

Cards' Leonard Ranks 3rd In FSL Batting Race With Briggs, Zuccate

Thomas "Tommy" Leonard, rampaging Sanford Cardinal outfielder, is now in the throes of a three-way race for the Florida State League batting title, this week's official averages released by Peter Schaal revealed. For games through last Thursday night, Leonard stands third in the circuit with a .438 average.

Clyde Briggs of Jax Beach is the league's leading hitter with an astronomical .467 mark, which was a drop of 33 points since his average was released last week. Standing in second place is Mike Zuccate, Daytona Beach outfielder, with a .432. Zuccate plummeted 28 points from his .471 percentage of one week ago.

In the averages through last Thursday, both Leonard and Briggs had hitting streaks going. Briggs had made at least one hit in every one of the 17 games played by the Sea Birds through Thursday. And Friday night he cracked out one more hit in five trips to extend his consecutive hitting skin to 18. Leonard had hit in 11 games when the loop averages were released and extended it to 12 in Cocca game Friday to break last year's Sanford hitting streak of 11 set by Johnny Imbra.

By banging out two hits in four tries at Cocca Friday night, Leonard hiked his season's average to .441. During his 12-game swing binge, the Paul Warner-like southpaw batter has been maintaining a torrid .500 pace with 26 hits in 53 at bats.

Sea Bird Manager Red Truway got through 16 straight before being stopped in Cocca, while Glen Prescott of Deland had a 14 straight game string unbroken as of midnight Thursday.

Meanwhile the Cardinals dropped from their second place ranking in team average to fifth with a drop of seven points from .278 to .271. The Jax Beach average shrank from a lofty .303 to .291 to lead the circuit.

Individually, Sanford had a first place rating with Bill Silverthorne leading the rookies with a .355 average. Shortstop Bill Batty is fourth among the recruits with a .322 mark. Manager J. C. Dunn fell off his earlier pace to a fifth spot ranking among veterans with a .265 average.

Faced by Manager Carvel Rowell, who has long since qualified as one of the Class D Florida State League's "One Man Gangs", the surprising Cocca Indians continued their merry early season pace thru Thursday night, April 30, and, with 12 wins in 17 contests, stood atop the standings a full game ahead of Jacksonville Beach.

Rowell is the man who is leading the way for the former major leaguer not only has the unique distinction of having four games without defeat as a relief hurler in four tilts, but, boosting his average from .288 to .376 for the week ending Thursday night, he holds leadership in four departments.

The ace, in stolen bases with nine to eight for Skeeter Baller of Daytona, in runs batted in with 23 to 22 for Foster of Jax Beach; in homers with three, although here he is tied with Pirtle and Docker of Palatka and Boyd of Leesburg.

The Indians put together a six game winning streak for an all-time record for their club during its two year stay in the cellar. Winning five out of seven during the week, they matched the effort of the defending champions, the Deland Red Hats, and the 1953 runners-up, the Jax Beach Sea Birds. The week was unusual in that it failed to produce either a new record in any department, or a tie of an old record.

Hughes of Cocca had scored the most runs, 22, and Briggs the most hits, 35 in 17 games. Zuccate of Daytona and Ramsey and Dunbar of Leesburg were tied with eight doubles each, while Penza of Deland was leading in triples with three.

The week produced the first fines of the season when President Jack Dempsey ordered Raoul Fundora of Leesburg to pay a $25 fine for kicking in the door of the umpires' dressing room at Cocca the night of April 21. Umpire-in-chief Bill Leits, and umpire John Eich also fined Palatka hurler Billy Hays $5 for using the wrong kind of language on umpire Tom Williams in Palatka's April 21.

Among the hurlers, the veteran Don Urquhart of Leesburg had scored five straight wins without a loss. Rowell had four without loss, although in a relief role in each instance. Craumer of Daytona and Angel of Jax Beach each were undefeated with four wins; Britt and Hason of Jax Beach had three wins; a place as did Frazer of Cocca, while Alward of Cocca had won four of five decisions.

Craumer fanned 13 men to hold leadership in that department for a single game, while Jim Vickery of Deland, although loser of two of four games, had fanned 42 men in 37 innings of hurling. Surprisingly, one of the league's 14 active veterans had dropped four games—Bill Phillips of Leesburg—while winning one.

Sanford Opens Battle For 7th Place In Orlando Tonight

Cards End 7-Game Losing Streak; Split With Jax Beach, 11-4, 5-4 SHS Rocks Mainland, 12-3, For 5th Win In Last 7

By KENT CHETLAIN

Tonight the Sanford Cardinals, sporting a humbling 1-3 record in the last nine games, will invade Tinker Field in Orlando to battle the Senators for seventh place. Lou Calvetti, refugee outfielder, has been nominated to make his first appearance on the mound this year for the Redbirds by Manager J. C. Dunn.

Calvetti, who began his career on the hill, posted an impressive 12-12 record with a low 2.22 earned run average playing for Goldboro of the Coastal Plains loop last year. The blonde 20-year-old right hander started in the outfield for Sanford this year and began hitting the ball at a torrid clip only to tamper off. Calvetti swatted the first Cardinal home run in year but his attack work and erratic throwing arm fell off almost immediately after the big blow.

The outfield-pitcher from Clun, Pa., is playing his third year in organized ball. He hit over the .300 mark most of the season until recently when he went 21 times at bat making but one hit to plummet his batting mark to the .251 point.

Meanwhile, skipper Dunn has tentatively listed Murray Ivry, winner of two and loser of one, for tomorrow night's game here in Sanford with the Orlando Senators. Following on Wednesday night will be a doubleheader in the Memorial Stadium in Deland, the Palatka Azaleas, Dunn's hurling choices go to Clarence Ingram and Ernie Palmieri.

Ingram hurled one of his best games in the Memorial Stadium last Saturday night, 11-4 to beat Sanford's ignominious seven-game losing streak. The night before, the Red Birds lost to the Indians in Cocca, 7-5. Lefty Paul McMurray was tagged with the loss, hurling the first inning and part of the second before retiring for David Leonard, who has not yet blossomed out in to quite a pitcher.

Tommy Leonard extended his 11-game hitting skin to 12 straight in Cocca, Friday night, with a pair of blinges. Leonard, however, had his batting string unbroken in his bid for 13 in a row during Saturday night's Jax Beach victory. Leonard (failed to connect in four times at bat, drawing only one walk.

Ingram had a six-hit skunk with one out in the eighth inning Saturday night against Jax Beach until Sea Bird Manager Red Truway slammed a mile-a-minute liner off Ingram's mitt and head for a single to score Clyde Reinert.

Ingram was carried from the field, but sustained only a large lump on the noggin which stunned him. The Birds have not to score three more runs before the finish of the carnage.

Sunday the Sea Birds eked out a 4-4 reverse over Sanford in Jacksonville Beach. Ernie Palmieri started on the rubber, but his usual effectiveness was not with him. Leonard finished up after the Birds pounded Palmieri for five runs on eight hits.

Sanford got maximum mileage out of its two hits, scoring four times. Price Westbrook, rookie first baseman for Sanford, injured his leg badly in an attempt to score three more runs before the finish of the carnage.

Mel Fleischer Wins 4th Game Of Year

Seminole High School finished its regularly scheduled baseball season last Friday afternoon in Daytona Beach with a routing 12-3 carnage of Mainland High. Mighty Mel Fleischer fashioned his fourth victory in five decisions on a sterling seven-hitter.

The victory gave the Feds a 6-5 season's record to carry into the Southern East Florida Conference diamond tournament in Daytona Beach on Wednesday.

While Fleischer was snaring the headlines on the mound, Terry Cordell and Junior Metts were starring at the plate. Both players pounded out three hits in four appearances. Cordell drove home two runs with his blows. Metts' feat was of particular note, since the normally swinging right-handed batter had to switch to the left side of the plate for the first time in his life.

Not to be outdone in Sanford's clean sweep over the Mainlanders was the performance of Bubba Hisebe, classy fielding Fed Gate-keeper. The lanky lefty smashed a tremendous bases loaded triple in the seventh to clear the sacks. Ed McCall got into the act by driving in three runners on a double.

Frank Stafford continued his hitting skin with a bing in three trips to the plate. The late starting Stafford has been the most consistent Sanford hitter in the last half dozen games.

The Mainland triumph capped a late season winning spurge by the Seminole Braves. Sanford won five of its last six games to vindicate its lofty pre-season ranking. The Bill Fleming coached nine wound up with a 3-3 EFC record and is still very much in the running for the conference title and the state high school championship.

Sanford will open the EFC meet in Daytona Wednesday. It will play for the Southern title in the conference. If the players weather the competition they will go on to play the winner in the northern sector in a single game championship playoff.

No matter what the Seminoles do in Daytona, Sanford will be entered in the state prep championship sub tourney on May 14 at either New Smyrna or Daytona.

Buddy Lake Is Named President Of Softball Loop

By KENT CHETLAIN

Bernard "Buddy" Lake, Sanford's baseball immortal and local service station operator, was named president of the newly formed Sanford Men's Softball League at a meeting in the City Hall Friday night. The new six-team league official drew the rules and designated May 10 as the opening of the first half of a split season.

The six teams are Wilson-Mailer and Hobson Sporting Goods, two holdovers from last year; VC-9 and FARRON 51 from the Sanford Naval Auxiliary Air Station; Salvation Army and the National Guard unit of Company I of the 121st Inf. Division.

The six-team loop will play on Tuesday, Wednesday and Friday night at the Lakefront Diamond. There will be doubleheaders each evening with the first game starting at 7:30 o'clock and the nightcap at 9:00 p. m.

The six manager of the loop selected Lake president, who agreed to accept earlier if chosen. His job will be to settle all disputes and supervise the operations of the league scorekeepers.

The officials scorers will probably be staff members of the City's summer recreational program, Tommy Stringer—director, Fred Ganas and Howdie Gordie, though this is not official.

Umpires will be paid this year. Each team will have to pay $10 for officiating fees. An elaborate set of rules governing the rosters and released players were drawn at the Friday night meeting presided over by Stringer.

Players who jump clubs will be banned from play for at least 30 days and may not play without obtaining acceptance from Lake. Released players have to procure a letter of release from their former managers and have the loop proxy approve transfer of the player to another team. A five-day period must elapse between player transactions.

The first half begins on May 19 and winds up on July 3. The second half will begin two weeks after the end of the initial phase of the season on July 21.

Each team will be allowed to carry 16 players on its roster with the exception of the two Navy teams which will be allowed to have a 25-player roster because of Navy transfers which may cut the teams up during the summer.

Each manager must submit a list of his six reserves and with his lineup to the official scorer before the game begins. If the scorer finds a player who is not on the roster in the lineup, the team violating the new rule will automatically forfeit the game.

The official schedule will be drawn at the next meeting on May 16 at a place yet to be announced.

Ingram Is All Right After Being Beated

The condition of Clarence Ingram, who was hit on the head by a line smash off the bat of Fredway last Saturday night, was described as fine. Ingram was only stunned and received a large bump on the head. The Albany, Georgian had a six-hit skunk going until the eighth when Truway sent a cannon-like shot back to the mound that deflected off Ingram's glove striking his head and carrying 25 feet into right field for a hit, holding his head. After a preliminary examination by Dr. J. C. Hoye, Ingram was pronounced all right and only stunned. Ingram was credited with the 11-4 Sanford victory which ended the local's seven-game losing streak. The control ball specialist now has a 2-3 season's record.

Dempsey Fines Dunn, Smith And Skelton

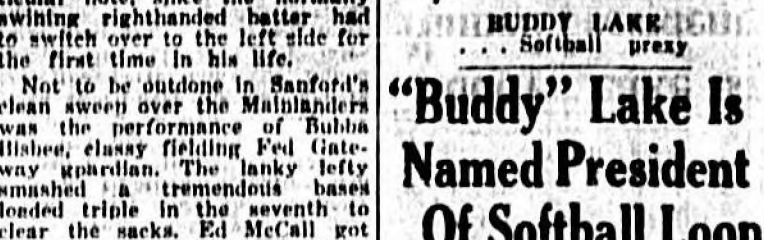

Manager J. C. Dunn, Paul Smith, and Bob Skelton—the three Sanford Cardinal players ejected from the Daytona Beach game last Thursday night—were fined a total of $25 by Florida State League President Jack Dempsey last Saturday night. Dunn and Smith were tossed out by Tommy Williamson and each received a $10 fine. Skelton, who was banished by Joe Tonoff, received a $5 fine.

Card First Baseman Breaks Leg In Slide

Price Westbrook, 20-year-old rookie first baseman who assigned to Sanford only five days ago, broke his leg while sliding into second base in the sixth inning of the Sanford-Lee Beach game at Jacksonville Beach yesterday. The job is a foot-3/4 gateway guardian was taken from the Sea Bird part in an ambulance accompanied by his father, who drove down from Albany, Ga. home to one of the most respected ball players in the league. Westbrook's injury was the only one of the game. The game was suspended for several hours but resumed at 8:30 p. m. on the Card's victory.

Scouts Sell Benefit Baseball Tilt Ducata

The Seminole County Boy Scouts will commence and advance benefit sale of baseball tickets of the Sanford-Orlando game here May 14 at a part of a fund-raising drive at tomorrow night's Orlando-Sanford game in the Memorial Stadium. It was announced today by Scout Director John Peterson. Tickets of the Sanford game will be sold at 50 cents apiece. The proceeds will be used for the benefit of the Seminole County Boy Scouts.

Three Publishers Purchase Control Of Sanford Herald

Walls, Fackelman, Haskell Buy Paper

Controlling interest in the Sanford Herald was sold today to three former Florida newspapermen, according to an announcement made by Rolland Dean, publisher.

The three new owners are Clarence Walls, R. H. Fackelman and R. H. Haskell Jr. Mr. Walls for several years was business manager of the Orlando Sentinel Star and presently is owner and president of Southern Newspapers, Inc., which ownership includes the Daytona (Tex.) Sun, the Cleveland (Tenn.) Banner, the Charleston (Ga.) Star and the Bristol (Va.) Herald Courier and the Gadsden (Ala.) Times, Inc., all daily newspapers.

Mr. Fackelman is a former publisher of the Winter Haven, Fla. where he went shortly after Army service. Prior to that he published his own newspaper in Westport, N. Y., a past owner of the Morris town (Tenn.) Daily Sun and now is serving as publisher of the Cleveland Banner and a vice president of Southern Newspapers, Inc.

Mr. Haskell is a former publisher in Winter Haven, Fla. where he went shortly after Army service. Prior to that he published his own newspaper in Westport, N. Y., a past owner of the Morris town (Tenn.) Daily Sun and now is serving as publisher of the Cleveland Banner and a vice president of Southern Newspapers, Inc.

Also interested in the Sanford Herald is the News-Journal Company, owned by John H. Perry Jr. of Jacksonville. The Jacksonville Beach Post-Times and some 20 other newspapers, most of which are in Florida.

News-Journal general manager today praised the new officials, coming into ownership with him as "newspapermen of the very first rank" and he said he is certain to have a tremendous impact on the growth and development of Sanford and Seminole counties.

The new owners announced that members of the present staff of the Herald will be retained with possibly additional members being added to facilitate the growth.

The Herald was founded as a weekly paper in 1908 by the late Robert J. Holly who had previously served as managing editor of the Orlando Sentinel Star and began publication in the present building on Magnolia Avenue as soon as it was completed.

It was incorporated as the Herald Printing Co. on June 8, 1910 with Mr. Holly, his wife, and P. L. Moore as incorporators and with a capital stock of $10,000.

Mr. Holly was succeeded by the late Governor Albert Gilchrist and Secretary of State H. Clay Crawford. Among his first stockholders was Walter M. Hays, who served as secretary and business manager until he resigned in August, 1920.

Mr. Hays was succeeded by Harry Thomas, Kenneth Wilson, Harry Moore and J. Lillard. E. B. Rourke and P. F. Dutton.

In his first editorial published on Aug. 22, 1908, Mr. Holly wrote: "The Herald is founded in any sense of attachment to a 'gang' or 'clique', and will be found at all times on the side of the people, striving for the right and sustaining rather than destroying the fabric on which the moral and social elements of the state will be built. It will be a branch of the public mind with freedom limited only by the canons of truth, justice and decency. It will uphold the liberty of the individual and the lawful order of society against all aggressions. It will strive to elevate the moral tone of our city. It will be found in every emergency on the side of civilization and in the war of progress, its norm being the truth which teaches that politics is a branch of morality."

The entire stock of the Herald was sold on Nov. 17, 1952 to Rolland Dean, Hesse Combs and R. H. Heg of Miami. Mr. Combs resigned as president in April, 1952, and sold his stock to Mr. Dean, who became president and editor, and Mr. Heg, who was named secretary-treasurer and business manager.

In their first issue on Nov. 19, 1952, the new owners wrote: "With a working slogan, 'Today's News Today,' the Herald will undertake to tell its readers the stories of the day's happenings, with emphasis on the local activities and the interests of the home people. We shall endeavor with equal effort to augment the paper's long and varied record of news and reports. We stand for law enforcement, for decency, and for a dignified and high, that will keep the Herald as a branch of the public mind."

On April 30, 1954 the name of the corporation was changed from the Herald Printing Co. to Sanford Herald City.

Board's Request Of 40-Mile Rate On Celery OK'd

Sam P. Turnbull, State highway engineer, stated in a telegram to County Attorney Lloyd H. Boyle which was read today at the regular meeting of the County Commissioners that the State has taken immediate action on a request for speed zones in County areas just outside of Sanford.

The telegram read by Clerk O. P. Hendon stated:

"I have received for special restricted zone on State Road 115 (Celery Avenue) has been approved for 40 miles per hour and signs will be erected promptly. The request area at Monitor Corners is being surveyed and we will give the Board report as soon as possible."

According to the commissioners, signs have already been erected on Celery Avenue.

Commissioners passed a motion which would pay owners along the right-of-way from Sanford Avenue east to the south entrance of the Navy base $15 for each 150 feet. Total cost for buying up the right-of-way will amount to less than $400. Commissioners accepted all deeds except the one which have not yet been received.

E. B. Hitchcock appeared before the Commission with a request to construct a path from the Big Tree Park to the north side of the group that would ensure him no fence would be erected bordering him from the County property.

Mr. Hitchcock plans a novelty store on the 115th property which will be a part of the Big Tree Park and owners would have free access to the attraction. He also said that he would agree to shell the path way from the north side of the property.

The commissioners approved his request and will notify the contractor of the park of the action.

A request will be made of the State Road Department to designate and survey State Road 115 from Melonville Avenue to the Wekiva River.

A letter was read from Charles R. P. Brown, administrative assistant to Governor Helms, regarding that Robert S. Bradford, whom the Commissioners recommended for the post of hospital trustee, would receive "fair and reasonable" consideration. Bradford's motion was passed authorizing the purchase of 30 chairs at a total cost of $165 for use in the Grand Jury room from Sweeney's Office Supplies.

Commissioners took no action on a request from Mrs. Carmela H. Ray, superintendent of District 12, University Heights, for use of two additional rooms in the Melech Building.

The group approved a request by Miss Lin Woodard, Home Demonstration agent for Seminole County, for an appropriation of $100 to help send 4-11 girls and a leader to attend a short course.

A sheriff deputy bond in the amount of $1,000 was approved for William Robert Brown.

The Commission was informed that Seminole County's share of the seventh cent gasoline tax for last month was $1,796.32 and the County's share for the 20 percent special fuel tax was $28.21.

Big Sum Asked Of Congress As Foreign Aid Request Is Contained In Special Message

WASHINGTON — The Eisenhower administration asked Congress today for $5,282,000,000 in new foreign aid as a necessary defense for America itself against the Soviet threat.

President Eisenhower made the main plea in a special message to the lawmakers. The detailed presentation was made by a parade of cabinet members headed by Gen. Omar Bradley, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, in testimony to a joint session of the Foreign Affairs committee.

The basic purpose of this program is to simply the long-term security of the United States from the shadow of the Soviet threat, the presidential message said.

He noted that the bulk of the money, approximately $3,200,000,000 is set up for military weapons and for other defense items, that the remainder will be used for other purposes, including the aid of our friends and allies.

He noted that this is a measure of the peril in which free nations continue to live.

The budget, under which he cannot afford to relax our defenses until we have seen a clear and definite purpose on the part of the Soviet Union, Eisenhower said.

Secretary of State Dulles, leading off the congressional committee, made virtually the same points in a different way, and added that the country's members, that the mistake has been made in not doing this by.

When the request is approved by the Senate, it will be included in the fiscal year beginning July 1. It is still possible that many Congress members will be willing to add to it.

The reduction is not as great as many would like to see, Dulles said, "having regard to the fact that the present program is to establish our currency and our economy to reduce taxes. The reduction, however, as great as it is, cannot be accomplished without the essential security of the world."

Dulles said there is no evidence of Russia's threat to the free world has diminished and will diminish within the foreseeable future.

The new foreign aid program he said is "aimed at retaining the initiative for peace."

President Eisenhower, in his foreign policy speech April 16, said that the program is "aimed at retaining the initiative for peace."

In speaking about the cost of the program, Dulles disclosed most of the funds will continue to go to build up America's 14 North Atlantic Pact allies.

But he said the new administration also would step up military and economic help to communist dominated Cuba, China and other countries, and provide money for weapons for Japan's internal security and defense.

"About 100 million dollars is set aside for India, but he said to help the French fight increasing Communist pressure in their South East Asia nation. He added "there may be other modest increases in present aid programs and to the lawmakers."

"We must materially strengthen the effectiveness of Chinese forces in Formosa," he said. "Formosa is a strategically important and economically important island which is also important that we assist directly in improving economic conditions."

A temporary closed sign was posted in a lobby of the Hotel Biltmore Monday night. Many of the delegates arrived about a special train at 10 p.m. (PST) and some didn't know about the change in plan until they got to the hotel.

Scoping Down Of Proposed Rate Beaten

FALLAHASSEE — Supporters of the administration bill to take away some of Florida's dog track profits beat down the first of proposed weakening amendments today with a 40-10 vote.

An hour and a half of debate, none of it fervent, preceded the 40-10 amendment by Rep. Melton Phillips, county to scale down the proposed rate for giving the state more and the track less of the betting tax as daily income goes up.

Shortly afterwards the House should down another amendment by the Escambia County delegation which would let smaller tracks keep half the "break"—the odd cent which would go into calculating odds to the nearest dime. The bill would give all this money to the state.

As the argument died out, though, the House shows a determination to get the battle over with. It closed a motion to stay in the Senate and a final vote is to be held.

Opponents of the bill called it "padding" and "padding" that the state should not need the additional dollars a year it will produce for distribution among the counties and the old age assistance program.

Supporters countered that dog tracks are making more money than they are investing and the counties are not getting the money to take care of the persons and school teachers.

Rep. David Brinson, leading the fight for the bill, said funds supplied by the tracks own and they are in the hands of the Revenue Club has significant cash on hand, West Florida Amusement Co. $150,000 in cash and bonds and the St. Petersburg track $100,000 in cash and bonds.

He said the average of the state's 14 dog tracks is $12 per cent of the total of the average now.

TODAY'S BIBLE VERSE

There are fundamental similarities in all morals. The Great Nazarene showed how to rise above heredity and become sinless sons of God. He fashioned their hearts alike.—Ps. 51:15.

It begins to look as if we might not get the Korean war settled in time for our next engagement in Indo-China.

Harvard Athletic Association has decided to admit its entire student body into all its football games free of charge, but there is still some talk, it is reported, as to whether their games are worth even this much.

The traffic death rate in the United States per 100 million auto miles is 7. But to show it does not need to be this big, the American Medical Association Journal shows that in Rhode Island it is only 2.2, Connecticut only 2.9 and in many other states it is less than 7. What they can do, other states can do, if they try.

Good construction is the best

cording to the average, 2.2 tourists. This shows what tourists mean to Florida's filling stations, motor highways, and also what that much traffic means to the highway themselves.

Despite the long casualty lists from Korea, the rate of death for the soldiers involved is considerably lower than during either the first or second World Wars. In the 1917-18 conflict 130,000 Americans were killed at an annual rate of 82,250, or 6,850 per month. In the second World War 325,000 American soldiers died, an annual rate of 88,800, or 7,400 a month.
But in the Korean war, 23,500
Americans have been killed, or 6,400 a year, or about 700 a month. We don't know whether this reflects the better protection provided American soldiers in modern wars, or whether it shows the less steady fighting power of the enemy. But in either case it is encouraging.

It is always a pleasure to hear Karl Lehmann speak as he did yesterday at the Rotary Club on "American Rotarians". How this man retains all his dynamic energy with all he does throughout the year is a mystery to us. Over thirty years ago he resigned to Central Florida after serving twenty years at secretary of the International Society of Christian Explorers. Since then he has been first secretary of the Orange County Chamber of Commerce, secretary of the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce, secretary of the Lake County Chamber of Commerce, executive manager of the U. S. Treasury's War Savings campaign, and past president of the Rotary Club.

The Song Of The Press

The Sanford Herald has been sold. With this issue the controlling interest passes into the hands of new owners who bring to it the additional capital and financial strength which it needs to keep pace with an expanding community.
They are experienced newspapermen of high integrity and important connections which will enable them to undertake whatever is necessary to give Sanford and Seminole County
the most aggressive, dependable and widely read newspaper obtainable.

The Herald was founded in 1908 by the late Robert J.
Holly and was located in the same building where it is now published. Walter M. Haynes was its first secretary and business manager and remained with the paper until after the first World War. It started as a weekly, soon became a bi-weekly, and was first published as a daily in 1919.

It was just thirty years ago next fall that it was sold to the Dean family and we came here as the "youngest newspaper editor in the state". Since then we have enjoyed an experience which it is the privilege of few newspapermen to have,
to own their own newspaper, to write their own editorials,
to say what they please and think about anything about which they care to write.

Throughout this period we have consistently opposed what we believed to be bad for the community and tried to encourage its development along sound, progressive and cultural lines. We have exposed graft and corruption and we have supported better schools, hospital facilities and recreation. But we have always believed it should be possible to take an active interest in politics without becoming blindly partisan, to denounce drunken driving without condemning the driver.

To say that we have enjoyed this experience would be a masterpiece of understatement. We have revelled in it. We have attended almost every Chamber of Commerce meeting for 30 years. We have enjoyed thousands of civic club lunches and community banquets. We have served on countless committees and innumerable drives. We have listened to the advice, encouragement, and tales of woe of an endless stream of visitors. And we have come to understand the people and their problems as few will ever have an opportunity to know them.

But thirty years are enough. It is not easy to run a small newspaper and make it pay. We have had our good years and our bad ones. We have seen the Herald make so much money our principal problem was in deciding what to do with it. And we once saw the business drop from $120,- 000 to $30,000 in three short years. We watched it climb firmly entrenched during the prosperous '40s. And we find it now in the best financial condition it which it has ever been.

And so we believe the time has come for us to sell. We are no longer the "youngest newspaper editor in Florida".
We have reached that stage in life when it is more pleasant to sit by a fireside and read a good book than it is to study the profit and loss statements of our auditors, more relaxing to have an occasional afternoon of golf than it is to devote our "spare time" to the "cost of production" or to the financial problems of new equipment.

We do not know what the future holds for us but wherever we may go or whatever we may do we shall always hear the song of the presses. They sing to us the lullaby of the new born baby and the psalm of the sick and dying. They chatter of weddings and parties and they groan with the slaughter of the highways and the crime of the underworld. Their continuous hum is the pulsating heartbeat of the community and they tell a story which is stranger than fiction.

Editors are temporary, but newspapers are eternal.
Like the River of Time they flow on forever, rolling, tumbling along, battered sometimes by the rocks of adversity, tending, turning now and then to cover the wide range of popular interests and human emotions, but ever unyielding in the general course they must pursue to reach the broad flat plains of truth, trust and enlightenment.

Wise Economy

President Eisenhower told congressional leaders that he hopes to cut nearly eight and one-half billion dollars from the budget proposed by former President Truman. Some observers believe that if the President could cut that much he would be in seeing distance of a balanced budget.

It is believed that a major part of the cuts the President wants to make will be in defense and foreign aid. But he has made it plain on more than one occasion that he does not intend to let our national defense effort fall below the safety level. Neither does he intend to abandon our allies who still need our help.

It is encouraging to see the President moving forward with promised economies. Taxes are high and relief will be welcome. But it is even more encouraging to note that he does not intend to achieve savings at the expense of our security.

When President Eisenhower took office there were many who hoped that it would spell the immediate end of the Korean fighting and an immediate reduction in taxes.
Now that a few months have passed these people are impatient and already beginning to complain bitterly.

Running a country is a complex job and it is important for a President to look ahead as well as at immediate problems. President Eisenhower could reduce the budget a great deal more than eight and one-half billion dollars. But the deal more than eight and one-half billion dollars. But the saving might have to be paid for with our safety. No American would be willing to pay such a price.

THE WORLD TODAY

By DON WHITEHEAD
(For James Marlow)

WASHINGTON — President
Eisenhower doesn't know it—but if
Lt. Col. Solodovnik of the Russian Army had had his way, Eisenhower most certainly never would have become president of the United States.

The little colonel started a personal war against Eisenhower back in the winter of 1943. That was when he advocated firing the supreme commander of Allied forces in North Africa—who was Eisenhower. And he told the British as much.

As everyone knows, the general wasn't fired. He went ahead to lead the Allies to victory in Europe. And, probably to Solodovnik's dismay, he became president.

Anyway, it's a good time to tell the story because it was eight years ago this week—with no
thanks to Solodovnik—that Eisenhower accepted the surrender of the Nazis in the schoolhouse at Rhein.

The little Russian appeared in the western desert as a correspondent attached to the British Eighth Army. He filed regular dispatches to the Russian news-agency Tass in Moscow. But it was well known to all of us and to the British intelligence that he was in fact an artillery colonel—not a newspaperman.

The newsmen got to know Solodovnik pretty well. He spoke a fair brand of English and he mixed a good deal with the correspondents who followed the fur-tunes of the fight against Rommel's famed Afrika Corps.

Even in those days as an ally, Solodovnik displayed a distinguished attitude toward the British and American effort. He poked sly fun at the war in the desert.

One day Col. Phillip Astley, the British press officer, briefed Solodovnik on details of Montgomery's attack against Rommel just south of Bengasi. Montgomery had used the Highland New Zealand Division to spearhead the thrust.

For the desert war, that was a grounded spearhead, although the Russians in those days were using armored divisions in their fighting.
When Astley explained to Solodovnik the two-division tactic, the little Russian quipped: "Oh, I understand a patrol action!"

But when he was asked he was needed in the British, he was wrong.
His crack tickled the British sense of humor so much they spread the story through the Army themselves.

During that winter, the fighting in North Africa bogged down. Eisenhower's timetable for capturing Tunisia stalled in mud and rain. The growing German resistance, Solodovnik flew from the desert into North Africa, by British courtesy, to look over the situation.

A few days later, he returned and wrote a long dispatch for Moscow. He presented it to the special censor who handled only Solodovnik's writings. Things began popping. Solodovnik was called into the tent of Montgomery's chief of staff.

Toughly, this was how the conversation went to those listening outside:
Officer: "Solodovnik, we cannot approve this story."
Solodovnik: "But why?"
Officer: "You spent only a few days in North Africa. You had only a superficial look at the situation.
Obviously you could not know all the facts. Therefore we cannot let you send this dispatch saying that Gen. Eisenhower should be removed from his command."
Solodovnik left soon after that.
I saw him once in Italy as a member of the Russian mission observing the fighting there. He had been promoted to full colonel.

Then, near the war's end, the Americans and Russians met on the Mulde River in Germany. Russia's Gen. Kopylov invited America's Gen. Omar N. Bradley to dinner at his headquarters in an old German mansion south of Berlin.

There on the steps stood Solodovnik, wearing this time the insignia of a major general.
But Solodovnik was cool toward his old companions of the western desert. Maybe he was brooding because Eisenhower hadn't been fired.

When in old motion pictures,
the wheels of a motor vehicle seem to be stalling or revolving backward, it was the result of coordination of the motion of the spokes with the rotations—a second speed of the film.

Woman Found Dead In Tub In Miami Beach

MIAMI BEACH — A 33-year-old Illinois woman was found dead
in the bathtub of a Miami Beach
hotel Monday.

Police identified her as Miss Betty M. Turner, Cicero, Ill., and said she had taken a dose of poison.

Peace Justice Kenneth Oka said
she left a note describing herself as an orphan who suffered from "chronic unhappiness and poverty."

No incidents were reported and the Negro delegates were put up at the Lord Calvert, a Negro hotel in Miami, and at the homes of Miami Negro church members.

The Miami office of the Federal Bureau of Investigation was notified and a preliminary inquiry was made.

Edward Powers, agent in charge of the FBI office, said "The concern of the FBI is to find out whether there have been any violations of the civil rights statutes.
Our preliminary inquiry indicates that there has been none."

None made this additional statement when reached by telephone:
"I closed the hotel, but I want to say now that if any of the Negro delegates come in and they can't find other accommodations, the hotel will be opened up for them and I don't care what threats are
made."

If they want to take the risk,
I'm willing to abide by my agreement."
The convention is scheduled to last a week.

as properly as we ought to be and should give our curving backbones
a little rectification.

With a choice, I am in a quandary
as to whether to have my greatest efforts in the observation of "Mental Health Week" or "National Posture Week". This business of trying to sit up straight and think straight at the same time is really driving me "nuts".
I guess I'd better go all-out for mental health and let my Chiropractor worry about my spine.

It seems I have unintentionally misinterpreted the Sheriff of Pinellas County. In a recent column I told of the shabby treatment received by a prisoner, picked up at the Sunshine Park Race Track, at Ocala. The track is actually in Hillsborough County and the man
as confined in the Hillsborough
County jail. Several indignant Pinellas County readers jumped on their sheriff, who was in no way responsible. My apologies, Sheriff.

Foreign Aid Request

also proposed "a moderate increase" in technical and military aid to Latin America. He assailed the Truman administration for failing to "give proper attention" to Latin America.
Dulles contended many countries
which in the past were friendly toward the United States "are beginning to wonder whether the creator of power has not shifted from Washington to Moscow."

TEEN TALK

AP Newsfeatures Beauty Editor It is normal to pump and gun for yourself. That's the fun of being a woman. So don't let the boys intimidate you into staying in the looking glass.

Go all out with your feminine wiles. Seek flattering coiffures, chic hats, glamorous makeup. Women have been dressing themselves since the first leaf was loosed, the glorious ginnick, and perhaps even a new team. It is the time for a new one that is not only the time for the re-furbishing of an old one.

Neonities to beauty land should know that a pamper corner in the bedroom is absolutely essential to the clubwoman.

It's all done with mirror. Here's how:

1. If you don't own a dressing table, consider these suggestions for assembling one at little cost and effort:

- (a) Take two small cardboard or wood chests, nail a sturdy board across them leaving several feet in between. On top of the board place a mirror to exact size. Hang another mirror on the wall. Put a nice dressing table cloth around the table.
- (b) Put a narrow shelf-type ledge along a wall, perhaps in the bathroom if there is no other space. Cover it with a mirror. Hang a skirt from it. The underneath part can be used to conceal cleaning implements, etc.
- (c) Take an old-fashioned vanity table, perhaps one found in the attic or second-hand store (the kind that used to be available with a high-top brass top) and place it in the bedroom or bathroom. It will be available with a high-top brass top and a framed mirror above it.
- (d) If you own a primping table, place it in a room where you can easily clean the dresser, discard old bits of lipstick, eyebrow pencil and other dated cosmetics. These are likely to become stale, and you may be tempted to use them sometime.

2. Keep your supply of cosmetics in some vanity drawers. Powder and gray jars can mess up table surfaces.
3. A beauty bin kept in the vanity drawer will come in handy to keep your garments from flying specks of powder, flecks of dandruff or hair when you are grooming yourself.
4. Keep hobby pins, hairpins and other small objects in little containers. Wash your comb and brush at least once a week.
5. The dressing table skirt should be laundered whenever it seems to lose its zip or look dusty. If the skirt is made of sturdy, washable materials, it will be easy to care for.
6. If you have the space, have an enormous Hollywood-style vanity table. Put it near the window for good light. Top it with a pretty lamp and a vase for flowers.

... time you feel depressed, sit at your vanity table and do something to yourself in the indulgent, give yourself a facial massage, give yourself a mask, tweeze your eyebrows, try on a "new mouth" with your lipstick, and other time-consuming vanity table accessories available to any girl to put her in a completely feminine mood. Some new dressing table containers are first of class in the magazine line of Wedgwood Jasperware with the famous "Dancing Hours" motif.

Childhood Hints

By DAVID TAYLOR MARKE AP Newsfeatures Writer

Little Miss Muffet won't be making mud pies in the back yard this year, she'll be baking pretzels in the kitchen.

If toy experts are right, she'll not only be using the oven, but playing in the living room and garden as well.

More than 40 of the nation's leading toy specialists, representing the industry and childhood education institutions in the Toy Guidance Council, meeting in New York recently, voted to eliminate $3,000.00 in orders that they are right.

They are predicting there will be a marriage between many name brand home products and children's playthings.

Some of the toys voted "outstanding examples of their type" included a cut-down-to-size nappy set using real cake mix and frosting; a doll set with real lipstick, eye shadow, face cream and an eyebrow pencil; a housekeeping set containing packages of real name brand cleaning and polishing products.

There is a doll feeding set with a package of real baby food and nursing bottles. A new shoe shine kit comes with real shoe polish and an attached tank in which to save the shoes. Daddy gives Junior for shinning his shoes. A new doctor and nurse kit has real band-aids, sterile bandages, medical cotton and adhesive tape.

There are dozens of other commercial toys, one of the more intriguing involving the use of "Rover the bear," favorite of the U. S. Forest Service, who will symbolize the 50th anniversary of the Teddy Bear this year. It took a special act of Congress to permit it. In all 250 toys were selected from over 7,000 submitted by 811 major U. S. manufacturers.

All the toys faced a series of rigid examinations. Commercial authorities selected playthings for their fun value and sales appeal. Then the panel of educators headed by Professor Emma D. Shostky of Columbia University took over to examine them for safety and durability qualities. No toys which did not meet all of the Toy Guidance Council standards were approved. These included, in addition to the two mentioned above, the ability to contribute in at least one respect toward the development of the child for whom it is intended.

The Council experts could not agree on whether to include space toys, which were popular last year, and compromised by including only two new ones, a burning light ray gun and a new space telephone that rings, buzzes and actually works without batteries up to five miles away.

The month of May was enthusiastically welcomed by many organizations in Sanford with dances, plays and the crowning of kings and queens. At the USO a May Day Ball was featured during the evening with the highlight being the crowning of Miss Marcie Hedges as queen.

Hints To Housewives

It's the time to think about Spring cleaning. It's good to get ready for you. And there is plenty of cabbage this season - just waiting for kraut use. It can be used for many uses. It can be used for many uses. It can be used for many uses. It can be used for many uses.

Quick Method Kraut
Select firm, crisp cabbage. Wash and shred freely. One pound of cabbage after shredding will make into a pint jar. To 1 pound of cabbage add 2 tablespoons salt and mix thoroughly. Mix cabbage and salt in small amounts of 1 to 5 pounds at a time. Pack into jars. Place lid on, but do not seal. As it must escape. Place jars in an enamel pan and store in a cool place. Fermentation will be complete in 8 to 10 days. When completed, add enough home 12 tablespoons salt to 1 quart of water to cover kraut. Squeeze mouth of jar and seal. Process in a boiling water bath, 15 minutes, quarts 20 minutes. Seal in 15 minutes. No. 3 cans 20 minutes.

Long Method Kraut
Remove outside brass leaves. Quarter the head and lay off one third cabbage. Ferment for 24 hours. Put in a large pan and mix until juice is made. Pack into a clean, large crock. Repeat mixing and packing until 2 crocks are filled. Cover with a clean cloth, and seal with a lead disk. Let fermentation be complete in 2 to 3 weeks. Pack in clean jars or cans. Cover with a weak brine made by heating 2 tablespoons salt in 1 quart of water. Wipe mouth of jar and seal with a two-piece vacuum lid and process as for home canning. If you can't find a vacuum lid, use a regular lid, but use a rubber seal and a rubber ring.

MARITIME MIRACLE

Hundreds Rescued At Sea Following Collision Of Ships

Nearly 500 Saved As Ferry Is Rammed

HARWICH, England (AP)—Nearly 500 persons, including dozens of Americans, were rescued at sea today after they abandoned a Holland-England ferry severely damaged in a pre-dawn collision. The ferry, the 4,190-ton Duke of York, lost her bow in the collision with a U. S. government freighter, the Haiti Victory. The freighter, with minor damage, plucked up scores of the Duke of York passengers, and made port here.

A total of 430 passengers and 37 crewmen were saved from the Duke of York. Her operators, the British Railways, said the skipper and a skeleton crew of 13 remained aboard as she moved toward port tonight behind two tug boats. There was a report that a woman passenger was still trapped aboard her. But there were no known fatalities.

No one was missing from the Haiti Victory, which was out of Bremen bound for U. S. ports. Most of the Americans on the Duke of York were service men stationed in Germany and on their way to England on leave.

Brig. Gen. Hammond McDougal Monroe, a native of Eureka, Calif., who is chief of staff of the U. S. Army's 7th Corps in the European command, was rescued from the Duke of York along with his wife. The general and Mrs. Monroe both got away in the same lifeboat and were among the 90 survivors picked up by the B. S. American, which was the first to reach the wreck. Survivors were landed at both Harwich and Dover.

British Railways said there were six casualties—only one listed as serious. Survivors were landed here and a Dover after a quick transfer of passengers 40 miles off Harwich on England's east coast averted a major sea disaster. But a woman and possibly a child were reported still trapped in the listing steamer.

All of the passengers most of them British Army families returning home from Germany—were rescued from the 4,190-ton Duke of York. The steamer, bound from the Hook of Holland to Harwich, and the 7,600-ton American freighter Haiti Victory rammied into each other near Gallipoli light ship. The Duke of York had 437 passengers aboard and crew of 72, officials said.

The Haiti Victory brought the bulk of the passengers ashore here despite a hawking eight-foot gash in her bow six feet above the waterline. She was the Duke of York in tow for a while but that task was taken over later by tugs at the scene.

The 10,800-ton American-Hawaii Steamship Company's vessel, the American, took 91 survivors aboard and hurried to Dover with (Continued On Page Four)

Final Plans To Be Made Tuesday For Armed Forces Day
Final plans for the Armed Forces Day celebration in Sanford May 10 will be drawn during a meeting at the 8:45 p. m. next Tuesday in the City Hall.

That decision was reached during a session yesterday of the special committee handling details of the affair.

The Sanford Naval Auxiliary Air Station will probably lead the way among all the groups participating.

Some type of air show with the details being left up to the military is being planned to start off the day's activities stressing preparedness.

A color guard and two marching platoons were promised by L. J. Cleveland, representing Capt. J. L. Chittenden in yesterday's meeting. A third platoon from the Air Station may be added.

County Refuses To Pay Hobby's Monthly Bill

Sheriff J. L. Hobby plans no immediate action in connection with the County Commissioner's refusal to pay a monthly bill yesterday during their regular session at the Court House.

Mr. Hobby's request for payment for work done by his office during the month of April totaling $4,212.95 was turned down by the County Commission yesterday afternoon.

The Sheriff said his office has enough money on hand to pay salaries of the employees and that he was sure the action was a result of a misunderstanding which might be rectified before the County Commission meets again May 19.

"This is nothing to get excited about," declared the Sheriff. "I'm sure it will all be straightened out."

Commissioner John Melisch leading the Commission in its action, challenged three items in particular and promised the Army's 7th Corps in the European command, was rescued from the Duke of York along with his wife.

Mr. Melisch stated: "It isn't up to the County to go into the collection business and back checks. It isn't right for us to spend $450 of the taxpayers' money to get a man back from Ohio who wrote a bank draft for $150. I feel the man who signed the complaint should pay the costs."

Mr. Hobby declared today he had been instructed by Assistant State Prosecutor H. E. Griggs to go after the man who had signed a felony against the State of Florida.

On the subject of prisoners' meals, Mr. Melisch asserted that the sheriff has been paying $1 as the fee of the Elks' year which concludes April 1, 1953.

A steak dinner will be served at 6:30 preceding the regular initiation meeting. John Cameron heads the feed committee and promises juicy steaks with all the "fixins."
