By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The Suez Canal remained closed to shipping today, the economies of Arab nations beaten in war by Israel were suffering and the Soviet Union was seeking a special session of the U.N. General Assembly to try to force Israel from the territory it gained by conquest.

PRIME MINISTER Levi Eshkol told the world that Israel, winner of its war with the Arabs, will never return to the old days of narrow confines, threats and insecurity.

Kirk Holding Up School Appointment

The taxes would remain, the cost of school facilities would be less.

He pointed out that since FEVA sanctions had been imposed, there had been no applications for teacher positions in Seminole County.

Wharton added that teachers now on the job in the county would be able to remain and would be expected to report for duty when the 1967-68 school year starts.

A FEVA sanction in regard to teachers has done, however, to block any movement of teachers from one school to another in the state.

Under the constitution, teachers who violate them are enforced by the fact that teachers who violate them would be found "unethical," a severe professional penalty.

Three Red Rail Lines Destroyed

SAIGON (AP)—U.S. Air Force jets rained destruction Monday on the three rail lines leading north from Hanoi, blowing up a string of loaded tank cars on one siding and shooting up two locomotives and about 40 cars.

Air Force jets from Thailand and carrier-based Navy planes flew 100 missions over North Vietnam in generally good weather.

One Air Force Phantom was shot down by ground fire just above the demilitarized zone.

College News

Arthur J. DeYoung has received the Bachelor of Divinity degree from Louisville Presbyterian Theological Seminary. This B. D. degree requires a study program of at least three years beyond completion of undergraduate college training. Mr. DeYoung is from Longwood. In 1964 he received his B.A. degree from Presbyterian College, Clinton, S. C. He is serving as associate pastor, Northwest Presbyterian Church, Atlanta, Ga.

BLONDE'S ROMANTIC LOOK Dan, dan, dandy has returned with the romantic look. The prettiest girl-in-the-world will be wearing a crepe blouse with a waterfall of lace pouring from the throat and ruffling the wrists. Great with pantsuits or dinner skirts.

THE RETURN OF THE CURL Curly, curly, curly... they're the strongest look in hairstyles this year, according to the Toni Hairstyling Center. Ribbon ringlets or soft curls can ruffle and toss—let your entire head swirl with curls. The variety is practically endless—half curls, whole curls, tassel curls, kiss-curls, springy corkscrews, mini-curls, giant sausage curls—any size and every shape.

BRENDA SUE Cross, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Cross of Grapevine Valley Avenue, was graduated Magna Cum Laude at the commencement exercises of Orlando Junior College, June 8.

Three generations on both sides were represented at the delightful luncheon.

NEW LOOK FOR TISSUES Most of the products bought in the supermarket go straight from grocery bag to shelf or cabinet. The cereal box hides behind a door in the kitchen, the toothpaste in the medicine cabinet. But one product is bought in the store, then used and displayed at home in the same container—the familiar, indispensable box of facial tissues. To add decorative accents to this disposable paper product for the household, Kleenex tissues have a new look—a soft feminine rose design for the family-size, an elegant Florange pattern for the regular-size, and a flowing, graceful Specierian scroll for the dispenser-size.

Other guests invited included Mrs. Maureen Scott, Miss Mary D. Scott, Mrs. Sam Schwartz, Mrs. Henry Schumacher, Mrs. Crella Higginbotham, Mrs. Al Skinner, Mrs. Jim Spencer, Miss Sallie Spencer, Miss Mary Elizabeth Johnson and Mrs. Harold Appleby.

FAMPER YOUR EYES Pamper your eyes with gentle, careful cleansing and thorough make-up removal. Don't rub, scrub or tug at the delicate skin around the eye and lid. To regain a bright, clear-eyed look, try a trick used by photographic models and make decongestant eye drops part of your regular beauty routine. Apply eye drops in each eye before eye makeup. A soft, gentle liner, shadow and mascara. It works visibly, while you watch, to restore sparkle and add to clarity and expressiveness.

QUICK RELIEF OF BURNS Golf and tennis interest men women each summer, and most first-timers invariably wind up with burns and blisters that can mar hand beauty. A golf glove is one helpful precaution against such skin irritations. Also carry a little tube of antiseptic first-aid cream and a few adhesive strips in your pocket. The soothing cream quickly relieves pain of burns and blisters and protects from dirt or further damage.

USE TAPE, NOT CLIPS Women with lightened hair often end up with unsightly clip marks after setting their hair. Lightened hair tends to be more porous and, therefore, bends easily. If too many clips are pulled your set your waves solve by using tape to keep hairs in place.

MRS. WALTER A. GIELOW, left, was hostess, June 8, at her Community Way home to a bridal tea honoring Miss Patricia Reed Chapman bride-elect, and Mrs. William Paul Frech, Jr., nee Linda Hunt, a recent bride. Others in photo with the hostess are, from left, Miss Chapman, Mrs. Giles Chapman, her mother; Mrs. Frech, Mrs. Willie F. Hunt, her mother; Mrs. William Paul Frech, Sr., her mother-in-law; and Mrs. Lola Rockett, mother of Miss Chapman's fiancé, Angela Harvey, niece of the bride-elect, who will serve as her flower girl, is pictured at the front left and Debbie Rockett, sister of the bridegroom-to-be and junior bridesmaid, is at the right. (Herald Photo)

Bride-elect, Miss Patricia Reed Chapman, and her groom, Mrs. William Paul Frech, Jr., nee Linda Hunt, shared honors at a bridal tea, June 8, at the Community Way home of Mrs. Walter A. Gielow.

A charming bridal atmosphere was reflected throughout the tastefully decorated home. Double wedding rings adorned the entrance door and the focal point of interest in the hall was a unique bride's candle placed on a low table.

Breathtaking arrangements of multi-hued roses, pastel carnations and white mums were family room, Florida room and dining room.

Miss Chapman received the guests in a perisperm and white silk knit sleeveless frock, styled along the slender silhouette. Mrs. Frech chose for the occasion a pale yellow organza modified tea-styled dress accented with a matching yellow lace yoke. Both brides wore orchid corsages, gifts from the hostess, to complement their fashionable attire.

Forming the receiving line with the honor guests and Mrs. Gielow were Mrs. Joseph Hunt and Mrs. Joseph Hunt.

Centering the beautifully appointed table were silver candlesticks and silver goblets or neatly arranged with pink carnations, pink velvet love knots, baby's breath and asparagus fern. Silver tea service graced one end of the table with fruit punch, floating a heart mold of sweetheart roses, poured from a cut glass bowl at the opposite end.

Silver trays were attractively arranged with dainty tea delicacies.

The bride-elect was presented a handsome silver tray from the groom.

Greeting guests at the front door were Mrs. Joseph Hunt and Mrs. Joseph Hunt.

A Great American

(Editor's note: Sp4 Henry Arnold Shiver, 23, of Orlando, died of wounds received on a combat mission in Vietnam. He received his first Purple Heart for wounds suffered in combat in September 1965. The following was written by Ben Wheeler, 10th grade student at Oviedo High School.)

I know a great American. He stands at attention when the flag goes by, and when he hears the National Anthem a tear comes to his eye. He is very proud of his country and has a healthy respect for its government. He is always cheerful and wherever he goes he keeps a song in his heart.

Flag Day --- June 14

Tomorrow is flag day in the United States and the Herald asked Frank Luecker, commander of the Campbell-Luecker Post of the American Legion here for his comments on the day.

"The Flag of the United States means something different to each of us. It often evokes some special memory, something which touched us deeply, perhaps fleetingly or in a dull, solemn moment never to be forgotten. It could mean the Fourth of July and fireworks or the muffled drum and rifeless home in a hero's funeral procession. It could be a parade or an outdoor ceremony. No matter what particular personal thoughts are associated with the flag, there is a deeper, more universal meaning to the Old Glory. To all Americans everywhere the Flag of the United States is a symbol of freedom, of victory over the incredible forces of right over might. It represents the greatest cause ever undertaken by mortal man, a cause to which mankind must rally if the lofty concept of individual dignity is to be universally attained and preserved.

Under the Flag of the United States, pallant Americans today are laying their lives on the line for this cause against the aggressive forces of a godless ideology. Should we, here at home, do less than recognize their sacrifices through display of the flag and the showing of proper respect for the living symbol of our nation? Display of the Flag is a privilege. It is an act which re-affirms the basic freedom of choice.

Let's make every street an 'Avenue of Flags' in Flag Day, June 14. We all have a job to do in giving 'New Glory to Old Glory.'

Analysis Of The News

WASHINGTON (AP) — His two years on the Supreme Court are long enough to determine whether Justice Abe Fortas is liberal or conservative. No question: he is liberal. This onetime big-business lawyer, the newest member of the court, is no mouse. He can be tart when he dissents from the others, including the liberals and their reasoning irritates him.

Fortas didn't like this decision. He said: "Perhaps the purpose of the decision is to indicate that this court will place insuperable obstacles in the way of recovery by persons who are injured by reckless and heedless assault provided they are in print, and even though they are totally divorced from fact. It is so, I should think that the court would not be in a position to issue such a decision in constitutional terms."

When Justice Arthur J. Goldberg, a liberal himself, resigned from the nine-man court in 1965 to become U.S. ambassador to the United Nations, he left behind a court evenly divided 4-4 between liberals and conservatives.

Since the president names the Justices, President Johnson, he left behind a court evenly divided 4-4 between liberals and conservatives. The labels liberal and conservative mean the positions in which the various justices most consistently line up although there is some occasional switching in a hot case which may well last until GOP governors meet in Wyoming late this month. Yet there is perceptible action that can be reported.

Soundings indicate that Richard Nixon and Michigan's Gov. George Romney are building toward a head-on clash in the 1968 New Hampshire primary which will surely be one of the major turning points of the campaign.

Less and less is there expectation that the New Hampshire waters will be further stirred by entry of such other 1968 prospects as Sen. Percy of Illinois and Gov. Ronald Reagan of California.

The feeling in some party professional circles grows that Perry intends to keep himself in the race by making a "first go" at the moderate's camp. The feeling in some party professional circles grows that Perry intends to keep himself in the race by making a "first go" at the moderate's camp.

When he picked his long-time friend and adviser, Fortas, to be some wandering about which side he would join, perhaps because of his big-business connections as a lawyer, Fortas held the balance of power. He quickly showed no doubt that the liberal road all though, being an individualist like Warren and Brennan, his vote was not always predictable.

Most often he has voted with Warren and Brennan, two consistently liberal justices but not as absolute as Black and Douglas. Sometimes Douglas dissents from Warren, Brennan, Black and Fortas because they are not liberal enough for him.

Sometimes Black does the same although, startlingly enough, as the years pass he votes to join the conservatives far more often than he ever did before. At 81 he is the oldest man on the court.

Fortas, now 56, is 20 years younger than Chief Justice Warren and there has been speculation—true or not in anyone's guess—that Johnson would make him chief justice if Warren retired. This seems unusual because Fortas is an unusually vigorous man.

It's seldom that Fortas switches over to the conservative side because of the thinking of the other liberal justices. In some of the major decisions this year, when Fortas was in a minority dissent, it wasn't because he joined the conservatives but because Black did, giving them a majority while Fortas dissented with the remaining liberals: Warren, Brennan, and Douglas.

It has been suggested Fortas has an underlying sympathy for big-business problems before the court. But the record shows he has voted for and against big business.

Doris needs to grow up and imitate the model physician. For doctors always have word as to where they are going and how they are reached. That is a sign of maturity so you high schoolers should follow the same rule. And your parents will not be so bossy if you'll act like adults!

CASE 5-588: Doris D., aged 17, is the immature high schooler.

"Dr. Crane," she began, angrily, "my parents are too bossy. They try to run my life for me and are always telling me what to do. So I am getting tired of it. If they don't treat me like an adult, I think I'll run away from home."

Being bossy often indicates a wider understanding of problems. For a boss is taking the adult viewpoint, while the child or usual worker is still relatively irresponsible.

The reason Doris receives "bossy" parents is the fact that Doris still acts like a toddler.

So somebody must see that the rules of normal family life are carried out.

Doris fails to do her school homework part of the time. If her father didn't turn out his quota of work daily at the factory, he'd be fired!

Their overprotection and dependence on mamma to waken her. Adults waken themselves or use their own alarm clock. Doris strains her finger nails at a bright red beeper which she thinks that makes her an adult. The same goes for her use of cigarettes.

But she reneges at home on the many little chores which every mature teenager is supposed to perform.

She barely gets up in time to catch the school bus. That means she leaves her bed unmade and her room a mess.

She doesn't even think to wipe the flecks of toothpaste off the bathroom mirror.

And her washcloth may be draped over the side of the wash basin and her wet bath towel over a chair in her bedroom.

Sometimes she has girl friends over for a party and wants to bake a cake.

She then proudly boasts of her cake, yet mamma had to scurry around to procure all the ingredients and then clean up the mess of pots and pans Doris left in the kitchen.

Girls, in the normal household, you are supposed to finish your job with a flourish. Baking a cake or spreading the icing thereon, is just the show-off or chesapeake phase of kitchen duty!

Those dishes and dirty pans are still part of the job! Get help!

Doris forgets to tell her mother where she is going and doesn't phone when she is late, thus keeping her parents worried far into the night.

Why should you worry, if she retorts with juvenile ignorance, "for I can take care of myself?"

Doris can't even take care of herself while at home and under the eagle eyes of her parents.

In this day of zooming delinquency and rape rumors, anything can happen, so you teen-agers should grow up and keep your parents alerted.

A doctor always leaves word where he is going and how he can be reached by phone. That's the normal adult attitude.

Parents, send for my "Behavior Test for Teen-Agers," enclosing a long stamped, return envelope, plus 20 cents and rate your children thereon.

Trust Harvard. Harvard, with none of our fashionable tendencies for the complexities of "adolescent psychology," Harvard's Dean John U. Mans has told his 1,396 freshmen to choose between the university and ex-curious into chaos by LSD and other "dangerous and illegal drugs." To his freshman class this remarkable adult rule: "If a student is stupid enough to misuse his time here by fooling around with drugs, he should leave and make room for people prepared to take good advantage of a college opportunity."

No Place Like Home, Longdale GIs Agree

ARMEN Charlie Cobb and Bill Rodgers of the United States Air Force look over the Commemorative Medal Cobb was awarded while serving in Vietnam. Both young men are home on leave in Longdale.

By DONNA ESTES
There's no place like home. So agree two young airman home on leave this weekend— one after nearly a year in Vietnam and the other after 17 months in Turkey.

In the summer and early fall of 1964, four young men just out of Lyman High School, Glenn Fiddle, Charlie Cobb, Bill Rodgers and Don Nottingham, left their homes in Longdale to join the military service and fulfill their obligation to their country before continuing with plans for their future.

Glenn went into the Army "where the real fighting men are" and came home on only one leave before going to Vietnam, never to return. Don entered the Air Force, married a classmate, Pat Green, and is currently stationed at Keesler Air Force Base, Calif.

Bill went into the Air Force in late August where Charlie enlisted in early September. They met in the same squadron at Lackland Air Force Base and were both stationed for a time at Keesler Air Force Base before going their separate ways. Bill volunteered for Germany or England and got Turkey. Charlie volunteered for Vietnam and got Vietnam.

Both young men went into the service with high ideals and shining illusions and were seen by friends this past weekend looking not quite so young, seeming more mature and much more cynical.

Charlie, after 17 months and 26 days in Vietnam, had lost the sparkle from his blue eyes.

CADETTE TROOP 759 returns to Casselberry after an exciting three day trip to Savannah, Ga., and the birthplace of the founder of Girl Scouting in America, Juliette Low. Shown with the girls are their leader, Mrs. Anita McGinnis, Mrs. Irene Wallace, and the bus driver, Kenneth Bielling.

By JANE CASSELLBERRY
A pilgrimage to the birthplace of Juliette Gordon Low, founder of Girl Scouting in Savannah, Ga., was enjoyed by Girl Scouts of Cadette Troop 759 of South Seminole. They made the trip by chartered bus, accompanied by their troop leader, Mrs. Anita McGinnis and Mrs. Irene Wallace.

On the way to Savannah, the group stopped in St. Augustine for a walking tour of the old city and a visit to the Spanish moss, a map of 1845 Florida, and each girl was given a quilt square with a design typical of the period.

Also while in Savannah they visited the Historic DuSable House, the Ship of the Sea Museum and the waterfront.

The bus driver, Kenneth Bielling, was presented with a Girl Scout Friendship pin for his cooperation on the trip.

Girls included Frances Bostline and Ellen Sammet, Longwood; Christy Beck, Susan Carriell, Celis Lutz, Nora Hartnett, Tom Gubins, Susan Lyon, Linda McGinnis, Debbie Duval, Vivian Wallace, and Juanita Frita, Rosemary Hayes, Patsy Pfeiffer, Debbie Tomkins, Twiglewood; Sheryl Hill, Fern Park, and Cindy Strong, Maitland.

They stayed at the Downtown Hotel in Savannah and were accompanied on the trip by Cadette Troop 505 of Bear Lake.

VFW Unit Names Confab Delegates

By MRS. JOHN LEONE
Special guest at the June meeting of DeBarry's Veterans of Foreign Wars Post Auxiliary was Miss Sharon Redman who placed second in the state in the national auxiliary contest on "Young America Speaks and Acts for Peace-Unity-Service."

She will be presented a $50 savings bond Saturday at the VFW Auxiliary Americanism luncheon at the state convention in Miami. At the DeBarry meeting, she was presented a certificate of merit, an Americanism medal and a jeweled flag pin by Mrs. Blanche Frye, Americanism chairman.

In business of the meeting conducted by Mrs. Alice Reinert, president, a citation from National Commander Leslie M. Frey was given Mrs. Sally Petalio for contributing time and effort in collecting the largest amount in the sale of Buddy Poppies last November.

Mrs. Reinert advised to the state convention for consideration. Mrs. Francann Howard, Florida cottage chairman, reported a gift sent to a graduate of the national home and Mother's Day cards sent to house mothers at the home.

All committee chairmen are requested to be present and members are urged to attend. Delegates named to the national convention slated Aug. 18-25 in New Orleans are Mrs. Reinert and Mrs. Harry Thompson. Alternates are Mrs. Howard and Mrs. Lillian Connolly.

The charter was dropped in memory of Mrs. Ade E. Harris, past national president who instituted the State of Florida in 1845.

Members of the auxiliary at the Memorial Services at St. Ann's Catholic Church and visited graves of members on Memorial Day.

Next meeting will be July 11 with a picnic at the home of Mrs. Reinert on Azalea Drive.

They Puffed and Puffed and the Bubbles Blew This-a-and-Thata-way

Scattered 140 boys and girls on a playground and give them two pieces of bubble gum each. Let 'em blow! You can see one of the most hilarious, messiest bubble-fests you can imagine. That was the scene at the Sanford Civic Center on Tuesday. The Bubble Gum Contest was one of the special activities planned for the elementary division of the summer recreation program which runs through July 21.

Ribbons were awarded 13 1/2 minutes to 20 children who placed in that many divisions, competing in such events as the bubble longest held, the messiest on face, largest a small smallest bubbles blown by boys and girls.

The smallest bubble ribbon in boys' class went to Andrew Blawieff. Largest bubble ribbon was won by Ronnie Tetenbaum while Susan Tetenbaum placed first in the largest bubble in the girls' class. Lillian Joyce Trice was judged smallest bubble blower in the girls' class and messiest was James Cook.

Playground supervisors, Mrs. Sue Torres, Janice Daniels, Carol Torres, and Lamar Oxford were judges for the event.

Monday Night Architect Lochan Kelley made his recommendations on what exhibits should be continued when the city gets a new zoo. Not recommended was an African Green Monkey, Caruchin Ringtail Monkey, Verlot and two Black Bears. When Kelley's report got back to the zoo we can imagine the following conversation taking place.

BLACK BEAR — What does he mean not recommending me. . . I mean tigers and Florida deer are okay but me. . .

OCELOT — Not good enough for the likes of him, eh?

OCELOT — Well, he's right in his report the costs would be excessive.

AFRICAN GREEN MONKEY — Excessive? If it wasn't for those academy kids tossing popcorn, I'd never get enough of anything to eat. Excessive? Ha.

CARUCHIN RINGTAIL MONKEY — Who is he recommending?

BLACK BEAR — Not who you mean when . . .

OCELOT — Gimme that copy. (reads) 20 alligators at a copying cost of $4,000.

AFRICAN GREEN MONKEY — $4,000. . . I come cheaper than that.

OCELOT — Let me finish. One mandrill at $3,400; a chimpanzee at $4,500; a Saki Monkey at $2,000. . .

AFRICAN GREEN MONKEY — Now just a minute, I've been trying to be patient but . . . what's a Saki Monkey. . .

OCELOT — Hold on, I'll call Kelley. . . (a few minutes go by). He sez it's a small monkey.

BLACK BEAR — Why didn't he say small then?

OCELOT — You want me to finish? 20 Spider Monkeys. . .

AFRICAN GREEN MONKEY — I suppose that's a monkey that weaves webs.

OCELOT — One more interruption and I quit. Anyway, 20 Spider Monkeys at $10,000; one Woolly Monkey at $1,000.

BLACK BEAR — Does a Woolly Monkey have a beard?

OCELOT — See, that's a joke. . . I was thinking of Mowgli. . .

OCELOT — I didn't hear that.

BLACK BEAR — Two others at $3,000. One leopard at $7,499. (Hear S.A. leopard) Goodness knows what S.A. means?

BLACK BEAR — Maybe from South America.

OCELOT — Two Black Leopards at $7,400; two tigers at $12,800; three lions at $13,000; three Florida Deer $2,000. . . and that about wraps it up.

CARUCHIN RINGTAIL MONKEY — What about an elephant, a hippopotamus or, camel?

OCELOT — Well this sparrow told me the parks cannot want all that stuff.

BLACK BEAR — I can imagine. They run the zoo but guess who pays for it?

OCELOT — Well, Kelley sez in his report that future exhibits could handle these animals but my or my, the costs!

BLACK BEAR — How about birds?

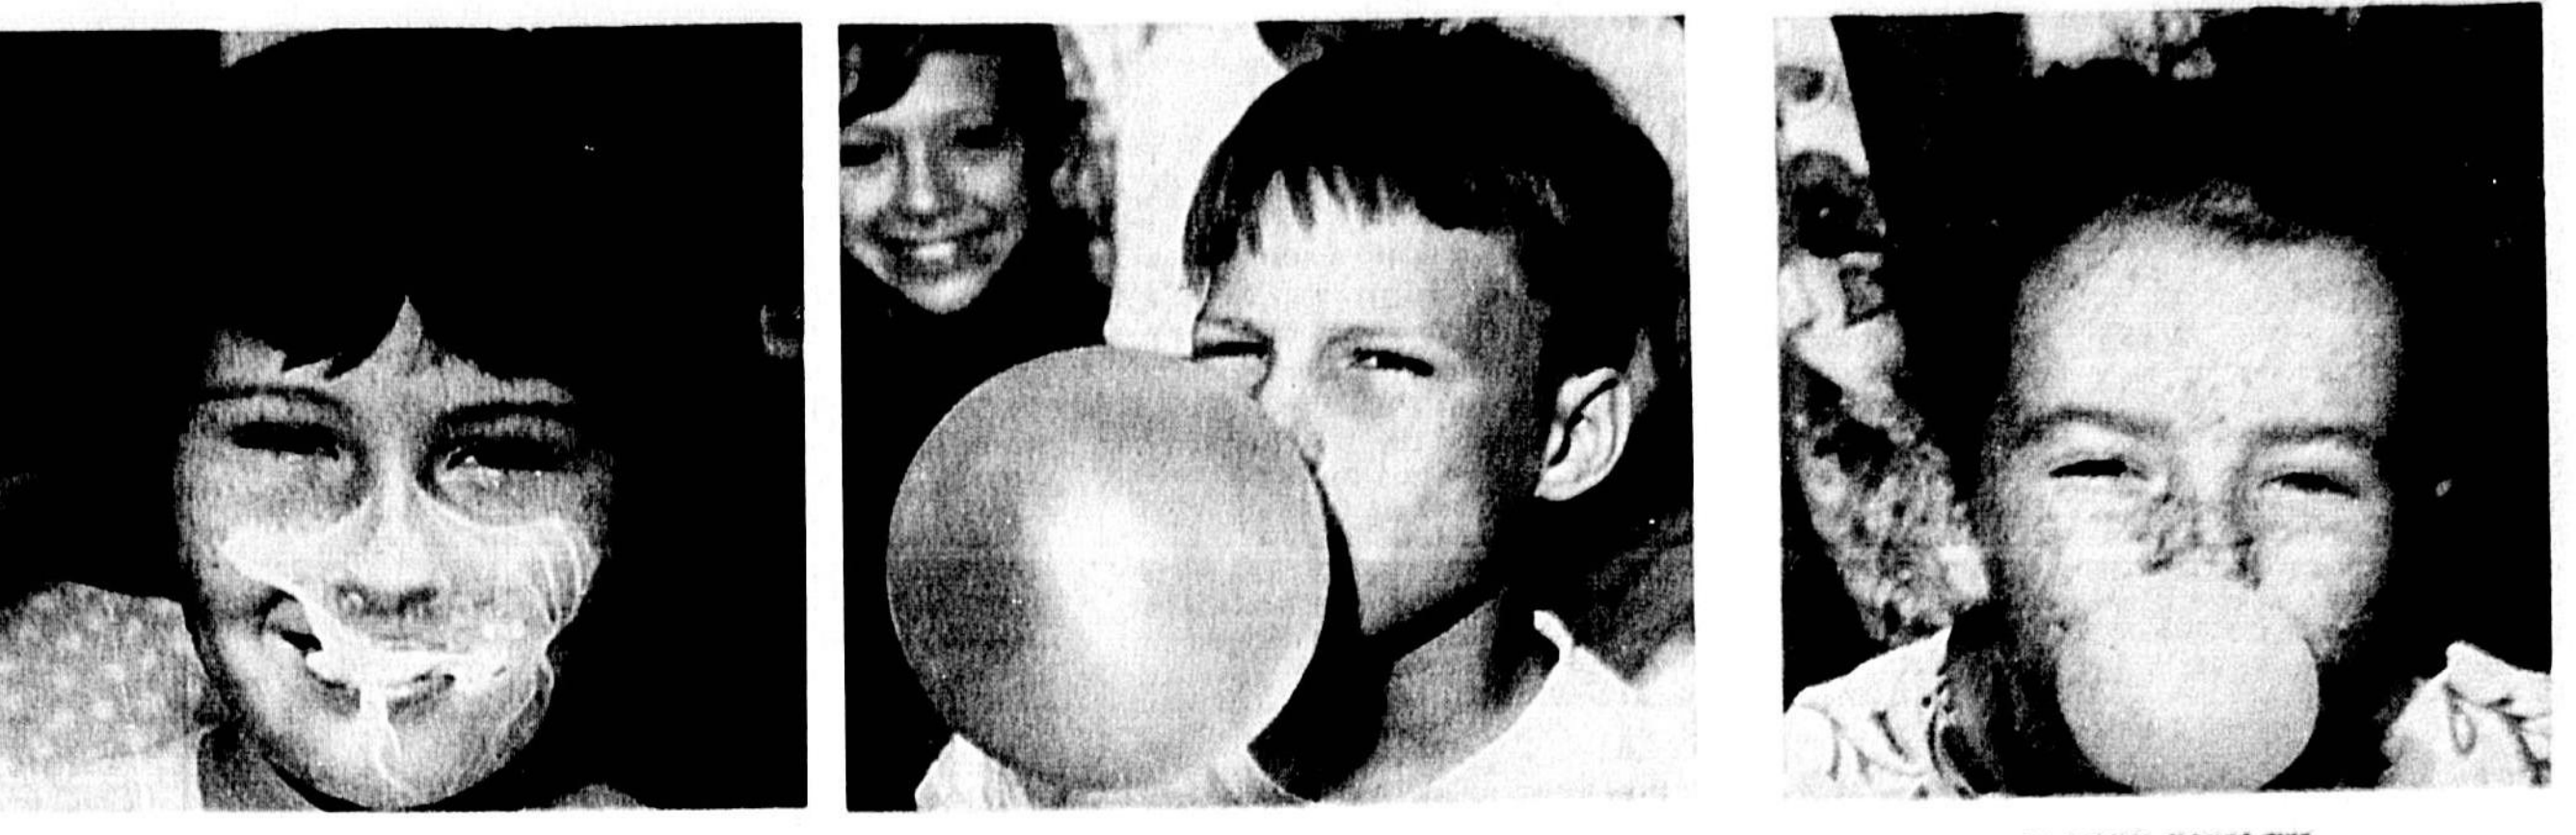

OCELOT — Hold on a second. I'll look. . . On page nine I see a birdhouse for $8,400. . . I listen to this: "Small interesting birds which thrive in confined spaces. . ."

MONAH BIRDS, Macaws, parrots, also the toucan.

AFRICAN GREEN MONKEY — How about Sparrows?

OCELOT — Can you see the city spending any money on a Sparrow.

CARUCHIN RINGTAIL MONKEY — Or a pigeon, ha. . . (They all leave the stage — real fast)

TINA PERSONS . . . messy, wow!

BOBBY BUZZEL . . . almost a winner

JANICE CONLEY . . . messiest-winner

Soons To Tour Blighted Areas

Renewal Bill Hangs In Balance

Sen. Robert Elrod and other members of the Orange-Seminole Legislative delegation are expected to tour Sanford's "blighted" areas tomorrow or Friday.

The purpose of the tour is a last ditch attempt by Sanford to get the delegation to support a bill for urban renewal legislation. The bill would allow the city to acquire blighted areas and redevelop them.

Earlier Sen. Elrod reported that although local legislation appears to be in the works, if the city "wanted to show us there is an emergency we might reconsider."

Yesterday, the commission met informally and authorized attorney William Hutchison Jr. to contact Elrod in the capital and inform him of the commission's wishes.

All of Sanford's chances of getting federal financing for needed projects are dead without urban renewal legislation. Hutchison had warned the delegation last month.

In citing the need for the legislation, Hutchison said "many of our projects are vitally connected with our ability to obtain federal assistance and we would hate to lose our opportunity at this time."

Hospital Buys X-Ray Machine

Purchase of a $4,800 X-ray machine and a $2,700 blood analyzer by Seminole Memorial Hospital was authorized by the board of trustees yesterday afternoon.

Swim Meet Tomorrow

Some 65 youngsters will participate in the three day swim meet at the Naval Academy tomorrow starting at 8 a.m. The entire meet will be handled by the individual tankers' parents. Dr. Brooke Smith and Paul Polgar will be in charge.

Airport Study OK'd

Immediate study of the needs of the Sanford area in terms of a general service or airport is essential according to Federal Aviation Authority officials and Mayor Joe Baker. The city council has agreed to a study of the airport.

While no specific amount was given for the cost of such a study, several agreed that it should fall between $20,000 and $30,000. The study would be financed by the city and would be completed by the end of the year.

The city commission and Sanford Industrial Commission yesterday. Paul Boatman, FAA director and Max Bard, chairman of the Sanford Airport Authority, were also present.

Being is concerned. Factors which are dominant are the expected growth of the area, especially in the NASA realm of Melbourne to Titusville, the impact of Disney World by 1970, and the present limitation of use of commercial lines of McCoy. Sanford is in a very favorable situation as far as air facilities on hand or in progress.

Area Park Nears Okay

A 6,200-acre tract of virgin land in southwest Seminole County and northwest Orange County may soon be on top of the state's priority list for purchase as recreation land, it was reported today by Sen. Robert Elrod (R-Windermere), chairman of the Seminole-Orange delegation, to the Sanford Herald.

Downtown Inc. Group Sets Field Trip

A field trip to Lakeland is planned by members of Downtown, Inc. of Sanford for the last of June. The decision was made at the Tuesday morning meeting of the group in Ernest Southward's office after seeing a film on what Lakeland has done to revitalize their downtown section.

The Rock Springs - Welvia site is No. 3 on the state's priority list, but the top two projects — Cape Florida and Galveston Island — are being purchased.

By 1968, the state will own $3 million on the 8 million Cape Florida project, Landrum said. The cabinet has already committed all its funds for recreational lands through 1968.

Landrum said new funds could be available if the Legislature provides a new tax source, or if the outdoor recreational council approves a bond issue on present revenue sources.

Teenager Hurt In Crash

Miss Sharon Parrish, 17, of Oakland Drive, Sanford was admitted to Seminole Memorial Hospital as a result of injuries received in a three-car collision on the south bound lane of U.S. 17-92 at 9:30 p.m. Tuesday and her condition today is listed as "good" by the hospital.

The accident occurred when a car driven by Glen Robinson of Lake Mary, headed with teenagers, spun around on the wet surface of the highway near the Collins Avenue entrance to Sunland Estates and was hit by an auto driven by Roman R. Schmitt.

Robinson's vehicle was then hit again by a car operated by Mrs. Anna Curtis, according to police reports.

Damage to all three vehicles has been estimated at $4,000. Welfare Director Abbie Wood Boyd was slightly shaken up after a two-car collision at 14th Street yesterday. Police said a car operated by Mrs. Boyd collided with another vehicle operated by Dorothy Moore of 2423 Laurel. No charges were filed. Damage to both cars was estimated at $800.

Hickson Hearing Set Tomorrow

The Civil Service Board hearing regarding the dismissal of Police Lt. Joe T. Hickson will reconvene tomorrow at 3 p.m. after a 13 day recess.

Hickson was dismissed in late March charged with conduct unbecoming a police officer and other related counts.

The hearings started in early May and have been conducted during evening hours in the city commission chambers. Thus far, some 25 witnesses have been subpoenaed and 13 have testified.

The city has already wrapped up its case and the defense is expected to finish tomorrow. Since the recess, the city reported that Hickson's dog "Cato" was destroyed because of his condition. Hickson was accused of not properly handling the ex-police canine.
