I hope to make a dent in his bankroll when our case comes to trial. The Kearns-Dempsey litigation breaks out again on Apr. 16, in the federal district court here.

American Team Will Face Mexican Outfit

MEXICO CITY, Apr. 6.—(INS)—Almost certain of victory, the American tennis team faced Mexico here today in the first of the American zone Davis Cup matches. Many observers predicted that the United States stars, led by the veteran "Big Bill" Tilden, would make a clean sweep of the matches.

Two single matches were scheduled for this afternoon. Johnny Hennessey, Indianapolis, youngster, was paired with Ricardo Tapia in the first match. The feature match, between Tilden and Robert Kinsey, champion of Mexico, is to conclude the day's activities.

MELBORN WINS
RICHMOND, Va., Apr. 6.—(INS)—"Wild Bill" Melhorn was $1,000 richer today as a result of leading a crack field of golfers in the Richmond open. Melhorn's 72 hole total was 282, four strokes ahead of Joe Kirkwood, who finished second. Melhorn scored 69-71 for his final 36 holes, two under par.

DELANEY TO MEET SHARKEY
NEW YORK, Apr. 6.—(INS)—The signing of Jack Delaney and Jack Sharkey for a fifteen-round bout at Madison Square Garden here on Apr. 30, and the announcement that Gene Tunney will defend his heavyweight title only once this year, today ended negotiations for a match between Delaney and Tommy Laughran, light heavyweight champion.

Addition Of Ernest Smith To Birmingham Team Will Strengthen Its Position

ATLANTA, Apr. 7.—(INS)—BL JIMMY BURNS
International News Service
Correspondent

One player very often can change what otherwise would be no better than a good ball club into a formidable contender, and Ernest Smith is expected to do just that with the Birmingham Barons. Smith is the Washington Senator's thanks for the Barons last year.

The exchange seems to have been acceptable, particularly as the Barons got a nice wad of change to boot. Smith played with Kansas City in the American Association last summer and being only 28 years old, is eligible for another big league trial.

Smith's fielding average of .938 might be occasion for alarm among those who do not on figures, but to close observers it is an indication that Smith is a busy young man, always trying for impossible stops in the association, and in Spring and sometimes being penalized when none should be suffered.

At any rate, Smith batted .275 practice at Birmingham has aroused enthusiasm that many declare that Smith will be the best shortstop in the league. Perhaps they are right.

Even with Gillis gone, the Barons have what they lacked last year—a competent keystone pair. Rosenfeld will be retained as utility man, and "Stuffy" Stewart, former Manager of the Barons, who more recently has been with the "Barons," will play second. Smith and Stewart—that is a pair of seasoned keystones acceptable to any minor league club.

The Barons' infield, if anything, will be stronger than in 1927, when they finished second. Another Washington hand-out, also named Ernest—Koenert Shirley will replace Theo Jourdan at first—at least that is the way it looks right now. Shirley batted .331 in 150 games with Greenville last year. There is now flaw in his fielding. Jimmy Johnston and Pelshah Balingier are waging a merry battle for the third base assignment. Johnston is the elder of the two, pleading guilty to 38 summers, six more than his rival. His last year's average established him as being several points better fielded, yet Balingier hits harder. There is only one fault to find with the Barons' outfield, which, reading from right to left is Elliott Barber, Dixie Carroll and Turner Barber, yet the alleged flaw is a serious one. It is that those outfielders are "dead-armed." In baseball parlance, that means that they have lost the elastic snap so essential to outfielders' arms.

Yet the boys can hit. Each is expected to hit well above .300, and it may be that they will knock in more runs than they let in, but that's something for your Uncle Johnny to figure out.

Yam Yaryan happened to the misfortune of not getting into condition and goes on the voluntarily retired list, or something like that. Albert Cooper, understudy to Yaryan last year, and Joe Jenkins of the 1925 and champion Cracker, will do the backstopping.

CHARLOTTE, N. C., Apr. 6.—(INS)—Looking for the Senators has become a habit with the Giants. The New Yorkers hung up their today, 4 to 0. The Senators got hit two hits off Walker, while the Giants were pounding Gaston and Braxton for nine.

PLAYERS MAKE MONEY
NEW YORK, Apr. 6.—(INS)—Babe Ruth saved $70,000 in 1927 and Lou Gehrig made more on a month's barnstorming tour last Fall than the Yankees paid him for the entire season, it is revealed in an article in the current issue of Collier's Weekly.

Tennis Tourney Progresses
BON AIR VANDERBILT HOTEL, AUGUSTA, Ga., Apr. 7.—(INS)—Eight players today entered the quarter finals of the South Atlantic Tennis Championship being staged here. They are: Bryan Grant, Malone Courts; Tamo Abe, Japanese Davis Cup star; Lawrence Rice; Allen Behr; George Loft; Frank Shields and Johnny Duggan.

In addition to the quarter finals, today will see the continuation of the doubles and the start of the mixed doubles. The double's program calls for the Simpson-Burwell combine to meet Courts and Grant and for the Simpson-Johnson combination to play Shields and Abe.

BLUE GOLD: In Commonweal—When I open the window to see the bird that sings by the bush, there is only the shaking old tree and silence turned to a hush.

What the air! It is blue, it is gold, and broods rest on the hill, not a song in the air of blue gold for the bird that whistled is still.

If I waited, the bird might yet dare to trill a bit in the cold, but the song that I wanted was there in silence made of gold.

Rather Disappointing

After listening attentively for nearly an hour to Dr. Hathaway's speech last night in the City Hall, and after finishing with microscopic exactitude a stenographic report of his meeting, we are forced to admit a feeling of disappointment over the inadequacy of the refutation of the Carlton charges. There still lingers in our mind a strange sensation of uncertainty about the affairs of the Road Department. We feel that we have not been taken fully into the confidence of its chairman.

We expected some clear, concise evidence that the record of this candidate for governor was clean. We expected affidavits at least. What did we get? It's no such a thing! All newspaper talk! Mud-slinging! There's no truth in it! I deny the charges! Just a dream a Tampa man had! Do I look like a thief? Non-sense! This formed the basis of his defense. The same kind of tommyrot we heard at the Municipal Band Shell a night or two before the bank failed last summer!

Dr. Hathaway resorted to a favorite trick of politicians—which has been used in Sanford—of manufacturing your own charges against yourself and then successfully refuting them. We have reviewed very carefully Mr. Carlton's speech in the Court House and we can find no reference whatever to canvas, pick-ax handles, rat traps, or trench hats. And for selling such articles at a loss to the Road Department, Dr. Hathaway had a logical explanation. In justice to the chairman we will add, however, that possibly Mr. Carlton may have mentioned canvas elsewhere but it was the charges he made here which we desired answered.

As for the operations of the equipment division at Gainesville, and the high cost of repairing Ford rear ends, he was not quite so clear in his remarks. We have since read the explanation which he read to us last night, and we still cannot understand why repair bills should amount to more than original costs. We agree that if an occasion should arise where only one car was worked on during the day, the necessary charging to that job of all overhead bills would certainly raise the cost enormously, but we cannot understand why such an occasion should ever arise. Certainly there would never be a time when only one car would be in the shops of the huge equipment division at Gainesville. And Doyle Carlton mentioned innumerable instances where charges were ridiculously excessive.

Dr. Hathaway explained plausibly enough why a contract on the Tamiami Trail had been let to the highest bidder: We can readily understand that certain situations might arise on certain occasions so as to make it cheaper in the long run to spend a little more for the present. We believe in the maxim of not being "penny wise and pound foolish," but we do not understand why in thirty specific instances of contracts awarded during fifteen months, it was necessary to give every one of those contracts to the highest bidder. And that is what Mr. Carlton charged.

And while the Chairman-candidate was expounding on the Tamiami Trail contracts, we cannot understand why he did not go on and explain why it was good business to change the routing of the Trail so as to run it through Barron G Collier's county at an additional cost of one million dollars. We expected that there might be some good reason for this, but Dr. Hathaway ignored the charge altogether.

He ignored innumerable other charges, charges which we considered most derogatory, to say the very least. Why has the personnel of the Road Department been increased from one thousand to three thousand during the present gubernatorial campaign? Why was a new and unnecessary road built by the property of the Road Department's chief engineer, J. L. Crasap, at a cost of $75,000? Why did the equipment division build a racer for the Daytona Beach races? Why does he ignore the Carlton charge that bridges are promised for votes? Or that he is building up the most vicious political machine in the history of Florida? Why? Why? Why?

Even his platform was disappointing. He stands, as we get it, and we have his platform before us, for good roads, good schools, health, tax reduction, fishes and fishermen, Everglades drainage as conceived by John Martin and approved by the Supreme Court, both capital and labor, the women, the farmers, and law enforcement, with, we presume, a liberal interpretation. We suppose also that he stands for fresh air and pure water although he did not say so.

The one remark he made which might seem indicative of gubernatorial material was, "I still contend that if he (Carlton) has any proof that there is any dishonesty or graft in the State Road Department, he ought, as a patriotic citizen of this state, to hand it to a grand jury and let them take action." We heartily agree with this sentiment, and we further believe that if Dr. Hathaway has any proof that the charges made by Mr. Carlton are not true, he should sue the Tampa man for criminal libel and collect damages for defaming his character.

Yes, Dr. Hathaway's speech was disappointing. It was more than that. It was deplorable! It was pathetic!

STONE MOUNTAIN

CHARLOTTE OBSERVER

Hollins Randolph, President of the Stone Mountain Confederate Association, has forwarded the Observer detailed program for the unveiling of the mounted statue of Gen. Robert E. Lee, the ceremonies being set for Monday, April 9. That day reminds Mr. Randolph, is the anniversary of Appomattox, and was selected "because the unveiling of this colossal statue by Augustus Lukeman will symbolize resurrection, from defeat of that matchless soldier of stainless character—Gen. Robert E. Lee." Judge Marcus Beck, of the Georgia Supreme Court bench, is to deliver the chief oration, and Mayor Walker, of New York, is to deliver the address of acceptance "on behalf of the country at large." The claim made for the New Yorker is that he is "the chief patron and benefactor" of the enterprise, Walker having sold "more Memorial coins and raised more money—over $50,000—than any other person in the country." There will be a large assemblage of Congressmen and Governors, and altogether, says President Randolph, the event "will be as brilliant as its historic background demands."

GROWING HATRED OF WAR

PLANT CITY COURIER

If William J. Bryan could read the American newspapers of today, he would be surprised, for he would find leading Republican editors referring with respect to the "Bryan treaties" as a useful war deterrent. When Mr. Bryan induced many nations (not including Germany) to sign treaties agreeing to wait and consider a year before going to war, these same editors were tolerant but plainly amused. They admitted that Mr. Bryan meant well, but intimated that he was wasting valuable time in the pursuit of a "purely visionary idea. But now that Secretary Kellogg has been working along similar lines in his "war outlawing" negotiations with France they are sufficiently impressed to remember the Bryan treaties with noble respect instead of with the former amusement. But the change is not merely one of the substitution of a Republican for a Democratic "visionary." It is due to a notable alteration in the attitude of America and the world's majority toward war, which is now widely regarded as a mad, ruinous and even criminal resort. Evidences of this change can be seen in the sober utterances of publicists as well as in the popular fiction of the hour. The latter, indeed, is rapidly divesting war of its former romantic glamour and picturing it as an abominable thing, not merely as crushing deadly but as hideous, bestial and altogether execrable. Though some of these novelists betray child-like ignorance in their handling of history, they are effective in their vivid revelation of a bitter hatred of war.

SLEEPING OVER THINGS

BY GEORGE MATHER ABAMS

Our impulsive natures get us in to a great deal of trouble. It's all right to go ahead, but it's better to go ahead with a clear heart.

Thinking things over does no harm. In fact it trains the mind to think accurately and soundly, so that when an emergency arises where a quick thinking decision is absolutely essential, the mind does the job with neatness and dispatch. Many a man has saved a fortune by sleeping over an idea—and many a man as well, has made a fortune through the same procedure.

A sick man isn't a very good man to do business with. His body cannot do justice to his mind.

It's the same with a tired body. A General is at a great disadvantage with an army all worn out or when tired.

A man's mind is always in the best shape in the morning. After a good night of sleep and rest, a man is apt to think very differently than the night before.

It often takes courage of a high order, but it is worth it—to sleep

Sunday School Group Has Easter Egg Hunt
One of the most enjoyable meetings of the Althean Class of the First Baptist Sunday School was that of Thursday evening when the regular business and social meeting was held at the home of Mrs. L. E. Estridge on Mellenville Avenue.
Var-colored Spring flowers and ferns were arranged in baskets about the rooms where the guests assembled. The business session was presided over by the president Mrs. J. C. Mitchell, during which time several important matters were discussed and good reports were given from the standing of Ferns. A unique plan was started for a membership and attendance drive.
After the business session a lovely musical program was given in keeping with National Music Week which will be observed at an early date. The program was as follows: vocal duet, Mrs. Robert L. and Mrs. C. H. Cook; accompaniment by Mrs. B. G. Moore; a number of violin solos, by Miss Pauline Cook; vocal solo, Mrs. Robert L. Glenn; and violin selections by Miss Margaret Willink.
At the conclusion of the program a delightful social hour was spent during which time the hostesses Mrs. L. E. Bryan, Mrs. A. C. McCaslin and Mrs. Estridge served a salad course with coffee. About 40 members were present.

Mrs. Bell Entertains Past Matrons Club

The Past Matrons Club of Seminole Chapter No. 2 O. E. S. were delightfully entertained Monday evening at a banquet at the home of Mrs. A. F. Bell on Mellenville Avenue. The house was beautifully decorated with quantities of Spring flowers in the chapter colors, red, white, green, yellow and blue.
Centering the long banquet table was a large white frosted cake embellished with a large Eastern star emblem and surrounded with feathery sprays of asparagus ferns and cut flowers. The nut cups were made in flowerlike designs carrying out the five colors. Favors and place cards were done in the forms of candles fashioned of gum drops and mints. At six o'clock a bounteous banquet was served. On the place cards were questions and other squibs which were read during the serving of the courses and caused much merriment.
After the banquet a short business session was held when routine business was carried out after which games and music caused the evening to pass all too soon.
Covers were laid for Mrs. Sarah Parker, Mrs. Mamie Griffin, Mrs. Joy Bailey, Mrs. Katherine Mc Kay, Mrs. Eunice Turner, Mrs. Elizabeth Scott, Mrs. Mary Kent, Mrs. Murry Jarvis, Mrs. Fannie Mc Connell and Mrs. Loretta Brotherson.

Sunday School Class Has Enjoyable Meet

Sneed, Mrs. Walter Morgan, Mrs. Lloyd Brown, Mrs. Kipp, Miss Elizabeth Clarke, Mrs. Porter Lansing, Mrs. P. M. Elder, Miss Alice Chapman, Mrs. Hodges and Mrs. Rogers.
The little folks hunted for the bright colored eggs, and the prize egg was found by Mildred Hodges, while the marshmallow egg in which a dime had been hidden was found by Ellen Jones. Martha Talbot and Orlean Adams found the most eggs among the members of the Primary Department while the lucky ones for the beginners were Gwyn Mc Crum and Mable Chapman. All four were given attractive prizes.
Later in the afternoon the children played a number of games and were told stories by the hostesses after which refreshments of ice cream cones were served. There were about 90 children who enjoyed this happy occasion.

Two Operas Translated Into English Are To Be Given Trial In Chicago

CHICAGO, March 24.—(INS)—"Pagliacci" and "Carmen" may look the same, but they'll never sound the same to the public of Chicago any more. They have been translated into the American language, at the request of Mrs. Edith Rockefeller McCormick.
No longer will the tired business man have any excuse for saying that the opera is "too dead" for him. Mr. Meltzer has modernized the classic versions so that they read like parlor-bedroom-baths.
Again in "Pagliacci":
Miguela, the village maid, has wandered into the midst of a crowd of gay dragons, in the plaza at Seville. The handsome military men are begging her to tarry a while with them.
"No, no, no," she declines, according to the strict English translation.
But Mr. Meltzer is emphatic. "No, no, no, no, no, no, no," is his idea of her refusal. Evidently the importunate dragoons are completely squelched. Again Escamillo views the bull: (strict English version):

"At last each one is hushed to silence."
What has happened? What is this?
Forth comes the bull in his fury. Leaping through, from his retreat; Already pierced through, a horse has fallen
Dragging down a picador
Mr. Meltzer gets action on the scene in this manner:
"In a flash the crowd is quiet. The crowd is quiet. Ah what is happening?
No sound! The crisis nears!
No sound! The crisis nears!
With a sudden bound a bull appears.
There in the ring? Running appears.
He comes! He charges!
On he rushes! A horse is falling!

With him fell a picador
Mr. Meltzer has done the old classics into undeniably "American" language. When he throws the bull, he takes no halfway measures, and the bull stays thrown.
Red-hot Action
With one of the Meltzer-revised librettos in front of him, the ordinary man now can go to the opera and get his classical education in "red-hot" action.
The entire version of both operas which Mr. Meltzer has completed, are "snapped up" immeasurably. In places, possibly, he may pos-

CATTS' CAMPAIGN AS MONEY MAKER

Declares Old Man Has Reaped Small Fortune Off Contributions Made For Defraying His Running Expenses

MONTELEONE—Running for office is nothing but a money making business, said Sidney J. Catts, declared James M. Carson, Miami candidate for governor, in an address here Wednesday night before several hundred citizens of Jefferson county. Charging the minister-candidate with having received contributions from the racing industry in 1924 at the same time he was passing the hat among his Florida audiences, Mr. Carson said:

"Mr. Catts is one of the wonders of the world. He is the only man who can run for office, be defeated and yet reap a financial profit off the deal. Until the people represent such an arrangement the old man will continue to run and will continue to reap such questionable gains."

Mr. Carson produced records to show that between June, 1924 and the spring of 1927, Catts invested $100,000 in Seminole county first mortgages.

"In other words," said Mr. Carson, "less than three weeks after the close of the 1924 campaign when Catts told his friends he was dead broke, he began buying Seminole county first mortgages and continued to invest in them until the spring of 1927, less than three months before he told Burton Leo Bank that he was 'broke' and could not make the present campaign unless he had financial assistance."

A remarkable chain of circumstances had revealed this practice of Catts, Mr. Carson told his hearers. He showed that the mortgages had been purchased by the now defunct Seminole County Bank in its own name. The bank closed its doors last August 6 and six days later in order to protect himself, Catts had to have the assignments recorded through the date of the papers between June, 1926 and early in the year 1927.

The speaker produced photostatic copies showing that Catts had received $1,000 by express from a Lexington, Ky., jobber during the 1924 campaign and calling attention to the corrupt bargain which now exists between Catts and Burton Leo Bank, representing the east coast gambling crowd, Mr. Carson said:

"In his Marianne speech Catts revealed how he has sold out to the racing element. By his statements there he disclosed that he had agreed to deliver 40,000 votes, which he claims to have between the Georgia line and Ocala, in exchange for a promise of 35,000 votes on the east coast plus a financial consideration. In other words, the old man has betrayed his friends and supporters and has agreed to sell them out to the gamblers of the east coast."

"He may think he can control those 40,000 votes in a corrupt bargain, he may think he can deliver them as though they were a drop of cattle but I know the people of Florida well enough to know that they will stand for no such business. Just because 40,000 people voted for him when he was right or thought he was right is no reason now that he is championing an to believe that they will support wholesale vice. They will rise up on election day and repudiate the old man and do it in an uncertain manner."

3rd Sanford Store To Be Inaugurated By Piggly Wiggly

Piggly Wiggly's third Sanford store was opened at 8:30 this morning at the corner of Second Street and Magnolia Avenue. P. J. Brown, manager of the new establishment, announced today. The opening will be marked by a number of special features, including the appearance of 14 girls from the Seminole County High School who sang four times during the day.

The new store will boast the total number of Piggly Wiggly employees in Sanford to 60 including the men working in the distributing warehouse which supplies all Piggly Wiggly stores in Central Florida. There will be four employees at the new establishment. Robert Martin will have charge of the meat department.

During the day, 500 bags of groceries were sold. The store was opened at 8:30, 10:30, 2:30 and 6:00. They have been trained under the direction of Mrs. R. C. Maxwell and Mrs. Williams.

The new store is the 24th opened in Central Florida. There are now 3,000 Piggly Wiggly stores in the United States and approximately 600 new ones are being opened each year. The first store was opened in 1916. C. K. Swindle is general manager of the Central Florida stores and lives in Sanford.

New Musical Device Proves Successful In Sanford

In the Savarin restaurant in the Pennsylvania Station, New York City—a restaurant that owes its name to the famous French journey of the 19th Century, Brillat-Savarin—a new musical device has been installed. It is known as the Music Reproducer and consists of a magnetic reproducer unit enclosed in a box about the size and shape of a week-end suitcase, an amplifier and four cone type loud speaking telephones. These, with a collection of phonograph records, are all that are necessary to furnish the Savarin guests with that "concert of sweet sounds" so pleasant as an accompaniment to one's meals.

Indirectly, the new device is the result of development work in "talking movies" done at the Bell Telephone Laboratories for the Western Electric Company. At the Savarin, where it made its first public appearance, it has attracted much attention. The reproducer unit and phonograph records are located in the cashier's booth, the cashier while the amplifier is in a small closet behind the booth. As for the four cone loud speaking telephones, they are to be found aloft in four of the dining room chandeliers.

To operate the set, the cashier places a phonograph record on a turn-table, which is a part of the unit. But instead of the music coming directly out of a horn, as in the case of a phonograph, the vibrations of the needle are translated into an electrical pulsating current and run through the amplifier, which is of the regular Western Electric public address system type. From the amplifier panel, the electrical vibrations go to the loud speakers, where they are translated into sound waves.

H. G. Devlin, manager of the Savarin, finds that through the use of the Music Reproducer it is possible to provide the music best adapted to his dining room. Through selection of the right records, it is possible to play the finest music available, rendered in such a way that the music floats softly through the whole dining room. Patrons at certain tables are not troubled by having their conversation drowned out by the din of an orchestra playing within the room, nor do those in the far corners of the room fail to hear the strains clearly.

A second Music Reproducer has been installed in the Sherry Candy Shop, Fifth Avenue at 53rd Street, New York. In this shop, which is considerably smaller than the dining room at the Pennsylvania Station, only one cone is used, while the amplifying equipment is not set up on a panel, but is portable. The chief advantage of using this device in a small room is that the loud needles which would ordinarily have to be used with a phonograph are dispensed with. There is consequently no straining of the quality of the music.

Old Time Corn Favorites

BECAUSE of its presence as a native of America, corn was one of the foods which the settlers of our country used in great abundance. And because it was one of the few vegetables to be found, the variations in the manner of cooking it were many.

Of course, the early method of preserving was to dry it, but later, when canning became established, the recipes were revised to suit this newer, better method. Here are some corn recipes that our great-great-grandmothers would regard as desirable descendants of their own recipes.

Red Cross Leader Will Give Lecture Tuesday Afternoon

Captain James B. McCreary, captain in the American Red Cross during the World War, will give an illustrated lecture on the battlefields of the Western Front next Tuesday afternoon and evening at the Princess Theater.

During 1919 shortly after the close of the war, Captain McCreary went over the battlefields and took more than 2,000 individual pictures of the theater of war before the shell holes, trenches and barbed wire had been removed or covered by time. Using these pictures he gives a continuous view of the battlefields over as large an area as he can cover in a single performance.

The majority of the slides are colored to add to the reality of the lecture. Arthur Page, editor of World's Work says: "Mr. McCreary has a pleasing voice of great carrying quality and as he has been over the entire ground he can talk about in a manner that is extraordinarily interesting."
