Three Puerto Rican Gunmen Found Guilty On 10 Counts Of Assault

Jury Deliberates On Lone Woman In Solons' Shooting

WASHINGTON (AP)—Mrs. Luhta Lebron waited alone as the sole subject of jury deliberations today on the fatal shooting in the House of Representatives March 1.

A federal jury of seven men and five women, behind closed doors for 9 1/2 hours, emerged late last night with verdicts of guilty on all 10 counts of assault lodged against her three male associates.

Rafael Cancel Miranda, 25, Anselmo Figueroa Cordeiro, 28, and Irving Flores Rodriguez, 28. The 34-year-old Mrs. Lebron, already convicted along with the three men on five counts of assault with a dangerous weapon, whispered when she heard the verdict.

"I don't see why they don't convict me too," she said. With five charges of assault with intent to kill still outstanding against the woman defendant, U.S. District Judge Alexander Holtzoff sent the jury home for the night and told them to return today to pass final judgment.

Mrs. Lebron's fellow Puerto Ricans gave no show of emotion upon hearing the verdict, which carries a maximum penalty of 75 years in prison. But soon after wards Cancel and Cordeiro chatted and smiled, and Flores, although not smiling, joined briefly in the conversation.

All four admit to opening up with wild pistol fire from the House gallery. Five congressmen were wounded. But the Puerto Rican Nationalists say they meant to kill or harm no one, their only aim being to dramatize their demand for Puerto Rican independence.

Under the law, each defendant could possibly receive a sentence of up to 10 years apiece on each of the weapons counts and 15 years apiece on each of the intent-to-kill counts, a maximum of 125 years. The judge has discretion as to whether the sentences should run concurrently, however, and Judge Holtzoff has announced he will not impose a total of more than the 75 years allowable under the intent-to-kill finding.

The Seminoles county Jaycees learned today that they were to receive a national award for their first-place award for their 1963-64 Trade Promotion Campaign. Don Rieder, vice president and program chairman, spoke briefly during the program, warmly endorsing a Jaycee project to beautify Fort McMillan Park.

The Seminoles Jaycees also announced their plans to hold a fund-raising event for the Fort McMillan Park project. The event will be held on Monday, June 22, at the Fort McMillan Park building.

McCarthy Guatemala Appeals To Honduras To Stop Reported Border Massing

Attacks Demos

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. McCarthy asserted today the lengthy hearings on the Army-McCarthy case were promoted by the Democrats and that the Democrats "will suffer and bleed because of it."

It was one of numerous thrusts with a political edge which came into the 90th and possibly final day of the McCarthy Army hearings.

Sen. Stymon (D-Mo.) accused Sen. McCarthy of "deliberately" presenting the hearing of making "unjust and partisan remarks that would end the explosive inquiry into the '57 case'."

Stymon's charge that McCarthy had raised the question of what role Clark M. Clifford, once chief advisor to former President Truman, may have played at Stymon's suggestion in setting off the Army's charges against the McCarthy case.

Mundy said it should be recalled that Clifford and Stymon "are fellow Democrats, fellow Missourians" and that Stymon's "advice" to McCarthy was "a public servant's duty to the public servant who might normally be expected to be 'in a different vein' than a Republican lawyer might be expected to be."

In reply to Stymon, Mundy said he was attributing to the "trifling" in which Clifford is involved, "a far greater role" than that of a public servant. Joseph N. Welch, the Army's special counsel, said that in fairness Stymon should be permitted to speak.

McCarthy's attack on Stymon was a direct challenge to the "public servant" role of the Army's special counsel, Joseph N. Welch, the Army's special counsel, said that in fairness Stymon should be permitted to speak.

Recreation Department To Start Swimming Instruction Tuesday

The recreation department's summer swimming instruction schedule will begin next Tuesday, according to John Angel, director of the local recreation program, which will get underway Monday.

All children who have completed one year of school and who are non-swimmers, or are beginning swimmers, he explained, are entitled to attend classes. Non-swimmers will receive advanced instruction on Wednesday and Friday.

Classes will be from 9 until 10:30 a.m. All possible safety precautions will be exercised, Angel said, and there will be four lifeguards on hand, counting the two instructors, Howard Gordie and Angel.

The bus which will be operated by the recreation department to carry children to and from the playgrounds will start each day Monday through Friday, from 4:30 p.m. to 6:30 p.m. at 4:30 a.m.

Stops will be made on Park Ave., 22nd St. and Melville Ave., as follows: Park Ave., Fourth St., Seventh St., 10th St., 12th St., 14th St., 16th St., 18th St., 20th St. and 24th St.

Melville Ave., Wainwood entrance, 20th St., 24th St., 28th St., 32nd St., 36th St., 40th St., 44th St., 48th St., 52nd St., 56th St., 60th St., 64th St., 68th St., 72nd St., 76th St., 80th St., 84th St., 88th St., 92nd St., 96th St., 100th St.

A question and answer program concerning the playground will be broadcast over WFLA at 1 p.m. Friday, Angel said today.

Building Permits Total About 147

Three building permits were issued today by the City of Sanford, Fla., according to City Hall figures. The total to approximately 147, thus far in the City fiscal year, which started in the fall.

B. D. Owen was given a permit to erect a concrete block home in the Franklin Terrace subdivision. The house, according to the application, will be built at 241 Oak Ave. and will measure 21 1/2 by 33 feet.

Cost of the construction was placed at approximately $5,000 by the applicant. According to the reports, James A. Williams, of 601 Melville Ave., intends to place asbestos siding on his residence. Cost of the project, which will be done by Williams, was estimated at $750.

The porch of the C. E. Smith residence, 600 Magnolia Ave., is scheduled for remodeling, according to the City Hall file. Cost of the project, which will be done by Smith, was placed at $250.

SCHOOL RECORDS STOREN SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—At least some of the eighth-grade pupils at Lagunitas Elementary School probably were pleased to report cards, achievement records, day.

A chief dejected with the re- and progress reports of the class, which is due to graduate this afternoon.

"It was probably the work of some troublemaker who wasn't going to get any grades," theorized school principal Mrs. Isabel G. Lankena.

The letter was signed by his superior, SRD General Auditor W. A. Williams.

It seems there will be little or no primary state funds available for matching primary federal funds during the remainder of this year.

About a week after it was written, a newspaper reporter found it and published it. Collins used it to support his contention that the Johns road board couldn't carry out its highway building commitments with funds available this year and to criticize the board for failing to match federal road mon-

Guatemala Appeals To Honduras To Stop Reported Border Massing

TEGUCIGALPA, Honduras (AP)—Guatemala called on Honduras last night to stop anti-Red Guatemalan exiles reported massing on the border for an assault against President Jacobo Arbenz Guzman's Communist-influenced regime.

The appeal was made by Guatemalan Ambassador Amadeo Chinchilla to Honduran Foreign Minister J. Edgarlo Valenzuela as reports here and in other Central American nations indicated a showdown might be imminent between the Arbenz government and its anti-Communist opposition at home and abroad.

"We have reports that well-equipped soldiers carrying guns are being flown and driven by car to points near our border," Chinchilla told newsmen. "They are being flown in chartered planes."

The Guatemalan envoy said Valenzuela had given him assurances that Honduras "will prevent any incidents at the border and has given orders for seizure of any arms there."

Reports here and abroad indicated the anti-Arbenz forces were pushing their preparations for a try at ousting the Guatemalan regime. Among these were:

1. Dispatches from Belice, British Honduras, quoted Guatemalan exile sources there as saying anti-Communist parachute troops already have been dropped into Guatemala. The sources gave no details.

2. Usually reliable sources here said Guatemalan exiles are being invited to publicize the border where men dressed in khaki reportedly were flown out of Tegucigalpa yesterday and an unknown number were seen.

The sources also said a well-armed boat left the Honduran port of La Ceiba yesterday apparently for a strike at Puerto Barrios in Guatemala.

3. A close aide to Carlos Castillo Armas, head of the Guatemalan exile movement here, claimed 5,000 anti-Arbenz men stand ready along the frontiers of El Salvador and Honduras and "at least 50,000 supporters inside Guatemala will rise up to fight with us when the moment comes."

4. Castillo Armas in a message to his Guatemalan "compatriots," said he would be with them "very shortly." The exile leader called on the Guatemalan people to prevent Arbenz and his aides from fleeing.

Chinchilla told newsmen it was rumored the Castillo Armas forces were planning to fight Arbenz.

A dispatch from Associated Press Correspondent Jack Rutledge in Guatemala, delayed five hours by the next citizenship, reported that eight sources say 600 or more anti-Arbenz and international airlines had resumed normal service after a temporary government-ordered halt.

The dispatch said authorities were pushing plans for massive demonstrations tomorrow to show the solidarity of the people behind the Arbenz regime. Rutledge said 10,000 persons are expected to bring Guatemala City's narrow streets.

The Guatemalan general staff and the presidential office earlier yesterday denied reports that the army had given Arbenz 24 hours to resign. A joint statement said the army "is giving all its support to citizen President Arbenz."

El Salvador's embassy in Guatemala City was reported bulging with 24 refugees who sought asylum there from the government roundup. Exile sources say 600 or more opponents of Arbenz and the Communists already are under arrest.

The government reportedly has granted safe conduct for 18 of those in the Salvadoran Embassy to leave the country. Several other opponents already have made their escape via this route.

Guatemalan exiles in Tegucigalpa made no secret of their military preparations. Men dressed in fresh khaki but wearing no insignia walked the streets and gathered at the city's airport. They were seen boarding planes without any apparent effort to hide their movements.

FALLAHASSEE (AP)—The Florida Power and Light Co. today received state permission to issue and sell 25,000 shares of new stock to help finance a proposed $28,000,000 expansion program.

The Florida Railroad & Public Utilities Commission authorized issuance of 50,000 shares of preferred stock with $100 par value to raise five million dollars and 25,000 shares of common stock with no par value to raise another five million dollars to be established by public sale.

ENROLLMENT UP GAINESVILLE (AP)—University of Florida summer school enrollment is 3,767 compared to last year's 3,522. The eight-week session began Tuesday.

After the election, Wells, at a conference in Johns' office, handed out a statement that he was retracting any language giving a "false impression" that the road department "cannot carry out its budget for the year 1964."

He said then his statement in the letter to McKethan was "predicated upon a hypothetical accounting practice rather than upon the actual situation which must, of necessity, take into consideration the continuing aspects of the State Road Department operations."

Strolling In Sanford

Seminole county fishermen are today purchasing 1954-55 fishing licenses which went on sale at the Court House yesterday. The only change in the licenses, which cost residents two dollars, is that information as to the holder's date of birth must be included on the application. The licenses are effective today.

A resident of the Sanford Trailer Park, weary of wading through small order house red tape to correct billing mistakes or to exchange unsatisfactory items, decided to find out what happens to the woman who lacks the time or education to answer involved correspondence. . . . When her electric iron went bad, she electrically lettered on the piece tag "My Iron She No Tote It" and sent it back. . . . Soon she received a new one abruptly from the factory with no long questionnaire to be filled out.

A state newspaper carried this one yesterday: "Wanted: Man to wash dishes and two waitresses."

Pensacola Paper Asked To Return Stolen Checks

PENSACOLA (AP)—The Pensacola News-Journal yesterday received a letter containing 23 checks and a note asking that the checks be returned to Britt's Service Station where they had been stolen.

About $1,100 in cash and checks were in a safe taken from the station Tuesday. The checks toaled $294.12.

Journal City Editor Hal Stokes said the unsigned note read: "Greetings, please get your checks to proper owner as I have no use for them. P. S. Do not appreciate (sic) cheap writing up in News-Journal. With these words 'have your fair city.'"

Girl, 13, Charged After Teen-Age Drinking Party

DAYTONA BEACH (AP)—Charges have been filed against a 13-year-old girl who was charged with serving 30 to 40 children of well-to-do families, Juvenile Officer Willey Gaddis reported.

He said the party was held May 21-23 at the home of one of the boys whose mother was away.

Four girls, including the 13-year-old, spent long hours with boys in the bedrooms. Gaddis said, at least one girl went swimming nude, and about 200 cans of beer were consumed along with home-made wine and liquor.

The mother of one of the girls, 16, said she was told by her daughter and reported it to the juvenile officer.

Cause Of Death Of Woman Found; Husband Is Held

ORLANDO (AP)—Mrs. Lottie Cohen died from a skull fracture caused by a blow and a blood clot on the brain, Dr. Frederick Rawling reported yesterday after an autopsy.

Her husband of five months, Joseph George Cohen, 35, is being held in jail at Deland on a manslaughter charge.

Mrs. Cohen, 43, former New York City store manager, died Monday after being brought here from Daytona Beach for an emergency brain operation.

Police said Cohen had been arrested twice on assault charges resulting from fights with his wife over a divorce. Cohen said his occupation is salesman. Deputy Sheriff Bob Slye said Cohen shed sheets and pillow cases.

Inside This Issue

The Herald today is starting publication of a series of strips concerning learning to swim. These strips were furnished by the local Girl Scout council.

TO CHOOSE PRESIDENT DAYTONA BEACH (AP)—Florida Future Farmers of America choose today between James Quincy of Trenton and Colin Williamson of High Springs for president of their organization.

They were survivors of a field of 16 in the first primary at the annual convention yesterday.

George Ford, 18, Quincy high school student, was named state state farmer. He received a $100 Future Farmer Foundation prize, a 975 leadership award to help pay his expenses to the national PFA convention and the Florida Times-Union silver trophy.

Plans To Suspend Indochina Talks Are Shelved Today

GENEVA (AP)—British-American plans for suspending the Indochina peace talks were shelved today while the Western Powers poured over a new Communist cease-fire proposal.

As a result of the Communist move and because of French opposition to suspension of the talks, it appeared unlikely the parley would be recessed this week as had been expected.

Red China's Premier-Foreign Minister Chou En-lai submitted the new armistice proposal to the Geneva conference just as French Foreign Minister Georges Bidault returned from Paris to try to prevent the proposed recess.

Bidault entertained Britain's Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden and U. S. Under Secretary of State Walter Bedell Smith at dinner last night. The principal subject of discussion obviously was the future of the conference.

French sources said after the dinner they believed Bidault had recently created in the Communist camp a "preliminary breakdown" of the parley.

The talks will continue on the foreign minister level for the present, they said, but may be turned over to deputies later.

Details of the Chinese cease-fire proposal were not divulged by delegates who attended yesterday's secret session. They were understood to cover three main points:

1. A simultaneous cease-fire, 2. negotiations of opposing military commands both here and in Indochina, and 3. a proposed ban on the import of troops or arms into Indochina.

County School Body To Meet Monday

R. T. Milwee, County superintendent of public instruction, today announced that there would be a special called meeting of the County board of schools Monday at 10 a. m. in his office.

The board, according to the superintendent, will discuss appointments of teachers to fill vacancies recently created in the County school system by the resignation of approximately 12 teachers and the retirement of several more.

Milwee has stated that the situation is not critical and that he feels most of the vacancies will be filled at the meeting.

The majority of the teachers who resigned last week were the have recently been transferred and married women, many of expected added family responsibilities, felt Members of the County school board will convene in the superintendent's office Wednesday to work on the 1954-55 budget for the school system, according to Milwee.

Commission Okays New Water Route

BRADENTON (AP)—A new route for the West Coast Inland Waterway through Venice has been approved by the Waterway Commission which for years has been plagued with arguments over direction of the waterway.

Newest route would have the canal parallel the Seaboard Air Line Railway for three and a half miles.

The Commission previously had approved a route near the beaches but property owners opposed it. Commission members were told that the cost of building the new route would be about one million dollars more but this would all be offset by decreased right-of-way costs.

Writer Of Letter Used By Collins Fired By SRD

TALLAHASSEE (AP)—The State Road Department has fired R. N. Wells, auditing division chief clerk, who wrote a letter on highway finances that state Sen. LeRoy Collins used against Acting Gov. Charlie Johns in their gubernatorial campaign.

His notice of dismissal from the job he has held for more than 20 years said it was "for the best interest of the department."

Wells said he considered himself "just a political casualty. I realize the vindictiveness of it. I'm hoping it's just six months without pay." Collins will take over the governing in January.

Wells said he felt it wasn't much the writing of the letter but the fact that it "got in the press and became a storm center of the political campaign" which lost him his job. "That's where the disaster of the administration came in."

The letter was written to Alfred McKethan, Johns supporter and former chairman of the State Road Board who had asked for information on the department's finances. Although Wells said he wrote it,

Man Questioned In Old Slaying Is Released

BAKING (AP)—One of two persons being questioned in the investigation of the slaying of H. H. Deal 22 years ago has been released.

John Peoples, 61, of Tampa was released after being held on an open charge of investigation still held in Al Roy Scott, 30, brought here from Frogtown, S. C. B. S. are Negroes.

Deal was killed by a shotgun blast shortly after he had served a two-year term as mayor of Lake Wales.

Sheriff Pat Gordon said at the time of the slaying, Peoples was a handyman and Scott a cook for Emmett Donnelly, Lake Wales atorney who was accused of being an accessory before the fact.

Donnelly killed himself last week after being charged with leading a conspiracy to kill three wealthy persons for their money. He was a law associate of Deal's and held a $20,000 double indemnity life insurance policy on him.

A grand jury refused to indict Donnelly.

Air Force is Training 'Beeper Pilots' For Remote Flying Of Pilotless Planes

EGLIN AIR FORCE BASE, June 16.—About 100 types of flight instruments developed by the Air Force today are being used to train "beeper pilots" in the remote flying of pilotless planes. Four - engine bombers and speedy jets—in greater numbers than the public suspects—are taking off, flying about and landing again without a single human aboard. Painted gleaming yellow with black stripes or flaming red, these "drones" are appearing with more and more frequency over this Gulf Coast area, in New Mexico and along the California shoreline near Santa Barbara.

For these preliminary operations, the Air Force is training a new generation of technicians and expert aviators called "beeper pilots."

These men do their flying by remote control from the ground. They use a variety of instruments to control the planes. Only the cream of the crop, those with exceptional skill as pilots, are assigned to this duty. It is the training ground for virtually all the Air Force's missile projects and is being mounted on to help great appeal for space-minded Americans.

Long practiced for security reasons from revealing the secrets of this work, the Air Force will stage a demonstration of pilotless flight for an annual assembly of the nation's aviation writers at Patrick Air Force Base, Fla. today.

The Air Force drones are flown by the Air Proving Ground Command based at Eglin Air Force Base, Fla. Patrick W. Timberlake, the 120th drone group, commanded by Lt. Col. Edward F. Hoover Jr., of Charleston, W. Va., has headquarters at Duke Field here. Squadrons of the group are based at Holloman AFB, N.M., and at Point Mugu, Naval Missile Test Center near Ventura, Calif.

W. H. Col. Hoover, I watched two young "beeper pilots"—Capt. Charles Phillips of Bristol, Va., and Lt. Ross Brunner of Amarillo, Tex.—launch a pilotless 700 Shooting Star jet with a portable control station set up near the runway. A safety pilot was in the plane but only to take over in case something went wrong.

Beeper boxes have push buttons, lights and pencil-like handles resembling miniature airplane control sticks. Phillips' box commanded the jet's engine, control and elevators. Brunner's handled the rudder and brakes. They kept in touch with each other by headphones.

As Phillips applied power, Brunner released the brakes and the plane rolled down the runway. At 110 miles an hour it took off and started to climb. At 150 the landing gear retracted. Then Phillips told the pilot of a "mother" jet which had come alongside to take over.

At Col. Hoover's invitation, I climbed aboard a drone B17. Except for more intricate wiring and instrumentation, it looked much like any old war-era bomber. Steeply Pilot's Capt. Fred Schliez of Oaklawn, Ill., and Lt. James Daniel of Waynesboro, Va., took us up.

Soon they locked the controls into the radio-operated system, sat back, and invited our mother plane to take over.

It was an eerie experience. We turned gracefully this way and that, cruising along at 5,000 feet steady and solid as a rock. "Pretty soft," grinned Schliez. "Only wish I could fly and land her as smooth as the remote controls do."

I peered out at the mother B17 just off our wing. It was rocking, dipping and rising. But the day's air turbulence seemed not to affect our plane at all.

The crew attributed the more-than-human steadiness to the control system designed and built by Sperry Gyroscope Co., Erie, Pa. N.Y.—a control system fashioned around the Sperry E4 precision automatic pilot and similar to the autopilot used to keep bombers on course during long-range flights.

"These automatic flight instruments are so sensitive and accurate, and respond so quickly that they feel any changes in pitch or direction instantly and compensate for them at once," Schliez explained.

"A human pilot senses the changes as they occur—too late to counter them—and then has to overcompensate."

After awhile we heard the mother B17 tell the ground stations to take over. With beeper boxes like those used on the F4U, they brought us down on the runway and then put us into the air again, entirely by remote control. After another four with the mother plane, ground crews landed us gently.

guided two drone B17s on a 15 1/2 hour flight from W. Howard, to Edwards Air Force base, Calif. Meanwhile, C-54 transport planes had picked up the ground control stations. At Hills, Calif., they took off, and by the time the drones arrived to guide them down on the airfield.

Drones are valuable these days as targets for aerial gunnery and rocket training and for anti-aircraft practice. And the drones have been employed by the Atomic Energy Commission to carry test materials and instruments through radioactive clouds.

As an example of the precise control attained, for one A bomb explosion drones were stacked in an altitude of 30,000 feet around the circumference of the bomb area. Each was required to fly no more than 450 feet horizontally and 200 feet vertically from an assigned track and had to be assigned areas within one and one-third seconds of a specified time. All 36 drone flights were inside the tolerance allowed.

Promoter Londe Seeks Title Bout

DETROIT (AP)—Promoter Nick Londe, back to New York today to start negotiations for a Kild Gavilan Del Flanagan title fight in Detroit this fall.

"I plan to talk with Angel Lopez," Londe said. "Maybe we can reach an agreement soon." Lopez is Gavilan's manager.

Flanagan, a fancy dack with seven years experience, took a firm hold on his No. 2 welterweight contender ranking last night with a unanimous 10 round breeze over Detroit's Alie Gronik, a willing out-potentially crude boxer.

Flanagan quickly spoiled any hopes Gronik had of becoming big time. He stalked, jabbed and danced to an easy victory in their nationally televised fight at Olympia Stadium.

Gronik's only advantage, in fact, was in weight. He tipped in at 149 1/2 to Flanagan's 148.

The original charges—Secretary of the Army Stevens and Army Counselor John G. Adams accused McCarthy and two subcommittee aides, Roy M. Cohn and Francis P. Carr, of using improper pressure to win favored Army treatment for Pvt. G. David Schine, a subcommittee consultant who was drafted.

McCarthy and his aides in turn accused Stevens and Adams of trying to use Schine as a "hostage" in efforts to expose McCarthy to a halt or divert an investigation of alleged subversives in the Army, particularly at Ft. Monmouth, N.J. They also accused Asst. Secretary of Defense H. Strobe Hassel, of seeking to discredit the subcommittee.

The subcommittee dismissed Carr and Hassel as principal on a 43 party line vote May 26.

Testimony—Stevens denied trying to halt McCarthy's probe, but testified he objected to methods he said gave a distorted picture. He said McCarthy's aides subjected him to threats of an "exceedingly serious" nature in seeking Army favors for Schine.

Adams testified Cohn threatened that if Schine were sent overseas Stevens would be through as secretary and the Army would drop him. He said Cohn brought pressure that was "extremely hard to bear."

Cohn said Stevens and Adams repeatedly sought to stop the Ft. Monmouth probe. He said Adams often referred to Schine as "the hostage" and once said he would "stop at nothing" to block subcommittee questioning of members of the Army's top loyalty board.

McCarthy denied under oath seeking favors for Schine and said he does not know of one iota of improper influence on behalf of Schine. He testified Army officials filed "blackmail" charges against him and his aides to prevent exposure of those who "coerced" Communists.

Learn to Swim---

1. Swimming water is generally cool, and sometimes cold. Before getting in it is a good idea to rinse the body a little at a time, to adjust to the lower temperature and to minimize the shock of complete immersion later.

Getting Acquainted

2. In shallower deep water it is more difficult to breathe because of pressure against the chest. Stay a little while at this depth and you will soon become adjusted to this new condition.

3. To get a "fish-eye" view, take a good full breath of air, hold it, put your face in the water and open your eyes. You will find that holding the breath under water becomes almost automatic, and you can see quite well.

4. Exhaling under water is very important. It should be practiced until it is easy to do. Inhale above the surface, submerge and blow "bubbles" when the face is under. Use the mouth entirely—forget that you have a nose.

Adenauer Tries For European Unity Adm. Radford Tells Red Cross Parley Red Threat Growing

BONN, Germany (AP)—Here where Beethoven was born and wrote some of the world's mightiest music, a 78-year-old German statesman is trying to bring true a mighty dream—the dream of European unity.

And time is running out for the old man.

As of the first of this year Chancellor Konrad Adenauer was the strongest and most influential political figure between London and Moscow.

By the end of this year Adenauer will probably either go down in history as a kind of European Abraham Lincoln—or merely an older old titan with a faded dream, cultivating his rose garden in quiet bitterness as his countrymen forget him.

The issue is simple. His coalition German Federal Government so far has gone along with him in his program for European defensive cooperation. But the coalition is wavering. How long can he hold it together in the face of France's refusal to vote for a six-nation European army in which French and German troops would serve together?

Just last week the sturdy elderly Chancellor told a group of visiting American former war correspondents about his dreams of European freedom. Lean and erect, he has the dark impressive facial im-mobility of an Indian chieftain. But though he has lived eight years beyond man's biblical age, his voice was firm and strong, his eyes bright and intense, as he talked for more than an hour on the present plight of Europe.

Many German leaders now like to play down the question of Germany's guilt in the last war. But Dr. Adenauer makes no concessions to his people's desire to forget the past. He deplored Adolf Hitler's aggression in the latter's lifetime and has no wish to minimize the disaster that Nazi policies brought to the world.

Then turning to communism, he remarked:

"But a terrible dictatorship has gained control of half of Europe. This dictatorship is even worse and stronger and more cruel than that of Hitler."

The Chancellor remarked he thought it a delusion for leaders in his own or other individual countries to believe they could deal separately with Soviet Russia. He said nothing impressed Russia's Communist rulers out power equal to their own, and the only power they now feared was the United States.

Then he went on to add that if the six-nation European army did become a reality the Russians would find that within four years it would no longer even serve their purposes to continue the cold war—real peace might be won.

"We can no longer think in national terms only," he said. "The development of Germany since 1945 holds no danger to the free world. In a unified Europe no country could be a threat to another country. We must overcome the selfish egotism of European nationalities."

The strong old man sat here a moment his white face framed against the blue-walled reception room in the Palace Schomburgk, then he rose and quickly walked out.

Seeing him leave, some of us could not help wondering who, if Dr. Adenauer falls, would have his strength of will or purpose to weld a free and united Europe. He seems the tallest tower in a dubious landscape still darkened by ancient fears and old distrust.

Adm. Radford Tells Red Cross Parley Red Threat Growing

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The United States, says Adm. Arthur Radford, is confronted with "the diabolical enmity of international communism" and the threat is growing.

The chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff recalled last night President Eisenhower's warning that American freedom is threatened so long as "the world Communist conspiracy exists in its present scope, power and hostility."

"Today, the threat seems even more intense," Radford said in addressing the national convention of the American Red Cross.

The admiral spoke at the concluding session of the three-day meeting. Earlier, the organization's national chairman had some more to say about cities which accept Red Cross money when disaster strikes but fail to make reimbursements to the relief agency from supplemental funds raised locally.

This was a subject which touched off a cross-country controversy Monday night.

He said, in discussing the Communist menace, termed Red China "obviously empire bound, seeking not so much an 'Asia for Asians' as it might be called."

McCarthy

Mundt said he would be very glad to let him do so. When Symington suggested a motion to that effect, Mundt said it was unnecessary, that "we can do that on general consent."

McCarthy was in the witness chair and, from time to time, got questions bearing on the main issue of the hearings: The truth or falsity of the Army charges the senator and his aides exerted improper pressure for Pvt. G. David Schine and of the McCarthy camp's counter charges the Army tried to use Schine as a "hostage" to stop the McCarthy subcommittee's investigation of Communists in the Army.

Schine, wealthy New Yorker was an unpaid consultant on McCarthy's staff until drafted last November.

James D. St. Clair, assistant to Army Counselor Welch, hammered particularly at McCarthy's story that Army Counselor John G. Adams tried to "blackmail" him the night of Jan. 22 into dropping a planned investigation of Army loyalty board members.

St. Clair pointed out a presidential order stood in the way of McCarthy's getting full testimony from loyalty board members.

Nevertheless, McCarthy stuck to his story of the alleged "blackmail" attempt.

McCarthy charged the Democrats with responsibility for the hearings during a heated exchange with Sen. McClellan (D-RK) in which McCarthy accused McClellan and Symington of insincerity in their "protestations of piety" at the hearings.

The Wisconsin senator said up as they claim but seeking instead what might be called a "Red Asia for Asiatic Reds." They want all of Asia incorporated into a Red Asia, one that is a basic part of the long-term Communist dream of one "big Red world."

The military situation of free Asia and southwest Pacific nations could be improved materially, he said, by an effective South-east Asia, collective security arrangement.

"Positive collective actions by countries which have vital interests in that area would help prevent further Communist empire building in that part of the world," he said. "Such actions would help pave the way for building that peaceful world which is the aim of free societies everywhere."

He said, in discussing the Communist menace, termed Red China "obviously empire bound, seeking not so much an 'Asia for Asians' as it might be called."

had been clearly shown that the result of urging the Senate to pass the bill was to get all the facts on the part of Clark Clifford, the legal counsel and top adviser of the Democratic party.

And McCarthy suggested McClellan take Symington into the woodshed and say: "Now, Stu, let's you and I go on the stand." McCarthy said that would be the only way to "get all the facts on the table."

McClellan said he felt some of the proceedings have "disgusted the public."

"The American people have a right to expect the Senate to conduct its proceedings with dignity and solemnity," McClellan said. "McClellan, particularly complained of 'attempts to ridicule and to smear.'"

McClellan said that unless Clifford, G. David Schine and Welch (then Kirk B. Byrd) are called as witnesses, all the facts can never be developed.

Winding up his speech, McClellan said: "I am a Democrat but I place the security and welfare of the country above any party."

The Democrats once tried to have Clifford called as a witness, but were voted down 4-3 by the Republican majority.

Symington accused McCarthy of bringing up in all manner of diversions to sidetrack the investigation from loyalty board members.

McClellan said the Democrats were making "protestations of piety" while at the same time debating concealing valuable information.

McClellan said "no one is as unhappy as my Democratic friends when it appears there is some possibility of ending this investigation."

As the wrangling grew in bitterness, Army Counselor Welch spoke up.

"Could I remind the committee that Mr. St. Clair and I came here this morning hoping that we might ask an occasional question... I am almost numb from what I have heard."

HAILE SELASSIE I, Emperor of Ethiopia, is shown in Addis Ababa shortly before his departure for the United States. He comes as the official guest of President Eisenhower, who renewed an invitation originally extended by the late President Roosevelt in 1944. Emperor Selassie created new world attention recently when he reported discovery of unusually vast and rich uranium mines in his country. (International)

PRESIDENT DWIGHT D. EISENHOWER welcomes Willard Widberg, 24, "Teacher of the Year," as he arrives at the White House with his wife, Dorothy, and their four children. The youngsters react quite differently to the occasion. Thus, Gregory, 6, appears a bit shy as the President talks to him; Dawn, 7, strikes a proper pose; Lode, 3, is actually yawning and Willard, Jr., 11, scans his autograph book. Widberg is a seventh grade teacher in De Kalb, Ill., and a World War II Army veteran. (International Soundphoto)

In the oil prospectors' war against the wilderness, this newly developed muskeg tractor will invade the boggy muskeg regions of northern Canada, heretofore largely impassable except when frozen. The small vehicle can run on more treacherous surfaces than any non-fording transport. It fords swampy streams as above, crosses bogs that would not support a man, negotiates rugged trails. Built for Gulf Oil, it is expected to double or triple the speed with which the vast north Canadian muskeg area can be explored for oil.

Alan Young Starts Another Chapter In Show Business

HOLLYWOOD — This Saturday night, Alan Young launches yet another chapter in his amazing up-and-down career in show business. The bright, youthful Canadian comic will be the guest star on NBC-TV's Saturday Night Review, and he'll appear eight times on the show this summer. He'll be doing what he does best—sprightly sketches of a well-meaning man caught in the web of circumstance. This fall he may be back with a regular show, for which NBC has high hopes. It's tentatively called "That's Life," and Young plays a bumbling Mr. Flit. He also has plans for his own show, in which he and a stock company would play comedy sketches.

And on his star is again in the ascendancy. He has been in Hollywood exactly 10 years this month and now can view his hectic career with some calm. "I've never been out of work since 1938," he reflected, "but my career has certainly had its highs and lows."

Born in England, he started out in show business as a monologist in Canada when he was 13. He became a top radio comedian on the Canadian network. Then he was lured by offers from the United States. He caught on with radio audiences in this country and came to Hollywood. He landed a contract with 20th Century-Fox and scored a success in "Maggie." But after a couple of so-so films, he was dropped by the studio. He also went off the air.

"So I worked up an act to play theaters," he said. "That was fine, except that I played four and that's all there were. I was very discouraged when I was playing Detroit, and I went up to Canada to scout the possibilities of going back there. I had decided to return when I got a call from my agent that CBS was interested in having me for a TV show. He talked me out of going back to Canada."

The CBS deal fell, but Young had one more date to play in New York. The picture on the bill was poor. Young got second billing to a child pianist and audiences were tiny. A comedian didn't bother me," said Young. "I had high hopes for the CBS deal."

His hopes were justified. The TV show was a smash from the start. Again the movie offers poured in. He was signed by both RKO and Paramount. He was riding the crest.

"Oops, it happened again! His TV show, a variety format, ran dry of material. 'You just can't sustain a Broadway show every week.' He made two films, one a mediocre epic ("Androcles and the Lion"), the other a colossal flop ("A Guy Thing"). From "A Guy Thing" ("The actor is the one who gets blamed," he signed).

If you are thinking about buying some throw-aways make sure the cotton fabric does not contain a paper base. Paper yarns are not washable, say technicians at the American Institute of Laundering. When paper becomes wet it deteriorates and loses up to 70 percent of its strength. This makes the rug yarns very susceptible to damage from rubbing and abrasion. Examine the yarn construction the label on the rug and ask the sales person to make sure.

Sprinkle fluted slices of cucumber with paprika for an extra-pretty garnish.

WSCS Members Urged To Attend General Meeting

Circle No. 6 of the WSCS of the First Methodist Church met Monday with Mrs. G. H. Hudson as Mrs. W. W. Tyre, chairman, welcomed the members.

Mrs. C. E. Williams gave the devotional using as her text, "Saves and Gold Have I None." Mrs. R. U. Hutchinson, president of the Women's Society of Christian Service, urged all members to attend the business meeting Monday.

Mrs. James Higgins and Mrs. Ben Moore are to be hostesses in July. Officers for the year were announced as follows: Mrs. W. W. Tyre, chairman; Mrs. G. E. Baker, co-chairman; Mrs. R. L. Clifton, secretary; Mrs. R. L. Clifton, treasurer; Mrs. James Higgins, sunshine chairman; Mrs. C. E. Williams, missionary education; Mrs. E. H. Laney, states of women; Mrs. Eva Harkey, spiritual life; Mrs. Walter Price, literature; Mrs. W. A. Hunter, coupons.

Student recognition night will be held Sunday at the church service. Mrs. Williams gave the missionary education program a talk on "A Goal for Christian Living."

Delicious refreshments were served after the business meeting. The following: Mrs. R. U. Hutchinson, Mrs. W. A. Hunter, Mrs. M. E. Baker, Mrs. Maude Batten, Mrs. C. E. Williams, Mrs. W. W. Tyre, Mrs. Walter Price, Mrs. R. F. Crenshaw, Mrs. R. L. Clifton, Mrs. A. G. Stoffer, Mrs. E. H. Laney, Mrs. Ben Moore, Mrs. C. L. Wallis, Mrs. James Higgins, Mrs. Clark Leonard, and Mrs. G. H. Hudson.

So this HOUSEKEEPING

Sometimes you can go just so far in being tidy and clever... and then you outsmart yourself! For days I carefully planned a bulldog designed to bring Jeff around to my way of thinking about acquiring a new washing machine. Since I had the 1934 revolutionary Whirlpool wringer-type washer in my mind, I figured out the best approach was to emphasize the new look for changing times. Casually and gradually pointed out the new appearance of everything from trains to toasters, water-sprayers to automobiles, wicker settees to bed sheets. When Jeff began tossing in a few ideas of his own I was sure I was on pretty safe ground and started to hit home with my basic purpose.

"Say, Jeff, you know all the conversations we've had about the appearance of everything I saw something today that really stopped me! I guess everyone always taken for granted that wringer-type washing machines had to be as squat and bulky and unattractive as our old wreck. But you would see the new Sargomate washer! It's completely streamlined with a beautiful stainless cabinet from top to bottom. Really a handsome piece of machinery. And it won't take a back seat to any washer, in or out of the budget class."

Jeff obliged with some interested comments to I was sure had scored and began pitching more convincing details. Happily I described push-button controls on the front panel which regulate washing action and water drainage while an exclusive timer dial automatically clicks off any washing time desired for various fabrics. At the end of a wash period the machine shuts off and the timer rings a bell to let you know the job is done!

That night I went to sleep peacefully, convinced that my sleep-groundwork would net my prize. The following morning Jeff emerged from his trading show and above session and beamingly announced: "Your propaganda worked! Here's the new 'Sargomate'!"

Milk Is Most Important Food

Milk is good to drink in any form and at any time—plain, chocolate, hot or cold, flavored for special occasions, and as buttermilk—at meals, between meals, bedtime snack, party refreshments, says Myrtle Wilson, Home Demonstration Agent.

Milk is the most important food of all—can't be replaced by any other one food—just as important for grown-ups as children. Teenagers especially need it as they're growing so rapidly. Milk is high in food value—without milk it is almost impossible to get the calcium and riboflavin (Vitamin B2) you need, also has lots of protein. Few calories compared to all the food value—can't be considered "fattening."

When buying milk, stretch the food dollar by using the lower priced forms of milk—evaporated and dry. Food value is just about the same in all forms of milk.

Buttermilk is a favorite for drinking. It can be made at home easily and economically with dry milk. It is not only good to drink but can be used in many dishes. Chocolate cakes, biscuits, cornbread and meat loaf are just a few of the delicious dishes that can be made.

Way to make buttermilk: Put 2 quarts of boiled water that has been cooled to lukewarm in a large bowl. Sprinkle 2 cups nondry milk over water. Beat slowly with rotary egg beater until well mixed. (Or use any other way of re-liquifying dry milk that you have found satisfactory). Add 1 cup good flavored cultured buttermilk. As long as flavor remains good, some from each lot may be carried over to use when making up a fresh amount. Stir until well mixed. Put in a warm place (about 70°F.) and cover with a clean cloth. Do not stir until a solid curd forms. This usually takes 6 to 8 hours or overnight. Then beat with egg beater or wire whip just enough to break the curd. Pour into clean bottles, cover and keep in the refrigerator.

Buttermilk meat loaf: 3 slices bread, 1/2 cup buttermilk, 3 eggs, 1 lb. ground beef, 1/2 lb. ground pork, 1/2 lb. ground veal, 1 can tomato paste, 2 teaspoons salt, 1/2 teaspoon pepper, 1 medium onion minced, 2 heaping teaspoons prepared horseradish. Soak the bread in the buttermilk for half an hour. Combine all the other ingredients with this mixture. Put in a loaf pan and bake in a moderate oven, 350 F for 1 hour. No greased pan needed due to pork having enough fat.

John Wayne Laughs As Reporter Talks To Susan Hayward

HOLLYWOOD — "I'm glad the heat is on you for a change, and not me," John Wayne laughed as he saw a reporter descend on Susan Hayward.

The two stars are co-starring in "The Conqueror," and Wayne was wryly observing one of the phenomena of Hollywood. Sometimes a star becomes hot news. Then he or she becomes the focus of attention for Hollywood correspondents.

Last year it was Wayne, who was embroiled in a divorce suit with his wife Chata. Now it is Miss Hayward, who is fighting litigation of almost equal intensity involving her husband Jess Barker.

"The divorce trial is set for this month," Miss Hayward replied in answer to my query. "I will fly down from the location in Utah."

"Will it be a one-day affair?" "Oh, no. The calendar is set for four days. Everything is going to be brought out. It's too bad. This whole thing could have been resolved very easily with a little help. But it's too late for that now."

Miss Hayward indicates she will fight the matter to what may well be the bitter end. She is taking her twin sons to the location with her and says she will refuse to allow them to be brought into open court to watch the proceedings.

"I didn't let Wayne escape as easily as he hoped. Long an anti-Communist he was talking with men who were preparing a blast against Red activities in Latin America. When he finished with this business, I asked him about his beef with Howard Hughes, for whom he is working at present.

"There's no beef right now," he replied. "But I'll admit I was pretty put out I set aside three whole months for my commitment to RKO in 1952 and another three months in 1953. Neither of those periods were used."

"I also have been sitting and waiting for this picture to start since Jan. 4 of this year. Now it won't finish until midsummer. I could have been making two pictures in that time.

"That doesn't sound like much, but I have obligations to meet. I have committed myself to earning a certain amount when I don't. I'm in trouble. When you're in the $200,000 a year class and earn only $200,000, that can really put you in a hole."

Methodist Circle Elects Officers For Coming Year

Circle No. 5 of the WSCS of the First Methodist Church met Monday evening at the home of Mrs. J. N. Azarella, 600 Park Ave., with Mrs. Robert Reily as co-hostess. Refreshments and refreshments of cookies and soft drinks.

Mrs. B. B. Crumley, circle chairman, opened the meeting with the devotional, and plans were made for the coming year.

Officers and chairmen were elected as follows: Mrs. S. G. Harriman, secretary; Mrs. L. A. Anderson, treasurer; Mrs. Ed Shindler, mission study; Mrs. M. B. Strickland, vice chairman; Mrs. Robert Reily, literature and publications; Mrs. Carl Chorpensing, sunshine chairman; Mrs. J. W. Brown, publicity chairman.

At the close of the meeting Mrs. Ed Shindler gave a beautiful and inspiring talk on "The Secrets of Abundant Living" from the book, "The Road to the Holy" by Fred I. Brownlee.

Those present were Mrs. S. G. Harriman, Mrs. L. E. Thompson, Mrs. Ned Smith, Mrs. W. P. Fields, Mrs. A. E. Branan, Mrs. B. E. Fretwell, Mrs. L. A. Anderson, Mrs. Ed Shindler, Mrs. J. O. Laney, Mrs. M. B. Strickland, Mrs. Robert Reily, Mrs. J. N. Azarella, Mrs. B. B. Crumley, and Mrs. J. W. Brown.

First Meet Of Year Held By Circle 1 At Williams Home

Mrs. Brodie Williams was hostess to Circle No. 1 of the Women's Society of Christian Service when it met Monday at her home.

It was the first meeting of the year. Mrs. Williams gave a beautiful year book to the members. The devotional, "The Abiding Light," was offered by Mrs. Neal Farmer and Mrs. T. F. McDaniel. Study chairman, gave an interesting study on "The Sermon on the Mount."

Mrs. Williams, assisted by Mrs. Farmer and Mrs. Ruth Lundquist, served refreshments to the following: Mrs. T. F. McDaniel, Mrs. Elgie Brown, Mrs. Harry Brown, Mrs. L. T. Duffey, Mrs. Mabel Blount, Mrs. M. E. Mays, Mrs. W. B. Mays, Mrs. R. M. Mason, Mrs. S. D. Shindler, Mrs. A. B. Stevens, and Mrs. H. B. McCull.

Italian Shirts Make Nice Gift On Father's Day

If you want to make a hit with Father, give him an Italian style shirt for Father's Day.

Having set new trends in women's fashions, jewelry, linens and automobiles, Italian designers now are turning their attention to men's wear. A top Italian firm this year is exchanging ideas with a leading American men's wear manufacturer—and the results are sensational.

The new Italian designed shirts are widely distributed throughout this country, and have a subtly different look. They are done in handsome fabrics and restrained colors, distinguished in cut, comfortable to wear.

Since 1938 more than 20 million people have gone to the top of the Washington monument.

It's Strawberry-Time Again!

A WORTHY physician of the 14th Century, Dr. William Butler, once said of strawberries, "Doubtless God could have made, but God never did make, a better berry!" People have been quoting him ever since.

Well, it's summer, and the delicious berries are ripe and plentiful. If you are one of the many who want to agree with Dr. Butler, you can have a wonderful time making delicious desserts to feast upon.

How about a Glazed Strawberry Ring for a party? With a circle of cream, milk-gold marzipan, thin pile of soft high cream, fresh fruit, milled cream, delicate pink a sweet glass simple, isn't it good? A Striptease dessert must be served on the table by that prince of beverages—coffee. And since there's no chance that anyone else will be helping, Mr. Butler's strawberry shortcake, make sure that your party never runs out of strawberries.

GLAZED STRAWBERRIES
1 cup sugar
1 cup water
1 cup cream

Labels
1 tablespoon cornstarch
1/2 cup water

Combine 1 cup strawberries, water and sugar in saucepan. Bring to a boil and simmer 15 minutes. Blend cornstarch and water, add to berry mixture and cook stirring until thickened. Strain and cool. Add whole berries and chill. Spoon into circles of marzipan ring. Garnish with additional berries. If desired, freeze with whipped cream. Makes 8 servings.

McCall's SHOPS

Sports Selections

By PETE ORBOENE

A new job always requires some adjustments and changes in routine. Undoubtedly the most palpable adjustment in assuming a sports capacity with an afternoon publication is the necessity of an early morning start. In this case, six o'clock in the morning is difficult to sympathize with yourself, however, upon learning the strenuous routine of a given Walter C. Hires, commonly, "Red".

By profession, Hires is late night, rather all night, train dispatcher for A.C.L. He works from midnight 'til morning. Yesterday morning, for example, he was past 10:30 hitting the sack. Perhaps grabbing the ole 40 winks, he was at Memorial Stadium before 2 p.m. conducting a practice session for the past 53 American Legion Junior Baseball team. He's manager and coach.

Assuming he snatched a bite of food after Legion activity, he was back at Memorial Stadium shortly after 6 p.m. for the Cardinals' game. He is a capable first baseman with the semi-pro outfit.

Then it was a change of clothes and off to work. This afternoon he was again coaching the American Legion team in its encounter with Leesburg. Win or lose, he will hash over the tilt with fans until time to go back to his training flagging stand.

Trinity's Sorely, Worthwhile? Definitely! Satisfying? You can bet your bottom dollar it is to Mr. Hires. Red and others derive a deep and pleasurable satisfaction from helping to provide beautiful and enjoyable recreation to the youth of Seminole County. It is an honorable and gratifying motive for which he and many others deserve recognition and applause.

The Cardinals will pay the Sanford Navy Indians a return call Sunday at 5:30 and again be at Memorial Stadium next Wednesday night on the Central Florida League. The Central Florida League outfit meets the Vero Beach club. It provides a wonderful opportunity for parents and others to witness the Legion team in action as the usual afternoon game often are inaccessible for working people. That'll be two good ball games and you are urged to make plans now to attend. First game is at 6:30 p.m.

The following Friday, the Legion nine will journey to Vero Beach for a return engagement.

Hollins College is to be commended for the fine show-up of great ball club made in the NCAA tournament at Omaha. The Central Florida area received a huge amount of valuable publicity in the exceptional performance of the Winter Park team. The wire services supplied abundant information concerning the team and school, before the public across the nation through the media of press and radio. Virtually all the key men of the team return to Hollins next year, too.

Your writer is somewhat of a newcomer to Sanford and he would greatly appreciate any tip or suggestion you might offer him relative to the public. If you have any suggestions or criticisms please don't hesitate to call upon him. Many thanks.

Ben Hogan To Try For Fifth Title In National Open

SPRINGFIELD, N. J., (AP)—Ben Hogan, winner of golf miracles, is trying for his fifth national open championship at Broad, to-day.

No man has ever won five U. S. opens—not even Bobby Jones—but that is no deterrent to this grim little son of Texas whose fierce pick has carried him to one golfing climax after another.

An 18-year-old amateur, Rex Baxter Jr. of Amarillo, Tex., the national junior champion, hit the first ball on the 1st hole (E.D.T.) sending an intermission field of 162 amateurs and pros out after Hogan's scalp.

Hogan will play in a threesome with E. J. (Dutch) Harrison, the old Texas traveler, and Bill Campbell of Huntington, W. Va., runner-up in the recent British amateur.

Ben's most feared adversary, Sam Snead who has never won the open in 13 attempts, probably will have his first round posted before the champion takes the first tee. Snead, who with George Gazio, a perennial title threat, and Harvie Ward Jr., fine young amateur from San Francisco.

For Hogan, the stage and character are not much different than in his other winning years—1948, 1950, 1951 and 1953—but there have been developments, he says, which reduce his chances of a victory. "I don't see how I can possibly win," Hogan said after arriving at Broadport and playing his first practice shot.

"I am faced with the task of doing in ten days what would normally require a month. I have been troubled by the virus. I have been busy with my new club-manufacturing business. I have neglected my golf."

"This is a fairly easy course with broad fairways and plenty of hitting room. It's made for a fellow like Sam Snead. I'm not sharp."

Snead leaped off his hot spot as if he'd sat on a West Virginia coal stove.

"That's a course easy," he blurted. "That's crazy. It's plenty tough. I'll put Ben in every fairway and let him can't play the four roughs last year."

"Fairways are tight and the greens are rocky. I think Hogan, who is the best driver in the business and can pull with anybody, should win it."

Hollins' lower course, where this 54th championship will be contested Thursday through Saturday, is a 7,027-yard expanse of real estate with knobby rough, green and a par of 70. It is a strange course in that it looks like a duck-pond to some and an ogre to others.

Hogan, for instance, predicts his own record score of 270, set at Riviera in Los Angeles in 1948, may be broken. Snead sees a winning score of 290, but over par.

On some points, all seem to agree. The course is exasperatingly long, with finishing holes of 620, 1,242 yards and 10 of its 18 holes are "blind" in areas so so deep that it may be possible to hit the carpet and still be three strokes from home.

"I don't know if I will be able to win it," said the sage Starnes, one of 11 former champions who will be competing.

Others have labelled Broadport a "putters' course" and this has brought the name of Bobby Locke to the forefront. The South African who owns perhaps the best putting touch in all golf, has off with Julius Floros, the 1932 open winner, and Bob Tooni of Livingston, N. J., the recent finisher of the pros' winter tour and leading money winner.

HEAVIES VIE FOR TITLE—Erzard Charles (left) will attempt to defy boxing's old legend that "They never come back" tonight in a 15-round fight against world heavyweight titleholder Rocky Marciano at Yankee Stadium. Sports Roundup

NEW YORK

Although we might not have been paying strict attention, having been busy getting a couple of prizefighters ready for a meeting tonight, it still seems how that several questions remain to be answered in connection with the National Open Golf tournament starting today at Broadport over in Springfield, N. J.

The first: Are Ben Hogan and Sam Snead the only entrants? The answer to that one, we learn, is no. The course will be alive with other players, many of them good. It's just that the advance stories have been almost entirely concerned with whether Hogan, who has won four opens, will beat Snead, who has made a career of almost winning the one.

Second, there must be many fans who are honestly confused as to the physical intimacies of the two principal contestants. Because of the conflicting claims, it appears impossible to say which of them is in worse shape, and it might be necessary to go the full 72 holes to settle the issue.

This much is certain—Hogan got sick first. When he landed here more than a week ago the Bantam said he felt so terrible he might not be able to play at all, and that if he did, someone might starve to the first tee he probably would lose up the course. He had a virus that was something and he was forced to withdraw.

At the last report we saw that he was suffering with aches and pains through his back and across his shoulders and that he had a fever. He was a golf club at all. He said that he, too, might be forced to withdraw.

The best streak in collegiate football belongs to the University of Washington which won 63 games without a defeat from 1917 to 1917. Four of the games were ties.

Flashy Nash, Pinebluff, U. Conn. will play the 1st round of the 1954 National Open Golf tournament at Broadport, N. J., today.

Boudreau Sees 1st Division For Red Sox

BOSTON—The Boston Red Sox are prepared to swim or sink with their youngsters in the American League race this year and the recent sale of George Kell proves it.

The hard-luck Sox got off to a poor start, spending most of the first six weeks of the campaign in last place, after glowing pre-season predictions for them.

One big reason for the bad beginning was a rash of injuries. Slugger Ted Williams broke a shoulder line on the first day of spring training (March 1) and didn't get into the lineup until May 15. Left-hander Mel Parnell, ace of the pitching staff, broke a bone in his throwing arm April 24 in Washington.

And Kell, a fine ball player at his best, started the year with the same troublesome lack of ailment that plagued him the past few seasons. His throws from third base weren't as sure as they once were. So when Chicago offered a reported $100,000 and utility infielder Grady Hatton for him the Boston management grabbed it.

The White Sox needed a spot player—a role Kell still can fill capably. The Red Sox officials would have preferred a major player deal but when nothing materialized they went for cash.

Weather also played against Boston as the club was rained out of 11 of its first 20 home games. It was enough to take the edge off the pitchers and cause the batters to lose their eye.

Through it all Manager Lou Boudreau hasn't backedpedaled from a spring estimate that Boston is a first division club. As for Kell's sale was announced Boudreau insisted:

"We will still finish no worse than the first division. We will have a chance for the pennant."

Boston has a fine crop of coming stars on its roster but they need experience. After the first few drops, Johnny Pesky, Roy Hatfield, Bill Wright and Don Leffler, it has been said, Boudreau wouldn't have parted with Kell if it hadn't been for that back trouble.

Second-Place Indians Wallop Cards, 16-8

The Sanford Cardinals absorbed a 16-8 shelling at the hands of the Sanford Navy Indians when the visitors unlocked a six and six tie with a two-run effort in the sixth frame and went on to add four runs in each of the final two innings last night at Memorial Stadium.

The three-hour-long Central Florida League tilt produced a total of 27 base hits off pitchers. Navy out-hit the Cards 15 to 12.

In the initial stanza, Cards opener Charlie Thomas was tough and cleaned the slate with three outs in a row. In the lower half of the frame, Sanford shortstop Eugene Pennington blasted a double and was pushed home with an infield hit and a ground out.

The visitors wasted no time, however, in retaliating and marked up five runs in the second with two hits, a pair of walks, pitcher Thomas' balk, an error and a sacrifice.

The Cards put across three tallies in the fourth and added a pair in the fifth. Navy nudged a long run in the sixth and scored all over a top. Donnie Smith took the mound for the Indians in the fifth and eventually received credit for the win.

The two clubs went to bat in the sixth and compiled two runs, and were never again headed.

Mel Fleischer took the mound for Sanford in the sixth and was charged with the loss although Buddy Daugherty pitched the last inning and was tagged for the final four visitor runs. The Cardinals gathered two scores in the loose last-of-the-inning on a base-on-balls, four Indian errors and Pete Schmitt's single.

The lone Hollins tally came in the fourth when Bob McPherson singled, moved to second on a passed ball and came home on Nick Vanorio's line drive single.

Ed Cook, the Missouri pitcher, spaced four other Tar hits and was never again in serious trouble. Cary gave up three hits in his two-frame effort and Brophy limited the winners to another three over the remaining route.

The game was won for Missouri in the second when second baseman Bud Cox slammed Gary Carty over the left field wall.

Jacksonville Leads League 2 1/2 Games, 5 More Left To Play

JACKSONVILLE BEACH—All but clinched the Florida State League first ball pennant last night when Russ Nixon hit an inside-the-park home run in the 12th with one on for a victory over second-place Deland.

That put the Sea Buds 2 1/2 games out front. They have five games left to play, including an important doubleheader with Deland on night. Deland has four left and can all but hope for a complete Jacksonville Beach collapse.

The Sea Buds and Red Hats each picked up four early runs. Then Jay Knudsen of Jacksonville Beach knocked and Jim Ruiz replaced Frenchy LeBlanc for Deland and a pitcher's duel carried the game into the 12th.

Orlando beat Cocoa 10-1 and Lakeland shaved Daytona Beach farther into the cellar on a 4-2 decision.

Orlando's Lou Teli scattered eight Cocoa hits and coasted to victory after his mates backed him up. The runner in the second inning, Dike Wilson and Bill Wyatt homered in that mass production.

Lakeland, likewise, did its scoring early and rode a nine-inning by Bill Boyett to victory over last year's champion Daytona Beach.

VCKC Will Observe Scholarship Night

DAYTONA BEACH—A delegation from the University of Florida will be on hand tonight as the Volusia County Kennel Club observes Scholarship Night.

Heading the group will be Jimmy Gay, newly appointed assistant publicity director, John Elmer, assistant football coach, and Holmes Nelson from the state alumni office.

All profits from tonight's performance will go over to the state board of control for scholarships at the University of Florida, Florida State and Florida A and M. The VCKC was the first track to have a scholarship night six years ago.

Principal in Production Of H-Bomb Says Would Feel Safer If Dr. Oppenheimer Did Not Have Custody Of Vital Secrets

WASHINGTON (AP)—The man credited by many atomic scientists with unlocking the door to the hydrogen bomb says he would feel safer if Dr. J. Robert Oppenheimer did not have custody of the nation's vital secrets.

The scientist is Dr. Edward Teller, 46-year-old University of California professor, said by Oppenheimer himself to have been the "principal inventor" of the fearful H-bomb.

But even as Dr. Teller expressed some reservations about Oppenheimer, father of the atomic bomb during World War II, many of the key men who worked shoulder to shoulder with him in top secret projects rallied to Oppenheimer's defense, saying he was a man of complete loyalty, integrity and devotion to his country.

On the other side of the picture, William L. Boyer, former executive secretary of the Senate House Atomic Energy committee, described Oppenheimer as "more probably than not an agent of the Soviet Union."

Teller said he regarded Oppenheimer as loyal, but said "I would like to see the vital interests of this country in hands which I understand better, and therefore trust more."

All this conflicting testimony—and a backstage account of the momentous, tortuous development of the H-bomb—was disclosed in the release of the transcript of hearings before a special security board of the Atomic Energy Commission.

The board ruled on May 27 that Oppenheimer was a loyal American and a discreet one. But, in a 21-page report, it said the physicist with the crew haircut was a security risk—not entitled any more to access to the atomic information he helped store up for 10 years.

Oppenheimer and his attorneys have appealed to the full AEC to overturn this finding. The commission promised a decision this month.

The half-million words of testimony from 40 witnesses ran through the argument that Oppenheimer had been a contributor and fellow traveler with Communist causes until 1942, that he lied to Army intelligence officers investigating atomic espionage in 1942 and that he opposed an all-out effort to develop the H-bomb as late as 1949.

All this was freely conceded by Oppenheimer, who said he had made mistakes in the past and had been an "idiot," but carefully guarded the "host of secrets" he had in his head a long time.

Oppenheimer said he had been a virtual coxswain of former AEC commissioners and top atomic scientists backed up former AEC Chairman Gordon Dean, who described Oppenheimer as one of the few men who can completely demonstrate his loyalty to his country "by his performance . . . a man of complete integrity . . . a very devoted man to his country."

Program Boosting Florida To Begin Over Radio

TALLAHASSEE (AP)—A $200,000 advertising program to boost Florida's economy will begin on the Mutual Broadcasting System July 5.

The State Advertising Commission has approved expenditure of $200,000 on a "crackpot" deal under which the state will be promoted on several programs, a series of one-minute commercials and be the subject of an hour-long broadcast over a New York station.

The series will be handled by Tom Moore but commission Vice Chairman Dick Pope said it has no connection with an earlier proposal by Moore for a million dollar show to be financed jointly by the State Citrus and Advertising Commissions.

The million dollar multi-media program, announced last week, was a joint effort of the state and the citrus industry, which had not been consulted about it.

It reported a plan under which Lelley Collins, Democratic state legislator, would be given the plan and would other commission agencies to handle Florida's account after it takes office in January.

The proposal, advanced by Commissioner Charles F. Chandler of Jacksonville, would have approved agency contracts only up until January instead of through the July 1-1950 fiscal year as is ordinarily done.

Acting Gov. Johns opposed the plan and said other commission members who said they thought the idea was unbusinesslike and would handicap the agencies in placing advertisements and newspaper promotion plans.

Red's 'New Look' Is More Beneficial To Upper, Middle Classes Than Workers

Editor's Note— Richard O'Regan, chief of the AP bureau in Vienna, took no golf-hufferto regarded as a conference of the Communist World Peace Council in Budapest last June. Now he has made another visit behind the Iron Curtain to Hungary's capital and found some major changes resulting from Communist "new look." Highlights of his findings are rounded up in the following dispatch.

BUDAPEST, Hungary—It is rumored in Budapest that Hungary still more privileges—and it is getting them.

Hungary was the first Iron Curtain country to announce the "new look," a modification of the Communist drive for ever higher industrial and farm production to permit an increase in the output of consumer goods and restore some niceties of life.

The Red hostes seem content with the bourgeoisie. They've announced it will continue.

But Hungary is still shipping huge quantities of her production to Russia and other Soviet nations. Thus her living standards, although higher than before World War II and lower than those of West Europe.

You can buy champagne glasses here today. On fashionable Vaci Utea, there's fishing equipment for the Communist man of leisure. All over Budapest there are night clubs and restaurants run by the state. But the prices are out of this world for the average well-paid white-collar worker.

Patrons are the Communist doctors, engineers, architects, artists, writers, musicians, high party members and government chiefs who have all the big money in Hungary. Many are young.

If you have the money, you can now build your own house. A state enterprise will do it for you.

Or you can buy a second-hand automobile. Not a good one, because they are reserved for the select few at the top.

Several members of Hungary's soccer team, for instance, are now car and house owners. So are half the members of the opera.

These men draw salaries of anywhere from 4,000 to 20,000 forints a month ($303 to $1,800) at the Former arch-reactionaries are among the new upper classes. One is Jozsef Vargha, now a Budapest University professor and prize-winning oil expert. He was formerly minister of industry under the regime of pro-Hitler Adm. Nicholas Horthy.

Women of the Communist upper class benefit too. The party says—to those who can pay the price—it is now permitted to be pretty, to wear lipstick, to don high heels, to wear a girle.

Most Budapest women remain drably dressed and untidy. But I counted a dozen well-groomed.

A dress in Budapest's high-fashion store may cost 900 forints, a month's pay to the best of secretaries. Even at the Nagyarubaz department store, a rayonlike summer frock bears a pricetag of 350 forints. And a bottle of eau de cologne costs 65 forints, or about 10 hours work.

A man's raincoat or a half decent suit cost three weeks pay. The tab for a meal for two at a good restaurant runs to 50 or 60 forints, considerably more than an average day's pay.

There is more to eat on the market than a year ago. The Red regime is even importing beef from France and lamb from the United States (by the way of the Netherlands). But bread remains the staple of the average family because of the high cost of other foods.

Working it out on paper, Western diplomats say Hungarian living standards have gone up 15 to 20 per cent. But they are still years away from rivaling those of West Europe.

In Budapest, every other movie today is from the West, though no

Hollywood products are shown. The imports are British, French, Italian, Mexican. Tickets are sold out weeks in advance.

Western music is played everywhere, and here there is no bar on America. "Moulin Rouge" and "Oh, My Papa" are the new hit. George Germain and Jerome Kern are steady favorites.

They have more time for children, children and amusement. The old sweat-shop practice of "voluntary overtime" — without pay — is almost a thing of the past.

Newspapers are more readable. Crime news is reported again. There is more Western news — without political comment.

There is no more worshipping of Stalin, or of Matyas Rakosi, Hungary's bald Communist boss. There are fewer Red flags, and fewer secret police, spies and informers. For the moment, all this has strengthened the Red regime. Western diplomats hope is that, having loosened the screws, communism will have to let go even more. This ultimately may turn to the West's advantage, instead of Russia's.

But Hungarians, for all the improvements, have not regained much of the gaiety they lost when communism took over here. They still appear strained, nervous and frustrated.

"They have become more tolerant of the regime," said a British diplomat, "but they would be more happy if they could get rid of it. They don't oppose it as much as a year ago, but 90 per cent of them are still against it."

Is that cake frosting too thick? Stir a teaspoon of hot water into it, adding more carefully until you have the right consistency.

Production Decline Laid To Reversal Of Inventories

Although some concern has been felt about the decline in American production since the second quarter of 1953, it now appears that this was not accompanied by any reduction in the sales of goods to final customers, according to the National Association of Manufacturers. The reduced rate of production was due wholly to the cessation of the inventory build-up by American business.

Total production in any period is the sum of the goods produced and sold, and the goods produced to be added to inventories. During the four quarters of 1953 there was a steady increase in the final component—the goods produced and sold. However, after the second quarter there was a sharp drop in the amount of goods added to inventories. In the fourth quarter, preliminary estimates indicate that there was no net addition to business inventories. The combined result of these tendencies was that the overall rate of production in the American economy declined slightly in the third and fourth quarters.

While any fall in the rate of national output is a matter for concern, it is significant that what has happened so far has not been due to any drying-up in the demand for goods by final customers. Final customers include consumers, business with respect to its purchases of plant and equipment, government, and foreign nations. Total purchases by these groups increased continuously through 1953.

Jumper Tries Seven-Footer

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP)—The "impossible" seven-foot high jump may be realized at the AAU championships this weekend, even though Eric Shelton of Southern California says he'll never make it.

Shelton missed the magic seven-foot mark three times in the NCAA track finals at the University of Michigan Saturday. He'll get another chance at the AAU games in St. Louis, which he's still hot with a tense, silent crowd circling the high jump area at historic Ferry Field. The fidgety Shelton apparently cleared the bar three times at seven feet, but each time the bar came tumbling down, knocked loose by an elbow or leg.

DOG FRIGHTENED

KENMORE, N. Y. (AP)—Whitey, a 9-year-old collie, started running when a thunderstorm began yesterday. A woman caught him 45 minutes later, nine miles away in downtown Buffalo.

Whitey's address was on his collar. The SPCA returned him to owner Daniel Gruber.
