

Citrusmen Get Low Grapefruit Prices; Top Orange

LAKELAND (UPI) — Florida citrusmen weighed low prices for grapefruit today against an increase in orange prices, which have already broken records this season.

Oranges on the fresh market last week brought $4-4.75 per box f.o.b. Florida packing house, an increase of about 25 cents over the previous week's prices. Oranges for concentrate brought mostly 35 cents per pound sold, up about five cents.

Fresh grapefruit prices held steady last week at $2-2.25 per box under fairly good demand and availability. About 850 cars of grapefruit were shipped to the freshmarket, against about 725 cars of oranges.

Florida Citrus Mutual official Frank Trevillion said a few shippers had completed grapefruit business for the season, but that most were expected to operate through early June.

Trevillion said consumers spent an all-time record of $4 million for 1.34 million gallons of orange concentrate the week of April 17-22, when concentrate prices were cut.

Robert W. Rutledge, Mutual's executive vice president, said groves were in good condition despite dry weather. He said irrigation was underway in many groves.

Rutledge based his report on a 23-county survey, excerpts of which follow:

Polk County: New crop spotty on early and mid-season varieties of oranges. Valencia have generally set a heavy crop. Movement of valencias is increasing as rains improve, but pounds of solids yield is below normal. Most growers are reporting pick-ups come 30 to 40 per cent short of last year.

Lake, Citrus and Sumter: Irrigation, where available, is being done in all areas. Buying activity at this time limited mostly to young tree valencias.

Orange, Osceola and Seminole: The new crop varies in set. Hamlin generally has a pretty good crop while other early and mid-season varieties appear spotty. Movement is increasing rapidly on valencias.

Hillsborough, Pinellas, Pasco and Hernando: Harvesting of valencias is just getting underway. Some increase of buyer interest on the remaining valencias.

Manatee and Sarasota: Area showing the effects of dry weather. Normal spraying and cultivation for this time of year is going on with no unusual problems other than the drought.

Volusia and Putnam: DeLand area has no drastic moisture problem at this time. Bloom earlier than usual and fruit is well advanced in size now. East Volusia County suffering from lack of moisture.

St. Lucie, Indian River and Brevard counties: Current crop of valencias and grapefruit holding good with no unusual droppage. Good set of the valencia crop for next season with light to normal set of early and mid-season varieties. Present valencia crop being harvested and reports indicate the crop is picking out 20 to 30 per cent short of last season.

Anti-Communist Talk Brings Large Attendance

Lcdr. Jack Langford's "Communist Target—Youth of America," brought the largest attendance seen in many months to the Lake Mary Chamber of Commerce meeting last Thursday.

Langford opened his talk by explaining that its purpose, and of many similar ones given in the area, was to inspire patriotism.

He told how Communist propaganda infiltrating our news stands and our school classrooms, is designed to kill a natural feeling of pride in our nation. Today, he said, under normal conditions in New York City alone, there would be enough Red propaganda to fill three large warehouses. American taxpayers pay postage to ship this material to our colleges and universities and some of it is passed to the public through remedial reading courses, he said.

The speaker pointed out that this year, the Reds are waging their propaganda war on America's youth and that the effectiveness of their program with the young is due to lack of proper leadership and guidance in the homes.

He advocated that teaching should be included in the schools to recognize Communist doctrines and their "subtle method of" "jeopardizing our nation's value and had on hand several sample copies of such materials.

Langford called for a fundamental change in the attitudes of American citizens, saying that Communism thrives only because of apathy. He suggested that the people avail themselves of facts on known Communists working in this country and that they should study some of the publications known to be Communist written and inspired in order to wage a battle against the spreading doctrines.

To remedy the situation, the American people should write their Congressmen, he said, and write letters to newspapers and magazine editors in addition to cooperating with the schools.

He suggested a community library where residents could get recommended materials and samples of the Red's publications in order to fight Communism. To get such a project underway, Rev. John Pilley donated $5 toward the effort and suggested that others present also make contributions. He also suggested that the library should include official government reports from the

Partnership Stressed During Hospital Week

A working partnership between hospital and community is necessary if a community's health is to be maintained at its highest level, Harry Weir, administrator of Seminole Memorial Hospital, said today.

Without the hospital, many individuals would not realize their "heritage of health," while without the community's support and understanding, the hospital would be unable to meet the community's health needs, he noted.

"Your Hospital—A Community Partnership" is the theme of National Hospital Week this week. This observance first celebrated as National Hospital Day from 1921 to 1963, has since been observed as National Hospital Week. It is sponsored by the American Hospital Association and is held each year during the week of Florence Nightingales birthday (May 12).

The hospital's major responsibility is its community partnership in patient care. "The magnitude of this service is illustrated by the fact that one of every eight persons will be admitted to a hospital this year."

Patient care is constantly improving, he noted, through medical advances, the development of new equipment and services, and better training of personnel.

Two responsibilities of the hospital, which in turn are components of patient care, are education and training of personnel, and medical research. An additional responsibility of hospitals is preventive medicine. Hospitals assist in detecting and reporting communicable diseases.

The community's role in this partnership for health is equally vital, Weir said, outlining five areas of community responsibility.

Its most direct tie is through the hospital's governing board, composed of community leaders. They set the broad policies for the hospital and have complete responsibility for everything that goes on in the hospital.

The other four areas he noted were: —Community encouragement of young people to enter health careers. The shortage in medical and paramedical personnel is a serious problem for the entire health field.

—Membership in a prepayment plan such as Blue Cross. The prepayment principle provides an easy method of budgeting for hospital care and it also assures hospitals of a stable income for services provided. Under this principle, both the people who are well and do not require hospital care in a given year, and those who are ill and require care, pay the hospital bill.

—Community support of programs which will provide adequate reimbursement and allow hospitals to maintain a more stable financial situation. Hospitals care for many patients who cannot pay their bill, but many communities do not reimburse hospitals adequately for care of welfare patients.

In conclusion, Weir commented, "Only through a full partnership of an enlightened public, a learned and inspired medical profession and a dedicated hospital staff can the very best of health care be given."

Bristol Returns From Conference

Major William E. Bristol, Assistant Secretary and Examiner of the Sanford Civil Service Board, has recently returned from a four-day conference of the Florida Association of Civil Service and Personnel Agencies in Miami Beach at the Deauville Hotel.

Major Bristol participated as a panel member on the "Job Classification and Examination" panel. An informal welcome and social hour the evening of May 3 preceded the formal opening of the meeting on the morning of May 4. Mr. Kenneth Oka, Councilman of the city of Miami Beach, delivered the welcoming address to 41 delegates representing 18 states, county and local public personnel and civil service agencies throughout the state.

Speakers on the program were Professor Ed Sofen, University of Miami, whose subject was "Metro: An Analysis and Appraisal." Mr. William E. Furr, Personnel Director, Lindsey Lumber Co., spoke on "The Responsibility of Supervision."

The objectives of the association which are to foster better personnel practices in all areas of government were clearly demonstrated at the three panel sessions: "Job Classification and Examination;" "Police and Fire Problems;" "Safety Training;" and "Commissioners Institute and Problem Clinic."

Hospital Starts Opinion Poll

A new public opinion questionnaire, developed by the American Hospital Association, entitled "What do you think about our hospital?" is being introduced this week at Seminole Memorial Hospital, Harry Weir, administrator, said today.

The new questionnaire will be given to patients at discharge. Tabulations will be made of the answers given and used in developing future hospital policies.

The three aims of the questionnaire are to emphasize to patients and to hospital personnel the hospital's primary concern with the comfort of the patient; to provide a basis for reinforcing strengths and correcting deficiencies in patient care and to obtain some indication of the factors which may be related to patient attitudes.

Questions deal with such matters as the attitude of personnel in the admitting office, housekeeping, noise, food, nurses' attitudes and skills, visiting hours, hospital bills and the patients' overall impression of the hospital.

"We hope the use of this questionnaire will provide clues for the improvement of patient care and service in our hospital," said Weir.

"Because hospital care is so very personal and because it is always provided at a time of great stress, we want to learn every possible thing that can make it better and more comfortable for the patient himself."

County Courthouse Termite Infested

The County Commission has launched a study on needed repairs to the County Courthouse after the board toured the 48-year-old facility Tuesday and found it water-logged and termite infested.

District 2 County Commissioner Ted Williams showed other commissioners some of the "poor" conditions in the building and the board agreed to study the matter.

Clerk Arthur Beckwith presented each member with a copy of architect James Gamble

Rogers' plans for the building and the board may take some action at its next meeting.

A check by the Herald today revealed that there is heavy water damage in the vault and water damage in just about every office in the building.

The roof leaks and many offices on the top floor are nearly flooded after a heavy rain. Leaks were noted today in County Judge Vernon Mize's office and along the walls of the assessor's office.

However, the biggest damage in the building is termites. Windows and walls of the clerk's office are racked with deep cuts and severe termite damage was noted on the front door of the building.

Just about every window in the building bears the scars of termites.

Plaster is falling down in many of the rooms with the heaviest hit—the zoning office and the basement of the building.

Sanford To Get 3 Additional Vote Precincts

Sanford will get three additional voting precincts while Casselberry and Altamonte Springs will get one each in a new redistricting proposal submitted to the County Commission Tuesday.

The redistricting committee also called for the establishment of a new voting precinct embracing the Loch Arbor and Little Venice areas.

All-in-all, six new vote precincts were proposed in the revised redistricting proposal, according to Supervisor of Registration Camilla Bruce, a member of the committee.

At the present time there are 16 precincts.

Mrs. Bruce said that if the commission okays the redistricting proposal, each precinct will be limited to 800 registered voters and more people will have a chance to vote in the next general election.

Last year 14,000 of the 17,000 registered voters cast ballots.

At the present time Sanford has three vote precincts while Casselberry and Altamonte Springs, called the fastest growing areas in the county, are limited to only one.

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — The House Congressional Reapportionment Committee today passed and sent to the floor a 12-district plan introduced two days ago by Rep. Joe McClain of Pasco County.

The proposal would split Volusia County vertically, putting the east portion in with Brevard, Indian River, St. Lucie and Orange counties, and the rest in a district with Pasco, Hernando, Citrus, Sumner, Marion, Lake, Seminole, and Osceola.

Members voted 5-3 to adopt the proposal, over the strong objections of Rep. Frederick Karl of Volusia, who protested the splitting his county, and Rep. James Pruitt of Brevard, who said his county did not want to be in the same district with Orange.

Without any debate, committee members listened politely to explanations by proponents of other plans, then killed them off by one.

Karl's proposal was the first to go. The committee then put to rest an interim committee proposal that would have split Hillsborough and Pinellas counties. It also killed a proposal by the Legislature's Republican delegation, and one from the Broward County delegation that would have split no county but Dade and would have taken Orange County out of the district containing Brevard.

Duval, Hillsborough and Pinellas counties would get a congressman of their own under the plan adopted by the committee. North Dade County would also get its own representative, with the south part of the county connected to Monroe, Collier and Lee.

McClain said population was not the "prime factor" involved. Community of interests of the counties and the political expediency of getting the proposal past the House were also considered, he said.

Floods Continue Midwest Surge

By United Press International

Floodwaters surged toward new highs in Missouri and Indiana today and the East Coast felt the sting of a massive oceanbound storm system.

Prospects of fair to partly cloudy skies west of the Appalachian Mountains offered scattered relief to flood-torn areas of the Middle West. But the high water menace from nearly a week of rain remained for hundreds of communities.

The Ohio River climbed more than a foot above flood stage at Madison, Ind., at inches an hour, routed homeowners at Evansville, Ind., and erupted in flash floods at New Albany, Tell City and Cannelton, Ind.

Indiana's White River roared toward crests Thursday and through the weekend at Bedford, Shoals, Williams and Petersburg. Flash flooding on the Blue River was reported at Fredricksburg, and more than 200 families were evacuated ahead of a crumpled levee on the White River south of Columbus, Ind.

At St. Louis, Mo., a Red Cross spokesman estimated total evacuations in eastern Missouri and southern Illinois at 4,000. A 20-foot creel, 9 feet over flood stage, was expected on the Meramec River at Sullivan, Mo.

The airport runway at Smart Field in St. Charles, Mo., became a refuge for 17 house trailers and Central, virtually isolated by floodwaters Tuesday, launched emergency water supply measures.

The Red Cross said evacuations could total 1,500 persons by week's end at Mount Carmel in Wabash County, Illinois, on the Wabash River.

As the storm moved east Tuesday, rains gorged the Salt River and sent water 10 feet deep into business sections of Shepherdsville, Ky. Fire Chief Glenn Howell placed a $1.5 million preliminary estimate on damage to homes and shops.

In New York state, a tornado Tuesday lashed the base of the Catskill Mountains and ripped an eight mile swath on its path to the Atlantic Ocean.

Near Liberty, N. Y., hotels and hospitals switched to emergency generators when the twister knocked out power lines. The funnel cloud overturned a dozen cars and a school bus but no serious injuries were reported.

AT LEAST five persons were killed when a flash flood swept a swath two blocks wide through the downtown section of Harrison, Arkansas, causing millions of dollars worth of damage. Automobiles were swept along by the 12 foot wall of water and smashed into buildings.

Something Rotten?

A Herald Editorial

The City must and should bring its assessment roll up-to-date.

A check of records in the city tax assessor's office revealed today that the Woodruff Building on First St. and Park Ave., one of the choice business locations in town, is on the city assessment books at $12,500.

It has been on the books at that figure since 1953. The same building is on the county assessment books at $87,150. City taxes on the building this year were $766 while county taxes this year were $1,080.

As Commissioner Earl Higginbotham said Monday night "something is rotten in Denmark."

NATO Pledges Safety Of Berlin Freedom

OSLO, Norway (UPI) — The Atlantic allies today announced their determination to block the Communist drive for global expansion and pledged again they would safeguard the freedom of Berlin.

An official communique at the end of a three-day conference of foreign ministers of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization said the resources of the Western powers can meet the Communist challenge.

NATO is made up of 15 European and North American nations.

"The NATO alliance is determined to defend the right of their people to live in freedom," the communique said.

In support of this, the United States Tuesday pledged Polaris nuclear missile submarines to beef up NATO's defenses.

The powers offered to negotiate "just and equitable solution of outstanding political problems" with the Soviet bloc.

At the same time they instructed their political and military experts to strengthen the deterrent and defensive power of the alliance.

False Alarms Plague Lake Mary Firemen

Lake Mary Volunteer Fire Chief Ralph Abell today reported that the department is having to institute a safety check on all calls due to the number of false alarms received within the past week.

All persons served by the Lake Mary Volunteers are being requested to give their names and telephone numbers Abell said, after which they are to immediately break the connection in order that the fireman receiving the report can phone them in return to check it out.

The fire chief said "I know that this measure is a shameful waste of valuable time but we see no other means of stopping these false reports which take us out of our own district."

A check with Sanford Fire Chief Mack Cleveland Sr. revealed that state laws impose a heavy fine on persons caught turning in a false alarm.

Cleveland also pointed out the danger to personnel and equipment, not to speak of property loss should a fire occur in the area, while a department spends its time in answering such calls.

Laos Reds Dely Cease Fire

VIENTIANE, Laos (UPI)—The government of Laos formally complained to the International Control Commission that Pathet Lao rebels have continued to attack anti-Communist Meo tribesmen at Padong in defiance of the cease fire, informed sources said today.

The sources said Deputy Premier Phoumi Nosavan lodged the protest with the three-nation peace team Tuesday less than 24 hours after it had arrived.

The ICC announced it had received an invitation to go to the rebel stronghold at Xieng Khouang. Presumably the protest will be taken up there.

Government sources said the Pathet Lao forces had attacked the Meo tribesmen at Padong, 20 miles from Xieng Khouang, with 75 mm guns from mountain emplacements seven miles away.

The Meo military commander, Col. Vang Pam, was reported confident his men, who wear black clothes with red trim, could withstand the siege.

Reports from Padong said one Meo had been killed and eight wounded since the cease fire officially was proclaimed last Wednesday. The pro-Western government has been supplying the outpost behind the rebel lines by air.

It was the first baby for the Johnsons and Harold was so happy he even was passing out cigars to residents bringing their "gripes" to the commission.

Water Safety Program Set Soon

A big water safety program, designed to teach as many people as possible how to "Swim for Your Life" this summer, will soon be starting in Sanford and the Red Cross and Mrs. Martha Kilpatrick, secretary and swim instructor, are appealing for help.

Anyone who wishes to help with the program is welcome, even if they cannot swim. Qualified instructors are needed but also persons, who may be mothers, fathers or high school students who can be of service in keeping rolls, checking skill sheets, clerical work and side work.

The swim season is already underway with two junior and senior life-saving classes completed or nearly completed. A tremendous enrollment is expected for the recreation program this summer.

Classes start on June 12 for beginners, with sessions to take place at the Municipal Pool, Crystal Lake Park, the newly completed recreation area, built by the Jaycees, and the Navy Pool. An orientation meeting for instructors and aides will take place at the Municipal Pool, 9:30 a. m. May 15 to acquaint prospective helpers with the program. Those who can swim are advised to bring swim suits for try-outs.

A schedule of times and places for beginning classes will be released soon.

Astronaut Spent Summers In County As Youth

By D. HIGGINBOTHAM

Just a sprinkle of stardust fell on Sanford recently, when it was reported that Astronaut Alan Shepard Jr. once lived in the county.

America's first "space man" is well known to a number of people in Lake Mary, who take a quiet pride in his world renowned accomplishments.

Shepard's maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles S. Emerson, made their home on Crystal Lake, near the home of the Raymond Halls for many years.

As a young boy, Alan and his sister Polly used to come to Lake Mary in the summertime with his parents, Renza and Bart Shepard, to visit with the grandparents, play games with young Raymond Ball Jr. and while away the summer days in the sleepy little community.

Mr. Emerson has been dead for a number of years, but Mrs. Emerson only recently died about two or three years ago.

ASTRONAUT ALAN SHEPARD'S mother sent this picture to Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Ball of Lake Mary last Christmas.

Flat Earth Assn. Raps Space Trip

LONDON (UPI) — The Flat Earth Society said today that Cdr. Alan Shepard Jr., the United States' first astronaut, will never go into orbit—because there isn't any such thing.

If Maj. Yuri Gagarin thought the world was round on his satellite trip last month, he was simply repeating an error mankind has been making ever since the days of Christopher Columbus.

"Humanity has been brainwashed by scientists into the round earth theory," said Samuel Shenton, middle-aged secretary of the Flat Earth Society. "But our members will continue to proclaim the truth — that it's shaped like a disc."

If Shepard saw anything that resembled the curvature of the earth, it was an optical illusion quite common in these high-flying days, said Shenton, spokesman for the 110 members of his society.

"Science cannot shout us down," he continued. "Take the moon, for example. It's transparent, you know. I don't believe man will ever get there, but if he does he'd better be ready to come right back. There isn't anything much to land on."

The flat earth proponents have been trying since Victorian times to cancel out the impression left by Columbus and Magellan that if you travel in a straight line from any point on earth, you will eventually arrive back at that point.

"We have always been a small, but strong, group," Shenton said. "Firm in our resistance to the fiction that the world is round. Gagarin may have thought he went in a circle around the earth, but actually he was traveling in an ellipse parallel to the earth."

"Like a phonograph needle on a record?" asked this reporter.

"Something like that," said Shenton.

This Decision Cost Government Cool Half Million

CAPE CANAVERAL (UPI) — A range safety officer made a $500,000 decision Tuesday and ordered destruction of an 18-ton Blue Scout rocket seconds after it was launched on a planned 1,000 mile flight into space.

The slender, 72-foot rocket veered off course about 30 miles down range and was deliberately destroyed. Scientists hope to salvage the wreckage today from the ocean floor, but recovery efforts were hampered by high winds and squalls.

The Air Force missile, dubbed the "poor man's" rocket because of its relatively low $500,000 price tag, was carrying about 200 pounds of instruments on the planned flight into orbit. Scientists had hoped to gain more information for a map of radiation above earth.

Tornado Warning Service Not Good Enough

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The chief of the U. S. Weather Bureau said today that America's tornado warning service isn't good enough.

He said it has "made great strides" in the past seven years and has saved hundreds of lives. He finds this gratifying.

But, said Dr. F. W. Reichelderfer, "the nation should be far from satisfied."

To have a warning service good enough to spot tornadoes as they are born and predict precisely where they will hit, he said, the United States must invest a lot of hard work and money in weather research.

He said it also must make fuller use of available modern tools of storm detection such as advanced radar and weather satellites. This is Reichelderfer's tornado season message to the nation.

"We can't be content with meteorological science as it stands today. Forecasting the possibility of one or more isolated tornadoes in an area of 20,000 square miles (the present prediction limit) has been helpful and is showing improvement all the time.

"But it is a far cry from the ability to pinpoint just when and where these dreadful tornadoes will strike.

"It is toward that objective and the further objective of even suppressing or modifying them that we should aim.

"This only can be done through a long range program of fundamental research.

Jim Gentile's Day

United Press International
No matter who you like for the triple crown — Mickey Mantle or Gary Carter — it might be a wise idea to keep your eye on a dark horse named Jim Gentile.

Baseball's "rainbirds" gradually are becoming convinced the broad-backed Baltimore Oriole first baseman can do it.

Gentile gave them added food for thought by setting three major league records with a pair of grand slam homers in consecutive innings during a 13-3 victory over Minnesota that led Baltimore into sole possession of third place in the American League.

The 26-year-old Gentile — all his friends call him "Diamond Jim" — drove in nine runs with his two homers and a sacrifice fly so that he now leads the league with 30 RBI's. That gives him six more than Mantle has and his season total of nine home runs is the same as Mantle's.

Given to brooding when he's not hitting, Gentile has been known to moan, "Maybe I should have been a truck driver like my father," but the fact of the matter is that he's making a joke of the sophomore jinx with a current batting average of .353 that is third best in the league.

Gentile's first homer Tuesday came off loser Pedro Ramos (2-2) in the first inning and his second one was hit at the expense of Paul Giel in the second inning. The Orioles' slugger thus became the first man in major league history ever to hit grand slam homers in consecutive times at bat and in consecutive innings. The eight runs he drove in with those two blows earned him another record — most runs driven in over two innings.

Ron Hansen also homered for the Orioles to help Chuck Estrada to his second victory. Bob Allison hit a pair of homers for the Twins and Hal Naragon and Harmon Killebrew hit one apiece.

Elsewhere in the AL, the Chicago White Sox snapped a seven-game losing streak with a 4-2 victory over the Cleveland Indians; Kansas City beat New York, 5-4; first-place Detroit ran its winning streak to six games with a 7-2 win over Washington in the opener of a two-night doubleheader, but lost the nightcap, 5-4, and Los Angeles beat Boston, 8-7.

In the National League, Pittsburgh ended San Francisco's four-game winning streak, 9-6; Milwaukee downed Chicago, 8-5, and Los Angeles defeated Philadelphia, 5-2, in a game called during the sixth inning because of rain, which also postponed the St. Louis-Cincinnati contest.

Lane Mum On Houston Post

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI) — Kansas City Athletics General Manager Frank Lane admitted today he has had differences of opinion with new owner Charles O. Finley, but refused to comment on a report that he may accept a similar job with the new Houston entry of the National League.

Lane reportedly is disgusted with the fact that Finley has hampered his trading technique, Finley allegedly has demanded to put a personal stamp of approval on all deals involving A's players.

Recently, farm director Hank Peters was let out because he signed a young prospect for $35,000; without consulting Finley first. Three other major league clubs were also after the prospect in question, and all three said they were ready to go as high as $50,000 for him.

Braves Get Thomas In Trade

MILWAUKEE (UPI) — General Manager John McHale of the Braves said today one-time bonus baby Mel Roach was traded for veteran Chicago outfielder Frank Thomas because Milwaukee "is trying to win a pennant this year and the Cubs aren't."

"We are trying to get power in left field," said McHale about the straight player swap which sent the 21-year-old Thomas into the Braves line up Tuesday night at that spot while the 28-year-old Roach played first base for Chicago.

Liston Set To Name Manager

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Heavyweight contender Sonny Liston will name his new manager today and if it isn't Philadelphia's dapper George Katz most everyone will be surprised.

Pencil-thin Katz, who runs a fight factory in addition to a picture-frame plant, was regarded as the likely choice of Liston in a "clean house" move he hopes will gain him a crack at Floyd Patterson's title.

Appleby's Take Summer Loop Lead

The Thursday Night Mixed League of the summer bowling groups played their first game of the summer season and Appleby's restaurant grabbed a quarter lead by winning all four games.

Second place fell to Powell's, Steinhilber and DeBary Pharmacy, who all had three wins. Pryor's State Farm Ins. took third spot along with Union Park Pharmacy and Pierre Mfg., Sanford Mfg. was in fourth place.

John Wright led the men with a 577 scratch series and Dot Powell was high for the women with 639.

DeBary Pharmacy took the team series with 2532 and Powell's got the high game with their 886.

Karnet Carter, Ellen Betts, Dutch Shugart and Jimmy Anderson all picked up the 6-7 split. Ralph Betts, Ed Callan and Gloria Accardi made the 3-10 and Ann Conklin rapped the 6-7 split.

OTTAWA, Ont. (UPI) — The Grey Cup champion Ottawa Rough Riders today announced the signing of import quarterback Jerry Thompkins. Thompkins, a graduate of Texas A & I, was with the Riders for three weeks during the 1960 season. He spent the rest of the year and the two previous seasons with the London Lords.

Good Credit

Do you feel borne down by the debts accumulating on your back?

Then find what comfort you can in the fact you have lots of company. According to a University of Michigan survey, every other fellow you meet has installment debt, 1 in 3 has a mortgage, and 1 in 4 has piled up some other kind of credit. Many you'll see have multiple burdens.

Yet this doesn't mean we're currently in a wild credit splurge. Survey men found that most families in the past six years have kept installment buying very close to their income prospects.

Despite the overall load, we seem to be keeping things in manageable shape.

Dr. Crane's

Worry Clinic

An athletic body doesn't render you immune to mosquitoes or flies, nor does it make you immune to tiny "bugs" called germs. For resistance to disease is a chemical matter. It is due to specific "antibodies" in your blood. Vaccination helps build up these antibodies.

CASE H-481: Ethel J., aged 18, is an unhappy college freshman.

"Dr. Crane, just look at my face," she burst out miserably and began to cry.

"See how rough it is. That's from smallpox! And my father is to blame."

"He wouldn't let me be vaccinated when I was a child. He believes that the proper mental attitude, plus good food and exercise, will ward off all disease."

"Well, I believed he knew best. And I was certainly quite healthy. I could swim and golf and bowl and play tennis and all such things."

"But I got smallpox just the same. And now my life is ruined."

Many well meaning parents make the same mistake as Ethel's father, but that is due to their ignorance of chemistry.

You readers know very well that a healthy body and a positive religious outlook will not stop mosquitoes or flies or even bedbugs from biting you.

Indeed, these parasites will relish the athletes just as much as the undernourished or sickly person.

But germs are simply smaller editions of parasites like mosquitoes and flies. They are so tiny we must use microscopes to see them. But they are very real, nevertheless.

DDT and other external chemical sprays will banish insects of the visible sort, such as mosquitoes, but athletic bodies will not.

In much the same manner, internal chemicals in the blood, called "antibodies," will eliminate dangerous germs.

But the body must have enough time to build up the antibodies to offset each type of disease germ.

So we physicians give the body a tiny exposure to weakened germs or their poisons when we vaccinate your children.

Nowadays we place a drop of vaccine on the clear skin, and gently make many tiny needle pricks through it. They don't even draw blood and are almost painless.

The human body immediately starts fending in this vaccine by producing an inflamed area. In short, the child gets a mild case of smallpox which is limited to his upper arm and which leaves but one pock mark, namely, that single vaccination scar.

He may have a slight fever a day or two, and the arm may be red for 10 days more.

But his body has meanwhile built up its resistance to smallpox so he is safe, both from death as well as a pock-marked face.

In Shakespeare's century it is estimated that 60,000,000 died from smallpox alone and countless millions of the living had pock marks all over their faces.

Nowadays most of you readers never have seen a single case of smallpox! And even we physicians seldom encounter one.

Why has smallpox almost completely disappeared? Because of modern vaccination.

"But doesn't the act of vaccinating a child, infect it with other diseases that may cause death?" somebody may protest.

That is no modern danger. Some 75 years ago the skin wasn't cleansed well and the needles were not sterile, so some children may have been infected during vaccination. But that is ancient medical history.

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long 4 cent stamped, addressed envelope and 20 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

THE VULGAR BOOTMAN

From Rome

Henry McLemore

ROME — Jacques Pollet, a young French sculptor whose one-man show here has attracted much critical acclaim, says that Italian women are preeminent in one field — the elegance with which they ride any wheeled vehicle.

To reinforce his claim, Pollet points out the recent bus strike in Rome when trucks and vans were pressed into emergency service.

"It was an inspiring sight," he says, "to watch the women of Rome—from the humblest to the most fashionable—ride about the city in these drab, lumbering, and uncomfortable conveyances. They rode them with as much style and sang-froid as did the court ladies their tumbrils during the sad days of the French Revolution."

Even for those of us who lack an artist's eye it was a study in poise to watch the Roman women make their way into flat-bottomed trucks. They hailed them as casually as if signaling their chauffeurs and managed somehow—impossible as it sounds—to clamber up the sides as gracefully as a trapeze artist ascending a ladder.

No fluster, no loss of dignity or pride.

Once in, they clasped the guard rails with gloved hands, and gazed serenely at the passing sights, or waved to friends and acquaintances. They rode as elegantly as if in a limousine, instead of standing in a truck with Wholesale Grocer emblazoned on its sides.

Not even a bit of swift cornering by the driver, or a jolting stop was enough to upset their composure.

"The Polynesian woman, the most stylish walker in the world," Pollet says, "would have fought the strike on foot. And the English woman in the saddle on a horse. But only an Italian woman could have managed to appear serene in a delivery truck."

Pollet says that those who doubt that Italian women are masters of the wheeled vehicle should watch them on the back of a motor scooter or on a bicycle.

"Other women ride the backs of scooters as if they were in mortal danger," Pollet says, "and cling to their driver-scooters as if their lives depended on them. Not the Italian. She rides with the grace of a ballet dancer, the intrepidity of a tightrope walker."

"And on a bicycle, Frenchwomen, Hollanders, and Englishwomen, make the job of pedaling a chore. They are almost fierce, so determined are they. But Italian women ride a bicycle with verve. They make it graceful, fun, and fun to watch."

Letters

Dear Editor:
A hitch-hiker is a questionable character. He is a strange figure, standing there at the roadside, a small load of possessions at his feet, awaiting a ride to some unknown destination. Being shy, cautious people, we sometimes just glance at him and then rush past, safely on our way.

But I was once a hitch-hiker. Where was it you last saw me, you who drove past me so hurriedly in your car a few months ago? Was it along the road north of Yakima, the wide, smooth ribbon of asphalt that leads towards the Rattlesnake Hills of central Washington? Was it in the rain of a gray October day as I stood along the road in southern Michigan? Was it I you passed in the early evening, the slim, gray figure standing under the last street light on the outskirts of Sanford, Florida?

You who have stopped to pick up the young faces, you, the kind, the foolish, the tired, the rich, the poor, the lonely, the loved, the unloved, you I remember though you may have forgotten me. For a few hours our paths crossed and while we traveled, we shared the human warmth of personal experience.

We talked of what you talked, and I listened and learned of you. If the distance was great, I sometimes drove your car while you slept. Together we shared a few brief meals along the road we traveled. And then, the momentarily appointed place was reached. I thanked you for the time and the miles we had shared, and as quickly as I had appeared, I was gone.

It has been many months since I last saw you along the road we traveled. Though the journey is always too short, I have not forgotten you, you who did stop, but you may have forgotten by now.

Sincerely yours,
Byron H. Dudley

Political Notebook

By PETER EDSON

WASHINGTON—(NEA)—Matthew McCloskey — big, genial, pink-faced, white-haired Irish construction boss who is chairman of the Democratic Finance Committee says it is all a misunderstanding about Interior Secretary Stewart L. Udall and the million-dollar Democratic dinner.

What he refers to is the letter written by J. K. Evans of Asiatic Petroleum Co., asking 56 oil and gas industry wheels in Washington to help the secretary sell his "quota" of tickets to the $100-a-plate dinner honoring President Kennedy May 27.

A copy of this letter and a story about it appeared exclusively in this newspaper the other day. Chairman McCloskey is the real boss of this dinner. The main affair will be held in Washington's armory, which has a seating capacity of 6,000. McCloskey is so hopeful that Democrats—and Republicans, too—will want to honor President Kennedy that he is also reserving the grand ballrooms of the Mayflower and Sheraton Park hotels for overflow.

If he draws this crowd it will give him 4,000 more guests, for a total of 10,000. And at $100 a plate, that will give the Democrats a gross of a million bucks.

"All we're trying to do is pay off our debts, which are over $2.5 million," says McCloskey. "Every honest person pays his debts. Any decent citizen would want us to. 'We're not selling any tickets,'" McCloskey insists. "There are no quotas of tickets for anybody to sell. The laws don't allow us to sell tickets. But if anyone sends us $100, we'll send him a free ticket to the dinner."

"This fellow Evans that wrote the letter didn't understand this, but nobody is upset about it. I hope you'll quote me as saying that we're hopeful that the patriotic people who read the story about this letter will understand what we're trying to do. I hope they will also send me a check for $100 so I can send them a ticket to the dinner. My address is 1737 L. St., N.W., Washington 6, D. C."

Well, that's what the man says and all a reporter can do is give light and let the people find the way.

The present effort to make J. K. Evans the fall guy for this Udall affair, however, is regarded as Washington as a shabby trick.

Evans has been around Washington some years. He has been active in Heart Fund, Korean Relief and other drives. He knows how money is raised and spent for public relations.

Secretary Udall says he first met Evans at a $100-a-plate Democratic dinner in Tucson, Ariz., when Evans was out there for his health. They have been table partners at many a dinner since.

Evans didn't do too well on the Kennedy dinner solicitation, however. He didn't sell a ticket. No, that's wrong. He didn't get a single $100 donation.

First reason was Udall tried to have him suck back the letter as soon as he saw it, with considerable shock.

Second reason was that most of the people it was sent to are Republicans who wouldn't be caught dead at a Democratic dinner. They might be suckers enough to pay for tickets, but wouldn't go.

A number of them have called this reporter and thanked him for writing the story of the Evans letter. They add it's high time the whole $100-a-plate dinner racket is shown up.

It has been going on in Washington and all over the country for years. Republicans are just as guilty of it as Democrats. Every fat cat who does business with government is expected to kick in. Programs and seating arrangements lists at any of these dinners are loaded with lobbyists, influence peddlers, public relations men, labor bosses and five percenters.

Department heads in government agencies tell their bureau chiefs who are political appointees to attend the dinners of the party in power. The underlings pay up and go—or else.

Evans' mistake was that he put his honest pitch for the party in a letter. If he had just done it by phone, or on a person-to-person basis at cocktail parties, nobody would ever have known. That's the way it always has been and will be.

McCloskey says he has no way of knowing about such goings on, but maybe somebody will tell him some sweet day.

During the past decade, the average American's personal income has risen 50 per cent. Total personal savings in the U. S. have nearly doubled. Yet, personal bankruptcies during these same ten years are up 300 per cent and the rate of increase is causing concern.

The Family Economics Bureau of Northwestern National Life Insurance Co. has probed this matter of personal insolvency and come forth with some sobering thoughts.

They report that the chief cause of family debt is not unemployment, substandard income, illness or major misfortune. Instead, the root of the trouble is incompetent management—living up to the salary check, mortgaging it to the hilt, leaving no margin for emergency.

The typical debt-ridden family, this survey found, is in the $4,000 to $5,000 annual income bracket. This family owes 12 to 18 credit cards a total of from $2,400 to $2,800. Home mortgage, if any, is in addition to these debts.

The family in trouble is the family without savings. What solution is offered this family? It can declare bankruptcy. It can "skip," meaning move elsewhere. Or if it is fortunate, it can get time extensions from creditors and make a supreme effort to avoid bankruptcy by paying off its debts. Two out of three families willing to face their problems manage to rid themselves of debt or to get their obligations down to manageable proportions.

Pointed up in the study is the finding that financial mismanagement and divorce go hand-in-hand.

As I read comment after comment made by authorities queried by the researchers, I began to wonder whether an important cause of debt is not so much a lack of budgeting, as it is simply ignorance of cost.

How many young couples realize that:

The sweet split-level with the $13,500 price tag could cost them $33,437 under the proposed new program for 40-year, no-down-payment mortgage terms? This means the true cost would be two and a half times the original price.

How many know that the cost of having a baby has steadily increased? The Health Information Foundation reports a 41 per cent gain between 1952 and 1958 when the average cost of each birth reached $272.

How often do young couples making a credit purchase stop to figure the exact number of dollars and cents they are spending to finance the purchase?

If more of them did this, more of them would conclude that it might be cheaper to plan short payment periods and to make fewer simultaneous purchases with borrowed dollars. In other words, get the refrigerator in the clear before you start paying for the dishwasher.

The group enjoyed a special Hawaiian style lunch in a Polynesian setting at the Tiki House with exotic sounding dishes of pua-pua, almond chicken, malala steak, fried rice, and coconut ice cream served in coconut shells.

The program was based on the history of Founder's Day and was presented by the president, Mrs. Robert Reeves, with vice president, Mrs. Wallace Tyre, giving a brief resume of the past year's activities.

Mrs. Phillip Bach, the director of the organization was presented with a director's pin from the group in appreciation of her service as sponsor of the club.

MRS. BACH

LORRAINE

California, so is protesting and demanding that the shipments stop. Seems that the shippers are also running into some opposition from the Department of Health, Education and Welfare concerning false advertising.

Other misfires from Squire Simpson, of Geneva, concern the happenings in the windy city of Chicago, where Mr. Simpson witnessed the aftermath of a hold-up with the robbers running down the street, with police and storeowner hot on their heels. It seems that the thieves escaped into the subway crowd.

Other impressions of Simpson's concern the vast wheat fields of the northern plains section of the US and the hundreds of average silos, for the unused and unweeded grain, that is paid for several times over by the government and taxpayers. Mr. Simpson, his pocket book smarting, got rather wrathfully carried away with these sights, as many folks do, when they think of the rotting surpluses in America, when two-thirds of the world goes to bed hungry every night.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: We have a little girl 15 months old and she is still nursing at the breast. I have tried weaning her several times but my husband is afraid she will starve to death. I know this is ridiculous, since she eats solids and also drinks from a glass, but rather than keep up a family feud, I give in. Also, she won't go to sleep unless I nurse her, which brings me to another problem. If I nurse her in a chair and try to lay her down, she wakes up. The only way she'll sleep is for me to go to sleep with her, so she always slept with us in our bed. My husband wants her in our bed because he is afraid she might choke, freeze or fall out of her own bed. What can I do? Don't tell me to ask my doctor because I would feel foolish.

THREE'S A CROWD" DEAR CROWD: When your husband goes through medical school and takes special training in pediatrics, listen to what he has to say about raising your baby. In the meantime, ask your doctor and take his advice.

DEAR ABBY: My girl friend found out about my wife, and worse yet, my wife found out about my girl friend. They have become very buddy-buddy. I don't get it at all. What do you think they are cooking up?

DEAR WORRIED: Your goose, probably.

DEAR ABBY: I am 15 years old and a born flirt. I was always much more mature than girls my age. When I was eleven I told people I was 14 and got away with it.

My mother would never let me go with older boys, but I started liking a boy who was 19. I met him on the sly every chance I got. We went further than we should have, but thank God I never got into trouble. My mother caught me in a movie with him and started watching me like a hawk. Then he started going with my girl friend. She is also 15. The end of my story is this: She is going to have his baby in June. He skipped town and no one can find him. If it hadn't been for my mother's good sense, I could be having the baby. Please, Abby, tell young girls to stay away from older boys.

THANKFUL

CONFIDENTIAL TO "JEANNIE WITH THE LIGHT BROWN HAIR": Don't trust a man who tells you about his romances. One day he will be telling others all about yours.

We The Women: By Ruth Millet

Maybe you read about the elderly couple in England who seem to hold some kind of record for husband and wife stubbornness.

Married in 1953 when Joe Jordan was 75 and his bride, Alice, was 72, the couple couldn't agree on which of their houses they would call home.

So they have never spent a single night under the same roof. Alice goes over to Joe's every morning and spends the day cleaning his house and cooking his meals. When night falls she heads for her house. That way neither one has had to say, "Okay, you win, we'll live together at your house."

It's kind of a funny story, considering the age of the stubborn couple. But it's not so funny when a young couple with years and years ahead of them cling stubbornly to their own rights and refuse to make concessions and compromises.

Perhaps this story of the British couple who have carried their stubborn pride to a ridiculous extreme will not only give young couples a good laugh—but will make some of them see how foolish two stubborn streaks can make a couple behave—how much companionship and peace they can deprive themselves of just because they are both too stubborn to change themselves or their notions for the sake of harmony.

Hints on home harmony: Ruth Millet's booklet, "How to Have a Happy Home," has some words to the wives, too. Just send 25 cents to Ruth Millet Reader Service, c/o Sanford Herald, P. O. Box 489, Dept. A, Radio City Station, New York 19, N. Y.

Hopper School Bid Awarded

The Carroll Daniel Construction Co. of Sanford today presented the low bid to construct a new 11 classroom Hopper Academy on Bay Ave. at a cost of $159,860. The County School Board awarded the contract to the Sanford firm after opening nine bids for the new school. The bids ranged in price from $159,860 to as high as $189,000.

Castro Raps Navy; Calls It 'Corrupt' Force

HAVANA (UPI)—Premier Fidel Castro today attacked the existence of United States naval bases around the world and said they were "centers of corruption." During a 4 1/2 hour visit to Havana University concluding at 2:30 a. m., the Cuban said American naval installations are centers of corruption and the sailors are uncultured roughs who get drunk and consider all women prostitutes. "They have even insulted Jose Marti's statue in Havana's Central Park," he added.

This was a reference to an incident that occurred several years ago when a group of tipsy American sailors on shore leave climbed up the statue of Marti, who is Cuba's most revered hero. It was not known whether Castro singled out Guantanamo naval base for special criticism. He made an address to the students and then answered questions. His talk and his remarks were mainly concerned with the government's plans for building up the nation's teaching staff, badly depleted by a mass exodus of teachers from the island during the past year. Castro urged students to become high school professors.

Cleveland Says He Didn't Send 'Anonymous' Note

Speculation has been high in Tallahassee all week on just who slipped Senator C. W. Young of Pinellas Park a note on a redistricting meeting thereby allowing the Senate to override Governor Farris Bryant's veto on a racing permit for Seminole County. One thing is sure however, State Rep. Mack Cleveland Jr. didn't send the note.

Cleveland said today that he had been subjected to a lot of kidding from other legislators in the Capitol when a story in the Herald Monday told how the incident took place and mentioned that Cleveland was "grinning" when he discussed the story. "I may have grinned, but I didn't send that note," Cleveland said.

All I know is what Young told reporters after the incident. Young was one of the strongest opponents of the bill. The senate overrode the veto while he was out of the chambers when an anonymous note was sent to him about a meeting on congressional redistricting.

FAA Reports Two Planes Lost

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (UPI)—The Federal Aviation Agency reported today two small planes bound for South America have not been heard from since leaving Harlan, Ky., Wednesday for a scheduled stop here.

FAA communications officer George Brandt said the two single-engine Piper Colt planes were not equipped with radio and may have been flown past Nashville to the next stop on the itinerary, Brownsville, Tex.

The pilots were identified as Warren Voron, 32, and a man identified only as Torrvgina, both from Argentina.

Experts Check Crash Sabotage

ALGIERS (UPI)—French aviation experts checked for any evidence of sabotage today in the crash of an Air France Super-Stearliner Constellation that killed all 78 persons aboard, including five members of an American diplomat's family.

There were 69 passengers and nine crewmen aboard the plane that crashed Wednesday on a rocky plateau in the remote southern Sahara Desert. Among the victims was the pregnant wife, three children and mother of Alan, U.S. charge d'affaires at the U.S. diplomatic mission in Bagdad, capital of the Central African Republic.

Aviation experts in Paris and Algiers were mystified by the crash. They said there were no clues to what might have happened during the ill-fated flight. An aerial view of the wreckage, which was spread out over a wide area, gave little information. The pilot did not even try to radio a distress signal. The experts said all available evidence pointed to two possibilities: sabotage or a sudden fire and explosion that was caused either by leakage in the fuel system or an electrical short-circuit.

Broken Windows Disturb Board

The County School Board today ordered a "clamp down" on apprehending youngsters breaking windows of schools.

Supt. of Schools R. T. Milwee told board members at their meeting this morning that it costs the school system over $200 per month to replace broken windows on some of the schools.

He pointed out that windows recently were broken at the Goldsboro and Midway schools. Milwee added that if necessary, he would order the schools to close their gates once school is out and stop youngsters from playing in the school yards.

EMPTY SHELVES of the Seminole County Branch Blood Bank present a bleak picture. Mrs. James Doucette, supervisor, reports that about 350 regular donors have been keeping the bank supplied and that already this month, 56 transfusions have been given but only 14 persons have donated. An urgent plea is being made to Seminole residents in an effort to supply the needed blood for this area. (Herald Photo)

Serious Planting Delays Threatened In Farm Belt

By United Press International Swollen midwestern rivers rushed virtually unchecked into thousands of homes and plowed fields today, clearing a path for a serious planting delay for the farm belt.

A U. S. Weather Bureau midweek forecast for clear and generally sunny weather south of the Great Lakes did little to ease the plight of routed families and distressed farmers in Indiana, Illinois, Iowa and Missouri.

In Indiana, clear skies meant the swollen White and Wabash rivers would take longer than originally predicted to reach crests on their southeastward movement and a Weather Bureau spokesman said it would be "several days" before they vanish into the Ohio River.

Hoosier farmers lagged about two weeks behind in their planting. State agriculturist Robert Straszheim said the wet weather and last week's tornadoes cut field work by 50 per cent and saturated thousands of acres.

The nation's flood and tornado toll since last weekend rose to 37 dead Wednesday when a five-year-old Indianapolis boy drowned in flooded Fall Creek. The victim was identified as Jackie Eugene Harms, who was playing by the creek near home with his eight-year-old brother, Gary.

The fair and warmer forecast had its exceptions in the South. Well scattered rain fell over a wide strip of south Atlantic and Gulf states Wednesday night and a tornado in South Carolina's Marion County ripped through a vacant school, uprooted trees and snatched a porch into its funnel.

New Bern, N. C., recorded 1.81 inches of rain in six hours late Wednesday and about an inch of rain drenched Spartanburg, Anderson and Greenville, S. C.

Elsewhere, the forecast today indicated scattered showers and drizzle for northern California, the Pacific Northwest, central and northern Great Plains, extreme upper Mississippi Valley and the Eastern Seaboard.

Warmer temperatures were on tap for most of the nation's eastern half.

Kenney's Rocker 'Non-Union' Chair NEW YORK (UPI)—President Kennedy may fidget a little in his famous rocking chair today. A labor leader has complained that the chair was made by non-union workers.

Morris Pizer, president of United Furniture Workers of America, said Wednesday that Kennedy's North Carolina rocker was made with $1-$1.30 an hour labor at the P&P Chair Co. of Asheville.

where they managed to stay together a few months. The Jewish ghetto in which they lived was in Chotkow. Many Jews were marched into the town square and shot. Marc's brother Bandi and his father Bernard were shot the same day.

"From that point on, I took off my star of David and wore the Christian cross," Berkowitz recalled. "My mother told me that story of his flight to stay alive in the death camps of Eastern Europe.

In 1941, when he was only 9, Marc, his parents, three sisters and a brother were herded into their first detention camp in his native Czechoslovakia. Others in the camp were forced into trucks at night and dumped into a river to drown, but the Berkowitz family somehow got transported across the river into Poland,

County Faces Crisis Of Raising Funds For School Program

Seminole County will not be able to raise the amount of money needed in 1962 for the county to participate in the Minimum Foundation Program even if a millage increase is approved unless the state changes its county requirements. Supt. of Schools R. T. Milwee told school board members today a serious crisis exists because of the increasing burden placed upon non-exempt property owners in all the counties to provide for each county to participate in the MFP.

Milwee explained that when the program began in 1948, 75 percent of the cost was paid by the state and 25 percent by the county. Milwee said that "unless some change is made in this session of the Legislature in the method of financing the cost of public schools under the MFP program, it will become necessary for counties throughout the state, including Seminole, to increase taxes in order to support the local school program, and still not increase actual educational benefits."

"Teachers' salaries, current expenses, transportation and capital outlays are calculated under the foundation program's formula. After the cost is determined, the county puts up a certain share of the total and the state supplies the difference." According to Milwee, the counties share of the program is calculated by taking 95 percent of the total of non-exempt assessed valuations of the property in the state and multiplying results by six mills. Tied with this, Milwee said, the formula is the individual county's index of taxpaying ability, based on the number of gainfully employed residents, sales tax returns, valuations of farm products, valuations of railroads, public utilities and auto tag sales.

"In dollars, these anticipated increases are illustrated for Seminole County: Today local participation totals $367,116. Next year this figure will be $387,796 and the following year it jumps to $337,950," Milwee explained. "Thus it can be seen," he emphasized, "that the responsibility of financing the program is shifting rapidly from the state to the counties, where contribution is derived from property taxes. The counties' share will increase and the state's contribution, derived from a much broader tax base, will decrease."

Milwee stressed that the Legislature has been asked to pass a bill which would limit the amount the counties contribute to 25 percent of the total cost of the MFP. He added that there is some opposition to the proposal due to the fact that it would require $24,136,813 additional state money above budget commission estimates, and many legislators and the Governor do not wish to increase state taxes.

Milwee said that they are of the opinion that taxes should be increased on the local level and not on the state level in order to solve this problem.

Laotian Aide Is Assassinated VIENTIANE, Laos (UPI)—A top aide of Deputy Premier Phoumi Novassan was assassinated early today as he drove in a car through the downtown area of Vientiane. Unconfirmed reports said the killing was staged by the Communist Pathet Lao.

The dead man was Maj. Caba Ekarat, a Laotian prince, and nephew of neutralist Prince Souvanna Phouma. The assassins escaped. He was murdered as the government continued to hold off naming a delegation to the Geneva conference on Laos until the international control commission verifies that the pro-Communist rebels are respecting the ceasefire.

New Yorker Relives Terror, Brutality Of Death Camp

United Press International NEW YORK (UPI)—Marc Berkowitz sat in a Manhattan movie house and watched in horrified fascination as he came face-to-face with his past. Berkowitz, 29, was looking at the documentary "Mein Kampf," about the rise and fall of Hitler.

His eyes fastened on the hollow face of a plumply starved boy shown being liberated from the infamous Auschwitz death camp in Poland after the Russians had seized the area from the Nazis. Suddenly Berkowitz screamed: "It's me! It's me! My God, it's me." He didn't care that scores of people in the dark theater were staring at him.

Through the cooperation of Columbia Pictures, Berkowitz was able to get a clip from the film and examine the picture closely to confirm that the 12-year-old boy at Auschwitz was indeed him. Today he decided to relive the horror of his past "so that this dreadful thing—the torture and killing of millions—will not be repeated."

And so Berkowitz, now a salesman, happily married and the father of two, told in a quiet and almost emotionless voice the story of his flight to stay alive in the death camps of Eastern Europe.

In 1941, when he was only 9, Marc, his parents, three sisters and a brother were herded into their first detention camp in his native Czechoslovakia. Others in the camp were forced into trucks at night and dumped into a river to drown, but the Berkowitz family somehow got transported across the river into Poland, nothing. There was nothing that could be said. In November, 1944, the Allies and the Russians were crushing the Nazis and the Germans blew up the camp at Birgenau. The following January the Russians released him—and took the films that this week came back to haunt him.

"The Russians gave us guns and hand grenades and told us to help them kill our captors," Berkowitz said. "They didn't understand. There had been enough killing. I had seen so much of it. I threw down the gun they gave me.

"That is why it is important to bare these old scars, talk about the terror and hardship of my boyhood. So the killing will stop, everywhere. I don't even want Eichmann killed—or even Mengele if they ever catch him."

"Then, one day, in the long line of Jews being herded toward the ovens, I saw my mother. She looked into my eyes and we said
