Back On Job

Roy G. Williams returned today to his former position as chief of the Sanford Police Department following his reappointment yesterday by the City Commission.

ROY G. WILLIAMS REAPPOINTED AS CHIEF OF POLICE

Commission Makes Selection Wednesday And Chief Takes Office Today; Friends Hail Appointment As Vindication

Roy G. Williams, for one year chief of the Sanford Police Department, again assumed the duties of that office today following his reappointment Wednesday afternoon by the City Commission.
Chief Williams succeeds J. V.
Martin who has been acting in temporary capacity for the past three months.

Action of the Commission was taken without any comment and was announced after a motion by Commissioner S. O. Chase, seconded by Commissioner W. C. Hill.
Chief Williams was in the audience at the time and upon passage of the motion he expressed his appreciation of their action. Mayor E. F. Housholder in reply said:

"You made a good record as head of the police department, Mr. Williams, and the Commission is again placing you in that capacity because we feel that you are a capable and efficient officer."

Addressing the retiring chief, the Mayor said, "We wish to thank you, Mr. Martin, for your services acting as temporary chief. Your work has been entirely satisfactory and we hope that you will continue to be connected with the department."

The reappointment of Chief Williams was interpreted by his friends today as a complete vindication of charges that surrounded his dismissal in early September. At the time the Chief was let out three other members of his staff were also dismissed. No charges were preferred by the Commission, their action being explained as "for the good of the service," but many conflicting rumors were spread as to the cause.

In view of the rumors, friends and supporters of the police head declared that his reappointment had the effect of nullifying the charges that were reported at the time of his dismissal.

Chief Williams' comment was brief as he reassumed his duties this morning at police headquarters. There will be no changes in the personnel of department at this time and former acting chief Martin will remain as a member of the force.

"The only statement that I can make at this time," said Chief Williams, "is to pledge my best efforts in the performance of my duties. I shall try to give Sanford the best police protection that can be offered under the present appropriation and I will appreciate any assistance that may be given me by the citizens of this city."

HAYES ACQUITTED

BLAKELY, Ga., Dec. 15—(INS)— Harris Hayes, aged farmer, was acquitted by a jury here today of the charges of poisoning his daughter-in-law, Gladys Hayes, 17 years old. The jury was formerly of Detroit. The jury was indicted for poisoning his two sons, James and Angus, for the purpose of collecting their insurance policies. His elderly wife was indicted for the three deaths at the same time.

AMERICAN TARIFF

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15—(INS)—A breach would be shot in the American tariff wall in favor of agriculture under a new bill introduced today by Senator Caraway (D) of Arkansas.

THE AMERICAN woman today is more chic than the French woman.

SENATE GROUP HAS HEARST ON INQUIRY STAND

Investigation Started Into Charges Published By Hearst Newspapers Regarding Sums Paid By Mexicans

Charges Are Backed By Government Files

Newspaper Publisher Is First Of Many Witnesses Which Senate Committee Will Call

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15—(INS)— The Senate's investigation into charges published by the Hearst newspapers that the Mexican Government ordered $1,250,000 paid to four United States Senators got under way here today.

The charges were backed up by the Hearst papers with secret documents which they asserted came from the archives of the Mexican Foreign Office.

The hearing started shortly after 10 o'clock in a committee room filled with witnesses and spectators. Senator Reed (R) of Penna., was chairman of the investigating committee.

William Randolph Hearst, publisher of the 26 Hearst newspapers was the first witness. Mr. Hearst was sworn and gave his occupation as a journalist.

Senator Reed asked the publisher whether he had the documents published in the Washington Herald and other Hearst papers, relating to Mexican charges.

"I think I have the originals," said Mr. Hearst. "Will you turn them over to the committee?"
"Yes," responded Mr. Hearst, handing Reed a bulky envelope which he placed on the table in front of him.

Reed asked the publisher what method had been pursued in deciding some of the documents, which were in Mexican Government documents. Mr. Hearst replied that he had not tried to decide them but would have other witnesses who would.

"How did these documents first come to your attention?" asked Reed.

Mr. Hearst replied he would be glad to tell, provided he could refer to "one man" without mentioning his name. He explained that to mention this name might cause considerable embarrassment to the man in question as he was still in business in Mexico. Reed asked for the name "privately," and Mr.
Hearst wrote it out on a slip of paper and gave it to the committee.

"This gentleman was in Mexico and he learned there were documents in the Mexican archives that indicated undue interference in the affairs of the United States," said Mr. Hearst. "He communicated that to Edward Clark, the executor of my mother's estate, by letter."

"What happened then?" "There were several letters regarding the importance of these documents," said Mr. Hearst. "He said he could get the documents for a small sum and I authorized an expenditure of $1,000."

The unnamed man, accompanied by John Page, a Hearst correspondent, brought the document to him, the publisher said. He found the documents were "originals" although he had expected only copies.

"The documents seemed of importance," said Mr. Hearst. "I thought I should submit them to the Chamber of Commerce, which I believed they were authentic. They had also submitted the documents to the counsellor of the Embassy and that he had thought them authentic."

Mr. Hearst said that two Mexican Government clerks had actually brought the documents out of Mexico. They were brought out, Mr.
Hearst said, in two bundles. The second bundle, the publisher said, was delivered to his representatives in San Antonio.

Municipal operation of docks at Jacksonville will be continued, according to E. J. Trotter, secretary of the Sanford Chamber of Commerce, who yesterday attended a conference in that city for the purpose of discussing ways and means of handling a situation that was declared to be of vital interest to independent shipping interests on the St. Johns River.

Search Is Made For Man Who Dares To Preside At Trial Of Oklahoma Chief

OKLAHOMA CITY, Dec. 15—(INS)—The Oklahoma Senate was in search of a presiding officer for its court of impeachment today.

Meanwhile armed militiamen collected out to prevent assembling of the legislature on Monday.
They stood guard over the house of representatives chamber to keep any member of the house from entering.

The supreme court was to hold a conference at 9 o'clock to decide whether any of its justices would consent to preside over the trial of Governor Henry S. Johnston. An hour later the Senate was to meet and select one of its own members to preside, should the justices all decline.

By an almost unanimous vote, the senate decided late yesterday not to suspend the governor at this stage of the proceedings.
This postponed the conflict that led to elevate Lieutenant Governor William J. Holloway to the acting governorship in the fact of Johnston's assertion that he would not submit to being dispossessed even temporarily.

A trace until after the holidays was in sight with the possibility that the legality of the legislature's self-convened session might be attested in this hurry.

2 BANKS CHOSEN AS DEPOSITORIES FOR CITY MONEY

Commission Designates First National And Sanford Atlantic Bank With Provision That Security Be Dollar For Dollar

The First National Bank and the Sanford Atlantic National bank were yesterday afternoon designated as depositories for city funds for the year of 1928, according to action taken by the City Commission meeting in regular session at the City Hall.

The financial institutions will be required to provide one hundred per cent security for all deposits the Commission decreed. The manner of furnishing security will be in accordance with provisions of the City charter and such laws and certificates as shall be used for the purpose must be approved by the Commission, it was further announced.

The American Legion tendered its services to the Commission as a volunteer fire department, to assist Chief Mark Cleveland and his department when ever needed. The offer was made by F. McLaughlin, Davidson and it was accepted with words of appreciation by Mayor E. F. Housholder. The fire chief was requested to confer with Legion officials and make arrangements for drills at regular intervals.

Leon LeRoy headed a delegation of golfers who appeared before the Commission asking the retention of L. L. Voorhees as golf professional at the Municipal Golf Course.
Action on the matter was delayed until the Commission could confer with those who have had the operation of the course under their supervision. An early decision in the matter was promised by the delegation.

B. F. Whitner, Sr., cashier of the First National Bank, asked that the Commission take some action on $6,000 owed to his institution as interest on time warrant and certificates of deposit. The banker asked for a time warrant of the obligation so it could be placed on the bank's books for the current year. To issue a warrant for the amount would interfere with the refinancing program, it was stated, and Mr. Whitner said the matter could be adjusted by charging the city on its general ledger account and then await payment out of refunding money.

The Commission turned down a proposal recently submitted by the Chamber of Commerce, which would make it compulsory for Sanford motorists to purchase tags

Jacksonville To Maintain City Docks To Protect Independent Boat Lines

Municipal operation of docks at Jacksonville will be continued, according to E. J. Trotter, secretary of the Sanford Chamber of Commerce, who yesterday attended a
purpose of discussing ways and means
of handling a situation that was
declared to be of vital interest to independent shipping interests on the St. Johns River.

An arrangement whereby the city commission of Jacksonville is guaranteed payment of all delinquent rentals and prompt payment of current rentals was made at the conference, according to Mr. Trotter.
The gathering was attended by representatives of various civic bodies of central Florida cities together with heads of shipping interests and Jacksonville city officials.

The docks have been used exclusively by independent shipping lines, which had no other dock space at their disposal. Returning of the docks to the Southern Railway Company would have seriously jeopardized these interests, it is declared, and for this reason the conference attracted considerable interest in this section of the state.

ALIENISTS SAY REMUS SANE AS HE SHOT WIFE

Text Of Report Presented To The Jury Is Withheld And Judge Shook Merely States Verdict Says Remus Sane

Taft Confers With Judge About Juror

When Asked If Conference Was About Serious Matter Prosecutor States It Is A Quibble But No More

COURT HOUSE, CINCINNATI, Dec. 15—(INS)—George Remus was on Oct. 6 last when he shot and killed his wife, Imogene, the three alienists appointed by Judge Chester R. Shook to study the defendant's mental condition, said in a report submitted to the court today.

The text of the report was withheld, while attorneys made arguments with reference to it. The Judge is relying on the fact that the alienists' verdict was that Remus was sane.

While the Judge was examining the alienists' report, Prosecutor Charles P. Taft informed International News Service that he had taken up with the Judge a matter that had to do with the jury.

"It involves one juror," he declared. Taft and the Judge had a long conference this morning. Asked if it was a serious matter, Taft said it was a "nuisance," adding: "I won't stop the trial, however."

CINCINNATI, Ohio, Dec. 15—(INS)—George Remus is the bull in the china shop at his own murder trial.

He has offended the judge, he's under deferred sentence for contempt of court, he has antagonized the prosecutors, and been threatened with a fist fight. He has crossed his co-counsel so often they are at loggerheads. He has defied the bailiffs and they are ready to "hit" him.

If the threat of ex-bootleg king agains waves the red flag, or goes anywhere else, he probably will be ordered by Judge Chester R. Shook to remove himself from the prisoner's dock the "ice-ferret" that he calls himself.

So far, when it came to matters of defense policy, Judge Shook has literally "let George do it." But another catch phrase is starting to permeate the courtroom these closing days of the trial.

"It won't be long now." What little solace Mr. Remus entertains today in view of the predicament his firebrand tactics have got him into, is the jury.

They are his friends or at least he thinks so. Squelched for the time being, at least, he spends a lot of time furtively eyeing the jury smiling at them and getting smiles in return. He likes the jury. He makes no secret of it. He wants them to know it.

Authorities Break Up Free Love Union Of Destitute Pair

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Dec. 15—(INS)—The wrecking of a free love union on the shores of financial difficulty gave Eddie Haggard, 23, of Los Angeles a thirty day prison sentence and instigated deposition proceedings for his sole mate, Mrs. Donahue, 20, who will be returned to the California city to her mother by local police authorities.

The couple were tried in court here after their arrest on a disorderly conduct charge following revelations of the free love union by the local welfare association where they had applied for financial aid. Mrs. Donahue admitted to police authorities that she had left her tubercular husband at Ray, Arizona, to come with Haggard to Jacksonville "because she loved him so much that nothing else mattered."

Mrs. Donahue expressed a disdainful surprise at the limited intelligence of local authorities that permitted them to take no cognizance of free love, claiming that the cult was spreading rapidly in California.

Plot Frustrated
SHANGHAI, Dec. 15—(INS)— The authorities have discovered and frustrated a communist plot organized to capture this city as Canton was seized, it was learned today. Officials expressed belief that similar plots exist in all the provinces. The Russian consul here has been notified that passports for all members of the consulate were ready.

Lindbergh Will Fly To U.S. Making The Trip In Several Hops

LINDBERGH GETS
MANY TELEGRAMS
OF FELICITATION

President Calls Telegrams Congratulations To Coolidge Who Replies With Message Of Thanks, Comment On Trip

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15—(INS)— I am deeply pleased to send you my most cordial felicitation at the very moment in which Col. Lindbergh arrived in Mexico, after his reliable trip, accomplished with the greatest success," said a telegram to President Coolidge, received today from President Calles of Mexico.

President Coolidge dispatched the following reply:
"I am deeply gratified by your excellency's cordial message of congratulations on the occasion of Col. Lindbergh's historic flight which I sincerely trust may serve to unite more closely our two nations."

Secretary Kellogg and Mexican Ambassador Tellez also exchange messages of felicitation over the successful flight of Col. Lindbergh.

MEXICO CITY, Dec. 15—(INS)— Col. Lindbergh is the idol of Mexican aviators. Army aviators at the Valbuena Field will give a banquet for the American flyer and will lose no opportunity to lionize him.
It is suggested that a marker be placed upon Valbuena Field to commemorate the spot where the intrepid young American ended his historic flight.

Lack of food and sleep mean nothing in the young life of America's "lone eagle." Although Col.
Lindbergh had not seen a bed for upwards of 24 hours, he was fresh, alert and cheerful after a weary trip to the United States Embas-sador and got his much-needed sleep under the roof of the American embassy.

When the flying colonel finally descended from the blue and landed gracefully at Valbuena Field, literally millions of persons were relieved of a fear that he suffered mishap, for, according to the time limit, he had not himself, he was about an hour late.

But the famous team of "wa" was not to blame talking to newspapermen of his flight he said:
"The fog was to blame for my being late. The weather was okay as far as the Mexican border, but I ran into fog as I mounted over the foothills of the Sierras." After I left the Temple, I lost my route and had to be guided solely by my compass. I could not help drifting to the west and seemed to have followed a large detour, going ever farther west than Toluca—as far as Salva-tierra and Morrelia anyway—and it was the sign of the Tolosa Railway Station that gave me my first idea of my real location.
But of course it is impossible to give a complete story of the trip in a few words."

The reception accorded Lindbergh when he entered the city after his flight was tremendous.
Practically all the inhabitants of the federal district crowded the sidewalks, roofs, windows, and even the church-spires along the route.

A successful Caesar of the air had arrived. All the houses were decorated with Mexican and American flags, the latter making a surprising appearance from unexpected sources. In Latin custom, the inhabitants showered flowers upon the ambassadorial car as it progressed and the air was continually filled with shouting and cheering.

Lindbergh landed at Valbuena Field at 2:30 P. M. (3:30 Eastern Standard Time) coming in from the west with an escort of nine Mexican Army Planes.
American Ambassador Dwight W. Morrow was the first person to greet the flyer on Mexican soil. With his hands outstretched the Ambassador was waiting when Lindbergh stepped out of the cabin of the Spirit of St.
Louis.

Seizing Lindbergh's hand, the Ambassador asked:
"Are you tired?"
"Not very," said Lindbergh.
After being assured that his plans would be absolutely safe recalling that at the moment a similar scene in Paris when another huge crowd, anxious to greet him, almost wrecked his "Spirit of St. Louis" was taken to the Presidential box.

These President Calles, not content with greeting him with handshakes, threw both his arms about the young aviator and he obviously hugged him.

Throughout the evening telegrams of congratulations from President Coolidge down their officials to just "plain folks" poured into the embassy.

One of the first things Lindbergh did when he reached his quarters was to request that long distance telephone call be made for his mother. When the connection was completed he immediately called his mother. I have never been presented with a more delighted Mexican son.

ORGANIZATION COMPLETE
WASHINGTON, Dec. 15—(INS)—With the necessary votes of the Senate party hall, the Republicans today completed the organization of the Senate by electing their whole slate of candidates for senatorial offices.

THURSDAY, DEC. 15, 1927. THE HERALD'S PROGRAM: 1-Economy in city and county administration.

BIBLE VERSE FOR TODAY: JOY FROM SEEKING: Sing unto him, sing psalms unto him: talk ye of all his wondrous works.

REMEDY FOR HURT: In Poetry—Somewhere there is a peace I have not found.

Look on The Herald's classified ad page for tonight's radio programs. The trouble in Oklahoma seems to be that it is the governor there who wants to run everything.

That's all right, you can do your Christmas shopping early, even if you are going to buy your wife handkerchiefs instead of diamonds.

Many people leave Chicago in the winter time because of the cold, but Al Capone says he left because it was getting too hot for him.

Judging from the number of telephone calls we received yesterday while Lindbergh was winging his way to Mexico, the Colonel is still himself.

The capture of Canton by Communists only strengthens the theory that some day Russia will have to be spanked.

William King has been re-elected Mayor of Avon Park, but perhaps he is a King in name only.—Tampa Tribune. He'd better change his name then. Uneasy lies the head, you know.

Too many of our local friends seem to be troubled with nerves of late. We would suggest that all men who run races and fight snakes in their dreams confine their worries to the size of their golf scores.

While we do not concur with the strange allegation that the roughnecks are trying to run the city, we do nevertheless believe that such control could be no worse than the highbrow rule of the past six years.

The tendency of Oklahoma governors to rule or ruin seems to be contagious. The present Governor Johnson wouldn't call the legislature together, and neither would the impeached Governor Walton, who preceded him.

Would-be defender of Chicago's reputation says there hasn't been a decent man killed in that city in ten years. We dare say he's right. From what we gather from night newspaper reading, it would be a difficult matter to find a decent man in Chicago.

Major Owen

Major Reginald Owen, soldier, son of the English knight, Sir Theodore Owen, son-in-law of the great American, William Jennings Bryan, husband of Ruth Owen, candidate for United States Congress from the Florida district, victim of "trench nephritis" for ten years, is dead.

Major Owen first joined the British army in 1902 immediately following his graduation from the Royal Military Academy. During the World War he saw service in France, Egypt and Turkey and was from the time of the landing of the first troops until the evacuation, one of the active leaders of the British forces at the Dardanelles, where the British casualties reached their highest proportions.

At this particular point the Turks, aided by the Germans, had entrenched themselves on a hill overlooking the shore. It was necessary for the English in effecting a landing from the battleships to employ small boats and finally wade a considerable distance to shore, there to dig in as best they could while subjected all the time to a harassing fire from the rifles and machine guns of the hidden Turks.

Major Owen was in command of one of the first detachments to subject themselves to the devastating attack of the enemy and remained at the head of his troops throughout what is generally considered the most rigorous campaign of the war. For his gallantry in this action, he has been awarded numerous medals of honor. Wounded, and suffering with typhoid fever, it was at this time that the trouble began which ended on Monday night with his death.

Unfortunately the nations of this earth can boast of few persons of the quiet courage, the indisputable character, and the winning personality of this man. Knowing, as he must, that his illness would prove fatal before the ambitions for his life could have been fulfilled, he never failed to present an optimistic front to his friends, to cheer them up with his clever wit, to leave them with a feeling that "God's in His heaven—all's right with the world!"

Passing Out

Editorially a newspaper is supposed to be a reflection of public opinion. When it deviates from this course, it is usually headed for the rocks. When a newspaper is published to foster the personal ambitions of some individual or to serve as a political organ, the people sooner or later make the discovery and are no longer influenced by its expressions.

We take for our example, Henry Ford, the wizard of the automobile industry, who knows more perhaps about bolts and nuts, pistons and carburetors and big business than any other one person in the United States, but who has less knowledge about the publishing business than lots of people. And ten years ago he knew considerably less than he does now.

That was when an early desire to have some means of laying before the country his own ideas about things in general was getting the best of him, and he began the publication of the Dearborn Independent. It was a breezy magazine, containing much opinion, ethical, political, factual, and Mr. Ford's own page, purporting to represent the Ford ideals.

Then, apparently without reason, the Independent began an anti-Semitic campaign. It carried columns of articles relative to the Jewish people, which culminated in Aaron Sapiro's suit for one million dollars. The magazine apparently prospered; its circulation rose to 453,623. People bought it to see what Ford was saying against the Jews.

But what he was saying was no reflection of public opinion; it was his personal opinion, or rather, that of his editor, and represented in no way the feeling of the people in the matter. Ford soon felt the hostility engendered by his articles. He realized that as a publisher, he made a far better automobile manufacturer.

THE CASE OF OKLAHOMA

Oklahoma does things with a vengeance. It is not so long ago that the settlers swarmed across the line at stroke of the clock and built towns over night. It is not so long since oil was found and towns became cities almost in the twinkling of an eye with the onrush of citizens and capital. There still live in that state outlaws and famous officers of the law who count the notches in their guns by the number of bank robbers and highwaymen they have slain. Oklahoma is the last of the great Western frontiers and the spirit of the pioneer days is still present. It links by fewer years than does any other state the America of 1927 with what is popularly termed the "wild west." There are many residents of that state who can recount the history of the state by personal experience from territorial days, who recall the moving of the state capital from Guthrie to Oklahoma City by seizure over night. It is a dull season in Oklahoma that does not narrate the adventures of a bad man run to earth to pay the price for outlawry.

PRIVILEGED

Of interest to every editorial and news desk in Florida is the opinion of the Supreme Court in dismissing the criminal libel case brought by the mayor of Miami against a publisher in connection with certain articles published during the last Miami mayoralty campaign. After deciding that the affidavit charging libel was faulty the court said, "It is a well settled rule that communications relating to the public welfare of a community, good faith, are privileged. Also, where one becomes a candidate for public office, he must be considered as putting his character in issue so far as it may affect his fitness and qualification for office and the publication of the truth in regard to his qualification for the purpose of advising the electors is not libel."

As Brisbane Sees It

In Sepulveda's Way How One Bank Grows. A Few Invitations. Guayule Rubber. By Arthur Brisbane. Copyright, 1927 by Star Co.

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 15.—Every American and every community is encouraged by proofs of progress in the United States.

Major Horace Bell, editing The Poreupine here in 1881, wrote about Los Angeles' early history in his "Reminiscences of a Ranger," and thus describes the Bella Union, principal Los Angeles hotel at the time of the Civil war.

"The Bella Union was a one story flat roof abode, with a corral in the rear. In the Bella Union corral extending to Los Angeles street were numerous pigeon holes, or rooms for guests, six by nine feet in size, six or seven feet high. Guests slept on the abode floor. In that institution advertised as 'the best hotel south of San Francisco' if a very aristocratic guest came along, he was permitted to sleep on the little billiard table."

DOZENS OF big hotels now dot Los Angeles, from the Ambassador sitting in its own park, to the Biltmore in the business center. The Biltmore is building an addition to cost more than $4,000,000, and include the biggest banquet hall in the world.

Los Angeles has changed since Don Sepulveda ruled this territory, and with his native mustang, in a nine mile race beat an English thoroughbred race horse brought all the way from the east "to clean the old Don out of his gold slugs and a couple of thousand head of cattle."

EASTERN BANKERS, who have asked this writer about California's Bank of Italy with its stock selling for far more than a billion dollars, and 165 branches in the one state, will be interested in an explanation of the A. P. Giannini success, supplied by George Young, publisher of the Los Angeles Examiner.

"Ordinarily at 4 o'clock bankers are through for the day. When Giannini's banks close in the afternoon, every man in the bank goes out and spends the rest of the evening developing new business for the bank. And they are up in the morning doing the same thing before the bank opens."

EMPLOYEES BE it remembered, get 45 percent of Bank of Italy profits. They work for their own pockets.

THIS STATE, of which the native Indians were the laziest humans on earth now live, in spite of its mild climate, a most amazingly energetic race of white men.

What applies to Los Angeles and the rest of California, applies to this whole western country. Every body is in a hurry, and actually working, not going through the motions.

W. H. Byrnes, president of the San Francisco Union stockyards, wants the world to know, as it should, that he paid $5 a pound, live weight, for the grand champion southdown lamb.

Henry Ford's man telephoned an invitation to ride in the new Ford car to Ford's gigantic new plant near Los Angeles.

Mr. Vandeventer of the Oakland Times and Charles P. Howard of the Oakland chamber of commerce would want you must be here January 15th, and see the future great city of California.

R. A. Grady, says the Kiwanis club of Duluth insists on your going there.

JOHN F. Humburg wants you to inspect that city's "new fifteen hundred acre playground, on the peninsula, for eastern tourists."

BRYAN AKERS, publisher of the Arizona Gazette, says you have got to visit Arizona's Salt River valley, to see what has been done in "cotton, citrus, dairying, and winter vegetables." Chambers of commerce of every county in the state join in that hospitable invitation.

O. J. Faulkner, president of the Prescott, Arizona, Kiwanis club, and the Rotary club of Prescott, wants you to see their "mile high city, pine clad hills, new Hassayampul hotel."

Dan J. Seaman, publisher of the Prescott Monday Morning Star, wants to explain to you on the spot, in Arizona, the Colorado river problem.

SHOULD BE STOPPED

TAMPA TIMES. Not many weeks back we published in full a complaint made by us, that somebody or some agency at Lake City was giving out information that was misleading if not positively false; relative to roads in central and east coast Florida for the purpose of inducing tourists to steer clear of those sections and come to west Florida.

Now we find this in the Florida Advocate, of Wauchula: The other day a man drove into Wauchula with a little story which, though many will discount it, may mean something after all.

The man was from the north and was headed for Wauchula, he said. Up near the Florida-Georgia state line, he declared, he was asked what part of Florida he was going to. Upon stating that he was going to the west coast, he said his informant told him the roads to the west coast were all torn up and almost impassable, and that he'd better go to the east coast instead.

The tourist said he replied that he was coming to south Florida, to the west coast, regardless of the roads.

Many stories similar to this have come to us in the past, but we haven't paid much attention to them. Now they keep coming and we are led to believe there might be something to them after all. If they are true, then we ought to look into the matter. If anyone is stationed anywhere in south Florida with the sole object of leading tourists down the east coast by false statements regarding the condition of the roads, or something like that. And he ought to be stopped.

What is needed is close co-operation between all sections of Florida. There is no escaping the proposition that all of them must go forward or backward together. And there is no reason for believing that any part of or place in Florida will be able to make any progress that will count by either knocking any other part of or place in Florida or by deceiving as to them, their roads, or anything else. Florida should now and at all times pull together, and for all-Florida. Doing that will mean much toward hastening the wonderful development which is ahead for Florida. Doing otherwise will retard that development.

Whoever gives false information as to roads or other things in any part of Florida seeking thereby to further the interests of some other part of Florida is, down under skin, but little different from the fellow who steps out from behind a corner in the night and knocks some else in the head thinking that the way to quick and easy money.

H. P. Smith Has Party At Her Home
Unusually lovely as well as enjoyable was the bridge party given Wednesday afternoon by Mrs. Howard P. Smith at her home on Sanford Avenue, when she entertained the members of the Wednesday Afternoon Bridge Club. Red and green were the colors accentuated in the decorations and other details. Quantities of vivid hued anemias, calendulas and other flowers were used, with artistic effect. A gaily decorated Christmas tree occupied a prominent place in the living room.

Society tallies done in suggestion of Christmas were used in giving scores for the game and at conclusion of the fifth proposition, it was found that high score had been made by Mrs. Rawson, who received a set of fifty card table thumb tacks. The second high score prize, two handkerchiefs, was awarded Mrs. Tom Bolt. Following the ending of the prizes, the hostess distributed gifts of hand made handkerchiefs from the tree.

When the bridge tables had been spread with embroidered covers, refreshments consisting of congealed salad, sandwiches, coffee and coffee were served. Games were placed on the tables and enjoyed during the progress of the game.

Those enjoying the cordial hospitality of Mrs. Smith were Mrs. G. Hoelscher of De Land, Mrs. Bolt, Mrs. Emmett Hunt, Mrs. C. Smith, Mrs. Henry B. Purcell, Miss Lettie Caldwell, Mrs. H. Hewitt, Mrs. A. W. Epps, John W. Meisler Jr., Mrs. Ed. Johnson, Mrs. Charles Cook and K. B. McCracken.

Afternoon Tea Bridge Club Is Entertained By Mrs. W. M. Scott

The attractive home of Mrs. William Moore Scott was the scene of one of the most delightful social affairs of the week, Wednesday afternoon when she entertained the members of the Afternoon Tea Duplicate bridge club. Poinsettias, nasturtiums and lemons lent their beauty in decorating the rooms where, the card tables had been arranged for play. The colors of red, green and yellow were further carried out in the bridge accessories and later in the refreshments.

After an exceptionally interesting game of duplicate bridge had been played, Mrs. Scott served delicious refreshments of pineapple up-side-down, cake a la mode cheese straws, ten and crystallized fruit.

Playing bridge were Mrs. Robert J. Holly Sr., Mrs. Edward L. Markell, Mrs. James G. Sharon, Mrs. W. J. Thigpen Mrs. G. Irving Loucks, Mrs. W. Theodora Langley, Mrs. Harry Papworth and Mrs. Scott.

Woman's Club Column

SARAH WHEELLESS, Reporter

The literature Department of the Women's Club held its regular meeting Wednesday afternoon at the Club house, with its chairman, Mrs. George Paxton presiding. The meeting opened with reports covering the various lines of activity of the department. Several items of importance were discussed during the business session. It was announced that Mrs. James Moughton will be in charge of the plans for the children's Christmas party to be given by the department on December 23.

Following the business session the program committee had arranged for the afternoon the study of the Neo-Romanticists. Mrs. M. Martin read a most interesting paper on the life and plays of Maurice Maeterlinck. Mrs. Elmer Ball gave an exceptionally fine talk on the French dramatist, Edmond Rostand, speaking of his life and plays which have been produced both in Europe and America. This was followed by readings from Rostand's play, "Cyrano de Bergerac" by Mrs. Robert G. Davy.

Miss Marion Hand Is Hostess At Party

Miss Marion Hand entertained the members of the Dependables Class of the Methodist Sunday School most delightfully Tuesday evening at her home on Park Avenue. The rooms of this spacious home were ablaze with quantities of bright red poinsettias and other cut flowers accentuating the colors of red and green. A large brilliantly lighted and decorated Christmas tree was placed in the living room and added a festive touch to the already pretty scene.

A short business session was held after which games and contests caused the evening hours to pass all too soon. Mrs. Ned Smith won the prize for having the most correct answers in one of the contests. At the last meeting each member drew a name and was asked to bring a gift to this meeting. The gifts were placed on the tree and after refreshments were distributed by Miss Marion Hand assisted by Mrs. A. K. Shoemaker, Mrs. Burke Steele and Miss Esther Hughes. The class presented their teacher, Mrs. W. S. Thornton a beautiful quilted satin bath robe.

At a late hour refreshments of pumpkin pie topped with whipped cream, and hot chocolate were served. The refreshment table was spread with a handsome embroidered cover and centered with a silver bowl filled with poinsettias and tarts.

Those enjoying this pleasant evening were Mrs. Ned Smith, Mrs. Virgil Lee Smith, Mrs. Earle E. Jones, Mrs. Roy G. Williams, Mrs. Herman Middleton, Mrs. A. K. Shoemaker, Mrs. Burke Steele, Mrs. Niblack, Mrs. R. L. Shinn, Mrs. W. S. Thornton, Miss Lana Mae Fleming, Miss Betty Houston, Miss Pauline Myers, Miss Frances Hughes, Miss Esther Hughes, Miss Nonie Williams, Mrs. Rosamond Alford, Miss Lila Thomey, Miss Nell Williams, Miss Clara Rankin, Miss Patty Lyles and Miss Ruth Moss.

NELLIE TURNER CIRCLE

The Nellie Turner Circle of the First Baptist Church held a most interesting meeting Wednesday afternoon at the church, with Mrs. Charles F. Marshall and Mrs. Flynn Vause as hostesses. Sun flowers and other cut flowers in the varying shades of orange were used to emphasize the color scheme of orange and green. Following the business session a social hour was enjoyed at which time refreshments of hot chocolate and cup cakes were served by the hostesses. Those present were Mrs. Budd, bearing the inscription of "Sanford, the City Substantial." The officials' action was based upon the declaration that owners of automobiles are already assessed enough taxes in various forms without putting an additional burden upon them.

Mrs. Gannon, Mrs. L. B. Bragg, Mrs. T. K. Roll, Mrs. B. G. Methvin, Mrs. R. T. Warren, Mrs. I. E. Estridge, Mrs. L. L. Gooch, Mrs. A. D. Rosier, Mrs. A. C. McLendon, Mrs. R. E. Peurifoy, Mrs. E. J. Taylor, Mrs. J. D. Dossey, Mrs. O. H. Strengstrom, Mrs. R. Z. Johnson, Mrs. R. E. Cooper, Mrs. Duna-way, Mrs. Flynn Vause, Mrs. C. F. Marshall, Mrs. W. E. Varn and Mrs. A. J. Walker.

Following a claim for damages with the Commission for injuries, alleged to have been suffered by a child while using some of the city's playground equipment, the official also took steps toward securing liability insurance to protect the city against future claims. It was the consensus of opinion that the insurance should be procured and the school authorities be asked to pay the premiums.

Upon request of Commissioner S. O. Chase, the city auditors were instructed to compile a detailed report on the operation of the municipal gas plant for the past year.

DEMPESEY TO MEET TUNNEY

NEW YORK, Dec. 15.—(INS)—Tex Richard is expected today that Jack Dempsey will return to the ring next summer in an effort to regain his lost heavyweight laurels. The former champion wired the promoter that he was getting along well and was in excellent shape physically. "However, I feel that Dempsey should have at least one fight before he undertakes to face Tunney again," said Richard.
