By LARRY VERSHEL. A CONVERSATION WITH JOHN EVANS, AIDE TO GOVERNOR FARRIS BRYANT.

Reporter: I'd like to speak to the governor.

Evans: Regarding what?

Reporter: The assessed valuations in the Oviedo area have been drastically cut over the past few years. I would like to speak to Mr. Bryant about this.

Evans: Has the governor received any complaints?

Reporter: We're giving you one now.

A CONVERSATION WITH ABOUT TWO HOURS LATER.

Evans: Sorry I'm so late in returning your call.

Reporter: Yes.

Evans: The governor says he will certainly review it and would like any information you have in the afternoon mail.

Reporter: It will be put in the mail this afternoon.

A CONVERSATION WITH SUPT. OF SCHOOLS R. T. MILWEE:

Reporter: Have you heard from any bookburners from Texas?

Milwee: No.

Reporter: You know some of these people want to take some of our classics off the school shelves. You wouldn't do that, would you?

Milwee: Not before some long and thoughtful study.

Reporter: Is Huckleberry Finn still on the shelves?

Milwee: Yes.

Reporter: Aye Thomas Wolfe and Steinbeck still on the shelves?

Milwee: Yes.

There's no doubt the city is losing thousands of dollars yearly on valuations from vacant property. City Clerk Henry Tamm Jr. submitted a list of 837 parcels of vacant property to the commission today. At the last meeting of the board Tamm as well as City Manager W. E. Knowles was asked to investigate revaluation of vacant property bringing it up to a more equal value of residential property. The report (we sneaked a look this morning) indicates that the vacant property value is 34 percent of the market value.

The city is considering putting a traffic light at the corner of 20th St. and Sanford Avenue.

A CONVERSATION WITH AN UNIDENTIFIED WELFARE RECIPIENT IN SEMINOLE COUNTY.

Reporter: How much of your welfare check do you spend on beer?

Welfare recipient: Plenty.

The Herald erred in a column the other day and labeled Capt. Joe Tully the commanding officer of HAWING 1, the correct designation for Capt. Tully's job is "commander". Sorry, Captain, we'll watch our protocol closer in the future.

County Commissioner Vernon Dunn made an error when he said for Thursday's paper, with reference to the Ballard Road controversy that we didn't ask him for any information concerning the blockade. As quoted in the paper we did ask him, and his comment precluded any further querying. It was a flat "No Comment."

If the county commission wants warning devices by some of these Atlantic Coast Line tracks they will have to pay for them out of secondary funds. On Oct. 22, 1957, the County Commission and the ACL agreed that the county would provide all traffic light signals by crossing.

Don't forget second primary coming up a week from Tuesday. Deadline to pick-up absentee ballots is 5 p. m. Thursday at the registrar's office. Looks like more interest in the second primary than the first. Only 80 absentee ballots picked up on May 8. Thus far more than that for the second.

Mrs. Wright Called 'Sane'; Will Stand Trial

Commission Names Bill Bush County Engineer

To Face Fall Term Of Court

Mrs. Christine Wright was found sane this morning, and will stand trial for the murder of her husband at the fall term of the Circuit Court. The hearing was held in the chambers of Circuit Court Judge Volie A. Williams Jr. The order for the hearing was set by the court on May 9 at the motion of the defendant to meet this morning at 8:30.

Present at the hearing were Judge Williams, Defense Attorney Kenneth McIntosh, Dr. Rodman Shippen, Orlando, and Dr. Clarence L. Fessenden, also of Orlando. Assistant State's Attorney Anthony J. Hoseman, was not present. The purpose of the hearing was to determine whether or not Mrs. Wright is presently competent to work with her attorney in the preparation of her defense, and whether or not she was sane at the time of the shooting.

Under questioning by Judge Williams, Dr. Shippen, who has specialized in psychiatric medicine for 12 years, nine of them in Orlando, testified that in his opinion, Mrs. Wright is "legally sane, knows the difference between right and wrong and understands the nature of the charge against her. She is also able to consult with and assist her counsel."

Under a brief cross examination by Atty. McIntosh, Shippen said he had examined the defendant at the Florida Sanitarium and Hospital, Orlando, where she is presently confined and he had consulted with her attending physician, the staff psychiatrist, Dr. E. F. Mearns. Dr. Shippen also said he had consulted the complete record of the defendant at the hospital and looked into her medical history and the circumstances surrounding the shooting.

Dr. Fessenden, who for 20 years was head resident in psychiatry at New York's famed Bellevue Hospital, also testified that Mrs. Wright was legally sane at the time of her husband's death, and is now competent to assist her attorney. He also declared, "I don't think she has ever been out of contact with reality," under cross examination by the defense attorney.

Mrs. Wright is under indictment for second degree murder for the shooting of her husband handed down by the Seminole County Grand Jury on May 4, following the shooting of her husband on April 14.

Wright was found dead in the garden at the back of the Wright home early on April 14, from shots in the face fired from a weapon in the possession of his wife.

Mrs. Wright said at the time she shot blindly through the back screen door because she heard noises at the back of the house.

Wright was dead on arrival at the Seminole Memorial Hospital.

The trial will be held during the fall term of the Circuit Court, Judge Williams declared at the close of the hearing.

Avery Says 'Need Men Of Vision'

Ground breaking ceremonies were held Sunday afternoon at Forest Lake Academy for the new Cafeteria and Home Economics building to be erected this summer and ready for use for the Fall term.

Principal speaker for the occasion was County Commissioner James P. Avery, who stressed the importance of vision in the training of our country's youth, and pointed out that the nation's leaders are the result of the training received when they were young, and have had the benefit of teachers who took the "long view."

Prior to Avery's remarks the attending crowd was addressed briefly by the Rev. Mr. H. H. Schmidt, president of the Florida Conference of Seventh Day Adventists, who spoke on the commission given the church to teach. He pointed out that education has been, "from the beginning" the main concern of the denomination.

Academy principal William Fuchs introduced those on the speakers stand: Woodrow Wilson Whidden, president of the student body; Mrs. Dell Smith, head of the Home Economics department of the school; Sam Porter, president of the Seminole City Civic Association; Dr. Schmidt, and the Rev. Mr. H. H. Roll, secretary and treasurer of the Florida Conference of Seventh Day Adventists.

The biggest weakness in the administrative organization of the Florida school system is the lack of a set of standards for county school superintendents, according to State Supt. Thomas D. Bailey.

"We have to low our heads in shame when we tell other states," Bailey said. A new state program for training and certification of the superintendents will go into effect next fall, but Bailey concedes it's no panacea and does not come to grips with the central problem, which is the method of selecting administrators.

The training program is voluntary and present and prospective superintendents can participate in, or ignore it as they wish.

Superintendents are elected by popular vote in all but Dade, Pinellas and Sarasota counties. There are no qualifications for the office and the Supreme Court has ruled the Legislature cannot prescribe any by statute.

A recent incident in Charlotte County showed the need for a training program, Bailey said. The schools there lost accreditation when the voters elected a superintendent who could not meet standards of the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools.

Prior to the opening of the ceremonies the Forest Lake Academy concert band played "Totent Pole," by Osterling; "His Honor," Fallmore, and the national anthem. The program concluded with the band playing "The Billboard" by Klobner. Dan Shultz directed the musicians.

'Closed Door' Estes Hearing Set To Start

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Senate investigators hoped to start taking testimony behind closed doors today on the operations of indicted Texas farm tycoon Billie Sol Estes. Chairman John L. McClellan, (D-Ark.), called an afternoon meeting of the Senate investigations subcommittee. Interviews were planned for the morning, and McClellan expected to take testimony from some witnesses at the afternoon session.

McClellan declined to name any witnesses in advance. He said some out-of-town witnesses might be questioned, as well as officials from government agencies in Washington.

Informed sources said the Senate investigators had quickly arranged to examine the income tax files of Estes and others involved in his dealings with the government. They said McClellan's subcommittee had asked for tax records of Estes and three former government officials who lost their jobs as a result of disclosures arising from Estes' grain and cotton operations. An executive order gives the subcommittee the right to make use of tax returns.

The subcommittee also was reported looking into investments from abroad in Estes' dealings. A subcommittee source said one lead suggests that at least one $1 million investment was made from overseas in Estes' farm empire.

The subcommittee staff is interested, this source said, in whether other investments from abroad have been made in the Estes enterprises and whether Estes, himself, has foreign assets. The subcommittee request was separate from an investigation of the tax returns of Estes and others in the case now being conducted by the International Revenue Service.

Assistant County Agent Issues Timely Warning

By Ernie Lundberg
Asst. County Agent

If your ornamental plants are looking sickly—unhealthy or droopy for no apparent reason—the trouble may be nematodes.

Nematodes attack most vegetables, numerous ornamental plants, and a number of fruit trees, grasses and other plants. When nematodes attack a root, normal root functions can't be carried on. As a result, the plant can't produce the foliage, flowers and fruit we expect.

Dr. R. S. Mullen, plant pathologist with the Florida Agricultural Extension Service, tells us that nematodes are very small round worms. They are often called eelworms. The ones which attack plants are microscopic in size. For this reason a casual examination of roots of our plants—with one exception—will not show the presence of nematodes. The exception is the root knot nematode, which causes the roots to enlarge and become knotty. These knots or swellings may be only slightly larger than the normal root or they may be as large as a finger and involve nearly the entire root system.

In general, rotation is recommended as one of the best and most economical methods of nematode control. However, homeowners can't practice rotation because their planting space is limited. So we must either grow plants which are resistant to nematode attack or control them by chemical treatments. Since the first method is hardly possible where we are growing a variety of plants, the best method for the homeowner is treatment with chemicals.

Several chemicals are effective as soil fumigants to kill nematodes. Some of these can be applied to plants already growing in the soil whereas others must be applied prior to planting.

Among the materials which may be applied only before planting are thylene dibromide, methyl bromide and D. D. These three materials are sold under a variety of trade names. Among the materials which are probably most convenient and satisfactory for the homeowner—since they can be applied to living plants—are materials listed as DBCP and VC-13.

Trade names of DBCP are fumazone and nemagon. VC-13 is sold under the name VC-13. As already stated fumazone, nemagon and VC-13 can be applied to living plants and, if properly applied with sufficient water, will very satisfactorily control nematodes in the soil and on the roots of plants.

These chemicals will not kill nematodes inside the plant roots. However, with two or three subsequent applications at about three month intervals a majority of these nematodes will also be destroyed. This is because many of the infested roots die and decay. This permits the chemical to reach the nematodes.

Even distribution of these

Homemaker's Bowling League Climaxes Year With Banquet

By Jane Casselberry

The Medallion Homemakers Women's Bowling League climaxed the year with an awards banquet held at the Mt. Vernon Inn Restaurant in Winter Park.

Trophies were awarded to the Weathersfield Morning Stars, who finished first and to the Dairy Maids who finished in second place.

Other teams finished in the following order: Strikes and Spares, third; Casselberry Realty Crusaders, fourth; The Angels, sponsored by Weaver's Watercross, fifth; The Vallants, sixth; The Saints, sponsored by Fashion Fair, seventh and Rose Sunoco, eighth.

New league officers, elected to take office next September, are Mrs. Bonnie Werley, president; Mrs. Glee Norman, vice president; Mrs. Margaret Rose, treasurer and Mrs. Betty Valkenberg, secretary.

The girls have been bowling together every Thursday morning since last September at the Medallion Lanes in Maitland. The Crusaders, Angels and Saints teams were formed by ladies of the Christian Homemakers Class of the Casselberry Community Methodist Church. Members of these three teams were invited to a get-together at the home of Mrs. Werley on Lake of the Woods at noon last materials is essential. First, measure and stake out a relatively small area, such as an area of 100 or 200 square feet. Then apply the chemical—carefully measured—evenly over the area. A hose attached sprayer of fairly large volume or a sprinkler can may be used. Remember, even distribution is essential.

After application, water the area so that the chemical is carried down to a depth of 6 to 8 inches. This must be done immediately with fumazone and Nemagon or they will be lost into the air as a gas. The soil before treatment should be moist, but not wet. Soil temperature should be between 50° and 80°.

APPRECIATION for a job well done is extended to Mrs. Irene Smith, Troop Counselor and leader of Troop 296 by the Citrus Council of Girl Scouts. Mrs. Randall Chase, vice president of the Council presents the certificate of appreciation to Mrs. Smith, who is leaving soon for Navy duty in Japan. (Herald Photo)

VAH - 3 Prepares For Qualification Periods

The latter part of May and the first few days of June will be full of activity for the men of Heavy Attack Squadron Three since final preparations are now being made in order to send 22 flight crews to the supercarrier USS Saratoga for qualification periods in the A3D Skywarrior and the A3J Vigilante.

The 22 pilots and their aircraft will be taking part in one of the most extensive periods of carrier qualifications that VAH-3 has undertaken since becoming the training squadron for heavy attack crews on the east coast. The pilots and their crews are now engaged in flying from two to three flights daily as they sharpen their flying skill in order to become proficient in landing the A3D's and A3J's aboard the giant aircraft carriers of the U. S. Navy's Sixth Fleet.

These flights will continue to be flown until the second week in June at which time the pilots will have completed their field carrier practice work and are ready to fly to the USS Saratoga for the final phase of their training from VAH-3. The day and night flights which are being flown at the Sanford Naval Air Station are one of the most important facets of the training that these pilots receive since it is by practicing the carrier type landings here on the field that they become skillful enough to bring their aircraft aboard the supercarriers in any type of weather or sea conditions.

Magic Word — Education

The number of Americans gainfully employed hit a new high in April, the government reports. Accompanying this good news was the better news that unemployment had finally dipped below the four-million mark.

Let's take a breather, rest a moment on these laurels and peer into the future a bit.

In recent years, a persistent hard core of unemployment has marred a situation of generally high prosperity in this country. Signs point to the continuation of this "hard core," and its probable enlargement, in the years ahead. Automation, which is still just beginning, is probably the most frequently mentioned of these signs.

There are other straws in the wind, however, which show there is more challenge than threat to America's economic future. It is becoming increasingly apparent that the problem will not be so much one of finding jobs for new people but finding people who can fill the new jobs that are coming into being.

Two instances illustrate this: A survey of 167 property and casualty insurance companies, with a total of 225,000 employees, revealed that they would be seeking 8,000 college graduates this June. These are not just salesmen's jobs but include claims adjusters, underwriters, accountants, actuaries, etc.

The same companies last year hired 2,470 male graduates — yet 1 out of every 6 positions available went unfilled.

In another field, that created by automation itself in the form of high-speed computing or data processing machines, School Management magazine estimates that during the coming decade 500,000 jobs will be open for high school graduates.

The categories include programmers, technicians, operators, maintenance experts, etc. Higher up in the echelons of this new industry is a growing list of exotic careers like "systems analyst" and "operations researcher."

The story could be repeated in many other fields—some old, some unheard of a few years ago like the two above.

For the next generation, the magic word more than ever is "education"—in the broadest sense: specific training, informed counseling, awareness of the trends shaping the America of tomorrow.

Dr. Crane's

Worry Clinic

Beth's marriage problem is a classic, so scrapbook this case. And you new brides should also memorize every word below. For most of the brides who later enter the divorce courts, never even dreamed they would be losing their mates. So wake up. Every wife must beware of sexual sins of omission.

CASE M-423: Beth G., aged 37, called me via long distance.

BARBS

By Hal Cochran
The time saved by crashing a light or trying to beat a train can be lost waiting for an ambulance.

Two good things to have for your old age: government bonds and yourself.

Lots of bank accounts are shot full of holes because people are too quick on the draw.

There's one job a man likes to tackle in the spring—getting his fishing gear ready.

Keep the sun through shady clouds and there are storm deities ahead.

"Oh, Dr. Crane," she began tearfully, "I simply must see you at once. It is very important."
But I suggested she write her problem in detail and mail it to me via her newspaper, for all of your letters come to me unopened.

You thus enjoy the same privileged communication of medical secrecy that pertains to your personal visits to a doctor's office.

"Oh, but Dr. Crane," she pleaded frantically, "I couldn't possibly put my problem into a letter."

"Why, it would take an entire book to tell it, so won't you please see me this week?"

Again I tactfully informed her I am swamped with writing, out-of-town lecturing and especially the handling of your personal letters.

Beth began to cry hysterically, so I let her continue talking. Then I casually asked, "Aren't you and your husband getting along very well?"

"Dr. Crane," she replied "we have been happily married for 16 years and have two wonderful children in high school, but now I find that he is having an affair with his secretary at the of-ice." Please notice that Beth stated her problem in one sentence, although she had previously said it would require an entire book to contain it.

And that is true of everybody.

No problem in this world is so difficult that it cannot be outlined in a one-page, typewritten letter and usually a short paragraph.

"But, Dr. Crane," you may protest, "if that is so, why do patients insist on personal interviews?"

Well, they don't like to face their problem alone, because it is usually painful and ego-deflating.

So they try to evade it as long as possible. Even when they visit their doctor, they also beat around the bush and consume hours of valuable time, unless the physician expertly short cuts such round-about discussion.

Most patients want their adviser to pat them on the back, verbally at least, and side with them, thereby reducing their despair and humiliation.

Beth hates to admit that a younger girl at her husband's office has stolen Beth's husband.

No wife likes to face such a grim and brutal fact. In such cases, women often confide in other wives, who usually "gang up" on the erring husband and accuse him of being 100% to blame.

This is solace to the ego of the aggrieved wife, for it makes her feel like a virtuous martyr whose husband has been a "heel."

Actually, even such apparently innocent wives as Beth are usually 80% to blame for straying husbands, due to their sexual sins of omission.

For men seldom develop affairs away from home if they are satisfied with erotic calories in their own bedroom.

But most wives try to make their husbands guppies at the dinner table and then expect them to go on a long "fast" as regards erotic calories.

Dick West Says

Most Dangerous Writing Job

WASHINGTON (UPI) — One of the world's most hazardous professions is editing a woman's magazine.

The brave fellows who accept this dangerous assignment are thrown into a fierce circulation struggle in which their survival depends to a large extent on feminine whims.

Consequently, their job security rating falls somewhere between kamikaze pilots and politicians.

During the Magazine Publishers Association meeting here this week, I chanced to have a chat with a chap who occupies one of these perilous posts as the editor of Redbook.

His name is Robert Stein and he is somewhat unusual in that his magazine has been increasing its circulation recently. Being skilled at posing questions which might not occur to the average reporter, I asked him how he accounted for his success.

Stein replied that he works on the assumption that a lot of women are getting tired of trying to live up to the image of American womanhood as reflected in the other magazines.

"The composite magazine housewife is on a diet but keeps on cooking rich desserts," he said. "She handles her children as if she were a practicing psychologist."

"She dresses like a fashion plate even though she makes her own clothes. If she has unexpected dinner guests, she goes to the freezer and pulls out a casserole fit for a gourmet."

"She tries at least one different hairdo a week, usually changing colors. She advises the school principal about the latest educational theories, keeps her friends informed about President Kennedy's foreign policy and coaches her husband on how to get ahead in his job."

"She fixes the family auto with a hairpin and never needs an obstetrician, pediatrician or gynecologist except to confirm her own diagnosis."

"Then, when she gets the children off to school, she goes back to being a research psychiatrist or discovers a cure for the common cold."

Stein said he felt there would be a market for a magazine which told women that "you don't have to do all of that."

"We never publish 10 easy rules for doing anything," he said.

His magazine also has adopted a sort of anti-togetherness theme. The latest issue has an article suggesting that marriages might work better if husbands and wives quit confiding in each other.

Intrigued by his dissertation, I asked Stein what originally caused him to steer away from the typical woman's magazine woman.

"It's simple," he said. "I figured that if there were such a woman, I surely would hate to be married to her."

Phil Newsom Says:

Bomber Vs. Missile At Meet

At the NATO meeting in Athens, the United States finds itself on the defensive both militarily and politically.

Britain does not accept NATO supreme commander Gen. Lauris Norstad's view that the intermediate-range ballistic missile is the logical successor to his tactical bombers, which fast are becoming obsolete.

West Germany and some of the smaller nations want several changes made in U. S. policies governing nuclear stockpiling and nuclear weapons.

Both West Germany and France are suspicious of U. S. probing efforts looking toward a settlement of the Berlin question.

On the question of the manned aircraft versus the missile, the British point out that a missile cannot be recalled once it is launched, but a manned plane can. Inherent in the argument is the possibility of touching off a war by mistake.

They admit that bombers are vulnerable on the ground because they depend on large runways and vulnerable in the air because they can be spotted by radar and shot down.

But most wives try to make their husbands guppies at the dinner table and then expect them to go on a long "fast" as regards erotic calories.

So send for my booklet "Sex Problems in Marriage," enclosing a stamped return envelope, plus 20c. And see tomorrow's follow-up.

They believe these weaknesses can be eliminated, with an accompanying increase in security and accuracy.

Indicating that the United States does not entirely oppose the British argument was this week's announcement that the United States would contribute up to $35 million toward development of Britain's revolutionary P-1127, a vertical take-off aircraft.

The P-1127 is capable of supersonic speeds and is designed for use either as an observation plane or fighter.

The question of nuclear stockpiling rises from continuing resentment against exclusive United States control.

Nations in which these weapons are stockpiled are demanding that they not only know the location and size of such stockpiles but also that they be consulted over their use.

West German chancellor Konrad Adenauer goes even farther and demands that the West German army be equipped with nuclear weapons.

The United States will not yield on its determination to prevent as much as possible the spread of nuclear weapons but is expected to give reassurances on the question of consultation.

Demands for consultation spring from two sources. One is a European fear that the U. S. may become "trigger happy" in the event of a threatened conflict. The other is that the U. S. will hesitate to use its weapons out of fear of retaliation against the American continent.

Political Notebook

WASHINGTON—(NEA) — It is going to take more than words; it is going to take some specific actions on pending wage negotiation cases to clarify President Kennedy's real policies toward "noninflationary" pay increases for labor.

Nearly all the comment on the President's speech to the United States Chamber of Commerce meeting here was concentrated on what he had to say about business. But there was another segment in labor policy which deserved equal attention.

The President first declared that his economic stabilization policy was based on holding both wage and price increases and providing for both profits and increased investment for modernization "within the limits of productivity."

This would set a ceiling over all costs of production in the hope that this would not only lower prices to consumers but also stimulate increased purchasing.

The President then made clear that he was not just applying this ceiling to business. He had, and would continue to apply it to labor. Breaking up this key paragraph to give full emphasis to its various points, the President declared:

"I add at this point that when an administration—has not hesitated to seek Taft-Hartley injunctions for national emergencies—has successfully urged moderation on the steel workers and other unions—has expressed a firm and continuing opposition to the 25 hour week, or anything less than the 40 hour week—has gone on record against featherbedding and racketeering and road blocks to automation—"

"It surely does not need to be asked whether it will invoke the national interest whenever it is threatened."

That is about as unequivocal a statement that the President will crack down on labor if its demands go above "the limits of increased productivity" as could be made.

The tests for this statement will come soon.

A presidential fact-finding board has recommended a "noninflationary" 10-cents-an-hour wage increase for 450,000 off-train railway employees. But the railroads say this would cost them $80 million a year and necessitate a rate rise. The brotherhoods ask a 25-cents-an-hour increase.

The railroads and the on-train employees are still negotiating on another presidential commission's recommendations principally affecting working conditions. But the 200,000 engineers and trainmen have customarily been given wage increases similar to those granted off-train employees.

The aluminum industry will begin negotiations with its employe unions in mid-May to renew a contract expiring July 31. In general, the aluminum industry has followed wage patterns set in the steel industry.

In aircraft and missile industry wage negotiations to come later, International Association of Machinists and United Auto Workers are asking for a "noninflationary" 3.5 per cent wage increase. That would soak up all the average national increase in productivity.

But in Kennedy's speech to the United Auto Workers' convention in Atlantic City, he expressed some backtracking on how much he might hold the line or crack down.

"This administration has not undertaken and will not undertake to fix prices and wages in a peacetime economy," he said. "We can suggest guidelines for the economy—but we cannot fix a single pattern for every plant and industry."

"We possess and seek no powers of compulsion and must rely primarily on the volunteer efforts of labor and management, and their sense of public responsibility to make certain that the national interest is preserved."

That is a little different from the emphasis in the Chamber of Commerce speech. And this is why it may take some specific actions by the administration to "penetrate the dust of controversy that occasionally arises to obscure the basic issues and the basic responsibilities," as the President so neatly phrased it in his Chamber speech.

Soviets Say Allies Slow Dismarming

GENEVA (UPI) — The Soviet Union accused the Western powers today of deliberately trying to slow the pace of world disarmament.

But British Minister of State Joseph Gomer said if the Russians consider the Western proposals as recommending disarmament at a snail's pace, "we consider it is a pretty jet-propelled snail."

Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Valerian Zorin made the charge at the 39th plenary session of the 17-nation disarmament committee.

Poison Outbreak Still A Mystery

JACKSONVILLE (UPI) — The cause of food poison at a Negro elementary school which sent more than 300 children to hospitals here, remained a mystery today.

Health authorities indicated they think turkey salad, served at lunch at the Pine Forest Elementary School Tuesday, caused the rash of sickness, but no official announcement has been made.

That is a little different from the emphasis in the Chamber of Commerce speech. And this is why it may take some specific actions by the administration to "penetrate the dust of controversy that occasionally arises to obscure the basic issues and the basic responsibilities," as the President so neatly phrased it in his Chamber speech.

No Hitter, Grand Slam Pace Little League Play Here

By Ronnie Broadway
Herald Sports Editor

National League action in the Sanford Little League last week saw First Federal coast by Yowell's 13-8 after taking a 6-0 first inning lead.

Hickson pitched the victory for First Federal.

Senkarik was the losing pitcher. There were no home runs in the game. Hickson struck out ten batters while Senkarik fanned seven.

Other action saw Standard Oil defeat Chase 7-3 with Bill Higginbotham pitching for the Oilers. Jarrell pitched for Chase. Standard Oil had seven hits while Chase collected three. No home runs in the game.

In other action, Monroe Harbor collected its first win of the season by defeating Chase 8-6 in extra innings. Despite a home run by Markham of Chase, Wilson pitched Monroe Harbor to the win. Maples was the loser.

In the only American League action, Sanford Atlantic National Bank downed Perfection Dairies 15-4. Ricky Galloway was the winning pitcher and Cooper was the losing hurler. The Bankers had eight hits to only one for the Dairy-men.

In the Sanford Junior League, Clint Phillips pitched a no-hitter against Rotary to give CPO an easy 11-0 win. Andy Lyons was the losing pitcher. Ricky Gallober hit a grand-slam homer for CPO.

Despite three consecutive home runs by Florida State Bank, First Methodist picked up two runs in extra innings to defeat the Bankers 11-10.

Each team had 20 hits, including two home runs by Underwood of the Bankers. Cooper of the Bankers, and Davidson of the Churchmen. Other home runs in the game by McKeel and Clements of Florida State. Rianer was the winning pitcher and Cooper was the loser.

Other City Softball League action, Hemphill Motors romped over First Christian 32-9 in a 33 hit effort by the Hemphill team. Butler pitched the easy victory and E. Evans took the loss. Horns and Stafford had home runs for Hemphill.

Looks Like Year For Castoffs

It's beginning to look like the "year of the castoff" in the major leagues.

In baseball parlance, the "castoff" is a reject, a re-tread or simply a guy for whom a club no longer has any use.

This year a whole contingent of players started off with the "castoff" label—guys like Chuck Esseglin of the Indians, Bo Belinsky of the Angels, Billy Pierce of the Giants and Frank Thomas of the Mets, to name a few. Given a chance to make good with new teams, 1962's "castoffs" are causing a lot of red faces in many front offices.

Esseglin, turned down by five other major league clubs, had four hits in eight at-bats including two home runs that helped the Indians set an American League record, split a double header with the Detroit Tigers and remain in a first-place tie with the New York Yankees.

His two homers and six others gave the Indians a total of 25 for eight games, breaking the old AL record of 22 set by the Yankees last year. Cleveland won the opener, 7-6, but lost the nightcap, 8-4. Bubba Phillips' ninth-inning homer broke up the first game, while Jim Bunning's three-inning relief stint helped the Tigers gain the split in the second game.

The two homers gave Esseglin 10 for the season in only 23 games and helped boost his batting average to .385—tops in the AL. Al Kaline hit two homers for the Tigers in the nightcap to take over the AL lead with 12.

The Yankees, meanwhile, downed the Minnesota Twins, 4-3, but lost, 4-2, in the 13-inning second game; the Los Angeles Angels swept the Boston Red Sox, 5-3 and 1-0; the Chicago White Sox beat the Baltimore Orioles twice, by 8-3 scores, and the Kansas City Athletics nipped the Washington Senators, 1-0, and then lost, 7-5.

In the National League, the New York Mets beat the Milwaukee Braves, 7-6 and 9-0; the San Francisco Giants widened their lead to 4½ games by bouncing back to beat the Houston Colts, 7-4, after dropping a 6-3 decision; the Chicago Cubs swept the Philadelphia Phillies, 6-4 and 11-2; the Pittsburgh Pirates downed the Cincinnati Reds, 8-2, and the St. Louis Cardinals edged Los Angeles, 4-3, to take over second place by 13 percentage points.

Belinsky, dropped by the Orioles because they didn't think he could make the major league grade, gave up a bunt single to Pete Runnels in the first inning and a double to Bob Tillman in the fourth inning of the nightcap. Two weeks ago the talkative Belinsky pitched a no-hit, no-run game against Baltimore. Sunday's win was his sixth against one loss. The Angels overcame a pair of home runs by Carroll Hardy to win the opener, with Bob Rodgers driving in the winning run in the fifth on a sacrifice fly.

A double and three straight singles in the top of the 13th off reliever Jim Coates broke up the Minnesota-New York nightcap and enabled Ray Moore to gain a split for the day. Moore pitched to four batters in the ninth inning of the first game and didn't get anyone out. Tom Tresh's single with the bases full deciding the issue. Roger Maris hit his seventh homer in the first game and Harmon Killebrew his eighth. The split left the Twins ½ game behind New York and Cleveland.

The White Sox took the opener with a 14-hit barrage, including two homers by Al Smith as Johnny Buzhardt, a reject from the Phillies, gained his fifth victory against two losses. Smith added two more RBIs in the nightcap to help Ray Herbert gain his fourth win in five decisions.

Bennie Daniels came out of the bullpen to stop a Kansas City rally in the seventh inning and help the Senators win the second game. Manny Jimenez, a rookie reject from the Milwaukee organization and the AL's second leading hitter (.370), won the opener for the A's with a ninth-inning homer that broke up a scoreless pitching duel between Ed Rakow and Claude Osteen. Dodgers and Reds reject, respectively.

Thomas, sold by the Braves to the Mets during the winter, batted in three runs in the opener and two more in the nightcap on a home run, double and two singles. His homer was his 11th. The Mets now have nine victories in their last 13 games. The double victory also vaulted them into eighth place ahead of the Colts.

The Giants staked Pierce to a six-run lead in the first inning of the nightcap and the White Sox hand-me-down hung on to register his sixth victory without a loss. Bob Bruce, who failed with the Tigers, contributed a run-scoring single during a four-run Houston rally in the opener to help himself gain his second victory. The Giants made it close with a two-run rally in the ninth but Dick Farrell, whom the Dodgers gave up on, got the last two outs to save Bruce's win.

Orioles Sign Roberts; To Pitch On Tuesday

CLEVELAND, Ohio (UPI)—The Baltimore Orioles today announced the signing of Robin Roberts and named him as the starter in Tuesday night's game with the Cleveland Indians.

Roberts, former National League pitching ace who won 234 games in 14 seasons with the Philadelphia Phillies, had been a free agent since his release earlier this season by the New York Yankees.

His two homers and six others gave the Indians a total of 25 for eight games, breaking the old AL record of 22 set by the Yankees last year. Cleveland won the opener, 7-6, but lost the nightcap, 8-4. Bubba Phillips' ninth-inning homer broke up the first game, while Jim Bunning's three-inning relief stint helped the Tigers gain the split in the second game.

The two homers gave Esseglin 10 for the season in only 23 games and helped boost his batting average to .385—tops in the AL. Al Kaline hit two homers for the Tigers in the nightcap to take over the AL lead with 12.

The Yankees, meanwhile, downed the Minnesota Twins, 4-3, but lost, 4-2, in the 13-

Rochester farm club in the International League to make room for Roberts.

Roberts, 33, worked out in Baltimore about a month ago and impressed Hitchcock with a new change-of-pace pitch he has developed.

"We are signing Roberts because we believe he can still be effective," Hitchcock said. "His has to improve our pitching staff because now he is better than Quirk."

Oriole manager Billy Hitchcock said left-hander Art Quirk would be optioned to the

Crooms Ends Season On Undeclared Mark

Tall, left-handed William Hartfield allowed only three hits and struck out ten, as Crooms trounced DeLand 11-1 last Wednesday.

The only dark spot on their record, if it could be considered as such, was a tie game with Daytona which was called because of darkness. The only thing left now is the tournament.

The Panthers got off to an early first inning three-run lead, and Hartfield protected that lead carefully. DeLand's lone run came in the fourth inning. After that inning, Hartfield was never again in serious trouble. He walked three.

The Panther's had a hitter's holiday. They reached DeLand's little left-hander for ten hits, four of these being for extra bases. Second baseman Calvin Davis enjoyed a perfect day at the plate with three singles and a walk. Centerfielder George Bush had a single and a double and brother Billy walloped two singles. Freddie Gaines and Jessie Taylor each had singles.

The three top teams after Wednesday's play are Park Avenue Pharmacy with 50 wins and four losses, Toy Corral, 14 wins and ten losses, and Town Pump, 13 wins and 11 losses.

Spills converted were the 2-7 by Alga Mirreles, Barbara Pleisenfeld and Helen Marchesana, the 3-10 by Yvette Hunter.

Five In Row For Verna

Verna Bolton bowled high game and series Wednesday to lead the Bowlerettes. She rolled five strikes in a row to come up with a 225 game and a 505 series.

Other high games bowled were: Ginny Fredricka, 184; Kitty Purdy 173; Shirley Martin, Elaine Kostival, and Lucy Mays 165; Bettye Smith; and Barbara Leisenfeld, 162.

live modern

with flameless Electric Range and Electric Water Heater

Flames and fumes are as old-fashioned as wood-burning in today's modern kitchen. When you cook with flameless electricity there's no fuel grime to soil your walls or settle on your furnishings... no soot to blacken pots and pans. Your kitchen stays cleaner... and up to 16 degrees cooler, too, because the heat goes directly into your food and not into your kitchen. It's faster, too.

Another nice thing about living better electrically is flameless water heating... something your whole family will appreciate. It's automatic, super-fast and super-safe. No noise, no odor, no constant-burning pilot flame... and no flue is needed. Just lots of hot water in a hurry, with never a worry - and peace of mind that's priceless!

For an Electric Range, see your appliance dealer. For an Electric Water Heater... your dealer, plumber or electrical contractor.

There's no match for flameless Electric Living... IT'S CHEAPER, TOO!

WELCOME WAGON

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I live in a city where most people aren't farmers, but they have to get up early in the morning to get to government jobs or to take their children to school. All we can get on the radio at breakfast time is talk about dying chickens, coccidiosis, rat poison, hooft and mouth disease, calf scours, worms and insect sprays. This makes it very difficult to down a poached egg.

It seems to me they could give us shopping bargains, home building improvements and things to discuss with hubby while he's still home. I bet the farmers are out doing chores at that hour. And anyway, even farmers don't like pip and crud for breakfast.

EARLY URP

DEAR ABBY: I'll send you my letter to the F.C.C.—as if they don't have enough headaches.

DEAR ABBY: I have a pen pal. She is a 23-year-old woman living in a foreign country. She is anxious to come to this country and wants to marry me. We have exchanged pictures and she is very pretty. I know very little of her past, but she writes interesting letters and tells me how much she loves me. I have sent her money on different occasions when she has asked me to help her out. That was foolish, wasn't it? My experience with women has been limited as I am slightly handicapped. I've never been married. I am not a kid. Can you advise me how to get out of this correspondence without hurting her?

"THIRTY-SIX"

DEAR "THIRTY-SIX": Write her and tell her that you think it best to terminate the correspondence. You do not owe her any explanation. You were foolish to "help her out" with money, knowing so little about her. Break and break clean.

DEAR ABBY: I don't see why that lady kicked up such a fuss because her husband mentioned other women's names in his sleep. I would rather have my husband dreaming ABOUT someone else than dreaming WITH her.

NO ILLUSIONS

How's the world treating you? For a personal, unpublished reply, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to ABBY, care of this paper.

Jacoby On Bridge

By Oswald Jacoby

My former partner, Curtis Smith of Houston, has just finished a book called, "Bidding Through Logic."

It is entirely on action of the opening bidder and his partner, and while you may not agree with all Curtis' theories, you should be able to help your bridge game by studying the numerous hands that exemplify these theories.

Curtis feels that there is a key bid in every sequence. Thus, North's one diamond response is easy, as is South's spade rebid. At this point, what should North do?

He has tremendous spade support and wants to reach quickly. A jump to four spades would be inadequate, so North should manufacture a three heart bid.

This can't hurt him. No matter how many hearts South bids, North can go to spades. In this case South will bid three no-trump, whereupon North can bid four spades and convey the message that his hand was too strong for a mere jump to game.

There is another by-product of this bid. A heart lead will hold South to five odd, but the way the cards lie he will make a small slam against any other opening.

We The Women:

By Ruth Millet

Ever since I wrote a column saying that many salespeople today don't seem to be interested in selling, I have been swamped with letters from salespeople, mostly saleswomen, saying, "It just isn't so."

Since all of these letters have pointed out that salespeople have plenty of faults, themselves, it seems only fair to sum up what those faults are as seen from the eyes of the person on the other side of the counter.

To begin with, women shoppers are the ones who seem to be inconsiderate and hard to handle. (Not a single salesperson who wrote in said anything against men as shoppers.)

So, here then, women shoppers, are some of the things you do to make the life of salespeople miserable:

Some of you regard a "shopping trip" as a means of killing time. Without the slightest intention of buying anything, you will let a weary saleswoman trot out everything in her department for your inspection and then say airily that she hasn't shown you anything you want.

Some of you are rude enough to make lightning remarks about the merchandise shown you—even such as, "I wouldn't have that if they gave it to me." This, needless to say, salespeople find most offensive.

Some of you paw through merchandise with no thought for the poor salesperson who will have to straighten it all up before she can walk on another customer.

And some of you seem to take pleasure in being rude to salespeople or high-baiting them in order to make yourselves feel superior.

If you have ever been gully on any of those counts then, say the salespeople, you have no right to criticize them.

Highlights TV Time Previews

7:30 - 8:30 p. m. ABC, Cheyenne. "The Harrigan." A bit hazy in spots but enjoyable in this story of a pair of bandit brothers who use a ranch as a front for their forays. Bronco and a pal, Terence Harrigan, are hired as cowpunchers and learn they have joined an outlaw gang. Their plan to bust up the outlaws is almost thwarted when the lusty Harrigan falls for Heather, the outlaw's sister. Sean McClary, Jack Cassidy and Kathie Brown are featured with star Ty Hardt.

8-8:30 p. m. CBS, Pete and Gladys. Of the many plots in this series this is the wildest. Patay Kelly plays a trumpy, talkative maid, who works for Gladys (Cara Williams) and two of her friends. The plot goes wild when Gladys and her friends discover the maid is carrying gossip from one employer to the other. Too soft to fire her outright, Gladys adopts a hilarious disguise to frighten the maid into quitting.

9-10 p. m. ABC, Surfside 6. "A Private Eye For Beauty." This one won't make your hair stand on end, but it is pleasant escape fare. Sandy and Ken (Troy Donahue and Van Williams) are hired by a visiting Latin official (John Dehner) to keep his daughter (Dawn Wells) and her sweetheart (Miguel Landa) apart. Our heroes discover it is not his daughter's happiness which worries the official. The lad has evidence of political skulduggery on the party of his sweetie's father.

9-9:30 p. m. CBS, The Danny Thomas Show. (Rerun) Jimmy Durante's contribution to this story made it one of the best of the series. Danny is miffed when Jimmy turns down an invitation to a banquet honoring Carla, Jimmy's niece. The Schmoos says he doesn't belong in such a group and would hurt Carla's chances with the college crowd. Danny attempts to teach Jimmy the things he should know, with hilarious results. Gina Genardi plays Carla.

9-10 p. m. NBC, 87th Precinct. "Occupation, Citizen." (Rerun) well acted but not entirely believable in the tale of a locksmith who holds the clue to the capture of a mobster. Fearing for the life of his wife and their unborn child, the immigrant holds back information until Detective Carolla does a little flag-waving to break him down. Ross Martin and Caren Lenzay are featured with star Robert Lansing.

10-11 p. m. NBC, Thriller. "Pigeons From Hell." (Rerun) Brando De Wilde and David Whorf are very good, but the story is better. They play brothers who come upon an old southern mansion, uninhabited except for a flock of pigeons and a few evil spirits, all of whom resent their presence. So much so, they possess one brother (Whorf) and force him to attempt murdering the other.

10-11 p. m. ABC, Ben Casey. "So Off It Chances In Particular Men." A penetrating and deeply moving plot with solid all-around acting. A brilliant chemist (James Franciscus) is hospitalized for a slight head injury. But the chemist becomes so morbidly depressed Ben Casey (Vince Edwards) calls in a psychiatrist (Lee Penn). The hypnosis scene is suspensefully accurate, and also good as the chemist's wife is Carol Ross.

Walt Disney's MOON PILOT

By GEORGE E. PAPCUN

Claims to "invention" of television date as far back as 1875, but Dr. Kipkow is credited with developing a whirling disc process in 1884, which stayed in use 'til the late 1920's. At this point the TV picture was little more than a silhouette, about postage stamp size, usually viewed through a magnifying glass.

Color was demonstrated in 1929 — still in the one-inch eye straining size. Two years later it was possible to show 10-foot-high images in black and white, but made up of 60 scanning lines as compared to the present standard of 525 lines, so pictures were crude and shaky.

Pictures on some of today's screens can be unpleasant too, if the set is in poor working condition. Whatever the trouble call TOWN & COUNTRY TV SERVICE, now showing the very latest WESTINGHOUSE "INSTANT ARM" 16-inch Portable, $553 Park Drive, FA 8-5362.

To Mrs. Joe Battle, president, went the purple; to Mrs. T. L. Lingo Sr., first vice president, the blue; Mrs. Albert Myers, secretary, yellow and Miss Ruth Davidson, treasurer, green. All corsages were made by Mrs. George Means, retiring vice president. The retiring president, Mrs. John Ridenour, was presented a lavender orchid plant as a gift of appreciation from the club. During the business meeting, members planned the hostess list for next year and also planned to place a plaque at the foot of an oak tree in front of the City Hall. Hostesses for the luncheon which followed the installation and meeting were Mrs. T. L. Lingo Sr., Mrs. G. G. Parker and Mrs. Lynn Mosier.

LOANS MADE TO RESIDENTS OF ALL NEARBY TOWNS

On The County Level... That Is

No Welfare Abuses Now

(First of two articles on county and state welfare. The next will discuss the proprieties and abuses of the state welfare program in Seminole County.)

Operating on a total budget of $28,600, the Seminole County Welfare Department has the task of trying to make ends meet for the county's indigent, and according to Mrs. Abbie Boyd, county welfare director, it is a job of no mean proportions.

It is true that in the past there were abuses of the local program. When they were uncovered immediate steps were taken to mend the weakness that made them possible. There are now controls in effect which make such abuses a past tense thing.

According to Mrs. Boyd, there is considerable confusion between the state aid program and the local county welfare activity. The basic difference between the two programs is the matter of control of family expenditures.

In the state program a check is received by each family once a month and they can spend it as they see fit, which results in some major abuses, and problems for the state officials.

There are reports of "pay-day" parties in this county that assume the proportions of major social events among the indigent. However, under the county program a slip is issued for a certain amount of money to be spent at an approved grocery store and the welfare agency is billed directly.

Mrs. Boyd says there are strict rules given out to the recipients of help and to the retailers covering the purchases that can be made at county expense. Among these strictures are the prohibition of luxury items such as tobacco, fancy cakes, soft drinks, beer, wine and other things that are not basic to dietary needs.

In Mrs. Boyd's budget for the year there is $9,999.96 allocated for subsistence supplies, and roughly $5,000 to cover the costs of medical aid, drugs, hospitalization, ambulance service and burial costs. The remainder of the budget goes for administrative expenditure, including salaries for Mrs. Boyd and her assistant, Mrs. Irene Burney. Together they are responsible for the program, working without any other help.

As Mrs. Boyd puts it, "The job of the welfare department is to do its best to see that no one goes hungry, or without assistance they cannot finance themselves. We screen the cases carefully and try to keep the cost to the taxpayers at an absolute minimum. In other words, we try to do a conscientious job of helping the most indigent."

A CONVERSATION WITH JUDGE VERNON MIZE.
Reporter: Well, it's been almost a month since you started mandatory jail sentences for DWI. How many have been sent to jail?
Mize: Four.
Reporter: Sleeping good at night?
Mize: Yes, Man.
Reporter: Any regrets?
Mize: (no answer. Let the record show a nod of the head).

A CONVERSATION WITH DOUGLAS STENSTROM, CHAIRMAN OF THE CHAMBER'S LONG RANGE ROAD PLANNING COMMITTEE.
Reporter: Doug, Volusia County is really rolling attempting to get a road north of the Lake Monroe bridge to the Cape. If they beat us to the punch we're finished.
Stenstrom: Yes, we've got to get the rights-of-way for SR 46 to Mims as soon as possible. We can't afford to wait.
Reporter: What will happen if they build the road to the Cape in Volusia?
Stenstrom: It would severely hurt us materially.
Reporter: What can we do?
Stenstrom: Plan and work toward getting those rights-of-way.

Two professional appraisers will be in town Wednesday to discuss cost estimates with the city on reviewing all vacant property. It's a must... We figure the city lost $10,000 last year because it was not up to the market value.

Here are some more figures on those big drops in value by the Oviedo area:
In 1939 the Midway area near Oviedo was assessed at $62,550, in 1960 the same area dropped to $46,710 and on the last roll was set at $27,820.

AND SOME MORE... Washington Park in 1959 was assessed at $37,560... dropped to $49,430 in 1960 and $33,410 in 1961.

In Australia any registered voter who doesn't show up at the polls on election day is fined two pounds ($4.60)...

Tune in on the Perry Como show Wednesday night... There will be a salute to celery.

Although we weren't in town Saturday (Armed Forces Day) our First St. spy tells us there were hardly any flags out.

We hear there is a protest in over the appointment for postmaster's job in Casselberry. It seems that qualified people were passed over in making the selection and the third man on the examination list is about to take the chair.

Don't get annoyed at the night flying around town this week. Our lads from NAS are getting ready to go out... and they need the training.

Casselberry's Mayor Stoddard reports that it costs the town an average of $850 a month to maintain the town's streets and roads.

Stoddard also wonders, at some length, why it is that Commissioner Dunn perseveres in his belief that the proposed work to ease access to Seminole Park Raceway by forluring Winter Park Drive and Seminole Blvd. is illegal, when everybody from Attorney General Irvin on down to the town counsel have declared it not only legal, but a good thing.

A CONVERSATION WITH JIM AVERY.
Reporter: What's this about an agreement in 1957 between the county and the ACLC over who pays for traffic lights by crossings?
Avery: Didn't know anything about it. All I know one board can't bind another and if we can't take it out of secondary funds to protect some lives, we'll do it.

County Termed "Powder Keg"; Citrus Crop In 'Jeopardy'

County Agent Cecil Tucker warned today that the county's multi-million dollar citrus industry was in "jeopardy" and called the county a "virtual powder keg for brush fires" because of the long dry spell.

Tucker said that the lengthy dry spell has already caused some fruit drop and it will continue unless "we get some rain."

He also added that the county's vegetable industry was also in danger "but, not as much as our citrus industry."

Temperatures in the Sanford area have soared over the 95 mark for the past six days.

Monday's high in Sanford was 98.

Astronaut's Odds Jump

CAPE CANAVERAL (UPI) — Improving weather conditions give 60-40 odds in favor of hurling astronaut Scott Carpenter into orbit Thursday morning, the space agency said today.

Despite the possible threat of two storm systems and heavy smoke from widespread fires in the Florida

Everglades, the agency was optimistic about its chances for a launch between 7 a.m. and 12:30 p.m. Thursday.

Paul Hanes, a spokesman for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, said the technical preparations were moving along like clockwork.

The main concern at present, he said, "is a lot of smoke from a lot of fire" in the Everglades. The smoke is causing a high-level haze along the coastline and could restrict the view of high-powered cameras lined along the coast and responsible for tracking the mission.
