Nixon library lures with humor

YORBA LINDA, Calif. — Those promoting the Richard Nixon Library & Birthplace hope humor about the former president will lure tourists in attraction-saturated Southern California.

It's not easy to grab the public's attention when you're up against Mickey Mouse.

"There are a lot of exciting places in Southern California vying for three hours of the public's time on a Sunday afternoon," said library director John Taylor, who views nearby Disneyland as his direct competitor.

One newspaper advertisement featured a photograph of Nixon and Elvis Presley together in the Oval Office with the caption "The President and the King."

The Duke's horse to be stuffed

WINTERSET, Iowa — The owners of John Wayne's aging horse, Dollar, offered to send the animal when it dies to the John Wayne Birthplace museum.

The curators said they'll take it, if the donors pay for stuffing and shipping.

The museum in central Iowa, 25 miles southwest of Des Moines, can't afford the expense, said Priscilla Steenhoek, manager-curator of the John Wayne Birthplace.

"We're in no financial position to do that," Steenhoek said in Saturday's Des Moines Register.

Simplimatic is tops

By NICK PFEIFAU
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — Simplimatic Engineering Company has been named Industry of the Year by the Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce.

The business, which manufactures packaging equipment for the food and beverage industry, will be honored at a chamber luncheon Friday.

Simplimatic, located at 500 Airport Boulevard in Sanford, was selected by the Chamber's Industrial Committee, chaired by Cheryl Mangham, with Job Service of Florida.

According to the chamber's Executive Director Dave Farr, "The award is made to an industry that exemplifies the growth, community, spirit, and stability we look for in all our industries."

A plaque is to be presented to Steve Price of Simplimatic during the luncheon by Chamber President Jim Young.

Price said the company, formerly Acme Engineering, was purchased in 1967 and established as Simplimatic Engineering employing 95 people. The company recently expanded from its Pecan Avenue office site to the new quarters on Airport Boulevard.

"We support up to $1 million yearly in employee payroll," Price said.

The featured speaker for the upcoming luncheon is

Youth event draws all ages

SANFORD — An hour after the youth celebration was set to start at Lee P. Moore Park in Sanford at 11 Saturday morning, organizers were sitting alone under the gazebo with 75 pounds of hamburgers, 100 pounds of hot dogs, 36 cases of soda, four cases of potato chips, 10 quarts of pickles and enough paper plates and utensils to accommodate 700 or so parties.

"They'll be here," promised Sylvester Brown. Two and a half hours later, the crowd had grown to more than 100 young people and their families and more were expected.

Organizers from New Bethel AME Church in Sanford said that they had planned on the large crowd based on the turnout for a similar event on the last day of school in May.

"They didn't come until later in the day last time," Brown said.

Disc jockey Mean Gene provided the music while participants danced or played one of the lawn games that had been set up near the pavilion.

"I came with some guy from my neighborhood who was driving his truck down here and taking anyone who wanted to come," Luriza Greene, 11, of Sanford said. "We just kept stopping and picking up anyone who wanted to come down here. It was great."

Schools cancel offers to 4 unions

By VICKI DeSORMIER
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — The teachers employed by the Seminole County school district will have to start from scratch when contract negotiations resume under the guidance of a special master.

According to Nancy Wheeler, chief negotiator for the four unions, union representatives received a memo from school administrators official Ernie Cowley that stated that he was removing all agreements which had been reached during 14 hours of negotiations last month.

The memo stated that the management bargaining team was "withdrawing 'in toto' any and all proposals and agreements made through the package proposal process."

According to Wheeler, who has consulted with union lawyers on the matter, such action by the district could constitute a charge of bad faith bargaining on the part of the board.

"It is a legal matter," she said. "It is not up to me to decide what action, if any, we will take against the board."

The district has reneged on the agreement to give elementary teachers an uninterrupted planning time; the language governing the use of the one hour early release time on Wednesdays; the agreement that a committee would be formed to work on an early retirement plan; a salary increase for thirty hours of a doctoral program; the agreement to form a committee made up of teachers at schools designated for year round education to make guidelines for bargaining to the board, including pay check pick up for teachers and the agreement that the annual salary be divided into 22 paychecks instead of 21.

Wheeler said the message sent to teachers by removing items already agreed to in bargaining, is a "bad one" in a year where teachers are

Friends lost Field, best problem solver

Remember the World War II yarn about the storm that blew down the flagpole at an Army post? The next morning the post commander ordered a young second lieutenant to get it replaced. As he watched the shavetail making a list of things he'd have to do, the commander exploded.

"That's no way to replace that flagpole," he roared.

"How should it be done, sir?" asked the lieutenant.

"You stop the first sergeant you see and tell him to do it!"

We relate this story to tell you about what happened to us during the war and about a 95-year-old who died in Sanford a few days ago.

When our Army unit, a head-quarters company for an ordnance ammunition supply depot, arrived in Britain we took over a typical English estate called Adelstrop Manor, a few miles out of Oxford. In the middle of a circular driveway in front of the manor was a flagpole. As sergeant major of the unit our commanding officer told me to get a flag up that pole right away. "Sorry, Sarge," said our supply sergeant, "when we left the states they didn't give us a flag."

We tried everything in the book to find an American flag. Everyday the colonel would ask about that flag. One night we thought to ourselves,

"If we had somebody like Joel Field around here he'd solve the problem."

Who was Joel Field? At that time he was Sanford's postmaster, a Kiwanian, an Elk, a leader of the American Legion, and the first Woman, P.I. convicted in murder plot

MIAMI — A Virginia woman and a private investigator from Hialeah were found guilty of using the U.S. mail and telephones as part of a $30,000 murder-for-hire plot.
 Alexandria LeBon Shoop, 45, of Centerville, Va., and Donald Plourde, 55, also were convicted Friday of conspiracy to use the phones and mail in the plot, which was thwarted last year by the FBI. Neither defendant had been charged with murder or murder-conspiracy, prosecutors said.
 Ms. Shoop and Plourde, who have been jailed without bond since their arrest in July 1990, face up to 10 years in prison on each count. U.S. District Judge James Lawrence King set sentencing for Nov. 28.
 The intended victim was Raymond O'Bran, a Washington heavy equipment operator who had bought a home with Shoop. Both Shoop and O'Bran had taken out $100,000 insurance policies, naming each other as beneficiaries, according to a federal indictment.

Rolling trial delayed

TAMPA — A judge has agreed to delay until Sept. 23 the Tampa burglary trial for Danny Harold Rolling, prime suspect in last year's Gainesville student murders.
 The trial had been set to begin Monday, but Circuit Judge Harry Lee Coe said it might conflict with Rolling's scheduled sentencing Wednesday in the Sept. 7, 1990, robbery of an Ocala Winn-Dixie store. Rolling pleaded guilty in the Ocala case.
 Rolling, 37, faces charges in Tampa of burglary, petty theft and grand theft stemming from three home burglaries committed days after the bodies of five college students were found in Gainesville in August 1990.
 Coe rejected defense attempts Friday to suppress statements Rolling made to investigators that may implicate him in two of the burglaries.
 Rolling was convicted last month of robbing a Tampa grocery store and assaulting police during his getaway. He faces a life prison term at sentencing Oct. 11.
 He faces still more charges in the August 1990 robbery of a Gainesville bank the day after the first two bodies were found.
 Police also has been named as a suspect in a 1989 triple slaying in his hometown of Shreveport, La., and he's wanted in the attempted murder of his father, a former Shreveport police lieutenant.
 Gainesville prosecutors say they plan to present evidence to a grand jury in November against Rolling and former University of Florida student Edward Humphrey in the student slayings.

City wants grand jury secrecy broken

ST. PETERSBURG — The city council plans to ask a judge to break grand jury secrecy and reveal who destroyed city records and covered up details of a disputed 1983 real estate deal.
 Grand jurors concluded last week that taxpayers lost more than $4 million when city officials didn't tell council members about competing offers to buy a city building that later was sold to Potomac Corp. for $2.5 million.
 The council by unanimous vote Thursday directed City Attorney Mike Davis to ask a judge to open the grand jury record and release witnesses from their oath of secrecy.
 Beach said he has never received such a request and would have to research the legal implications. At this point, he thinks a hearing in open court would have to be held.

Woman plea bargains in slaying of lesbian lover

Associated Press

WEST PALM BEACH — A woman who used battered-spouse syndrome as a defense in the killing of her lesbian lover pleaded guilty to manslaughter rather than face a retrial.

A state appeals court threw out Annette Green's second-degree murder conviction and 12-year prison sentence earlier this year, and she had been scheduled for a retrial this week.

The plea to the reduced charge was entered Friday, and she was sentenced immediately to five years in prison and five years on probation. State prison inmates serve an average of only about one-third of their terms.

"Considering she's already served three years and with the accumulation of gain time, she'll probably be out in 15 days," said defense attorney William Lasley.

Green testified at her trial that she had been beaten more than 100 times by Iyonne Julio, her lover and roommate for 11 years.

The defendant said she acted in self-defense when she shot Julio in the face during an argument after a Halloween party in 1988, but the prosecution charged Green "chased down her prey" before shooting her.

The trial judge sentenced Green to the minimum term, saying he sympathized with her claim she acted in self-defense after years of abuse.

Politicos battle for control

By CURT ANDERSON
Associated Press Writer

TALLAHASSEE — The coming struggle between Republicans and Democrats for state Senate control in 1992 boils down to a matching of wits between an ambitious GOP star and a wily member of the Democratic old guard.

At stake is the Republican Party's one opportunity for a real voice in state government, since Democratic Gov. Lawton Chiles serves through 1994 and the House remains firmly in Democratic hands. Democrats now have a 22-18 edge in the Senate.

Republican Sen. Ander Crenshaw of Jacksonville and Democratic Sen. Pat Thomas of Quincy were chosen last week by their respective party caucuses to become Senate president next year. The 1992 elections will determine which one will succeed Sen. Gwen Margolis in the spacious fourth-floor Capitol office.

Crenshaw, a 47-year-old investment banker, has been a senator for just five years. He became minority leader last year and impressed many with television performance in a Republican response to Chiles' State of the State address.

Crenshaw, who the GOP touts as a potential statewide candidate, said it is inevitable that Republicans will eventually control the Senate. In just eight years, Republican voter registration in Florida has rocketed from 1.4 million to 2.3 million.

"We look back over that decade and we see a soft, gentle breeze of Republicanism that has begun to blow. Now, it's building into a wind of change," Crenshaw said last week.

Officers are cleared in inmate death

Associated Press

LARGO — Pinellas County sheriff's officials cleared deputies of blame in the death of an inmate but said he wouldn't have died in a jail cell if he had been given "appropriate medical treatment."

Records of John Brundage's treatment at the Pinellas County Jail were sent to the state attorney's office for review, sheriff's officials said Friday.

"I think I have a duty to make a more detailed inquiry on the medical treatment he received in our care," said Sheriff Everett Rice.

The sheriff's report did not fault deputies who struggled with Brundage, 52, during his arrest. He died Sunday 15 hours after his arrest.

He was arrested after deputies followed him to his home after they could not read a dented license tag on his pickup truck.

Four deputies, Brundage and several members of his family were involved in a struggle. Family members denied Brundage fought with the deputies and said he was punched while handcuffed on the ground.

An autopsy report said Brundage had a tear in his small intestine, which could cause death 6 to 36 hours after the intestine leaks, the report said.

The tear "would not necessarily have been fatal had appropriate medical treatment been rendered in a timely fashion during the 20 hours preceding his death," the report said.

After being taken into custody, Brundage complained about stomach pains. He was treated at Largo Medical Center and taken to jail. Medical care there is provided by a private company.

At the jail Sunday, a corrections officer checked his condition regularly. Brundage continued complaining of pain, the report said, noting his complaints and symptoms "were documented but no affirmative steps were taken to render treatment."

Wildlife refuge laws unveiled

Associated Press

SANIBEL ISLAND — The managers of federal wildlife refuges would be allowed to block harmful human intrusion under legislation unveiled Saturday by U.S. Sen. Bob Graham.

"The national refuge system is sick and may be on the way to a terminal illness and inability to protect our national wildlife," the Miami Lakes Democrat said after announcing his measure.

Graham brought his message to the J.N. "Ding" Darling National Wildlife Refuge, a pristine enclave on a growth-conscious resort island. He contends many refuges are used for activities that are incompatible with wildlife protection.

Oil and gas drilling, military bombing exercises, airboats, water skiers, water scooters, off-road vehicles and cattle could be ejected from refuges if they pose a danger to the protected wildlife under his measure.

"America has a choice. We can accept retreat. Or we can renew our commitment to the conservationist spirit of the man who started our refuge system, President Theodore Roosevelt, and protect our wildlife," the senator said.

Roosevelt set aside the country's first refuge near Melbourne in 1903. There are now 471 across the country.

Graham said his bill would not ban recreational activities such as hunting or hiking, where they don't harm the refuges. But he said harmful activities would be phased out over a five-year period.

The interior secretary would be required to prepare conservation plans for each refuge and for the refuge system as a whole.

Bacteria used in cleanup

Associated Press

DEERFIELD BEACH — An environmental cleanup company keeps trillions of metal trays full of bacteria to let Mother Nature clean up the mess mankind makes.

Aurora Environmental Services uses a process called bioremediation to take advantage of chemical reactions to break down harmful waste. Hydrocarbons can be reduced to harmless carbon dioxide and water. "Bioremediation is the wave of the future," said Alex Padva, Southeast waste programs administrator for the state Department of Environmental Regulation. "That's the way most cleanups will probably be done, especially in areas where we already have air pollution problems."

Test on Sen. Connie Mack's wife shows malignancy

Associated Press

WASHINGTON — Priscilla Mack, the wife of U.S. Sen. Connie Mack, R-Fla., has tested positive for breast cancer at Georgetown University Medical Center, the senator's office said Friday.

Mrs. Mack, 49, entered the hospital Thursday as an outpatient and underwent a biopsy as the result of a recent mammography. The preliminary results indicate a malignancy, the senator's office said.

Friday's news was the first sign of cancer in Mrs. Mack, according to Mark Mills, the senator's spokesman.

Mills said it would be another week before doctors can say what Mrs. Mack's prognosis is.

In 1989, the senator had a cancerous mole removed from his left side.

"They got it early enough that it caused no problem and the prognosis is excellent," Mills said in describing the senator's surgery two years ago. Sen. Mack's brother, Michael McGillcuddy, died in 1979 of melanoma at the age of 35. Since then, cancer prevention has been a key issue for the senator, who has introduced legislation to provide tax credits for cancer screening and improve access to screening for low-income people.

Church burglarized

A burglary was reported at Second Shiloh Baptist Church Thursday. Seminole County deputies report the front door of the 2150 Airport Blvd. church was kicked in and the locked door of an office had been kicked open. It was not known Friday if anything had been taken. An investigation is continuing. Deputies were able to secure fingerprints from a glass and a pair of sunglasses.

Jetski theft suspect jailed

Travis Leon Pickens, 20, 221 W. 19th St., Sanford, was arrested by Seminole County deputies Thursday, charged with the theft of two jetskis.

According to arrest reports, Pickens took the two water motorcraft, valued at $3,500 each, from 901 Via Bonita Drive near Sanford on Aug. 5. He stored them in a personal storage area in Sanford and on Aug. 15, sold them to a woman for $1,170, reports state. Pickens was charged with two counts of grand theft and two counts of dealing stolen property.

Man charged with drug possession

Leon Nelson Starkweather, 39, 2018 S. Cedar Ave., Sanford, was charged with possession of marijuana and drug paraphernalia by Sanford police Thursday.

According to arrest reports, a policeman saw Starkweather stop at the corner of Seventh Street and Sanford Avenue and motion to several men to come to his car. He then drove to the corner of Sixth Street and Cypress Avenue and motioned to several other men standing nearby.

The officer reported he stopped Starkweather at Sixth Street and Sanford Avenue and asked why he was driving in such a "dangerous" neighborhood. Starkweather responded "I was looking for some rock cocaine," the policeman reported.

Separate arrests at same house

One Sanford residence yielded two fugitives to Seminole County deputies Thursday.

At 2 p.m., Emanuel Johnson Jr., 32, was arrested at 146 Carver Ave. He was wanted for violating a probation sentence on a burglary conviction. He was taken to the Seminole County jail. At 5 p.m., deputies returned to the house arrest Robert Lee Davenport, 53, for violating a probation sentence for a drug possession conviction.

Warrant arrests

The following wanted persons have been apprehended:
 ● Gregory Scott Swallow, 32, 2821 Sunlake Loop, Apt. 105, Lake Mary, was arrested at his home Thursday on a warrant issued Sept. 3 after he was charged with sexual battery.

● Johnnie Edwards, 23, 1013 W. 12th St., Sanford, was arrested at the Seminole County jail Thursday where she (NOTE: yes, she) was being held on other charges. Edwards was wanted for violating a probation sentence for a petit theft conviction.

● Jerel Patrick Johnson, 18, 1815 W. 15th St., Sanford, was arrested at the Seminole County jail Thursday where he was being held on other charges. Johnson was wanted for violation of a probation sentence for trespassing and resisting arrest convictions. He was also wanted for failing to appear at a civil hearing.

● Dominick Morricca, 32, 214 Stevengate Drive, Longwood, was arrested Thursday morning near State Roads 434 and 436. He was wanted in Orange County on charges of dealing in stolen property.

● Johnnie Earl Beveritt, 33, 46 Seminole Gardens Apartments, Sanford, was arrested outside the courtroom at the Seminole County jail. Beveritt was wanted for failing to appear at a court hearing to answer to sale of cocaine charges and failing to submit to a court-ordered drug screening test.

County courts not affected by court rule

By J. MARK BARFIELD
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — A decision Thursday by the Florida Supreme Court to create Family Law Divisions in each of the state's 20 court circuits will have little impact on Seminole County, which has separated divorces and custody cases into a separate division since March 1990.

"It won't have much affect at all in Seminole County," said Maryanne Morse, clerk of court for the county. "We've been doing it for over a year now already."

Seminole Chief Circuit Judge O.H. Eaton Jr. created the separate handling of family matters as a trial last year. Since then, two-thirds of the cases have been assigned to Judge Seymour Benson. The remaining cases have been shared between Judges Robert B. McGregor and C. Vernon Mize Jr.

Eaton was unavailable Friday. Morse said the separate division has enabled cases to be handled more efficiently and so, quicker. Previously, a divorce would be filed in the civil division where it was entered into a computer, then transferred to the domestic division, where it was re-entered.

"The people used to go to one place, then be sent to another, now they have one place to handle all the family matters," Morse said.

Morse said no new staff were needed for the new division although one employee has been hired to process the increasing numbers of cases. Morse said the family division mails 1½ million support checks every month, compared to 500,000 that were mailed monthly five years ago.

Singer to perform Tuesday evening at SCC

By VICKI DeBORMIER

SANFORD — Jacqueline Jones, a popular jazz and rhythm and blues singer, will be giving a free concert at Seminole Community College on Tuesday evening.

Sponsored by the Campus Governance Association, the concert will be in SCC's Fine Arts Concert Hall.

"I think she has quite a dedicated following," said Gary Diller, faculty sponsor of the Campus Governance Association.

He said he expects a very good crowd.

The concert hall, which seats more than 300, is expected to be filled.

The show will begin at 8 p.m., but college representatives recommend that audience members show up early to be sure they get a seat.

Though she brings in top dollar for hers shows around the country, the college is sponsoring the show to bring the community together.

"We really believe she will bring out a good cross-section of the community," he said.

Jones began her career at the age of four as a gospel singer.

An Indiana native, Jones now lives in Orlando.

Area bowlers killed when car crashes

By Associated Press

HICKORY FLAT, Miss. — An Altamonte Springs man and one from Orlando, on their way to a bowling tournament, were killed and another seriously injured when their car plunged off a bridge and overturned, the Mississippi Highway Patrol reported.

Officials said the men were on their way to Memphis, Tenn., to participate in a bowling tournament Friday when their car ran off two-lane U.S. 78 between Hickory Flat and Myrtle.

Killed were Tony Hanson, 29, of Orlando, and Michael A. Miller, 32, of Altamonte Springs, a patrol spokesman said Saturday.

Release of satellite astronauts main job

By MARCIA DUNN
AP Aerospace Writer

CAPE CANAVERAL — Discovery's astronauts worked until dawn Saturday getting ready for the mission's big event, the late-night release of the largest environmental research satellite ever carried into space.

No spacewalk was planned, but James Buchil and Charles "Sam" Gemar prepared their spacesuits and spacewalking tools just in case they had to go out into the cargo bay to make any repairs to the satellite.

A slight leak was detected in Gemar's oxygen tank, but was within allowable limits, NASA said.

Mark Brown planned to grapple the 14,500-pound satellite with Discovery's mechanical arm Saturday evening. Release was scheduled for just before midnight EDT on the shuttle's 34th orbit.

Discovery blasted off Thursday evening with the Upper Atmosphere Research Satellite, a $740 million project to study Earth's deteriorating ozone layer and other stratospheric features.

The five astronauts spent most of Friday night and Saturday morning preparing for the observatory release, and went to sleep a little earlier than usual.

"It's been a long day ... everybody's pretty tired," commander John Creighton told Mission Control as the sun rose over Florida's coast. "We'll be looking forward to (later) and doing what we came up here to do."

Creighton steered Discovery into a 354-mile-high orbit Friday, three miles higher than planned and one of the highest orbits ever flown by a shuttle.

Those extra three miles will add at least eight months to the lifetime of the observatory mission, NASA flight director Al Pennington said. That's because on-board thrusters will need less fuel to shove the satellite to its ultimate destination 372 miles above Earth.

The mission is to last at least 1½ years.

NASA left as much equipment as possible off Discovery, including a spare space suit, to lighten the load for the climb to the high orbit.

"Granted, it would be better to have one (extra space suit), but it's more important to the scientific community" to get to an adequately high orbit, Gemar said in a pre-flight interview.

Toward a more informed voter

During the last presidential election, only about half of the nation's registered voters bothered to go to the polls. That was the poorest turnout since 1924.

When asked why they stayed home, respondents cited a variety of reasons, ranging from negative campaigning to the belief that the candidates simply could not be trusted. This cynicism helps explain the disturbing decline in voter participation during the last three decades.

Several recommendations have been advanced to reverse this trend. And one of the best is the "Nine Sundays" plan proposed recently by a Harvard University research team.

The plan stems from a 30-month project undertaken by the Joan Shorenstein Barone Center on the Press, Politics and Public Policy. It calls for three different forms of nationally televised political discussion during the nine Sundays between Labor Day and Election Day.

Specifically, the three major TV networks and other news organizations would broadcast two 90-minute presidential debates and one vice presidential debate. Coverage of five issue-oriented conversations with the presidential candidates would be rotated among the major networks but would be carried live by the cable news organizations and public broadcasting stations.

To offset their costs and lost revenues, the networks would be allowed to sell advertising time to be aired before or after the conversations. On the Sunday night before election day, each presidential candidate would be granted television time to address the nation.

The more substantive coverage could help elevate the televised political discourse between the candidates and voters. At present, television coverage too frequently is dominated by 10-second sound bites, photo opportunities and attack ads that trivialize the campaign.

Another good idea is to change the debate format to encourage candidates to match their ideas against those of their opponents. In recent years, most of the presidential debates have resembled parallel press conferences, with the two candidates fielding questions from a panel of journalists. This has allowed the candidates to talk past each other.

It also makes sense to eliminate the live audience that has created a game-show feel to the proceedings. The main advantage of a lone, tough-minded moderator, as recommended by the study, would be to prod the candidates to answer pointed questions instead of ducking them.

Americans increasingly have come to view presidential politics as boring, duplicitous and irrelevant to their lives. One reason for this is that candidates are packaged by their professional handlers and presented to voters like boxes of sugar-coated cereal.

The print and electronic media need to do a better job of preventing the political process from becoming even more tainted in the minds of voters. Toward that end, journalists should help set the agenda by focusing more on issues and less on personalities.

At a time when democracy is being embraced in every corner of the globe, the United States should be seeking ways to reinvigorate voters' interest and confidence in the electoral process. The "Nine Sundays" plan is a good place to begin.

Help stop animal torture

After reading another Animal Torture/Killing story about animals in Sanford I just had to write to your paper.

Why is this happening so much in Sanford? Do you have a lot of sick people living there? I am sure there are plenty of respectable people in Sanford but the horror stories of animal killings is terrifying.

I refer to the sick monsters who broke into the Humane Society and crushed the heads of little puppies. If animals are not safe in the Human Society shelters then where will they find asylum and protection against sadistic brutal mental degenerates?

I feel that if all animal lovers would give even 50 cents, maybe security and repairs could be made.

I'm so upset today after reading about those puppies I can only think one thing; let me find these morally deformed people and spend five minutes alone with them. Does this put me in their low class mentality to feel this way? If there is a Hell then please let these brutal people feel its wrath.

Unemployment and compensation

The recession has been foremost in the economic picture and has created anxiety for many Americans individually and collectively. The recovery continues to be elusive. The national jobless rate for July 1991 was 6.6 percent. There were 824,000 Floridians embedded in those statistics. Hendry County had the distinction in having the highest jobless rate, 22.5 percent, and Monroe County, the lowest, 4.5 percent. The tri-county area: Seminole, Orange and Osceola had 6.5, 7.3 and 7.1 percent respectively. Initial unemployment compensation claims statewide were 61,300 in July, according to Robert Monroe, labor market analyst.

Mary Barrette, is the manager of the Sanford unemployment claims office, 112 S. Sanford Ave. She has managed that office since 1988. During that time frame her staff has increased threefold. Barrette anticipates that her office will be relocating to a shared facility with Job Services by Spring 1992. Both are divisions of the State Department of Labor and Employment Security. They provide complementary services to unemployed persons. The offices will remain in Sanford.

SEMINOLE OPINION

beyond the control of the employee. Unemployment compensation provides some income while a person is jobless. A person's bank account and bills have no bearing upon their eligibility. Criteria for unemployment compensation is simply to be able, available, and actively seeking employment.

The benefit rate for claimants may vary from $1/week to a maximum of $225/week, depending upon earnings while working. It takes three to four weeks after filing a claim for receipt of the first check. Twenty-six weeks is the maximum number of weeks that compensation may be received.

It is recommended that individuals planning to file a claim avoid contacting the office Mondays and between the hours of 12-1 p.m. This will decrease their waiting period. Monday is by far the day of greatest activity. Everyone seems to be under the impression that if they don't appear Mondays, their claims will not be processed for that week. This is not true; filing any day (Tuesday through Friday) has the same effect. The office is open Mondays through Fridays, 8 a.m.-5 p.m. Applicants should bring identification with them. The usual methods of identification: Social Security card, driver's license, voter registration or credit card will suffice. It is not necessary for you to have a letter or notice from your employer. However, if you were given one, bring it with you. For more information, call 330-6710.

Multiple factors impact the job market, actually. If individuals had been entering the workforce at the same rate as in the past, our unemployment statistics would be much worse. In 1974-75, the labor force was expanded by the entrance of 2.1 million people; in 1981-82, by 1.8 million; and in 1991, by 0.5 million. This declaration of the workforce is attributed to a decline in the number of teenagers and women seeking employment. Additionally, technology is creating demand for fewer and a different kind of workforce than in the past.

Blondie, here's a few tips

BOSTON — On Labor Day Morning, 1991, Blondie Boopadrop Bumstead, 35 years old and holding, had an epiphany over her coffee cup. Worn out from cooking and cleaning to these many decades, the suburban housewife of comic strip fame suddenly figured a way out of her domesticity. "I could go out and get a job."

Bling! Light bulbs flash! Cameras roll! Sweetheart, get me "The Today Show"!

Not since Nora left the Doll's House, has one wife's change garnered quite this much attention. But Nora was ahead of her time. Blondie isn't exactly a trendsetter among her peers. More than three quarters of the women in her age group (where she has lingered longer than Jack Benny) are already in the workforce.

Nevertheless, this is something of a landmark. Blondie began comic strip life over sixty years ago as a gold-digging flapper. Back then, Dagwood Bumstead was the daily heir to a railroad family that owned, as it was said, the right side of the tracks, the wrong side, and the tracks themselves.

When the Depression deepened, these true lovers got married despite Poppa Bumstead's disapproval. Disinherited, Dagwood got a job. They moved to the suburbs, had two kids, a dog and remained in their 30s ever after.

In some ways the Bumsteads have been emblems of the American family and the American economy. Dagwood, for all of his ditziness has had one job his entire work life. Even in the '80s, as other American companies downsized and streamlined, this long-abused white-collar worker kept his job. While other companies were being taken over, Dithers and Co. dithered along. Even Dagwood's metabolism and eating habits managed to stay the same.

As for Blondie, over the years this white-collar wife also kept her supportive role. She never did get proper credit for her invention of the Dagwood sandwich. She never got any kudos for getting her husband out of the house every morning and into the carpool.

But now that she's decided to get a job, she's doing the "nets," making all the talk shows. Even the secretary of labor is interested in how this newest entry will fare in the workplace: "Some of the skills Blondie had will have to be re-honed." Indeed.

Once again, Dagwood and Blondie are getting back in touch with what's happening to the American family that lives paycheck to paycheck: two paychecks.

How then can we help Blondie to mark her momentous entry into the working woman world after all these years? A few tips and tidbits are in order.

The good news is that things are better for working women. The gap between male and female wages has narrowed. The bad news is that one reason it's narrowed is because men's wages are falling.

Despite all those years at home with Dagwood and the kids, Blondie's earning capacity won't be much worse than that of other women. If she is typical, her earnings will peak at about age 40-45 at $22,000. This is, however, just about what the average man earns between 25 and 29.

On Sept. 9, this longtime kitchen worker decided — at least for the moment — to become a caterer. She will be joining the fastest growing part of the American economy, women-owned small businesses.

This will supply her with a lot of flexibility. She can be there when Alexander and Cookie get home from school or from the mall. But she'll get none of the perks: vacations, pensions, health insurance. If Dagwood can hold on at Dithers, if Dithers doesn't witter, they will discover the basic economic fact of life in the '90s: two workers equal one good job.

About the household drudgery she's trying to avoid? Well, if she follows the pattern, Blondie will do less housework than before. But she'll still do most of the work that gets done. Home will become her second shift.

In any case, with luck, this was the last week Blondie will ever have to ask Dagwood for pocket money. If the studies are right, as an employed spouse, she'll start sharing financial decisions. Her job will give them an extra ounce of two-job security, keep the refrigerator stocked with sandwich stuffing, and if Blondie makes it in business, they may even afford to get the kids out of the strip and off to college.

Oh yes, one final piece of advice to this wife, Ms. Bumstead, when you get out there in the work world, for gawdsakes, don't let the guys still call you Blondie.

Even the secretary of labor is interested.

Bush afflicted with 'Gorbyitis'

WASHINGTON — George Bush's tenure as U.S. ambassador to China revealed him to be highly susceptible to a disease that the State Department calls "clientitis" — a diplomat's blind devotion to the foreign country where he or she serves.

Bush personalizes his foreign relations, narrowing his view to individuals instead of looking at the global view. Throughout the unsuccessful coup in the Soviet Union and the pre- and post-coup turmoil, Bush has shown a new strain of clientitis — "Gorbyitis."

Bush likes dealing with Mikhail Gorbachev, and desperately wants him to continue as a superpower counterpart. Bush has personalized U.S.-Soviet relations, and reduced them to Bush-Gorbachev relations. As a result, in the months leading up to the unsuccessful coup, Bush wanted to hear that Gorbachev would prevail and would continue to lead the Soviet Union down the road to reform at an orderly pace.

The president's advisers obliged by telling him what he wanted to hear. These are some of the warnings that Bush and his advisers either brushed off or misread.

Last February, the Defense Intelligence Agency warned that units of the Soviet Red Army and the KGB were training for a coup. In March, the National Security Agency intercepted a KGB alert advising agents to prepare for possible civil war.

In June, the Central Intelligence Agency learned that three men (who would later be among the coup's "gang of eight") had prepared a secret report on Gorbachev and delivered it to the Supreme Soviet. The report charged that Gorbachev had stopped reading unpleasant intelligence reports and was refusing to meet with top KGB officials.

In June and July, the CIA reported that the KGB was spying on Soviet reformers and reporting their activities to members of the Supreme Soviet.

Again and again, intelligence sources warned that something was in the works in the Soviet Union. But those warnings were disregarded by both superpowers. In Moscow, Gorbachev believed blindly in his friends. And in Washington, Bush believed in Gorbachev.

Now the same advisers who misled Bush before the coup are still telling him what he wants to hear — that Gorbachev has recovered and now has a steady hand on the helm.

Since Russian President Boris Yeltsin's first visit to Washington two years ago, he has been dismanned by the White House as inconsequential. Back then, he was not granted an official visit with Bush, and White House advisers labeled him as a buffoon. Yeltsin was Gorbachev's rival, and that made him an outcast at the White House.

Now that Yeltsin has emerged as the hero of the new Soviet revolution, the clique around Bush, including National Security Adviser Brent Scowcroft and Secretary of State James Baker, still refuses to believe that Yeltsin is a stronger player than Gorbachev. Now, instead of calling him a buffoon, they call him a demagogue with an inflated ego.

RUG RUNNERS — In spite of sporadic guerrilla fighting in Afghanistan, the fabled Khyber Pass to Pakistan is opening wider for traffic — traffic in rugs, not refugees.

Since Pakistan has most favored nation status with the United States and Afghanistan does not, the rugs are filtered through Pakistani middlemen and sold as Pakistani rugs in America. But the subterfuge has fooled no one and works to everyone's advantage.

Bush's advisers told him what he wanted to hear.

Sylvester Brown, who volunteered his services as chef cook for the youth celebration at Lee P. Moore Park on Saturday, readied the grill for the burgers and hot dogs.

adding that he hoped to continue the community celebration well into the evening.

Valiot and Brown hope to start a club to give the young people in the community something to do on the weekends.

"We want this to be for the community...the whole community," Valiot said. "Not just for blacks or just for whites. All of the community together."

The participants at Saturday's function enjoyed the family celebration.

"I can't find many things where I can come with my boys," Kendra Jackson said. "My oldest boy is 15 and the baby is four. There isn't much they'd want to do together."

Jackson said she was sure the boys would want to join a club that would give them something to do on Saturdays and Sundays.

"They're always complaining about being bored," she said.

Valiot said the celebration on Saturday would not have been possible without generous contributions from individuals and businesses in the community.

"All that food was donated by the stores in the area," Valiot said. "Mean Gene donated his time. Everyone pitched in."

On Saturday disc jockey Mean Gene provided the music for the youth celebration sponsored by New Bethel AME Church.

cheon honoring Simplimatic is Joel Lehmann, President and owner of Florida Extruders, who will speak on "The exciting vision for the Sanford area."

The luncheon will conclude the observance of Industry Appreciation Week by the chamber beginning tomorrow. According to Farr, "Industry Appreciation Week is a time for the community to recognize the contribution our local industries make to the area's economic health."

Farr added, "The Sanford area economy is dependent on the jobs created when existing industries expand and new industries relocate to the Sanford area. In a climate of tax pressure and increased assessments, a diversified industrial base is more important than ever."

All chamber members, guests and industry leaders are invited. Reservations for the Friday luncheon, at $7.50 per person,

Presbyterian Church — just to name a few. He was also one of the best problem solvers we ever knew. The next morning a message was on its way to Joel. In a few days we got a package — an American flag — one that had flown over the capitol in Washington as well as the Sanford post office. The flag went up that pole almost instantly. And the only person who enjoyed telling this story more than we did was Joel Field.

In newspaper parlance an individual "dies." To civic, religious and fraternal groups an individual "passes away." But to those who were his friends and neighbors, we lost "Joel Field" — a man who had a genuine love for people, especially anybody who needed a problem resolved. He'd rather help solve a problem than anything he could think of doing.

It could be a mother trying to clear up questions about an insurance policy concerning a son killed in action. It could be an injured Marine wanting to stay home another week before reporting back to his hospital. It could simply be a lost piece of mail. It could be a veteran trying to get into college under the GI Bill. It could be a student needing a little scholarship money to get him through college. It could be a problem about getting a crippled child into the Elks hospital in Umatilla. It could be an individual with a spiritual problem. We know of a lot of problems he solved but can't think of a single one he couldn't.

"We know you were very tired of us talking about baseball. But in 1948 when they started reorganizing the Florida State League we needed to establish the Sanford Baseball Association. Joel took charge and then served the first year as president of the group. We ran into some problems but Joel simply said, "We'll find a way to work them out."

Joel Field was a Navy veteran. But like General McArthur said about old soldiers, "They never die. They just fade away."

To The Herald Joel Field "died."

To his civic, religious and fraternal brethren, Joel Field "passed away."

But to the hundreds of people he helped resolve problems, Joel Field's influence will live in this community at least another 90 years and maybe more.

Perhaps it's been done. But if not, we'd like to suggest that the City of Sanford, the Sanford Kiwanis Club, the Elks Lodge, the First Presbyterian Church and the American Legion join together and dedicate the flagpole at the Legion's new facility on South Sanford Avenue to one of their own — Joel Field.

By the way, the flag Joel provided our Army unit went with us from England, to Omaha Beach and other locations in France where we set up depots to supply ammunition for General Patton's Third Army.

The last time I saw that flag — the day we left our unit to return home — it was high atop a pole in front of a French high school being used as a U.S. Army headquarters on the outskirts of Verdun.

SUMMARY AND NOTICE OF AVAILABILITY

COUNTY OF SEMINOLE PLANNING OFFICE COMMUNITY DEVELOPMENT SECTION SEMINOLE AND VOLUSIA COUNTY HOME INVESTMENT PARTNERSHIP PROGRAM CONSORTIUM CONSOLIDATED COMPREHENSIVE HOUSING AFFORDABILITY STRATEGY (CHAS)

Pursuant to Title I of the National Affordable Housing Act, the County of Seminole, Florida, is publishing this summary of the Consolidated 1989-1991 Comprehensive Housing Affordability Strategy (CHAS) for the Seminole and Volusia County HOME Investment Partnership Program Consortium. A consolidated CHAS is required because Seminole and Volusia Counties have entered into a binding interlocal cooperation agreement creating the HOME Consortium and designating Volusia County as the lead agency.

The consolidated CHAS contains a description of the affordable housing needs of very low income, low income, and moderate income families, homeless families, and individuals and others with special needs who require supportive services, and the characteristics of the housing market and the existing stock for each participating jurisdiction separately and in a consolidated manner. It also contains a Five Year Strategy for affordable housing development and a One Year Action Plan for each jurisdiction for applying available resources to the needs identified.

The following priorities have been identified in the Five Year Strategy and the One Year Action Plan for Seminole County:

1. Remove barriers to the private production of affordable housing by: further streamlining the development review process through expedited plan review and inspections; disseminating information to developers; assessing the impact of Federal, state and local regulation on the cost of housing; locating appropriate parcels for affordable housing development; developing incentives and standards for affordable residential development in High Intensity Planned (HIP), Planned Unit Development, mix-use development, and infill development districts; and designating adequate lands for affordable residential development types, including mobile and manufactured housing.
2. Preserve existing housing stock and revitalize low income neighborhoods by: eliminating substandard housing through rehabilitation or, if necessary, the demolition of vacant dilapidated structures; improve the environment of low income target neighborhoods through redevelopment plans and compatible standards for new development, infrastructure improvements, neighborhood fix-up and clean-up programs, homeowner assistance and public awareness programs; and forming Municipal Services Benefits Units to finance community improvements. Also, establish an anti-displacement and relocation assistance policy that insures reasonably located standard housing is offered to displaced households.
3. Provide incentives for the private production of affordable housing for very low, lower and moderate income households by: amending the land development code to provide more flexibility in certain residential zoning districts; develop a density bonus program, include affordable housing in High Intensity Planned (HIP) districts; and provide excess County-owned land for affordable housing development.
4. Provide incentives for private production of special housing types for elderly, mentally and physically disabled and migrant farmworkers by: revising the Land Development Code to provide sufficient sites for community residential homes, foster care facilities, group homes, Adult Care Living Facilities and transitional housing facilities; and providing direct assistance to special populations with available local, State and Federal housing programs.
5. Establish an Affordable Housing Trust Fund through one or more of the following sources: a Documentary Stamp Surplus program, mandatory linkage fee or direct provision of affordable housing, and/or Federal and State grant programs. The Trust fund would be used to subsidize public/private housing development partnerships or support non-profit housing development corporations or their projects by purchasing land, evaluating infrastructure, paying impact fees, providing development or mortgage financing, and other actions to lower the cost of housing.
6. Provide affordable housing financing assistance through continued participation with Orange County Housing Finance Authority and creation of the Central Florida Community Reinvestment Corporation, a consortium of lending institutions which provide a pool of funds for affordable housing financing.
7. Provide Emergency Shelter Grants Program and other appropriate funding sources (McKinney Act programs) to assist homeless individuals and families by: funding operation and rehabilitation of emergency shelter and transitional housing facilities; providing direct emergency food, clothing, transportation and financial assistance to at-risk persons to prevent homelessness; and providing essential services to assist homeless persons with the transition to permanent housing.
8. Coordinate housing assistance activities with local municipalities and the Sanford and Seminole County Public Housing Authorities to increase the availability of rental assistance for very low income persons (Section 8 and HOME rental assistance).

This notice of availability of the consolidated CHAS is published to afford citizens an opportunity to examine its contents and to submit any comments prior to its submission to the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development on or about November 22, 1991. It is available for public review at the following locations:

Seminole County Public Library System (all locations); City Halls (all participating jurisdictions); and the Seminole County Services Building, Room W200, 1101 East First Street, Sanford, Florida.

All interested citizens, agencies or organizations are invited to submit comments on the contents of the Consolidated CHAS to the Community Development Section Office located at the Seminole County Planning Office, 1101 East First Street, Sanford, Florida, 32771. Written comments should be directed to Buddy Betagis, Principal Planner, and must be received no later than Monday, November 18, 1991. You may also phone (407) 321-1130, extension 7384.

For public schools across the country, the splurge of the '80s is over. A hard lesson is being learned by many of the nation's 45 million schoolchildren and their teachers this fall: how to make do with less.

An Associated Press survey shows that states will spend slightly more on education this year than last — $115.3 billion, compared to $110.8 billion — but a majority have set low-growth or no-growth education budgets.

Eight states — Georgia, Kansas, Massachusetts, Missouri, New York, North Carolina, Rhode Island and Tennessee — actually will spend less.

The upshot: Districts everywhere, but especially on the East Coast and in big cities, must either make painful cuts or beg reluctant voters for higher property taxes. Already, districts have begun cutting back on music, art classes and textbooks. Reforms, bankrolled with hundreds of millions of state dollars during the more free-spending '80s, are withering for lack of funds.

U.S. Education Secretary Lamar Alexander, commenting on the AP's findings, said money isn't the problem with education.

"This is a miserable time for managers of education, because of the national recession that we're coming out of," Alexander said. "But we in the '80s went from spending $160 billion to $400 billion (on education at all levels) without much improvement in results."

"Children aren't ready for school and our schools aren't ready for children," he said. "That's the focus — not on money."

Eighteen states and the District of Columbin increased public school funding by less than 5 percent — enough to put to rest, at least for now, recession-sparked fears of mass teacher layoffs. Four are spending the same as last year, and 20 others have raised spending at least 5 percent.

Larger classes loom in thousands of schools, but especially in Florida and Oregon, where districts lack funds to hire teachers to serve fast-growing student populations.

Schools in some heartland states won't escape entirely, since appropriations aren't meeting rising costs.

On the brighter side, 20 states are boosting aid to local districts by at least 5 percent. Leading the way: New Jersey, up 23.5 percent; Washington state, 22 percent; and Utah, 16.4 percent.

Still, most districts these days speak of survival, not reform.

Albert Shanker, president of the American

Seminole County school district's $312 million budget for the present fiscal year was approved on Wednesday.

It does not allow for any increased hiring or salary increases, out of state travel has been eliminated and equipment purchases have ceased. "This is the meanest, leanest budget we've seen in years," said Supt. Bob Hughes.

Federation of Teachers, said the steady erosion of local school finances carries hidden costs. "It creates a lot of anger and bitterness," he said.

School board tours city

By VICKI DeSORMIER

SANFORD — What started out as a couple of school board members wanting to get to know a section of Sanford they weren't familiar with turned out to be a boardwide tour of the more economically disadvantaged areas in the city.

Last week, four members of the school board, guided by various administrators, took a tour of Sanford to learn about where many of the minority students, a "disproportionate number" of whom appear before the board in expulsion hearings, live.

Board chairman Joe Williams, who recently took a job as the head of the upholstery department at Lake County Voc-Tech, was unable to join the rest of the board for their morning tour.

"Jeanne Morris and I had just wanted to see the Bookertown area and had asked Lurline Sweeting to give us a tour," board vice chairman Nancy Warren said. "When Dr. (Hortense) Evans heard about it, she suggested we tour all the projects and the detention center too."

In addition to driving through several public housing areas and making stops at the Juvenile Detention Center and the Grove Counseling Center, the board members also visited Crooms School of Choice and had lunch at Seminole High School.

Evans, the administrative assistant to Supt. Bob Hughes, oversees all expulsion proceedings and said she felt the board needed to be "enlightened" about the conditions in which many of the young people in Sanford live.

School board members and others leave Grove Counseling Center in Midway during a tour last week of the Sanford area.

"It's amazing," Warren said. "I've been on the board 11 years and there are still things I haven't seen."

Warren said that the area is constantly changing and that makes it difficult to keep up.

"When I started here we were a very small district," she said. "Now with 40-some schools and all the support agencies, it's almost impossible to keep up with it all."

Evans noted that the number of minority students who are expelled from school is disproportionate to the number of minorities in the schools.

"Almost half the students expelled are minorities, but only about a quarter of the whole school population fits that category," she said.

Evans noted that she hoped the board members who went on the tour benefitted from their experience.

"I think I learned a great deal," Warren said. "Even after all this time on the board, there's always something new to learn."

New York State moves toward new, multi-cultural curriculum

By DAVID BAUDER
Associated Press Writer

ALBANY, N.Y. — New York state will soon start rewriting history books to emphasize the contributions of minorities after a summer-long controversy that critics said had as much to do with politics as education.

State Education Commissioner Thomas Sobol next month will direct educators to sift through history books and replace what a committee said was a prevailing white, European view of the world with one that takes in other ethnic perspectives.

The push for "multicultural education" — which mirrors similar efforts in California, Oregon, Indiana and Washington — is forcing educators to take a second look at events like Christopher Columbus' passage to America and the dispersion of Indians across the United States as the country was settled.

The committee wanted history books to note that Columbus sailed to an already inhabited land and that Thanksgiving is a day of mourning for many Indians. Slaves should be referred to as "enslaved persons," it said, because that better expresses the humanity of those in bonds.

The state Board of Regents, largely endorsed the report and ordered a rewrite, reasoning it would promote better understanding between ethnic groups. Sobol is appointing another committee next month to do the actual work.

The changes angered some critics, such as historian Arthur Schlesinger Jr., who argued that they would emphasize what divided Americans instead of what pulled them together. Schlesinger was an original member of the committee but quit and was named a consultant.

The controversy also has baffled many teachers. Several say they've been emphasizing a multicultural curriculum ever since a revision was ordered in 1987.

"It makes me wonder if the people on the committee even read the curricula," said Marian Steinberg, a teacher in White Plains. "Grant you, it's very boring and would take a lot of time."

Regent J. Edward Meyer, who voted against the changes, said the Regents were acting on political, not educational motives, trying to "assuage frustration and anger" among minorities.

Harvard University Professor Nathan Glazer, a committee member who has defended the report, nonetheless said multicultural education represents "another desperate try" to help blacks do better in school more than an effort to promote racial understanding.

Glazer said educators already have distorted history to emphasize ethnic contributions. A national sample of 17-year-olds found more could identify Harriet Tubman than Winston Churchill or Josef Stalin, he said.

Black kids discover their roots

By LINDSEY TANNER
Associated Press Writer

CHICAGO — Inside a bleak storefront on Chicago's South Side, children pledge allegiance with words that are as different as black and white:

"We are African people, struggling for national liberation. We are preparing leaders and workers to bring about positive change for our people. We stress the development of our bodies, minds, souls and consciousness."

The flag they face is not red, white and blue — it is black, green and red, the colors of African nationalism. The walls are decorated with portraits of Malcolm X and Marcus Garvey.

Sandwiched between an auto-parts shop and a bookstore, the New Concept Development Center barely stands out in dreary surroundings. There is no hint that the teaching methods at this small, private school are at the heart of a nationwide debate.

The center offers an Afro-

"more with less."

Wheeler added that the items that the union "gave up" in exchange for the deal struck at the time of negotiations have not been taken back.

Wheeler believes that the union is being "punished" for not agreeing to recommend an "unacceptable contract" to their membership.

In a written statement to the teachers, Wheeler said the retraction of already agreed upon items showed a lack of respect of the teachers by the superintendent and the board.

"Evidently, the Board and the Superintendent have as much respect for you as they would a naughty child."

centric curriculum, infusing every subject — including English, math, science, history and the arts — with African themes.

Opponents contend it's self-esteem therapy more than serious academic study. They complain that much of what is taught as fact is merely fantasy, and some say it presents a perspective as biased as a Euro-centric curriculum.

Others, like Assistant U.S. Secretary of Education Diane Ravitch, fear that such curriculums could increase "racial antagonism" and produce "fresh recruits for white and black racist groups."

But supporters say it gives black students a positive image of their ancestry that can help them avoid the drugs, crime and poor performance that trouble many inner-city public schools.

They say it teaches black children to view their heritage as equal, not inferior, to European culture.

"We're faced with a situation of continuing to send out children that are failing or providing alternative means of educating our children ourselves," said Mwalimu J. Shujaa, executive officer of the Council of Independent Black Institutions, a Buffalo, N.Y.-based group of 30 schools, including New Concept.

"That seems to pose a threat for many, because it's interpreted as being anti-public education. It's really pro-African-American children," he said.

The council is helping Detroit's schools fashion an Afro-centric program, and other cities have asked for the council's curriculum guide, Shujaa said.

LMHS full of big happenings

By ALLISON SLATER
Herald Correspondent

LAKE MARY — Lake Mary High School students, this upcoming week will be one filled with school spirit and rivalry. Next Friday, Sept. 20, the varsity football team will travel to our archrival Lake Brantley High School in Altamonte Springs for the annual Lake Mary-Lake Brantley game, and this week will be "Beat Brantley" at LMHS planned by student government.

There will be dress-up days during the week, including the Ram Spirit day on Friday, for which students are encouraged to wear the T-shirts that will be sold by Student Government throughout the week. Student Government will also be selling spirit links for $.25 that will make up class spirit chains. At Friday's pep rally, whichever class has created the longest spirit chain will be declared the most spirited class, and then the four class chains will be joined to create one school spirit chain that will be taken and displayed at the game. Then, the LMHS spirit chain will be compared to Lake Brantley's and a most spirited school will be declared.

Spirit buses will also leave from Lake Mary for the game on Friday night, and all students are encouraged to sign up to be a part of the spirit caravan.

The Senior Class will have its first senior lunch on Tuesday, Sept. 24. Also, the senior songs for the year will be "Young and Innocent" from the St. Elmos' Fire soundtrack and "I'm Free." The Senior Class officers, president Jodi Young, vice president Tomer Seifan, secretary Heather Cohen and treasurer Shannon Johnson have also ordered the senior T-shirts and are working on a proposed "Senior Week" for later in the year.

Already a busy year at SHS

By DORI SAPP
Herald Correspondent

SANFORD — The past week has been a very busy one at Seminole. For starters, on Monday night, P.T.A. (L.S.A.C.) began arranging festivities for a great homecoming blowout which will be held on Nov. 15. These parents believe this will be the best homecoming S.H.S. has seen in a long time. Meanwhile, the Booster Club was meeting down the hall. This is a popular club that many parents join together to help out the athletic department at Seminole. The football team parents also met for the first time to discuss their sons' upcoming season. All in all, it was a very positive evening.

More and more clubs and class meetings are starting. The Junior class, who are already planning their prom, are busy finding ways to deal with the high cost of having a prom by planning different types of fundraisers.

The choral groups, Destiny and Pizazz, are working hard on their routines in order to be ready to perform for special programs and competitions. These singers-dancers hope to have another great year of performances.

On Tuesday, the camera crews were here filming for a Seminole County Dividends Program to be aired on Cablevision. The focus was on our career room, media center and Compac Program. The date it will be televised has not been set yet.

Seminole's Open House will be held on Sept. 23. Parents are welcome to come and meet the outstanding faculty we have here at Seminole. It will also give parents the perfect opportunity to sign up as Dividends to help around school or to get involved in P.T.A.

Verdict is in

By VICKI DeSORMIER

SANFORD — The verdict is in. The People's Law School has been an undeniable success in the past and it will be offered again later this month. Seminole Community College sponsored the legal workshops in conjunction with the Florida Academy of Trial Lawyers in both the Fall of 1990 and the Spring of 1991.

The upcoming session will meet on Tuesdays, beginning Sept. 24 and running through Nov. 12.

Each session will last two hours from 7 to 9 p.m.

The People's Law School is designed to clear up the mysteries surrounding the legal system and the practice of law.

According to Fay Brake, director of Leisure Progas at SCC, said the main purpose behind the eight week course is to help the public understand their rights and legal options.

"We want to create a public well informed of its rights, privileges and responsibilities under our judicial system."

The first session drew 170 participants, the second attracted 174.

Brake expects the new session will draw similarly high numbers.

The registration fee for the class is $5 for the eight week course and registration will be done on a first-come, first-serve basis.

Among the legal experts who will be teaching some of the sections of the course will be Judge O.H. Eaton and Judge Newman Brock as well as attorneys Dominick Sallit, Beth Rutberg, William Berzak, Claude Van Hook, Russell Troutman, Carmine Bravo, Norman Levin, Phares Heindl, Patricia Strowbridge, William Morrison, Gene Mooney, Mark Rabinowitz and Ton G. LaGrone.

Topics include the legislative process, criminal law, estate planning, insurance law, workers compensation and consumer law.

Baker briefs Baltic leaders

VILNIUS, Lithuania — Secretary of State James A. Baker III briefed Baltic leaders Saturday about Soviet assurances that the 100,000 troops based in the newly independent nations will be removed.

In addition, Baker promised the Baltics $14 million in assistance from funds in the budget for the current fiscal year that ends Sept. 30. A Baker aide, who spoke on condition of anonymity, said the money would be used for a range of programs, from health and agriculture to business training and energy efficiency efforts.

The Baltic leaders were understanding about the Soviet Union's problems with the large-scale withdrawal, but nonetheless are acutely aware "they have all those troops on their land," said Baker spokeswoman Margaret Tutwiler. The officials were "very interested" in Baker's message, she said.

Fire at jail kills four inmates

FORSYTH, Mo. — A generator fire poured thick smoke into a county jail before dawn Saturday, killing four of the 26 prisoners who were trapped in their cells behind electronically powered doors.

Firefighters donned air masks and used a special tool to open each cell. All the surviving prisoners were treated for smoke inhalation, and 13 were hospitalized. "You couldn't send anybody in without air bottles," Fire Chief Ron Correll said. "It was unreal."

Nearly 100 firefighters were sent to the fire in Forsyth, in far southwestern Missouri, about 35 miles south of Springfield.

Real Judge Thomas clearer

By RICHARD CARELLI
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON — Clarence Thomas opposes many affirmative action policies, supports a "wall of separation" between church and state and readily recognizes a constitutional right to privacy.

And the man who seems increasingly likely to become the nation's 106th Supreme Court justice believes that unobtrusively televising sessions of the nation's highest court would be a good idea.

Thomas sparred unyieldingly in four days of confirmation questioning last week over the subject Democrats asked about most, refusing to say whether he believes the Constitution guarantees a woman's right to an abortion.

But on a variety of other subjects, the black, 43-year-old federal appeals court judge and former chairman of the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission offered a sampler of the views, style and conservative philosophy he'd take to an increasingly conservative court.

By the time he finished answering questions on Friday afternoon, some Democrats on the committee were saying they believed he'd win confirmation easily.

Thomas, who returns to the Senate Judiciary Committee for a final day of testimony on Monday, showed he is not afraid of hard work, displays considerable grace and humor under pressure, and is not steeped in constitutional law. And he thinks judges should be very careful about expanding individual rights.

At times during his first four days as a

"I don't know if I'd call myself an enigma."

Judge Clarence Thomas

witness, Thomas' testimony appeared to contrast sharply with the 138 speeches he authored before becoming a federal judge last year.

The contrast bothered the committee's Democrats and led Alabama's Howell Heflin to ask, "What would the real Clarence Thomas do on the Supreme Court?"

"I don't know if I'd call myself an enigma," said Thomas, who if confirmed would become the second black man to sit on the nation's highest court.

Thomas was picked in July by President Bush to replace the retiring Thurgood Marshall, the legendary civil rights lawyer who became the court's first black justice 24 years ago.

Thomas reiterated his well-known opposition to most affirmative action policies, including imposing hiring or promotion goals and timetables for employers found guilty of racial or sexual bias.

But in a reference to his race, the man who grew up dirt poor in Georgia told the committee and a national television audience he'd bring "something different" to the court.

He talked about his "concerns and feelings about people being left out," and said, "I can walk in the shoes of the people who are affected by what the court does."

Thomas also showed he is not afraid of stepping on some conservative toes.

Asked for his freedom-of-religion views, he endorsed Thomas Jefferson's "wall of separation" between government and religion even though Chief Justice William H. Rehnquist is a consistent critic of the metaphor.

And Thomas voiced concern over a Supreme Court decision authored by Justice Antonin Scalia, its most conservative member, that made it easier for government to interfere in some religious practices.

Thomas, who spent most of his adult life working in state and federal executive branch jobs, did not hold himself out as a constitutional scholar. Instead, he showed the instincts of a pragmatic bureaucrat and told the senators his constitutional outlook is evolving.

But the witness who at times seemed uncomfortable discussing constitutional theory said he majored in English at college because it meant being "immersed in something I found particularly difficult."

Unlike Robert H. Bork, whose 1987 Supreme Court nomination went down in flames when it reached the Senate, Thomas said he believes in a constitutional right of privacy.

And he said marital privacy is a "fundamental right" accorded the highest judicial protection against governmental intrusion.

Thomas also distanced himself from Bork in his comments about the Ninth Amendment, which says rights not included in other amendments, are "retained by the people."

Will Wilder get the black vote?

By JILL LAWRENCE
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON — Virginia Gov. Doug Wilder is no Jesse Jackson, and most black voters in his state seem to like him fine. But can his moderate message and measured style inspire national black support for his presidential bid?

If Jackson sits out 1992, as expected, most analysts predict Wilder will attract at least some of the voters the fiery preacher won in his 1984 and 1988 races for the Democratic nomination. But not all of them.

"He is not going to certainly inherit the Jackson constituency. He's going to have to fight for it. And he's going to come under severe scrutiny," said Ron Walters, chairman of the Howard University political science department and a former Jackson adviser.

Wilder, the nation's first elected black governor, is not the kind of black politician Americans are used to seeing on the national stage.

He talks of fiscal austerity and personal responsibility, resists a liberal tag, contends there are no "black" issues and avoids the emotional pulpit style that preacher-politicians like Jackson have used so effectively.

Jackson is "perhaps the foremost political activist of our time," Wilder said in a recent Playboy interview. By contrast, he said, "I've been an officeholder for 21 years... I am called upon to make compromises — to take the half loaf when I can't get the whole one."

The rightward drift of Wilder's political career — he's cut education and other services to balance his budget and abandoned his opposition to the death penalty — has alienated some of the Virginia liberals who supported his run for governor in 1989.

But not too many of the black ones.

"Blacks have stayed with him even though he's been a fiscal conservative," said Brad Coker, president of the Mason-Dixon polling firm. "He still has a 78 percent approval rating among Virginia's black voters. They're with him because they think he's one of them."

In announcing his candidacy Friday, Wilder was at his most eloquent when he described the barriers he'd faced and accused President Bush of "leading the retreat" on race relations. He discussed fiscal conservatism but couched it in terms of stopping Washington insiders from wasting the rest of the country's money.

The emphasis, some say, suggests Wilder has realized he must cultivate a base among blacks and white liberals.

"He's hitting some issues that are intended clearly to attract black voters without driving away white voters," said Michael Preston, a University of Southern California political scientist. "The degree he can sell that to black voters is the degree to which he will be successful."

Both Preston and Walters say it won't be an easy sell.

"There are people who will be persuaded by the symbolic appeal of affirmative action and the Civil Rights Act of 1991," said Walters, referring to a bill congressional Democrats are trying to pass.

IN BRIEF

COLLEGE FOOTBALL

FAMU Loses

WASHINGTON — Donald Carr threw for two touchdowns leading Howard University to a 28-21 victory over Florida A&M Saturday in the Mid-Eastern Athletic Conference.

The win improved Howard to 2-0 overall and 1-0 in the MEAC while Florida A&M fell to 1-1 and 0-1.

BASEBALL

Jays sign Parker

TORONTO — Dave Parker, cut by California last week after losing his stroke at age 40, signed Saturday with the Toronto Blue Jays for the final three weeks of the season.

Parker will not be eligible for the postseason if the Blue Jays make it that far. Toronto took a 3½-game lead into Saturday's play.

PRO FOOTBALL

Bays' try to break streaks

GREEN BAY, Wis. — An 0-3 start for either the Tampa Bay Buccaneers or Green Bay Packers would do more than deflate morale and light up the lines on the radio call-in shows.

Three weeks of play with nothing to show might start a giant snowball that neither team could control. That's why Sunday's game between the two winless NFC Central rivals means so much.

Tampa Bay has been close to victory twice this season for new coach Richard Williamson, losing to the Jets by a field goal and then 21-20 last week to Chicago.

Marino plays on birthday

PONTIAC, Mich. — Dan Marino will celebrate his 30th birthday Sunday. The Miami quarterback would rather give a gift than receive one, and that's where Detroit comes in.

If Marino can lead the Dolphins to a victory in the Silverdome, it would be the 300th NFL win in the remarkable career of Miami coach Don Shula.

Mark Higgs is the NFL's second-leading rusher after the first two weeks of the season. Higgs rushed for 146 yards in the opening loss at Buffalo and came back for 111 yards in a victory over the Colts.

Higgs had 100 yards against the Lions, becoming the first running back in Dolphins history to rush for 100 yards or more in three consecutive games.

And if Marino should throw for four touchdowns against the Lions (1-1), he would tie Unitas' NFL record of 17 games with four or more TD passes.

Gant goes for third in a row

DOVER, Del. — Harry Gant must have a lot of nerve.

He'd need some just to get into a 3,500-pound stock car and race it around an asphalt track with three dozen other guys.

But now he's won two straight races, distracting attention from a perfectly good NASCAR championship battle heading into Sunday's Peak Antifreeze 500.

Seven races remain and only 157 points separate season leader Dale Earnhardt and fourth-place Davey Allison. Ricky Rudd is second and Ernie Irvan third, 64 and 133 behind, with 185 points possible to a driver at one race.

Gant will start 10th Sunday, when pole-sitter Alan Kulwicki heads four Fords at the start of the field. Davey Allison will start alongside him, with Geoff Bodine and Mark Martin in row two.

Andretti on Pole

LEXINGTON, Ohio — Michael Andretti and his Chevrolet-powered Lola were overpowering again as he mastered the 2.25-mile, 15-turn Mid-Ohio Sports Car Circuit to wrap up the pole position for Sunday's Pioneer Electronics 200 and break his own track qualifying record.

The 26-year-old racer, the defending champion here, came away with his seventh pole of the season, again earning one point for taking the top qualifying spot and cutting Bobby Rahal's series margin to 157-155. Al Unser, the defending series champion, is third with 143.

Andretti's fast lap of 116.589 mph was clocked at 69.475 seconds, the first time any driver has been under 70 seconds on the hilly Central Ohio circuit. That easily broke the mark of 115.652 that he set here last September.

The pole sitter will be followed by Rick Mears, Rahal at 115.491, Scott Pruett, Emerson Fittipaldi, Mario Andretti and Unser.

Compiled from wire and staff reports.

'Big shoes' fit just fine

After playing defensive back most of the last two seasons, Seminole's Corey Bennett (No. 5) saw action on offense Friday against Lyman, catching two passes for 18 yards and a touchdown.

New No. 2 guides Tribe over 'Hounds

By DEAN SMITH
Herald Sports Writer

SANFORD — And the beat goes on. After having had to face All-State quarterbacks Jeff Blake and Kerry Wiggins for the past six years, Seminole County football teams had to figure that Seminole High School's run of quality quarterbacks would be at an end.

Wrong. Senior Vashaun Williams stepped into the position wearing the same No. 2 Jersey that his predecessors wore and completed 10 of 18 passes for 138 yards and two touchdowns as the Tribe shut out Seminole Athletic Conference foe Lyman 14-0 in the season opener for both ballclubs at Thomas E. Whigham Stadium Friday night.

Williams did make some first-game mistakes (two fumbles and an interception) and exhibited first-game jitters, but he was able to come up with the big play when it was needed.

"He was shaky," said Seminole coach Emory Blake about his new signal caller. "He has some big shoes to fill and I think he felt the pressure of trying to fill those shoes. But with a game under his belt, I think he will settle down."

While Blake was not exceptionally pleased with his team's execution, he was pleased the way they overcame some pre-game adversity — senior running back Bruce McClary had to sit out after it was discovered Friday afternoon that he had a heart murmur — to keep focused and win

Little big man strikes: Rasmussen, Rams rally

By TONY DeSOMMIER
Herald Sports Editor

LAKE MARY — Doug Flutie would have been proud.

In a scrambling performance reminiscent of the diminutive Boston College Heisman Trophy winner, 5-foot, 6-inch junior Jason Rasmussen tossed a pair of touchdowns to rally Lake Mary to a 21-20 win over visiting Jacksonville-Ed White in a varsity football game Friday night at Lake Mary's Don T. Reynolds Stadium.

After the Rams spotted the Jacksonville-White Commanders a 14-0 lead, Rasmussen hooked up with Al Holt on a 30-yard touchdown strike and found Jermaine Ferguson with a 15-scoring pass to tie the score.

Anuah Collins scored the game-winning touchdown on an 8-yard run with 7:41 left in the game.

"I was concerned a little bit," said Rasmussen, a junior who was able to transfer from Lake Howell to Lake Mary because his father, Boyd, teaches and coaches at Lake Mary.

"The offense had some jitters and the defense gave up some points. "But I knew our offensive line would do the job. We have a lot of talent on this team."

It didn't show early on as the Commanders turned in big play after big play. Faced with fourth and 4 on the Lake Mary 24, Kenny Williams split the Lake Mary defense on a 24-yard scoring dash to give White a 6-0 lead.

On Lake Mary's next possession, Eric Alexander and Geoffrey Raagas made consecutive tackles for losses that resulted in the Rams being faced with a fourth-and-31 situation from their own 16.

After taking the ensuing punt on the Ram 44, White quickly upped the lead to 14-0 on a 1-yard dive by quarterback Tony Tatum and a pass from Tatum to Randy Wicker for a two-point conversion. During the drive, Tatum threw a 43-yard pass to Kareem Miller to convert a third-and-36 play.

"We had first-game jitters," said Lake Mary coach Doug Peters. "There was pressure on us to play well. After talking about being in a three-year plan for the last two years, this was the time for us to look strong. We needed to look like we could control the line of scrimmage."

After making a couple of minor adjustments, that's exactly what the Rams started to do. The Com-

Hawks power by Wildcats

By PAUL SMITH

WINTER PARK — After a shaky start, the Lake Howell Silver Hawks went back to power football and posted a 21-7 victory over their crosstown rivals, the Winter Park Wildcats, before a capacity crowd Friday evening at Showalter Field.

The Wildcats looked impressive early as they took the opening kickoff and drove 75 yards on 11 plays, capped by quarterback Terrance Foy's 14-yard scoring run to give Winter Park a 7-0 lead with 6:38 remaining in the first quarter.

After Lake Howell punted, Foy, leading the year-old team attack, again mounted a drive while the Silver Hawks struggled to mount any kind of attack until the last minute of the half.

"We came out early and tried some fancy stuff and it didn't work," said Lake Howell head coach Mike Blonnie.

After the Lake Howell defense forced Winter Park to punt, Anthony Mayo returned the kick 15 yards that, combined with a 10-yard defensive

'Grown-up' Lions take measure of host DeLand

By BILL KERNS

DeLAND — Sometimes the line between a blessing and a curse gets blurred.

Take the 1990 Oviedo High School varsity football team for example. Injuries and the subsequent use of inexperienced underclassmen players caused them to suffer through a 2-8 season after going 9-1 in each of the previous two years.

Curse, right? Well . . . Those once inexperienced players gained experience last year. On Friday night, they used that experience to squelch host DeLand 28-6 at Speck Martin Memorial Stadium in a 5A-District 4 contest.

"Our young guys have grown up," said Oviedo head coach Jack Blanton. "Like veteran Lee Reynolds (a junior defensive tackle), those that didn't play well last year are playing well now. Our sophomores are now juniors. Also look at Terrance Ribbon (nose guard) and Simon Harper, who moved from split end to defensive end."

Oviedo took a 21-6 lead into halftime. Leon Lowman

Almon: Patriots 'sloppy' in rout of University

By TOM LANNAN
Herald Correspondent

ORLANDO — You wouldn't know it from the coach's post game comments; the scoreboard provided no clues either. Nevertheless, the Lake Brantley Patriots routed the home-standing University Cougars 42-0 in varsity football action Friday night.

The scoreboard had a malfunction. The coach was just unhappy.

"We're going to have to get better," complained Lake Brantley coach Fred Almon. "We played very sloppy. And to compete with the teams we'll be playing, we'll have to stop making mistakes."

The Patriots were guilty of 13 penalties on the night, including two that negated touchdowns. They also had trouble executing their best offensive play, fullback David Sprinkle running between the tackles. Sprinkle carried the ball only 10 times for 65 yards, both well below his averages from a year ago.

Others did pick up the slack for Lake Brantley. Senior receiver Jeff Butler scored three touchdowns — two as the recipient of halfback passes and one on a kick return.

The kick return opened the sec-

Heart murmur sidelines Tribe running back McClary

By DEAN SMITH
Herald Sports Writer

SANFORD — Just hours before his team was to open its season, Seminole High School football coach Emory Blake got a surprise of the most unpleasant variety. At 5 p.m. Friday, Blake was informed that senior running back Bruce McClary had been diagnosed as having a heart murmur and would not be able to play against Lyman that evening.

"We found out during the pep rally that he wouldn't be able to play," said Blake. "He had not showed any symptoms in any of the practices and he passed his physical with no problems."

But he asked his mother Wednesday night to get him something to get rid of some gas because he felt a tightness in his chest. When the tightness didn't go away by the next day, his mother made an appointment for him to see the doctor at the Navy base in Orlando.

When the fleet-footed runner walked into the doctor's office at 1 p.m. Friday, the doctor didn't even examine him but sent him straight on to the hospital for tests.

"When he found out he had to go to the hospital, he was terrified," said Blake. "If they would have taken his blood pressure then, I'm sure it would have been off the dial."

"When he got to the hospital the doctors were not pleased with his EKG (electrocardiogram) and told him he couldn't play."

After being released from the hospital, McClary showed up at the high school and begged Blake to let him play.

"He came into the locker room before the game in tears," said Blake. "But I told him that we had to do what the doctor wants. I would rather lose all of my games rather than have something tragic happen to one of players like happened to the player in Miramar (where a player recently collapsed and died during practice)."

After graduating eight starters from last year's district-championship team, including its quarterback, all of its receivers and all but one of its running backs, Blake knew his team would be inexperienced this year.

What Blake was hoping for was that those few experience returners like McClary would carry the Tribe over until those new players became comfortable with playing on the varsity.

McClary, a 5-foot, 10-inch, 185-pound senior, led the Tribe in rushing last year with 476 yards, the sixth-best in the county and second best among returning players. Having also caught seven passes for 84 yards and scored three touchdowns, he was being heavily counted on to be the offensive leader this year.

While there's no way to replace a player of McClary's calibre, especially on the day of the opening game of the season, the Seminoles pulled themselves together and shut out Lyman 14-0 Friday.

Blake was pleased with the way his team handled their composure over the loss of McClary.

"Some of the kids saw Bruce crying in the locker room and it affected them," said Blake.

"We tried to give it away," said Blake. "Our offense is so young, we know we can't keep relying on the defense to bail us out. The defense could have played better. They bent some, but they still got that zero on the board."

"But I was pleased with the way the kids overcame the obstacles of so many new offensive players and not having our best running back in the game."

Both teams had several chances to score early but fumbles and interceptions kept the game scoreless until right before halftime.

The Greyhounds had two drives stall and missed on subsequent field goal attempts, one falling just short while the other was blocked by Seminole's Sam Becker.

"We made a few mistakes," Lyman head coach Bill Scott. "We didn't get the ball in the end zone early in the game because of missed key blocks at crucial times. But to be as young and green as we are, we played them tough. We'll get better and come back strong."

Another thing that hurt the 'Hounds was the loss of running back Bobby Washington to a bruised knee after just two carries for 26 yards.

"He got a helmet to the knee," said Scott. "It was just a bruise. He was able to play defense, but the knee was tender and we didn't want to put pressure on it trying to run."

But while Lyman had problems, Seminole was having an even worse time as it turned the ball over on four straight possessions fumbling the ball away three times and Williams throwing an interception.

The home team finally got things going with 4:37 left in the half. After starting from the Greyhound 38, the Tribe advanced to the 9-yard line where, on third-and-3, Williams found Corey Bennett, who broke several tackles on his way to the score with 0:11 left. Shayne Stewart added the extra point.

Senior Brian Grayson did a little of everything for the Lyman Greyhounds in their game with Seminole Friday, rushing a game-high 16 times for game-best 68 yards, catching the only pass Lyman completed for 38 yards, averaging 35.5 yards on four punts and making several tackles on defense.

The second half belonged to the Seminole defense as the Greyhounds were unable to get anything going. The Tribe held Lyman to only three first downs and 32 yards rushing on 12 attempts.

Seminole did a better job on offense, gaining 72 yards rushing, but they, too, could not put the ball in the end zone until late in the game.

Starting from their own 8-yard line with 8:39 to go in the game, the Tribe ate up almost 5:30 of the clock before scoring on a 23-yard pass from Vashaun Williams to Tyrone Williams with 2:54 left in the contest. Stewart again added the extra point, but this time it came from 35-yards out after an un-sportsmanlike penalty.

The big play of the drive was a beautiful 40-yard bomb from Vashaun Williams to Willie Williams.

Blake said that with a whole new offensive team, things would be tough this year. But on the bright side, all but two of the newcomers will be back next year.

"This is going to be a year of struggle for us," said Blake. "We're just hoping for a decent season. We don't have any breathers on our schedule. All of our games, except for arch-rival DeLand and Ocala Forest, are either district or conference games. But things do look bright for the future."

Seminole will travel to Spec Martin Stadium in DeLand next Friday to take on the Bulldogs at 7:30 p.m. Lyman will play another SAC opponent, and 5A-District 4 competitor, Oviedo at home next Friday starting at 7:30 p.m.

As a team, the Lions ran for 180 yards on the night.

"The big thing was our running backs," said Blanton. "Leon Lowman is the type of athlete that if you give him the ball three times, he's going to do something."

DeLand's offense was shut out in the second half and gained only 301 total yards for the game. The Oviedo defense recovered two fumbles, including a second quarter fumble that linebacker Palatras Sampson picked up and returned 65 yards for a touchdown.

Oviedo quarterback Dan Hargrave, who passed for 77 yards and two touchdowns while rushing for another touchdown, credited the win to the experience gained from last year and the team's competitive talent.

"We're coming together from last year," said Hargrave. "We're much improved from last ond half and effectively put an end to any thoughts of a comeback by the Cougars. Butler's 80-yard romp untouched down the left sideline increased the Patriot lead to 28-0, including the point after.

Both passes were thrown by running back Joe Petno. The second came late in the third quarter with the score already 35-0. Understandably, it sparked a bit of controversy.

"We run an option offense," explained Almon. "Our backs are taught to throw the ball to the receiver if he's open. We were not trying to run up the score."

Still more controversy came after what appeared to be an onside kick recovered by the Patriots. The kick, slamming off the shins of a Cougar front man, came midway through the third quarter with Lake Brantley

"That wasn't supposed to be an onside kick," said Almon. "The kicker just missed it. We remember what it was like last year: we're not trying to run up the score."

Next up for the Patriots will be a visit from Lake Mary. In preparation for the game, Coach Almon plans to emphasize offensive line play in practice this week.

manders, who gained 110 yards on their first two possessions, collected only gained another 106 the rest of the game, 80 of those coming on their final drive of the game.

With the defense shutting down the White attack, Rasmussen and the Rams started to work their comeback magic.

Taking the kickoff following Tatum's touchdown, Lake Mary moved to the White 30 on the running of Titus Francis, Collins and Holt. But there the drive stalled and the Rams were faced with fourth and 7. After a timeout, Rasmussen sprinted out, scrambled around and connected with Holt for the Rams' first score.

After Norm Henkle kicked the extra point, the Rams trailed 14-7 going into halftime.

The third quarter opened with a pair of prodigious punts. Chad Keeler launching a 50-yarder (after a 41-yard boot was called back because of a penalty) for Lake Mary while White's Tony Long kicked a 48-yarder.

Once again, the Rams used the ground game to get into scoring position after Long's kick, moving the ball to the Commander 15. On third and 13, Rasmussen rolled out and went up top to Ferguson. Henkle's extra point tied the score.

Then it was Lake Mary defense's turn to turn in a big play, linebacker David McGarry recovering a fumble by Tatum at the Commander 48. Seven plays later, Collins spun off a couple would-be tacklers and found his way into the end zone. Henkle again kicked the extra point.

White made one last charge, marching 80 yards on nine plays, Tatum and Ryan Johnson connecting on a 21-yard scoring pass with under three minutes to play. But Tatum's pass for the two-point conversion went through the hands of Miller.

Lake Mary then took the kickoff and was able to kill the clock.

"We didn't get to do a whole lot on offense tonight," said Peters. "We were going to open it up on offense but when we fell behind early, we decided it was important that we take a step back and work on establishing our running game."

"It was a good win for us. With their different weapons on offense, they were a perfect team for us to play. They have tough runners and they threw the ball well."

Lake Mary, 1-0, will be on the road the next two weeks, traveling to Lake Brantley next Friday and visiting Edgewater on Sept. 27.

IN BRIEF

Longwood space leased by Bear

LONGWOOD — The Lewis Bear Company, Inc., a wholesale food distribution company, has leased from the American Industrial Center 23,100 square feet of office/warehouse space located at the 150 National Place, American Industrial Center. A one-year lease with a one-year option was negotiated by Jim Duke of Duke Properties.

Durrances named to Beefmasters group

SANFORD — Ken, Darlene and Kenny Durrance of Sanford have been accepted as active members of Beefmaster Breeders Universal (BBU).

The Beefmaster breed of cattle, which was founded in South Texas in the early 1930's, was developed on selection for traits of economic importance which have become known as "The Six Essentials."

With membership in BBU, Ken, Darlene & Denny Durrance join more than 4,200 cattlemen in 36 states and seven foreign countries who hold membership in this progressive association.

Bailey wins Toyota competition

LONGWOOD — Scott Bailey, a certified technician at Bruce Rosemyer's Toyotaland, won first place in the national 1991 Toyota Master Technician Skills Championship.

After winning competitions in his district and then the Southeast Region, Bailey competed against 17 other finalists in Torrance, Calif.

Brody observes fifth anniversary

LONGWOOD — MBA/Melinda Brody & Associates will celebrate their 5th year in business on Oct. 10.

"This has been a very challenging year and we have reacted to the market by being very diverse and flexible," says Melinda Brody, President.

SCC, chamber offer retail seminars

SANFORD — The Seminole Community College Small Business Development Regional Center will be co-sponsoring a series of classes for retail store owners.

The four classes on successive Tuesdays beginning Oct. 1. They are designed to help retail store owners improve the management and profitability of their establishments.

The four classes in the series are 'Advertising, Public Relations and Location,' 'Inventory Control and Purchasing,' 'Visual Merchandising' and 'Personnel Perspectives.'

LAKE MARY — There is a great deal of empty business and office space in Lake Mary. More empty space may be forthcoming in the months ahead.

The projections were made by members of the Lake Mary Business Advisory Board, which met in a joint session with the City Commission Tuesday evening. Board Chairman, J. Craig Spearman led off the report, which is the beginning of what is planned as a continuing effort to improve the overall business life in the city.

Spearman reported, "During the first half of this year, we have lost a number of businesses." He added, "We can probably expect more in the near future."

The Board is comprised of seven prominent business leaders from the Lake Mary area. A number of them are involved in statistical analysis of the business community as part of their positions, and have been of great help to the Board through their knowledge.

Spearman explained some of the statistics. "Right now our figures indicate we have a glut of office space in this area. Between Maitland and Lake Mary, our figures indicate 1.2 million square feet of unused office space." He added, "In Lake Mary alone, we have determined that 200,000 square feet of office space are standing unused at the present time."

Lake Mary is not without adequate commercial buildings. Building statistics show a total of 1.2 million square feet of retail space, 6,960,000 square feet of

I think it will be a long time before we see the amount of retail and office space in Lake Mary get burned out.

-J. Craig Spearman

office space and 1,860 hotel rooms are in existence. The statistics include the combined spaces in the Heathrow International Business Center, Primera, Timacuan, and Northpointe.

"I think it will be a long time before we see the amount of retail and office space in Lake Mary get burned out," Spearman added.

The Board presented the City Commissioner with a number of suggestions on how to turn the problem around, and hopefully attract more businesses into the city. One of the big suggestions made was that the City consider amending its site plan approval process to reduce delays, repeated visits and public hearings from persons seeking to establish a business in Lake Mary. The Board reported the average turnaround time for such a process is six months, when it could be reduced to 9 weeks.

One problem pointed out by the Board's report was that the cost of raw land acquisition in Lake Mary is over two times that in the rest of the Central Florida market.

Other suggestions included modifying the comprehensive plan for land use, to stimulate some non-residential growth; amending the land development codes to increase the floor area coverage to 30 percent and reduce variance requests without sacrificing quality or bucolic appearance; and developing land development code exceptions for a Downtown Activity Center to allow free enterprise to develop mixed uses.

After making substantial progress on these points, the Board suggested the city "develop a marketing plan in cooperation with the Lake Mary Chamber of Commerce and the EDC, and examine other methods for increasing non-residential contributions to the city's financial burden."

The joint meeting was a report from the Board to the Commission, and did not require any immediate action. The City Staff however, is considering the suggestions, and the subject is expected to be brought up for discussion in the future, as the work of the board continues.

Pet business observes 20 years of sales

By WICK PFEIFAU

SANFORD — When a business celebrates an anniversary, it often offers refreshments. It's rare however, for the refreshments to be dog treats and catnip.

Larry D. Blair, owner and operator of Care-O-Sell Pet Palace, says, "Dogs and cats are my real clients."

They are the ones we help when they come into our establishment, so they are the ones we want to welcome to our party."

Care-O-Sell will be celebrating 20 years in business from Monday to Saturday. Blair began the business in 1971, and has recently expanded and improved the facilities at the present location, 407 W. 25th Street.

In addition to the dog treats and catnip, fresh drinking water will also be served to the customers. "Of course we will have punch and cookies for the owners who bring in our customers during the week."

Care-O-Sell Pet Palace specializes in dog and cat grooming and washing, and Blair says, "I intend to keep the business going for possibly another 20 years."

Get the facts on endometriosis

Janice is a 38-year-old mother of two. For the past two years, she has been having heavy menstrual periods with spotting before and after. There is pain during bowel movements at these times.

Susan has never been really ill. She was never able to conceive; however, at age 43 she is past caring. A few days back, she had to be rushed to the hospital with severe abdominal pain. She underwent emergency surgery and was told that a "chocolate cyst" on her ovary had ruptured.

Cindy is an active cheerleader, but she absolutely dreads her periods. Her doctor placed her on oral contraceptive pills, but lately these have not been helping.

Such are some of the diverse manifestations of endometriosis. It is a benign though progressive condition that has challenged gynecologists and burdened generations of women.

Endometriosis is defined as the presence and growth of glands which line the inside of the uterus, in locations outside the uterus. A variant is "adenomyosis" where the same glands penetrate deep into the muscle layers of the uterus. Happily today, there is a greater awareness of this condition and newer diagnostic and treatment modalities are offering women considerable hope.

There is a general feeling that the incidence of this condition may be on the rise. Another recently accepted fact is the prevalence of this condition among first degree relatives. The typical patient with endometriosis is an intelligent, motivated woman in her mid 30s with a history of infertility. She suffers from the three "Ds": Dyspareunia or painful intercourse; Dysmenorrhea or painful periods and Dyschezia or painful bowel movements. However, teenagers or women past menopause on hormone treatment are not immune to this condition. Paradoxically, many patients with extensive disease may be asymptomatic while others with very minimal evidence of the disease may suffer the entire gamut of its effects.

Endometriosis appears as dark brown to purplish "powder burn" spots. The dark color reflects periodic bleeding in these areas. The ovaries are the most common sites, others being the surface of the uterus, the ligaments supporting the uterus, the lining or peritoneum covering neighboring organs such as bladder or bowel and interposing areas. The pain is caused by swelling and collection of blood with resultant inflammation and this waxes and wanes with the natural hormonal cycle. Tissue may get scarred or puckered or may stick together to form "adhesions." Occasionally these deposits may coalesce to form "endometriomas." The "chocolate cyst" refers to such a collection of old tarry blood.

Diagnosis may be suggested by the history or by typical findings of a scarred, tethered uterus on pelvic examination. The examination itself may elicit severe pain. The gold standard for diagnosis is "laparoscopy" where an illuminated telescope is introduced into the abdominal cavity and these areas can be inspected and biopsied.

What causes endometriosis? There is no simple answer. Several theories have been proposed. First among these is the possibility that menstrual blood may flow out of the tubes into the abdominal cavity and develop into endometriosis. The second theory suggests that even normal cells from susceptible areas may have a propensity for transformation into endometrial glands. Endometriosis may be found in sites far removed from the uterus such as the lung and there is a feeling that the cells may have been carried there by the blood circulation. Some feel that there may be defects of sorts in the immune status which cause these errant cells to settle and thrive.

The treatment depends on the natural body hormones. The drug Danocrine which has been around since the late 60s achieves this. There could be considerable side effects to these drugs which can render them unacceptable. Two newer medications have been recently approved which act on the brain suppressing the stimulus for hormone production. One of them Lupron Depot is given as a monthly shot, while the other Synarel is a nasal spray. The drugs are rather expensive and the monthly cost may amount to several hundred dollars.

Surgical treatment may be the procedure of choice in a number of patients. Considerable advances have been made in using the laparoscope not only as a diagnostic tool but also as a therapeutic modality to perform procedures such as destruction of areas of endometriosis, removal of cysts, separation of adhesions. Lasers are being used in these areas, however their superiority over conventional techniques has yet to be conclusively proven. Many cases are not amenable to laparoscopic surgery and "laparotomy" or opening the abdomen may be needed. In a good number of cases the final answer is a hysterectomy with removal of the ovaries. The treatment of this disease is always highly individualized and demands considerable rapport and cooperation between the patient and physician.

IN BRIEF

Hospital lab awarded accreditation

SANFORD — The laboratory at HCA Central Florida Regional Hospital, Sanford, has been awarded a two-year accreditation by the Commission on Laboratory Accreditation of the College of American Pathologists (CAP), based on the results of a recent on-site inspection.

The laboratory's director was advised of this national recognition and congratulated for the "excellence of the services being provided." The laboratory at the hospital is one of the more than 4,000 CAP-accredited laboratories nationwide.

Inspectors examine the records and quality control of the laboratory for the preceding two years, as well as the education and qualifications of the total staff, the adequacy of the facilities, the equipment, laboratory safety, and laboratory management.

Inpatient catheterization available

ALTAMONTE SPRINGS — Florida Hospital Altamonte recently added inpatient catheterization procedures to its cardiac services, offering Seminole county residents more comprehensive cardiac care closer to home.

Florida Hospital Altamonte's Anglo-Cath Laboratory has offered outpatient procedures for over a year. The lab uses sophisticated computerized equipment to conduct arteriograms and cardiac catheterizations. These studies help cardiologists identify blocked blood vessels and other heart conditions.

Rummage sale to benefit dialysis unit

ALTAMONTE SPRINGS — A Rummage Sale, to benefit the Arnold Palmer Hospital for Children & Women dialysis unit, will be held at 340 W. Altamonte Dr., (across from Rhodes Furniture) on Sept. 21 from 8 a.m. to 2 p.m. The event is sponsored by the Seminole Telephone Pioneers of America.

Top fisherman announced

The winner of the Winter Springs Veterans of Foreign Wars 5405 Ladies Auxiliary Fishing Tournament is John Pilk, Sanford. John reeled in a 7 and one-half inch blue gill, netting himself the grand prize, a new rod and reel. The successful tournament, attended by children from the Seminole County area, will be repeated next year according to Jane Hall from the auxiliary.

Hall said despite the muddy feet and clothing all the children seemed to take in stride, everyone washed their hands before digging in to the lunch provided. She said the auxiliary didn't provide fish sandwiches, but opted for good old hot dogs instead.

VFW earns gold star

Auxiliary honors all dead soldiers' moms

By LAGY BOWEN
Herald People Editor

LONGWOOD — The women who were to honor her yesterday say the gesture is small considering the great loss she suffered, the loss of a son in World War II.

Florence Woodward, perennially smiling at almost 90, was one of the Gold Star parents for whom area Veterans of Foreign Wars Ladies Auxiliaries hosted a Victoriana luncheon, resplendent with lace tablemats and rose patterned plates and cups, scheduled for Saturday at the Longwood VFW Post 8207.

"We have chosen the rose for the past three years because it is a symbol of love," Anne Dorton, district chairman of the Gold Star Parents Tea and President of the Longwood Auxiliary said.

The Gold Star is a bittersweet commemoration of a child killed during wartime. The custom was begun during World War II. Parents displayed on a window banner one star for each child killed in action.

"It's not a custom that carried over. It isn't done now," Dorton said. So auxiliaries decided the supreme sacrifice of a son or daughter to one's country should still be recognized.

"We do it because we are wives and mothers of servicemen who served in foreign wars. We understand the contribution those servicemen make and how close to death they often come. We were fortunate ours came home and we want parents of children who didn't to know we care and that we want to make things nice for them," Dorton said.

One mother was to have been chosen queen for the day. Her throne was to be a Victorian wicker fanbacked chair. She was to be surrounded by lattice work through which asparagus fern and pink tissue flowers were interspersed.

The queen was to receive a needlepunch rose in a gold frame, handcrafted by Catherine Kuper, auxiliary member.

Nina Crouse, Past Auxiliary and District President from the Sanford VFW Post said the 11 Orange and Seminole County auxiliaries will each present the Gold Star parents with tokens of affection from the posts.

"Each auxiliary makes a little gift to present, and we all go together and prepare the food. Sanford auxiliary will set out figurines of birds, cats and dogs with bows on top. Each parent can pick the one they want," Crouse explained.

"We've made wrist corsages and decorated crocheted hats to place in front of each table setting," Dorton said.

Nina Crouse and Anne Dorton prepare for Gold Star festivities.

Auxiliaries participating are: AEM, Altamonte Springs, Fairways, Longwood, Orange County, Oviedo, Pine Hills, Sanford, Winter Garden, Winter Park-Maitland and Winter Springs. Crouse said, although she's been around a long time, the everlasting patriotism personified by a Gold Star parent still moves her.

"To me, my heart fills up and overflows. To think what they gave up and the little part we give back. It still gives me goosebumps," she said.

Prenatal exposure to drugs may cause emotional problems

DEAR MARY: I don't have kids, but I'm really close to my sister's family and I'm worried about her eight-year-old son. He's always been kind of hard to handle, but he seems to be getting worse every year. In school he has gotten into trouble for fighting and taking things that don't belong to him. Now their neighbors are saying that they saw him start a fire in the field behind their house. He doesn't seem to be happy, but if you ask him why he's sad, he can't or won't tell you.

I know my sister and brother-in-law were messing with drugs when she got pregnant, but I don't know if that has anything to do with my nephew's problems. Should I tell her I'm worried, or should I just mind my own business?

WORRIED OR NOSEY AUNT

DEAR W O R N AUNT: No one can know for sure if his parents' drug use at the time of conception is a factor in your nephew's current difficulties, so don't share that aspect of your concern with your sister. There's nothing that can be done to change that situation, and it would only make her feel guilty, hurt or angry if you mentioned it. However, research is indicating that children who have experienced prenatal substance exposure are more at risk for behavior and emotional disturbances than their peers who were not exposed. Here is a list of some behaviors that are indicative of serious emotional disturbance in children; you will notice that your nephew is showing several of the symptoms. It might be an act of kindness to share this list of behaviors with your sister in a non-threatening, non-judgmental way.

Indications of Behavior or Emotional Disturbance in Children:

- Unprovoked aggressive behavior such as starting fights, kicking or biting.
- Hurting animals or smaller children.
- Setting fires.
- Stealing.
- Prolonged feelings of sadness and being unable to express the cause.
- Bed wetting or underwear soiling.
- Inability to sit still and focus attention.
- Threatening to hurt oneself or actual self-injurious behaviors such as cutting oneself or head banging.

Duke Adamson reminds everyone to eat healthy and right.

Nutrition knowledge fuels his plans

By LAGY BOWEN
Herald People Editor

SANFORD — In many ways W.E. "Duke" Adamson is a multi-faceted artist and sculptor.

He is carving a niche in the food industry with his business, Rich Plan, the oldest frozen food company in the country.

He has molded a vast array of knowledge about food and nutrition into cookbooks and seminars through which he paints a picture of glowing health through proper diet.

And he has chiseled 50 pounds off his own now taut frame using his knowledge of nutrition and the gym assembled in his barn.

Adamson is opinionated about the food that fuels Americans' bodies.

"We're in trouble. We're feeding our kids death," he emphatically said.

Adamson spewing facts and figures about food, pointed out that television has contributed to fattening up Americans. From birth to age 18, children view 20,000 food commercials, he said.

"And 80 percent of those products have no nutritional value," he added. "Kids used to play hard and run outdoors, which was their exercise. Now they watch TV. And there's a lot of money spent selling fat to these kids. Fast food concerns spend $1 billion dollars a year in TV advertising. Is it any wonder that one-third of American youth have cholesterol levels as high as middle aged men?" he said.

Adamson admitted he is a gourmet chef with an appetite for fine food, but in recent years he said he had to rethink the toll rich, fatty meals had taken on his body.

"High fat means high blood pressure. Obesity causes cancer and high cholesterol promotes heart disease. Heart attacks are a manmade disease that just started showing up in this century. We may be living longer lives, but not lives of the highest quality. I'm aiming for a long healthy life," he said.

In keeping with his new philosophy, Adamson's company recently introduced a healthy line of low fat, low cholesterol, low calorie items, geared for the health conscious adult, with a philosophy similar to his.

"I know I want to eat wholesome, unadulterated food," he said.

Adamson said he has studied nutrition extensively, and although he is not a nutritionist, he is a recognized lecturer on the subject, a proponent of public education that allows the consumer to make an intelligent decision about food.

He often speaks on topics that include fast foods, product labeling, and fresh versus frozen packaging.

He said he has made one major change in his diet since losing 50 pounds.

"I eat my own food," he explained.

Adamson, always the gourmet, is a Chevalier de Champagne, knighted by the prestigious Ordre Des Coteaux De Champagne, in France. When he's not carving a niche for his business, perfecting his low fat stir fry recipes or listening to motivational tapes while he drives to "make time count," he might just be sketching his dog, Scooter, on a tattered scrap of paper, just like any other multi-faceted artist.

WEDDING

Mr. and Mrs. Sean Mahany

Lee, Mahany wed in Sanford ceremony

SANFORD — Patricia Anne Lee and Sean Altick Mahany were married June 29, 1991, 7 p.m., at All Souls Catholic Church, Sanford. Father Thomas Burns officiated at the formal ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Harry Lee Jr. of Sanford and the late Mr. Harry Lee Jr. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. William Juby of Sanford and the late retired U.S.N. Walter Harry Mahany.

Given in marriage by her brother, Thomas Joseph Lee, the bride chose for her vows a formal gown of white slipper satin embellished with seed pearls and insets of French lace. The bodice featured a sweetheart neckline and short, puffed sleeves. The chapel-length train was edged with ruffles and lace. Her fingertip veil was held in a satin band of roses and pearls. She carried a cathedral cascade of variegated English ivy, bridal white roses, white lilies, white stephanotis, lily of the valley and dendrobium orchids in the center.

The bride wore an antique heirloom necklace of mother of pearl medallions covered in seed pearls with earrings to match.

Sandra Wilkes of Sanford served the bride as matron of honor. She wore a full-length lavender gown of polished cotton and a headpiece of white and lavender miniature roses. She carried a cascading bouquet of green ivy, miniature lavender roses, white carnations and white dendrobium orchids.

Maid of honor was Peggy Jo Dione of Orlando. She wore a full-length cornflower blue polished cotton gown with elbow-length puffed sleeves. The gown featured a pointed bodice cut low in back with a large bow at the waist. She wore a headpiece of white and pink roses and carried a cascading bouquet of green ivy, miniature pink roses, white carnations and white dendrobium orchids.

Bridesmaids were Joanne Gates, Sanford; Joyce Coberly, Sanford; Marina Nice, Winter Park and sister of the groom, Debra Ann Mahany of Sanford. They wore identical gowns to the honor attendants except they were pastel floral prints. They carried cascades of green ivy, miniature pink roses and white carnations and white dendrobium orchids.

The groom's stepfather, William Juby of Sanford, served as best man.

Ushers were Scott Arnett, Sanford; Bert Nelson, Orlando; Loren Williams, Sanford; and brothers of the groom, Michael and Walter Mahany, both of Sanford.

Flower girls were Stephanie Feibelman of Lake Mary and Ann Louise Sandefur, Longwood. Ring bearer was Conner Williams of Sanford.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the Timacuan Country Club, Lake Mary. Assistant for the bride's book was Mrs. Laurence Vallero of Sanford. Dr. Joan Chen of Gainesville and Mrs. Michael Mahany of Sanford assisted in serving the wedding cake.

After a wedding trip to eastern Virginia and Key West, the newlyweds are making their home in Sanford. The bridegroom is in the U.S. Navy and the bride was until recently employed as a veterinary technician.

Teachers bond across an ocean

A couple from Great Britain, Jenny and John Porteous, have returned to their homeland after visiting Sanford and other Florida points where they participated in an educational "shadowing" program.

During the first week of school, the couple visited Geneva Elementary School where Jenny "shadowed" Louise Blackwelder, a second-grade teacher, her American counterpart in the program. The Porteouses visited area attractions, toured Kennedy Space Center and went canoeing on the Wekiva River during their three weeks in the area. Louise's husband, Erl, introduced the British couple to Florida cuisine such as barbecue on the outside grill which they loved.

The British visitors were greatly impressed with Kennedy Space Center and went to their first drive-in theater where they saw "Robin Hood" for a real thrill.

The friendship between Louise and Jenny began during the summer when Louise and several teachers traveled to Great Britain to take part in the "shadowing" program. Louise spent three weeks with Jenny at her elementary school in the Hull area in Yorkshire. They lived together, worked together, exchanged ideas and became devoted friends. Louise says that the "similarities far outweigh the differences in the school systems."

John is an elementary school principal, so the three educators had some exciting experiences together including a trip to Stratford to attend a Shakespearean play. At the end of the three-week period, Louise was joined by her parents, Edna and Randall Priest of Sanford, for a two-week tour of the British Isles. They visited the ancient Roman-built walled cities of York and Chester in England, Edinburgh in Scotland and Caernarvon Castle in Wales. Edna, an artist, marvelled at the art museum in Edinburgh.

Driving on the left side of the road and shifting gears with her left hand was quite a challenge for the Florida teacher as she drove over the steep mountainous roads and through the breathtakingly beautiful country side. Louise and Erl make their home in Sanford where she grew up and attended local schools. She is also a graduate of Seminole Community College and University of Central Florida.

Several Sanfordites turned out for the 1991 Central Florida Home and Garden Show last weekend at the Orange County Civic Center and several others were exhibitors in the exciting show.

Poets to convene
According to Joyce Mikkola, chapter president, the First Florida Poets will host the annual convention of the Florida State Poets Association at the DeLand Hilton Sept. 27 and 28. Others from Sanford belonging to the organization are: Mildred Caskey, Elaine Vien and Beatrice Buck. Joyce, also the convention chairman, says she expects poets from all over the state including the state president, Virginia Martin, a member of the Deltona Lakes Poets. The state association has 18 chapters and is a member of the National Federation of State Poetry Societies.

A highlight of the convention will be the presentation of awards for winners in the 1991 Florida State Poetry Competition. There were 22 different contests open to poets all over the United States. More than 66 cash prizes and certificates will be awarded.

First Florida Poets is the founding chapter of the state association. The chapter holds meetings and workshops at the DeLand Public Library, at 10 a.m., every Monday.

Show plugs Sanford
Several Sanfordites turned out for the 1991 Central Florida Home and Garden Show last weekend at the Orange County Civic Center and several others were exhibitors in the exciting show.

Katie Clements was holding down the booth representing the Rivership Grand Romance. Katie was telling patrons all about the big luxury liner docked in Sanford.

A few steps from Katie's exhibit, two cuties were observed cooking up a storm. Patty Adamson and Belinda Dyal donned chefs' aprons to whip up and serve some of the Rich Plan's fine cuisine.

Supervising the obviously smooth-running operation was "Mr. Rich" himself, W.E. "Duke" Adamson who has slimmed down considerably.

Incidentally, during the quite interesting 3-day show, Duke presented several seminars on "Why Do You Think They Call It Junk Food?"

Home becomes a concert hall

Those sweet sonatas of Mozart and Scarlatti have been played from Moscow to Paris by concert pianist Hugh McGinnis, but a recent visit to Seminole County found him serenading longtime friends Marcel and Dolly Snyder, with whom he became acquainted in 1955 when he played at the American Church of Paris.

The Snyders host McGinnis every year, treating friends and neighbors to the festive concert, performed on a lustrous German Steinway Grand the Snyders have cherished since Marcel was an Air Force officer in Frankfurt. He also worked for the state department as a Foreign Service officer in Paris and in Moscow.

"When I was stationed in Moscow, Hugh played at the ambassador's residence. He hasn't played just one concert hall either. Like us, Hugh has worked all over the world except we weren't able to get him into Africa. He has played in Iran," Marcel said.

Marcel said he has worked on every continent except the Antarctic, a place he said he aspires to visit. He has been married "to my beautiful young lady, Dolly, for 43 years," he conspiratorially said. "Don't tell her I said that, or her head will swell," he joked.

Dolly served her guests homemade brandied ice cream, also a tradition of the event. Hugh performed four sonatas by Scarlatti, Mozart's Sonata No. 5, two impromptus by Schubert and Rondo Capriccioso, Opus 14 by Mendelssohn.

"We always enjoy Hugh's company and entertainment," Dolly said.

Guests enjoyed the concert so much that Hugh continued to play after he had exhausted the selections on the program.

"He played and played again, adding some Chopin and Bizet," Marcel said. "We feel everyone enjoyed themselves."

Attending the concert were: John and Helmy Deutschlander, Tim and Susan Dolan, Mary Ann Egbert, John and Julie Gaudette, Dick and Barbara Johnson, Lauren Johnson, Bill and Louise Martin, Nant and Francisco Richardson and son Francisco Jr., Paul and Judy Welch, Joyce Whittenberger, John and Susan Witty and Justin Witty.

Garden club gears up

The South Seminole Garden Club will hold the first meeting of the 1991-92 year on Monday, Sept. 16, 1 p.m. at the Longwood Civic League Clubhouse, 150 W. Church Ave., Longwood.

The program, "African Violets," will be presented by Alyce Droge, owner of Florals of Fredericks, Maitland.

Hostesses will be: Doreene Fish, Emilly Green and Bertha Mathews.

New officers presiding are: Louise Buffalo, president; Florence Wagner, vice president; Marion White, recording secretary; Gertrude Hillman, corresponding secretary; Doreene Fish, treasurer and Emilly Whalton, parliamentarian.

Watch them grow

The Longwood Jr. Woman's Club is "all gung-ho and ready to do things," according to member Lynne Breckon. The ladies met September 9 to elect committee chairmen, in preparation for electing officers in the near future.

YOUR BIRTHDAY

Sept. 15, 1991

Be alert for bigger and better breaks where your career is concerned in the year ahead. It might be wise to begin to prep yourself now for a top spot, even though it may be several rungs up the ladder.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Being too self-involved today could prove to be counterproductive. You may worry so much about the impression you'll make that the actions you'll take will be ineffective. Virgo, treat yourself to a birthday gift. Send for Virgo's Astro-Graph predictions for the year ahead by mailing $1.25 plus a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to Astro-Graph, c/o this newspaper, P.O. Box 91428, Cleveland, OH 44101-3428. Be sure to state your zodiac sign.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) You might be torn between a responsibility and something you'd really like to do today. Find a happy medium, because you won't be at ease with either extreme.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) It might be prudent to play things close to the vest financially today. Your extravagant impulses are stirring, and discipline will be required.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Try to operate within areas where you feel safe and comfortable today, both in social and business settings. If you venture into uncharted waters, you might have to swim among the sharks.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Those you're closely involved with today may be more generous toward you than you are toward them. If you give as well as take, you'll like the face in your mirror a whole lot better.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Keep a tight rein on expenses related to leisure or non-essential activities today. The best things in life aren't measured by their price tags.

YOUR BIRTHDAY

Sept. 16, 1991

The year ahead is not likely to be run-of-the-mill for you. Numerous exciting events could be in the offing, of which most should be beneficial.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Individuals you have a good rapport with socially could be of more help than usual at this time in other areas of your life, especially where business is concerned.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) In situations or developments that affect your personal interests today, it is best to indirectly manage matters rather than assume direct control. A proper hint here and there will do the trick.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) This is a good time to initiate new projects or endeavors, especially if they are of a unique or unusual nature. Progress belongs to the bold pioneer.

Answer to Previous Puzzle

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Try to keep an open mind today and be receptive to sound suggestions, regardless of who is the author. Just because you dislike certain people doesn't mean their ideas are bad.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) If you base your expectations on an unrealistic premise today, you're likely to be disappointed. Be mindful of the odds: The long-shot odds are high because their chances are low.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Making an important decision today in order to appease another could create complications for both parties. First, to thine own self be true.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Things may still work out for you today in spite of the fact that you'll fail to use the best methods available to accomplish your goals. Nevertheless, this is not a smart way to run your show.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Draw a definite line of demarcation between your business and social activities today. If you try to turn a fun event into a sales call, you won't like the results.

thing propitious awfully fast. You can expand upon Lady Luck's handwork.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) If you have the proper attitude today, everything you touch should go rather smoothly. It's imperative you think and act like a winner.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Even though your methods might not be easily discerned by others today, they should produce the end results you desire. Unorthodox procedures won't be any less effective.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) You might not be the one who originates new concepts today, but you will be the one who instinctively knows how to make good ideas better. Trade on your talents.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Your financial prospects look quite encouraging, both today and tomorrow. Improving your monetary position should be your area of focus. You should be happy with the results.

In 1986 my friend Dennis Spooner died at 54. Though he began his adult life as a professional soccer player in London, he is much better known as a scriptwriter for television drama series such as Jason King, Hart to Hart, The Avengers, Sting Ray, Thunderbirds — the list goes on and on.

Spooner, who played a sound game of bridge, also wrote an amusing, self-deprecating column called "Diary of a Palooka." Today's hand is taken from one of these.

Look at only the South cards. With both sides vulnerable, you hear the dealer on your left open three clubs. Your partner (who has shown himself to be an overbidder) comes in with three spades, and your right-hand opponent doubles for penalties. What do you do?

Most of us would pass and, in this deal, be relieved to see partner bring home the contract. Some would attempt to show a red two-suiter, either by cue-bidding four clubs or (in kamikaze style) by redoubling, "expecting" partner to treat it as a request to be rescued. Spooner did none of these things — he bid four diamonds. His partner raised to seven diamonds.

After East doubled, North said, as she tabled her hand, "I must have the right cards." As you can see, she did. Spooner ruffed the spade lead, drew trumps with the aid of the winning finesse and established dummy's spade suit.

East was unwise to double three spades. If he had passed, that would probably have been the final contract. But I don't suppose he expected the opponents to bid and make a grand slam when he held two aces.

Billy Graham

America's most successful evangelist on long walk home

By DAVID BRIGGS
Associated Press Writer

NEW YORK — Billy Graham no longer thinks he is going to save America.

Armageddon, he believes, is approaching. And even if it is not, his own mortality will prevent him from reviving a nation where good and evil are growing apace: He will be 73 in November, and his doctor at the Mayo Clinic has promised to keep him going only until he is 75.

"I know that my years are running out," he says.

This month, in the twilight of his remarkable career, Graham returns to New York, the "graveyard of evangelists" he conquered 34 years ago with a 16-week Madison Square Garden run that established him as America's preacher.

More than three decades ago, the prospect of the dairy farmer's son from North Carolina taking on the modern Sodom and Gomorrah — and drawing capacity crowds — caught the national fancy. Tall, broad-shouldered and square-jawed, he was the Kirk Douglas of the evangelical movement.

But when he walked through a Manhattan hotel on a recent morning, no heads turned. He walked haltingly, clinging to a handrail, his features furrowed with pain. He was hobbled by a back problem and jet lag from a trip to the Soviet Union.

Promoters of the New York meeting, set for Sept. 22 in Central Park, say it might draw Graham's largest American audience, upward of 250,000 souls. Graham himself says, "If we have 25,000, it will be a good meeting."

He approaches this latest crusade with enthusiasm, but also with weariness; the burden of carrying a $100 million-a-year evangelistic empire on his increasingly frail shoulders often weighs on him.

Leighton Ford, the brother-in-law who worked for the evangelist for 31 years, said Graham confided to him late one night after a 1985 crusade, "I just wish I could go to heaven."

Graham's legacy?

"Two or three centuries from now, he will be among a few

Billy Graham strikes a pose made familiar in his 40-year career.

names that we remember," said sociologist Jeffrey Hadden of the University of Virginia. "He's clearly a sterling figure in American religious history."

He has become "the most important figure in evangelical Christianity in a half-century," according to William Martin, a sociologist at Rice University who spent five years researching an upcoming biography of Graham.

Billy Sunday was reduced to preaching in small towns at the end of his career. Charles Finney gave up the demanding career of a revivalist to found Oberlin College. Other evangelists' stars rose and fell even more quickly with the changing mood of the country.

But Billy Graham keeps rolling on. The man who once was an intimate of Dwight Eisenhower was the same man George Bush wanted at his side when he announced the nation was going to war in the Middle East.

The man who in 1956 compared the Soviet Union to a gangster set loose to murder and pillage is the same man who granted much-publicized audiences this summer to both Mikhail Gorbachev and Boris Yeltsin.

In the 1950s, he took on communism and complacency. In the 1960s, he reassured evangelicals who despaired in the Age of Aquarius. In the 1970s, he promoted a new way of thinking about the Soviet Union and arms control. In the 1980s, he settled in as an icon of American religiosity.

Throughout, he has been venerated. He has been listed 32 times in Gallup Polls of the world's 10 most admired men, more than any other person.

Again and again, say Martin and Hadden, secular people who are wary of the Jerry Falwells and Pat Robertsons ask, "Tell me why I like him."

For one thing, Martin notes, Graham is a regular guy who can skinny dip with Lyndon Johnson or slip through Playboy at a barber shop without embarrassment.

But he's also an example of clean living. He avoids even the hint of scandal, keeping his office door open when a woman is alone with him and having aides check hotel rooms for uninvited females before he enters.

Early in his career, Graham established pioneering financial controls for his empire. His ministry is run by an independent board of directors. He could make millions from his books, personal appearances and radio, television and film ministries, but he limits himself to a salary of $89,150 a year.

"Graham has rendered evangelical faith legitimate ... in part by being sort of a good guy," Hadden said.

Still, Graham has had to endure his share of critics.

Liberals going back to the Protestant theologian Reinhold Niebuhr have criticized Graham's form of Christianity for relying on emotion and a simplistic view of the Bible, and ignoring social needs in favor of a mass-production approach to gaining converts.

Studies have found Graham's rallies largely preach to the converted. Many of those who answer the call at the end of his crusades have been swayed by techniques such as having the ushers come forward to give the impression there is a groundswell of people committing to Christ.

Two men mentioned as Graham successor

By DAVID BRIGGS
Associated Press Writer

When Billy Graham retires or dies, he will leave behind a $100 million-a-year evangelistic empire that for more than 40 years has been fueled by the drawing power of one man.

The issue facing the Billy Graham Evangelistic Association — which oversees all aspects of Graham's work from the crusades to "The Hour of Decision" radio broadcast — is whether anyone can fill the shoes of America's best-loved evangelist.

"Nothing would please most of us more than to have something like that happen," said E. Brandt Gustavson, executive director of the National Religious Broadcasters. But it is not likely, Gustavson acknowledged.

"The Billy Gramas of this world come along, very often, only once," he said.

Graham, 73, shies away from the question of who will succeed him.

"God will have to choose one. I don't think an evangelist can be made or trained or anything like that," he says.

But when pressed, he mentions two possible successors.

The first is his 39-year-old son, Franklin, director of Samaritan's Purse and World Medical Mission, two mission organizations serving the poor. Graham said his older son also has been preaching as a co-evangelist, and is ready to hold a crusade of his own in Brazil in November.

"He's a powerful speaker," the proud father said in an interview.

William Martin, a sociologist at Rice University who has spent five years preparing a biography of Graham, said Franklin probably has the inside track.

"Clearly, Billy Graham wants Franklin to be his successor," Martin said.

The other candidate mentioned by Graham is Jim Wilson, the son of his longtime right-hand man, T.W. Wilson. The 47-year-old head of the Jim Wilson

Clearly, Billy Graham wants (his son) Franklin to be his successor.

—Biographer W. Martin

Evangelistic Association became a vocational evangelist in 1990 after serving four years as the pastor of First Baptist Church in Orlando, Fla.

While Jim Wilson might be a dark horse, Martin said, "It's extremely difficult to underestimate the importance to Graham of having that trusted circle of old-time friends."

In Martin's numerous interviews with officials and board members of the Graham organization, another name that arose was Luis Palau, a Portland, Ore.-based mass-crusade evangelist that Graham has helped. But his style may be too "flamboyant" for the Graham association, Martin said.

Among the Graham association's associate evangelists in the United States, 57-year-old Ralph S. Bell of Bellevue, Colo., an associate since 1965, appears to best fit the requirements of age and experience.

One former member of the inner circle who does not want to be considered is Leighton Ford, Graham's brother-in-law and the man who was widely thought to be the evangelist's handpicked successor until he apparently got tired of waiting and left after 31 years in 1986 to form his own ministry.

Ford, who now devotes his life to "raising up and training younger evangelist leaders," said he would turn down the job if it was offered.

Leading evangelicals doubt anyone can replace Graham, no matter who winds up heading his enterprises.

"I think it's impossible because there's only one Billy Graham, and when he's gone, he's gone," said the Rev. Billy Melvin, executive director of the National Association of Evangelicals. "God doesn't work in clones."
