Partly cloudy to occasionally cloudy with scattered showers and occasional thunderstorms. Little change in temperature.

Strolling In Sanford

Applications are being accepted for the 1954 Sanford Memorial Hospital School of Nursing. The next pre-entrance testing date will be June 18 and 19.

On a weekend fishing trip to Santee Island with his parents, Dr. and Mrs. A. W. Epps, Jr., Wayne, eight years old, caught an 18-pound snook without any assistance. Also on the fishing trip were Dr. and Mrs. Epps Sr., Mr. and Mrs. John Epps and Marilyn Epps. They stayed at the Island Inn while there.

The Sanford Tourist and Shuffleboard Club will have a covered dish supper tomorrow evening at the club at 6 o'clock. The members will meet at the club Thursday at 6:30 p. m. to go to Orange City for a shuffleboard match.

According to a report received here today from Michigan State College, Dorothy Vollbrecht, 618 Park Ave. has recently received her master's degree in elementary education.

The Seminole High School Band will hold rehearsals throughout the summer months every Tuesday evening from 8 until 9:30 o'clock in the band hall. Navy men, townships and members of the junior high and senior high bands are invited to attend the practices with S.H.S. band Capt. Mickey Durak in charge.

Men and women of the Lutheran Church of the Redeemer yesterday were clearing the site of their new church on W. First St. in the rain.

Ernest Cowley, Seminole High School bandmaster, is one of the instructors at the annual band camp held at the University of Miami.

Suspect Is Held In Kidnap Case

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Daniel J. Marsin, 41, charged with kidnaping the wife of a wealthy industrialist for $75,000, sat silently in jail while officers resumed a search today for the missing ransom money.

Police here in the Superstition Mountains, police believed, were hidden the marked bills paid for Mrs. Evelyn Ann Smith's release by her husband Herbert.

Where in the Superstition foothills were combed by a small force of officers. They worked doggedly, moving small boulders, brush and dirt in the belief the loot had been hidden there.

Two days of hunting failed to turn up any clue. The search today was extended into abandoned mine shafts.

Police also were hunting a rifle, pistol and a pair of binoculars, which the Smiths said they had seen the kidnaper use.

There were other unanswered questions. Mrs. Smith said she overheard a second man after being locked in the trunk of her car. She said he discussed killing her. When she arrived at the Superstition late Wednesday night, she said only one masked kidnaper was with her.

Investigating officers, who had hidden along the road to the payoff spot to which Smith had been ordered, asked openly why Smith drove his wife back to Phoenix without stopping to report that she was safe.

It delayed the search for the kidnaper by more than two hours, one officer said.

A. P. Kyle, 67, Dies In Orlando Hospital

A. P. Kyle, 67, died early yesterday morning in an Orlando hospital following a lingering illness.

Born July 15, 1886, in Springfield, Ohio, he came to Sanford about a year ago and made his home with Mrs. Kyle at 2209 Magnolia Ave. They came here from Canton, Ohio.

Survivors include the widow and a stepdaughter, Mrs. H. L. Moore of Sanford; and one stepson, W. K. Hoyt, of West Palm Beach. Services will be held at the Brisbane Funeral Home tomorrow at 10:00 a. m. with Rev. A. G. McInnis officiating and burial will be in Evergreen Cemetery. The family has asked that flowers be omitted.

Youth Seriously Hurt In Truck-Car Crash

Vehicles Catch Fire Following Collision Saturday West Of City

A 19-year-old Sanford resident was in "fair" condition early this afternoon at the Orange Memorial Hospital, Orlando, according to a hospital spokesman, after suffering serious injuries in a flaming truck-automobile wreck Saturday afternoon.

According to trooper R. D. Harrison of the Highway Patrol who covered the accident, the youth, Robert James Ingram Jr., 19, 2416 Palmetto Ave., suffered a shattered right thigh, second degree burns over his entire right arm and lacerations about the head, and a lacerated right elbow, as results of the crash.

Ingram ran into a tractor-trailer rig driven by Louis James Harrison, 27, Sorrento, on State Road 46, three miles west of Sanford, at 4 p. m.

Harrison, the trooper said, was attempting to make a left turn into the old Lake Monroe road after having driven east on State Road 46, when Ingram, driving a 1949 Chevrolet coupe, crashed into the truck at the saddle, gasoline tanks. A fire resulted, which was pulled from his flaming car by the truck driver.

Previously, according to the state trooper, Ingram had been following behind a car driven by Charles Holland, Paola, which was behind the truck.

Ingram was taken to the Fernald Loughton Memorial Hospital where he was given emergency treatment before being taken to the Orlando hospital. The truck driver was not injured.

Charges will be filed against the injured motorist, Trooper Harrison said.

Damage to the truck was set at $2,500 and to the car, $600, which was designated as a total loss, according to Trooper Harrison.

Mendes-France Agrees To Try Forming Cabinet

PARIS (AP) — Mendes-France agreed today to try to form France's 20th postwar Cabinet.

Many political figures doubted whether the 47-year-old economic and financial expert could get a majority in the divided National Assembly to go along with his policy, which calls for cutting down expenditures in Indochina and slowing down France's military buildup in Europe.

Mendes-France was nominated last night by President Rene Coty to succeed retiring Premier Joseph Laniel, defeated Saturday in a National Assembly confidence vote. The President also accepted Laniel's resignation.

Mendes-France is a leader of the Assembly's Radical Socialist (moderate) bloc, which was credited with bringing down the Laniel government. Following a normal procedure, he was the first person called on to try to form a replacement.

Coty delayed accepting Laniel's resignation for a day. It was believed he did not want France to be without a government over the weekend in the event of a crisis.

Mendes-France's acceptance was announced a few minutes after he called on the President today at the Elysee Palace (France's White House). He had conferred with Coty at length last night on the political situation.

The new Premier designate now must consult various party leaders in an attempt to rally sufficient support to ensure his confirmation by the Assembly. He failed by 13 votes to gain confirmation as premier during last summer's 37-day government crisis. That crisis was finally resolved by the selection of Laniel, who served just two weeks short of a year.

Two More Added To Teachers' List

The names of two more teachers have been added to the list of vacancies in the County schools, according to the report.

Friday, it was reported that 14 teachers' resignations had been accepted by the County Board of Education. Superintendent Milwee stated that he does not believe the school system will have much trouble filling the vacancies by next semester.

It was also reported that Miss Henna G. Nunnally had moved from her position as a teacher at Sanford Grammar School to that of itinerant music instructor.

Lightning Cause Of Small Blaze

The Sanford fire department reported a small fire in a residence at 701 Willow Ave. Sunday.

According to Fire Chief Mark Cleveland, the fire was caused by lightning striking wires leading to an electric stove in the residence. A short circuit caused the small blaze, which was extinguished in a matter of seconds after arrival of the fire department, according to the chief.

Damages are considered light.

19-Year-Old Boy Waits In Vain For Rifle Duel

ELGIN, Ill. (AP) — A 19-year-old boy waiting in vain for two days for another youth to show up for a duel with 22 rifles was seized yesterday by a posse formed in the belief the duel was on.

The challenger, the South Elgin police chief, Cliff Pacy, said took a few potatoes at encircled officers, in William Frenchack. Pacy said Frenchack gave up meekly when the posse closed in. He hadn't slept or slept during his vigil.

Pacy said Frenchack told of quarreling with Larry Snow, 20, over the Elgin Thursday night and issuing a challenge for a duel with rifles at a gravel pit at South Elgin.

"You stand at one end and I'll stand at the other and only one will leave," Frenchack was quoted.

Frenchack went to the pit with rifle and ammunition Friday night.

Police got into the case when they found Frenchack's car near the gravel pit and road a door attached to the windshield.

Snow to fire three shots when he reached the pit and was ready to duel.

Snow? He told police he thought it was just a joke and went swimming instead.

FROM SEA TO SHINING SEA

The 13 stripes of the flag were designed by George Meade, a Revolutionary War general. The stars were designed by Francis Pickens, a South Carolina politician.

The flag was first flown on September 17, 1776, at the Battle of the Clouds, near Lancaster, Pennsylvania.

First Official American Flag Displayed On Jan. 1, 1776

The first official American flag, the Continental or Grand Union flag, was displayed on Prospect Hill Jan. 1, 1776, in the American lines besieging Boston.

The flag had thirteen alternate red and white stripes, with the British Union Jack in the upper left corner.

On June 14, 1777, the Continental Congress adopted the design for a new flag, which actually was the Continental flag with the red cross of St. Andrew replaced on the blue field by thirteen stars, one for each state.

No rule was made as to the arrangement of the stars, and while they were usually shown in a circle, there were various other designs. It is uncertain when the new flag was first flown, but its first official announcement is believed to have been on Sept. 3, 1777.

The first public assertion that Betsy Ross made the first Stars and Stripes appeared in a paper read before the Historical Society of Pennsylvania on March 14, 1776, by William J. Canby, a grandson. However, Mr. Canby no later in 1877.

Collins Spends $371,624 To Win

TALLAHASSEE (AP) — State Sen. Lefly Collins spent $371,624 to win the Democratic nomination for governor of Florida, a final report on his primary campaign spending showed today.

Spencer Burgess, state campaign treasurer for the Democratic nominee, listed final expenditures of $12,126 to the secretary of state to wind up reports of Collins' campaign spending.

New contributions of $1,265 were reported to bring the total received by Collins from his supporters to $371,624.

The unexpended balance of $4,961 in the Collins campaign fund has been transferred to a headquarters account, Burgess reported. The Democratic nominee must face the formality of a November general election first against Republican nominee J. Tom Watson of Tampa but no Republican has been elected governor since Reconstruction days.

Acting Gov. Charles J. Johns, whom Collins defeated by 62,000 votes in the Democratic runoff primary May 25, reported campaign expenditures of $374,313 and total contributions of $375,972.

Report Two Thefts To Sanford Police

City police today reported two thefts over the weekend.

A fishing rod and reel was stolen from the automobile of Howard Lloyd while parked in front of the Lloyd Theater Saturday afternoon.

Lloyd stated that he had left the car unlocked while he drank a cup of coffee at Touche's Drug Store. When he returned the fishing equipment was missing.

The rod and reel was valued at approximately $15. No traces of either the thief or equipment has been found by local police at this time.

The second theft involved a pocketbook owned by Otha Williams, a local Negro. No trace has been found of the pocketbook, which contained an unspecified amount of money.

JOHNS SPENDS $374,313. Acting Gov. Charles J. Johns, whom Collins defeated by 62,000 votes in the Democratic runoff primary May 25, reported campaign expenditures of $374,313 and total contributions of $375,972.

Early Reports Show Success Of Old Slaying

Tampa Resident Held In Probe Of Old Slaying

BARTOW (AP) — A Tampa Negro was held today for questioning about his activities in the 22-year-old Joe H. Deal slaying.

John Peoples, 44, was arrested in Tampa Saturday and brought to Polk County jail.

Sheriff Pat Gordon said Peoples was employed at the time of the Deal slaying by Emmett Donnelly, a Lake Wales lawyer who figured prominently in that case.

Donnelly and Deal, a former mayor of Lake Wales, were law associates. Donnelly had a $25,000 double indemnity life insurance policy on Deal's life.

After Deal was shot to death, Donnelly was charged with being an accessory before the fact but the charge was dropped when a state jury refused to indict him. The insurance company paid the claim.

Last week Donnelly said he was charged with comparing to murder three wealthy clients to get a free hand in handling their estates and shot himself to death.

Sheriff Gordon said Donnelly reportedly made some remarks about the unsolved Deal case recently which might have referred to Peoples and that Peoples had seemed unduly disturbed about developments in the new investigation.

Permits Rise To About 142. Three building permits were given at the City Hall over the weekend bringing the city total to approximately 142 for this fiscal year.

F. R. Ashburn of 407 Summerlin Ave. received a permit to repair the front porch of his home. Approximate cost of the work was placed at $200, according to the report. He will do the work himself.

H. E. Seaburg received a permit to replace the roof of his home. An approximate cost of $150 was set for the project. Seaburg, who lives at 804 Magnolia Ave., will also do his own work.

Mrs. G. H. Carlton of 615 Park Ave. was given a permit to repair her porch. Costs for the repairs were approximated at $100.

Two Hurt When Vehicle Overturns

An automobile driven by a Sanford laborer overturned Saturday night and slid on its side for approximately 72 feet before coming to a stop, according to police.

The car, a 1947 Chevrolet, was driven by Zeke Southward, a 32-year-old Negro, who was arrested on a charge of "drunk while driving."

Two passengers were injured when the car flipped over on Melbourne Ave. Stonewall Jackson and Eddie Black were taken to Fernald Loughton Memorial Hospital for treatment of superficial injuries, according to the report.

1954 Hurricane Season To Open

MIAMI (AP) — The hurricane season opens officially tomorrow.

Twenty-eight Navy "Hurricane Hunter" pilots are ready to start patrolling hurricane breeding places in the Atlantic Ocean and the Caribbean Sea.

The "season" will last until Nov. 15.

All but six of the 28 pilots are veterans of the 1953 season during which the planes flew into six full-fledged hurricanes and eight smaller storms.

They have been going through intensive training in Jackson ville, using one-way radio Neptune planes, the Neptune planes used previously but has replaced by the newer equipment for tracking hurricanes.

Two tropical storms hit Florida in 1953 but neither was big enough to cause much damage. One crossed the state from Palm Beach to Melbourne and the other moved toward the Panama City area. Miami hasn't seen a hurricane since 1940.

Assailant Of Oviedo Persons Sentenced In Circuit Court

Willie Caraway, a 25-year-old Oviedo orange picker who shot two residents of Oviedo last April, Friday afternoon was sentenced to 40 years in prison on two counts of assault, one specified as being with intent to murder. Each count carried the maximum penalty of 20 years.

Judge M. B. Smith was on the bench Friday in circuit court.

The Negro, who was captured after a short, but intensive search involving city, county and state law enforcement officers, and civilians, was accused of having shot his estranged wife, and John Courier, 39-year-old sales manager of the Eyles Vegetable Co., Oviedo.

The attacker shot Courier in the home of their former neighbors, 4100 E. 10th St., Oviedo, where he had gone with a letter addressed to Courier's wife.

The killing, which today reported as well on the radio, occurred in Manhattan, one in downtown Brooklyn and one in the Bronx. Each was supposed to be eight times as powerful as the one that demolished I. H. Hoover's.

New York's death toll was put at 2,175.

The event began with a "velvet" Lennon funeral signal giving off a second night an hour's notice of impending disaster.

'Booster' Pages To Appear Weekly In Sanford Herald

The first in a series of 11 "booster" pages will start in the Sanford Herald on Wednesday. It is made possible through the support of the Sanford Merchants Association and the Chamber of Commerce because they realize that money spent in Sanford works for you in Sanford.

These pages which were prepared by Joe Ledford of Clearwater, representing Hallmark Associates, are not mere signature pages. Each week the theme and pictures are changed with the small picture of business in Sanford presented in a different manner.

Citizens of Sanford are interested in the growth and success of the community. The payroll in Sanford to which it is spent with the town which it is spent with the merchants and business people.

The Herald believes that if local buyers will look at home they will be confirmed "buyers at home."

RESOLUTIONS OF BOARD OF COUNTY COMMISSIONERS, SEMINOLE COUNTY, FLORIDA

WHEREAS, on the 30th day of May, A. D. 1955, Almighty God called to his last reward Senator Lloyd F. Boyle, Attorney for the Board of County Commissioners of Seminole County, Florida, and

WHEREAS, Senator Boyle came to the State of Florida, after distinguished service as an outstanding soldier in the United States Army, serving in the American Expeditionary Forces in Europe during World War I, and

WHEREAS, after Senator Boyle was separated from the United States Army, he attended Rollins College and Nelson University and had the singular honor as serving as Captain of the football team at both institutions, and

WHEREAS, after his graduation from the Law College at Nelson University at Nelson, Florida, Senator Boyle established his law offices in Sanford, Seminole County, Florida, to serve the people of his city and county, and

WHEREAS, during his entire residence in the City of Sanford, Seminole County, Florida, Senator Boyle has unselfishly given of his time, energy and talent in his all too brief years on this earth toward the building of a greater city and county, and

WHEREAS, he won great respect for his tenacity and courage as a State's Attorney and Assistant State's Attorney for the Ninth Judicial Circuit, and

WHEREAS, the said Lloyd F. Boyle has served faithfully and diligently as the Attorney for the Board of County Commissioners of Seminole County, Florida, since 1944, and

WHEREAS, by his active membership in the Presbyterian Church, Shrine, Masonic Order, Elks, American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars, Woodmen of the World, and as a member of the Civil Service Board of the City of Sanford, he has shown a genuine interest in civic, religious and cultural affairs of his city and county, and

WHEREAS, the people of the 5th Senatorial District of the State of Florida, realizing the great contributions and outstanding personality of Lloyd F. Boyle, in the year 1914, elected him to the State Senate, which office he was holding at the time of his untimely death, and

WHEREAS, the Board of County Commissioners has lost an outstanding, valued, and active friend and Attorney for said Board who, in spite of his ill condition, persisted in carrying forth his duties as said Attorney at the time he was stricken with his last attack,

THEREFORE, BE IT HEREBY RESOLVED BY THE BOARD OF COUNTY COMMISSIONERS OF SEMINOLE COUNTY, FLORIDA, in session regularly assembled, that said Board of County Commissioners hereby recognizes the faithful and contributing public service of the said Lloyd F. Boyle in the City of Sanford, to the County of Seminole, and to the State of Florida, and hereby expresses the gratitude of the people of the County of Seminole, for the service of Lloyd F. Boyle as a faithful servant to his city, county, and state.

AND BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that a copy of this Resolution be spread upon the minutes of the Board of County Commissioners of Seminole County, Florida, and that a copy thereof be furnished to the local press, and that a copy thereof be furnished to the family of the said Lloyd F. Boyle.

ADOPTED this 8th day of June, A. D. 1955.

CLOVER GROWS WELL

PORT MYERS, Fla.—Lee County Agent C. P. Heuck reports that clover plantings have done exceptionally well this spring due to ample rainfall. These pastures have provided much additional supplemental feed and cattlemen are well pleased with the results. While alfalfa has been cut for hay several times, wet weather has been disappointing to alfalfa growers.

With a limited amount of cash, the average farm woodland owner can provide himself with a supply of boards, dimension stock and other lumber needed for repairs and construction of new buildings.

A light that never fails...

Midnight on Main Street in a thousand cities and towns—and a light in the telephone exchange burns brightly. It never fails. It is a symbol of round-the-clock service to homes, farms and businesses.

Whatever the need or the hour, your telephone is always ready to serve you—quickly, dependably, and at small cost. Its very presence gives a feeling of security and peace to everyone.

American Flag Symbol Of Hope To Oppressed Peoples Of World

Today is Flag Day. In the far-flung corners of the world today, the American flag is a symbol of hope and protection to peoples oppressed by tyranny, while to their tormentors, it is a sign of danger to their bloody regimes.

Down through the years of our history, this situation has been repeated. During these years, the American people have always stood as an example of freedom and fair-play.

Our station in the world wasn't easily attained. From the inception of our country, from the time our flag contained 13 stars in a circle, men have worked, fought and died to add the stars to our flag and to keep it safe.

We are again in perilous times. Let all of us do our best to keep our flag waving "over the land of the free and the home of the brave."

There is the catch. Texans are very proud of residing in the largest state of the Union, and even prouder of their traditions. It was asked when division was suggested, "How can you divide the glory of the Alamo?"

Glory is usually indivisible. All Americans share in the Alamo. But competence of administration is not related to glory, and Texas might be quite as glorious if easier to administer in three or four smaller units. Alaska, likewise, has separate and different problems within its borders. Dividing it might make many of them easier to solve.

France, for example, is engaged in a life-or-death battle in Indo-China. There are many in France, the anti-American faction and the extreme left wing in particular, who would like to see France abandon that fight. The threat that we may cut off aid to France is a poor way to support those who want to see their country take its place beside the United States in standing fast against Communism.

Alaska as a whole may have had stalling in its attempt to gain statehood, but part of it might have better luck. A project to divide Alaska into two parts, admitting the more populous portion into the Union and deferring the rest, has been suggested, and has been mentioned by President Eisenhower as a possibility. Alaskans themselves probably would not think well of the idea, though it has been proposed by their own territorial governor, H. Frank Heintzleman.

The division of this huge territory recalls that the same possibility was once envisioned for Texas. The treaty by which Texas was admitted to the Union over a century ago provided that it might be divided into several states if Texas herself

General Has New Supply Problem

Wiesbaden, Germany (AP)—The men who organized the Berlin and Korean airlifts have a new supply problem now—finding schoolteachers.

Practically every community school board in America shares the plight of Lt. Gen. William H. Tunner, commander of the rapidly growing United States Air Forces in Europe.

"One of our big problems is getting schoolteachers over here," said the big, graying, 47-year-old officer, who is responsible for the air protection of 33 countries in Europe.

"We now have 11,000 dependent children in school in our area, and next semester we will have 15,000. That means we require 500 teachers for some 31 elementary and eight high schools in this command. They aren't easy to find."

Any adventurous girl back home with a teaching diploma and a warning for foreign travel will find a sympathetic listener in the general's office.

His USAFE command has grown from 11,000 men in the spring of 1950 to 60,000. It now represents a fifth of the entire American Air Force, and its basic mission is to guard the skies over an area of 17 million square miles, nearly six times the size of the United States.

On the ground, the command of 100,000 men has a budget of $1.5 billion. Gen. Tunner's command is the largest in the world.

On the ground, the command of 100,000 men has a budget of $1.5 billion. Gen. Tunner's command is the largest in the world.

the accuracy of this estimate if zero hour ever comes. But Tunner isn't a general whose career has been marked by life complacency.

"I don't feel we underestimate the capability of any possible enemy," he observed dryly in a briefing delivered to 45 former war correspondents who are making a tour of European danger zones.

His command has no strategic bombers now needed on vulnerable bases of continental Europe (last, and it has pulled all but two of its tactical air units back west of the Rhine).

It also is engaged in the gigantic task of ferrying millions of tons of valuable war material back from dumps east of the Rhine to great depots deep in France, thus lessening the possibility of losing them to surprise enemy ground and air blows.

But operating a huge air force is a much more complex job than just getting airplanes and training men to fly them.

Bases have to be built. Housing, educational, entertainment and recreational facilities must be provided to keep up the morale of American airmen and their families.

Over all hangs the endless task that faces even the simplest household—the best way to spend the available money wisely—or, as Tunner puts it: "The challenge is to get the most out of what we've got."

The general is noted as a thrifty spender. He has a modest home, a few cars and a few planes. He has moved his headquarters out of the great buildings in the center of Wiesbaden and into an old German army barracks on the outskirts of the city. The cost of modernizing the barracks was paid by the German government.

Housing has been a recurrent headache. Some 11,000 additional housing units are badly needed. Tunner is trying to solve this by encouraging private builders in each country to erect dwelling areas near new airfields. In return he guarantees them 50 per cent rental occupancy for at least five years.

This attempt to save the American taxpayer construction costs has run into some snags, particularly in France. Because the airfields are usually not in the country far from settled areas, private builders have been reluctant to invest their capital. As an emergency measure Tunner is providing low cost portable trailer camps.

He also hopes to send 10,000 U.S. airmen home this year through a "native son policy" of hiring foreign civilian skilled and semi-skilled workmen. It costs about $4,500 a year to support an American airman abroad, compared to $1,100 for a native.

Tunner feels that reasonable expenditures in the field of morale and welfare are an equally good investment.

"We don't believe in pampering our men with luxuries," said a headquarters spokesman. "But it costs $1,000 to replace a trained American Airman. So we feel it pays to keep him happy in the service."

SWISS STEAK

Veterans Corner

Here are authoritative answers from the Veterans Administration to four questions presented by former servicemen and their families.

Q: I enrolled in a correspondence course under the Korean GI Bill, what will VA consider as the official start of the course—the date I receive my first lesson, or the date I complete it? I want to know because I have to get started before the August 30 GI cut-off date.

A: Your correspondence course will officially begin when the school transmits its first lesson to you.

Q: I understand that I'm allowed to suspend Korean GI Bill training for 12 straight months after my starting cut-off date. What happens if circumstances arise that force me to suspend for longer than 12 months? Will I be able to get back in training afterwards?

A: To get back in training, you will have to show VA that the suspension in excess of 12 consecutive months was due to reasons beyond your control. If VA approves your suspension, you will be permitted to resume your course.

Q: I've just been discharged from the armed forces. Do I have to begin training under the Korean GI Bill by this coming August 30?

A: No. Veterans who must start training by August 30, 1954, are those who were released from service on or before August 20, 1952. Veterans separated after that date have two years from their separation date in which to begin Korean GI Bill training.

Q: Under the Korean GI Bill, I'm allowed to make one change of course. Will I still be permitted to make this one-and-only change after my starting cut-off date?

A: After the cut-off date, you will be allowed to change your course only if the change you want is a normal progression from the one you're now taking, or (2) you haven't been making satisfactory progress in your present course, due to no fault of your own, and vocational counseling indicates you'd do better in some other course more in keeping with your aptitudes and abilities.

SAM DAWSON

By ARTHUR MERRINS
(For Sam Dawson)

NEW YORK (AP)—Anybody who has ever invested in American enterprise via the stock market probably has been prompted to make "bullish" or "bearish" predictions.

But ask him about the bond market and his response is likely to be "huh."

Most people would be amazed to learn how intimately their lives are tied to fluctuations in the bond market. Few guess that bond interest changes usually affect them far more than stock variations.

A housewife who discovers that her gas, electric or telephone rates have just been increased seldom realizes that the utility company which posted a new bond issue at high interest rates, is passing those increased borrowing costs on to her, the consumer.

The man who refused a mortgage on his home by his banker is unaware that the bank's funds may already be heavily invested in high yielding bonds which are considered more secure than his home mortgage might be.

Different from a stock, which represents ownership in a business, a bond is simply a loan, a promise to return the full amount of a borrowed sum plus interest in a fixed number of years. When you buy a series "E" or "H" savings bond, for example, you lend the U.S. government your surplus cash for nine years and eight months. And you charge Uncle Sam 3 per cent interest for its use.

But savings bonds, which never change in face value and are not transferable, are not considered part of the "bond market." Only debt certificates which can legally change hands, hence rise or fall in value, are legitimate segments of the bond market. These include marketable government securities, corporate bonds, state and municipal obligations and foreign dollar bonds.

The fundamental barometer of interest rates throughout the country are marketable government bonds, issued by the Treasury. If a U.S. note sells at a discount, that's a similar municipal obligation must sell at a greater discount, a corporate bond at a still greater discount. When you make a personal loan, under these conditions, the borrowing costs are apt to be extremely high.

The logic of the bond market results from the fact that the government bond is a nation's most secure investment. That's because it is backed by all the resources a country possesses. Any other form of debt is of less merit than the

JAMES MARLOW Shine's Silence Extraordinary

WASHINGTON (AP)—Nothing is more extraordinary, in the extra-ordinary hearings on the Army-McCarthy fight, than the sudden hush of silence pulled down over the G. David Shine.

The Republicans won't call him to testify or be cross-examined. Yet, unless that happened, the public could not possibly learn the whole story of the fight. It can't be learned now, unless Shine formally asks to testify or the Republicans on the hearing subcommittee change their minds.

The Republicans on the subcommittee outmaneuvered the Democrats 4-3. They voted solidly, 4-3, to keep Shine off the witness stand.

Their reason? They said they wanted to limit the number of witnesses in order to speed up the hearings and get them over, perhaps this week. The Democrats protested but were outvoted.

Shine, 27-year-old president of his father's hotel chain, was at the very center of the cyclone which has blasted the Republicans in hands for months.

Army officials charged that Sen. McCarthy and his aides sought to pressure the Army into giving special treatment to Shine before and after he was stricken last Nov. 3.

The McCarthy side counter-charges the Army tried to use Shine as a hostage to blackmail Sen. McCarthy's investigating committee into abandoning its search for Communists in the Army. The McCarthy side has described Shine as a specialist on communism, with such zeal in fighting it that "save his services to the McCarthy staff without pay."

Now the public will get no chance to find out through questioning of Shine himself just how much he knows about communism or how he developed his interest and his desire to combat it.

He was brought into the subcommittee staff by his friend, Roy M. Cohn, chief counsel of the staff and one of the principals in this case. Last Spring Cohn and Shine visited Europe together to investigate the government's overseas information program.

And it was Cohn who repeatedly asked for passes for Shine to help, he said, the McCarthy staff clean up some unfinished business on which Shine was especially informed. Both Cohn and McCarthy praised Shine.

What are the facts about him? Neither the seven senators of the subcommittee which must judge this case nor the public watching it on television can form their own opinions—based on first-hand, detailed information brought out in direct questioning of Shine—on such obvious questions as these:

What preparation did Shine have for this job with McCarthy's subcommittee which gave him the right to dig into the operations of the government and its employees? Were his knowledge and his ideas sound? Or was he just a sophisticated busybody who thought he had some answers?

That he thought he had some answers was made clear enough by the fact that he offered the State Department—before joining McCarthy's staff last year—a long-range plan for psychological war on communism.

The State Department rejected it. And McCarthy himself said he had never seen the Shine plan until it was introduced in evidence at the hearings last Friday.

The Florida Legislature should take the first steps to free our public schools from the shackles of increased racial segregation in the schools. The opinion is not only to public schools. The fourteenth amendment on which the opinion was so largely based, confers upon Congress the power to pass enforcing legislation and many members of Congress consider the decision an attempt at encroachment on legislative powers by the judiciary. Sen. Le. Ribicoff has spoken out plainly on this. Further the Constitution makes clear its intent that another part of our government—the several States—has the power to provide education. Mrs. Cleveland Honors Children At Birthday Party

Ginger and Stewart Cleveland were honored Thursday with a birthday party given by their mother, Mrs. J. S. Cleveland, at their home in Loch Arbor. Ginger was seven on June 10 while Stewart was four May 31.

Their little friends gathered in the back yard where they enjoyed playing on the gym set and with many toys. A peanut hunt in the spacious front yard was held with the prize going to Art Kader. Fun was had by the children as they played the game of "Go Fishing" for favors of jump ropes, paddles and balls, and toy guns.

The Florida Room was decorated with red and green crepe paper streamers and balloons with a large animal cracker cake centering the table. After blowing out the candles and singing "Happy Birthday", refreshments of ice cream animal crackers, cup cakes, suckers and punch were served.

Those invited to celebrate the occasions with Ginger and Stewart were Carol and Garland Harden, John and Julie Metz, Elaine and Tom Echols, Louie Moore, David Miller, Rosemary Walton, Ronnie and Art Kader, Pete and Pam Reynolds, David Lanier, Sonny and Becky Symes, Gene and Jill Westland.

Breakfast Usually Is Important Meal For Adolescents

Breakfast is often the key meal to the nutritional welfare of children, particularly adolescents, according to recent research on the nutrition of school children by the New York State Council on Experimental Mental Science, says Myrtle Wilson, Home Demonstration Agent.

The children studied were from four to fifteen years old and came from homes on farms, in cities and suburbs and in an industrial area.

For the study, seven-day records for each child were used, also physical examinations and blood analyses.

Teenage girls in particular were the least well fed, nutritionally, of all the children studied. Generally the breakfasts of these young adolescents were inadequate. Other meals of the day or between-meal snacks did not make up for nutrients missed at breakfast.

Many of the children interviewed made their own breakfasts because their parents either were not up or had already gone to work. Parents thought their own breakfast of coffee and rolls was enough for their children.

Research has shown, however, that a nourishing breakfast which includes good quality protein from milk, for example, prevents mid-morning fatigue which often is accompanied by headaches and muscular tension. Studies indicate, too, that nutritious breakfasts make for more efficient work.

The breakfast recommended offers a fourth to a third of the day's food, measured in calories, plus ample good protein. Yet the teenagers in this study averaged only a fifth of the day's calories at breakfast and many had far less or no breakfast at all.

The two nutrients generally found short in children's diets were calcium and ascorbic acid (vitamin C). Milk and citrus fruit or juice for breakfast are suggested as foods high in these nutrients.

Teenagers also were short in iron, protein, and three B vitamins, as well as in calories. Thus, the hearty breakfast that includes cereals and milk, for example, or eggs or meat, is worth considering for improved nutrition of the younger generation.

Big Crowd Attends Duplicate Bridge; 156 Average Score

One of the largest turnouts of the season had the walls of the Youth Club building Friday night as fourteen tables of players engaged in the weekly Duplicate Bridge competition.

Due to the size of the game it was necessary to follow a straight Mitchell movement with separate winners for the North-South position and for the East-West position.

With 28 boards in play the average score for the evening in both positions was 156.

North-South winners were as follows: Mrs. Roy Hills, Mrs. Leona Albert, Mrs. Edna, Fred, and Stephen Rockwell, 197; Mrs. and Mrs. Leonard Munson, 172; Mrs. Jack Nathan, Mrs. William Clifton, 169.

East-West winners were as follows: Mrs. Roy Hills, Mrs. Leona Albert, Mrs. J. B. Cordell, Mrs. H. Shuler, Richard Shuler, 155; Mrs. Stuart Brown, Mrs. Robert Jennings, 147.

Attending Friday's session were the following: Mrs. Jay Young, Mrs. W. P. Jones, Mrs. Carolyn Baker, Mrs. E. E. Anderson, Mrs. Albert H. Henry, Charles, Mrs. Roy Adams, Fred, and Mrs. Joseph Wolfe, Mrs. Alice F. Hart, Hal Raymond, Joseph, Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Phil, Mrs. J. P. Baker, Mrs. Margaret Davis, Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Gray.

Rehearsal Supper Is Given At Home Of John Schirrad

Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Engle and Mr. and Mrs. John Schirrad Jr. entertained Friday evening with a rehearsal supper for the Patrick Stenstrom wedding party.

Friday's flowers were used to decorate the Schirrad home for the occasion.

Guests were Miss Carolyn Patrick, Herbert Stenstrom, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Patrick, Mr. and Mrs. John Schirrad, Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Stenstrom and daughter Betty, Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Hart, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Hart, Mr. and Mrs. Donald M. Donald, Mrs. Donna Lee Harter, John Alexander, Mr. and Mrs. George Engle, the Rev. and Mrs. A. G. McArthur, Mr. and Mrs. Dick Alken, Arnold Harrington, Mr. and Mrs. Linger, and Mr. and Mrs. Schirrad.

There were calcium and ascorbic acid (vitamin C). Milk and citrus fruit or juice for breakfast are suggested as foods high in these nutrients.

Teenagers also were short in iron, protein, and three B vitamins, as well as in calories. Thus, the hearty breakfast that includes cereals and milk, for example, or eggs or meat, is worth considering for improved nutrition of the younger generation.

MRS. HERBERT STENSTROM

Carolyn Patrick Weds H. Stenstrom

In an impressive, double ring, candlelight ceremony before an altar and chancel completely covered in white, Miss Carolyn Patrick, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Warren Albert Patrick and Herbert Stenstrom, son of Mr. John W. Stenstrom and the late Mrs. Herbert Stenstrom, was united in marriage by the Rev. August C. McInnis who performed the ceremony Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock at the First Presbyterian Church.

Five seven-branched candlelighted bouquets and two arrangements of white gladioli and chrysanthemums in a cream design were used along with pink gerberas in white vases. Covered with white gladioli, marigolds, lilies, and asters.

Mr. George E. Engle, organist, conducted the pre-ceremonial music. The organ and choir had as soloist, Dick Adams, sang "Give Me Thy Hand" and "The Lord's Prayer."

Mr. Patrick gave his bride a ring in marriage. She was beautiful in a gown of steel shirred rose point lace featuring a box scalloped neckline edged with wide pearls and filled in with diamonds. Covered buttons finished the bodice and long, model sleeves that tapered to form points over the hands.

The bride wore the voluminous lace with a full, flowing train. Her hair was styled in a classic, elegant fashion. She wore a white veil and a white sash.

Now Is Good Time To Fight Mildew Damage In Homes

A good time to get set against mildew damage in your home is before not, humid "mildew weather" arrives, says Myrtle Wilson, Home Demonstration Agent. Molds that cause mildew thrive in damp, warm, poorly ventilated and poorly lighted places. They grow on anything from which they can get food—cotton, silk, wool, leather, paper or wood, for example, often getting a start on dust or other soil. They decay wood and discolor fabrics and eat into fabrics, rot and ruin them.

To prevent mildew, make sure that clothes or household goods are clean and dry when stored for the summer and then are put in a clean, dry place. For example, when storing winter clothes and blankets, make sure they are both dry and clean before they go into tight containers, and then put the containers in a dry place. Otherwise, mildew may cause serious damage.

Though the basement may seem dry, it's hazardous for summer storage because condensation in muggy weather causes dampness. Automatic dehumidifying appliances are being sold these days, (see page 1) to help control humidity.

Electric fans, chemicals that absorb moisture, and keeping an electric bulb burning in small closets also are helpful against mildew.

Refrigerator Pie Is Special Dessert For All Occasions

Company pie for dinner? You want a extra-special chilled dessert to make in the morning or the night before? Call on milk powder from the cupboard shelf and butter, now in good supply—and make refrigerator pie. Here's how:

For a pie to cut in 6 servings, use 1 cup the Graham cracker crumbs; 1/2 cup melted butter; 1 tablespoon gelatin; 1/2 cup water; 1/2 cup cooked or canned fruit and juice; pinch of salt; 1/2 cup sugar; 2 tablespoons lemon juice; 1/2 cup nonfat milk powder; 1/2 cup chopped nut meats, if desired.

To make: First, mix Graham cracker crumbs and melted butter with a spoon. Second, soak gelatin in 1/2 cup water for a few minutes and dissolve over boiling water. Third, cut cooked or canned fruit in pieces. Add salt, sugar and dissolved gelatin. Cool until slightly thickened. Fourth, add lemon juice and milk powder to the remaining 1/2 cup of water. Whip until very stiff. Then fold in fruit mixture and nuts.

Smooth half the batter and cream mixture into the bottom of a pie pan to make the "crust". Add the whipped filling. Top with the remaining crumbs. Put in the refrigerator to chill until set and ready to serve.

Deland's Hopes For Championship Are Dealt Blow

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Deland's hopes of overtaking Jacksonville Beach in the stretch fight for the Florida State League first-half championship were dealt a body blow last night as last-place Daytona Beach swept a doubleheader from the Red Hots while Jacksonville Beach whipped Central.

The results increased Jacksonville Beach's lead to 25 games. The leaders have seven games yet to play and Deland six.

Bill Strick scattered six hits in the Sea Birds' victory over Central 8-2. He also tripled in two runs in the fourth inning.

Daytona Beach beat Deland 7-0 and S. George Thomas broke up the 13-inning first game with a home run over the 400-foot center field fence.

Orlando also last night losing a doubleheader to Lakeland 8-2 and 7-4. Duane Campbell walked 11 but allowed only three hits to win the opener. Bill Boyette took the afterpiece on an eight-hitter.

Tallahassee Rebels Have Hopesful Start

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The Tallahassee Rebels, home-leaders during the initial half of the Florida International League season, got away to a hopeful start last night as they rode three home runs to an 8-0 victory over Miami's first-half champions.

West Palm Beach pushed across four runs in the first inning in racking up an 8-3 victory over St. Petersburg which had given Miami a hard battle for the first-half title.

Biggest surprise of the day was the attendance of 4,769 at St. Petersburg, by far the biggest of the season in a league which has been continually on the point of financial collapse because of poor crowds.

Hoping to drum up interest in the team, the Chamber of Commerce, the St. Petersburg Times, and four banks bought out the Salda park for the six-game home stand started yesterday and are paying out free tickets to all who ask for them. The amount paid the ball club was not disclosed.

Husband, Wife To Be In Movie About Themselves

HOLLYWOOD—It's hard to imagine this happening in the movies, but Mrs. Bob Mathias is going to play her husband's wife in his film biography.

Movie producers are inclined to do the least obvious thing, so it was a surprise to learn that Bob Mathias and his wife will be perhaps the first married pair to portray themselves on the screen.

At least local observers couldn't recall this happening before. Elroy Hirsch, Jackie Robinson and other figures have played themselves in films, but have required actresses to play their mates.

Mathias, two-time Olympic deration winner, was amply blessed in this regard. His bride Melba is a lovely brunette who has acted in university plays and on TV.

"I'm very excited about it," said Bob. "I've always wanted to be an actress, but I never thought of it in the movies—not this fast anyway."

"I'm very happy too," said handsome Bob. "She has been reading the script at home with me, and the men at the studio suggested she take a test. The citizens of Tulare called Bob's home town, are putting up a big chunk of the backing."

"We've got about 10 home town folks invested in the picture," Bob remarked. "It was like pulling teeth. I had to make six trips on there to help sell the shares. They've put up $60,000 in all. Our budget is around $135,000."

Joan Foster, Bride

By Alice Ross Colver

CHAPTER TWENTY ONE

JULY. And summer setting down in a dry, hot heat wave that was unparalled in the memories of previous years. Joan's apartment was unbearable after 10 o'clock in the morning and she and Todd went to bed early. But the hardy noticed the discomfort. For one thing, she was too happy in her unmoored solitude to think about the weather, and for another, she was too busy.

Except for the heat, the days fell into pleasant pattern. After marketing, Joan went scouting for the antique which she and Todd had decided to buy, carefully comparing all the saw and making copious notes. Then, on those afternoons when Todd came home early from his classes, they drove together to the different shops bringing back with them in the trunk of the old jalopy the chairs or the table or the chest of drawers or whatever she had earlier selected, pending his approval.

By the end of July the big barn behind the Maras held all their treasures and in August their work began. For they had bought "in the rough," as the antique trade puts it. That is to say, everything needed refinishing.

With the money thus saved they were able to purchase more than they otherwise could have.

"The only cheaper thing," said Joan, "would be to buy at auction. And I don't know enough to do that, yet. Just wait until some day I will."

Todd looked across at her. With a putty knife in her hand, she was crouched before a marble-topped commode in the shade of the barn, busily scraping off long wrinkles of the softened varnish that covered it. She was clad in blue shorts with an old-fashioned white shirt of Todd's hanging loose outside of them. Her bare feet were thrust into dilapidated moccasins. Feelings of the sticky goo did not always land in the cramped newspaper she held in her hand, but she bit instead on her. There was a smudge on her cheek and a curl of red-gold hair, wet with perspiration, hung over one eye.

"Why do you want to?" he asked curiously.

"Because—" She blew at the dangling curl to get it out of her vision. "I've got ideas. This whole business intrigues me. It interests me mightily. Mr. Hunter, I hope it does you, too."

"Well, I don't know about mightily. But I'll stay by you till we finish. It's the only way we'll ever get furniture for one thing. And he made a wry face.

"But you do like to use your hands, Todd. You do, don't you?"

He came over to her, tucked the recalcitrant curl beneath the ribbon she wore around her head and stopping, dropped a kiss on the end of her nose. It was a perfect ending to a summer day.

It was on their way home from such an evening, after Jack had said he would walk back later, that Joan voiced to her husband a thought that had been with her for some time.

"You know, Todd, I think Jack and Diane are really seriously interested in each other."

"I wouldn't be surprised," Todd said. "They've a lot and call each other awful names and pretend to quarrel, but I do believe they're not fooling underneath." She paused. "They seem so young, though," she finished.

"I told you," Todd said. "That from you, Grandma!"

Joan made no answer for a moment. Surely it was only yesterday that Jack had been a small bright-eyed lad of twelve, watching and listening to Joan and her college friends home for a vacation. And now here he was six feet tall and a sophomore at college himself next fall.

"Well, I am older," she said at last. "More than five years. That's a lot, anyway you look at it." And she gave a faint smile as though her life was rushing by.

Todd chuckled again. "All right, Grandma. But here's one consolation. I'm sure you and I will be together."

Not all the summer was spent in Mappleton. Once Joan took the car and drove up to see Betty in Houghtonville. She and Todd stopped there on their way home from their wedding trip, but Betty and Joan had not met since and there was much news to be exchanged.

The Andrews now owned a new small ranch-type house on the outskirts of the city. Mike had fenced in the back yard as a play place for the kids and had a large apple tree, and the two girls ate their lunches from trays while the boys slept.

"We're so lucky to have those three apple trees," Betty said. "The developer just ripped through with his bulldozers and took out most of the orchards that used to be all farm land around here, you know—but Mike and I thought to keep ours. Or I probably should say that Mike persuaded me to keep it. He's a real persuader," she finished proudly.

"You're so lucky to have a home like this, Betty," Joan said.

"I hope you know how lucky. Heavens! I can't imagine when Todd and I will be able to buy a house. Not for years and years, I'm afraid."

"Oh, it won't be as long as that," Betty replied, in her calculating way. "I didn't take us long as we had expected."

"Mike's in business, Betty," Joan's tone held a note of anxiety. "He's in a simply huge company where the policy is fixed. He has regular raises and hospitalization and sick leave and a pension system and I don't know what else. I can't remember half you told me. But he has things he can count on and a future in which to grow and increase his earnings."

"Don't teachers have all those things, too?"

watching the figure you cut. It's just that without a sanded machine or a sander, it's going to take us a long time."

"Yes, it was laborious, tedious, time-consuming work, requiring infinite patience and unflinching enthusiasm."

But they had helpers, too. Jack and Diane. This year Jack had charge of the same playground in Mappleton that Joan had managed before. He was most efficient and in this way he was earning money to help defray his college expenses. But he was through with his job by four o'clock, which was when Todd usually reached home, and as soon as he saw his brother-in-law, he would drift over. Hardly five minutes later, Diane's smart little convertible would whip up the drive and out she would hop, wearing blue jeans and a white shirt, with her silver-gilt hair neatly hidden in a bun, and her tiny putty knife stuck through her belt.

"Need any more help?" she would ask. "I'm all ready for action. I'll pitch in straightaway. I would pitch in, cleaning and sanding and sanding as vigorously as if she were working on her own furniture."

Jack laughed at her. He laughed at them all, including himself, for being such "dupes" as to bother with all this broken-down junk. At which Joan invariably flashed to a quick defense.

"That's all right. But were not such dupes as you think. This liddleback maple chair that I paid ten bucks for will soon be worth twenty-five. No, my kid, this junk, as you call it, is a sound investment and don't you forget it."

"Investment in what? Time?"

"No, no investment in what? In money. I told and Todd and I bought stocks and bonds but we can buy this stuff a little at a time. I mean, so though we're spending our money, we're getting it back, too. Double," she added, with emphasis.

Not quite all the hot summer was spent in such toil, however. Sometimes the four of them—Diane and Jack, Joan and Todd—repaired to the Mappleton Club courts for a game of tennis. Sometimes they went to Diane's lovely place and enjoyed her swimming pool. Sometimes they did both. It was late when they finally reached the grassy sward behind the high bridge where the pool lay, it did not matter. For what could be nicer than plunging into wates translucent under the sunset or savery beneath the moonlight? Either way it was a perfect ending to a summer day.

It was on their way home from such an evening, after Jack had said he would walk back later, that Joan voiced to her husband a thought that had been with her for some time.

"You know, Todd, I think Jack

Seattle Red Probe Is Started Today

SEATTLE (AP) — Chairman Velde (R-Ill.) said he expects a four-day hearing starting here today to be "one of the most important and revealing" ever held by the House Un-American Activities Committee.

He attached particular significance to the hearing because it will be the first congressional investigation of Communist activities in the Pacific Northwest — a key industrial, maritime and agricultural area.

For the first time, a Communist convicted of conspiracy under the Smith Act will have appeared as a "friendly" witness.

First of an expected 10 or more witnesses will be slight, respected Mrs. Barbara Hartle, who renounced communism after she and four other Northwest Communist leaders were convicted last October.

Many homemakers are beginning to use the attractive pastel colored sheets for such things as curtains, drapery, linens, table-cloth and bedspread. Make sure the colored sheets you buy are suitable and colorfast if you use the sheets on the beds or elsewhere in the house, warn technicians at American Institute of Laundering. Look for the sheets whose label certifies washability and colorfastness.

Hold Up Munitions For Guatemala

BONN, Germany (AP) — Six tons of Soviet anti-aircraft ammunition being shipped to Guatemala has been held up in Hamburg, the U. S. High Commissioner announced here today.

The 30 mm anti-aircraft shells were to have been sent to Guatemala in a German ship, but the West German government intervened at the request of the U. S. High Commission and the shipment was detained in Hamburg, an American official said.

The U. S. government regards shipments of arms to left-leaning Guatemala as a threat to the security of the Panama Canal.

Watson Issues Statement

TAMPA (AP) — J. Tom Watson, Republican candidate for governor, today issued the following statement:

"J. Tom Watson, Republican two-party candidate for governor, says his candidacy can properly be called a Christian one, because it is run on faith and calculated to shake the Hell out of future monopolies in Florida."

Strike's Ending Appears Possible

GUATEMALA (AP) — The end of a three-week-old strike by 3,000 Communist-led banana workers appeared a possibility today after the signing of a government-negotiated wage contract by representatives of workers and the United Fruit Co.

The U. S. government regards shipments of arms to left-leaning Guatemala as a threat to the security of the Panama Canal.

Police Arrest Trio, Confiscate Chips

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The idea was a gamble, and when the chips were down it failed — because the chips were phony.

Police arrested three men on grand theft charges and confiscated bogus Las Vegas, Nev., poker chips, along with the equipment which made them.

Detectives said $2,500 of the spurious chips already have been cashed at Las Vegas in a trial run, and added that another batch worth $100,000 was in the making in a Burbank garage.

Bona fide chips issued by Las Vegas gambling houses are negotiable throughout that city.

Arrested Saturday night were James F. (Jimmy) Woods, 30; Cleo (Tex) Cantrell, 37; and Douglas R. Anderson, 24.

North Carolina exports about 4 per cent of the flue cured tobacco it produces.

Gang Member Critically Hurt In Shooting Affray

MIAMI (AP) — John Fulford, trigger-happy member of the notorious Cash gang, shot a policeman in the leg today and in turn was critically wounded.

Doctors at Jackson Memorial Hospital said Fulford's chances of survival were slight. The policeman, Ray Parker, suffered slight wounds in each leg from a shotgun fired by Fulford.

Fulford, although wounded by Parker, ran into a vacant lot and hid in the weeds. Tracked down by Parker's companion, Patrolman Thomas O'Connell, Fulford was hit by two more bullets.

The shootings occurred when the officers spotted Fulford, son of a North Miami Beach policeman, in a car and followed him. Another car trailed the officers. Fulford sped away, and the officers stopped the second machine, which was driven by James H. Nall.

As the officers talked with Nall, Fulford drove up at high speed, jumped from his car and fired at Parker.

The Cash gang has been accused of numerous holdups in the Miami area and elsewhere in Florida. Members of the gang, including Ray Cash, were implicated in recent spectacular holdups at Gainesville.

Napkins should not be used to pinch-hit for pot holders! The reason, according to American Institute of Laundering, research and educational center of the laundry industry, is that the stain caused by the contact of the fabric with carbon-containing grease is practically impossible to remove. Laundering, the institute says, will remove a large portion of discoloration produced by contact of a napkin with a blackened cooking pan, but a grey discoloration will remain in the fabric.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE—Here's how to work it!

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, digraphs, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.
