Judicious Use Of Herbs Adds Much To Foods

Herbs are obtainable in packages or can be grown at home. Smart cooks have discovered that lots of their plain cooking can become fancy 'cuisine' through the judicious use of herbs.

Perhaps you've noticed, when you've taken a night's rest from reading to have a meal in a nice restaurant that a dish after which the menu printed 'aux fines herbes' had an especially appealing flavor.

Herbs are same suggestions to start with Parsley, chervil and dill. Parsley, thyme and dill are the most common.

Harrison Seeks Trade Program Continuation

Solon Declares Reciprocal Policy Will Prevent Economic Collapse After War

Pittman Takes Opposition Lead Senate Group Sends Anti-Lynch Bill To Floor By 10-3 Vote

WASHINGTON, Mar. 25.—(AP)—Senator Harrison today opened the Senate debate on extending the reciprocal trade program with an appeal to his almost evenly divided colleagues that they retain the system lest an eventual world trade war threaten this country with "economic collapse."

He said abandonment of the policy of executive tariff-making would invite foreign fields and factories to vie with each other "and with us" as soon as peace returns abroad.

"Let no one be deceived as to the magnitude of that trade war," he said.

4 Officials Are Without Opposition As Deadline For Qualifying Passes

Four Seminole County officials can sit on the front row during the approaching political rallies and thoroughly enjoy themselves since the deadline for candidates to qualify for the Democratic nomination passed on Saturday leaving them without opposition for re-election to the offices they now hold.

They are O. P. Herndon, clerk of the circuit court; Sanford Dunaway, tax assessor; T. W. Lawson, superintendent of public instruction; and J. E. Parlin, member of the Board of County Commissioners from District Five which includes Oviedo.

Also without opposition in the May primary of the Democratic party are John L. Galloway and E. C. Haines, incumbent members of the Seminole County Board of Public Instruction, Chairman Fred T. Williams, L. E. Jordan and E. T. Haines.

In the race for Seminole County's two members of the House of Representatives L. P. Hagan, J. H. Lyles and E. E. Brady are candidates in Group One for the seat held last term by H. J. Lehman who is not a candidate for re-election, while in Group Two the incumbent, John G. Leonard, is opposed for re-election by John L. Galloway and E. C. Haines.

John D. Jinkins, incumbent tax collector, is opposed for re-election by John L. Galloway and E. C. Haines while R. W. Ware is opposed for another term as county judge by James G. Sharon. The race for Seminole County sheriff this year is not quite as crowded as in previous elections. There are three candidates opposing C. M. Hain's candidacy for re-election. They are George W. Gray, J. F. McDaniel, and R. C. Doss.

Secretary of Trade Body Accepts Position With Atlantic Coast Line Railroad

Ralph Bagwell, for seven years affiliated with the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce, tendered his resignation as secretary of the trade body at a special meeting of the Executive and Finance Committee this afternoon.

There was no indication as to who might be selected to carry on the work of the Chamber of Commerce but members of the Executive and Finance committees said they hoped to have some recommendations to place before the Board of Directors at its next meeting.

Mr. Bagwell entered the employ of the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce as an assistant to Secretary Karl Lehmann in 1933 and succeeded Mr. Lehmann in the position of active secretary in October of 1935.

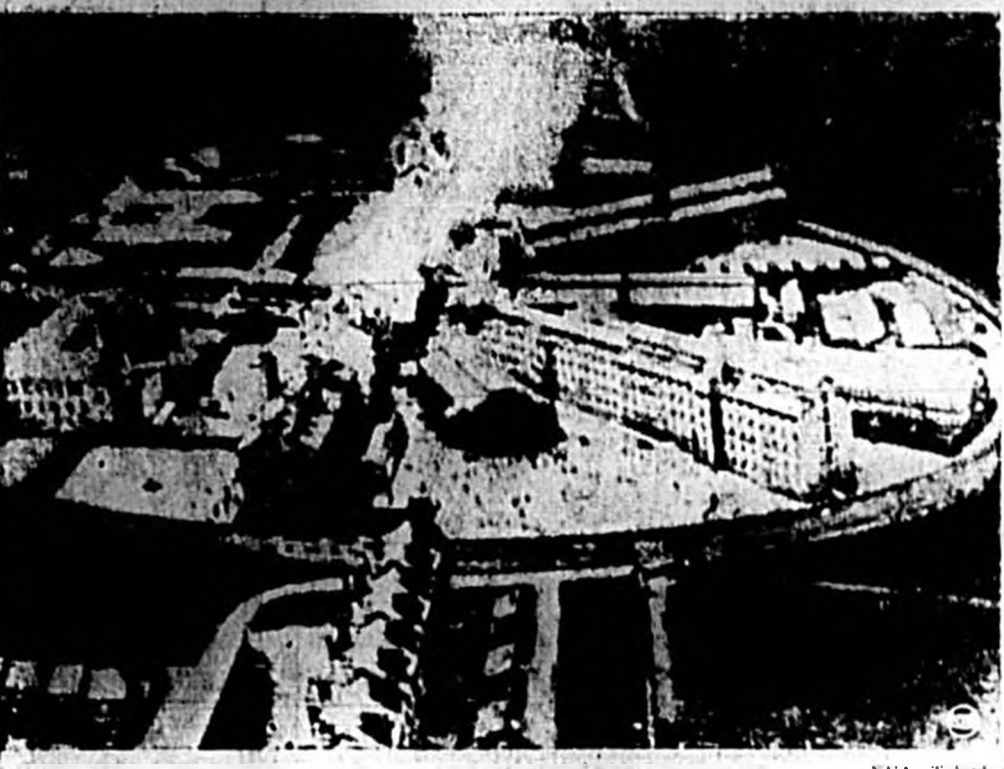

He was previously employed by the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad in the office of the Division Superintendent and the freight agent in Sanford.

During his term as secretary Mr. Bagwell has been active in efforts toward securing approval of the proposed St. Johns River Canal and is secretary of the St. Johns River Improvement Association, which also sponsors the project for deepening the river channel from Palatka to Sanford to a depth of 10 feet.

BIBLE VERSE FOR TODAY

TAKE THE LONG VIEW AND FORGET ABOUT SIDE
ISSUES: Seek ye first his kingdom, and his righteousness; and all these things shall be added unto you.—Matthew 6:33.

ON THE FATE OF FINLAND

If might can triumph thus; if all the light
That little peoples knew can suddenly fade;
If Honor and Justice and Truth
are thus betrayed;
Ah! Then we are as children in the night.
Where are the dreams we dreamed? With faces white And wet with tears we stand in awe, dismayed.
Confused, confounded; for Tyranny has laid
Its heavy hand on all we thought was right.
Shall despotic rule us with an iron hand,
In their mad lust for power and reign?
Must the brave guardians of a simple land Sink to their knees in many a hill and town?
Shall Evil prosper? . . . We cannot understand.
We have lost our dreams. Shattered they tumble down.

It strikes us there is some-more beautiful than these in any of the most famous gardens

The Tampa Times calls it the "out-bloomiest" Spring in Florida's history. And that seems to be true, too, as all the trees, shrubs and plants are breaking out with new leaves and blooms in greater profusion than ever.
Perhaps the unusually cold winter has something to do with it.

He urges parents to cultivate a

Free Trade

The biggest legislative question in Washington this week is not where Congress is going to get the money to pay the farmers the billion dollars voted them last week, but what is going to happen to the ratification amendment to the reciprocal trade bill. If the amendment is voted, our foreign trade and tariff policies will go back to the log rolling tactics of former days when there was only one direction for any tariff to take and that was up.

If the government decides to return to the construction of tariff walls around the United States so that foreign made products cannot find their way into this country, domestic producers would probably think that would be a fine thing for all of us. They figure that whenever a foreign commodity is sold in this country, some American workman is thrown out of a job making the same commodity to be sold here.

What everybody wants is for all Americans to trade at home and still to enjoy the privilege of selling abroad. Thus we would enjoy our own domestic market exclusively while at the same time competing with other countries in the markets of the world. That might look as if it would be a fine thing, selling to the whole world and buying everything at home, but we wonder if in the long run it would work out that way.

Carried to its logical conclusion, such a policy would mean that foreign countries would have to pay us for everything they bought here in gold. Since their paper money in this country is worthless, and since we would not accept commodities in trade, there would be no other way for them to pay us for the things they buy here. So if they continued to buy from us, we would continue to receive nothing but gold which we would have to bury in a hole in the ground somewhere in Kentucky.

Thus for all practical purposes our sales abroad, no matter how enormous, would be doing us no good whatever while they would be of immeasurable benefit to the foreign buyers. If Germany, for instance bought wheat from us, the German people would have bread to eat. They would pay us for it in gold which we could not eat, or even use. That is the effect of high tariff walls, or the abandonment of the present reciprocal trade program.

Suppose on the other hand, that we reduce our tariff walls and accept foreign goods in exchange for American made products. Then when the German people buy our wheat, they pay for it with shotguns, cameras, or similar manufactured articles which we in this country are able to use and get some good out of. That is the effect of free trade, an exchange of goods by which both sides profit.

As a matter of fact, so great is the gold reserve which this country already has buried in the ground, and so great are the debts which foreign countries already owe us for commodities previously purchased in the United States, that all the people in this country could stop working and live for years off the goods imported from abroad if some effective method of distribution could be devised from these imports.

That doesn't seem to us to be such a bad idea, nobody over here having to work at all, just living like millionaires off the things our Uncle Sam bought in foreign countries and distributed free of charge to his playboy nephews and glamour girl nieces.

DALADIER RESIGNS
Hitler Declares Truce
Roosevelt Will Run

Such were the sensational headlines which appeared last week in the newspaper of the Sanford Kiwanis Club which is edited by Father Kellaghan. But it wasn't the headlines which carried the meat of this story. The headlines pale to insignificance as one learns what the Kiwanians are planning for Thursday night of this week.

FARIS, FRANCE, Mar. 25.—(IP)—Daladier today quit his job as premier of France. When pressed for an explanation of his unexpected action, he finally admitted that he was mad because the President would not grant him leave of absence to attend the Minstrel Show in Sanford on March 28th and that he wouldn't miss it for all France.

BELINSKI, Mar. 25.—UP & UP)—Among the paper bombs dropped from planes over Germany today were several copies of The Sanford Herald. A copy was rushed immediately to the Fuehrer, who forthwith called in his lesser lieutenants and said: "Boys, let's call the whole thing off till after March 28th. We may deprive people of their liberty, but we cannot be cruel enough to deprive them of the chance of seeing the Minstrel Show at Sanford. Get me three tickets from Harper—that Harp in his name would seem to indicate that he might be a Ryan" (No, no, that's not a gas leak that smells).

WASHINGTON, Mar. 25.—(Special)—President Roosevelt broke his long silence today by declaring that he had definitely decided to run down to Sanford on March 28th to take in the Sanford Kiwanis Club Minstrel show. He left instructions with Stephen to call him Early.

That's the story. Everyone is quitting work and making arrangements to attend the great Kiwanis Club Minstrel Show. Everyone from Hitler right on down, or up to Mayor Coleman, will be there. You won't want to miss it either.

Easter Parade In New York Is Held Despite Weather

NEW YORK, Mar. 25.—(AP)—A spanking wind and sub-freezing temperature failed yesterday to dim New York's multi-million-dollar Easter parade as thousands of chic women flaunted Spring's prettiest fashions from beneath costly winter mink.

On one of the coldest Easter parades on record—it was 16 above zero at dawn services and only a few turned out—the ladies marched bravely up and down the avenues wearing everything the men say they don't like—and getting away with it.

A kindly sun later in the day took the chill off the expensively gowned crowd. Predominant were the fastidious (but real) jewelry, the saucer-cup hat whose cost equaled the week's rent, and the sledge shoes that drove strong men indoors.

At high noon, fashion—there was more color, twice as much flower-and-veil-for-the-hat as in former years—started moving along Fifth, Park and Madison avenues.

As of old, the same society folk and political figure—strilled by expensive getups, but this year the admiring crowd was more smartly dressed, and the ladies of 30 and up won more stares than the hatless debutante.

Out of St. Thomas' church on Fifth came Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt, queen of the New York society that was wearing a blue dress with matching hat; from St. Patrick's church, where a crowd of thousands jammed to watch the celebrities exit, came Postmaster General Farley in one party, and former Governor Smith in another, each man wearing the traditional silk hat and cutaway coats.

On the avenue once graced by the Vanderbilts and the Astors the curious also saw Wilda and Ethel Schartman, pretty twin sisters down from the Bronx for the Easter parade.

They wore hats fashioned from laking tin. On their hats were tin-foil flowers a far cry from the hat of the Sarah Bernhardt era (high bonnet on back of head, ribbon under the chin) that characterized the parade.

One of the smartest and prettiest was Mrs. T. Williams, the former Peggy Leland, wearing a tiny halo-of-roses hat with veil and ribbon-under-chin.

Her husband wore the new stone-gray cutaway.

An unusual number of costly diamond clips, brooches and butterfly-adorned women's lapels.

At 11:00 A. M. the Robbers of America, who usually parade up Fifth in protest against the splendor, decided the odds were too great and cancelled their march.

Mrs. Orson Munn, the society lady whose hats usually stop traffic, wore a

Pope Implores For Peace, With World Beset By Conflict

VATICAN CITY, Mar. 25.—(AP)—Pope Pius implored for peace, concord and unity among nations yesterday in an Easter homily in which he advocated settlement of their relations "not by force, but by rules of truth, justice and charity."

The words of the pontiff, who spoke from the throne briefly in Latin immediately after celebrating Easter mass in the basilica of St. Peter, were broadcast by the Vatican radio and rebroadcast in the United States.

The Pope expressed fear that the European war would bring more frightful sufferings, with ruin for nations. The pontiff, declaring the treaties which have thrown as Frederick violations of international law which he said had occurred in bombardment of open cities and civilian populations.

By returning to Christian principles, he said, could people eventually get together in understanding and friendship.

Although Pius XII had celebrated Easter masses in St. Peter's when he was an archbishop of the church, yesterday was the first time he had celebrated the sacrament as Pope. Last year he watched from the balcony as Frederick Cardinal Teuchting led the Easter rites commemorating resurrection of the Prince of Peace.

After the mass and the homily the pontiff appeared on a balcony and, with a large crowd assembled below, bestowed his blessing "urbis et orbis"—"to the city and the world."

In his homily the pope urged a "spiritual renewal in Christ," adding:

"This work of reform is not called for alone for private welfare and individual life, but also for the very salvation of human society. And therefore, particularly at this time so critical when sad things appear to the eyes of all and still more frightful things are feared for the future.

"You well know in what times we are living! Concord among peoples is miserably broken. Treaties unilaterally changed or violated without previous definitive agreement. And the voice of brotherly love and fraternal friendship no longer is heard.

Here is the kind of man you've often said would be the ideal candidate for governor... a man who has risen from poverty to success by the hardest sort of work... who has become an outstanding leader in his profession... who is admired for his loyalty, integrity and ability... a man of the people who knows your needs... yet, who, because of his success and high sense of honor, will be above the temptations of self-interest in office.

Francis Whitehair knows the problems of the poor man because he was desperately poor. Unaided, he worked his way through high school and college. He knows the problems of the farmer because he is a citizen farmer and farmer. He knows the problems of the business man because he is a business man. He knows the problems of the tax-payer because he is a tax-payer. A young man... a strong, able man... yet a simple, friendly, approachable human being.

Washington Defeats Nashville 2-1 In Exhibition Tilt

Sid Hudson And Diz Dean Show To Advantage For Washington Team

Gilbert To Pitch Twardy, Hatten, And Harris Against Minneapolis In Daytona Beach Today

Nashville displayed plenty of power here yesterday in their first game of the exhibition season, defeating Washington's Yankees 5 to 3 but lost the game to the home town team.

A disappointingly small crowd of less than a 1,000 fans turned out although the day was beautifully clear and warm.

Sid Hudson and Diz Dean showed to advantage for the Washington team and did a fine job at far as the home town fans are concerned, permitting a run-off which permitted two hits in four innings and Dean, who pitched the game and seven innings, completed one inning.

Washington left fielder, Tommie Brown, was the hero in the third frame and scored the game over the right fielder for a homer. That was Washington's second and last run of the contest.

Into the last half of the game, looking with the score tied against the Vols, young Tommie Brown caught one of Monty Hudson's tosses on the fat of his hand and called over the left fielder to allow Hudson to pitch.

However, in spite of Tommie's great catch, the following Vol homer could do nothing against the proper Cuban's offering.

At the 10th inning recorded by the Washington team came at the expense of Adams in the last three innings. Following the home run by whom held the lead, Hudson's spot as far as

Elimination Race For Central Florida Derby Slated Friday

ORLANDO, Mar. 25.—The season rapidly drawing to a close, Racing Secretary Pat Meets of the Sanford-Orlando Kennel Club announced yesterday that the first elimination race for the annual running of the Central Florida Derby would be staged Friday night, Mar. 29.

This elimination heat will be the first of a series of four such races to be held at intervals of every other night beginning Friday at the Longwood track.

According to Meets' plans, the top 16 dogs of the 400-odd dogs now at the track will be eligible for the first night's eliminations. The last two finishers in the two eight-dog races will be knocked from the running. The eliminations will continue at that tempo the following night with eight dogs remain in the running.

The eliminations will be staged over the 5-16's mile distance, with the Derby finals slated for the 3-8th's mile route.

In the feature race tonight, Lucky Dot makes her first start since she was returned from Miami's Flagler Futurity elimination in an effort to regain the spotlight now held by other young hounds.

The other entrants this night race heat, a 5-16's mile trek, are Symrna Boy, Enid Rex, Extra Blue, Lucky Hog, Smoky Ranger, Merry Ida and Chief Cutlet—a real all-star field.

NOTES FROM THE PRESS BOX

by CHARLIE CHALKER

The game yesterday had been seen by at least a couple of thousand Sanford fans, but we can't expect to see too much interest at the first game of the season. However, next week, when Sanford and Nashville play, it would be surprising, indeed, if there aren't nearly two thousand persons in the stands when the ump shouts "play ball!"

And especially as Hudson and Dean are expected to hurl here for the benefit of the home town fans. We'll be up against it, wanting Larry Gilbert's Vols to make a good showing, and hoping Dean and Hudson will trim their ears. Heck of a position to be in. Maybe it'll be a tie and darkness will call it off. And nobody'll suffer then. And nobody'll suffer then. Notice where Bob Hayes, sports editor of the Orlando Morning Sentinel, made a crack about press box accommodations at the Municipal Ball Park here in the morning's paper. Well, Bob we can't help but agree with you. They are lousy but what can be done about it? Sam Butts of the Times-Union had a few uncompromising remarks to make about it, also, last year after covering the all-star game here. When Nashville plays here there's even more of a need for adequate accommodations. Yesterday, for instance, with telegraphers, and announcers and several sports writers, there was actually not enough room even in the dugout down at the bottom of the "chicken coop" for everybody. And in addition, who ever saw a press box below sea level? Well, Sanford is rapidly getting that reputation. The deplorable thing about it is that the sports writers and newspaper men who are in a position to give this town some favorable publicity, are usually incensed after receiving what most of them regard as shabby treatment. And as one sports writer remarked recently: "Can't Charlie Bradshaw do something about it? They tell us there's not many things he can't do if he sets his mind on it." Well, we answered, we'll

The Western Front remained quiet.
