"BUFFALO BILLS BIG SHOW

Will be Presented in Orlando With Great Scenic Effects

With a newly arranged arena and tents painted to represent towering mountain scenery, the Buffalo Bill Wild West and Pawnee Bill Far East, Combined, will exhibit in Orlando, Oct. 23rd and excursion rates have already been arranged with the various railroads to carry visitors to that point, where several novel and appropriate features will give the onlooker an agreeable surprise. The roster of the World's Roughriders will have additions to cover every style of equestrianism that the culling of the universe's most famed in the art can offer, from the Arab and Indian to the most finished four-legged graduates in Hayte Ecole.

An old-time fox hunt with the Gerner Kenny stud of high jumpers, led by the record-breaking pony "Stayaway," with a pack of hounds, all in the full spirit of the grand cross country sport, will thrill the beholder.

Max Gruber's greatest of all trained elephants, "Minnie," in a succession of surprising feats with horse, pony, dog, man and lady, is something new—a revelation in animal intelligence; the group of Russian peasant dancers (first appearance); the prize winning six horse team of dapple grays in action, driven by the magician of the ribbons, "Billy" Wales, in contrast to the old time horse, mule and ox teams and prairie schooners. "Buffalo Bill" and "Pawnee Bill" will both be in evidence, personally handling the details of a marvelously exhilarating, admirable and instructive story of telling world history.

Every arrangement will be made for the convenience of the Sanford people and a large crowd will be in attendance from this city.

CASSIA FLASH LIGHTS

The friends of Mrs. L. C. Garrett will regret to hear of the death of her mother, Mrs. Myers, which occurred at her home in Lady Lake, Sept. 14.

Mrs. Myers was born near Camden, Ohio. She moved here in December, 1885 with her husband and children. She is survived by four children: Mrs. Garrett, of this place; M. C. Myers, of Beresford, and C. C. and W. H. Myers of Lady Lake. All were with her at the end. The body was brought to Seminole Springs Cemetery for burial. Mrs. Myers was a consistent member of the Baptist church for years and was much respected by all who knew her. She was blind and in feeble health for several years. Now being perfect she beholds the glories of God's kingdom and the face of the Father which is in heaven. There her faith has brought her weary feet, shown her the glories of her God and made her joys complete.

Miss Edith Stewart, who successfully taught the Cassia school last summer, was the house guest of Mrs. Warren Royal and family. Her many friends were glad to see her smiling face again. She was accompanied by her brother, Max.

The many friends of Miss Maude McLarty regret to hear of her illness and hope for a speedy recovery.

M. C. Myers was the guest of his sister, Mrs. L. C. Garrett, for a few days this week.

APOPKA ITEMS

Mrs. Ethel Hickson has commenced teaching at Taft for the winter.

A large crowd of spectators from Apopka went to Mt. Dora last Saturday to see Mt. Dora defeat Apopka, in a well matched ball game.

Carl Brokaw, brother to W. H. Brokaw, came over from Deland Saturday for a short visit in his new Buick machine.

A very enjoyable entertainment was given at the Wayside Inn Monday night to the young people.

Miss Mildred, the charming daughter of Mrs. Williford, left for Tallahassee where she will enter the State College for Women, taking an academic course.

W. L. McCall, Apopka's clever prescription clerk, after a pleasant visit to his parents in Sylvania, Ga., has returned.

Carrill Zepp left Wednesday for Washington, where he will probably have to undergo an operation.

Miss Ada Lovell has gone to Jacksonville to visit relatives and enjoy a needed vacation.

F. E. Zepp is making extensive repairs to Mr. Paul's house.

WOODLAND PARK NOTES

The frequent rains during the equinoctial period have not prevented the usual outings to Woodland Park and Sunday a number of the regular visitors appeared. Bathing and tobogganing contributed much to the fun of a lively party in the swimming pool.

The Nettie brought a party from Sanford. On the way, a threatening storm came close enough to suggest life preservers and Capt. Tillis cast anchor, However, have we known Sanford people to be easily discouraged by slight obstacles? "They got there just the same," preferring a swim in clear water.

Some waiting passengers at the pier took a row boat and came over. Others came by land route, as there are many ways by which the park may be reached.

Next Sunday will be a special day for picnic parties and promises to be a good crowd. Bathing will be free.

Missionary Society Meets

The Missionary Society of the Presbyterian Church held their regular meeting at the home of Mrs. Fred Williams Friday afternoon. The meeting was presided over by the president, Mrs. C. C. Woodruff. Mrs. D. C. Robb conducted the devotional exercises. The subject for the afternoon was "City Missions." Three very interesting papers were read by different members of the society, entitled "Save the Cities" and "The Ups and Downs of Tampa Missions," and also one on "Slum Work in New York City." Rev. M. M. McFaren, who has been occupying the pulpit of the Presbyterian church, was a visitor at the meeting and made the society a very interesting talk on missions. After the business of the meeting had been concluded, the members enjoyed a social half hour together and the delicious refreshments served by the hostess.

Class Picnic

Chaperoned by Mrs. Richard Terhune the Sunday school classes of Mrs. G. B. Waldron and Miss Flora Walker enjoyed a delightful wagon picnic Monday to the home of Prof. and Mrs. Marion Lake Onoro. A good old fashioned picnic lunch, swimming and games were heartily enjoyed by the young people, who returned to town a happy, tired little bunch of youngsters with the perfect assurance that it had been a delightful picnic. A unanimous vote of thanks was extended Prof. and Mrs. Maris for their hospitality and to Mr. C. R. Walker for the use of his horse and wagon also. The party included Mr. and Mrs. Terhune, Edna Williams, Bertha Massey, Leila Hutchinson, Vera Terhune, Fred Wight, Earl Waldron, Clifford Walker, Edwin Meisch and Dick Terhune.

Kindergarten School

Miss Ruth Butler will open a Kindergarten on September 30, in the Congregational parsonage. Terms, $3.00 per month.

"I understand there is a vacancy in the city treasurer's office and I for one would be very much in favor of having my young friend, Hamil Tolar hold down the job for awhile. I have not consulted him in the matter and maybe he would not like to have the position and the only reason I suggest his name is because I think all these treasurer jobs both city and county ought to be handled in the banks. There is considerable book-keeping and some financing in the job of city treasurer and the man who holds it will have to be on the job when taxes are coming in and for this reason I think Mr. Tolar would be a good one for the place. He is centrally located and could be found at all hours of the day and as far as his qualifications are concerned there is no question at all.

"I always like to go to the postoffice and get to my box where the space is already taken by a genius who persists in standing in front of his box and reading his mail keeping me from getting mine until he finishes about two dozen letters and postal cards and comments upon all of them. If you intend to get your mail for goodness sake get it and get out of the office as soon as you can and give the other fellow a chance to get his.

BLEASE INVESTIGATION BRINGS OUT DUMMY VOTE

Can't Find 128 Men to Answer Roll Call of Ballot Box Returns

FLORIDA NEWS AND VIEWS FROM EVERY SOURCE

Daily Happenings in The Land of Flowers Culled and Tied Into a Nosegay of Brieflets

Evidence tending to indicate that fraud was practiced in Greenville county in the Democratic state primary of Aug. 17th, was placed before the sub-committee of the South Carolina Democratic state committee at a brief session held in the court house this afternoon. A local committee which has been conducting an investigation in Greenville county reported that repetition of names on the voting lists in that county had occurred in 340 instances and that the names were repeated anywhere from one to five times each. This, the committee says, indicates that 340 men voted from two to five times each in the primary. The committee further reported that it had been unable to identify 128 names on the polling list of one box in the county. Votes to the number of 752 were cast in this box. Their testimony will be offered later if the committee desires it. The investigation is the result of fraud charges made by former Judge Ira B. Jones and John T. Duncan, who opposed Governor Blease for the gubernatorial nomination. Governor Blease was renominated by a plurality of 1,000 on the face of the returns.

Charles Crawley, a brick mason from Arcadia, was killed and the young son of Joseph Anderson, an engineer on the Seaboard, injured when the front walls of the new Carmichael building at Ocala collapsed Tuesday. Crawley had just finished work when the accident occurred. Mr. Crawley was rescued from the debris a few minutes after the accident and hurried to a hospital, where he died shortly afterwards. He was identified by a bank book, which he carried on an Arcadia bank. Young Anderson was hurried to the home of his parents.

The people of Waycross, Ga., are advocating the plan that has already been frequently discussed, of digging a ship canal across the peninsula of Florida. The Waycross plan is to utilize the St. Mary's and Suwannee river route and to take the governmental machinery and paraphernalia now in use in the Panama canal and use it to dig the Florida ditch with. Should the government decide to appropriate a large sum of money and order this canal constructed, it would be found that the engineering difficulties are practically nothing and with the Panama equipment and canal digging force already organized, it would be a work of short duration.

A feud of some years standing culminated Tuesday afternoon in a pitched battle between the Croat and Goethe families at Bayport, near Brooksville. Two of the Croat boys and two of their cousins, Dave and William Jenkins, while setting their nets, were fired on by two of the Goethe family, who came up in a launch. The game was called on account of darkness, without fatalities, but it is expected the trouble will be renewed today.

William Alexander Filer, treasurer of Dade county and one of the most prominent citizens of this section, died suddenly last night at his home in Lemon City.

With 977 children enrolled St. Petersburg's public schools opened Monday.

The Lakeland postoffice will be in readiness by Jan 1, to put into general operation the recently authorized parcels post system.

Plans are being made in Orlando to enlarge and extend the capacity of the water and light plant almost immediately. The new machinery to be installed will more than double the capacity of the plant and the water service will be greatly extended in many directions.

At a meeting of the city council held in Tampa a few days ago the city physician, Dr. Stringer recommended the use of individual bathing caps and showers in the public schools of that city.

CHARGED WITH KIDNAPPING

Boy Kidnaps Fourteen Year Old Girl and Skips for Timber

C. C. Boy, charged with the kidnaping of fourteen year old Bessie Lee, was brought to Orlando last night with the girl, by Sheriff Kirkwood and Deputy Sheriff Lawton, having been arrested in the afternoon near Rutland Ferry.

Bessie Lee is the daughter of John N. Lee, who resides at Plymouth, and as the story goes, Boy came to her home last Friday morning and stole her away.

The couple came by auto to Orlando, where they purchased tickets over the Atlantic Coast Line and boarded No. 85 for Ft. Ogden.

The father came to Orlando Saturday and procured a warrant for their arrest. He arrived in Arcadia Sunday night and gave the warrant to the sheriff. They proceeded to Ft. Ogden, but upon arrival found that the couple had left for Mulberry, thus eluding their would be captors, the father returning home.

Monday morning the couple turned up in Sanford and went out to Ethel, a little station on the Eustis railroad and from that point to Boy's home nearby.

Mr. Lee came to Orlando yesterday morning, having learned that his daughter had returned with Boy to the latter's home on the Wekiwa.

Sheriff Kirkwood, accompanied by Deputy Lawton, then proceeded by auto to Sanford, and from that point to Rutland Ferry on the Wekiwa, where they found they could not cross with the machine, which they had to leave there and proceed on foot for nearly four miles. The couple were found at Boy's home near Ethel and placed under arrest.

After leaving the river, according to the sheriff's story, Lawton proceeded in losing the entire party. He had started in the right direction, he was sure, but when he found himself he was lost. After a difficult drive they arrived in Orlando about seven o'clock, where the young lady was turned over to her father, and the young man was given a preliminary hearing and bound over to court for trial on Friday morning. Bondsmen was properly secured and the young man is now at liberty pending trial. Reporter Star

Senator Donegan on Trial

Kissimmee, Fla., Sept. 27. A. E. Donegan, charged with "criminal libel," will come up for trial before Judge Johnson. The date is set for tonight. Admission fifty cents, proceeds for the benefit of the Kissimmee board of trade.

Senator Donegan is the leader of the "Blues" and so perniciously active did his opponents become that the "prisoner," Donegan, gave vent to some very calumnious statements concerning the "Whites." The "Whites," under the leadership of W. L. Winn, appealed to referee, Andrew Johnson, and that magistrate bound the defendant over to court. Col. Robert Davis of Tampa has been retained to defend the prisoner and Judge Parkhill, ex-member of the state supreme court, will labor for conviction.

The whole thing grew out of excessive zeal in the contest for new members for the board of trade. The "Blues" and "Whites" will occupy opposite sides in the court room. Officers will be on hand to search for hidden weapons and no one will be allowed to talk except Bob Davis and Judge Parkhill, with the possible exception of Triplett. As no one has yet found a way to stop him he will wag his tongue until the thing is run down.

The membership contest closes this week on Saturday, the 28th, and then comes the dinner and glory of the winners, the humiliation and dejection of the defeated.

Preliminary work has been started in Miami preparatory to beginning actual work on the new skyscraper which will be known as the Lawyers building.

CLUB TO MEET

Commercial Club Expects To Have Lively Meet

TO START FALL SEASON

Expected That Every Progressive in Sanford Will Attend The Meeting

The Sanford Commercial Club will meet tonight for the purpose of arousing enough enthusiasm to call attention to the fact that Sanford is on the map and every one who lives in Sanford and is not ashamed of it is supposed to attend the meeting. There is not a commercial body of any kind at present in the city and the present Commercial Club consists of Secretary Bates.

There will be no collection taken up at the meeting and this fact alone ought to bring out a very large and enthusiastic crowd of boosters. The idea of calling the meeting is to get the people of Sanford together and endeavor to ascertain if there are as many as twenty-five people here who will meet once a week or twice a month and discuss ways and means for the improvement of the city.

There have been criticisms of the Commercial Club in the past and at the meeting tonight a reorganization will be called for, if the majority of those present wish to take over the club and put in order their plans for advertising the city.

Harmony is the main idea of the called meeting and harmony will prevail. The only idea is to get a membership that will stand together and the business men of Sanford are especially urged to attend and become more active members of the club.

In the past there has been no interest manifested by the merchants of Sanford and the time is ripe for them to take over the reins of government and become active and working members of a club that means more to the business interests of Sanford than any body of men ever cemented together for a common cause.

The meeting will be called together in the council chambers at 7:30 and every progressive citizen of Sanford should be there.

Boat Service to Geneva

Our little sister on the north, Geneva will now be in direct and almost daily communication with us if the plans of Capt. C. B. Fulton are carried out. Having one of the finest launches or yachts that the Sanford fleet can sport, Capt. Fulton conceived the idea of putting on a service between this city and Geneva and the first trip was made on Wednesday of this week. The boat left at 11:30 and returned yesterday at 2:30 p. m. and will leave Geneva today at 7 a. m.

This gives the people of Geneva five hours to stop in this city and the genial captain will also carry all their bundles to and fro free with the exception of trunks or bulky packages.

The boat will carry thirty passengers comfortably, and Capt. Fulton is an experienced navigator, having spent years in water traffic in various parts of the country.

The round trip will be one dollar, which is very reasonable for a sixty mile trip. This river service into the upper Johns is bound to prove very popular, not only with the people of Geneva but with the tourists and Sanford people who want to take the trip through the most beautiful part of Florida, where the fishing and hunting and scenery surpasses any part of the state.

The regular schedule of the yacht Ramona will be given in The Herald as soon as Capt. Fulton can arrange the hours that will be most convenient for the travelling public.

TWO SANFORD PIONEERS DEAD

Mr. and Mrs. Burge Died Within a Few Days of Each Other

In these days of divorce, scandals and domestic upheavals it is a pleasure to see an old couple journey through life and neither trials nor poverty could diminish their love and devotedness, even the grave only seemed not to separate but to unite them eternally. Mr. Burge was buried on Friday and his broken-hearted, ever faithful, loving wife was laid to rest in a grave beside him on the following Wednesday.

Jacob Burge was born in Switzerland and for some years worked as florist and gardener in the north, coming to Sanford some thirty odd years ago and was employed in the same capacity by Mr. Jas. E. Ingraham, in whose employment he remained until he went to live in the little grove where he died. His faithful, devoted wife was born in Ireland and was also in the employment of Mr. Ingraham, and like her husband was regarded by her employer as a faithful, conscientious employee.

For many years the old couple was known by every one in Sanford and was respected by everybody, regardless of class or creed. They worked their little grove and even after the freeze they continued to raise sufficient for their frugal wants.

Mr. Burge, who had reached the patriarchal age of eighty three enjoyed good health until a few days before his death. He quickly realized that his time had come and fortified by all the consolations of his holy religion he quietly breathed his last Sept. 12th and was buried the following day in the cemetery of which he was caretaker so many years.

The friends who stood by his grave remarked that his devoted wife would not survive him long, seeing that they had been so devoted to each other all through life, but no one realized that in less than a week, before the flowers on his grave were withered she would be resting buried beside him. Neither medical skill, nor the exquisite kindness of the devoted ladies who took care of her and who sympathized with her in her sorrow could realize that there was no earthly remedy for that poor, broken heart. Father Tyrrell made touching remarks at her funeral.

Her devotedness to her husband is a proof that it is religion and religion alone and not legal enactments that will preserve the sanctity of home in adversity as well as in prosperity.

What is a Subscriber

Washington, Sept. 27. President Taft has referred to Attorney General Wick-ersham the recently enacted newspaper publicity law for an opinion as to what construction is to be placed by the postmaster general upon the term "paid subscribers," and as to whether the law is to apply to publications circulated otherwise than through the United States mails.

The reference of these questions will not defer the effective date of the law Oct. 1. Postmaster General Hitchcock said today the opinion would be in hand probably in ample time to enable the postoffice department to give to publishers before Oct. 1 necessary blanks on which to make returns.

The American Newspaper Publishers' Association has protested to President Taft against the law.

Yielding to the petition of more than 20,000 postmasters presiding over offices of the fourth class, and recommending W of the fourth class and recommendation of Postmaster General Hitchcock that the petition be granted, President Taft will shortly issue an executive order placing all fourth class postoffices on the civil service list. This will mean that the matter will be taken out of the province of politics, and about 40,000 postmasters of the fourth class will take office under the provisions of the civil service, to be removed only for cause.

Governor Woodrow Wilson admittedly went further today toward defining his ideas on progressive principles than he has since he became the Democratic nominee. In a speech, received with enthusiasm at Hartford, and another at New Haven, the Governor explained that he favored the initiative and referendum as well as the recall of administrative officers, but that he was unqualifiedly opposed to the recall of the judiciary. The Democratic nominee illustrated some of the points in his speech which included comment on the direct primary system and the direct election of United States Senators by reference to political conditions on the Pacific Coast. He said later that these references to California did not contemplate the presence in Hartford and New Haven today of Governor Johnson of California. "If I did not believe to be a Progressive was to preserve the essentials of our institutions I, for one, could not be progressive," said Governor Wilson in his Hartford speech. After paying tribute to the character of the majority of the men in the United States Senate, the Governor said: "It would be painful to repeat to you some of the processes by which seats have been bought in the United States Senate and you know, as the whole people of the United States know, that a little group of Senators holding the balance of power, has again been able to defeat programs of reform upon which the whole country has set its heart."

A candidate to head the New York Republican state ticket was expected to emerge today from the tangle of speculation that has beset the state convention ever since the delegates began to gather last Monday. In their efforts to test sentiment the leaders have suggested one man after another without stirring up any convincing show of enthusiasm. Unless the Republicans repeat the experience of the Progressives at Syracuse and find their leader in an unexpected outburst of harmonious approval, the nominees seem likely to be selected by carefully weighing the strength of the various men proposed and choosing the one who can make the most convincing show of strength.

Visits to the segregated quarter of Atlanta were made today by prominent citizens, women prominent in charitable work and ministers, to aid women by obtaining positions for them. The action today is the result of the police edict abolishing the vice district, which followed a campaign under the auspices of the Men and Religion Forward Movement. Ten thousand dollars is said to have been raised to aid in the reformation.

With from three to six policemen on every car sent out of the barns the strikers of motormen and conductors on the Augusta trolley cars began. There was nothing like a semblance of regular schedules, but the company's officials said they were doing their best under the circumstances and expected to have a great many more cars in operation tomorrow. Fearing trouble there were but few people took the chance of riding on those cars that were sent out, many using the taxicabs and other cabs. Others walked to their work or places of business.

By agreement, the trial of Sidna Allen and Wesley Edwards, the two Allen gangsters connected with the murder of court officials at Hillsville, Va., has been transferred to Wytheville, where the other members of the gang were tried. The state made no objection at the preliminary hearing on motion of the defense that a charge of venue be granted. The preliminary hearing was held in the Carroll county courthouse, where the tragedy took place last March that resulted in the deaths of the judge, prosecuting attorney, sheriff, a juror and one spectator.

SOME IMPRESSIONS AND EXPERIENCES OF A TRIP TO OLD ENGLAND

This series of articles was certainly well named so far as the city of Liverpool is concerned. The writer carried away with him some very vivid impressions, for several reasons. And then too it was the first place in which he came into actual contact with England and its customs and people. First impressions are always easily remembered, and though often they are wrong they are always difficult to remove from the memory.

When the friend whom I have mentioned before, and I set foot upon the streets of Liverpool, it was the close of an afternoon of a dark, cold and rainy day. It was certainly not a day on which to gain a pleasant impression of any place such as Liverpool, if indeed there be anywhere in this world such another place as that. It was not only dark because of the thick blanket of clouds that overhung the sky. One must remember that England is much farther north than Florida, and that consequently it never gets the bright sunshine that we get. One or two days of such bright sunlight as we have would almost put out the eyes of those that are used to such dull light, and would almost burn up the vegetation of the land. So although it was only about five o'clock the clouds and lack of light made it seem as though night was almost upon us. The air was also so full of mist and gently falling rain that it seemed as though we were in the midst of a cloud, which obscured the outlines of the heavily laden trucks that moved slowly down the streets, and the figures of men that crept about the streets with coat collars turned up to avoid the rain and cold.

The streets through which my friend and I passed, on our way to what we thought was to be our hotel, were wet and slippery with a coating of filth that made walking not only unpleasant but unsafe. The buildings that lined the narrow, crooked streets seemed to have a coating of grime and blackness that must have been inches thick and made our passage through these so-called streets like a passage through a coal mine. Everything indeed seemed to contribute to an impression of gloom such as I have never come in contact with.

dering and twisting and turning at the heels of a porter, who seemed to have no idea as to where he was going, we seemed to have passed through most of the streets of Liverpool and were at last at the door of a little place we could scarcely dignify with the name of boarding house, but which went by the name of the "American House." Evidently there was nothing American about it. It seemed to derive its name solely from the fact that citizens of that country are allowed to stay there and pay more than they could at a better place, simply because they are supposed to have more American dollars than they can well use. During the whole of our stay of eighteen hours in this hotel we came into contact with nothing more American than two old maiden ladies that had fled from their home in poor old straggled Mexico, and were stopping here on their way to some other point in England. I could not but think how much better off they would have been in Mexico, with all the comforts of a blood-thirsty revolution and the prospects of death at any time, than here in this little pigeon hole in a dark, narrow street, where the surroundings made one look behind each gloomy lamp post to discover whether it concealed a highwayman.

When we got our baggage deposited in a little room at the roof of the house, my friend confronted me with the query as to whether this was really Liverpool, to which I replied that as far as I was able to say the solution of fog and rain and cloud and smoke through which we had just come most probably did contain that noted city, but that I was as much in the dark as he was as to whether we were within a block of the place from which we started out or were at the opposite side of the city, because it was far beyond the limits of my sense of direction to follow the course of our wanderings as we were piloted through those twisted streets.

Nevertheless we had promised some young ladies on the boat that we would assist them in getting from the dock to their train, and it was necessary for us to return to the dock and fulfill our promise. So we set out once more, this time without a guide, to retrace our steps. How we ever did it is a mystery to me to this very day, but we actually did it, and after another course of wandering around through those narrow passage ways in the half darkness we were again at the customs house. But to our surprise it still was no darker than before, for the twilight there lasts sometimes for hours, even till ten o'clock at night and later, for which we were sincerely thankful for we had inferred from the darkness of the daylight that the nights were so black it would be impossible to even see one's hand in the darkness.

If you have ever tried to assist four young ladies with seven trunks and eight suit cases and numerous umbrellas through that awful tangle of ways that is called Liverpool, and about which they know absolutely nothing and you yourself know even less than they do, take the writer's advice and don't do it, unless you are particularly anxious for something to do.

Since our object was to get to the railway station we of course inquired as to the whereabouts of the railway station, and immediately discovered that it was important to know "which railway station." In England they don't have such things as union stations. Each little road has a station all its own, sometimes separated by miles and miles from the rest of the railway stations in the same town. At any rate it seems to be the practice to never let any one station come anywhere near the other. Just what the reason for this practice is, I was unable to learn. Evidently it is to keep one from being any nearer than a mile from the place he wants to get to.

Having learned this valuable fact, we found that we should go to the Lime Street station. I am sure now, that there never was a more suitably named station on this earth, for before we got to it with those suit cases and umbrellas and girls and things, we began to think it was an even nearer relative to a lemon than a lime is. But having discovered the identity of this particular station and being told that it was only a walk of a minute and "just up the street a bit," we had the seven trunks sent around, and set out on foot with the rest. Then it was that we began to get acquainted with the way people there have of directing one to a place. Since it would be absolutely impossible to direct one as to the dozens of turns and corners in getting to any place more than a hundred yards a way they tell you the first turn or two and leave you there in the hope that some other kind hearted person will direct you a little further. So having pursued the elusive Lime Street station for a much greater distance than we had at first been directed to do, we again enquired of one of those monster "cops" that decorate every corner, and were this time directed to follow the tramway to the "first turn to the left and Sir." So after a series of such directions in answers to at least a dozen inquiries, and after almost despairing of ever reaching the "Lime" Street station, we at last slipped up on that venerable monument to the smoke and soot and grime of Liverpool and, while it wasn't looking, made our way inside.

But having arrived, our troubles had just begun. Those seven trunks were not yet arrived. So a long wait was necessary and after so long a time they arrived and were deposited in the middle of an alley that runs alongside the station. Although this is a very large and important station yet there was no such thing as a baggage room, so far as we were able to discover. So we procured the assistance of one or two of the army of idle porters that hang around every station in England, and began the task of getting those seven trunks properly identified, labeled and looked after generally. Since the transfer man simply brings the baggage and dumps it down and then hangs around waiting for some one to come along and pay him for his services, it is necessary to scramble all around through a multitude of trunks and to identify your particular trunk. So you can imagine what a task confronted us. You know a woman never knows her own trunk, for some reason or other, and the identification of those seven trunks was a task worthy of an expert criminal lawyer. But it was at last accomplished and then began the task of making those porters understand which of them belonged to each of the young ladies, so that they could go off and get the proper little label for each trunk and write the name of the destination upon it. By the time he had gone off and stayed awhile and finally come back with his little label, he had forgotten which trunk it was for, and it had to be done all over again. Since no two of the ladies were going to the same place that made matters much worse. But we finally got the seven trunks properly labeled, and we thought the worst was over, but not yet. The English roads do not give you any receipt or check for your baggage. You simply give it to them in the hope that they will be kind and generous enough to give it back to you when you ask them to, and that no one will be so unkind as to walk off with it while it is out of your possession.

After the trunks are labeled you have to get busy and see that the porters don't leave the baggage just where they found it, for a day or two, before thinking of the fact that you might perhaps want to see it again and renew acquaintance with it. So we kept after those two porters until they had actually put the trunks in the "Luggage Van" of the proper train and had so disposed them in the "van" that the "Guard" would put them off at the proper place.

This little performance had taken those four young ladies, my friend and myself and the two porters something like an hour of time and a large supply of patience and perseverance. In much less time than I have taken in the recounting of it, a single American baggage man could have done the whole thing instead of waiting around to receive a tip of a few pennies.

During the time the writer was in England he asked many times why the English roads did not adopt the much more convenient and quicker American baggage system, and was always met with the same old reply that "We know that your system is much better than ours, but we have gotten along for many years on our system and it will do for us."

Auction Bridge Party

Mrs. Robert A. Newman was the charming hostess of the Auction Bridge Club at her home on Third street Monday afternoon. The game was played at two tables, and at the conclusion scores were counted and it was found Mrs. F. L. Miller was the winner of the first prize, which was a silver mounted crumb tray and brush. Those who enjoyed Mrs. Newman's hospitality were: Mrs. C. O. McLaughlin, Mrs. F. L. Miller, Mrs. O. W. Brady, Mrs. Samuel Puleston, Mrs. W. R. Anno, Mrs. B. W. Herndon and Mrs. F. J. Gonzales.

Children's Party

Mrs. S. O. Shinholser entertained the children of her neighborhood very delightfully Monday afternoon in honor of her little daughter Clifford Louisa's birthday. Many outdoor games were played and one event never to be forgotten by the little folks was the posing for their pictures. Dainty refreshments were served at the close of a pleasant afternoon.

FLORIDA'S SANDY SOILS

The careless observer, especially if taking notes mainly from a car window, is apt to conclude that Florida is mainly an expanse of sand. He takes no note of the magnificent forests of pine he sees almost on every hand, nor of the lordly oaks that stretch great arms out to him in welcome, nor of the other evidences of inherent strength of the soil. It is not enough for him that the landscape is not like that he has been accustomed to and he does not like it.

The prevalence of sand on so much of the surface of Florida is something of a puzzle to many Floridians who know what great crops of vegetables and fruit are produced from that same sand in many parts of the state. He knows that many Floridians are growing rich from a comparatively small acreage and that, too, from lands that were condemned by some prospectors when in the rough and are now producing their abundant crops only because others had the courage and faith to begin the cultivation.

Assuming that the parent soil of Florida was, mainly, a sandy clay—of which there are many indications visible to the eye of the soil expert—the abundant rains of this state supply all the explanation needed of its present apparent sandiness. The rainfall, as it sunk into the ground would naturally carry with it the finer particles of the soil, which are of clay, and leave behind the coarser sand particles, forming a whitish stratum from a fraction of an inch to several inches deep. In the course of time, especially where the water table lies several feet beneath the surface and the sandy clays lie upon limestone, or circumstances generally favor good drainage, the sands will deepen and the clay will be carried farther down to reaccumulate in beds of brick clay, fire brick clay, or pottery clays.

The facts as to the richness so often valued by the gray sands of the surface soil are within the observations of all Floridians, the theory as to the segregation of this is to be found in the fourth annual report of the Florida Geological Survey published this year. Times-Union.

AN IMPORTANT QUESTION

In a few months the fine new depot will be built and while all of us appreciate the efforts of the A. C. L. to give our city such a fine structure we should also look forward to the time when the through trains are bringing their loads of tourists and prospectors around the city instead of through the city, as they are obliged to do now.

As little as the matter may seem at first blush the idea of the travelers seeing the main part of our city or going by without gaining any idea whatever of Sanford is quite different and in a season's travel will be a large item.

Along this line of thought it is high time that the people of Sanford were thinking of consulting the railroad company about putting on a gasoline car or investigating the project of the Sanford Traction Co. on the subject of operating their cars to the depot. In this latter respect there is nothing accomplished as yet in the matter of laying tracks or connecting with the A. C. L. tracks at First street. The Herald has had no definite information on the subject and would like to see the work started before the new depot is finished. The tourist travel has already begun and about the time the new depot is occupied the travel will be in full swing and the people will have no means of transportation to the city other than a sandy road before getting to the brick streets.

With a good shuttle train of some kind operated by the A. C. L., or the cars of the Traction Company the passengers at the depot that have twenty minutes could be induced to run down to the city proper, see the principal sights and make a purchase and get back to the train on time. The distance is not great, but is too far to walk and back fare would be twenty-five cents. The car line could make the trip for ten cents and make it a pleasant trip and one that the majority of the passengers would like to take advantage of to break the tedium of their journey.

This is a very important question that should be taken up by the city council and the people of Sanford, as it bears directly upon the vital interests of the city.

The first impressions of the traveler are generally lasting ones and at the present status of affairs the people who see the ragged edge of the city at the new depot will have anything but a good impression of Sanford.

THE AUTOIST

The Times editor has no automobile, and if any one contemplates presenting him one they have thus far kept the secret very successfully. Nevertheless, we do have some ideas about this automobile speed and traffic business, and we do confess to a feeling that in some ways our autoists are being harrassed unnecessarily and without benefit to the general welfare.

It seems to us the speed limit ought to be raised—if not removed entirely.

All the autoists now violate the law—at least, so they themselves tell us. They say they have to—that they can't drive under all circumstances within the limit—and we believe them. But not all are pinched, nor ever will be; and when some are pinched and others are not, hard feelings are bound to follow.

Fewer persons have been injured in St. Petersburg by moving autos than by brick or stone falling from buildings under construction, and we do not see the occasion for worrying them or about them. And we fail to see clearly the connection between any reasonable speed and public danger. Seems to us a driver with ordinary skill and sense should be able to navigate St. Petersburg streets with reasonable safety to the public at fifteen miles, or even more; and that some of our prize chumps and smarties are a menace when driving at any speed at all. Seems to us the public safety would be better looked after if the police looked more to the manner of driving than to the speed.

And this order for the tooting of horns! Now just suppose all the autoists of St. Petersburg should get together some fine day or night and peacefully and properly parade the city, all blowing their horns at all points required by the order! They would be arrested for murder—the murder of peace and quiet and order.

Honest! it seems to us there is a whole lot of things our handsome blue coats could be put at with more of good to the community than badgering our autoists.—St. Petersburg Times.

ON GETTING TOGETHER

The Herald has expended unlimited hot air and gray matter in the endeavor to get the business men of Sanford into an organization of some kind where matters of interest to the members and the community at large could be discussed in a friendly fashion and some headway gained in the matter of boosting the city. The cry of a majority of the merchants was that the Commercial Club being composed of real estate men mainly was not the proper vehicle for the business man to ride who was interested more in his own business than in the city's affairs. This spirit dominates the business life of Sanford to such an extent that very few merchants ever joined the club. The Herald then endeavored to get the merchants into a club for mutual protection against the boosters who threatened to swamp the city with new people and this project failed because not enough merchants of Sanford have sufficient ginger in their systems to come to a meeting of any kind.

The Herald will try once more. Tonight there will be a meeting of the Commercial Club at which a re-organization will take place and it is the earnest desire that every man in Sanford who has the welfare of the city at heart will be present. If you are already a member come up with your dues. If you are not a member come up and join the organization—your organization—for it will be just what you make it. If twenty-five good earnest workers can be induced to band together for Sanford The Herald will consider the work well done. Twenty-five Sanford men standing together on every project for the best interests of the city will soon become so much an integral part of the business life of the city that the hangbacks will be obliged to join or be left out in the cold. There is work to do in this day and age and this band of men will just about do it for the next two years, regardless of whether it meets the approval of the pessimists or not.

The real live ones who are anxious to advance are expected to get together now. Money will not be discussed at the meeting tonight. It will be a harmony meeting and the main idea will be to perfect a better organization. After that is accomplished the subject of money will be discussed by the class in finance.

JUST AMONG FRIENDS

The question of the direction of the brick roads within the city limits seems to occupy the attention of the public at present and at times threatens to block the wheels of progress. It has been tacitly understood all the time and was agreed upon by a majority of the property owners living on Union avenue and Park avenue that the part of the brick roads that touched in the city would be built on those popular thoroughfares for the following reasons:

The greatest number of people live on Union avenue and Park. These avenues are peopled by white residents.

The greatest number of tax payers reside on these avenues.

The residents on these avenues pay more in taxes than the owners of property on the other route and always will.

The most valuable suburban property in Sanford is located on Park avenue south of Tenth street and east of Pump branch on Union avenue.

Both of these sections are high and dry and healthy, and will always contain a large population of property owners.

Both of these sections should have brick roads because the strangers to the city should be brought through the finest residence sections of the city instead of the poorest.

On Park avenue and Union avenue the road will pass the residences of thirty-five white inhabitants the other route will pass one.

Ninety-five per cent of the people of the Sanford district are willing and anxious for the brick roads to be built via Park avenue and Union avenue. Some half dozen people who do not reside near the property and never will be anxious to have the road built via Sanford avenue and Bull Frog street.

The Herald has no wish to start an argument that would lead to a quarrel among friends and the matter should be left to the wish of the majority. This is Democratic in principle and fair to all parties concerned.

Let the majority rule.

NEED A BETTER DOCK

Now that Sanford will have a boat line to Geneva for passenger service and that the trade with Enterprise over the ferry is growing daily the city of Sanford should bestir itself and arrange a better city dock. There has been some work along this line in the matter of repairing the dock, but the present city dock is entirely inadequate to take care of the increasing river traffic and the editor of the Herald for one would like to see the city council try out the plan of bulk heading the city dock and thus gain some idea of the cost of bulk heading the entire front. At present in rough weather it is almost impossible to make a safe landing and if we are to get the traffic that is rightfully ours there should be some money spent at once on the city dock and it should be spent intelligently and to some purpose. A sufficient sum should be appropriated at once to bulk head at this point and construct a good, substantial city dock that would serve for many years to come and give our city the appearance of striving to take care of the passengers that come to Sanford by water.

The river that is our most valuable asset has been neglected long enough and it is high time for the people of Sanford to wake up and improve the lake front and start by improving the city dock.

The present dock is a continuation of Park avenue and belongs to the city, therefore no individual property owner needs to be consulted in the matter.

Joe Hugh Reese, one of the strongest progressive editors of the state and former associate of Claude L'Engle, has announced that he sees no need for the initiative and referendum in Florida. We are glad to see Joe Hugh drop that Teddy Roosevelt and Debs stuff.—Pensacola News.

Fishermen Return

Messrs. Woodruff, Elder, Williams, Dubose, Garner, Stringfellow, Seigh and Wilson returned from Coronado last night, where they went upon a so-called fishing trip. They found out after they arrived at Coronado that all the fish had left there and gone to Panama and there was nothing doing in the fish line. They found Dick Calhoun over there and he spun some good yarns about what he had done several days before, but he failed to make good while they were present. Jack Davison and Joe Fernandez stayed over for one day and expect to catch some fish now that the noisy bunch has left the beach.

Eugene Laramore, travelling for Libbey, McNeal & Libbey, joined his wife here this week, as she has been the guest of her mother, Mrs. Carrie B. Yeiser on Lake Onoro.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. A. DeCottis motored to Jacksonville last Saturday and returned on Tuesday. The entire distance was covered without an accident of any kind.

The fruit packing houses in the vicinity of Lakeland are all completely equipped and ready to begin work at an early date and are looking for the largest crop in many years.

Rev. J. D. Langley occupied the pulpit at the Congregational church last Sunday both morning and evening and preached splendid sermons to appreciative audiences. Rev. Langley has been preaching at the Presbyterian church in Orlando during the absence of the pastor.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Perry, a fine boy.

A. L. Williams has been appointed City Treasurer and Collector.

Bathing will be free in Woodland Park swimming pool on Sunday, Sept. 29th. 10-2tc

J. D. Roberts' Grocery is headquarters for Chase & Sanborn's Teas and Coffees. None better. 10-2tc

Now is the time to have the children's hair cut for school. At Albert Gramling's barber shop they do it right. 10-2tc

The management of the Star Theater has a staff of photographers out taking pictures of the babies and small children of the city, which will be shown at the moving picture shows during the next few days, thereby attracting the parents and fond relatives, who will invariably turn out to see the picture of their own particular cherub.

Children's Day

Children's and Rally Day service will be held at the Methodist church Sunday morning, Oct. 6th. Special program consisting of recitations and singing by the Sabbath school and Junior Epworth League members. Everybody welcome.

At the Baptist Church

Rev. D. J. Blocker will conduct services at the Baptist church on Sunday next, at 11 a. m. and 7.30 p. m. Mr. Blocker will be remembered as a former popular pastor of this church and his many friends in Sanford will be delighted to meet him and hear him preach again. A cordial invitation is extended to all.

New Depot Progressing

Work on the new Atlantic Coast Line depot is forging ahead and it is expected that it will be ready for occupancy sometime in October. It is quite natural to assume that the new depot offices and all appurtenances thereto with the travel and traffic giving new interest and life, will add quite an impetus to the hitherto remote section of the town and Ninth street, where the depot is located, and many improvements will soon be under way, towards building up that rather neglected approach to the city.

It is understood that the Gulf Refining Co. is seeking a location near the railroad tracks for the erection of a warehouse.

It has been unofficially heard that the present Atlantic Coast Line depot has been rented to a wholesale grocery company.

School Starts Next Monday

Prof. N. J. Perkins has returned to the city fresh from the green fields of Virginia and ready to take up the work of teaching the young ideal to shoot.

He will be at his office in the High School building from 9 to 12 in the morning and 2 to 5 in the evenings today and tomorrow to meet the teachers and parents and patrons of the school and every one interested in the school work is requested to meet him there.

A special teachers' meeting will be held at 4 o'clock at the High School building and all the teachers are requested to be present at this meeting.

School will open next Monday and the pupils should be on hand at the regular time, as the first week's work is made more arduous by pupils coming in at various times during the week. Every entrant is supposed to be at the various school houses next Monday and be assigned to the grades where they belong.

Social Service Meeting

The Social Service department of the Methodist church held their regular meeting on Tuesday afternoon in the church. The meeting was presided over by Mrs. M. A. Miot, fourth vice president of the society, who also conducted the devotional exercises. An article from the Missionary Voice on "The American and the Work being done among Them," was read by Mrs. C. E. Smith. Another article from the Voice on "Home Missions by Mrs. H. H. Chappell.

The beautiful duet, "The Homeland," was sung by Mrs. J. K. Mettinger and Mrs. Claude Herndon; played by Mrs. Herndon.

Mrs. W. W. Abernathy read an article on the "Work that is being done for Lepers" in Korea.

An article on the "Lay Hospital at Songdo, Korea," was read by Mrs. T. A. Newton. After a lengthy discussion on matters of great interest to the society the meeting adjourned.

In County Court, Florida.

Orange County, Florida.

By the County Judge of said County:

Whereas, F. W. Mahoney applied to this court for letters of administration on the estate of Eliza Burns, deceased, late of said county of Orange.

Those are, therefore, to cite and admonish all persons interested in the kindred and creditors of said deceased, to be and appear before this court on or before the 25th day of October, A. D. 1912 and file objections, if any they have, to the granting of letters as aforesaid, otherwise the same will be granted as prayed.

Witness my hand as County Judge of the County aforesaid, this 26th day of September, 1912.

THE SANFORD BASE BALL CLUB OF 1912

Champions of the Sandspur League Who Won Thirty-Four Games in Fifty-Four in the Sanford-Orlando Series and their Record for Season

Sanford is proud of her champion ball team of the 1912 season, for they were not only the best players that ever trod the Sandspur Circuit of the Bush League but they were gentlemen all and the finest bunch of ball tossers that ever left the old North State and invaded the Land of Flowers.

With one or two exceptions the entire team was composed of college boys from the University of North Carolina and they had played bang up ball during the spring season of the college circuit. Manager Stevens displayed excellent judgment in taking as many of these players as possible. They had played together and had the system of team work and inside base ball down to a fine science, and the fact that they hardly ever lost a game by bonehead plays demonstrated the wisdom of getting boys who had worked together. Although the team played with but few teams other than Orlando and Kissimmee and few of the fans in other sections of Florida had a chance to take their measure, the Sanford team was undoubtedly the finest and fastest amateur team that ever played the game in the state.

Their field was limited and their reputation was confined mostly to newspaper reports of the games, but their work was so good that several scouts of the larger leagues were here from time to time endeavoring to get a line on the boys and several of them received good offers to "line in" but their college days are ahead of them and the are not ready to enter the ranks of they professionals although one or two of them will remain and coach some of the Florida college teams.

Early in the season the fact was apparent that Sanford far outclassed Orlando and after the first ten games the Sanford team romped home with the money with apparent ease and had it not been for the fact that both towns were compelled to play out the series the end would have been in sight before the season had fairly started. There could be no comparison between the Sanford team and any other amateur team in the state and their work on the field was beyond compare.

Many of the out of town spectators at the game were amazed at the spectacular plays pulled off by the home team and every game was well attended by many people who came for miles to see real classy ball playing.

With such a team to represent our city a six city league should have been organized early in the season and the team could have had an opportunity to demonstrate their ability.

Manager Stevens and his able assistants are to be congratulated upon their good management during the season and upon giving our city such a good team. The citizens not only received much pleasure from the games but the city profited by the advertising, as the eyes of the state were focused on Sanford during the series, and our city is known among the fans of Florida and other states as being progressive enough to support a ball team in the summer months.

While the season of 1913 is far ahead there is no doubt about support that will be given to a good ball team next season and it possible the many admirers of the Collegians hope to see them wearing a Sanford uniform next year.

Birthday Party
Mrs. J. O. Packard entertained at a very pretty children's part Saturday afternoon in honor of little Miss Virgie May's birthday. The decorations were very pretty, the table especially attractive, as it was centered with a hay stack, in which was hidden the dolls for the little folks. Indoor games were played as the weather was very inclement, but the spirits of the young folks were not in the least dampened. Those who enjoyed this merry afternoon were: Sara Evelyn Williams, Olive Newman, Katherine Ymes, Margaret Davison, May Holly, Mildred Holly, Sara Wight, Gertrude Runge, Dorothy Palmer, Mollie Abernathy, Erminia Houser and Helen Terwilliger.

Clifford Walker is spending a few days this week with Billy Fitts at New Smyrna and the beach. The big fish will probably go to deep sea while the boys are on the beach.

Let Every Woman Read

There is Strength and Health for Her in This Greatest of Modern Discoveries

The best women in every town where Reno's New Health is known have good reason to recommend this marvelous remedy to other women. Reno's New Health is not an ordinary patent medicine. Nothing is claimed for this wonderful remedy that it will not accomplish. In proof of this it is sold under an absolute guarantee to refund the money on first bottle if it fails to surely and thoroughly relieve Bloaty, Profuse, Painful, Irregular or Suppressed Menstruation, Sickly Periods, Constant Weariness and Weakness, Depression, Cramps, Dizziness, Violent Headache, Palpitation of the Heart, Pains in the Back and Groins, Leucorrhoea and all Inflammations, Ulceration and Discharges of the Vagina and Uterus.

No scheme is resorted to sell Reno's New Health. The only kind of advertising that can be profitable is the recommendation that goes by word of mouth from those whom this marvelous medicine has cured to suffering friends, relatives and neighbors. It is in this way that the sale of Reno's New Health has increased from day to day, from year to year. The demand for it is steadily growing and it has done a world of good in the homes of the famous and wealthy as well as among the army of hard working women.

Reno's New Health is the prescription of an eminent physician whose life was spent in searching for a cure for female troubles, and when he discovered this remedy he at once put it within the reach of the poor as well as the rich, and today it may be obtained at nearly every drug store.

Until Reno's discovery there was no known cure for the many ills with which women suffer. The pains and aches which our mothers thought they must endure, soon vanish under the curative and health-giving influence of Reno's New Health. Like nothing else, it gives new vigor, life and strength. It makes nervous, ailing women well and cheerful. It dispels headaches and banishes all nervous troubles. Reno's New Health makes it unnecessary at any stage of life to suffer from those serious ills that afflict so many. It does not merely relieve, but permanently cures.

Stubborn Case

"I was under the treatment of two doctors," writes Mrs. R. L. Phillips, of Indian Valley, Va., "and they pronounced my case a very stubborn one, of womanly weakness. I was not able to sit up, when I commenced to take Cardui.

I used it about one week, before I saw much change. Now, the severe pain, that had been in my side for years, has gone, and I don't suffer at all. I am feeling better than in a long time, and cannot speak too highly of Cardui."

TAKE The CARDUI Woman's Tonic

If you are one of those ailing women who suffer from any of the troubles so common to women.

Cardui is a builder of womanly strength. Composed of purely vegetable ingredients, it acts quickly on the womanly system, building up womanly strength, toning up the womanly nerves, and regulating the womanly system. Cardui has been in successful use for more than 50 years. Thousands of ladies have written to tell of the benefit they received from it. Try it for your troubles. Begin today.

J. Moore Hardy Writes of Advantages to be Found at Sanford, Fla. Florida, Sept. 16th, 1912.

Editor Mirror, Altoona, Pa.

Dear Sir—I promised you and a number of Pennsylvania friends to let them know our impressions of conditions as we found them in fair Florida, and the country we traveled through in reaching Florida. We reached Sanford Friday, Aug. 30 at 2:15 a. m., having left Altoona as reported on Tuesday at 10:05 a. m. on the Limited, having stopped in Harrisburg on business, I took the local to Baltimore, so as to see the famous York Co. country to advantage, but did not see over a dozen corn fields along the way the equal of one at Manor hull, Huntingdon county, and did not see a cabbage patch the whole way down the equal of one at Mooresville, Pa. There were evidences of cornfields still standing at Sanford, the equal of any in York, Huntingdon or Blair counties, and I would not live on a thousand acres of those old abandoned farms in Virginia and pay taxes. I also found a number of Georgia farmers from the best part of the state, raising corn, cotton, rice and sugar cane, and when they attempted to raise vegetables for the early spring markets north, to find themselves beaten by the same, by the Sanford truckers and Florida in general, by from two to six weeks, and these conditions were becoming intolerable to the progressive farmers who wanted to get ahead, and they are preparing to come to the favored sections of Florida in larger numbers than from Pennsylvania.

The mention of the two fine stations at Baltimore and at Washington is superfluous, as most people are aware of their magnificence. I arrived in Washington in the evening on the Congressional Limited, saw Washington from the top of Washington monument, and the White House and as much of the city as could be seen from the Atlantic Coast Line. The Florida and West Indian Limited, the finest in the south. I left at 9:20 Thursday and arrived at Sanford at 2:15 a. m. Jacksonville claims to be among the most progressive cities of the south, and also lays great claim to business prominence, and has some reasons for its pretensions in this direction. Sanford is the first center of importance south of Jacksonville, 1173 miles from Altoona and is not such a long way off like California, 3,000 miles and more, and especially when the railroad gives a cheap thirty day round trip excursion twice a month at $25, and especially when you can get on a train at 3:30 at Washington and arrive at Sanford, Fla., at 6 p. m. next day, so you see they are less than two days from New York.

Sanford is a live, up-to-date little city of about 7,000 and is a twelve months in the year place. On a fine lake, Monroe, 3 1/2 by 6 miles in width, Lake Jessup, 5 to 6 miles to the south, and these two along with the St. Johns river connecting them, make the world's famous Sanford celery delta, nature's natural truck garden. Thirty miles of brick roads are to be built county, of which Sanford is the center, in three directions from Sanford. One of these connects the county seat, Orlando. The Atlantic Coast Line is building a new station to the west of the city. The city has already arranged to have two of the principal streets and avenues leading to the new station paved this fall before the shipment of vegetables begin this winter. Sanford can take care of a large number of settlers and tourists. Although another fine hotel is planned on the lake front, which is to be further parked and boulevarded, which it is hoped will be started soon. This place is far from being a wilderness, and as a quaint, homelike place will compare favorably with any of the central Pennsylvania towns of from 2,000 to 10,000 population and its suburban territory cannot be beaten by York, Lancaster or Reading. We were delighted with Mecca, which is all the name implies. I was out on Friday when I arrived to see the famous Celery avenue, and on some of the lake view celery farms and took in the celery delta street car belt line, and even though their lands under cultivation ranged from $500 to $1,000 and $2,000 an acre. I was glad I saw Mecca the first thing on Friday morning, as I would not give the lands surrounding this little village for any of them, even in the new, raw state with the tropical palms covering them, with an occasional live oak, pine or magnolia. I have three neighbors within 400 feet of my piece of land, and several more are clearing so that there will be several more houses inside of several hundred feet, and you can grow anything in Florida that can be grown in California and some things that cannot be grown there, if you use brains, judgment and hard work enough, and like I was shown one of the last land sales yesterday. A poor man bought land at a few dollars an acre, and the sale was $20,000 for thirty acres, and the chicken business, eggs are 40 cents a dozen now. I gave my neighbor across the street (Sanford avenue) the right of a chicken ranch on my frontage, did not allow him to cut down any of the fine trees, so that now it looks like Mecca Park. Lakemont would give thousands of dollars for an acre of this frontage and it is on a hard road. Sanford avenue "straight into the city, so that a good chicken ranch demonstration can be seen on my frontage. Now, nor are they troubled by any disease or vermin on this hammock land. A big chicken ranch across the lake (Monroe) has several thousand chickens among the palm trees, as the chickens have a nice shady place where they can get out of the sun if they want to.

A man that showed me his chicken ranch among the tropical palms and live oak grove, surrounding his house, yesterday said to me that he did not lose three of his chickens by disease. They were white Leghorns. Saw a fine Barred Plymouth Rock ranch this morning, but with the price of eggs at 40 cents there is room for more to go into the business. Eggs go to 50 cents in the winter when the fowls are doing their best. So that this appears to be a Mecca sure enough in one business, the chicken business. I arrived just in time, the last of August, to see some of the rainy season. West of Sanford we saw the big storms that went down the west coast and hit Tampa and St. Petersburg. We have frequent showers. One day was cloudy and rained several times during the day, but this was enjoyed as it appeared like north in July.

The water's fine, especially if you drink it fresh from the wells. (People don't drink the city water, as it is out of a lake. As the flowing sulphur water is so healthy drink it by the quart for the first several days and then you are all right, you can't drink enough of it. People don't live forever here, but there is very little sickness, and people don't have to go elsewhere, like at other places, on account of catarrh, rheumatism and lung troubles. The last of August is the time they start, like up north in the spring, from March 20 to April 11 their seed beds. The celery seed beds have been planted, except a few, 20th of August to 20th of September. The lettuce has been planted in the last ten days and will be planted still later, and cauliflower can still be planted. Yesterday I saw a bed of peppers in the seed bed ready to set out, four inches high.

Everything will be in full blast here shortly. Some of the men whose crops I have written about will make from $800 to $1,600 an acre, and others will not make over two or three hundred dollars an acre. It all depends on the man. A man with brains like some of the expert truckers of Blair county will make out here. This gives some information, along general lines, details can be had from the growers J. Moore Hardy, Sanford, Fla., Sept. 16, 1912. Altoona (Pa.), Mirror.

OVIEDO OCCURANCES

Mrs. E. J. Nix and daughters, Lucile and Elaine, of Ocala, have been the guests of Rev. Cole and family for some days. They will leave for their home Friday, and Mrs. Nix will be accompanied by her sister, Miss Eva Cole, who will enter the high school in Ocala. Miss Eva will be greatly missed by all her friends here and especially by her music teacher, Mrs. Smith, who complimented her aptitude and proficiency.

Miss Eula Man and Edith Howard returned from Groveland last week where they spent two very pleasant weeks with relatives and friends.

A fine boy has arrived at the home of Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Dean to the delight of the entire household and many friends. May his life be a blessing to his parents, brother and sister, and one of great usefulness for our dear Maater.

J. P. Musselwhite was in town Saturday afternoon enroute to Orlando.

Miss Pearl Bacon has returned from a two weeks' visit with her aunt, Mrs. Crow and family on Lake Harney.

Rev. Cole is at Geneva engaged in a series of meetings.

D. W. Currie of Orlando was in town Monday.

Rev. E. Lee Smith returned home Monday morning from Clarens, where he held his regular appointment Sunday morning.

MAITLAND

School opened here last week with a good attendance. Miss Harris of Winter Park is our teacher this term and has rooms with Mrs. Turner.

Mrs. Geo. B. Dickinson of Sanford returned home Monday after spending ten days with her friends, Mrs. Vanderpool and Mrs. W. L. Mooreman at Maitland.

Miss May Shelton is at home again after a week's stay at Dr. Christ's sanitarium. We are glad to say she is much better and continues to improve.

Our vacant houses have about all been rented or spoken for, which looks as if we were going to have a full town this winter.

Mrs. Pooler (nee Miss Maggie Simmons) returned to Maitland last Saturday and will be with her parents. While we regret the sad cause of her return, we are glad to have her with us again.

Carl Galloway has moved to the Hall cottage opposite the Library.

Kemper Trout and family have moved back to Maitland and will occupy their house on Horatio avenue near Lake

Sabelin. We are glad to have them with us again.

Mrs. Kniver was called to her old home in Iowa a few days on account of the illness of her daughter.

Meeting of Welaka Club

At the club rooms Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock the Welaka Club will hold the opening meeting of the season. It will be a business meeting, and every member of the club will be expected to be present, as business of interest and importance will be discussed. The committees in the different departments have given much time and thought towards arranging the attractive programs which have been issued in a pretty booklet for the coming season, and every member of the club should cooperate in carrying out the plans as made. The social feature of the club will be especially emphasized, and the members may look forward to an unusually pleasant winter. Aside from the social feature of the club some interesting work along the lines of Art, Civics, Literature, Music and Household Economics will be taken up. Under the competent leadership of Mrs. J. W. Dickens the club is in a flourishing condition, and some plans for future development are being made, among which is that of building a club house. With the progressive ideas that dominate the club this may be accomplished at no distant date. Mrs. R. J. Holly will be hostess at the club rooms during the month of October.

Imperial Theatre

Manager Karnatz of the Imperial Theatre has thoroughly cleaned and renovated the house, discarded the electric piano and replaced same with a new one which will arrive and be installed next week, has added an orchestra of four pieces which furnishes sweet music every night, and has furnished several very classy acts lately that have attracted good crowds and excited much complimentary talk.

With the added attractions the Imperial is something more than a picture show, and to judge from the attendance the patrons appreciate the high tone of the entertainment which is being furnished.

Lewis & Woodward opened last evening and the act was indeed a surprising hit. They will repeat the act again tonight and change for Saturday night. The singing of the team of fun-makers is catchy and highly entertaining.

Next week Malumby & Mussette come to the Imperial. This act is very well spoken of and should attract an attendance such as is unusual for a picture show. They are refined and clever as performers and will surely draw an audience of like kind.

Some of the theatrical engagements that can be now announced consist of such shows as Maddox-Field Players, Forty five Minutes from Broadway, The Climax, Introduce Me, Mutt and Jeff, Over Knight, Coburn's Minstrels, The Servant in the House and Baby Mine.

Married in Plant City

Miss Maude Devane of Plant City and Mr. T. D. Hayes of Sanford were united in marriage in Plant City last Monday morning at 10:30 o'clock.

The wedding occurred at the home of the bride's parents in the presence of the immediate family and a few guests. Frank Adams of this city acted as best man and immediately after the ceremony the happy couple left for this city.

The bride is one of Plant City's fairest daughters and is popular with the younger set of that city.

The groom is the efficient bookkeeper of the Sanford Ice and Water Co. of this city and has a host of friends who will unite in congratulations and best wishes.

Mr. and Mrs. Hayes will go to house-keeping at 208 East Third street, where Mr. Hayes owns a nice home and had fitted it up for the occasion.

The following item is from the Plant City correspondent to the Tampa Times: A wedding of much interest took place in Plant City at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Devane, Monday, at 10:30, when Miss Maude Devane became the wife of Mr. Talmage DeWitt Hayes. The marriage ceremony was performed by Rev. M. J. Hoover, pastor of the Baptist church. The bride is one of Plant City's most accomplished and popular young ladies. She is a graduate of the Plant City High School, also of the Shorter College, Rome, Ga. Mr. Hayes is a promising young business man. The couple left on the 10:55 train for Jacksonville and other points. They will be at home after October 1 at Sanford, Fla.

Prof. Maris' Bible Class

Prof. Maris will meet his Bible class at the Congregational church on the first Sunday in October to take up the study of the gospel. An urgent invitation is extended to all members and others to be present.

BUFFALO BILLS BIG SHOW

Will be Presented in Orlando With Great Scenic Effects

With a newly arranged arena and tents painted to represent towering mountain scenery, the Buffalo Bill Wild West and Pawnee Bill Far East, Combined, will exhibit in Orlando, Tuesday, Oct. 22, and excursion rates have already been arranged with the various railroads to carry visitors to that point, where several novel and appropriate features will give the onlooker an agreeable surprise. The roster of the World's Roughriders will have additions to cover every style of equestrians that the culling of the universe's most famed in the art can offer, from the Arab and Indian to the most finished four-legged graduates in Hayte Ecole.

An old time fox hunt with the Gerner-Kenny stud of high jumpers, led by the record breaking pony "Stayaway," with a pack of hounds, all in the full spirit of the grand cross country sport will thrill the beholder.

Max Gruber's greatest of all trained elephants, "Minnie," in a succession of surprising feats with horse, pony, dog, man and lady, is something new—a recreation in animal intelligence; the group of Russian peasant dancers (first appearance); the prize winning six horse team of dapple grays in action, "Billy"

Wales, in contrast to the old time mule and ox teams and prairie schooner "Buffalo Bill" and "Pawnee Bill" will both be in evidence, personally handling the details of a marvelously exhibiting, admirable and instructive story of telling world history.

Every arrangement will be made for the convenience of the Sanford people and a large crowd will be in attendance from this city.

The Nicaragua revolution organized by General Mena has been practically brought to an end by the surrender of Mena to the American marines under command of Major Butler at Granada. With the surrender of Mena and 500 of his men, came also the capitulation of the Fortress of San Francisco near Granada to the Mexicans, and the surrender of the fleet of small steamers on Lake Nicaragua which were manned by Mena's adherents.

The supply and distribution of cotton in the United States, in running bales, for the cotton year of 1912, which ended July 31, 1912, with comparisons for previous years, as announced in the annual report of the census bureau, was: Supply: The total supply of cotton for the cotton year 1912 was 17,673,294 bales, compared with the 13,873,423 bales in 1911 and 12,288,021 bales in 1910.

CLANS ARE GATHERING FOR A SPECIAL SESSION

Florida Legislature Meets Today at State's Capital

FLORIDA NEWS AND VIEWS FROM EVERY SOURCE

Daily Happenings in The Land of Flowers Culled and Tied Into a Nosegay of Brieflets

Tallahassee is again thronged with Florida's law making body and its contingent, since the special session of the legislature for October 1 will meet today to consider the enabling act to give Jacksonville power to own and operate its municipal docks and to issue bonds for that purpose, for which alone has the special session been called by the governor. It has been discussed and widely conjectured around the capital as to whether or not the session would be prolonged beyond the three days session, which time as stated by the Jacksonville Board of Trade, would be sufficient to consider and conclude the business for which the session was called. Expressions made as to whether the session will or will not be prolonged over three days and matters other than the Jacksonville municipal dock question considered is only a matter of opinion. The argument of reasons why the session will not be prolonged and other legislative matters considered appears to have the advantage. Section 8 of Article 4 of the Constitution of the State of Florida in the matter of calling special sessions of the legislature, confers such power upon the governor and makes the following provision:

"Section 8. The governor may, on extraordinary occasions, convene the legislature by proclamation, and shall, in his proclamation state the purpose for which it is to be convened, and the legislature when organized shall transact no legislative business other than that for which it is especially convened, or such other legislative business as the governor may call to its attention while in session, except by a two-thirds vote of each house."

The fire laddies of the Miami Fire Department have an interesting sight to offer their visitors. They are taking unusual interest in the raising of gators in the little pond which they built last week for a large alligator which lived only a few days after captivity. The "pond" has been built on the small space of land in front of the fire building and the fire boys have several small alligators and other water animals in the enclosure for the benefit of the passers by and for their own enjoyment.

The telephone company in Ocala, in addition to building a new home there, is preparing to rebuild their entire telephone system, which will give Ocala and surrounding territory an up-to-date phone system. The system to be installed is known as the "drop" system and all wires will be encased in lead cables. A modern switchboard which will accommodate practically 2,000 individual phones has been ordered.

The Cathedral School for Girls in Orlando will open its doors for the thirteenth annual session on Wednesday, Oct. 2. A number of improvements have been made during the summer, such as increased water supply, new steam heat radiation, etc.

Actual work of laying out the extension of the Tampa Northern from Brooksville to Inverness has been started. This road is now under the control of the Seaboard Air Line.

A car of grape fruit was sent out from Frostproof to Cincinnati on the 18th of this month. A telegram to the shipper stated that the fruit brought $6 per box.

Martha Miller Returns
Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Miller were the host and hostess of a very delightful supper Wednesday evening, in honor of the return of their daughter, Miss Martha, from a summer spent with relatives in Kentucky. Six of Miss Martha's young friends accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Miller to the train to meet and welcome Miss Martha home. On the return of the party to her home, they enjoyed a delicious supper. Later in the evening Mr. and Mrs. Miller, Miss Martha and their guests visited the Imperial Theatre.

HAD A ROUSING MEETING

Commercial Club Starts New Season Most Favorably

The meeting of the Commercial Club held last Friday night in the council chambers was one of the most enthusiastic meetings held in Sanford in many a day.

Mr. Lake called the meeting to order promptly at 7:30 o'clock and the room was so crowded that many of those present were obliged to stand in the hallways and windows.

Secretary Bates read a most interesting account of the measures passed and advocated and the good work accomplished by the club during the past twelve months. The club has given the secretary but little encouragement in that time, but he has been at work and under the circumstances has accomplished wonders.

President Lake stated that nominations were in order for the election of new officers, if the members present wished to have a change and to the credit of the old officers they were unanimously re-elected to another term of office and were commended for their past endeavors.

Every one present was called upon for a few remarks and about twelve of the members present responded in a happy vein and all of them were most optimistic over the future of Sanford and eager to get to work as members of the club.

President Lake appointed the following committees on membership: G. W. Spencer, Henry McLaulin and Frank Miller on the first committee and G. H. Fernald, W. C. Palmer and B. W. Herndon on the other, and it was understood that the committees that brought in the most members at the next meeting would be entitled to a prize. Both of these committees are hard at work and from the reports it is probable that at the meeting Friday night there will be about fifty new members added.

Every one present at the last meeting was urged to bring as many new members as possible and it is safe to assert the next meeting will witness one of the largest and most enthusiastic bunch of boosters that have ever met together in Sanford.

President Lake also informed those present that the matter of a tourist hotel in Sanford would soon be settled and that he could assure the club that such a hotel would be built in time for the next season's business.

The Commercial Club will meet next Friday night in the band room in third story of the city hall, where there will be more room, and every one who is interested in Sanford is cordially invited to be present and join the club.

Sunday Morning Fire

About the time that the majority of Sanford's population were in the various churches last Sunday morning the alarm of fire called the department to what they at first thought was the Gate City House, but one glance at Mine Host Parkers' face when they arrived there was enough to convince them that he was not the man, and then came the word that the fire was at Skinkers' on Myrtle. On account of there being no railroad crossing on the A. C. L. beyond the Gate City House the department was obliged to turn down Third to Oak and then go up one block out of the way in order to get back to Myrtle. The chemical engine put the small blaze out with the customary dispatch and all was peace and quiet on Sunday again.

But speaking of crossings it seems that the A. C. L. ought to put in a few on Myrtle avenue.

Rev. D. J. Blocker of DeLand preached excellent sermons in the Baptist church last Sunday morning and evening to large congregations. Mr. Blocker's many Sanford friends are always glad to see him in the city.

PUBLIC SCHOOLS OPEN

Attendance Will Reach The Highest Mark

WE LEAD IN SCHOOL SYSTEM

Over Six Hundred Pupils Are Enrolled And More Will Follow During The Term

Sanford schools opened yesterday morning on schedule time and a visitor to the city and witnessing the large throng of merry children would have been impressed by the good showing of the future citizenship of Sanford.

Our schools at once our pride and best asset have been heralded far and wide as being the best in the south and the best proof of the truth of this statement is the ever increasing attendance each year on opening day.

Sanford has a system of "teaching the young ideas to shoot" that is totally different from any city of similar size in the south.

Instead of having one building that covers the primary, intermediate and high schools some of our educators evolved the happy thought of having the primary, grammar school and high school in three different and separate buildings not only are they in separate buildings but the buildings are in different parts of the city.

The little tots are comfortably situated in a nice building at the corner of Palmetto and Sixth. The Grammar School occupies what was formerly the high school building. The high school is now in the new building that cost over $20,000 and is said to be the finest and most complete in Florida.

This system has given such good results that it will be copied by other cities in Florida and other states.

These fine buildings would not get results in education were it not for the fact that they are presided over by a principal and corps of assistants second to none.

The school board and the patrons of the school district think they have reached the maximum in the matter of efficiency in the teaching staff and they are well satisfied to keep what they have had for several very successful terms.

The teachers and their positions are as follows:

First Grade, Miss Lillie Farnsworth, Miss Peacha Leffer.

Second Grade, Mrs. E. W. D. Dunn, Miss Edith Stewart.

Third Grade, Miss Nita Moore, Miss Clara Millen.

Fourth Grade, Miss Carrie Ensminger, Miss Nellie Furen.

Fifth Grade, Mrs. Polk, Mrs. Luke.

Sixth Grade, Miss Lucy Newsome.

Seventh Grade, Mrs. Geo. B. Dickinson.

Eighth Grade, Miss Gertie Speer, Miss Flora Walker.

High School

Principal in Latin, Miss Clara L. Guild.

Mathematics, Miss Alice M. Tetherly.

English, Miss Lillian C. Gibson.

Science, J. R. Wildman.

Music and Art, Miss L. Josephine Dameron.

Prof. N. J. Perkins, the principal, has made the success of the schools his life work and the efficiency of the teaching staff and the system of separate schools has demonstrated that Prof. Perkins has attained his ideals and high standard.

The attendance this year will be larger than ever and while the full enrollment has not been made the following figures will show the increase as it stood Monday morning. In the high school there are over 100 pupils. In the grammar school 300 and in the primary school 200, making in all over 600 pupils, the largest attendance in the history of Orange county schools.

Sanford Music Club

The Sanford Music Club will hold its first meeting of the season at the studio of Mrs. Fannie Stenbridge Munson, president of the club, Saturday afternoon, promptly at 3 o'clock.

Every member of the club is urged to be present, as business of importance must receive the attention of the club. An interesting program has been arranged for the afternoon.

FREIGHT ON BRICKS

Kissimmee Wishes to Join Sanford and Reduce Rates

The exorbitant freight rates exacted by the railroad for hauling paving brick to Florida will almost preclude the purchase of brick in the future unless the Florida cities can carry their case to the Railroad Commissioners and get relief. In respect to the brick Sanford should be up and doing, for we cannot afford to be robbed by the railroad. Kissimmee spent $22,986.18 for freights on their last brick paving and one can easily see that this is simply throwing away the tax payer's good money. The Kissimmee Gazette comments on the matter as follows:

The Sanford district of Orange county has voted $200,000 for bonds to build brick roads. It is hoped by those who are most interested that they will be able to build twenty-five miles of brick roads for their $200,000. Sanford will not have to pay as much freight as Kissimmee does, but there can be little question that the rate is proportionately high. Orlando is going to try and obtain authorization from the voters of that district for a bond issue of $300,000 for road purposes. It is the intention of the Orlando people also to build brick roads. Eventually, all the counties in Florida, or a majority of them, will come to the brick road idea. Palatka has recently finished a paving system of about seven miles. Palatka's paving cost a good deal more than Kissimmee's did and with a lesser freight rate to be considered. Putnam county is also considering the matter of laying brick roads. Before this step is taken Putnam and Orange and Ocala should get together and get a reduction on the rate of freight on brick. The rate is exorbitant and can be reduced through order of the courts, if it becomes necessary to go to the courts with it. The fact that Florida has no material for the manufacture of paving brick does not give the railroad the right to impose an excessive rate on brick. The advantage thus taken by the railroad is one of commercial brigandage which will not stand the test of judicial scrutiny.

Permit for Bridge Granted

Mr. Frank Woodruff of Sanford, one of Orange county's enterprising commissioners, was in town this week calling on County Commissioner Wilkinson. Mr. Woodruff informed us that the Orange county commissioners had obtained a permit from the War Department to build a bridge across the St. Johns river at the East Coast ferry.

The government requirements for a bridge at this point have necessitated a change in the plans at first drawn. The bridge will have to be about sixteen feet high. This will add considerable cost above the original plans. Mr. Woodruff said that the bridge would cost about six thousand dollars, making Volusia county's share about three thousand dollars. The contract for the bridge will be let about the twentieth of October.

Mr. Woodruff stated that the fill on the Volusia county side of the ferry was not in very good condition, and would not be until some material was placed on the surface that would harden it.—New Smyrna Breeze.

Every Week Bridge

Mrs. O. W. Brady was hostess at the Every Week Bridge Club Wednesday afternoon. Two tables of bridge were played. The highest score was made by Mrs. C. O. McLaughlin, who won the prize, a very pretty jardiniere. After the games of cards were concluded, delicious ice cream and cake were served. Mrs. Brady's guests were: Mrs. W. R. Anno, Mrs. C. O. McLaughlin, Mrs. C. M. Vance, Mrs. Forrest Lake, Mrs. Cruse Barnes, Mrs. G. F. Smith and Mrs. Robert Newman.

The street railway strike remains unsettled and Augusta is still under martial law. A committee of six members of the city council appointed by the mayor to urge the railroad officials to agree to arbitration received an answer from the company this morning in which arbitration was agreed to under certain conditions, one of which was that certain strikers which the company regarded as trouble makers be employed no more. The company reasserts its statement that it has treated the men fairly and has nothing to arbitrate, and says that it makes concessions only in the interest of peace in Augusta. At a meeting of the council held at noon it was decided to have the same committee that conferred with railway officials confer with the strikers' representatives this afternoon and report back at a meeting of the council to be held tomorrow. The civic authorities may request the governor late this afternoon to withdraw the troops, but this has not been decided definitely. Captains Henderson and Jowitt, the two officers in command at the armory when the three men were shot down will face courtmartial tomorrow. A number of privates will also be court-martialed. Investigation of shooting and killing of three citizens by members of the state militia here, in connection with the strike of the employees of the Augusta-Aiken Railway and Electric Corporation, was started today. The three men killed trespassed on "dead line" territory established by the militia to protect the power plant of the company from possible dynamiting.

Gov. Wilson issued a statement tonight calling upon delegates to the New York state Democratic convention at Syracuse next Tuesday to choose as candidate for governor "a progressive man of the kind to be his own master." He likewise urged a progressive platform and declared that "it will not do for the choice of the convention at Syracuse to be any less free than that which gave the third party Mr. Straus and the regular Republican party Mr. Hedges." It is not believed anything more definite in the way of an expression of opinion will be forthcoming from the presidential nominee before the Syracuse convention is opened. It is regarded also as unlikely that he will express preference for any particular person, although his close friends at the convention will know what type of men and what individuals probably will prove acceptable to him.

Orders received by Major Levy tonight from the adjutant-general; reduced the military force on duty in Augusta forty men and three officers. The entire military force may come off duty at 11 o'clock tomorrow, and the situation will be then turned over to the police department. Gov. Brown has ordered a rigid investigation of the shooting of Christie, Baker and Dorne, all of whom are dead. Major Levy, in command of the local battalion, has instructed the officers to have their reports completed and filed with him by 9 o'clock tomorrow.

Atlanta's restricted district became a thing of the past this afternoon at the expiration of the five day limit set by Chief of Police Beavers earlier in the week. The outcome of the vice crusade of the Men and Religion Forward Movement was marked by special references in the majority of the churches of the city today. Within the past few days most of the inmates of the illegal houses have left the city and this afternoon representatives of Chief Beavers visited the houses and notified those women remaining to move at once. Several charity workers also made the round offering refuge to those who desired to take advantage of it.

Mrs. A. P. Connelly and children arrived home Sunday evening after a summer's visit to Washington and points in Virginia.
