Relief Machinery Organized Quickly For Big Disasters

WASHINGTON, Mar. 25.—(AP)—Tremendous strides in relief work with great disasters have been made in the 17 years since Clara Barton and her associates organized the American Red Cross. The Red Cross has been a small, comparatively unknown organization and communication and transportation facilities were very limited. A few telegraph and railroad lines were available to carry supplies to flood-stricken areas.

Today there is swift, skilled mobilization of the forces of service, ranging from volunteer relief organizations in isolated towns, to the President of the United States who is a President of the Red Cross with its 3,700 chapters prepared for immediate action in emergencies.

When land transportation is hindered, as it was in Pittsburgh and other cities during the national coal strike, the national headquarters in the Army, Navy, and National Guard commercial companies and individuals provide invaluable observation services and transport state governors, relief workers, and medical supplies to afflicted areas.

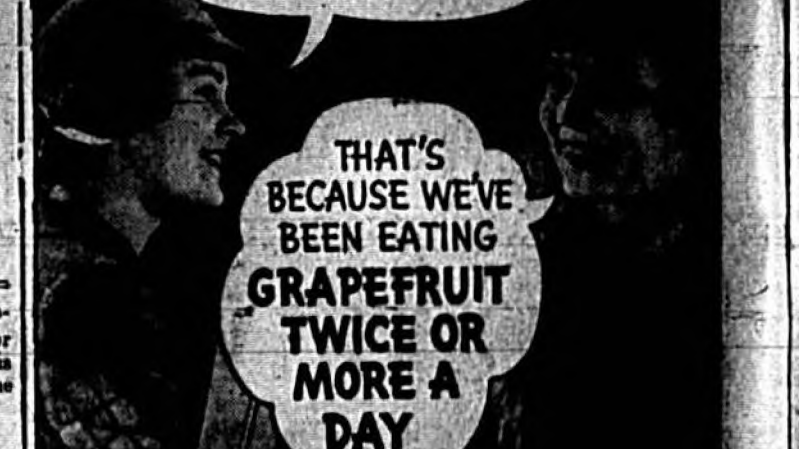

When a telephone service, readily expanded and improved since the San Francisco earthquake of 1906, is completely out of service, the American Red Cross with its headquarters in Washington, D. C., and its branches throughout the United States, is notified by the chairman of the local chapters. He also directs the chairman of the committee on disaster preparedness.

Live By The Rule

Criticism of the decisions of the Supreme Court very frequently reflect a human frailty which is often evidenced in the conduct of spectators at a baseball game or prize fight, the unwillingness to accept the decisions of the umpire or referee with good grace, with a resultant amount of razzing. It is a characteristic which motivates people to become violently angry when he catches you. It is a characteristic which makes golfers kick their ball out of the rough in order to get a better shot, and, incidentally, a better advantage over their opponents. It is a characteristic which causes some business men to disregard agreements, in short, it is a characteristic which rebels against living up to the rules.

The story is related of a very good golfer, a stickler for rules, who had occasion to be playing with a very prominent doctor. The doctor at one stage of the game led his ball six inches ahead of the markers. The "stickler" was very careful to place his ball exactly on the line and then cry made this observation: "I always play the full course, doctor."

This is surely the only way to play the game, according to the rules. But how frequently do we see people protesting against the enforcement of the rules which they themselves made. If there is something wrong with rules then they should be changed before the game gets under way, and not when one side has gotten into hot water. If legislation is needed which will benefit the people, and if it is legislation which cannot square with the Constitution, then the thing to do is to change the Constitution and not lambast the Supreme Court.

Accidents In Homes

So much has been written about the terrible toll from automobile accidents that few people, we believe, realize that other types of accidents also account for a tremendous number of deaths each year. It is hard to believe, but it is a fact, as the Palm Beach Post points out, 34,500 persons lost their lives from accidents which occurred in their homes. This is practically the same number as were killed on the highways of the country.

"On first consideration, it seems almost absurd to hold that each time 100 persons are killed on highways another 95 die from result of home accidents, but such is the case. The same old, tried old formula in the home as on the highways—carelessness, recklessness, neglect. Homes have faulty heating systems. They have rickety stairs, dangerous insulation. They have polished floors with little cabs of thin rugs as good as a banana peeling for a fall. Many have dangerous stoves, unprotected fireplaces. Some have built-in fixtures that are hazards if anything goes wrong. There are high shelves so that housewives must stand on the kitchen stool or an unsafe ladder to reach them. There are imperfect mechanisms, front steps and back steps ready to bring disaster.

"Both the American highways and the American homes are almost as dangerous as the battlefield, the two combined accounting for more deaths annually than American troops killed during the World War. Whether the highways can be made safe is yet to be determined. But, undoubtedly, the home can be so made. But it is evident that if we will be reckless and negligent at home, we so will be on the roadways."

Slow Recruiting Hinders Defense Plans In Britain

By E. H. W. PETERSON
 LONDON, Mar. 25.—(AP)—Failure of young Britons to rush forward with enthusiasm as a result of the new conscription law may prove one of the most important problems of Britain in building up the several branches of military service.

Four new battalions are wanted for the regular army, along with 2,000 more for the navy, and thousands more for the Royal Air force, but the number of applicants is not encouraging.

The problem facing the recruiting agent is how to stem the downward trend in the number of applicants for the army, says the annual report on recruiting.

"It is the result of the loss of interest in the army," says the report.

are given as one reason for the difficulty in finding men. For every three offered enlistments, it is pointed out, one is usually rejected at first sight, the second for physical, medical or educational reasons, and only the third approved.

On the theory that mere publicity is the solution to the problem, Viscount Rothermere, publisher of the Daily Mail, has offered large prizes for the best ideas on attracting recruits.

"Young Britons of today," writes Rothermere, "are not showing the same readiness to serve their country under arms as did their fathers. Resentment of discipline is strong among the new generation. The unemployed have little hope in ideas many a young man of good parents who would be wearing the king's uniform with his greatest pride is looking up to his country."

Unconquered Nature Ravage The Nation 10-Year Capitulaton Shows

Floods And Drought Lead In Toll Of Big Catastrophes

ALEXANDER R. GEORGE
 WASHINGTON, Mar. 25.—Flourishing man's progress toward mastery of the elements, the unconquered forces of nature continue to strike at his person and property with increasing ferocity.

From the Florida hurricanes of 1926 to the recent flood catastrophe in the East, disaster in various guises has stalked across the United States in the last decade to cause an aggregate damage probably greater than in any other 10-year period in the nation's history.

The unparalleled drought and dust storms of 1934, the drought of 1930-31, the Mississippi valley and New England floods and the terrific West and Southwest in 1927, hurricanes in 1926, 1928, 1934 and 1935, tornadoes in the South in 1932 and the 1933 earthquake in southern California have taken an uncalculated toll of human suffering and property loss.

Too much water or not enough of it—floods and drought—have caused the larger cumulative damage, due to the extent of the areas affected. A major drought, because of its greater territorial coverage, is ranked the No. 1 Destroyer of economic values in the United States.

At the height of the 1934 drought it was estimated that 800,000 families, or about 4,000,000 persons, were receiving drought relief from the federal government. The total damage to crops, livestock and soil was roughly figured in excess of a billion dollars.

This compares with 300,000 persons added by the Red Cross and a property damage of something more than $800,000,000 in the recent Eastern floods in which about 178 lives were lost.

More terrifying than drought or floods are earthquakes, hurricanes and tornadoes.

The tornado is one of the most feared forces of nature, but its path is narrow and it rarely hits large centers of population as one did in St. Louis in 1927.

The greatest death-dealing earthquake in this country was the Galveston hurricane-flood wave of 1900 when some 6,000 people perished.

Next greatest single disaster was the Johnstown flood in 1889 when about 2,300 lives were lost in the Pennsylvania community. Tornadoes on Aug. 28 and Oct. 2, 1893, killed a total of 5,000 persons at Charleston and Savannah and on the coast of Louisiana. Deaths in the 1925 Florida hurricanes were estimated at more than 1,500 to 2,000. When the steamship General Slocum took fire in the East River in 1914 more than 1,000 perished.

While these disasters are of an appalling and spectacular nature, they are "runy rills" compared with automobile traffic as a dispenser of death. Motor cars take a toll of 3,000 lives a month in the United States, or seven times as many as San Francisco's famous fire and earthquake.

Accidents in the home kill 34,500 annually, permanently disable 100,000 and injure nearly 1,000,000. Fire takes an average of 2,000 lives.

Great toll of lives and property damage of $800,000,000 in a year.

Great loss of life and property damage of $800,000,000 in a year.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCH

"Reality" is the subject of the lesson-sermon in all Churches of Christ. Scientist. Mar. 23. The Golden Text is from 1 Peter 1:25. "The word of the Lord endureth for ever. And this is the word by which the gospel is preached unto you."

Among the citations which comprise the lesson-sermon is the following from the Bible: "Verily, verily, I say unto you, if a man keep my saying, he shall never see death, (John 8:51).

The lesson-sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "Jesus demonstrated the inability of corporeality, as well as the infinite ability of Spirit, thus helping erring human sense to flee from its own convictions and seek safety in divine Science. Reason, rightly directed, serves to correct the errors of corporeal sense; but sin, sickness and death will seem real (even as the experiences of the sleeping dream seem real) until the Science of man's eternal harmony breaks the illusion with the unbroken reality of scientific being."

Man Who Claimed He Saw Murder Is Detained In Miami

MIAMI, Mar. 28.—(AP)—A 55-year-old carpenter is held here as author of letters demanding cash from two Minneapolis men under threat of revealing information he claimed he possessed about the slaying there of Walter Liggitt, crusading editor.

Booked as Fritz Danielson, the prisoner, nervously fingering a checked cap, was taken before Federal Commissioner Roger Davis, charged with sending extortion letters to Isador Blumenfeld (Kid Cann), recently acquitted of the Liggitt murder, and Mayer Schuldberg.

Davis postponed the preliminary hearing until Apr. 3 to give the prisoner time to consult an attorney. Temporary bond was fixed at $10,000, which Danielson was unable to provide immediately. The prisoner refused to talk to newspapermen, saying only "you keep my name out of the paper."

Authorities declined to disclose contents of the letters, but said generally the writer claimed he and three friends saw Liggitt shot down from an alley vantage point, trailed the death car and noted the license number.

The writer demanded $5,000 from Schuldberg and gave Blumenfeld three days to answer a letter addressed to him, which did not mention any specific sum. The letter to Schuldberg was dated from Miami on Feb. 16, and the one to Blumenfeld, Mar. 17.

Postal Inspector Allen said the prisoner admitted writing the letters. He said Danielson told of coming here three months ago from Minneapolis.

Officials said they placed little credence in the claim of first-hand knowledge of the Liggitt murder, which occurred Dec. 9, 1933.

Team Will A Strong Bid

CHAMPION
Chicago, White Sox
CHICAGO, Calif., Mar. 28.—White Sox, provided was a fair amount of luck, strong candidates for a first division of the league this year.

1935, in 1935, and I have a better ball club than any other in the league. The team is young, speaking by the boys, and seasoning in the league. They're hunting for the spirit of the entire outfit.

There's enough veterans to the younger men—experience like Luke Sewell, one of the best catchers in the game, and another great backstopper, Frank Grube, who is in the middle of his career. They can show the youngsters a lot of things on the mound, and I've been through a lot of years of baseball myself.

I'm foolish to say we're going to win, but there are a lot of things in the Sox that will help them in the top division, Detroit, New York, and Cleveland, for instance.

They're going to be hard to stop. They start fighting among themselves, some other club may get into the first division. We can't be that club.

Look for our pitching to be especially good. There may be another season. A lot of people thought the old boy was through for good, but he won 15 games for us, and I believe he still has a lot left in him.

All the other pitchers have been working hard this spring. Johnny Whitehead, the big Texan who came to the majors last year and won his first eight games in better shape than when the season ended last year. Vernon Kennedy, Monte Harrison, Ray Phelps, Les Hutchinson, "Red" Evans, who won 24 games in Oklahoma City last year, Leslie Thiele and Iolo Cheloff, the only left-hander in the outfit—any one or all of these may have a great season.

—Branch—The best hope of the young outfielders, but George Stumpf, up from Kansas City; Matt McCulloch and Max Small. Manning may come through. Right now center field is a question mark, but we'll have Rip Radcliff in left and Kreevich in right. If Soto Borras shows up, I'll move Mule Haas from first base into right, Kreevich in center and have Radcliff in left.

In the infield Luke Appling will be at short, Tony Piet, who has been hitting well this spring, and Minner Hayes will fight it out for second, and I'll be back at third.

The Sox may not have any outstanding stars, but I believe we're well balanced and will have a good year.

Wilcox Says Vets Rare Pigeons Are Should Have Been Added To Sanford Moved To Safety Zoo By C. R. Mason

(Continued from page one) Democrat brought out that native residents did not evacuate in anticipation of the storm and that the climate and other attractions of the region were acceptable to the veterans when they were given the chance of going to the camps.

Wilcox testified there had not been a serious hurricane scare previously since 1912.

Julius F. Stone, Jr., in charge of emergency relief work in Florida at the time of the storm, related how Washington put up to him the problem of taking care of the former soldier transients and explained the camps were situated on the keys.

He said the camps were chosen because that was the most healthful section of the state and because there had been found to be an insufficient supply of skilled labor in the keys area to build bridges across two water gaps on the keys road from Miami.

Another reason the veterans camps were established on the keys, he explained, was to get away from the usual problem of complaints when bodies of transients or other men are concentrated near population centers.

Here, he explained, that difficulty was overcome but with the camps still within 90 miles of Miami and Key West.

Evolution System

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Mar. 28.—(AP)—"Just a matter of system," explains Mr. and Mrs. John Johnson, who with their four children live quite comfortably for about $200 a week.

The children include a set of triplets and a pair of twins. The father is 43, the mother 33. They were married 21 years ago.

The children are: Claude, 20; Garnett, 18; Joe, 16; Ruth, 15; Nelson, 12; Bonnie and Johnny, twins, 11; Teddy, Archie and Kermit, triplets, 9; Henry Quentin, 8; Allen, 6; Paulina, 4; and Betty, last, 2.

Following the birth of the triplets nine years ago a six-room house was purchased by public subscription and presented to the family.

There is no rent to pay so the family's average earnings of $200 a week go almost entirely for food.

"I make from 100 to 125 dollars every morning for breakfast," Mrs. Johnson says. "We use 50 pounds of flour a week."

The father and eldest boy, Claude, do handling jobs with a truck they operate. Mrs. Johnson earns $8.25 a week as a WPA sewing job. Garnett, 18, attends vocational school and receives $6 a month from the National Youth Administration. Joe, 16, stays at home, takes care of the baby and runs the house. The ten younger children attend school.

"Raising them is just a matter of system," Mrs. Johnson says. "In a family of this size each child learns to take care of himself pretty well. Until he does, the other children are always trying to help."

War Toys In China Replace Bamboo Tops

NANKING, Mar. 28.—(AP)—Militaristic tendencies of the age are reflected in the playthings being collected at the capital for an exhibition which is to be the high light of China's first officially promulgated "Children's Year."

The Chinese boys who once flew kites and worked Chinese puzzles, now fly miniature bombers and pursuit planes and deploy tin soldiers.

Instead of spinning bamboo tops, the modern child of Peking winds the clockwork of war tanks and machine guns, and prefers toy hand grenades to paper or rubber balls.

Exhibiting conspicuously the national emblem of China, many of these war toys come from Germany. Others are made in Japan.

Defenses On Little Island Considered

ST. HELIER, Jersey, Channel Islands, Mar. 28.—(AP)—This tiny British island off the coast of France is perturbed about defense. Maj. Gen. H. de C. Martelli, the Neutrality governor, recently advised the states or local parliament, to revise the compulsory militia service which has existed since before the World War. Even this, he pointed out, would leave problems of sea and air defense untouched.

Planning For Producers In County Urged

Leaders Confer With Agricultural Agent And Plan To Form Seminoles Council

Dawson To Name 8 Committees

Organization Should Be Beneficial, Is Brunson's Advice

Following a prolonged discussion among leaders in various sections with an economic section of the Department of Agriculture, held in the conference room in the Court house today, the decision was finally made to at least try out a planning council as an aid to producers in marketing.

County Agent C. E. Dawson acted as chairman of the meeting and will appoint eight committees which he will be endeavoring to organize a council representing all agricultural products. These committees will represent the products of citrus, beans, corn, cotton, dairy, fruits, poultry, stock, sugar, and flowers.

These things came into the discussion of C. E. Dawson, Jr., who proposed the plan to whether a planning council should be organized to represent all agricultural products.

Mr. Dawson said that the plan was to have a council which would be organized to represent all agricultural products.

Overwhelming Vote Is Given Adolf Hitler

Violation Of Treaty Of Versailles And Locarno Pact Approved By Germans

BERLIN, Mar. 30.—(AP)—The Germans' endorsement of Adolf Hitler's remilitarization of the Rhineland amounted to 99 percent today while Der Fuehrer turned to drafting new proposals to other Locarno powers which political sources intimated would "astound the world."

The Nazi propaganda machine, moving with speed and precision, swung virtually the entire German nation behind Hitler in the election, nominally to select a new Reichstag but actually to approve violation of the Versailles treaty and the Locarno pact. Official tabulation of returns, still incomplete, raised Hitler's percentage from 36.7 to 99 percent of the votes cast, the greatest endorsement ever given in any plebiscite. Nearly 45,000,000 votes were cast.

In the German view the fact that there was no chance to vote in opposition, but only to take the Nazi list or leave it did not detract from the overwhelming Nazi triumph.

For the first time in history votes were cast in an airship. Passengers in Germany's two giant craft, the Graf Zeppelin and the new Von Hindenburg, voted while circling over a crucial point in this nation—the Rhineland.

Recessing court with five jurors tentatively seated when the venire was exhausted, Judge Dewell heard attorneys in his office with the judge closed. He indicated he would rule on the change of venue motion when court reconvenes tomorrow. Last week the judge withheld ruling on the same motion, saying he would try to seat a six-man jury in Hillsborough county. The defense declared that Tampa, newspaper, speakers and organizations had so inflamed the public mind here that the defendants could not be assured a fair trial.

Thomas L. Hackney, juror who previously had been seated tentatively, was dismissed by the court today when he admitted he "jokingly" said some time ago he would convict all former policemen charged with the flogging cases if he were on the jury.

On trial: age C. A. Brown, John P. Briggs and C. W. Carlisle. The state charges them with kidnaping E. F. Poulnot. The case grew out of the Shoemaker flogging episode last November when Shoemaker, Poulnot and Sam Rogers were abducted outside police headquarters and flogged with the result that R. Woods, president, $21,778.

Should he be elected, Mr. Lee said that he expects to have for his deputies "men of high quality and good character, whose names have never been questioned by those honest, integrity and sobriety who know them best."

Mr. Lee has served as deputy sheriff and as constable in this county and was Federal Prohibition Administrator for the State of Florida.

Committee Approves 'Air Education Bill'

WASHINGTON, Mar. 30.—(AP)—The Senate education committee has reported favorably the Kenney-Walsh bill to establish a division of aviation instruction in the education office in the Interior Department. Introducing the measure in the House, Representative Kenney cited the aviation course in the Tussock, N. J. High School as an example of what might be accomplished. This school has its own plane and gives actual flying instruction.

Attorneys Argue For Venue Change In Flogging Case

Venire Exhausted As Tentative Juror Is Dismissed By Court

Tampa, Mar. 30.—(AP)—With a jury still incomplete and the first venire exhausted, defense counsel renewed efforts before Judge Robert T. Dewell to have the first of the Shoemaker flogging case trials transferred to another county.

Recessing court with five jurors tentatively seated when the venire was exhausted, Judge Dewell heard attorneys in his office with the judge closed. He indicated he would rule on the change of venue motion when court reconvenes tomorrow. Last week the judge withheld ruling on the same motion, saying he would try to seat a six-man jury in Hillsborough county. Track Receipts Next Friday To Go To The Elks

Kennel Club fans who go to the races on Friday night of this week will be helping the Umatta hospital for crippled children, sponsored by the Elks lodge in Florida which pay the entire expenses of the institution and of its patients.

Arrangements were made today by officers of Sanford Lodge of the Elks, No. 1241, with Meyer Goldberg, president of the Sanford-Orlando Kennel Club, whereby receipts at the Longwood track on Friday night will go to the Elks for their contribution to the crippled children's hospital. Tickets, which will include the state tax, will go on sale in a day or two, it was reported.

Sanford Elks have every year made substantial contributions to the hospital, but because they bought a home for the lodge they their contributions to the Umatta institution have not been as large as they desire. With a large attendance at the greyhound track next Friday night, however, they hope to raise the pro rata share of the local lodge for the support of the hospital this year.

Litigation Over Chain Store Tax May Be At An End

Judge Fixes Feb. 25 As Effective Date For Paying Levy

TALLAHASSEE, Mar. 30.—(AP)—Circuit Judge J. B. Johnson today fixed Feb. 25 as the effective date of the disputed gross receipts levy of the state chain store tax law. He said he would issue an order giving all retail stores 20 days to pay the tax to the comptroller. If neither side of the controversy over the validity of the law appears to the Supreme Court, which previously split three and three over a question of the law's validity, today's ruling will be final.

Attorneys for both sides declined to say whether there would be an appeal, but their arguments before Judge Johnson indicated they saw in his ruling a possible end to the whole litigation. They also indicated they might ask the Federal District Court in Jacksonville to dissolve an injunction issued last summer declaring the entire gross receipts section of the law invalid. The State Supreme Court held the law valid insofar as levies on graduated occupational taxes on chain stores according to the number of stores in a unit, and one-half of one percent gross receipts tax on all stores.

Pardons Court Hearing Plea Of Hauptmann

Hoffman Argues For Man Convicted Of Kidnap Murder Of Lindbergh's Baby

'Confessions' Of Two Men Doubtful

Gaston B. Means And Lawyer Both State They Killed Child

TRENTON, Mar. 30.—(AP)—With Harold S. Hoffman, Governor of New Jersey fighting, none too fully, in his behalf, Edward Richard Hauptmann before the Court of Pardons today to save him from death in the electric chair tomorrow night.

Governor Hoffman, believing Hauptmann's execution at that time will not solve the Lindbergh case, hoped so convinced the Court, which he heads, that there is sufficient evidence to support his repeated charge that Hauptmann was unfairly tried at Trenton. He also believed the testimony of some of the state witnesses open to conviction the Federal Court that it should go over in detail the circumstances which have convinced him that Jerry Justice is endangered if Hauptmann goes to the chair.

The attorney general's answer was further threatened because of Hauptmann's continuing insistence that he is innocent of connection with the kidnap murder. Ordinarily the Court cannot grant clemency appeals only when a prisoner confesses guilt and asks for mercy.

Two new figures in the case, Paul H. Wendell and George W. Means, gave testimony at the stage to the Bronx Superior Court held it most completely in an appeal, but their arguments before Judge Johnson indicated they saw in his ruling a possible end to the whole litigation. They also indicated they might ask the Federal District Court in Jacksonville to dissolve an injunction issued last summer declaring the entire gross receipts section of the law invalid. The State Supreme Court held the law valid insofar as levies on graduated occupational taxes on chain stores according to the number of stores in a unit, and one-half of one percent gross receipts tax on all stores.

Mr. Wendell, a federal prisoner at Leavenworth, was self-accused by "confession" which, like that of Wendell, was not believed by most officials.
