More Show Election Interest, Especially In Lake Mary

By DONNA ESTES
Herald Staff Writer

The candidate qualification periods are open in three of Seminole County's four cities with elections Dec. 7, but only in Lake Mary are new candidates surfacing daily.

With at least three and possibly four Lake Mary council seats on the ballot for the city election in addition to the mayor's office, real estate broker Bob Ball Jr. picked up qualifying papers for a council seat late Thursday afternoon.

While only Mayor Walter Sorenson and Councilman Ken King have formally filed to seek re-election, Ball is the seventh prospective candidate to pick up qualifying papers.

Ball ran unsuccessfully for a council seat a year ago.

Councilmen Vic Olivera and Dick Fess haven't made decisions on whether they will run against Sorenson for the mayor's office. Fess is completing his first two-year term on the council and must make a decision by the end of the candidate qualifying period Oct. 29 on whether he will run for re-election to the council or for the mayor's office or drop out of city politics for the next year.

Olivera's decision is more complex. If he decides to run for mayor, he will have to resign his council seat by noon Oct. 29 and qualify, thus leaving behind the remaining year in his second council term. Otherwise, he can remain in office until January 1984 or October, 1983 depending on whether charter revisions calling for city elections in September rather than December are approved by the voters.

Others who have picked up qualifying papers include the three members of one family, father, son and daughter, Josef, Jim and Susan Stern; former councilman Burt Perinchief and Harry Terry and planning and zoning board member, Bill Durrenberger.

The candidate qualifying fee in Lake Mary is $25.

Lake Mary pays councilmen a $1,500 annual expense allowance while the mayor is paid $2,400 annually.

In Sanford, where the commission seats currently held by Milton Smith and David Farr are up for election, only the two incumbents have qualified. Others have expressed interest by telephoning city hall for information, but none has tried to qualify as of this morning.

The end of the qualifying period in Sanford is noon on Nov. 2. Commissioners are paid an annual salary of $3,000 plus $1,500 annual expense allowance. Terms are four years.

In Longwood, where the candidate qualifying period will close next Friday at 5 p.m., City Clerk Don Terry said only former-commissioner Bill Mitchell has picked up qualifying papers. And while both City Commission incumbents — J.R. Grant and Timothy O'Leary — are expected to seek re-election, neither has qualified nor picked up papers.

Candidates pay a $25 qualifying fee and must submit petitions signed by 10 registered voters from their respective districts endorsing their candidacies.

City commissioners are paid an annual salary of $3,000 plus a $600 expense allowance. Write-in candidates have until Oct. 29 to qualify, Terry said.

In Casselberry, City Clerk Mary Hawthorne said the candidate qualifying period there will open next Friday and will close on Nov. 7. The City Council seats held by Frank Schutte, Bill Grier and Jim Lavigne are up for election.

Lavigne, who resigned from the board effective Nov. 1 to run unsuccessfully for a state legislative seat, has not decided whether he will seek re-election to the City Council.

Casselberry Councilmen are paid an annual salary of $3,600 plus travel allowance of $1,800.

More Court Action Is Considered

The State Department of Environmental Regulation (DER) is seriously considering further court action to enforce previous court orders against an Orlando chemical waste firm.

The chemical waste firm, City Chemicals Co., Inc., was ordered by the circuit court at Sanford to clean up a two-acre chemical storage site in the city.

The firm, with money borrowed from the state department, removed the 3,267 barrels of waste from the property off Airport Boulevard and Jewett Lane, but it has not completed the work required by the court order.

The DER attorney said City Chemicals also was ordered to analyze soil samples at the site to determine whether waste spills there might have contaminated underground water supplies.

Doug MacLaughlin, the DER lawyer, said Thursday from his Tallahassee office that these and other tests must be done before official closure of the site.

"We are seriously considering further court action," MacLaughlin said.

And not only hasn't the firm completed the closure requirements, it also has not begun repaying the $170,000 the court ordered DER to lend the firm at 18 percent annual interest.

MacLaughlin said payments were to begin to the state on Aug. 17. And an acceptable closure plan was to have been submitted by Oct. 1.

A new company, Resource Conservation and Recovery of America, has replaced the old City's Chemical Co. MacLaughlin said the change of name makes no difference in the enforcement of court orders.

"We can still hold the company or its officers responsible for what it is required to do," MacLaughlin said.

A spokesman for Resource Conservation and Recovery of America said Arthur Greer, who was the president of City Chemicals met with the new president Thursday afternoon.

The spokesman said Greer is no longer president of the company and the new president, Norman F. Smith, will work over the next few days on a repayment schedule for the state.

She said DER was asked for a time extension on the repayment of the loan. MacLaughlin said Greer has asked for a moratorium on repayment until March, 1983. That request is being considered, he said.

MacLaughlin said Greer reported earlier to DER that the closure of the site including the tests that must be run could not be done because the firm's technical person had an accident and broke some ribs.

Sanford city officials found the chemical storage site two years ago next month after a citizen complained.

The city at that time began efforts to have the chemicals removed. The state fire marshal's office determined the waste chemicals represented a serious fire hazard.

And city officials were concerned that drainage from the site could contaminate underground water supplies.

Assistant to the Sanford City Manager Steve Harriett said the city is not involved in the current problem between City Chemicals and the DER. He said the fencing installed at the site is still up and the soils must still be tested there.

Over the past two years the city has inspected the site several times weekly to keep DER informed on work as it was done there.

Spots on the ground where chemicals were spilled when more than 3,000 barrels of waste chemicals were stored at a two-acre site off Jewett Lane and Airport Boulevard have been ordered analyzed for contamination.

District To Decide On Moving To Sanford

The St. Johns River Water Management District Board of Governors has tabled a request for a study on moving the board's district headquarters from Palatka to Sanford.

But the issue won't be tabled for long.

Board member John D'Albora, who brought the issue up in the first place, will put it back on the agenda for action at the Nov. 10 meeting, the Cocoa citrusman said today.

D'Albora said he asked the district staff earlier this week to remove the item from the meeting agenda because a business commitment prevented him from attending the meeting.

"Despite what some people may think, my business does come before a water management district meeting. I had a contract for sale of a grove in my business," he said, adding he was tied up with a lawyer in Vero Beach concerning the sale while Wednesday's district meeting was being held.

He added he notified the district staff of his prior commitment and asked that an announcement be made at the meeting.

Of his request the relocation of the district headquarters from Palatka be discussed, D'Albora said he will recommend a committee be named to study the possibility and its feasibility.

"If I knew whether it was feasible to move the headquarters even though $1.8 million is invested in the administration building in Palatka I wouldn't be seeking a study," D'Albora said.

He said it is obvious to him the district headquarters at this time is not located where it can best serve most of the people in the 19-county area.

"If you take a rule and draw a line from the Florida-Georgia border to Indian River County (the southern-most county in the district) the mid point is not Palatka or Sanford but DeLand," he said.

"The majority of the district's efforts are not from Lake Monroe north, but rather from Lake Monroe south. Why should all the staff people have to leave Palatka to come south?" D'Albora asked.

The board member denied that his request for a study on the feasibility of moving the headquarters is "sour grapes" because a woman at a recent meeting questioned salaries paid to management district employees.

"I don't think the salaries are out of line," he said, noting members of the board itself are paid only a per diem and mileage allowance. — DONNA ESTES.

State To Examine Mental Health Center

Inspection To Be 'Routine', No 'Witch Hunt'

By MICHAEL BEHA
Herald Staff Writer

State officials will examine the operations of the Seminole County Mental Health Center when they visit the county Oct. 26 and 27.

A spokesman for the state Department of Health and Rehabilitative Services said administrators will examine the center's operations in a "routine visit" later this month.

Stan Wagy, HRS spokesman, said a three-page typed letter was sent to the state office recently claiming health services are deteriorating at the center and employees are demoralized. The letter was not signed.

Wagy said the agency would not start a "witch hunt" because of the letter but plans to look carefully at the operations of all the centers in the state, particularly in light of recent budget cuts.

Jack Recker, director of the Community Mental Health Board of Central Florida, Inc., which oversees the Seminole County facility, submitted a report to the board this week showing that 34 percent of the center's personnel costs are for administrative personnel. A good figure would be 20 to 25 percent, Recker said in his report.

Dr. George Lindenfeld, executive director of the center, receives a $41,231 annual salary up $8,000 since two years ago.

State and federal funds to the agency have been cut by 8.7 and 15.8 percent, respectively, over the past two years and 50 fewer employees now work for the agency than worked there two years ago when 112 people were employed.

The center has closed two treatment centers in the past year because of a lack of funds. Alpha House a home for the mentally disturbed, closed in 1981 and Omega Workshop, a rehabilitation center for the mentally disabled, closed in September.

The agency also has had internal difficulties. One doctor resigned and three staff workers were suspended in August pending an internal investigation. Those workers have since been reinstated.

In September, William Fernandez, president of the county health center's board, threatened Seminole County commissioners with a lawsuit for additional funds to the agency.

He claimed the commissioners were withholding funds from the agency that had been designated to the group by the federal government.

Dr. Lindenfeld in later comments said the center's budget was in disarray because of problems at the federal level.

Congress has been slow to set appropriations for mental health agencies for the coming year, putting local administrators in a position of continuing the operations without knowing how much money is allocated for them.

NATION IN BRIEF

Disgruntled Thief Takes Hostages In N.Y. Hospital

NEW YORK (UPI) — A convicted robber, facing a lengthy prison term and driven by anger over jail conditions, held two hostages today in the basement of a Brooklyn hospital. Hundreds of police officers surrounded the facility.

A corrections officer was wounded in the incident that began Thursday when Larry Gardner, being treated for a broken wrist, wrestled a handgun from a prison guard and took six hospital employees hostage. He later released four of his captives.

Sources said Gardner, 34, who has used the alias Larry Van Dyke, feared to return to prison because he had given authorities information between 1978 and 1981 that led to the conviction of correction officers on narcotics charges.

Gardner was to be sentenced today on a June 21 armed-robbery conviction and "believes he faces a sentence of 25 years to life," Police Chief Patrick Murphy said. "He feels he has nothing to lose."

Poisoning Suspect Hunted

CHICAGO (UPI) — Police searched nationwide today for a fugitive charged in a $1 million Tylenol extortion plot whose identification as a former murder suspect made him an "important lead" in the hunt for the cyanide killer.

Robert Richardson was identified Thursday by Kansas City, Mo., authorities as James Lewis, who was charged but never tried in a 1978 murder in which extortion allegedly was the motive. Lewis is still wanted in Missouri on charges of theft and forgery in a land-fraud scheme.

Richardson has been wanted since Wednesday on a federal warrant for trying to extort $1 million from the makers of Extra-Strength Tylenol capsules. He and his wife, Nancy — also known as Leann Lewis — were believed to be in the vicinity of Amarillo, Texas.

Liberace Sued For Palimony

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Flamboyant pianist Liberace, 63, is being sued by a young blond homosexual who wants a $113 million "palimony" judgment for what he said were his services as a chauffeur, bodyguard and sexual partner to the entertainer.

Scott Thorson, 23, said in his suit he was 17 when he met Liberace in Las Vegas six years ago and was working as a dancer, composer and animal trainer while enrolled at a California veterinary college, which he did not identify.

The suit claimed in the summer of 1976, after they became intimate, Liberace made a verbal contract with Thorson to support him for life, pay him $7,000 a month salary plus $30,000 a year for pet care, give him half interest in all real estate and give him a Rolls-Royce, an Auburn sedan and a Chevrolet van.

Dow Drops Below 1,000

NEW YORK (UPI) — The Dow Jones industrial average suffered its worst loss in nine months, falling below the 1,000 level as traders cashed in their profits following a prediction of some higher interest rates next year.

Most analysts had expected the market to backtrack a bit from the unprecedented surge that began in mid-August. And most observers believe the market will rebound in the near future.

The Dow average, which climbed to a 17½-month high of 1015.08 Wednesday, skidded 18.21 points to 996.87 Thursday.

Wholesale Prices Down

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Prices for American business went down in September for the fourth time this year — dropping 0.1 percent — mainly the result of factory discounts to auto dealers on leftover 1982 models, the Labor Department said today.

The department's Producer Price Index also showed a sharp decline in food prices that extended through the supply pipeline from the farm to distributors.

Since the beginning of this year wholesale prices have gone up only 3.1 percent and 1982 promises to produce the least wholesale inflation since 1976, department analysts said.

In another key economic indicator on the state of American business, the Federal Reserve Board today measures factory production in August, expected to show another in a near uninterrupted series of declines since the recession began in July 1981.

The wholesale price index increased for the previous three months but showed rare declines in February, March and May. The figures were adjusted for routine seasonal price trends. The Labor Department's Producer Price Index for September, before seasonal adjustment, was 281.4, equivalent to a price of $2.814 for the same goods and services that cost business $1,000 in 1967.

The department said that "about two-thirds" of the slowdown in prices for finished goods was caused by "across-the-board" discounts given auto dealers to encourage them to reduce retail prices on 1982 models still on their lots and to buy more leftover 1982 models from auto factories.

Continuing weak auto sales, although showing some signs of new life, left an enormous amount of 1982 cars unsold as the companies got ready to introduce the 1983 models.

Food prices were down 0.5 percent for consumer products in September and down even more farther back in the supply line. At the intermediate level, foods dropped 1.8 percent in price, and what are categorized as "crude foods" at the very beginning of the supply process dropped 3.8 percent in price.

Wholesale gasoline prices were down in September after going up for dealers in the previous three months of government reports. The data collection procedure for fuels introduces a month's lag so the September Producer Price Index was actually reflecting August gasoline prices.

Home heating fuel prices fell for the second consecutive month, down 1.6 percent.

But natural gas prices went up much faster than in August. The overall energy index, including electricity, was pulled up 0.4 percent, much less than June, July and August.

Another major category of business prices, capital equipment costs, fell 0.4 percent.

Construction materials reflected some new building activity and firmed up 0.3 percent for the month, the department said.

Rapidly climbing precious metal prices joined clothing price increases for dealers during the month.

Other than the decline in foods and the increase in overall energy prices, the rest of the index showed no change at all.

Seminole School Bus Drivers In Rodeo

Two teams of Seminole County school bus drivers are heading to Sarasota today to participate in the Sun Coast School Bus Rodeo.

The two 10-person teams and an alternate left Sanford at 7 a.m. today, the first year a Seminole County team has been entered in the event.

The drivers will begin competition at 8 a.m. on the driver skill course, Beverly Hughes, one of the drivers who will participate, said.

The drivers will be judged on how safely and skillfully they can complete the course, Mrs. Hughes said. The "A" team is Sylvia Hittell, Betty Smith, Kathy Rittlinger, Clara Ripley, Gary Ledford, Debbie Riggall, Julie Blount, Cindy Pratt, Pat Bowen and Dixie Flanagan.

On the "B" team are Mrs. Hughes, Dorothy Palmer, Debbie Burkhardt, May Fambreau, Darlene Heffner, David Hallemeier, Carol Ross, Jackie Ensurd, Kim Atkins and Susan Hicks.

The alternate for both teams is June Boyles.

School Board Won't Aid Recruiting

Uncle Sam may want Seminole County high school seniors, but he won't get a mailing list from school administrators to help find them.

School board members voted against providing a mailing list of seniors for U.S. Armed Services to aid in recruiting and career education.

Actually, board members defeated two different motions to provide the material.

Allan Keeth and William Kroll supported a motion, to give the lists with no strings attached but Roland Williams, Nancy Warren and Pat Telson voted against that measure.

Then Mrs. Warren and Mrs. Telson voted in favor of giving the services the list with the stipulation that it be used for only one mailing. Williams, Kroll and Keeth opposed that motion.

Board members said they were afraid the Army, Air Force, Navy and Marines might peddle the list to advertisers, despite a pledge from the Marine representative that the list would be kept confidential.

Killer Wants Stay

BARTOW (UPI) — An attorney for Daniel Thomas, scheduled to die in the state's electric chair at 7 a.m. next Friday, planned to petition the Florida Supreme Court today for a stay of execution.

Thomas lost one round in his bid to escape the electric chair Thursday when Polk County Circuit Judge Edward Threadgill Jr. turned down a stay after a five-hour hearing on a motion alleging Thomas had been denied adequate counsel at his trial.

Threadgill presided over the trial of Thomas, alleged leader of the "ski mask" gang that terrorized Central Florida residents in 1975-76, and sentenced him to death.

Fuel Tanker Explodes Downtown; One Injured

TAMPA (UPI) — The collision of a car and a tank truck loaded with jet fuel turned one side of a downtown block into a fiery inferno Thursday, but although 12 vehicles were destroyed, only one person suffered minor injuries.

Police said the accident occurred when a car driven by Elsie Hammonds, 67, went through a stop sign and struck the tanker, wedging beneath the frame of the larger vehicle.

The driver of the truck, John Raymond Schwartz, 40, was not injured and aided by a police officer and a bailiff, got Hammonds out of his badly damaged car.

Moments after they got clear fuel leaking from the tanker ignited, engulfing it and the car in flames which then followed a trail of fuel to the gutter and down the street.

Ten cars parked along the street in front of the Hillsborough County Courthouse Annex burst into flames and their exploding gas tanks sprayed flaming gasoline in the area. All of the cars were empty.

The intense heat forced evacuation of nearly 500 people from the courthouse annex, including 136 prisoners who were in holding cells awaiting court appearances.

Radioactive Water Spilled

CRYSTAL RIVER (UPI) — Florida Power Corp.'s nuclear generating unit was at "hot standby," or idle, today as technicians sought to determine what caused several hundred gallons of radioactive water to spill into the containment building Thursday.

A spokesman said the leak was traced to a reactor coolant pump which supplies water to hold down temperatures in the reactor core.

The water apparently leaked from the pump into a holding tank. There was speculation the pressure in the holding tank caused a disc to rupture and spill the water into the containment building.

Thursday's shutdown is the 14th for the nuclear unit since mid-December and in the past three years, the unit has been shut down four times by radioactive water leaks.

Demonstrator Killed By Polish Riot Police

WARSAW, Poland (UPI) — Polish riot police fired tear gas and concussion grenades for the second straight night in the steel town of Nowa Huta to crush and angry protest sparked by the killing of a youth by a policeman.

The fourth day of fierce rioting — that has spread from Gdansk to southern Wroclaw to the Krakow suburb of Nowa Huta — erupted Thursday following a memorial service for the dead man.

There were several unconfirmed reports of brief strikes in some factories. Protesters demanded the revival of Solidarity, which was banned last Friday by the Polish parliament and the release of interned Solidarity leader Lech Walesa as the country marked the completion of 10 months under martial law.

Shipyard workers struck the giant Lenin shipyards Monday and Tuesday, and unconfirmed reports from church sources Thursday said 500 workers were fired after the plant was militarized by the government.

Bombing At Missile Plant

TORONTO (UPI) — A truck loaded with dynamite exploded, severely damaging a plant that manufactures components for nuclear cruise missiles, wounding at least three policemen and three civilian employees, officials said today.

Police arrived at the west Toronto plant of Litton Industries shortly before midnight Thursday after receiving a warning telephone call, a police spokesman said. He refused to give details on who made the call.

He said three police officers and two of the employees received only minor injuries in the blast, but another man was wounded more seriously.

Police investigators were at the scene attempting to determine the cause of the blast.

Drug Task Forces Formed

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — Gov. Bob Graham has praised President Reagan for his announcement that anti-drug task forces will be set up in a dozen major cities across the country.

Graham was joined in his announcement Thursday by Tennessee Gov. Lamar Alexander. Graham and Alexander were co-chairmen of a meeting of southern governors last month that called for Reagan to help southern states fight drug smuggling. Reagan's $200 million plan calls for extra law enforcement officials and prosecutors in Los Angeles, San Diego, San Francisco, New York, Boston, Baltimore, Atlanta, Houston, St. Louis, Chicago, Detroit and Denver.

The new task forces are similar to a federal task force currently in operation in south Florida. Graham said he has been assured that funding of the south Florida task force will continue at its present level.

"Because of tough state legislation and extra funds plus the infusion of federal dollars through the South Florida Drug Task Force, Florida has been able to drive illegal drug smuggling from our state to other states," Graham said.

"The action by the president will aid in ridding our nation of illegal drug smuggling activities."

Credit Card Con Suspect Formally Charged

By TENI YARBOROUGH
Herald Staff Writer

A Missouri man, held in Ohio on auto theft charges, has also been charged with fraud by Seminole County sheriff's deputies in connection with a slick credit card scam which officials say may have netted the culprit hundreds of thousands of dollars.

Howard S. Lewis, 52, has been charged with obtaining a credit card by fraudulent means, a misdemeanor, and fraudulent use of a credit card for more than $100 in six months, a felony which carries a maximum penalty of five years in prison, deputies said.

Deputies said the Seminole State Attorney's office is expected to issue a warrant on the charges for Lewis. However, deputies said they have no immediate plans to have Lewis brought to Florida, and are awaiting the outcome of the Ohio case.

Investigators said Lewis, using the name of Marvin Charles O'Dell, is a suspect in a "full-blown con game" which may branch into other Florida counties, states and even Canada, Sheriff John Polk said.

Sheriff's deputy Rudy Kramer said his department first learned of the scam after a Sanford man, Claude Nevian Roberson Sr., of Bailey Street, told him someone had been issued a credit card in his name and had then charged more than $15,000 to the account.

Because of Roberson's complaint, deputies determined that as many as 30 other people in the central Florida area may be unwitting victims of the scheme, Kramer said.

"The man, posing as a condominium complex owner, got the Florida Employment Office in Winter Park to send him a list of job applicants for maintenance supervisor and workman position," Kramer said. "While interviewing the 30 potential workers, the con man required that they submit a full financial statement to him."

"Once he had the financial statements, he applied to various credit card companies and obtained credit cards under the applicants' names and also obtained duplicate driver's licenses bearing his photograph and their dates," he said. "It's probably the biggest credit card scheme I've ever seen in this area," Polk said.

Kramer said he has been receiving calls from a number of people who believe the man fraudulently obtained credit cards in their names, including Longwood resident Arthur Chambers.

"If anyone thinks they are a victim of the scam, they should call me at 322-5115," Kramer said. "They will not be held responsible for the payments but they should let us know so we can clear this up and notify the credit companies."

SOUTH SEMINOLE HOME ROBBED

Thieves broke into a south Seminole County man's home between 9:30 a.m. and 3 p.m. Wednesday and stole a 35mm camera, a telephone answering machine, stereo-cassette tape equipment, a dozen bath towels and two sets of sheets.

Douglas R. McIntee, 35, of 488 Ester Lane, near Altamonte Springs told deputies the thieves entered his home through a sliding glass door and stole the items valued at about $800.

CHAIN, CIGARETTES STOLEN

Thieves broke into a south Seminole County man's home between 2 p.m. Sunday and 7 p.m. Tuesday and stole a gold chain, a carton of cigarettes, canned goods, sugar, hamburger meat and bread.

Timothy Alan Summerlin, 21, of Plantation Apartment 41-H, near Casselberry, told deputies that the stolen items are valued at about $114.

Under Reagan, Poll Reveals

Most Americans Feel Worse Off

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Americans, by a 2-1 margin, feel they are worse off today than when President Reagan took office, and they look upon Republicans as a "greater danger" to the country than Democrats in their economic programs, a new poll indicates.

The poll of 1,069 people was conducted by telephone Oct. 4-11 by The Washington Post and ABC News. The results were based on 633 of those interviewed who appeared to be those most likely to vote.

A total of 61 percent said they were now "less better off" than in January 1981 when Reagan became president, 31 percent said they were better off and 8 percent had no opinion.

In answer to a question as to which party "represents a greater danger to the country" with its economic programs, 57 percent said they feared the Republicans and 32 percent the Democrats, with 11 percent expressing no opinion.

The "greater danger" responses were to these statements: "The Democrats in Congress will go too far in keeping costly government services that were wasteful and out of date (32 percent)," or "The Republicans will go too far in helping the rich and cutting needed government services that benefit average Americans as well as the poor (57 percent)."

A total of 69 percent said they felt the Republican administration should do more to help the poor, 10 percent felt the administration should do less, 13 percent felt it was providing the right amount of help and 8 percent had no opinion.

The poll made no attempt to convert "the sizable lead" of the Democrats into the number of seats the Democrats might pick up in the November election.

But the poll did indicate citizens regard Democrats "only marginally better than Republicans on a number of key issues." Asked which party could do a better job "in coping with the main problems the nation faces," 44 percent said the Democrats and 38 percent chose the Republicans.

Similarly, only 36 percent of those polled said they felt the Democrats had offered better economic plans in Congress than the president.

On The Real Economic Issue

President Reagan says Americans should share his anger at the House of Representatives for giving short shrift to his proposed constitutional amendment calling for a balanced budget. Perhaps they should, although Speaker Tip O'Neill and Democrats who blocked the amendment may have done Mr. Reagan and the Republicans a favor by helping define the "economic issue" in the current election campaigns.

The balanced-budget amendment, which already had been approved by a substantial vote in the Senate, drew the support of a majority of House members, but fell 46 votes short of the two-thirds necessary to submit the amendment to the states. The nay votes were mostly Democratic.

O'Neill and the Democratic leadership accused Mr. Reagan of raising the balanced-budget issue to divert attention from the "economic crisis" facing the nation as Nov. 2 approaches.

We must assume then that Democrats who helped kill the amendment and are now campaigning for re-election are prepared to argue that a government which has operated at a deficit for 21 of the last 22 years, running up the national debt to $1.25 trillion, has had nothing to do with the inflation and high interest rates which produced the current "crisis."

If nothing else, this should heighten the entertainment value of some of our congressional campaigns.

Mr. Reagan's dedication to a balanced budget is grounded on the simple economic principle that there cannot be a stable currency, tolerable interest rates, and lasting prosperity until government stops hogging the trough of our capital resources. The logic of that position should be easy for Republicans to sell out on the hustings.

Indeed, it may already be sold. The legislatures of 31 states have supported a call for a constitutional convention to adopt a balanced-budget amendment — just three short of the 34 required to mandate the call.

Such a convention, the first in history since the Constitution was originally adopted nearly two centuries ago, could be politically explosive.

Democratic stonewalling in the House may have been enough to push three more states into the convention column.

The irony is that the amendment which emerged from the Senate was mild enough in its terms that future congresses would find it not hard to live with.

The balanced-budget requirement could be waived by a three-fifths vote of the two houses during peacetime, or by a simple majority vote in case of war.

And a deficit would be forgiven if it resulted from tax collections falling below expectations. Nor would the amendment control the off-budget financing which already is a hidden avenue of federal spending.

There may be an element of wishful thinking in trying to subject the federal government to a constitutional rule against deficit spending, but a balanced budget is a valid goal for a responsible fiscal policy.

House Democrats may have handed the president a political defeat in denying him support of the amendment he sought, but they are mistaken if they think they are now home free on the "economic issue."

ROBERT WAGMAN Liberal Judges Face Ouster

LOS ANGELES (NEA) — California's system of requiring that judges face the voters, rather than being granted tenure, has led to a judicial and political free-for-all unique to that state.

The framers of the U.S. Constitution believed that lifetime tenure, free from outside interference, would guarantee federal judges' impartiality. However, California's state constitution makes the state's judges responsible to the citizens, with the voters deciding whether incumbents should continue to sit.

California Supreme Court justices are appointed to life terms by the governor, with the concurrence of a state judicial selection commission. But in the general election following their initial appointment — and every 12 years thereafter — the justices must go before the voters in a nonpartisan ballot. If the voters fail to confirm a justice, the governor fills the vacancy.

Four justices will go before the voters this year. One — Frank Robinson, a Ronald Reagan appointee up for reconfirmation — is considered noncontroversial. But the other three — Allen Broussard, Otto Kaus and Cruz Reynoso — were all appointed recently by Gov. Jerry Brown and are facing the voters for the first time. They have become very controversial indeed. The three are considered "liberal" — much too liberal by conservatives, who are orchestrating a major well-financed campaign to have voters reject all three.

Conservatives also are waging a large-scale battle to recall the even more controversial Rose Bird, the state's chief justice. For years, Bird has been considered the prime architect of many court decisions that have outraged conservatives, and this year they have gotten a recall measure on the November ballot.

The confirmation of the three Brown court appointees and the recall of Bird are about the hottest issues on the California ballot this year, with politicians of all stripes taking sides. In addition, the matter has become embroiled with a recent court decision that has many legal commentators questioning the entire process of judicial confirmation.

In the June primary, state voters approved the anti-crime Proposition 8 — the "Victim's Bill of Rights" — many of whose provisions are of dubious constitutionality. When the bill's constitutionality was before the court in August, powerful state political figures announced that is, as expected, the court held the proposition unconstitutional, they would join the campaigns to recall Bird and reject the three Brown appointees.

Among others taking this position was San Diego Mayor Pete Wilson. California's state bar censured Wilson for his stand, regarding it as an attempt to influence a case before the court — a violation of legal ethics on the part of lawyer Wilson. The bar also objected, in part, because Wilson signed a brief in the case arguing that the law should be upheld.

JACK ANDERSON

Congress And 'Battle Of The Beaches'

WASHINGTON — The sandy beaches of the Atlantic and Gulf coasts have long been a battleground between environmentalists who want to protect them and real-estate interests who want to develop them. In the last-minute rush of legislation before Congress adjourned, both sides won some and lost some.

At issue was a bill that would designate hundreds of miles of beaches as "coastal barriers" on which development would be effectively prohibited. This would be accomplished by eliminating such juicy federal subsidies as government loans, highways and flood insurance, which for years have encouraged developers to put up resorts and vacation homes that would otherwise be prohibitively expensive and risky.

The environmentalists, it should be noted, are not merely trying to make the shorelands safe for bird-watching. They point out that the fragile sandpits and islands serve as protective barriers for the mainland against wind and wave, as well as shield the spawning grounds of 85 percent of the marine life

PAC-Man meets the Politicians — no it's not the latest video game craze, but a possible theme for the next Seminole County Board of Realtors luncheon. County, state, and congressional candidates on the November 2 ballot have been invited to the meet-the-candidate session by the politically active Realtors. So far nine candidates have confirmed that they will be there, according to Sally Dudley of the Board of Realtors' office.

It will be held Oct. 21 at noon at Duff's on State Road 436, Altamonte Springs.

Friendship Force Director Alda Rowe of Sanford and Joan Rudilla, of Casselberry, workshop chairman of the Central Florida Chapter, have just returned from the Sixth Annual Friendship Force International Conference held at Blue Ridge Assembly, Asheville, N.C. Oct. 3-9. Representatives from 26 other states and 19 countries attended the conference hosted by North Carolina Governor James Hunt Jr. and his wife.

The Friendship Force seeks to provide a means by which people can cross international boundaries to meet and share the lifestyles on a one-to-one basis, staying in the homes of their hosts.

Since the first official exchange between Atlanta, Ga. and Newcastle-upon-Tyne, England in 1977, there have been 147 exchanges with a total of 180,000 participants. An estimated 7,000 persons will take part in this program for the coming year.

Central Florida has completed its second exchange program with a visit to Carlisle, England in September. During the last week of May, the "Ambassadors" from Carlisle visited in Seminole and Orange County homes. According to Mrs. Rowe, there will be two exchanges planned by Central Florida Chapter in 1983 in two different parts of the world. New plans and ideas have been formulated to make the exchange program even better than before, she said.

Ambassadors and hosts in all countries are always interviewed prior to an exchange to ensure having delegates who properly represent not only the Friendship Force, but their country as well.

Friendship Force is now recruiting ambassadors, hosts, and volunteers for next year. All those interested in sharing in this exciting program should contact The Friendship Force, Route 1, Box 205, Sanford, Fla., 32771 as soon as possible, as these exchanges are limited to 80 persons each.

Games Golf Tournament, has had more than 150 entries from golfers and has already closed out the 1 p.m. shotgun start. The 7:30 a.m. start is filling up fast and any men and women 55 and older who plan to play should get their entries in to the Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce immediately or it will be too late. The tournament is held at the Mayfair Country Club. The popularity of the golf is causing Hess to investigate making it a two-day event.

Schedules and entry blanks are available at the chamber office at First Street and Sanford Avenue. There is a $1 fee for each Golden Age Games event entered plus cart fee for golf and lane fee for bowling.

It is wise to pre-register for all events. The Games will be held Nov. 8-13.

Tickets are going fast for the popular Nov. 10 Wednesday night Jubilee dinner-dance held at the Sanford Civic Center during the Games. Seating is limited and you must buy your ticket in advance. They are available from the chamber office, at the Senior Citizens Dance on Wednesday afternoon at the Civic Center and from executive committee members. For $6.50 you get dinner and dancing to a live band. The event is open to the community and is not confined to Games participants.

SOWING A BITTER SEED!

WILLIAM A. RUSHER

Balanced-Budget Politics

NEW YORK (NEA) — Needless to say, we have not heard the last of the balanced budget amendment that was suffocated to death by the Democratic majority in the House of Representatives on October 1. Both friends and foes of the amendment were simply staking out positions to be taken in the ongoing debate on the subject. Each side, too, sought to maneuver the other onto unfavorable ground, and the question observers are debating at the moment is who emerged in the best position for future battles on the issue. In my judgement it was Ronald Reagan.

What is at stake here is the whole Liberal-Democratic strategy on which Congress has been run for the last 20 years. This calls for running up a budgetary deficit every year, and then "monetizing" it — i.e., printing enough extra money to cover it. This of course inevitably results in inflation, but the Democrats discovered years ago to their joy that the electorate is so sluggish that a modest dose of inflation is "acceptable."

By the mid-1970s, however, Congress had so abused this cynical device that inflation was in the double digits and no longer "acceptable" to the voters. That was when the idea of amending the Constitution to compel Congress to balance the budget every year really took off. The sponsors of the proposal first opted for the unusual but perfectly legitimate device of having two-thirds of the states demand, by a vote of their legislatures, that a national constitutional convention be called to adopt the amendment. By the time Ronald Reagan was sworn in as president, the number of states calling for such a convention was nearing that magic two-thirds mark and Congress realized that it had better draw up and consider a balanced budget amendment itself (which if passed by two-thirds of each house would still require ratification by three-quarters of the state legislatures) unless it wanted the play taken away from it altogether by a constitutional convention.

So the action shifted to Capitol Hill, and a balanced budget amendment backed by President Reagan sailed through the Republican-controlled Senate in August. In the Democrat-controlled House, however, a similar measure was tightly bottled up by New Jersey Congressman Peter W. ("Bluebeard") Rodino in his overloaded closet, the Judiciary Committee, while the bosses pondered what to do.

Rodino, Tip O'Neill and the other Democratic leaders were on the spot. Nobody wanted to be known as against a balanced budget, yet passage of the amendment would cripple the Democrats' pet spending device long after Ronald Reagan has passed from the scene. So Rodino became the Democrat's first line of defense: If he could keep the amendment from getting out of his committee, it would die for this Congress when it finally adjourns in November or December. Rodino tried gamely, but a discharge petition signed by a majority of the House (218 members) can shoo him out of committee whether its chairman consents or not, and over at the White House a determined president was on the phone, rounding up those 218 signatures.

ROBERT WALTERS The New Look In Housing

DENVER (NEA) — It's not exactly the traditional "home of your dreams." In fact, there are some disconcerting features such as the living room closet which opens to reveal a hot water heater, furnace and washer-dryer combination.

Put "The Retreat," a one-bedroom model at Cedar Pointe Condominiums here has one especially appealing feature — a price of only $47,950 for a newly constructed home only a 15-minute drive from downtown Denver.

What the prospective buyer is asked to sacrifice for that attractive price and location is size. "The Retreat" contains exactly 479 square feet of living space — slightly less than one-third as much as the average new house, which itself has now shrunk to a quite modest 1,550 square feet.

A more striking comparison: The standard "single-wide" mobile home contains 840 square feet of living space — 75 percent more than the mini-home here.

Notwithstanding its size, "The Retreat" typifies the home of the future, especially for the millions of young people seeking their first home but lacking the financial resources to pay $100,000 or more for shelter in a major city.

High interest rates, soaring land values and escalating construction costs already have pushed the price of the traditional single-family detached house well beyond the reach of many first-time buyers in their 20s and 30s.

In addition, a cluster of relatively recent demographic trends — later marriages, delayed child-bearing and a rising divorce rate — have produced millions of one- and two-person households with relatively modest space requirements.

As a result, some of the country's most progressive real estate developers are producing a new generation of drastically scaled down mini-homes whose hallmark is the highly efficient utilization of available space.

A Houston development, The Park on Cambridge, offers units ranging in size from 413 to 620 square feet and in price from $42,000 to $55,000. In Fremont, Calif., a suburb of San Francisco, Barratt Ltd., a British firm, is building similar mini-homes after testing the concept in London.

Cedar Pointe, in the Denver neighborhood of Glendale, consists of 270 condominium units constructed on an 8.4 acre site. In addition to "The Retreat," other one-bedroom models range in size from 630 to 890 square feet, with a two-bedroom unit offering a relatively spacious 1,040 square feet.

Because the units have been designed with flair and imagination by creative architects determined to maximize the utility and appeal of the limited space, the Cedar Pointe Condominiums are surprisingly attractive.

High vaulted ceilings and expansive windows provide a sense of spaciousness which effectively disguises the limited size of the units. Amenities include built-in microwave ovens, private patios or balconies and working fireplaces with glass doors.

It was like declaring open season for trickery. Whole Potemkin villages sprang up practically overnight to give the appearance of ongoing development when the Interior Department survey plane flew over.

On Don Pedro Island in Florida, for example, officials made an on-the-ground inspection of what had looked like a solid housing development from the air. What they found were hastily thrown-up plywood and cardboard shacks, some of which had building permits stating they were "residential buildings" valued at $55,000.

Other landowners turned to Congress for help. Those on Daufuskie Island off South Carolina appealed to Sen. Strom Thurmond, R-S.C. The island was removed from the list of protected coastal barriers.

The real-estate interests' clout with Congress is reflected in their generosity at campaign time. As a spokesman for the National Association of Realtors put it to my associate Peter Grant with diplomatic delicacy: "Congress is more responsive to our concerns than the Interior Department because Congress is a different animal with different pressures on them."

The NAR itself applied more than $50,000 worth of pressure in the form of campaign contributions to members of Congress on the committees considering the bill, or those with coastal barriers in their district. For example, Rep. John Breaux, D-La., chairman of one subcommittee, got $2,800 from the Realtors; Rep. Gene Snyder, a Republican from landlocked Kentucky and an outspoken opponent of the shorelands-protection bill, got $3,900.

By contrast, Rep. Walter Jones, D-N.C., chairman of the Merchant Marine and Fisheries Committee, which drafted the legislation, refused offers of money from the Realtors "because it might indicate a conflict of interest on my part."

Footnote: An NAR spokesman argued that his organization's campaign contributions were intended to support congressmen who shared its views on many issues, not just shoreline protection.

Gardening

Watering One Of Most Important Garden Techniques

One of the most important factors in successful gardening is knowing when and how to water.

Most maintenance techniques such as fertilizing, pest control and pruning have easy-to-learn rules to follow. But watering has no specific rules to follow, because when to water and how much to water depends on the kinds of plants, type of soil, time of year and the weather conditions. So, if you think your particular watering problems are different than your neighbors', you're probably right.

Here are a few ideas you can use to improve your watering efficiency.

Water only when plants need watering. Use a coring device or shovel to dig down in the soil to see if it is wet or dry. If the soil in the root zone feels dry and crumbly, additional water is needed.

Keep a close watch on the lawn. If it looks as though it is wilting, it needs water. If the edges of the grass leaves start to curl and take on a dull bluish-gray color, water the lawn immediately.

Lawns should be watered in late evening, at night, or early morning, when winds and temperatures are low. Late morning, mid-day, and afternoon irrigation usually results in loss of water from evaporation. Also strong winds are more likely to blow at these times, resulting in poor distribution of water over the lawn.

When watering, give the soil a thorough soaking. Frequent, light sprinklings waste water and do little to satisfy the water requirements of a plant growing in a hot, dry soil. Watering in this manner often promotes shallow root systems which increase susceptibility to damage if watering is omitted for a few days.

Wet the soil to a depth of six to eight inches. This type of watering allows the moisture to penetrate into the soil where roots can readily absorb it. A general rule is to apply from one-half to one inch of water every two weeks in winter and once each week in summer. However, because all soils and plants are not alike, some adjustments in the amount of water applied may be needed.

To determine when a sprinkler has delivered one inch of water, place cans or cartons at intervals in the spray pattern, and water until the water level in the cans averages one inch.

Water should be applied only as fast as the soil will absorb it. Watering with a hose nozzle turned on full force can do more damage than good. Fast-flowing water runs off quickly carrying soil with it and exposing plant roots to the sun. More efficient watering can be accomplished with soaker hoses and sprinklers. Soaker hoses do a good job, but they don't cover as large an area as sprinklers.

Another method of watering is drip or trickle irrigation. Drip irrigation supplies plants with constant moisture at a low delivery rate through the use of low pressure plastic tubing installed on or below the ground surface. Low pressure nozzles (emitters) attached to plastic tubing release water at a slow rate into the soil around a plant. By wetting only the root zone area of the plant there is a dramatic saving in water, weeds are not encouraged to grow and plant growth is accelerated. This increased growth occurs because the plant is not subjected to wet and dry cycles which normally occur with other irrigation methods.

The water lance and the ponding method are good ways of watering trees and shrubs. A water lance is a sharp-pointed tube attached to a water hose which is used to inject water near the root system of a plant. The water should be injected very slowly because a strong stream may dig sub-surface holes causing air pockets which damage roots. Ponding is a common method of watering newly planted trees and shrubs. A pond is a saucer basin built by making a ring of soil two to three inches high around a plant. A slow-running hose or soaker hose can be used to fill the pond.

These guidelines can make your gardening endeavors more successful and should reduce water bills significantly.

Friends Asked To Mathieux Celebration

One of Geneva's most colorful and best loved couples, Joe and Liz Mathieux, will be celebrating their 40th wedding anniversary in a most unique way.

The Rev. Larry Sherwood, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Geneva, will conduct the service when the Mathieuxs renew their wedding vows in a Christian ceremony Saturday, Oct. 16, at 7:30 p.m.

All of Joe and Liz's friends are invited to share in the joy of this special occasion which will include an open-house reception in the church fellowship hall following the service.

Ada Reynolds, mother-in-law of Wayne Johnson who sponsors the monthly Gospel

Their singing style has something for everyone, according to Ada, and their songs range "from old time Gospel, Gaither, and contemporary, to songs they have written themselves."

Woman's Club Sponsors Home For Girls

The Woman's Club of Sanford held the first general business meeting of the 1982-83 season at the Oak Avenue clubhouse on Oct. 6.

The Home Life Department, under the chairmanship of Estelle Davis, was in charge of the program on Hacienda Girls' Ranch Inc., at Melbourne. The facility is sponsored by the Florida Federation of Women's Clubs with Peggy Deere as the Sanford club representative.

Why a hacienda?

Very little is being done for the dependent girl in the State of Florida, who is being destroyed by unstable environment such as neglect, abuse, abandonment, alcoholism, death, divorce and other tragic family situations, according to Zamer.

Zamer pointed out that the non-profit girls' ranch is a non-profit private, independent child care facility licensed by the State of Florida. Hacienda is a home — not an institution.

Pat Foster, 1982-84 president, presided over the business. New members inducted in a candlelight ceremony by Mrs. Foster are: Martha Ashby, Antoinette Hobson, Eleanor Richert, Irma Beall, Emy Sokol and Trish Colbert.

Members voted to continue the Neighborhood Crime Watch program and place additional signs around the city of Sanford.

It was announced the "welcome" sign on U.S. Highway 17-92 will be maintained by the Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce and the club.

Eloise Cleveland and her committee served a catered luncheon to about 90 members and guests.

Mrs. Deere announced that the club will sponsor a fashion-show luncheon on Nov. 17 at the clubhouse to benefit Hacienda Girls' Ranch. For information and reservations, call her at 323-8322.

On Oct. 20, the club will be the site of the District VII Fall Tour, beginning at 9:30 a.m. The Lake Mary Woman's Club is the hostess club and will serve luncheon at noon. For information on registration, call Mrs. Foster.

Short Tips Prompt Waitress To Figure Table

DEAR ABBY: After six years of waitressing, I've come to the conclusion that many people don't tip 15 percent because they can't figure 15 percent of the bill, so I've prepared a "tip table" for people to clip and carry in their wallets for quick and easy reference:

Amount of check	15 percent
$15	$2.25
$16	$2.40
$17	$2.55
$18	$2.70
$19	$2.85
$20	$3.00
$25	$3.75
$30	$4.50

I'm sick of breaking my back to give excellent service and getting a measly 10 percent tip. And because most people get so flustered when the bill comes they can't figure 15 percent,

Dear Abby

I'd rather have people whip out their calculators than just take a wild guess, because they usually come up short.

ONE FOOT IN THE POORHOUSE. DEAR ONE FOOT: Don't assume that people who tip less than the customary 15 percent do so because they can't figure 15 percent of the bill. Some leave whatever they can afford. But for those who would like to leave 15 percent but can't figure it, your quick, easy chart will be appreciated.

DEAR ABBY: I am a high school student. My mom is divorced and she doesn't have a boyfriend at present.

Event To Honor Couples Married 50 Or So Years

Couples married 50 years or more will be honored at a party to be given 2-4 p.m. Nov. 7 at the Sanford Civic Center by the Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce Senior Citizens Committee.

Applications may be picked up at all senior congregate meal sites, the Casselberry Senior Multipurpose Center, chamber office and the Wednesday afternoon dances at the Sanford Civic Center.

Plans for the event were discussed at the October meeting, the committee chaired by Paulee Stevens. The Over 50 Club will supply coffee for the party and McDonald's will furnish the orange drink. The Sanford Senior Citizens Club will provide the cookies.

The Rev. S. Ed Johnson of First Christian Church of Sanford will officiate as the couples renew their vows. Sgt. Beau Taylor of the Seminole County Sheriff's Department will give Vial of Life equipment to those attending.

Dorothy Haynes is in charge of getting gifts for the couples. Al Guthell, president of the Federation of Senior Citizens of Seminole County, told the committee that the Federation will furnish a bus during the week of the Golden Age Games (Nov. 6-13) to transport participants. They will also provide two buses to transport seniors to the polls. Joan Madison, director of the Retired Senior Volunteer Program, also offered her organization's help with the Golden Age Games.

Also up for discussion was the subject of one discount card for seniors that would include stores, restaurants and other attractions. Stores who give discounts would display a decal on their window. The suggestion will be turned over to the chamber of commerce for action.

The subject of a senior citizen center was discussed and tabled to allow time for inquiries. — JANE CASSELBERRY

Battered Rams Meet Improved Melbourne 11

By CHRIS FISTER
Herald Sports Writer

A year ago in Melbourne, coach Danny Williams was suffering through a 1-9 season with his Bulldogs. And, a year ago in Lake Mary, varsity football did not exist. Coach Roger Beathard was preparing the Rams for the '82 season.

Both schools have undergone a tremendous transformation this year. Lake Mary is now a varsity football team and coming off a 27-0 romp over hapless Wymore Tech two weeks ago. And Melbourne is already a better team than '81 as its 2-2 record indicates as the Bulldogs prepare to host the Rams tonight.

"We are a much improved and much better team," Williams said. "We're not even close to the kind of football we played last year."

The Bulldogs are fresh off a 22-10 victory over Fernandina Beach. Melbourne's other victory was a 29-14 rout of Eau Gallie in the season opener. Its two losses were to powerful Titusville Astronaut, 35-7 and Cocoa, 20-18.

The offense relies mostly on the running game with three capable ball carriers. Running back Fred Battle is the team's leading rusher with an average of just under 100 yards per game. Battle's running mate, Harvey Pittman, has averaged 60 yards rushing per game while quarterback Danny Arnold has picked up 30 yards rushing per game.

"We depend a lot on the ground attack but we can mix it up," Williams said. "Lake Mary has an impressive defense but are struggling offensively from what I've seen. They just need to put all the ingredients together and I hope they don't do it against us."

The leader of the offensive and defensive lines is huge tackle Mike Slipchuck. Slipchuck is 6-3, 230 pounds and has been outstanding so far in '82 according to Williams.

"We are going to have to be very consistent," Williams said. "We are hurting in numbers and will only dress out about 25 players. I've been satisfied with our offensive effort but we haven't played up to our potential defensively."

Defensively the Rams are led by linebacker Bill Coughell who has 29 solo tackles and six assists in four games. Jeff Hopkins, Cornell Young, Willie Green, Reggie Anderson and a host of others have contributed to the fine defensive performance of the Rams.

Offensively, the Rams are hurting, especially in the backfield. Sophomore quarterback Keith Wallace injured his medial collateral ligament in his knee and won't return until "the next to the last or last game of the season," according to coach Roger Beathard.

His backup, Jim Boghos, stepped on a knife while walking barefoot. The wound required seven stitches. His status is "doubtful." Speedy running back Charlie Lucarelli bruised his leg on the last play against Wymore Tech and will miss the game.

'Seminole Needs First Win Against DeLand'

By SAM COOK
Herald Sports Editor

Seminole High fullback Ron Burke plans on a career in communications after he graduates in June.

There's just one message he'd like to get across to his Fighting Seminoles this week, however. The articulate senior doesn't need a radio broadcast or the printed word to get it across either. It's been on the minds of everyone at Seminole High for five weeks.

"Let's win a football game" is the simple message.

It doesn't sound like much, especially when one attends Seminole, where winning football games have been as common as the sun rising.

But it hasn't been simple this year. Through four games and an open week, the Tribe is still searching for its first victory. There have been three pretty good performances against Titusville Astronaut, Lake Howell and Apopka. Forget Edgewater, it wasn't even close.

Tonight at 8 Seminole High, Burke and his teammates hope all that will change when 1-4 DeLand comes to Sanford for a Five Star Conference game.

"We've got a very good chance to win this week," said Burke while attending a Sanford Optimist Player of the Week luncheon Wednesday. "It bothers me a lot that we haven't won. But we haven't played well for four full quarters yet. That has hurt us plus the penalties."

In the first three games, Burke was hurting the "Noles" too. A compactly-built senior who carries 166 pounds and 4.7 40-yard dash speed, Burke couldn't get moving.

"I just wasn't doing what the coaches were telling me," said the 18-year-old fullback who carries a B average. "But then (backfield) coach (Emory) Blake got me straightened out and I did all right last week."

Did all right was putting it mildly. Burke exploded. He was everything a fullback should be and more. Twenty-one carries for 130 yards. A good blocking night. A 39-yard burst where he broke two tackles and almost carried a defender into the end zone on a key fourth-down play.

"Burke gained more confidence with that game," said head coach Jerry Posey. "One of his problems was he wasn't staying close enough to his blocking, so we had (quarterback Mike) Futrell ride the ball into the middle with him on the belly play."

That made Burke follow guard Doug Sanders and tackle Aubrey Kendall on the right side and Ed Rinkavage and David Linton on the left side to chunks of yardage.

Although Burke is a senior, this is his first year of varsity ball. Last year, he had to work at Southside Elementary School to help his family.

"I really missed football last year," he said. "I wish I could have played, but it just didn't work out."

Seminole, meanwhile, hopes to work out victory number one against the Bulldogs of Don Stowers tonight. In order to do that, the Tribe must stop the option running of quarterback Doug Nettles and the outside threat of Otis Robinson.

"Nettles is the guy that hurt Lyman," said Posey. "DeLand would run veer, dive, veer, dive then come back with a counter or option."

Nettles ran once for 30 yards on an option and added quarterback sneak for a touchdown of around 25 yards, according to Posey.

"They don't seem to have the passing attack that's been a threat in the past, but they do like to bring Robinson through the line and swing him out for a See BURKE, page 7A

Disgruntled Yellow Jackets Take On Lions

The Leesburg Yellow Jackets got off to a decent start in '82 with a 2-2 record after four weeks of play. But the fifth week was disaster and may have an effect on coach Gene Foster's team for weeks to come.

The Yellow Jackets traveled to Ocala Forest a week ago and came back to Leesburg bruised, battered, dejected, disgruntled and discombobulated. Ocala Forest ran to a 60-0 massacre of Leesburg.

"We were totally humiliated, they just kept running up the score. They may be one of the best teams around, but that was a lousy way to show it," Foster said.

After being shutout last week the Yellow Jackets face one of the area's toughest defenses in the Oviedo Lions tonight in Leesburg.

"Their (Oviedo) defense scares me," Foster said. "They have a lot of good athletes. If you don't get to them early, you might not get to them at all."

Last week Rockledge got to Oviedo early by scoring 13 points in the first five minutes of the game. The Lions' defense then buckled down and shut down Rockledge's offense the rest of the game.

"We are going to have to get a good all-around performance from our offense," Foster said. "We don't have that one star running back or quarterback."

Already Leesburg has bettered its record from a year ago. Last year the Yellow Jackets suffered through a dismal 1-9 season. "We're better than last year by far," Foster said. Leesburg's two victories were over Lake Weir and Bishop Moore.

Defensively, the Yellow Jackets are going to have to swarm against Oviedo and its quick backfield of J.W. Yarborough, Barry Williams and Dwayne Johnson. Yarborough has gained 254 yards in four games and Williams has gained 200. Johnson has compiled 179 yards passing.

"Defensively we have to contain their speed," Foster said. "We don't have much speed and if we let them get outside it could kill us."

"The mistakes have been killing us lately," Oviedo coach Jack Blanton said. "If we hold on to the ball, we have a good chance of beating anyone."

The Lions had numerous chances to overcome Rockledge but lost four fumbles. One fumble was lost the play after Oviedo had recovered a Rockledge fumble 35 yards away from a touchdown.

And two weeks ago was an even harder mistake for Oviedo to swallow. The Lions had a 7-6 lead with two minutes remaining in a game against Osceola, and Oviedo had the ball. But a costly fumble gave the ball to Osceola and the Cowboys went on to win, 13-7.

Oviedo's (1-3) lone victory was in the opening game of the season, a 9-0 blanking of Umatilla. — CHRIS FISTER

Patriots Still Searching Against Hawks

Lake Brantley hasn't scored a point or won in four football games this year. Yet, tonight's opponent in Daytona Beach — Spruce Creek — is coming off a 35-0 licking from last Friday.

Finally, a time to rejoice? Time to explode those champagne corks which have been fermenting for five weeks? Time to vault from the Five Star Conference's cellar?

Well, not just yet. Although the Spruce Hawks lost by 35 points, as Brantley coach Dave Tullis will tell you, "They lost to a very, very good football team."

Which makes Spruce Creek "a pretty good team" is the Tullis perspective. "Titusville is just awesome," said the second-year Patriot boss. "But Spruce Creek moved the ball on them. They just couldn't get it over (the goal line)."

"They have some real good skill people and they're very big upfront" Tullis added.

The skill people for the 2-2 Hawks are tailback Billy Elmore, a senior who was converted from quarterback along with new QB Sean Hamilton and wide receiver Stacy Mobley.

"Hamilton is a good ballhandler," said Tullis. The 6-4 senior fired a 35-yard touchdown when he came in for an injured Elmore against DeLand on his second play from scrimmage.

DEAN SHIRLEY
...standout soph defender

"Elmore is an explosive runner and it seems like Mobley goes 20 yards every time he touches the ball," continued Tullis.

Defensively, the Hawks compare favorably to Lake Brantley teams of the past. They have some excellent size upfront. Paul Nelson, a 6-5, 265-pounder, is an excellent nose guard and Greg Whorton, a 6-2, 265-pounder, is a solid tackle. The "little man" of the trio is tackle Mike Kennedy, a 6-0, 230-pounder.

"They are real big and quick," agreed Tullis.

The Patriots are not very big and not very quick, but they are young, which has made it a long year in Altamonte Springs. Most of the Big Blue skill players are underclassmen, nevertheless, giving Tullis an optimistic look at the future.

"(Quarterback) Dennis Groseclose gets more maturity every time he takes a snap," said Tullis about his promising sophomore. "We hope to throw a little more this week. We've only been throwing about 10-12 times a game."

Tullis spent Brantley's week off making a few minor changes. Bill Black is working out at tailback and fullback while Steve Emmons has moved into the starting tailback slot. Chuck Stallings will open at fullback. Both are underclassmen.

Wide receivers Tom Wittmore and Phil Logis will start with Lonnie San Angelo pushing for time. San Angelo, who had a good spring jamboree, has been hampered by injury and illness.

Defensively, senior John Desmet, sophomore Dean Shirley along with linebackers Donnie O'Brian and Byron Bush look to repeat their best performance, which came two weeks ago, a 6-0 setback against Lake Howell. — SAM COOK

Trinity, Highland Draw Pistols Tonight

Once upon a time years ago in the days of coats lying across mud puddles before women's liberation, the headmasters of Trinity Prep and Lake Highland Prep were romancing the same woman.

One thing led to another and the two distinguished gentlemen decided to settle the uncomfortable situation in a manner fitting the exalted standards of each establishment of learning.

Pistols at 40 paces would decide the proper sutor of their lady in waiting. The steps were marched off, pistols were drawn, but alas, both were poor marksmen and the shots missed.

Ever since that fateful day, Trinity and Lake Highland have been bitter rivals. Tonight at 8, the Saints of coach Ron Verling and the Highlanders of coach Tom Ruby draw their pistols for a 1A duel in Orlando at the newly-lighted Lake Highland field.

"This is the big one," said Trinity coach Verling. "And we're going to dismantle them. These kids go to the same parties. They're from the same social set."

"This one is for the bragging rights." The Saints were blown away by 2A Jacksonville Episcopal last week, an embarrassing loss considering Trinity played top-ranked 1A Frostproof to a first-half stalemate before losing, 12-0. "We had four emotional weeks before the Episcopal game," said Verling about his 2-3 Saints. "We thought we could get up for another one, but we couldn't."

"We were humiliated and we're ready to take it out on someone this week," he added.

Verling figures that someone should be Lake Highland. Ruby, who coached at Lake Howell in 1974-75, has rebuilt the Highlanders' program in two years. They are 3-2 this season after a good year in '81. Lake Highland has been listed in the "other teams receiving votes" category of the 1A poll.

Ironically, the two teams didn't meet last year.

"They bagged the program about three years ago because the headmaster (no relation to the above mentioned) didn't think they could compete," said Verling. "It's too bad for them because they might have beaten us last year because they had mostly seniors."

This year, however, Verling has the seniors while Highland depends on the accurate arm of quarterback Dave Rider. "He's an excellent athlete with a good arm," said Verling. "We can't give him time or he'll hit anybody anywhere on the field."

Verling has beefed up his pass rush by putting linebackers Chris Lucas and Brian Butler on the defensive line on occasion along with Mike Barr.

The second-year Saint coach feels he can run on Highland since the lone common opponent — St. Pete Shorecrest — did when it beat the Highlanders, 16-6. Trinity beat Shorecrest, 27-15.

"(Shorecrest fullback) Rob Johnson ran for over 200 yards on them," points out Verling. "We figure Brian Butler should do as well."

Butler, a 6-3, 190-pound power fullback, is a candidate for all-state laurels on offense and defense.

FALTERING PREDICTIONS — Maybe I'm not so smart after all. Only 7-4-1 on football picks last week dropped the season log to 41-16-1.

Here's a look at this weekend; Seminole by 20 over DeLand. Melbourne by 28 over Lake Mary. Oviedo by 10 over Leesburg. Spruce Creek by 21 over Lake Brantley. Trinity Prep by 18 over Lake Highland Prep. Alabama A & M by 17 over UCF. Florida by 24 over West Texas State. Florida State by 44 over East Carolina. Miami by 13 over Mississippi State. Georgia by 7 over Vanderbilt. Notre Dame by 13 over Arizona. Alabama by 17 over Tennessee.

Bucs Knock Out Howell

DAYTONA BEACH — Lake Howell lost more than a football game here Thursday night to Mainland.

The Silver Hawks lost starters Mike Jones, Troy Quackenbush, Fred McNeil, John McKay and Marshall Parsons in addition to dropping a 15-0 Five Star Conference encounter to the Buccaneers.

"We'll have to struggle to finish 5-5," said a disillusioned coach Mike Bisceglia. "The injuries just devastated us. Losing five starters makes it tough."

Lake Howell, 3-2 overall and 2-1 in the Five Star, play Spruce Creek next Friday at home. The Spruce Hawks battle Lake Brantley tonight.

Jones, the Hawks' center, went down with a knee injury. Quackenbush, a junior quarterback, can't throw the ball because of a bad arm. McNeil, the big tight end, went out on the first series of the game with an ankle injury. Later, wide receiver McKay suffered face lacerations and possible broken bones. He was taken away in an ambulance. In the second quarter, Parsons broke his ankle.

Buc quarterback Eric Childs tossed 19-yard touchdown to Isaac Bell to break a deadlock in the second quarter. The score was set up by a fumble recovery by nose guard Paul Scriven. John Fussell's point after gave the Bucs a 7-0 lead.

Mainland put the game out of reach in the fourth quarter when Childs hit Eric Sommerlad for nine yards and a TD. A pass from Childs to Sommerlad gave the Bucs a 15-0 lead. — SAM COOK

Apopka Edges Tribe

Two big plays killed the Seminole junior varsity football team Thursday night as the Tribe dropped a 12-8 decision at Apopka.

"The defense kept them bottled up all night," said coach Mike Ferrell about his 1-4 "Noles." "They scored on two bombs that beat us."

Seminole got on the board first when its defensive front line pinned down an Apopka ball carrier in the end zone for a safety.

FRED McNEIL

Apopka erased the 2-0 lead in the second quarter when it scored on two long bombs. At halftime the Darters led, 12-2.

Dexter Jones got the Tribe back into the game in the third quarter with a 70-yard dash for a TD aided by a key block from Mike Cushing.

Linebackers Brian Debose and Walter Lowery led the Seminole defense while Jones ran for 90 yards. The Tribe travels to DeLand next Thursday.

Fearless Fister Goes Solo Against Games

Since the last three coaches that have been the guest pickers have had losing records, Fearless Fister flies solo this week. Both Dave Tullis and Mike Bisceglia were 5-6-1 last week and Jerry Posey was 5-7 two weeks ago. Coach Bill Scott of Lyman is idle this week after blasting officials in the Greyhounds loss to Colonial. At the risk of Scott's temper, it was decided not to have a guest picker this week.

Last week a 7-4-1 record, season total, 37-20-1, four games behind Sam Cook and his crystal ball which has a 41-16-1 record.

DeLAND AT SEMINOLE
The "Noles" have had two weeks to think about this one and what they will do without Rendell Manley the county's leading rusher who is sidelined with a broken bone in his ankle. DeLand doesn't have any broken bones but it should be easy for the Tribe to break through the Bulldogs' defense — "Noles" by 8.

Lyman, Hawks Roll To Wins; Tribe Splits In Five Star Action

By SAM COOK
Herald Sports Editor

Prep Volleyball

Everything remained status quo in the Five Star Conference volleyball race Thursday.

Which means Lyman swept two to run its record to 12-0 with four games to play. Lake Howell kept its hopes flickering with a sweep to move to 10-2. Seminole split, blowing a match to Apopka and hammering hapless Seabreeze.

Despite holding a 9-5 first-set lead, the Tribe bowed 15-13 to the Darters. In set two, Seminole led, 14-10, but lost a marathon 19-17 thriller.

"We gave up the serve 11 times in the first set," said a disgruntled coach Beth Corso. "You just can't do that and win volleyball games."

Corso cited the blocking of Arlene Jones and the backcourt play of Lisa and Beth Nelson in the first game.

Against Seabreeze, Sara Von Herbulis had four spikes as Seminole took set one, 15-7. In the second set, Genene Stallworth, Lisa Nelson, Jones, Von Herbulis and Hardy served the easy 15-2 win.

Seminole, 9-5 and 10-6, hosts powerful Oviedo Monday with junior varsity action at 6 p.m.

Coach Karren Newman's Greyhounds, meanwhile, swamped Mainland 18-16, 15-1 and DeLand 15-7, 15-12. Lyman is 13-1 overall and tries to find some competition Saturday in a Jacksonville tournament.

The 'Hounds nipped the Bucs in set one behind the spiking of Lynn Luger and the serving of Pam Stambaugh.

Amy Babcock finally ended the marathon with a spike for the 18th point. In set two, it was all Lyman with "a lot of good spikes," according to Newman.

Against DeLand, Carol Rogers and Stambaugh converted most of the service points and Babcock tossed in three spikes. Rhonda Tempesta served the final point. In set two, Luger broke a 9-9 tie with a spike and five points later she brought the curtain down with another smash. Kim Lemon and Babcock also had good hits.

Coach Jo Luciano's junior-dominated Silver Hawks quietly crept within two games of Lyman with a pair of wins over Lake Brantley and Spruce Creek.

The Brantley-Howell clash went three sets with the Hawks prevailing 15-17, 15-13, 15-7. The Patriots broke a 14-14 deadlock for the win.

In set two, Cathy Saunders served the Hawks to a 12-7 lead before Kathy Barma and Suzie Wight added the finishing touches for a 15-13 victory. In set three, Barma served two aces for a 12-5 lead before Christy Scott and Cathy Saunders finished up.

The Silver Hawks get their shot at Lyman Tuesday at Lake Howell. Sorry Seabreeze will also partake.

Against Spruce Creek, Howell was again extended to three sets before winning 15-11, 13-15, 15-7. Cathy Saunders, Scott and Barma aided the first set win with some excellent serves.

After losing set two, Barma zoomed the Hawks to a 6-0 lead and Cathy Saunders finished up with the final five points while serving.

The Silver Hawks get their shot at Lyman Tuesday at Lake Howell. Sorry Seabreeze will also partake.

Andujar Opposes Vuckovich Tonight

Baseball

MILWAUKEE (UPI) — Two of baseball's most distinctive personalities are expected to be all business in opposing each other tonight with the World Series tied at one victory apiece.

Joaquin Andujar, the St. Louis Cardinals' righthander who once took a shower in his uniform, is scheduled to face the Milwaukee Brewers' Pete Vuckovich, a righty who has been known to stick his tongue out at a baserunner.

The weather forecast calls for temperatures in the 40s and winds in excess of 20 mph.

Vuckovich, 18-6, a Cy Young candidate this season, arrived from St. Louis with Ted Simmons and Rollie Fingers in "The Trade" in 1980 and is remembered fondly by his ex-teammates.

"I was a pretty good buddy of his," said Cardinals' first baseman Keith Hernandez. "He's a character, a goofy son of a gun. But he's a real battler out there on the mound."

Vuckovich declines to talk before he pitches and sometimes dislikes having his picture taken. He shows a mischievous sense of humor in the way he dismisses his departure from St. Louis: "Whitey (Cardinal Manager Herzog) was looking for speed and I never really ran that well."

"Vuke is one of the great characters in the game," said Milwaukee GM Harry Dalton. "He tries a cloak of indifference and a lack of intelligence, but he's really one of the smartest fellas on the ballclub. He's an engaging character and he's a 100 per cent workman."

Andujar, 15-10, at one time drew more attention for pranks than for his pitching. He once used his switch-hitting ability to bat lefty against lefthander Steve Carlton. Another time, he reached base, took his warmup jacket, and wore it on his non-pitching arm. After one game, he took a shower in his uniform.

Since being traded from Houston to St. Louis in June of 1981, however, the 29-year-old has harnessed his antics and temper while unleashing his 97 mph stuff.

"I still have a bad temper at times but I've learned to control it," said the Dominican.

to expectations so the Hurricanes will rebound with a win — Miami by 11.
ALABAMA AT TENNESSEE

The Crimson Tide overcame a humongous obstacle in Penn State last week and has built up a lot of steam for the Vols. It's rooiii Tide for the second straight week — Alabama by 10.

VANDERBILT AT GEORGIA

After what Vandy did to the Gators the 'Dawgs know what to expect. Hershel Walker will carry about 35-40 times as Georgia will stay unbeaten for at least another week — 'Dawgs by 3.

ARIZONA AT NOTRE DAME

The Wildcats of Arizona are hungry for an upset while the Fighting Irish are probably pretty confident they will hammer Arizona. This is the upset of the week — Arizona by 1.

pass," Posey said. One such effort went for 45 yards in the Bulldogs' early-season victory over Mainland.

"They will pick up little chunks of yardage on their dives and then the quarterback (Nettles) will go for the big one with a reverse," continued Posey.

Although Seminole is off to its worst start during Posey's six year tenure, the "Chief" feels the record should be better — considering the way Seminole has played.

"We did everything we wanted to do on offense and defense for three quarters against Apopka," said Posey. "We just knew we were going to win that ball game."

But Seminole didn't and the Tribe must now win its remaining Five Star games for a miracle chance at defending its conference title.

"I don't want to dash water on our hopes, but Apopka has got an awful good team," Posey said. "They can punch it through you and they can explode. We're going to need some upsets along the way to catch them."

"But we do plan on being 5-2 in conference."

Number one of five may come tonight.

TEPEE TALK

Sophomore Jo Jo McCloud moves into the starting spot of halfback Rendell Manley tonight. Manley, who broke a bone in his right ankle against Apopka, may not be lost for the season. "They put him in a flexible cast and gave him a cane," said Posey. "He may make it back for one game."

SPORTS IN BRIEF

SCC Claims 13th Victory After Five-Set Marathon

After the first four sets were completed in Seminole Community College's volleyball match with Lake City, it was deadlocked at two games apiece, the issue was still in question.

It was in the fifth and tiebreaking set that SCC showed the calibre of a championship team. The Lady Raiders controlled the final game and won it easily, 15-5 to sew up the victory at 15-17, 15-8, 15-11, 10-15, 15-5 in a five set marathon.

"Everybody blocked well, hit well and served well, it was a fine all-around game for all the girls," SCC coach Ileana Gallagher said. "It was our biggest win of the season."

The win raised SCC's record to 13-5 and its next match is Monday against Daytona Beach Community College at Daytona Beach.

Patriots Favored At DeLand

The Lady Patriots of Lake Brantley will be the favorite Saturday at the DeLand Invitational in DeLand. The DeLand course will be the site of the state cross country meet and Saturday's meet will be a preview and give the runners an indication of what to expect in the state meet.

Lake Brantley's girls are currently ranked fourth in the state with Lyman's girls ranked seventh and Lake Howell looking to climb into the poll.

Kathryn Hayward heads the list of runners with the county's best time, 12:11. All of the Seminole County teams will be at DeLand with the Lyman boys team the only boys squad in the county, ranked in the state poll.

Answer to Previous Puzzle

Reader Must Remove Cause Of Anxiety

DEAR DR. LAMB—I have been having a problem with hyperventilation. That is what my doctor says is causing my symptoms. It is very frightening and causes me to have rather deep depression for several days after it happens.

Dr. Lamb

My doctor has given me mild tranquilizers and has told me to try and watch or control my breathing. Present conditions in my home are very upsetting at times, and very difficult to deal with. Is this type of thing life threatening? Just how serious is it? I would appreciate any information you have and so would others who have experienced this same thing.

response to it your anxiety level may decrease and you might stop having attacks. Sometimes resolving the causes of anxiety is rather simple. Incidentally, anxiety is made worse by habits that increase body adrenalin, such as smoking and drinking coffee.

DEAR READER—The reaction you have, assuming your doctor's diagnosis is correct, is from either breathing too fast or too deeply or both. This causes you to blow off too much carbon dioxide through your lungs. The carbon dioxide comes from carbonic acid (water and carbon dioxide combined). The loss of acid upsets the acid base balance of your body causing what doctors call respiratory alkalosis—meaning too much alkali for the amount of acid in your body chemistry.

DEAR DR. LAMB—I would like to know if fried peppers, eggplants and squash have any nutritional value. I grow my own vegetables and am a vegetarian. I fry them in corn oil. Of course I eat a lot of bread also. My blood pressure is 118 over 88 and I'm 5 feet 3 inches tall and weigh 150 pounds. I'm 74 years old.

DEAR READER—Of course they do. In their raw state none of these items has a lot of calories. Most of their calories are from carbohydrates. They are low in fat and contain no cholesterol. No plant foods contain cholesterol.

It is difficult to avoid being more anxious if you start watching your breathing. It is better to solve the reason why you start over-breathing in the first place. Of course, if an attack occurs it is very wise to try to breathe slowly and not very deeply. Don't try to hold your breath as that can trigger reflexes that affect your circulation and could increase your chances of fainting.

But since you fry your vegetables you are adding a lot of fat to your diet. That is especially true if you bread them first, as the batter or flour will soak up oil.

These reactions are common as part of anxiety. Your comment about your home situation suggests that you have a reason for unresolved anxiety. You might benefit from some professional counseling. If you can either alter the situation or your

There are many good things to be said about vegetarian diets and there are also some problems. You need to be sure you are getting enough good quality protein. To do that you need a combination of mature bean seeds and cereal in your diet. Of course, if you are drinking milk or using milk products then you will not have a problem in that regard. Depending on your diet you may also need some vitamin B-12.

vious Olympiad. In line with our policy of not naming experts who make mistakes, we will only comment that North and South were two of the very best.

The bidding was normal enough as far as South's Blackwood four-no-trump call. Everyone except possibly East had his full values. South's only real interest was to make sure that North didn't hold an aceless hand.

Then came the first problem. North was void of spades and held one ace. He bid six clubs to show one ace and what he had every right to assume was a valuable void.

Unfortunately, South decided that North was showing two aces and a void and South went to a rather unsound seven clubs.

Then came some really good luck. West opened a spade. South wasted no time making the silly grand slam. He ruffed, led a trump, ruffed a second spade, played ace and king of diamonds to get rid of his heart jack, ruffed a heart to get back to his hand, ruffed his last low spade with dummy's jack of trumps, ruffed back to his hand, picked up the last trump and scored the grand slam.

Trying Your Hand At Fall Gardening?

Time Is Short
So Get Your Hoe
And Get Going

By DONNA ESTES
Herald Staff Writer

If you want a fall vegetable garden — one from which you can harvest fresh produce around Christmas time — read this article, then get out your hoe and start planting immediately.

And just maybe, your luck will hold and a hard killing frost won't occur until early January, the usual time for this area.

This will give about 8-to-10 weeks of growing time for such hardy vegetables as beets, broccoli, cabbage, carrots, cauliflower, celery, Chinese cabbage, collards, endive, lettuce, mustard, onions, parsley, peas, radishes, spinach, turnips and even strawberries.

Those who like to grow tomatoes and peppers for near Christmas-time harvest planted those crops a month ago. It's too late now to take a chance on those delicate plants.

You backyard farmers who were thinking about a late fall garden should already have tested the phosphate content of the soil and if liming is needed it should have been added.

And presumably, the home farmer has tested the soil for the presence of nematodes — a long, round worm that infests plants or lives free in soil or water.

They can utterly destroy a garden after you've gone to all the trouble of planting it.

A representative sample of the soil should have been sent to the University of Florida laboratory at Gainesville for analysis and it usually takes two weeks to get results back. So, it's too late to run those tests now and still have time to plant a garden. So, you'll just have to take your chances.

Desmond Hastings, Seminole County horticulturist, recommends that backyard farmers fertilize their garden soil with some type of manure from cows, rabbits, horses or chickens, or use a decomposed compost.

The prime reasons a fall garden fails, Hastings says, is an improper planting, fertilizing or watering schedule.

He noted that it's preferable to water gardens in the evening. Certainly not in the middle of the day, he says, because this can lead to the leaves being scalded if the sun is hot.

And a good soaking once or twice a week is better than light watering every day.

Rising star

Up until "An Officer And A Gentleman," David Keith had been able to land only small parts in several memorable movies. But now, the young Keith has stepped into the role of leading man in two new films. Page 2.

Football fix

While NFL players man the picket line, leaving avid football fans in a lurch on Sundays, Ted Turner is trying to fill the void with All-Star games scheduled for viewing on cable channel WTBS. The first game, if the courts allow it, is set for Sunday. Page 3.

'Laugh-In' for kids

Remember Rowan and Martin's 'Laugh-In,' a riotous television comedy popular in the late 1960s and early 70s? Well, it had a child and its name is 'You Can't Do That On Television.' But they DO do it on cable TV's Nickelodeon program. Page 8.

Which James Bond Is Which?

DEAR DICK: We are puzzled by a recent movie we saw on TV — "On Her Majesty's Secret Service" with George Lazenby as 007. We thought there were only two James Bonds — Sean Connery and Roger Moore. Did this Lazenby make any other Bond movies? Our son thinks Moore made more films than Connery, but I think Connery made more. Can you straighten us out on this? I.B., Garberville, Calif.

George Lazenby made only that one film as Bond, then they got Roger Moore to step in. Curiously, both Connery and Moore are now making Bond movies — Connery's is "Never Say Never Again" and Moore's is "Octopussy." The Moore one is being made by the same company that did all the others, while Connery is working for a new outfit. Connery remains one up — this will be his seventh, and it will be Moore's sixth.

DEAR DICK: Will you tell me if Betty White was married to an actor before marrying Allen Ludden? M.A.D., Ventura, Calif.

Betty was married to a man named Lane Allen a long time ago. At the time of their marriage Allen was an actor, but he is now an executive with a major studio here in Hollywood.

DEAR DICK: Could you give me some information about the creator of the Smurfs? Who is he? Where does he live? Anything else you can tell me would be appreciated. K.P., Liberty, Pa.

The Smurfs, as we know them today, were created in two steps. First, a Belgian artist named Pierre (Peyo) Culliford created them as comic strip characters, and they were big for 25 years in that form in Europe. Then they became dolls, and it was a Smurf doll that found its way into the home of Fred Silverman, when he was head of NBC. His children loved the doll so he got the idea of making the Smurf characters into a TV show. And it was Gerard Baldwin, of Hanna-Barbera, who actually did the job of making the Smurfs into TV stars.

DEAR DICK: Some years ago, Anthony Quinn made a movie called "The Children of Sanchez." Was this movie released? If not, who not? L.H.S., Ewing, N.J.

Newcomer David Keith Making His Mark

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — David Keith, the fine young supporting actor in "An Officer and a Gentleman," has confidently moved up to leading man in two new movies.

If you've seen Keith, 28, once, odds are you remember him.

In "An Officer and A Gentleman" he portrayed the tragically romantic southern cadet, Sid Worley, Richard Gere's redheaded pal who commits suicide.

He turned in memorable but brief performances in "Back Roads," "Take This Job And Shove It," "Brubaker," "The Great Santini," "Friendly Fire" and "The Rose," mostly playing southerners who were also servicemen.

Keith has an unmistakably American face. His shock of hair, square jaw, straight nose and pugnacious demeanor are perfect for sailors, soldiers and marines.

His belief that "the great heroes in the world are American servicemen" — although he's never been in the service — enhances his credibility as a young warrior.

Keith epitomizes the American concept of a military cadet in his leading role in "The Lords of Discipline," a shocking story of brutality and intrigue at a South Carolina military college.

Keith also plays the lead opposite Kathleen Quinlan in the soon-to-be-released "Independence Day," this time wearing the uniform of a filling station attendant.

The giant step up from supporting player to star holds no terrors for the cocky young Knoxville native who was graduated from the University of Tennessee.

Although he is in uniform and playing a southerner once again in "The Lords of Discipline," Keith says he isn't typecast.

"There are all kinds of southerners and servicemen," he said. "Each one I've played is different. Some are good, some bad."

"I feel confident about playing leads. It didn't occur to me that I would have to 'carry' a film until someone asked me about it.

"I've built myself up to leads visibly doing bigger and bigger parts. My progress has been gradual over the past five or six years.

"I'm not a guy coming out of nowhere. I'm not a kid who just got off the bus that everyone wants to see fail. I'm confident because I have a broad base of experience."

Keith got off the bus in 1977 when he came to Hollywood from New York in a play that quickly folded. He landed a small role two weeks later in Bette Midler's picture, "The Rose." He's been working ever since.

A bachelor who makes his home at the beach, Keith lives and dies with the football fortunes of the Dallas Cowboys and Tennessee Volunteers and Philadelphia's 76ers basketball team.

Keith is openly ambitious, a young man with big dreams and plans.

Not yet a star, he has formed his own production company and is formulating ideas for feature films, cutting a rock 'n' roll album and directing his own movies.

"I'm putting together some actors and an editor and some other creative young people in my age group," he said. "We're forming a nucleus of artists. We'll let the money people come to us.

"There aren't any flakes

Ask Dick Kleiner

If was made, released and flopped — all in '78.

DEAR DICK: Is Robert Taylor deceased? To whom was he married after Barbara Stanwyck? Did he have any children of his own? M.M., Freeport, Texas

Robert Taylor, who died in 1969, left a widow, the German-born actress Ursula Thiess. They had two children.

DEAR DICK: On "Perry Mason," is the guy who plays him still alive? What year was that show made? E.B., Brush Prairie, Wash.

Raymond Burr is still very alive. The original Perry Mason, starring Burr, was made from 1957 to 1966. There was an attempted revival, starring Monte Markham, in the 1973-74 season.

DEAR DICK: I have a very good question for you. On the crime series "S.W.A.T.," what do those four letters stand for? D., Albuquerque, N.M.

I have a good answer for your. They stand for Special Weapons and Tactics.

DEAR DICK: Why don't they admit that Wink Martindale is a brother to Tom Kennedy and Jack Narz? MRS. A.E., Peru, Ind.

Because he isn't.

DEAR DICK: I used to watch "The Big Valley" every day, and it was my absolute favorite. What ever happened to Richard Long, who played Jarrod Barkley? I see the other cast members but never see him. L.W., Portage, Mich.

Unfortunately, Long died in 1974.

Football All-Stars On Cable Sunday

NEW YORK (UPI) — With four weeks of NFL football now beached on the picket line, ABC, CBS and NBC are scrambling harder than ever to redeem commercial dollars only a court injunction can keep Ted Turner from banking.

The NFL Players Association went to court in Washington in a bid for legal permission to stage a series of "all-star" games Turner's Atlanta-based WTBS superstation has promised to televise.

The NFL owners also sought a ruling enforcing contract clauses that would prohibit striking gridgers from playing for any team other than their own.

The U.S. District Court judge refused to rule on the matter and told team owners they must file individual suits for injunctive relief in his court if they wish to block the games.

To date, no such injunctions have been issued and Turner's cameras are ready to roll this Sunday at RFK Stadium in Washington.

"If they play the games, we'll televise them," said a WTBS spokesman. "We've sold the advertising time. There are 25 minutes available in the game. We'll give seven minutes to the affiliates and keep 18."

Industry sources say WTBS is charging $150,000 per 30-second spot for the first All Star game — as much as $25,000 more than ABC would charge its sponsors if the strike were over.

Nielsen ratings since the strike was called have proved NFL football — even in the guise of six all-star teams chosen by player balloting to represent all divisions — is the only game in town.

The ratings for NBC's foray into Canadian football have been such a disaster the network has scuttled the effort.

 The home gardener should have at least minimal farming equipment such as a spade, a rake, and a hoe for weeding. And insecticides and fungicides are necessary, he says.
 Many advisory booklets on the home garden are available free of charge from the Florida Cooperative Extension Service office in the county agriculture building at Five Points. And Hastings will be glad to give you some helpful tips.
 Hastings says that information on preserving the vegetables from your backyard garden either by canning or freezing is available from Seminole County Home Economist Barbara Hughes, who is also located at the county agriculture office.
 And Hastings has advisory booklets available for those who would like to plant some hearty and colorful annuals now. There's a wide variety of flowers which can be planted this time of year, he says.

Morgan Fairchild Leaves Her Nasty Image Behind

can do a wider variety of things than they let me.

"The look can be changed if they'll let you change it. Unfortunately, actors are limited to the parts that are offered to them and going in and screaming and kicking and begging to do something like a 'Johnny Belinda' doesn't mean that they're going to give you the part."

Unlike Constance, Judy Wellman is "a nice lady."

"She cares about this kid," referring to Estrada's boxer. "She starts off really just trying to do her job and figuring he's just another kid on the make and she's seen a lot like him. She's trying to keep her distance, but there is a very ingenious quality about him, as there is about Erik, that sort of appeals to you."

In the story, they become romantically involved, though he's a street kid "from the barrio" and she's a well-bred career woman.

"But it's really a mismatch of two different worlds," she says. "She's from a much classier environment." About the story, she says, "I think it's kind of dear." Was she challenged by the role?

"Well," she says after a pause, "It's not 'Medea.'" She laughs, then says, "It just was nice for me because for once she's not a bitch."

Strong-willed women are not strangers to Morgan Fairchild.

Constance Carlyle, of the recently canceled "Flamingo Road," was a headstrong woman who was used to getting her own way; her character in the film "The Seduction" was a TV reporter who didn't run from a man who stalked her; and Judy Wellman, from "Honeyboy," which airs Oct. 17 on NBC, is a successful publicist who works with the biggest boxer of the day, played by Erik Estrada.

"I'm a strong-willed person," Miss Fairchild says, comparing herself to her roles. "It's nice to play strong women, to give ladies a feeling that it's OK to be

Graham Will Live

From the "Texas" set comes news that Virginia Graham's character will not be "killed off" as originally planned. "Virginia has been such a delightfully vicious Stella Stanton that we have extended her role indefinitely," explained "TX" executive producer, Gail Kobe.

Currently, Miss Graham's character is the hostess of a new television game show on the fictional KVIK-TV with the apt title of "Texas Tall Tale."

Princess Grace's Final Interview

The last television interview with Princess Grace of Monaco will be shown on Daytime's "A Conversation with..." October 20, November 15 and December 17.

Daytime—a cable television service produced by Hearst-ABC Video Services—is carried on Cable Channel Q from 1-5 p.m. by Orange-Seminole Cablevision.

The interview is particularly poignant when interviewer Pierre Salinger asks the former Grace Kelly how she would like to be remembered. The conversation, which took place July 22 in the garden of the palace at Monaco, covers a wide range of topics including family life at the palace, the Princess's plans for the future, the Equal Rights Amendment

TV's Teenage 'Laugh-In' Pokes Fun At Growing Up

If a "Laugh-In" for kids existed on TV, here's what some of its material would be: an announcement saying that " 'Pac-Man Eats General Hospital' will not be seen tonight"; a commercial for Prince Macho Belly cologne; and an interview with a very honest boy who admits, "I like girls in designer jeans because it keeps me occupied."

These short vignettes are in fact part of "You Can't Do That on Television," a Nickelodeon comedy series for pre-teens and teens. It is a direct descendant of the old Rowan and Martin "Laugh-In" show, sans the risqué stuff. An ensemble cast of 12 youngsters and two adults poke fun at various issues that kids are likely to come across while growing up. That includes everything from work and popularity to smoking and junk food.

Each episode is devoted to a single theme; the above vignettes can be seen on Oct. 20 and 25 during the "Addictions" and "Fads and Fashions" segments. Some themes get a bit worn-out after the first few minutes. The show might be better if it weren't confined to the format, but that's an adult's perspective, and kids often fare better when ideas are drummed into their heads.

The program's purpose seems to be a kind of reverse psychology: If you make fun of a bad habit and tell a kid to keep doing it, maybe he'll stop. In one skit, a mother finds her children's room in tip-top shape and rants: "How many times have I told you guys that you aren't messy enough? I wanna see your clothes all over the room!"

It's well-intentioned but the show is just too zany and full of slapstick to be taken seriously. I can't imagine any young viewers "learning" from it, though I'm sure they'd be vastly entertained!

On one level, the program is a metaphor for parts of Nickelodeon itself — a potpourri of kiddie Americana. The episode on addictions covers video games, Sony Walkmans, "The Rocky Horror Show," soap operas and "The Smurfs."

But while the kids are all wholesome, the parent-images are somewhat disturbing and one-dimensional. In the episodes I saw, the father is always drunk and the mother mindlessly absorbed in domestic chores. For a program that wants to make statements on kids' lives, these are not good role models. But Christine McGlade, the show's young hostess, is a perky teen-ager with the poise of an anchorwoman, and she more than makes up for the deficiency.
